The special committee is to report its progress to the state central committee at a meeting here Jan. 17.

Party leaders said several members of the special committee insisted that both gubernatorial candidates be permitted to listen to the special committee's discussions.

Half Is A Whole In Kentucky Law

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 8—(AP)—An opinion that, under certain Kentucky statutes a half is the same as a whole was handed down by the Attorney General's office today.

Emmons Pearce of Inez, secretary of the Martin County Board of Education, was advised that statutes barring board members voting for their relatives, including first cousins, applies also to half cousins.

Pearce wrote that he has been the board's secretary since 1936 and that his selection for another term may depend on whether a member who is his half first cousin can vote for him.

The opinion explained the courts have held that half brothers and half sisters are classed as brothers and sisters in certain criminal cases and in cases involving estates and that by analogy it was believed that would hold good for cousins.

Marshall Quickly Approved By Senate As New State Chief

Washington, Jan. 8—(AP)—The Senate unanimously confirmed today President Truman's nomination of Gen. George C. Marshall to succeed James F. Byrnes as Secretary of State.

The speedy action came in a Republican-directed move to demonstrate foreign policy unity.

The Senate acted within 55 minutes after the nomination of the wartime army chief of staff was sent to Capitol Hill by the President, who accepted Byrnes' resignation last night.

Previously, in a 12 minute session arranged by Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich.) the 13-member foreign relations committee had placed its endorsement on Marshall as the man to carry forward the policies laid down by Byrnes in American dealings with foreign nations.

Vandenberg stepped down from the presiding officer's chair of the Senate to urge speedy disposition of the nomination, a move said would demonstrate to the world that the United States has "a continuing and effective foreign policy."

Byrnes' resignation, due to health considerations, was announced by Mr. Truman last night.

General Marshall's nomination to the secretaryship was sent to the Senate this noon along with scores of other appointments.

Obion Co. Accepts Local Airfield As Gift Of U. S.

Union City, Tenn.—The Obion county court, in regular quarterly session here Monday, unanimously adopted a resolution accepting a deed from the United States of America conveying to the county, free of charge, 749.94 acres of Embury-Riddle field, including the flying field proper, two large steel hangars, and six small buildings.

The court also instructed Judge Andrew L. Burrus and his county committee on aeronautics to continue negotiations for the purchase of the remainder of the field.

The court adopted a resolution calling on Sen. Charles Obion and Rep. George C. Cloys of Obion county to support a three-cent sales tax bill, with two cents to be retained by the state and one cent to be returned to the counties, the latter revenue to be used to meet increasing county governmental costs.

Farm Bureau Head Opposed Farmers' Strike, Delegates To Louisville Convention Told Today

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 8—(AP)—Lewis F. Allen of Bowling Green, president of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation, revealed here today that he had rejected a proposal to lead a statewide strike of farmers.

Speaking at the opening session of the federation's annual convention, Allen said such proposals had been made to him by mail but he did not reveal the source of the suggestions.

"Such a movement not only would be unpopular," Allen said, "but would be of no real benefit to the farmer."

"In strikes, like in war, there are only losers. Any increase in wages is quickly lost in the higher cost of living and to public opinion."

Allen said that no organization or industry has a right to strike "when the well-being of our citizens is threatened or when such strikes threaten to disrupt the economy of this country."

The speaker stressed the importance of rural highway building and the necessity for increasing salaries of public school teachers.

"It is an outrage," Allen said, "that our teachers are paid less than the street sweepers in most of our cities and towns. It is the responsibility of us farm people to see that teachers are well paid, and not to quibble over paying sufficient taxes to meet the payroll."

Opening of the annual meeting will be highlighted by six commodity conferences, a session of the associated women, an insurance agents conference and a general session of the federation.

Preliminary meetings were held yesterday by the board of directors in executive session, the resolutions committee and the cooperatives committee.

The convention was scheduled to get under way at 9:45 a. m. with opening remarks by W. F. Thompson, Spencer county, first vice president of the state organization. Lewis F. Allen, Warren county, will give the president's address.

Principal speakers today include Ben Kilgore, assistant manager of the Eastern Dark Fired Tobacco Association and former executive secretary of the federation, and Dr. Asher Hobson of the University of Wisconsin.

The associated women, scheduled to meet at 1:30 p. m. will hear Harry W. Schacter, president of the Committee for Kentucky, and Mrs. Charles W. Sewell, Chicago, administrative director of the Associated Women of the American Farm Bureau.

Separate conferences will be held in the afternoon on production and marketing problems of livestock, fruits and vegetables, dairy products and tobacco.

Truman Raps Fund Seekers

Says Administration Officials Have Asked More Than He Intended

Washington, Jan. 8—(AP)—President Truman has cracked down on administration officials who he said have tried to wrangle larger funds from congress than the White House asked.

In an unusual memorandum Mr. Truman directed the Budget Bureau to tell his subordinates that they must:

1. Stop "seizing upon any opportunity which presents itself to indicate an opinion, either directly or indirectly, that my (budget) estimates are insufficient."

2. "Support only the President's estimates in hearings and discussions with members of congress."

A leading Republican lawmaker who obtained a copy of the memorandum and made it available today to a reporter said that in his view the second point might be construed as instructions to oppose any congressional effort to trim appropriation requests.

This congress member, who asked not to be named, noted that the GOP is committed to a pledge to trim federal spending to the bone.

Forecasts of the 1948 budget message scheduled to go to congress Friday, have centered around a $37,000,000,000 figure, compared with Republican contentions that government outlays during the year beginning next July 1 should be held close to $30,000,000,000.

During a stop at Guam today, Marshall declined to discuss his policies or plans.

"I am sorry, I have to be silent for the present," he told a reporter.

An aide said Marshall knew his appointment was in prospect but first learned from the radio en route that it actually had been made.

Mayfield Firemen And Street Men's Pay Hiked

Mayfield, Ky.—At the city council meeting Monday night, it was voted to raise the salaries of the local firemen $10 per month. Also given a salary raise of 10c per hour were the members of the street department.

Four-H club members in Greenup county made plans to make and sell about 500 Christmas wreaths, the proceeds to be used for a movie projector for 4-H clubs.

President Truman today attacked wage demands which would prevent nationwide price drop; wants to produce more, increase employment.

Economic report to congress also notes need to continue high taxes, build more houses, keep rent laws.

OUTLINES SHORT- AND LONG-RANGE GOALS

Washington, Jan. 8—(AP)—President Truman told Congress today that for greater prosperity America needs lower prices and labor ought not to press wage demands which will keep them from dropping.

He sent the legislators a message in which he also said that for the nation's economic health they should (A) continue taxes at present wartime levels, (B) extend rent controls, (C) increase social security benefits, (D) boost minimum wages, (E) extend the wage-hour law to new groups, (F) start a long-range housing program and (G) enact new labor laws.

Mr. Truman's message was his first economic report under the employment act of 1946. That law requires that he and his economic advisers send Congress a report early in each year on prospective business and employment conditions in the following 12 months.

The main points he emphasized to the Republican-held, economy-minded Congress were these:

The country should produce 5 percent more goods this year than last and keep employment at its record-breaking level.

But the purchasing power of the people may not support those goals unless wage and price adjustments are quickly made.

Must Reduce Prices

A major approach "must be through reduced prices."

Rent ceilings should remain beyond mid-1947, because "a large increase in rents would substantially reduce consumer purchasing power."

"Business can and should reduce prices wherever possible in order to bring about the necessary increase in consumer purchasing power."

Long-Range Program

For a long-range program, the Chief Executive suggested:

1. Making more efficient use of the labor force. First, by better industrial training; second, by coordinating the state employment services; and third, by wiping out race and religious discrimination among workers. He asked permanent legislation dealing with the latter problem, without mentioning the proposed revival of the fair employment practice committee (FEPC).

2. Expanding production. This can be "entrusted mainly to the initiative and inventiveness within our business system," Truman said, if the government helps by removing the threat of recurrent business slumps.

The government can do this, he suggested, by: Helping keep farm income up to the rest of the nation's standard, and developing new farm markets; building up undeveloped and depressed regions; continuing the state-aid programs; and making careful use of federal public works.

3. Encouraging free enterprise. Mr. Truman said he was asking more funds for anti-trust law enforcement, and urged help, including easier credit, for small business.

4. Expanding the welfare, health and security programs. This should include bigger unemployment benefits, he suggested.

5. Improving international trade. The reciprocal reduction of tariff barriers, cooperation in the world bank and world monetary fund, and progress in forming the proposed international trade organization are all vital to thriving foreign trade, Mr. Truman said.

6. Combating boom and bust cycles. The President said he had instructed the council of economic advisers to develop measures to combat depressions and to recommend their adoption "in ample time" to head off approaching slumps.

Wage changes also are necessary and management must recognize that greater productivity in some cases will permit bigger pay checks as well as lower price tags; also that pay should go up where it has lagged behind living costs or where wage rates are substandard.

But labor "should refrain from demands for excessive wage increases that would require price increases or prevent price reductions."

"Wage adjustments, like price adjustments," Mr. Truman declared, "need to be made with a discriminating regard for individual situations throughout the economy."

Taxes should be kept at present levels, Mr. Truman said, because in periods when "employment is high and the total income is large," the rule of sound public finance "calls for surplus in government revenues over expenditures."

He cautioned that when cuts are made they should be distributed fairly so as to lighten the load on the mass of consumers while also giving business the profit incentive "essential for a high level of production."

Mr. Truman broke his recommendations down into what he termed "short-range" goals for which he asked immediate attention. These were:

Raise the minimum wage above its present 40 cent base, and extend the fair labor standards act to classes of workers now excluded.

Increase old-age benefits and survivors' insurance under social security; extend aid to the blind and dependent children beyond 1947.

Launch a long-range housing program designed "to reduce the cost of housing on all fronts" and help start 1,000,000 new dwellings this year.

Pass the "non-punitive" labor legislation recommended in the state-of-the-union message—aimed mainly at jurisdictional strikes, some secondary boycotts, and disputes arising under existing contracts.

Farm Bureau Repeats

Fulton county, long one of the strongest Farm Bureau counties in Kentucky, has exceeded its membership quota for the 13th consecutive year, an achievement of which all justly can be proud.

This year's membership is 765, or 65 more than the quota, and the largest number of Farm Bureau members here since the 918 enrolled in 1941.

The Farm Bureau organization is "going places", to use a slang phrase, all over the state. Counties such as this one are leading the way. Our congratulations to all Farm Bureau members.

Kentucky Lags Behind

Obion county teachers have received welcome news of a $200 increase in salaries this year, voted at the January term of the county court.

The Obion county Education Association, headed by Ed Eller of South Fulton, prepared the resolution adopted by the court.

More good news for Tennessee teachers is that the state legislature is expected to give them a $300 salary increase in the next school year.

Across the state line, Kentucky teachers read Attorney General Dummitt's opinion that the $500 a year increase for public school teachers proposed by the KEA board of directors would be unconstitutional.

It seems that the state constitution says salaries and other state aids to schools must be given on a per capita basis. An increased per capita rate thus is necessary if Kentucky teachers are to receive higher salaries.

Other states are realizing how inadequate teachers' pay has been, and are doing something about it. If we sit idly by and fail to improve the lot of our teachers, we will have no one to blame but ourselves when a mass migration from Kentucky classrooms begins.

Progress And Poverty

A city occupational or privilege tax, now only in the discussion stage, probably will become a reality within the next few months.

The city council plans to make a survey of all businesses in Fulton before the next regular meeting, and soon may decide whether the new tax plan would be advisable here.

Levying of such a tax was suggested by some opponents of parking meters as a more desirable means of putting more money in the city treasury. There seems to be less opposition to the occupational tax, to say the least.

If the city is to repair its streets, improve its water system, buy new fire trucks, erect new street markers, pay old debts, meet higher operating costs, and generally move forward with other progressive purchase municipalities, it must have more money to spend. It has operated on a paper basis long enough, and the folly of false economy is all too evident.

NAME-DROPPINGS

By Henry Ward

John W. Brooker, former Kentucky state superintendent of public instruction, will not be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for that post this year, as there has been some rumor he might be.

From him I have a letter in which he acknowledged the report that he was being "boosted" for state superintendent, and then made this statement:

"I am not going to become a candidate for the state superintendency nor for any other state position, and I am writing to that you will have this definite information."

Brooker is now director of public relations for the Kentucky Education Association. He was a prospective candidate for governor in 1943, but stayed out of the race when it became apparent that support of the state administration was going to Lyter Donaldson.

The fact that Brooker will not get into the race will stimulate talk that many of the school people want the Democratic nomination to go to Adron Doran, Wingo principal, state representative of Graves county and president of the Kentucky Education Association.

Doran has been making a series of visits over the state, and has taken the lead in the development of a new program for the raising of teacher salaries. That's the kind of music that is soothing to the ears of the teachers.

While it has been suggested that Doran might not run for superintendent if his candidacy seemed to minimize the chance that his friend Harry Lee Waterfield would win the Democratic nomination for governor, there is strong support for him over the state and a good possibility that he might gain the superintendency nomination without opposition.

From a friend in Madisonville comes this comment on the way the state gubernatorial contest is shaping up, following the announcement by Ben Kilgore that he will not run but will support Harry Lee Waterfield:

"Some of (Earle) Clements' friends here today told me that they did not think he would

Byrnes' Resignation

By J. M. Roberts, Jr.

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

When James F. Byrnes became Secretary of State 18 months ago there were those who feared that a mighty good pilot in domestic waters had been carried out of his depth. But Byrnes seemed to grow along with the complexities of his job until, by the time of the Paris Foreign Ministers' conference last summer, he was able to take the lead in international maneuvering which had been held by the Russians and British.

Now, in the flush of major successes during the recent New York conferences, he resigns. Although known to be needing a rest, Byrnes had been expected by the public to carry on for a while longer. Only the presence of General Marshall to take over prevents considerable shock. That plus Byrnes' development of a firm, continuing and non-partisan foreign policy which should lose nothing through being administered by a man who has never had political connections.

It is a policy, too, whose success is its own best safeguard against change. The concessions which Russia has made across the conference table, her lessened pressure on the Danube, the Dardanelles, Iran and elsewhere, march too closely the pattern of U. S. counter-pressure to be mere coincidence.

There will be speculation and some ouster. The change, making General Marshall a part of the civilian administration and putting him next in line for the Presidency should anything happen to Mr. Truman during the next two years, probably will reverberate in domestic politics. Foreign quarters will be alert to the possibilities of the "military mind" at the State Department. The next anti-American propaganda from abroad probably will link the "brass" on the Foreign Ministers Council with American refusal to stop making atomic bombs, and "military diplomacy" will begin to share the spotlight with "dollar diplomacy" and "atomic diplomacy."

But the announcement that Byrnes is retiring because of his health is well documented. And his standing in the administration was attested only a short time ago when Truman ousted politically powerful Henry Wallace from the cabinet to preserve the prestige of Byrnes and his policies in Europe.

There, too, the fitness of Marshall for the job, regardless of brass, is generally acknowledged in this country. With Franklin D. Roosevelt and Cordell Hull, the general was one of the very few men intimately acquainted with every facet of America's foreign relations from 1939 on.

The war really is over. Tobacco redrying plant employees are seeking a 25-cent hourly raise. We can remember, away back during the cigarette shortage, when some rag-famished addicts would have been willing to work for next to nothing just to inhale the fragrant odor of a redrying plant for eight hours.

With The Fourth Estate

They said it will be no use for him to run. He would be defeated worse than Brown, from what I heard during the past few days, even in the Second Congressional District (which Clements represents now).

"Voters from all sections of the state have bolted and written me that residents of the First District are entitled to a governor and with that sentiment Clements has no chance.

"The Republicans here and others who have talked with me since Mr. Kilgore announced his stand hope the Democrats will have a primary and cause so much feeling that they can win next November," my friend concluded.

The Democrats, incidentally, are wishing the Republicans the same thing—a primary so bitter that wounded feelings will not have healed before the November election rolls around.

Unfortunately for the Democrats, the Republicans are in much better shape to agree on nominees without a primary—Paducah Sun-Democrat.

ROBOT CHAUFFEURS NEEDED

There is need, in the United States, of robot chauffeurs to drive cars over such roads as the so-called "thruway" which New York plans.

Nothing is deadlier to eyes and nerves than driving lone distances on straight and gradeless roads. Try it in the more level States if you haven't experienced it and do not believe it.

New York's six-lane road without traffic lights, almost without curves as drivers commonly know the term, and with no grade above three per cent, will be a hard grind for any human driver who must drive from New York City to Buffalo. (Louisville Times)

Fluctuations in the price of butter have been blamed on "pegging" the market. But one of the morons with whom we have a gibbering acquaintance thinks it's natural for the price of such a slippery commodity to slide a bit occasionally.

JUNIOR WOMAN'S CLUB HAS OUTSTANDING MEETING

The Junior Woman's Club held their regular monthly meeting last night at 7:30 in the club home. Mrs. Eugene Hoodenpyle was program leader of the evening, and presented a most interesting program.

Mrs. Elizabeth Snow, club sponsor, read "Home," by Edgar A. Guest, at the beginning of the program. Then the members and guests were invited on a tour of homes.

Mrs. John Earle's charming home, where antiques were shown throughout the house, was the first visited. Mrs. Earl told the history of several of her antiques. She had some of the most unusual and beautiful antiques in Fulton, including a sugar chest, a melodeon and a sideboard dating back to 1832.

Then the group proceeded to Highlands, where they visited one of the newest and most modern homes in Fulton, Mrs. Lenard Hagen's. She had on display a number of interesting souvenirs her son, James Howard, had sent from the European theater of war. One of the most outstanding was a clock weighing 27 pounds sent from Germany.

Last the group visited "The Home," the gracious country house of Mrs. Charlie Brann. Mrs. Brann invited each member in and asked her to sign a register, and then they were shown her home. Each room was perfect in every detail. She told the history of "The Home" which was built in 1938. She required much of her furnishings in Louisiana. One of her chairs is 225 years old. Mrs. Brann then surprised the members with delicious refreshments. Each member of the club thanks each lady for her gracious hospitality.

The group then journeyed back to the club home and a business meeting was held. A benefit bridge was planned for Feb. 14, proceeds of which are to be used for a new piano for the club home.

After the business session on the social hour was directed by Mrs. Eugene Waggoner. Miss Virginia Howard and Miss Martha Jean Brown, who served fruit cake and coffee to 29 members and three guests, Mrs. John Lloyd Jones, Mrs. Jamie Wade, Miss Betty Sue Houston.

PTA REQUESTS COOPERATION

The Parent-Teachers Association started the Back-to-School movement in September, and we have had good results. Mrs. R. L. Harris, president of the South Fulton PTA, announces:

"Most of our people have been in school regularly. However, at this time we have some students who are not cooperating. With the help of these pupils and their parents, we would easily be 100 per cent."

"Therefore we would appreciate your seeing that your child is in school and on time," she concluded.

Movie People Top Pay Rolls

Hollywood Folk Hold One Of Every Four Spots In Over $75,000 Bracket

Washington, Jan. 8.—(AP)—The film industry got its usual top billing today on a treasury list of 132 leading money-makers of 1946 and of business fiscal years ending in 1945.

Movie people held more than one out of every four spots on the partial list of over $75,000 earners and led it with the comedy team of Bud Abbott and Lou Costello. They took in $668,170 jointly—$334,085 each if they split it evenly.

Hollywood also furnished eight of the 12 persons on the list who received more than $200,000, but yielded top individual place to a businessman, Thomas J. Watson of New York, president of International Business Machines Corp.

Watson's gross was $228,544. Even so, he was a far second to movie producer-director Leo McCarey, whose $1,115,000 earnings, set out in an earlier listing of 500 persons, kept him high money-maker for the 1944 and 1945 periods.

And still unreported and presumably slated for a later list was movie magnate Louis B. Mayer, the list-leader for seven consecutive years. Mayer's 1944 earnings were $200,000.

The listings cover only compensation for personal services, excluding income from investments or other sources. Second to Watson on the new list and leader among the women for 1944 earnings thus far reported was Deanna Durbin, who got $810,726 singing and acting in movies. Her husband and picture director, Felix Jackson, also made the list with earnings of $114,675.

The No. 3 individual spot, and last in the over-$500,000 bracket, went to Walter Wanger, Universal Pictures producer and husband of movie actress Joan Bennett. He took in $501,127. Fourth was Harry Cohn, president of Columbia Pictures, with $278,900.

Secrets Of Storms May Be Studied

Washington, Jan. 8.—(AP)—An investigation of the structure of thunderstorms as been proposed to congress.

The suggestion was included in a bill by Rep. Bulwinkle (D-N.C.) to authorize the Weather Bureau "to investigate fully and thoroughly the internal structure of thunderstorms."

The measure's preamble said it was prompted by three airplane crashes, including one Aug. 31, 1940, near Lovettsville, Va., in which former Senator Ernest Lundeen of Minnesota was killed. The others were near Vero Beach, Fla. April 3, 1941 and near Trammel, Ky. July 28, 1943.

Radiant Living

Devotional for training the spiritual life.

Rev. J. C. Matthews
Scripture for the day: "Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord" Ps. 33:1.

Prayer of George Washington

On the altar of the chapel on the camp ground of Valley Forge, now a national park, may be read this prayer of Washington:

"Almighty God, we make our earnest prayer that Thou wilt keep the United States in Thy holy protection, that Thou wilt incline the hearts of the citizens to cultivate the spirit of subordination and obedience to government and to entertain a brotherly affection and love for one another, and their fellow citizens of the United States at large, and finally, that Thou wilt most graciously be pleased to dispose us all to do justice, love mercy, and to demean ourselves with that charity, humility and pacific temper of mind which were characteristics of the Divine Author of our blessings of religion, and without a humble imitation of whose example in these things we can never hope to be a happy nation. Grant our supplication, Father, we beseech Thee, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."

My country, 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of liberty,
Of thee we sing;
Land where my fathers died,
Land of the pilgrim's pride,
From every mountain side
Let freedom ring!

Our father, God! to Thee,
Author of liberty,
To Thee we sing;
Long may our land be bright
With freedom's holy light;
Protect us by thy might,
Great God, our King!

Sports Roundup

New York, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Ted Wieman, newly-elected president of the Football Coaches' Association, is dean of men and director of athletics at the U. of Maine—but not football coach. Working under a bonus agreement, Billy Evans collected $22,000 as president of the Southern Association last season. And one reason why prospective presidential candidates are shying off is that the S. A. wants to reduce that figure considerably. Johnny Mills, Hofstra College basketball star, has hit 982 points in 56 games during his college career and hopes to hit the 1,000 mark against Adelphi tonight.

Larry Binford, who has been sparking the Fulton Pure Milk team on the hardwood this season, led the Western Division All-Star independents in scoring last night at Paducah while his team was trouncing the Eastern Division five 70-48.

Binford, who starred for Clinton Central high, got a total of 17 points. J. L. Jones, Golconda, Ill., made 19 for the losers.

The Western All-Stars were trailing 10-8 after the first quarter, but forged ahead in the second period and were never in danger from then on.

It was the first all-star tilt of the year, and marked the halfway point in the independents' season.

New York, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Babe Ruth spent a "pretty comfortable night" and his condition was described as "fair" this morning by officials at French hospital, where baseball's former home run king appeared to be winning his fight for life.

Georgetown Western Win

Georgetown Beats Transy 65-36; Toppers Defeat Brigham Young 62-44

Georgetown College defeated Transylvania, 65-36 last night in a KIAC basketball game and Western Kentucky State Teachers took the decision from Brigham Young of Provo, Utah for the second night in a row, 62-44, at Bowling Green.

Georgetown led at the half 38-14 after an 18-9 spurt shortly after the start of the game. The victory gave Georgetown a KIAC record of three wins and two losses and the defeat marked Transy's only league game. The game was played at Georgetown.

Western led its out-of-state opponents at the half 30-21, but the score was tied at 32-32 four minutes after the second half opened. Western took the lead shortly after, however, and stayed in front the rest of the way. It was Western's fourth victory in a row and its fifth in seven starts.

Western defeated the same team Monday night 62-44. No college basketball games are scheduled in Kentucky tonight.

On Sees Good Giants' Year

1947 Club Will Be Best Since John McGraw Days, Manager Says Cheerfully
New York, Jan. 8.—(AP)—The 1947 edition of the New York Giants will be the speediest, hustlingest outfit since the days of John McGraw, manager Mel Ott said today as the former boy wonder prepared to start his sixth year at the helm of the club.

Ott, who succeeded Bill Terry in 1942 and landed the Giants in the first division only once in five years, predicted a pleasant surprise for Giant followers, long accustomed to a drab, colorless club.

"Our purchases during the past summer and fall were designed to bring speed and youth to the club," said Ott, who came here to discuss the team's personnel with president Horace Stoneham.

"I expect Lloyd Gearhart, a 28-year-old speed merchant from Atlanta, to plug the gap in centerfield. Gearhart, led the Southern League in hits, runs, triples and stolen bases. Another speedster is Al White whom we drafted from Toledo. White, a 300 hitter, paced the American Association in stolen bases. Then we have Carroll (Whitey) Lockman back. Whitey batted 345 for us in about 50 games in 1944 before he left for the service. Together with Will Marshall from last year's picket line, they should form the fastest and perhaps the best outfield the Giants have had in years."

Arlington Aces Trim Bulldogs

Forge Ahead In Last Half To Win By 40-29 Score On Home Floor

Fulton's Bulldogs, who have been playing up-and-down ball all season, were victims of a last-half scoring spree at Arlington last night, losing 40-29.

The Bulldogs were ahead 9-5 and 16-12 after the first two quarters, but the Arlington Aces made it 24-21 in their favor in the third quarter and held onto their lead in the final frame.

Last night's loss gives the Bulldogs a 3-50 standing in six games this season.

They will go to Clinton to tangle with the strong Central high five Friday night. Next week Milburn will play here Thursday night and the Murray Tigers will be here Friday night.

Wall Street Report

New York, Jan. 8.—(AP)—A number of leading stocks gave further ground in today's market, extending Tuesday's late downturn, although favored individual issues resisted the trend. Dealings, fairly active at the opening, soon slowed to a walk. Near midday the list was mixed.

Down fractions to a point were Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, Chrysler General Motors, International Harvester, J. I. Case, American Telephone, Goodrich, Kennecott, Anaconda, Union Carbide, All Reduction, Standard Oil (N.J.), Chesapeake & Ohio and North American. Some improvement was registered by Western Union, A. New York Central, Pennsylvania Railroad, General Electric International Nickel, U. S. Gypsum and Electric Power & Light. Bonds were narrowly lower. Cotton recovered after an early dip.

Washington Letter.

By Jane Eads

Washington.—The prospect of keeping the young people down on the farm is growing brighter with the development of better living conditions in the rural areas, according to agricultural officials.

Now 52 percent of the nation's 5,000,000 farms have electricity. It is expected that by 1955 expansion of the power lines will up this figure to 90 percent.

Since 1936 the percentage of farm homes served by the Rural Electrification Administration (REA) and private utilities has grown from 10.9 to 52.9.

An unofficial REA year-end report states that during the 1946 calendar year approximately 265,000 new consumers were added to REA-financed power lines. This was 50 percent greater than calendar 1945. In addition 24 new systems were established.

And the Rural Electric Information Exchange, a fact-finding outfit sponsored by private utility companies, reports a budget of $300,000,000 has been set up to finance construction of new lines.

Many farms now have good water supplies, bathrooms, refrigerators, radios, frozen food lockers and modern household equipment.

The Rural Electrification Administration, which makes loans to local cooperatives, enabling the farms themselves to build the lines and operate the systems, was established in 1935 as an independent agency.

It became apart of the Department of Agriculture in 1939. Borrowers of REA loan funds have electrified about half of the rural areas which have been electrified in this country since 1935.

For the two years ending July, 1947, some $500,000,000 was authorized by Congress for REA Loans—more than the total sum made available in the organization's previous nine years of operation.

Cooperatives are incorporated under State laws on a non-profit basis. There are about 900 of these cooperatives in 45 states. They range in farmer membership from a few hundred to several thousand and serve 1,600,000 consumers.

The co-ops submit a program to REA telling what they propose to do and map the power lines they want to build. REA checks the project and gives them the loan if it's O.K. This is paid after the system gets into operation.

The biggest co-op in the number of consumers served—10,000—is in Tennessee. The largest in length of power lines operated is in Texas.

Currently there is lots of activity in getting electrification to the plain states, such as the Dakotas and Montana, and to the mountain states.

Some $109,000,000 REA loan funds remain available out of the $550,000,000 voted REA by Congress.

However REA says it expects to get approximately $225,000,000 in pending loan applications by next July—more than twice the amount available.

Edmonton Fire Loss Is $40,000.00

Glasgow, Ky., Jan.—(AP)—Five buildings were destroyed by a fire of undetermined origin at Edmonton last night and unofficial estimates placed the damage at between $40,000 and $50,000.

The fire started in a grocery and destroyed it and a second hand store, an insurance building, bus station, a printing office and a barbershop and poolroom.

Residents formed bucket brigades, to battle the flames, carrying water from nearby wells. The Glasgow fire department prevented flames from spreading further.

TEEN-TALK

Dear Judy,

The kids at Wyoming High School near Cincinnati really have a sick can'teen. It is called the "Corral" and has a social program consisting of hay rides, swimming, square dances and box-lunch socials.

Sometimes they have a real nite club night and invite their parents. The Joe-Joes dress up in tux and act as head waiters, the school's swing band gives off with jive and sway, and the girls act as waitresses. Others help out in the hat check room.

Sounds like fun, doesn't it? Speaking of hep-chuck, in a Sydney (New South Wales) milk bar, a group of hops voted on their favorite juke box number: Vaughn Monroe's "Let It Snow"; Kate Smith's "Some Sunday Morning"; Bing Crosby and Judy Garland singing "You've Got Me Where You Want Me"; Frank Sinatra singing "I Dream of You"; Glenn Miller's four-year-old "In The Mood." Guess kids all over the world like the same things, don't you think?

bridge game. It seems cards are big business and the kids trade 'em like mad. Sometimes they have a favorite subject such as dogs, cats, horses, birds, ships, fruits or flower arrangements, and try to collect all of one theme. But the best idea the kids find is to assemble a complete playing pack, every card of which has a different design.

The kids here are going in for suspenders in a big way. Of course they still love belts, but suspenders sorta lend a little variety occasionally. Helen wears one scarlet and one Kelly green suspender over a black sweater and a grey skirt. They're per over a skating sweater, too.

Schoolboy Is Slow To Pay Old Debt

Britton, Okla.—(AP)—An Oklahoma's conscience almost outlasted the memory of man. The unidentified man mailed $3 to the school board to pay for a lamp and water bucket he said he took from "the Old Potts school" 40 years ago. The board finally found some old-timers who recalled that name was once used by Britton's Lone Star schoolhouse.

Helicopters Aid In Fire Fighting In Western Wilds

Misoula, Mont.—(AP)—Federal Forest Service officials of Region No. 1 are looking to the helicopter as the possible answer to fighting forest fires in the inaccessible western wilds.

Getting men to the fires is no great problem since inauguration of the "smoke jumping" parachute corps but there still is an immense amount of time lost getting these men and equipment back to civilization after a jump in a remote area.

Helicopters already have been tried experimentally with encouraging results and it's likely they will find a regular job in taking men to and from fires. They also are expected to prove valuable in removing persons lost or injured in wilderness areas.

chaps, and comic books. Since leaving the Army Air Transport Command—he piloted C-47s in the United States, India, and Africa—he has made two movies.

Once he was vacation-relief telegraph operator at Chelsea, Okla. One day Will Rogers came in to file a wire. Gene was singing to his own accompaniment on a mail-order guitar.

"Son, I think you're wasting your time here," the humorist said. "You ought to get yourself a job on the radio."

Gene got a pass and rode a chaircar to New York—and fame.

Q—What is the doctrine of the Church of Christ?

A—The Church of Christ has no uninspired creed, written by fallible men, without the authority or approval of Christ, subject to the whims and fancies of changeable humans. The teachings of Christ and his inspired apostles, constitute the doctrine of the Church of Christ. Whatever, therefore, one finds taught by our Lord and his apostles in the New Testament, he may know is the doctrine of the Church of Christ.

Q—Where does the Bible say, "The time is coming when ye will not be able to tell winter from summer, except by the budding of the trees?"

A—Although this statement has been quoted numerous times, it is NOT in the Bible. In fact, the Bible says the very opposite, "While the earth remaineth, seedtime and harvest, and cold and heat and summer and winter, and day and night shall NOT cease." (Gen. 8:22).

Q—It is wrong to buy or sell a dog?

A—Possibly the inquirer has the following passage in mind, "Thou shalt not bring the hire of a harlot, or the price of a dog, into the house of the Lord thy God . . ." (Deut. 23:18a). By observing the context, one can readily see that this is a figure of speech. In this connection, immoral women are called "harlots," and immoral men are called "dogs." Wicked men are also called "dogs" in Phil. 3:2 and Rev. 22:15. Hence, it is no more wrong to buy or sell a dog, than it is to buy or sell any other animal.
