given the people of this community something tip-top in the way of Harness and Saddlery, and they are showing their appreciation of it. Mr. Jno. Skally, who is at the head of this department, has served a long apprenticeship at his trade, and offers our patrons the benefit of his experience. He is a good judge of leather and a splendid maker of a harness. We have a select stock of factory made harness, but if you want a set that never was close to a sewing machine he will make you up something that will last until you tire of it.

WANTS BIG DAMAGES.

An Interesting Suit Filed Friday Morning.

PRAYER FOR $10,000.

Rawls Accused Word of Stealing a Nine Cents File and Gett Sued.

E. H. Rawls accused J. H. Word, Jr., of stealing a file valued at nine cents, and the latter brought suit this morning for ten thousand dollars damages.

Mr. Word is a young man who lives in the States' mill precinct. Last month he was in the employ of the Racket store. Mr. Rawls was head clerk at the time. A cheap file was missed from the stock. According to the petition, Rawls "falsely, maliciously and without any probable cause" made out before Jack T. Hanbury, presiding judge of the Hopkinsville Police Court, to the effect that Word had taken the file with the felonious intention of converting it to his own use. A warrant was put in the hands of Chief of Police J. S. Fritz and Word was arrested. The young man was tried in the Police Court and acquitted.

These are the causes that led to the damage suit. Word states that the charges brought against him were absolutely false, that he neither stole nor carried away the file. He claims that owing to his arrest and the alleged false accusation his reputation has been greatly damaged and his feelings hurt in at least the sum of ten thousand dollars.

HER SWEETHEART WAS DRUNK.

How a Hopkinsville Young Man Lost a Wife.

A few evenings ago a young lady of Burlington made an effort to leave for Springfield, where she intended to marry a young man who resides in Illinois.

On the way to the depot she was stopped by a man who told her that her husband was dead. She was so shocked that she did not know what to do. She was then taken to a hotel where she was kept for several days. She was then taken to a hospital where she died.

WHAT THEY THINK OF US.

Hopkinsville a Beautiful City and the People are Hospitable.

The delegation of business men from Oakville, Illinois, who visited Kenton last week, wrote an account of the trip for the Oakville Times.

An extract follows: "Hopkinsville is a beautiful city, about the size of Belleville, Ill., located on gently undulating land with a prominent elevation toward the East. The streets are all macadamized with fine gravel and present a beautiful white appearance. Many fine and substantial business houses, churches, school houses and residences are to be found.

The people are English speaking and a large number of negroes live here. The proverbial Southern hospitality is a prominent feature.

But to return to Hotel Latham. This is an elegant place, built with a view of attractiveness and convenience. Its broad corridors and hallways are inviting and the whole place has an air of welcome about it. The clerk wears a uniform and the pleasant white Managor Johnson, clad in his immaculate livery, dispenses a cordial hospitality not excelled anywhere. A cordon of colored waiters in white aprons attend to your wants in the dining room, even to the minutest detail. If you should ever visit Hopkinsville visit this house and you will never regret it.

MUCH DAMAGE DONE.

A Very Destructive Cloudburst Visited Trenton Last Friday.

Parties in the city Saturday from Trenton, Ky., report a destructive cloudburst in that vicinity Friday night and Sunday.

It is said that a considerable amount of damage was done to crops and fences, but so far as reported no lives were lost. The rain came down in the form of hail and the damage was accompanied by a terrific grand electrical display which caused considerable consternation.

The extent of the damage done is not reported, but it must have been very great if the reports are true. The Clarksville-Lee Chronicle has the following regarding the storm: Reports from several sections of the country tributary to this city today state that the vicinities of Trenton, or the Kentucky line, and the Hampton Station and Port Royal neighborhoods, and perhaps other localities, were yesterday visited by a regular cloud-burst, and that there was a great amount of damage wrought to the growing crops, especially to tobacco. Fences were washed away in many places, and the planters sustained much loss. There was a good deal of wind and lightning accompanying the very heavy rainfall, but no damage from electrical bolts have been reported.

In Southern Kentucky, especially, it is reported that outside the damage above mentioned that the prospect for a fine tobacco crop in that section was never better; that some of the forward settlers have begun to top.

MR. JOHN W. COOPER DEAD.

Telegram Received Announcing His Death From An Accident.

Mr. John W. Cooper, formerly of this city, and well and favorably known to the citizens of this and adjoining counties, is dead. The sad intelligence was conveyed to his relatives here by a telegram received Sunday from Dr. Cooper. The dispatch was sent from Farmington, Ill., and merely stated that Mr. Cooper had met with an accident that resulted fatally.

Immediately on the receipt of the telegram Mr. A. M. Cooper, a brother of the deceased, left for Farmington. No word has yet been heard from him regarding the cause of the death.

Mr. John Cooper was an excellent gentleman. His home was in Elmwood, Ill., and he was in the insurance business. His wife and two children survive him.

Killed by a Mule's Kick.

Jacob Milton Dies From Injuries Sustained.

Jacob Milton died Saturday from injuries received by being kicked by a mule. During the first part of last week Milton, who was a boy about thirteen years old, was ploughing on his father's farm near Crofton. The trace holding the mule he was driving became unsteady and he started to kick. The mule kicked the boy in the stomach, knocking him senseless. Several farm hands picked him up and carried him to the house. Dr. S. H. Williams was sent for and he was beyond the power of human surgery. After living three days he died.

Were it not for Life Seabra's magnanimity little Frankie Franks, who is anything but frank, would have been kicked long ago, says Harry Hogg, of the Plaindealer. Seabra has always consoled keeping him in the race, and for this Seabra has the thanks of the Democratic party.

In commenting on the connection of Mr. Frank Bell with the Nashville Sun, the Bowling Green Times says: "Here is pleasant news of a wandering member of the Kentucky press gang who rumor said had gone to Cuba to fight for the insurgents. We are glad to learn that Bell is not counting death in the midst of the island, but is counting fame in the ranks of journalism, which he is so certain to attain."

To the great disappointment of the Republicans of this Congressional district, Mr. Franks, their Congressional nominee, has absolutely refused to withdraw and step down for the benefit of a better man, in consequence of which the followers of the G. O. P. are simply crestfallen, while the Democrats are going smoothly along in the even tenor of their way, satisfied that the full assurance of victory, whenever may be the outcome—Newspander Sun.

Dr. Francis Radd, from Hopkinsville, has moved to Caswellville where he will practice medicine. This should be a good location for him, as Caswellville has had no resident physician since Dr. Murray's illness.—Sturgis Ledger.

A Pleasant Time.

On account of the rain Saturday evening the fireworks display at Dr. Lecher's had arranged for the benefit of the patients at the Asylum had to be dispensed with. There was a dance for the patients from 4 to 6 o'clock, and after that the attendants and other employees had a dance which was greatly enjoyed by all present.

He Has Seen a Ghost.

A Todd county gentleman avers that he has seen a ghost in Elkton, and all the people are talking about the apparition. The gentleman recites that he was returning home late at night he saw plainly the misty body of a horse with a man's chest and head, a veritable spook Centaur. Centaurs were never known to have flourished in Todd county, but the gentleman says he can not be mistaken in the evidence of his eyes.

The Will of the Late E. P. Campbell Probated To-day.

The last will and testament of the late Hon. Edward P. Campbell was probated last Monday by the County Court. The paper is dated April 13, 1896, and was witnessed by J. E. McPherson and J. P. Braden.

To Mrs. Campbell is left the entire estate, real personal and mixed, and all insurance policies.

The testator states that he desires that every honest debt be paid to the last cent, and wishes that no money be uselessly expended in funeral expenses. It is directed that no inventory or appraisement of the estate be made, and appoints Mrs. Campbell as administratrix without bond or surety. He requests his wife to make liberal provisions for his daughter, Elizabeth G. Campbell, and son, Francis Campbell, to protect them against future hardships, and that she make such provisions for the other children as her motherly affection may prompt.

CLOUD-BURST AT CROFTON.

Much Damage to Crops and Several Horses Killed.

The news comes from Crofton that serious damage was done Saturday afternoon in that vicinity by a cloud-burst and electrical storm.

Between one and two o'clock the downpour was the heaviest that even the oldest inhabitant can remember. All during the rain there were flashes of lightning and heavy thunder.

The damage done to crops is said to be very severe, and fencing and small bridges were washed away.

Several horses were killed by lightning. End Glover and Will Armstrong, well-known farmers, lost in this way two valuable horses.

The storm lasted nearly one hour.

DOINGS IN DETAIL.

The Work of the Chicago Convention.

ADJOURNS TILL FIVE.

Every Happening of the Body Briefly Chronicled.

OTHER INTERESTING ITEMS.

Convention Hall, Chicago, July 8.—9:45 a. m.—It is said that the Committee on Credentials will throw out gold delegates from Nebraska and Michigan. Big fight expected in convention to-day.

10 a. m.—The Chicago Tribune says the gold men are expected to bolt and take separate action at the coming election. The paper also states that the two-thirds rule is likely to be adopted.

10:30 a. m.—Only about one-third of the delegates have arrived. Senator White, of California, will permanently preside over the convention. Weather is clear and warm.

11 a. m.—Twenty-four Tennessee delegates have decided to vote for Blaine. Convention called to order at 10:51.

11:04 a. m.—Sub-Committee on Platform has agreed on draft, which is now being read to full committee.

11:04 a. m.—Chairman calls for report of Committee on Credentials. No response. Convention awaiting report. Committee called on to meet immediately in committee room.

11:15 a. m.—Bland marching club just entered hall. Crowd cheering. Gov. Hogg, of Texas, requested to address the convention.

11:20 a. m.—Hogg takes platform amid great cheers. Band plays "Dixie." Hogg advocates friendliness of spirit among delegates in convention hereafter.

11:25 a. m.—Hogg predicts success in November if temporary work is harmonious. He says people will not tolerate the return of the Republican party to power.

11:30 a. m.—Hogg denounces Republican platform as a mass of glittering generalities to deceive the public. He says protection is only in favor of the wealthy and against farmers and working men.

11:37 a. m.—Minority report being prepared by some of Credentials Committee protesting against unseating Michigan and Nebraska gold men. Hogg says a Republican corruption fund is being formed to carry Illinois, Ohio and other States.

11:45 a. m.—Hogg advocates free coinage of silver and denounces Republican finance platform as interest of foreign nations. Reads plank of 1892 at Minneapolis favoring bimetalism, and says if he could not place the plank in the platform it would be gold and silver on equal terms.

11:52 a. m.—Hogg finished by asking that all sors be healed after the convention and party will march on to victory. Cries for Hill, Algeid and Blackburn amid confusion.

11:55 a. m.—Money, of Mississippi, moves that Blackburn, of Kentucky, be requested to address the convention. Cheering over entire hall. The motion was carried unanimously.

11:57 a. m.—Blackburn takes platform and begins address. Says majority of American people are suffering and look to this convention to right its wrongs; says people will not longer submit to class legislation. Cheering.

12:05 p. m.—Blackburn's speech turned many delegates to him. Believed by friends that he can get first place. It is said he has a chance for second place with Stevenson and Matthews.

Rhea has nominating speech ready.

1:15 p. m.—Algeid speaking. Says gold Democrats claim they love their country and are still doing all they can for these English money men, intending to make producers of this country vassals. When Algeid finished there were cries for Tillman. He did not respond. Committee are not yet ready.

Williams, of Massachusetts, requested to address convention. Says convention is in no wise sectional: New England represents half as much as states as South and West, and speaks for five million speakers now silent.

1:20 p. m.—Committee on Credentials reported. Reports against gold delegates from Michigan and Nebraska.

1:25 p. m.—Committee asks further time to consider individual credentials of Michigan delegates, but asks that the Bryan delegates from Nebraska be seated.

1:29 p. m.—Credentials Committee's report as to seating delegates from Nebraska carried; much confusion.

1:30 p. m.—Russell demands a roll call committee on seating Bryan and Nebraska delegates.

1:32 p. m.—Russell withdraws motion and report of committee, stands. Committee has returned to consider Michigan case.

1:35 p. m.—Bryan delegates are taking seats amid cheers. Much music. Delegation is conferring and fraternizing.

1:36 p. m.—Tillman again requested to address convention. Has not yet responded to call.

1:39 p. m.—Convention adjourns till five o'clock in order to give corn parties time to report.

THE DOCTORS ARE MAD

Warranted to Appear in the County Court.

A LEGAL FIGHT IS ON.

Will be Tried for Violating an Ancient State Law.

Nearly every physician in the county is as mad as the proverbial hen. Papers have been served on them to appear before Judge Breathitt next Thursday morning to be tried for failure to comply with an old State law relating to the registering of deaths and births.

The law was passed in 1874 and states that it shall be the duty of all physicians, surgeons and midwives to keep a registry of all births and deaths at which they have professionally attended, showing, in cases of birth, the name, age, sex, color and condition, whether single, married or widowed, names and surname of parents, occupation, residence and place of birth of the deceased, etc., etc.

This law also provides that it shall be the duty of physicians and others named above to deposit in the County Clerk's office in the counties which births and deaths occur in or before the tenth day of January in every year, the said registry, or a copy thereof, embracing a period of one year ending on the 31st day of December, preceding the time of the deposit.

The law has never been generally observed, if at all, in this county and the physicians were greatly astonished when visited by officers with summons for their appearance Thursday. They are up in arms and a legal fight will follow. Wednesday there will be a meeting of all the physicians, irrespective of schools of systems, to consider what is best to be done about the matter. Lawyers are now at work in their interest.

The penalty as prescribed by the law is a fine of from $5 to $50 for each failure to comply with the provisions of the law. The only physician in the county who has filed a report with the County Clerk is Dr. Seagrave.

VERY ENCOURAGING.

Reports Received From This Tobacco District.

BEST CROP IN YEARS.

Quality of the Weed Promises to be Superior To Any Recent Productions.

Reports received from every section of the Hopkinsville tobacco growing district are of a most encouraging nature, and show that the prospects are most auspicious for one of the largest and best crops grown in years in Southern Kentucky, and that the quality of the weed promises to be much superior to that of recent productions. The heavy rains of late, in many instances amounting to floods, have in some localities been very disastrous to the growing crop, but damage has been repaired and prospects were never brighter.

The new warehouses lately erected here will now accommodate an annual business of 750,000 pounds, and judging from the increase in the volume of business being done in this market at present the sales this season will fall little short of 30,000 hds.

The report of D. F. Smith, inspector for the Hopkinsville market, for the month ending July 1, shows the receipts for the past month to be 3,365 hds., as against 2,410 for the same time last year. Receipts for the year, 14,485 hds., as against 9,155 last year. Sales for the past month, 2,800 hds., as against 2,342 hds. last year. Sales for the year, 14,500 hds., as against 7,435 hds. last year. Shipments for the past month, 2,500 hds., as against 2,004 hds. last year. Shipments for the year, 6,010 hds., as against 5,075 hds. last year. Stock on hand, 4,340 hds., as against 2,275 hds. last year. Stock sold, 3,204 hds., as against 2,226 hds. last year. Stock on hand, 6,150 hds., as against 2,500 hds. last year.

DROWNED IN ROCK CREEK.

Young Christian Minister, Well-Known Here, Loses His Life.

The remains of Elder Irwin Moore passed through the city Saturday night on the way to Madisonville, and were interred Sunday. Elder J. W. Hardy, President of South Kentucky College, conducted the funeral services.

Elder Moore was associate principal of the school at Lewisburg, Tennessee, and was killed by being drowned in his last life by being drowned in Rock Creek. A heavy rain had fallen, which raised the stream, and when he attempted to drive across his horse and buggy were washed down by the strong current. The young man's lifeless body was found several hours later some distance down the creek.

Elder Moore was held in high esteem by all who knew him. His wife and child died a few months ago. By his death the entire family is obliterated within less than one year.

HIS WIFE WAS DISLOCATED.

A Painful Accident That Happened to Miss Myrtle Dinguid.

Miss Myrtle Dinguid, a granddaughter of Prof. F. H. Kenshaw, of this city, will be confined to her bed several weeks as a result of an accident which happened one afternoon during the latter part of last week.

She was riding a horse in the meadow back of her grandfather's home. The animal became frightened at the barking of a dog and threw the girl violently to the ground. Her hip was dislocated by the fall.

A surgeon was immediately summoned and the dislocated member reduced. Miss Dinguid is resting comfortably.

Weak eyes are made strong, dim vision is made clear, eyes are removed and grafted with the best of success. Thousands of cases of eye troubles cured by the use of Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy. It's put up in tubes and sold on guarantee by all dealers.

SUPPLEMENT.

VOL. XXVII.

HOPKINSVILLE, KY., JULY 10, 1896.

NO. 2.

The South African Labor Market.

I believe, as with fighting peoples of India, so with the Zulu and the Matabele, military service will eventually prove an excellent means of eliciting the loyalty and utilizing the pugnacity of the nation. All over South Africa the great social and economical difficulty of the day is the state of the labor market. Inefficient, according to our standard, though Kaffir labor may be for the purposes of mining as well as farming, it is absolutely indispensable. White men may be overseers and managers, but the pick and shovel work is, and must be for some time, in the hands of natives. Whatever may be the case in America, it is certain that in South Africa black and white would not come together in a single shift or a single gang on the same level. Whether in the future employers will not be forced to import hands, not exactly of the class called "massa white," but from the same countries as now supply the American mines with labor, remains to be seen.

The scarcity of Kaffirs is a serious fact in the industrial world of Africa. It does not spring, as I have stated, from any shrinkage of population, for, on the contrary, there is an increase, but it is to be accounted for by the ingrained distaste for manual exertion which makes the male Kaffir in his own Kaffir land send his women to work in the fields while he sits in his glory at his hut's door. Everywhere they have made money and bought cattle, and, according to Kaffir custom, each son of the house has the right to put his spoon into the common bowl and the common stew, so that the young "hacks" are not forced to work from any fear of starving.—Fortnightly Review.

Paul Potter.

These boys who draw on slates and whose time and thoughts are constantly running to pictures sometimes turn out to be great artists and leave splendid names behind them. In the great picture gallery at The Hague, which is at once the pride and joy of all true Dutchmen, hangs, among other masterpieces, the most famous animal picture in all the world. It is called "The Bull." It was painted by a very young man, whose name was Paul Potter, and who was only 23 when he signed this canvas. There are few paintings better known, and it is acknowledged by art critics to be the most complete work that any cattle painter has ever done.

Though this Dutchman died at the age of 29, he left behind him 140 pictures that were all out of the ordinary, while some of them were painted before he was 16. He made, when he was 18, a wonderful sketch that attracted attention in the old town of Delft, and an artist in those days had to do excellent work to secure notice at all. Potter's works are greatly prized and are found in the principal galleries of the world. You may see them in the National gallery in London; the Berlin, Dresden and Vienna museums; the Hermitage in St. Petersburg, the Louvre in Paris, and all the art institutions of the artist's native land.—Arthur Hoebner in St. Nicholas.

Where the Beaver Dived.

Forest and Stream prints from a photograph a wood scene that should bring a faraway look into the beaver trapper's eyes the moment he sees it. There are fallen logs in a tangle of brush trees denuded of leaves mostly, and down a slight incline, surrounded by the brush, is a pool. Ripples of water are wagging the shadows of the trees, which were caused by a beaver that had just dived, alarmed by the approach of E. Hofer, who took the photograph.

No picture is so suggestive to a sportsman as one which shows where game has been. Sportsmen's papers print photographs of the tracks of deer, bears and other game, and these are more suggestive than a view of the game itself. A fox's track, leading away across the snow covered fields, or the ripple where a fish has slipped the water's surface are full of life to a sportsman. There is a chance with such evidence before him of exercising his craft and skill. It is related of an amateur photographer of field scenes that one day he tried to catch a running gray squirrel with his little camera. When the negative was developed, he found that he had a picture of the animal's tail alone, but because of the very incompleteness of the scene he values that picture above any six in his collection.

A Grave Reminder.

A German gentleman one day received a telegram from the proprietor of a hotel in the south of France informing him of the death of his aunt, and asking for particulars as to the disposal of the body. The gentleman begged that the body might be sent to Cologne, and, after telegraphing to the deceased's relations to assemble in that city, traveled thither himself. In due time the coffin arrived. On being opened it was found to contain the body, not of an aunt, but of a Russian general in full uniform. Further telegrams elicited the information that the coffin containing the body of the deceased lady had been forwarded in error to the relatives of the Russian general at St. Petersburg. Urgent telegrams were dispatched to St. Petersburg, and after three days of anxious waiting this answer was received: "Your aunt has been interred with full military honors."—London Tit-Bits.

Inexpatiated.

"Heaven!" shrieked he, "what in my anger have I done?" He recoiled.

"I have been tearing my hair," he gasped.

One glance into the mirror was enough to tell him that he could no longer be considered a piano virtuoso of the first class.—Pick Me Up.

Unappreciative.

Tommy—Paw, what is a designing villain?

Mr. Figg—Oh, the description would apply to one of these poster artists about as well as anything.—Indianapolis Journal.
