Farm-City Week To Be Held Nov. 18-24

Farm-City Week will be observed again this year during Thanksgiving week—Nov. 20-26, and it is quite appropriate that it will. Both groups, farm and city people alike, have much to be thankful for this year.

Nowhere else in the world, with the possible exception of the British Isles and some western European countries, have farmers attained as high position—socially, economically, or politically—as they have in America. In many parts of the world farmers are still peasants and peons—members of a distinctly lower class society. In the United States farmers take their places along with others in Congress, state legislatures, school boards, and civic and business organizations—wherever ability and leadership are respected.

City people have much to thank the American farmer for, too. Nowhere else is there such abundance of food and fiber as in America and nowhere else do city people have to spend such a small proportion of their income for the essentials of living as here. Only 21 per cent of the average American's income was spent for food in 1958. In many other countries over 50 per cent of the income goes for food. The stockpiles of wheat, corn, cotton, and other crops have played havoc with farm prices and income, but they have helped the city dweller "live high on the hog."

The farmer is the victim of his own efficiency. While output per farm person has increased 210 per cent since 1947 (a higher rate than any other industry), the purchasing power of the farm dollar has decreased and today is worth only eighty cents in terms of things that farmers have to buy. Unfortunately, too, the per capita income of U. S. farm people, including government payments, off-farm income and value of farm products used in the home, was only $960.00 in 1958.

What would happen to the cost of living if farm workers had the same minimum wage scales as factory workers, and if farm owners received interest rates on capital investments comparable to those returned to producers of other essential services.

1959 as compared to $2,202.00 earned by non-farm people.

NISBET TO BE HERE
B. D. Nisbet, representative of the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Service Men's Board, will be at the Benton courthouse Monday, Nov. 21, from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. to assist veterans and their families with claims.

John Wilkins of Route 1 underwent surgery again Friday at the Baptist Hospital in Paducah.

Christmas Seals Put In The Mails

Christmas seals began reaching homes throughout Kentucky Monday, Nov. 14, as the 54th annual Christmas seal campaign gets underway.

"Several thousand Christmas seal letters are being placed in the mails each day by the Kentucky Tuberculosis Association and its local affiliates to raise funds to continue the fight against TB," according to Theodore Sanford, president of the Kentucky Tuberculosis Association.

Success in treating tuberculosis with drugs leaves us no room for complacency as Kentucky still has a shameful death rate from TB—the second highest in the nation," Sanford said. "Being generous in making a contribution to the seal sale campaign is one way everyone can help in the fight against the disease," he added.

Bob Long, R. C. Riley, Jr., Georgia Beth Henson and Jan Hill, students at Lambuth College in Jackson, Tenn., spent the weekend in Benton with their relatives.

Odd Money: Tobacco, Wooden Nickels

Practically everything has been used as legal tender somewhere in the world at one time or another. And there are some 75,000 specimens to prove it in The Chase Manhattan Bank's Museum of Monies of the World in New York City.

Among the odd items are the examples of tobacco "money" on the tray held (above) by Vernon L. Brown, museum director. The item that looks like a small baseball bat is a "hand" of tobacco. Warehouse receipts for tobacco were this country's first paper money, back in colonial days.

"Stick" tobacco (lower left) is still used as currency in trading with natives in some Pacific islands. World War II veterans will recall the high exchange value — up to $20 a carton — placed on American cigarettes during and after the war.

Stones, sea-shells, woodpecker scalps and real wooden nickels, are other unusual items displayed in bewildering variety at the Chase Manhattan Money Museum.

Mrs. Wayne Parker
 Hostess To Brewers Homemakers Club

The Brewers Homemakers Club met at the home of Mrs. Wayne Parker on Nov. 10.

The club welcomed two new members, Mrs. Weldon Lyles and Mrs. Orville Easley.

Reports were heard from the citizenship, publicity and landscape leaders.

The food leaders, Mrs. Hal Perry and Mrs. Homer Adlich, gave a lesson on the "Importance of a Proper Diet" and gave several recipes for low-calorie desserts.

The potluck lunch was of salads and breads studied in the previous lessons and the low-calorie desserts prepared by the food leaders.

Plans were made for the Christmas Party to be held in the basement of the Brewers Methodist Church at 6 p. m. on Thursday, Dec. 8. There will be potluck supper, plus barbecue and chicken and dressing. Mrs. Hal Perry and Mrs. Earl Cole will be in charge of recreation. Every woman in the community is invited.

Present at the meeting were Mesdames Homer Adlich, Earl Cole, Paul Creason, Orville Easley, Neal Haley, Frank Helst, Weldon Lyles, Bill Perry, Hal Perry, and the hostess.

Mrs. Wm. Lineberry of Memphis and mother of Robert Ross, an employee at Bank of Benton, has accepted employment at the Baptist Hospital in Memphis.

My Neighbors

"Sure it was terrible, but I thought it was wonderful..."

Little Chats . . .

From ancient times the principle of giving notice has been practiced by civilized people everywhere. In Roman times notices were posted in the circus. At another time the town crier served this purpose.

For centuries civilized people have recognized the right of the community and of the individual to be put on notice. What is more important, they have practiced this principle consistently. It is possible to say that the true democracies could not neglect this principle and still preserve their way of life.

What is at stake in public notice is the simple right of the public to know, to be informed beforehand of some proposed action which affects someone's rights. These may be the rights of the community itself or of some portion of it, of a group or groups within the community, or of people themselves, either as voters, as taxpayers, or just plain individuals.

Today in the English-speaking countries, for example, the law usually provides for the publication of such notices in newspapers of paid general circulation. Taking all 50 states, there are thousands of such laws. The newspaper is specified because it has established following, gives wide coverage, read thoroughly, is both visible and tangible, and is economical. The public notice is an important part of the American way of life.

Connecticut Mutual Increases Dividend And Interest Rates

Policymakers of the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company will receive a record $35,200,000 net this year under an increased policy dividend scale, W. Ray Moss, general agent for the company in Kentucky, has announced.

This is 12 1/2 per cent more than would have been paid by the company under the 1960 scale and is one of the sharpest increases in recent years. In the last 10 years, the company's dividend scale has been increased by 50 per cent.

The increases have been made possible by continuing favorable factors of mortality and earnings on invested funds which have helped to offset rises in operating expenses and taxes. The result has been to substantially reduce net cost of life insurance protection.

Also announced were increases in interest rates payable to policyholders and beneficiaries in 1961. On dividends left with the company to accumulate at interest, the new rate will be 3.8 per cent compared with the current 3.5 per cent. The 3.8 per cent rate will also apply to policy proceeds left with the company.

Morgan, Trevathan, and Gunn Agency of Benton has represented the Connecticut Mutual Life for the past 25 years.

Hunting Season
Starts Today in Ky.

Rabbit, quail and grouse hunters in Kentucky will take to the field today, Nov. 17, as the 1960-61 season opens, and Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources spokesmen predicted more plentiful game than ever this year.

Minor Clark, commissioner of the department, said conditions for hunting were better than average this season. He said the general outlook for the state is good.

An especially good crop of quail was reported in Western Kentucky and in some parts of Southern Kentucky. Reports from field men also indicate a late crop of birds and rabbits which should bolster the supply.

The fur bearing animal season opens Nov. 17, permitting hunters to take these animals by gun, dog or trap. There is no limit on fur bearers.

The limit for rabbit is eight per day, possession limit 16. Limit for quail is 10 per day or possession of 20.

All hunting seasons end Jan. 15.

Why do so many of the liveliest cars on the road use a Shell gasoline with TCP? One clue is that Shell is America's largest supplier of commercial aviation fuels (we have been for 10 years). And many of Shell's aviation developments have been carried over into Shell gasolines. TCP* additive is just one of these developments. TCP neutralizes the combustion deposits which make engines run rough. Why not discover how smooth your car can run - how far you can go on a gallon? Your Shell dealer is the man to see.

HARVEST FESTIVALS have been celebrated by many nations down through history. In America, the Pilgrims, after much hardship in a new land, set aside a special day of Thanksgiving. Today, this is probably our second most honored feast day... a day of family gatherings, cranberry sauce and usually too much turkey. To a closely-knit family, it's a day of fun and one, which true to our tradition, is observed by gathering the clan together and diving into that ever-present bird. All of us at Southern Bell hope you have a wonderful Thanksgiving Day and —Happy Eating!

In planning your family gathering, remember to set your telephone work for you. Handle all those last minute details by phone—it's so much easier.

AND, if your youngsters can't come home for Thanksgiving, why not call them and say hello over the holidays. Long-distance rates are low with extra bargains after 6 PM and on Sundays. It's fun to keep in touch by telephone.

YOU'LL ENJOY "The Thread of Life", newest TV program in the Bell Telephone Hour Science Series, Friday night, December 9, over NBC-TV. If you're interested in the mysteries of heredity, how we inherit our personalities, the characteristics of our parents, our chances of having an exact double, how many new babies will be boys or girls, and lots of other fascinating facts about the science of genetics, put a big red circle around December 9 on your calendar and check your newspaper for time and channel.

Tobacco Grower Has Marketing Card Responsibility

The tobacco grower has a four-fold responsibility in the handling and use of his marketing card during the tobacco marketing season, says Renloe Rudolph, of the Marshall County ASC Office.

The grower's chief responsibilities are as follows:
 First, the marketing card must be used to identify all tobacco marketed from the farm for which it was issued.
 Second, the marketing card must not be left in the possession of the buyer.
 Third, the marketing card must be returned to the ASC county office when all tobacco from the farm has been marketed or when all memorandums in the card have been used.
 Fourth, all farmers must return their marketing cards to the county office within 30 days after the close of the markets in their area.

Observe these responsibilities, says Mr. Rudolph, and you help to assure fair treatment for all in the marketing of tobacco under the acreage allotment and marketing quota program.

Uncle Ned - - - From Dogtown

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

There ain't no accounting for a woman, especial if you're married to her. My old lady said she was going to town this morning to do some "window" shopping. Shore enough, when she come home this afternoon she hadn't bought a dad-burned thing.

And I'll bet she pestered the daylight out of half the store clerks in town. Why is it that wimmen is always going "window" shopping? I ask her the same question and she said fer the same reason a man was always going fishing and didn't catch nothing. I was sorry I ever mentioned it to her in the first place.

It's hard to say, Mister Editor, how far I'd have got in life if I'd followed the advice a carpenter give me one time. He said the best rule fer talking was the same as fer carpentering—measure twice and saw once.

Well, the fellers at the country store Saturday night set in judgment on several items. Like I told you onct afore, when they git down to business I'd trust 'em a heap more'n I'd trust a bunch of them Congressmen.

For instant, Saturday night they was agreed that about 90 per cent of the reckless drivers on our highways spends half their time looking to the rear instead of looking in front. They're watching fer highway patrolmen.

Its got so a big rear view mirror and one on each fender is as important to them folks as the motor. Ed Doolittle allowed as how most of 'em ain't scared of nothing no more except getting caught and fined by the highway patrol. He resolved that the state bolt a big over-size cash register on the front of ever patrol car fer extra effect.

Zeke Grubb amended the resolution to call fer a spotlight over it after dark and the fellers passed it unanimous.

You seldom see practical solutions like that come out of a session of the Congress, Mister Editor.

Afore the fellers got off the highway problem and got onto somepun else, Cle m Webster give 'em his new recipe fer making a missile weapon. He says it don't take but two ingredients and both is plentiful. Put horsepower under the hood and a jackass under the wheel and you got it.

I see by the papers where the head of a big equipment company in Cleveland has perfected a stapling machine fer surgery operations. Its the size of a small pair of pliers and he says it cuts down the time fer a operation by half. I reckon the time ain't too fur off when a feller will have to go to a office supply place to git his operation fer apendicitis.

Yours truly,
Uncle Ned.

IN KENTUCKY...
You pay $1.10 tax on 10 gallons of gasoline

In Kentucky, car owners pay $1.10 tax on every 10 gallons of gasoline they buy.

Does a tax this high—on a basic commodity like gasoline—really make sense? Gasoline taxes in this state amount to a 50% sales tax—and that's over five times as high as the tax rate on luxuries like diamonds and mink coats.

How did gasoline taxes get so high? Well, since World War II, there have been three increases in the federal gasoline tax alone. This brought the Federal tax to 4 cents a gallon, in addition to the State tax of 7 cents a gallon.

Looking at it another way, in the last ten years gasoline taxes have skyrocketed 51%—yet the price of gasoline itself has risen only 5.5% during the same period. $78 a year for gasoline taxes! Gallon by gallon, these taxes add up to a lot of money. Each year the average motor vehicle owner in this state pays $78 for gasoline taxes alone. That's just a few dollars less than the average week's pay for most people!

Your gasoline retailer—who must collect these taxes from you—feels that gasoline taxes are much too high. More and more, thinking people are coming to agree. What do you think?

HIGHWAYS AND GASOLINE TAXES

Your gasoline retailer, naturally, favors construction of the roads that the motoring public needs. He believes in fair and reasonable taxation for this purpose but feels that taxes on gasoline have now reached unreasonably high levels. He also believes that all special taxes on the motorist should be used only for highway purposes. Yet last year, out of every automobile tax dollar collected by the Federal Government from highway users, more than 40 cents went for non-highway purposes. If these automotive tax revenues were dedicated for highway purposes, there would be no need for the latest increase in the federal gasoline tax.

Dr. C. P. Wilson, Kansas University, says that the American success in the fact that food is the United States in terms of time required to produce food. This more money over to autos, radios, and other things that keep industrial turning and give employment to people who can buy goods and food.

In countries where agricultural efficiency is low, a large number of their people are engaged in food production. There is not enough labor to make the food that make for easy living, nor customers.

An inefficient agriculture is the reason for the failure of the world. But, agriculture is the machinery of the world. It's the machinery that know-how, bankers, and markets and many, many things that have been built.

FARMING AROUND

By Mark Welsh

C. P. Wilson, Kansas State University, says that the key to American success story is that food is cheaper in the United States than in any other country in the world. This leaves more money left over to buy autos, refrigerators, furniture and other goods that keep our industrial wheels turning at a high rate and give employment to people who can buy more food.

Efficient agriculture is the reason for the failure of underdeveloped countries. But, agriculture is not becoming efficient of itself. It's the machinery, fertilizers, chemicals, roads to market, know-how, bankers, organizations and many, many things that have been built and fit into our whole economic structure. Someone observed that a horse is really a one-legged animal, for when one leg fails the whole horse falls. Wonder if agriculture isn't something like a horse too and we have to keep all parts working well all the time?

Want to know what the experts think? They believe that by the end of 1960 you will have eaten 83 pounds of beef, 67 of pork, 1 of veal and 4 1/2 pounds of lamb. Now, if you are a good fisherman or hunter, you might foul up these calculations for your family; but it's likely the rest of folk will come close to eating these amounts of farm raised meats.
