Cancer Fund Drive Starts Monday; Support Urged

Volunteers for the American Cancer Society will launch the 1964 Cancer Crusade in the Fulton Community on April 20th.

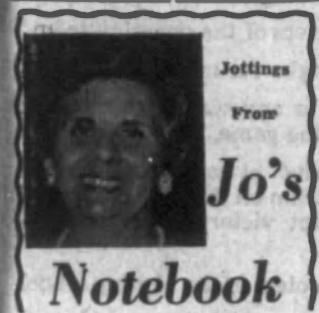

Mrs. Michael Homra, Crusade Chairman for the Fulton unit, listed the primary objectives of the drive. "Through our educational message we expect to save lives from cancer today," she said, "and through our fund-raising appeal we expect to save lives tomorrow."

The Crusade's educational message urges everyone to have an annual health checkup by a physician and to learn the seven danger signals that may mean cancer. The fund appeal provides support for research, education and service programs.

Mrs. Homra said that she hoped that each family in this community will open its door and its heart and make the kind of donation required by the urgency of the cancer problem when a Crusade volunteer rings your bell.

Mrs. Bob Peterson, Chairman of the Trades and Industry Drive, announced today the volunteers who will call on the Fulton Business April 20 through April 25 are: Mrs. Dick Armstrong, Mrs. Charles Binford, Mrs. Wayne Cooper, Mrs. Bill Fenwick, Mrs. Billy Joe Forrest, Mrs. Ralph Hardy, Mrs. David Holland, Mrs. Herbie Hunt, Mrs. Max McDade, Jr., Mrs. Charles Moon, Mrs. Bobby Ward, and Miss Jo White.

Besides being the world's most celebrated quartet of nerve-racking, noise-makers, I think three of the Beatles are spineless wonders. As many times as they have wished to hold the h-a-a-a-a-n-n-a-n-n-d of somebody or another, why don't they just go over and grab it, and stop worrying the world to death about what they'd like to do. John is my favorite. He must have held somebody's hand without whining about it. He's married!

Big news around town these days is the residence of some right good-sized gold fish in Hart's Fork Creek. Lorne Harding came over Wednesday with this hot copy for us, but we couldn't show the appreciation for her scoop that we should have. You see we've been watching the gold fish with a great deal of interest ourselves. Lorne, who ought to know, says that she believes the gold fish are the first inhabitants of the creek since a family of catfish swam in those shallow waters when she was a little girl. If they're still alive, those catfish must be the size of whales by now... drop dead, columnist!

Read somewhere recently that shooting robins, bluebirds, catbirds, woodpeckers and other song and insectivorous birds with air rifles or other weapons is a Federal offense according to Jerry Y. Mason, state conservation officer.

Offenders can be punished by a maximum sentence of $500 in fines, 6 months in jail, or both.

What about jail-birds, yard birds, and stool pigeons?

I hope you help me meet my quota for the sale of season tickets to "Stars In My Crown." It is such a good bargain! Besides that, I am sure that all of you want to help keep this fine tourist attraction on a sound financial basis!

I'd like to call your attention to an article in this month's Reader's Digest (April) entitled, "Dad, You've Got It Made." It's such a good character-builder for today's young folks. If I can ever catch my boy at home, I have it on my bedroom desk for him to read.

Also for some interesting reading you should buy Ouida Jewell's first novel, "They Dared To Be Different." Ouida was nice enough to give us an advance copy. The book is well written and thought-provoking. Besides that, you will enjoy spotting some of the home folks in it. I don't think some of the appraisals of the local people are very accurate, but then Ouida has literary license to write what she thinks, so that's that. Buy a copy of the book. It's nice to have a first edition of any book, and more so when you are so well acquainted with the author.

Scout-O-Rama In Paducah On April 24-26

The Boy Scouts will hold their Scout-O-Rama at the Big Burley Mart in Paducah on April 24-26. A Scout parade will be held on April 24. The Scout-O-Rama will be sponsored by the Four Rivers Boy Scout Council and the Bear Creek Girl Scout Council.

Activities will be held from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. on the 24th and from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. on the 25th. Local scout troops will have tickets for the event.

Douglas Carman, District Scout Executive of Mayfield urges parents to plan to attend the event.

Max Hurt Is Speaker For Wingo Club

The Wingo Lions Club will be chartered Saturday night, April 18 at 7:00 p.m. at the Wingo High School Cafeteria. According to Leon Joe Pat James, Murray, Kentucky, Governor of Lions International District 43-K, this is the third club chartered this year and brings the total clubs in the district to 47 with approximately 2000 members.

The guest speaker will be Max B. Hurt of Kirksey, Retired Executive Vice-President of Woodman of the World.

The President of the Wingo Lions Club will be James Majors. Forty-five members are to be installed. The sponsoring club is the Mayfield Lions Club. Marvin R. Boyd is charter night chairman.

Apache Trailer Dealer Appointed In This Area

There's a new business in South Fulton. And a popular one at that. Cal Seemba and Charles Jackson have been appointed franchise dealers for the Apache camping trailer manufacturers.

This week-end a demonstration of three types of the trailers will be held on the Piggy-Wiggly parking lot in South Fulton. Office of the new company is at 506 Forestdale. The owners of the business say that the show-room "is anywhere our customers want us to show them the trailer."

The local dealership is the only one within a 50-mile radius of the twin cities.

Palmersville Beauty Crowned South Fulton Booster Princess

A Palmersville, Tennessee high school senior is the new beauty to bear the title of South Fulton Boosters Princess of 1964. Miss Barbara Jean Carroll, a beautiful blonde, blue eyed and standing 5 feet, 4 inches, was selected at the annual beauty pageant held Friday night at the South Fulton gym.

Active in every phase of school work, the new royal ruler is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Carroll of Dresden, Route 2.

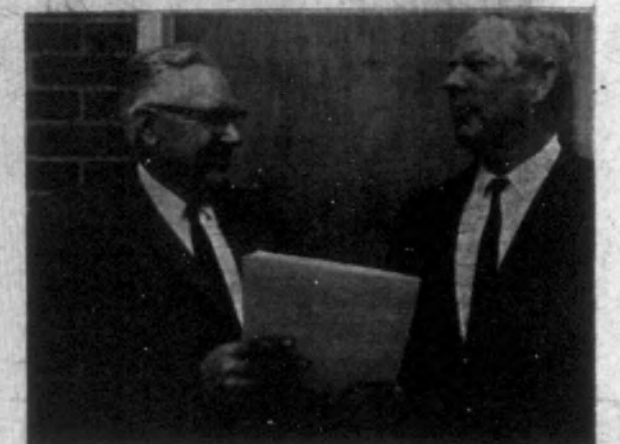

In close competition Miss Mollie Alexander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Alexander of South Fulton, is the first maid. Linda Nannay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nannay of Chestnut Glade, is the second maid. Both young ladies, 18, are students at South Fulton High School.

W. W. Jetton, president of the South Fulton Boosters Club, crowned the princess and was high in his praise of the arrangements

Secretary Freeman Lauds Soil Conservation Leaders

The Fulton County Soil Conservation District was presented today with a Revised Memorandum of Understanding with the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Herbert F. Smith, Work Unit Conservationist, Hickman, Kentucky made the presentation.

The signing of the document in Washington by Secretary of Agriculture Freeman was witnessed by D. A. Williams, Administrator of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service.

The revised Memorandum of Understanding is based on a modernized Soil Conservation District Program developed under the leadership of Mr. Charles E. Wright, Chairman of the Fulton County Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors, and Messrs. Clint Workman, Avery Hancock, Charles A. Everett and Cecil Barnett members.

The Board of Supervisors received assistance from Herbert F. Smith, Work Unit Conservationist, Soil Conservation Service; Ferrel

You'd Better Buy This Dream! Auditions At Murray For 'Stars In My Crown' Roles

Have you ever dreamed of being in show business? If so, the opportunity is open to you on Saturday, April 18, when auditions for roles in "Stars In My Crown" will be held at Murray State College.

Billy Ed Wheeler, the inimitable "Mr. Rivers" of last year's highly successful production of Kermit Hunter's outdoor drama at Kenlake Amphitheater, will be in attendance at the auditions.

Billy Edd, who will play "Mr. Rivers" again this year, will arrive in the West Kentucky area on Thursday, April 16, and will be available to appear before schools, civic and cultural clubs and other gatherings. Anyone wishing Billy Edd to appear before their group should call Jim Johnson at the Murray Chamber of Commerce. He especially is interested in appearing before school assembly programs. Billy Edd says that he will be prepared to sing all of the hit songs that have made him famous. He will be in West Kentucky until Wednesday, April 22.

Auditions for dances, singers, actors and actresses will begin at 8:30 a.m. in the student union building at Murray. Last year almost 400 persons auditioned. Persons having particular talents in technical experience for staging an outdoor drama are also invited to be interviewed for employment by the drama association. The registration desk will be in the lobby of the Student Union Building. Roles are open for children and adults of all ages.

Uncle Sam No Slouch Boosting County's Economy; 20% Of Population On Payroll

When it comes to viewing the large payrolls in Fulton County, figures will reveal that the Federal government is no slouch at boosting the area's economy. More than 20 per cent of the county's population receives the major portion of its income from Uncle Sam. The 1960 census showed Fulton county with a population of 11,100 persons.

Figures furnished by Charles Whitaker, Paducah Social Security District Manager, revealed that benefit payments to Fulton County residents total more than $1,482,804 yearly.

The report listed the number of Fulton County beneficiaries as 2,326 at 1963's close, an increase of about 4.2 percent over the corresponding figure at the end of 1962. Retired workers are the largest single group of social security beneficiaries in the County. There are 1,227 in this group and their old-age insurance benefits total $75,520 monthly. The following table shows the number and amount of certain other types of benefits paid in Fulton County, as of December 31, 1963.

Beneficiary Group	Number Of Beneficiaries	Monthly Payments
Wife or Husband	360	$11,196
Widow or Widower	212	12,137
Mothers and Children	282	10,974
Disabled Workers and dependents	243	13,615

In releasing the figures, Whitaker pointed out that the social security benefits are important to the community as well as to the people who receive them. "It is a fact," he said, "that almost every dollar of social security benefits coming into the County is spent each month in local businesses for food, clothing, shelter, and other essentials. In this way, the benefits have a stabilizing effect on the local economy."

Since 1954, the beneficiary rolls increased by 14 million beneficiaries. Whitaker cited several major amendments to the law, during the 1950 to 1961 period, as the cause of this rapid growth. The principal changes were: (1) Extension of benefits to self-employed businessmen, farmers, and professional men, (2) Reduction of the amount of work needed to qualify, (3) Lowering the age at which older people can be eligible from 65 to 62, (4) The introduction of a new protection under social security—disability benefits.

Whitaker forecast that the number of beneficiaries will continue to increase.

Ouida Jewell's Novel, Dealing With Race Issue Goes On Sale April 21

Fulton Schools Seeking Top Plateau In Elementary Grades System

By Mrs. Leonard Allen
Supervisor of Fulton City Schools
The elementary schools of the Fulton City School System are making every effort to become fully accredited members of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

Fulton High School has been a member almost since its beginning, but the idea of accrediting elementary schools is comparatively new. Not too many years ago the Cooperative Program in Elementary Education of the Southern Association came into existence. Carr Elementary has been an affiliate of that program for several years. In 1960, the program for full accreditation of elementary schools was initiated.

At present there are only five member systems in the state of Kentucky - Oldham County Schools, Fort Knox Dependent Schools, Fort Campbell Dependent Schools, McCracken County Schools, and Murray City Schools.

There are two systems which are candidates for accreditation this year - Bowling Green Independent Schools and the Fulton City Schools.

The process of becoming accredited is a long, hard one but extremely profitable for those who take part in the activities which lead toward it. There must be at least a year of self-improvement preceding the self-study. In this process, problems are studied and improvements made. The Fulton

City School Facilities engaged in this self-improvement by doing curriculum study in the language arts for approximately two years. This was under the guidance of Mrs. Jim White.

Early last year the system filed its intent to make a self-study which precedes accreditation. Having met all preliminary requirements such as qualification of personnel, number of students per teacher, and supervisory service from the central office, the faculties of the Fulton City Elementary Schools began their self-study.

Mrs. Edna Earl Quarles, McCracken County Elementary Supervisor of Instruction, had been selected as consultant upon the recommendation of Mr. Claude Taylor, State Department Director of Instruction, who is Kentucky's elementary representative for the Southern Association.

On August 21, 1963, which was an In-Service Education Day for the Fulton City teachers, Mrs. Quarles conducted a conference on the self-study. She explained the purposes and discussed plans for making and reporting the study. The teachers worked in committees and thus the self-study began.

There are six areas of study: program, personnel, processes, facilities, community-needs; interaction, and coordination. The faculties have evaluated the progress of the entire system and each faculty has carried on its study of its own school under the guidance of the consultant and the local supervisor.

The report of this self-study is in book form made up of a general section which deals with the overall program of the system and a report of each school. These are all bound together in a two hundred fifty page volume.

Copies of the report have been sent to the visitation committee, local board members, all faculty members, the state superintendent of instruction and others.

During the week of April 20, a visitation team made up of a superintendent, an elementary supervisor, two elementary teachers,

Fulton, District Winner, Fails To Place State-Wide

Danville has won the title as Kentucky's "Number One" city in KCC competition just announced this week.

Fulton won the top District award, but failed to place in the State-wide judging.

Attending from Fulton were: Mayor Gilbert DeMyer, Joe Treas, Bill Scott, L. M. McBride, J. D. Hale, Ward Johnson W. F. Burnett, and Clyde Williams, Jr. They received the district award for Fulton.

It is written: "Of all sad things of tongue or pen, the saddest of these is it might have been."

This historic sentence must bounce around often in the minds of thousands of Kentucky Democrats these days as they continue to read and hear this "unity" effort on the part of the State's big-wig politicians. The intent, we rather imagine, is to unite all rank and file Democrats into one big happy family so that when the Republicans hit the campaign hustings the grass roots folks will mark the ballot right under that ole rooster, no matter how good a guy the GOP offers.

But it appears to us, that Democratic unity, like charity ought to begin at the round table where the chiefs sit, instead of out in the hinterlands where the Indians roam. Poor little Indians, (our name for the Democratic precinct political workers)! There are so many chiefs, leading so many different tribes of Democrats, that the little Indians who once belonged to a giant, proud tribe are looking around for other reservations, where there might also be fighting and feudin' but at least one, heap big chief.

Last Friday night at the Irvin Cobb Hotel in Paducah, First District Democrats gathered for a "unity" dinner, ala the party of Jefferson and Jackson. These great statesmen would have orbited in their caskets had they seen the heterogeneous factions in the Democratic party wheeling and dealing and jockeying for positions on somebody's steady political boat, just anybody's. Booking passage on a steady political boat appears to be a waste of time these days. The destination to the good Port Democratic Unity is so hazardous, a voyager gets motion sickness even before the boat sets sail.

Why? Because the captains of these political ships are charting their courses by ear, with nary a thought to sound and cautious navigation.

From where we're standing it seems that all the leaks in the Good Ship Democrat are a long way from being patched. Mainly because the hard core workers who could repair this ship don't quite know which Democratic boss to take directions from. Loyalty to one boss today, could mean the salt mines tomorrow, and vice versa.

Let's look at the Democratic party today without the fantasy bit. There are Clements Democrats, Chandler Democrats, Wyatt Democrats, Combe Democrats, Breathitt Democrats, John Sherman Cooper (Republican) Democrats, Waterfield Democrats, Beauchamp Democrats, and a fast diminishing group of just plain Democrats who vote for the Democratic party no matter where the ships course is charted.

That the loyal Democrat is becoming almost extinct was hazardedly evident last Fall when Democratic Governor Edward T. Breathitt won by a majority that was far from comfortable.

As if all these different "fractions", as some folks call the various complexions of the Democratic party, aren't enough at the moment, comes a release from Frankfort that indicates friends of former Governor Bert T. Combs and Governor Breathitt are playing footsy with former governor and former Senator A. B. "Happy" Chandler. We agree with Paducah Sun-Democrat editor Bill Powell when he says that if this political alignment is for real, the love fest would not have been held in the government cafeteria in Frankfort for all to see, exclaim over and pontificate about.

If, as some writers say, this meeting was held to "knock off" Harry Lee Waterfield as a possible candidate for governor in 1967, we'd say that the persons involved have perpetrated a grave injustice to the law-abiding, clear thinking people of the Commonwealth. For Waterfield will be lieutenant-governor for almost four more years, and Breathitt will be Governor for the same. To openly add more dissension to obviously strained relations between the two top officials of Kentucky appears to be the work of some would-be, arrogant, amateur, self-seeking king-makers with nothing in mind but to perpetuate their self-exalted positions.

It's like somebody said in Frankfort recently, "Harry Lee and Ned would get along just fine if both men would bow their backs and throw out all the trouble-makers who seem to enjoy the fiasco... and the headlines."

We're for that! We're also for starting a fund for psychiatric treatment for the guy or guys, who think that Happy Chandler can defeat John Sherman Cooper for the Senate.

Turning Back The Clock—

April 21, 1944

At a meeting in Mayfield April 16 the West Kentucky Purebred Livestock Association was organized. Claude Freeman, of Fulton, was named on the board of directors. Leslie Anderson, of Mayfield, is president.

Thomas Dowell, well known fruit and vegetable man of Union City, now has a stand at the old Meacham & Hutchens store on Commercial Avenue in Fulton.

Miss Elizabeth Ann Payne, daughter of Mrs. Charles Payne, and Instructor Murray R. McConnell, son of Rev. and Mrs. J. H. McConnell of Leaksville, N. C. were married on April 15 in the First Methodist Church. The single ring ceremony was used and Rev. Walter K. Miahke officiated.

The Monday Night Club met on April 17 with Miss Martha Taylor, with one visitor, Mrs. E. L. Cooke. High score prize, war stamps, was won by Mrs. Frank Wiggins. Delicious cherry pie and coca-colas were served by the hostess to two tables of players.

Mrs. R. C. Pickering was hostess to her bridge club on April 16 at her home on Third Street. Four visitors, Mrs. T. K. Russell, Mrs. Jake Huddleston, Mrs. J. L. Jones and Mrs. J. C. Maxfield were present. High score prize, war stamps, went to Mrs. Abe Jolley.

The News is proud to have a part in the Pulpwood Drive. And we will not let down until all war needs for pulpwood are met and our boys are coming home again to take up the jobs they left behind. The drive is showing good results.

A lot of work is going on down on Fourth street as carpenters, painters, and plasterers open up the new spring season in a busy way. Parisian Laundry now has an addition, nearing completion, which will be occupied by the office. Bob White is making some repairs and improvements at his garage and in the building adjoining, which was formerly occupied by the Fulton Motor Company.

100 Years Ago This Week

An historical review of the Civil War day by day in Kentucky, as reviewed by the Kentucky Civil War Commission. By JOE JORDAN

One hundred years ago this week, all the officers of the First Kentucky (Union) Cavalry regiment, eighteen in number, signed a petition addressed to President Lincoln, asking that Col. Frank Wolford be restored to command of the regiment. He had been removed from command and dishonorably dismissed from the service by this President after a March 10 speed at Lexington in which Wolford publicly criticized Lincoln, who was of course his commander in chief.

The same officers signed a statement explaining their action, issued at the same time, but not made a part of the petition. The first signature on the statement, and on the petition as well, was that of Lt. Col. Elias Adams, who had succeeded Wolford in command of the First Kentucky Cavalry. By thus combining and acting in concert the officers probably made themselves liable to be charged with mutiny. However, so many Kentuckians, including most of the leading Unionists, had already shown themselves to be strongly in favor of Col. Wolford and the stand he had taken that the national administration, it was thought, would not be likely to choose to multiply its troubles by bringing charges against so many more Union Army officers.

"The reputation of such a patriot as Col. Frank Wolford cannot be sullied by the act of President Lincoln," said the officers, thus joining their former commander in speaking disrespectfully of the commander in chief. They pointed out that Wolford had raised the regiment in 1861 "at a time when it required nerve to take a position in Kentucky, and when President Lincoln held or professed to hold the very same opinions on matters of public policy which Col. Wolford is now censured for expressing."

Brig. Gen. William Preston of Kentucky, former United States minister to Spain, who had been serving in the Confederate States Army, was on his way to Mexico

President Jefferson Davis had appointed him Confederate States minister to that country, where French victories had cleared the way for Archduke Maximilian to be installed as emperor. Gen. Preston had sailed from Wilmington, N. C., on board a blockade-runner which had eluded U. S. Navy ships and put him ashore at Nassau. There he took passage on a neutral steamer for Cuba. He was at Havana, awaiting Maximilian's own arrival in Mexico before taking passage to Vera Cruz. Maximilian was still in Europe.

In a dispatch to J. P. Benjamin, Confederate secretary of state, Preston said, "I do not think it wise for me as the envoy of the Confederate States to manifest too much solicitude as to recognition by Mexico." Actually there was much concern at Richmond as to whether Mexico would receive a minister from the Confederacy, which would amount to recognition of the Confederate States as an independent nation. The decision would be significant because Mexican foreign policy would be controlled by France, and the Confederacy had long sought recognition by French Emperor Louis Napoleon.

CONVENIENCES!

Incidental Intelligence: Add Washington, D. C., to the list of cities having convenient downtown sidewalk telephone booths... the person who hasn't visited Minneapolis in two or three years will hardly recognize the downtown Gateway area, near the Nicollet Hotel... what a transformation as a result of one of America's most exciting rebuilding programs... visitors to Bismarck, N. D., should plan to visit the municipal zoo... not a large one, but much fun for the kiddies and interesting for adults, too... if you're touring, it's wise to join a motor club, which can be of real help in many different ways...

Anyone having information on any of these old wooden covered bridges is asked to contact Paul Atkinson, 62 Miami Parkway, Fort Thomas, Kentucky, 41075, in an effort to preserve this passing bit of our heritage for future generations.

The author is looking for ANY information on these wooden bridges either standing or ones which have been replaced. He is also interested in obtaining pictures (photos, paintings, prints, post cards, greeting cards etc.) of the covered bridges of Kentucky, as well as stories and pictures of the men who built them, repaired them and the legends about them. Credit will be given to the source of information.

The author points out that there are only nineteen covered bridges remaining in the Commonwealth, when back before the turn of the century there were hundreds - and more being built. They were erected in Kentucky until as late as 1944. "Progress" has destroyed most of them during the last few years although a few have disap-

SCATTERED PATTTER

About People and Things

The tragic death of President Kennedy wrenched at the heart of the entire nation, but for Candy Geer, a 15-year-old Grosse Pointe (Mich.) high school sophomore, the most poignant memory was the sight of the six white horses carrying the body of the president to Arlington National cemetery.

"I wondered what John-John (the president's son) must have thought as he saw six white horses take his daddy away," Candy said.

She put her thoughts down on paper Nov. 25 after watching Kennedy's funeral on television. She sat up past her bedtime and went over in her mind how little John must have felt. Then she wrote a poem about it.

The next day Candy showed the poem, "Six White Horses," to her English teacher and friends. They liked it, and it was published in Detroit area high school newspapers.

Then a disc jockey in Windsor, Ont., Detroit's Canadian sister city, read the poem over the air. He began to cry near the end. The station was flooded with 3,000 telephone calls and 18,000 letters from listeners wanting copies of the poem.

Six white horses came today
To take my daddy far away.
Mommy said I must be good
And stand as big as daddy would.
And now I am big, so I won't cry
When I see my daddy wave good-bye.
'Cause daddy is my special friend,
He always comes back soon again.

I cannot wave, I don't see why.
There's just a black box moving by.
But mommy says I should be still.
I'm a big boy now, and so I will.
I hear some drums; they're awful loud!
My mommy's sad and so's the crowd.
And everybody's dressed in black.
But daddy soon will hurry back.

We're going to take a walk to mass,
Then maybe I'll see daddy pass.
I wonder why we're only three.
He always comes to church with me.
Two men are talking, I can see.
They said they're very proud of me.
They said my daddy's in that box—
The black one, with six gold locks.

I have on a big boy's suit,
And now it's my turn to salute.
I do it just like big boys do
Because I have to be one, too.
They're going to stop and then just leave,
But in that box how will he breathe?

Though I do not understand
There's mommy here to hold my hand.
He's going to leave and not come home!
We just can't leave him here alone.
I want to hear him laugh and say,
"John-John, come here so we can play."

I don't see daddy anywhere,
I want to cry and I don't care!
He's in the ground—he cannot be!
He should be right here holding me!
But mommy says I must be good—
So I'll just stand as daddy would.

Mr. and Mrs. Page Announce Wedding Engagement Of Daughter, Janice

Miss Janice Page

Mr. and Mrs. Oren Carmi Page of Fulton, Kentucky have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Janice Page, to Mr. Peter H. Dubin, son of Dr. and Mrs. Max P. Lipman of Los Angeles, California.

Miss Page was graduated from Fulton High School in 1959 and attended Murray State College. She has been employed with the Union Bank in Beverly Hills, California for the past year.

Mr. Dubin graduated from U. C. L. A. in 1963 and is presently employed with Beneficial Finance Company of Los Angeles.

A summer wedding is planned, but a definite date has not yet been set. The couple will make their home in California after their marriage.

We're glad you enjoyed the poem we published last week sent to us by Danny Baird of Annapolis, Md. It wasn't very nice of us to accept his contribution and then demote him. Danny is a full Commander in the Navy, something we did not say last week. What's more he deserves every living, breathing bit of the title he carries.

It won't be many more years before Herbie Hunt will have a mighty shrewd partner in his business affairs. Fact is, looks like he has one now.

The story goes that Cliff, Herbie and Ann's six year old youngster was driven out to the country recently to view a pony that Cliff's grandfather, Maxwell McDade had given to his grandchildren. As Herbie tells it, Maxwell was not too interested in getting a very spirited animal for the first early riding lessons for his young brood. Well, the animal was delivered to the pasture at evening tide and the next day Maxwell took Cliff out to see the pony. The little fellow was in the car when the pony paraded in front of the car. Cliff was all eyes. It appeared to Cliff that the pony limped a little bit. Herbie said the animal did, as a matter of fact.

From the back seat Maxwell got a tap on the shoulder from a very small little hand. Said Cliff, the body behind the hand: "Grand-daddy, next time you'd better buy a pony in the day-time"

There's going to be some sad silence around the homes of Mary Nelle and Doc Wright and Elizabeth and Harvey Caldwell and all and sundry kintfoks of the Junior Hendon Wrights. Ruth Wright and nine-month old son, Hank (Hendon III) left this morning, (Thursday) for their home in Norfolk after a three-week visit in the city while Don is on Naval duty in Puerto Rico.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Allison have returned from Parker, Arizona where Mr. Allison has been for the past five months. Before returning home they visited relatives in Santa Ana, Culver City, Manhattan Beach and Fullerton, California. Their son, Norman Allison, of Fullerton spent several week-ends with his parents at the resort in Arizona.

Mrs. Harry Allison left Tuesday morning to attend the annual meeting of the Kentucky Baptist Woman's Missionary Union at the First Baptist Church, Owensboro, Kentucky April 14-16.

FHA Members Play Game To Observe Week

The Fulton County High School freshmen and sophomore home economic girls played the non-economic girls in a two-game series on Tuesday night, April 7, as part of their celebration of National Future Homemakers of America Week. The Home Ec girls wore red and white, FHA colors and the others wore black and white. Candy and cookies were sold by the FHA girls during both games.

Proceeds of the game will go toward the Mother-Daughter banquet, which will be held later.

Some Books Have Historical Value

Fulton High library has been augmented this year by a wide selection of new books. Many deal with soil and water conservation. These will be especially useful as reference for our annual conservation theme. Two books of historical value are Winged Moons by Frances Joyce Farnsworth and The Many Faces of the Civil War by Irvin Weinstein.

Winged Moons tells the life story of Sacajawes, the Indian girl guide for the Lewis and Clark Expedition. This unsung heroine of the Minuterie tribe always had a consuming desire to roam, to see this other side of the hill. The great tragedy of her life, her later marriage to a French scout, and her ultimate triumph in the Lewis and Clark Expedition give an excellent picture of life in the Louisiana Purchase before the coming of the white man. Farnsworth enlivens this story with many interesting stories about Lewis and Clark so that these great men become more than names in a book to the reader.

The Many Faces of the Civil War is one of the books recently published because of the interest in the Civil War Centennial. Unlike a history text, it relates the personal problems and misgivings of the generals in each battle. Many incidents concerning these men in their private lives reveal their true characters. An insight of this kind aids in understanding the complexity of this tragic war. Weinstein also touches the emotions of the Americans in the North and the South at this time. Since this book is interesting and easy reading, it should be a must for anyone interested in this heroic part of our history.

RAY EWING of Winnetka, Ill., provides some excerpts from letters written by customers of a large mail order house: "My husband is not satisfied with your underwear. He says the longer he wears them the shorter they get." ... and this one, "Please rush me your most recent catalog on wheel chairs as we hope to go on vacation and I will be needing a chair when I get back."

Hootenannies, Love Ballads, And Folk Music Are Rage In America

"From the FHS Kennel"

By Dan'l Boone's day the corn-husking and barn-raising had developed into those great American pastimes—square dances. When a fellow was courting a girl, they danced and clapped to a fiddler's tune. In the hills of Eastern Kentucky the dulcimer and guitar were strummed by lonely mountaineers. Their songs were about hard times and spurned loves. These ballads fit the dispositions and lives of the remote hill people. In the West, cowboys gathered around a campfire, picked out tunes on their guitars and mouth organs about the lonely prairie and the girls back home.

Now, having passed through the various stages of waltzes and the development and popularity of ragtime and early jazz, we are right back where we started. Only this time in greater numbers and on a fancier scale. Instead of a solitary cowboy or mountain man singing to keep himself company, large groups of people gather to hear modern harmony groups and college students strike up the tunes as old as our country. A college isn't up-to-date if it hasn't had at least one hootenanny, as the modern song-fest is uniquely called. Hootenannies attract not only swarms of college students, but also a great many other Americans. Most of these fans enjoy a few old love ballads mixed with the modern creations of the singers themselves. These are based on the same ancient traditions of trouble and heartache. Those which get off on a lighter scale are called nonsense songs. One such song tells the story of some old woman who swallowed a fly. Since a large part of a ballad is repetition, the audience is encouraged to sing along and clap with the beat.

In a few coffee houses and off-beat places, true folk singers chant the older and more complicated ballads. These true folk singers are usually a great deal like those lonely pioneers and associate more with crop failures and drowned sweethearts. Perhaps we want to relive more of our past by enjoying the music of our history, but, anyway, the rage in America today is the music of our forefathers.

SARA JANE POE

ENTHUSIASM—that's the keynote of Sara Jane Poe's attitude. This sophomore always approaches her varied projects with an optimistic outlook.

Her areas of endeavor are wide. She enjoys learning and has pursued it extensively. Sara Jane has scored straight A's since entering high school and is well on her way to a second monogram. She is especially fond of biology and, indeed, got so much fun out of that class's recent dissection project that she took her frog home to keep!

Sara Jane has won places twice in the annual conservation essay contests and also was awarded the Citizenship Award at her eighth grade graduation. Her class has elected her business manager and secretary-treasurer in freshman and sophomore years, respectively.

Sara Jane vents her enthusiasm in cheering, too, as she has been one of Fulton High's six cheerleaders for two years. Reading occupies much of her time. Swimming is Sara Jane's favorite summer sport; in the winter she enjoys baking cakes. She is a special reporter on the Kennel staff.

Gerald Bradley

Can hustle make the difference between a good ball player and an outstanding athlete? Gerald Bradley has the answer, and it is yes.

Gerald, a hustling guard on the football team, has played this position extremely well in his sophomore, junior, and senior years. He has lettered each year. Gerald's good playing and active team spirit help keep the team on the road to a winning season.

Gerald also plays on the first team in basketball. He usually plays a steady game. Gerald's best game was against Mayfield.

Gerald also letters in baseball as an outfielder. He is especially valuable in a close ballgame because he is such a dependable clutch-hitter.

During the summer he serves as a lifeguard at the city pool and plays ball in the Connie Mack League.

Gerald now plans to go to the University of Kentucky and he is interested in participating in UK sports.

Gerald's nickname is Boo. Coach Chester Caddas, formerly of Fulton High, gave Gerald this name

JOHN SHEPHERD

John Shepherd, standing six foot three, has been one of the main reasons why Fulton has had a successful year in basketball. John, who plays center, has been on the team for four years, he started on the "B" team as a freshman. His accurate shooting and dependable rebounding have led Fulton to many of its victories. John had an average of sixteen points a game and averaged thirteen rebounds per game. His best game was against Murray College High when he scored twenty-seven points.

John has also been a standout end in football for the past three seasons. He started as a defensive end when he was a sophomore and played both defense and offense the last two years.

John plans to attend Murray State College next fall, majoring in industrial arts.

Book Review Topic Concerns Communism

"From the FHS Kennel"

Recently, there has been a temporary warming in the relations between the West and the East. We dare hope that communism has evolved into a socio-economic form compatible with our own, and we relax our guard far enough to propose steps for further U. S.-U. S. S. R. co-operation.

Most of us don't realize that this relaxation is exactly what the communists hope the temporary lull in tension will accomplish for them. This is one of many calculated steps in a plan so rigid and all-inclusive that a western mind can hardly conceive of it.

All this is explained in WHAT WE MUST KNOW ABOUT COMMUNISM by Harry and Bonara Overstreet.

Besides introducing the reader to the main tenets as set down by Marx, this book recounts the history of communism as an idea and then as a form of government. It is stated that communism has not evolved—though it is greatly different today from what Marx set down—it has merely conformed to fit a situation. Though the authors admit their book is not a final exploration and interpretation of communism, the reader feels that they have revealed the true character of this force sufficiently to allow one to realize the significance of news reports we see and hear every day.

The Overstreets say that our problems in relation to communism stem from our unreadiness. This is "a product of our wide-spread mental and emotional drift in a world where the adversary has not been drifting. Each of us is obligated to study the character of the new force."

This book can be found in our school library and is essential reading for anyone who is concerned about the preservation of liberty in this world.

Clements To Preside Over State's Revision Assembly

Kentucky's Constitution Revision Assembly will meet for the second time April 21 in the Senate chamber of the Capitol Building in Frankfort.

Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield announced the date and site for the meeting. He is chairman of the State Legislative Research Commission, which is doing research and providing technical assistance for the 50-member Assembly.

Waterfield said former U. S. Sen. Gov. Earle C. Clements, chairman, would announce assignments for the six assembly committees at the meeting. Delegates submitted their committee preferences at the first meeting February 17 in the House of Representatives chamber of the Old Capitol Building.

The meeting site was changed to accommodate older delegates who had difficulty climbing the winding stairway at the Old Capitol. Besides the convenience of elevators, Waterfield said, the Senate chamber will provide a better loudspeaker system.

The six committees that will be named April 21 include: bill of rights and elections; education, health and welfare; revision process; local government; state government; and coordination.

Authorized under provisions of House Bill 37 of the 1964 General Assembly, the Assembly will draft a constitutional proposal. It will act, however, in an advisory capacity only.

The proposal will be used as a guideline by members of a Constitutional Convention if—under terms of the present Constitution, adopted in 1891—two sessions of the General Assembly and Kentucky voters approve a Convention. Kentucky's 1964 General Assembly approved a Convention bill.

Harmony Is Keynote Of Democratic Dinner Planned For Fund Raising

Harmony is the keynote and fund-raising the objective of the Democratic United Fund Raising Jamboree set for April 28 at 5 p. m. at Kentucky Fair and Exposition, according to Cad P. Thurman, general chairman.

Governors A. B. Chandler, Earle C. Clements, Bert T. Combs, Keen Emerson "Doc" Beauchamp and Johnson and Lawrence Wetherby, Wilson W. Wyatt.

The jamboree was postponed from April 18 in order to accommodate the schedule of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., Undersecretary of Commerce, who will be the keynote speaker, Thurman said.

"This will be a Democratic year in Kentucky with President Johnson heading the national ticket," said Thurman, "and all loyal Democrats are rallying to their Party's cause to present a solid, united, harmonious organized effort behind the Democratic ticket."

Tickets for the jamboree are $25. Thurman said part of the proceeds will be used to defray last year's Primary and General Election expenses, and the balance will go into the Democratic Party's "war chest" for the November elections.

On the executive committee of the fund-raising jamboree are Gov. Edward T. Breathitt, Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield, former

CONTROL BAGWORMS NOW

Those spindle-shaped bags hanging from evergreens or deciduous trees and shrubs in your lawn mean the bagworm soon will start to cause trouble.

Two control methods are recommended. The best one at this time of the year is to pick the bags from the trees or shrubs and burn them. This prevents the caterpillar from hatching and feeding on the plants

The second control method involves using a Malathion spray when the eggs hatch and caterpillars are seen. Mix one tablespoonful of 57 percent strength Malathion emulsifiable concentrate in one gallon of water and spray the plants thoroughly. This gives good control but takes less work than picking the bags now and burning them.

News From Our Boys In The SERVICE

Corporal James F. Nicholson, 20, has been assigned to the Defense Language Institute, Presidio of Monterey, California, for an intensive course of instruction in the Japanese language.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester R. Nicholson, R. R. No. 1, Fulton, Kentucky, is a graduate of Fulton County High School in Hickman, Ky.

Corporal Nicholson entered the Marine Corps in June, 1960 and was stationed at Cherry Point, North Carolina prior to his assignment at the Defense Language Institute.

USS PYRO—Larry R. Gurley, machinist's mate second class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Gurley of 705 East State Line, Fulton, Ky., is helping the Pacific Service Force celebrate its 22nd anniversary aboard the ammunition ship USS Pyro, operating out of Concord, Calif.

Formed in March 1942, the Force utilizes over 100 ships of 30 different types in supplying food, fuel, ammunition, salvage assistance, and repair and towing services to units of the Pacific and Seventh Fleets.

CHESTNUT GLADE By Mrs. Harvey Vaughn

Congratulations to Linda Nannery, who was chosen as maid to the South Fulton Booster Club Princess at the third annual beauty revue last Friday night. Another Weakley County girl, Barbara Jean Carroll, from Palmersville, was chosen Princess. These and the other maid, Mellic Alexander of Fulton, are looking forward to representing the Fulton Booster Club at the Strawberry Festival in Humboldt and the Fish Fry in Paris. The judges were furnished by the Strawberry Festival, all from Humboldt.

Mr. and Mrs. Guayon Brundige and family from Louisville visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Brundige, and Mr. and Mrs. Gibbons, this past week end.

Dr. Joyce Smith from Huntsville, Ala. visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Buren Smith, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Brundige, last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Morrison and children from Memphis visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orvin Morrison, last week end.

Saturday seemed to be moving day in this community. Herbert Watts moved to the Mitchell farm, recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Ike Robey. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Melton moved to the Dallas farm, recently vacated by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hathcock.

The Chestnut Glade Club will meet in the home of Mrs. Lucy Gibbs on Thursday, April 16, at 1 p. m. for the regular meeting. Visitors are cordially welcome.

The Weakley County Library Board met in a regular meeting on Monday, April 16. Plans are being made for expanded library services. Every citizen of the county is especially urged to visit the local library during National Library Week. An attempt will be made to obtain any book or service that may be desired. The library services are free, so it is your privilege to use them.

PORT BUCKNER, OKINAWA—Army PFC Raymond T. Quinn, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Quinn Jr., Route 1, Fulton, Ky., and more than 800 other soldiers of the 173d Airborne Brigade at Fort Buckner, Okinawa, completed nine days of jungle warfare training Feb. 22 on Irimote Island, home of the brigade's Jungle Warfare Training Center.

The island, second largest of the Ryukyu chain, lies 250 miles southwest of Okinawa and 120 miles east of Taiwan. Cliffs and steep slopes predominate its shoreline, beyond which tropical forests rise to a rough, mountainous interior.

Quinn, a cannoner in Battery A, 3d Battalion, of the brigade's 319th Artillery on Okinawa, was instructed in techniques of combat and survival, day and night navigation and the employment of special equipment—all jungle-oriented. He also was taught to utilize the quick hit-and-run tactics of the guerrilla fighter, a type of mobile warfare vital to a paratrooper's effectiveness in both conventional and unconventional warfare.

Quinn entered the Army in October 1962 and received basic training at Fort Knox, Ky. He was stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., before arriving on Okinawa in April 1963.

PORT BUCKNER, Okinawa—Army Pvt. Donald E. Branford, son of Mrs. Flossie M. Mieher, Route 5, Fulton, Ky., and other members of the 1st Battalion of the 173d Airborne Brigade's 503d Infantry at Fort Buckner, Okinawa, completed nine days of jungle warfare training March 14 on Irimote Island, home of the brigade's Jungle Warfare Training Center.

Branford, a rifleman in the brigade's Company A on Okinawa, was trained in techniques of combat and survival, day and night navigation and the use of special equipment—all jungle-oriented. He was also taught to use the quick hit-and-run tactics of the guerrilla fighter, a type of mobile warfare vital to a paratrooper's effectiveness in both conventional and unconventional warfare.

The 18-year-old soldier entered the Army in June 1963 and completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.

He is a 1963 graduate of Dunbar High School.

His father, Robert E. Branford, lives at 205 Graham St., Fulton, Ky.

Eric R. M. Williams

LACKLAND AFB, Tex.—Airman Eric R. M. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Williams of 400 Troy Ave., Hickman, Ky., is being reassigned to Travis AFB, Calif., for training and duty as a transportation specialist.

Airman Williams recently completed United States Air Force basic military training here. He attended Fulton Co. High School.

BAUMHOLDER, GERMANY—Army PFC Clentis D. Turnbow, 19, son of Mrs. Lola G. Turnbow, Hickman, Ky., participated in Exercise LORELEY ROCK, a six-day Seventh U. S. Army field training exercise in Germany which ended March 24.

LORELEY ROCK was designed to provide medical and support personnel with training in the problems imposed by the movement of a field evacuation hospital under combat conditions and in the problems of operating medical facilities during guerrilla warfare.

Turnbow is a clerk with the 517th Medical Company near Bad Kreuznach. He entered the Army in July 1962 and was stationed at Fort Jay, N. Y., before arriving overseas in November 1963. Turnbow received basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.

He attended Fulton County High School and was employed by the Ritz Theatre before entering the Army.

Turnbow was named soldier of the month for the 517th Medical Company in Germany, March 11. He was selected for his soldierly appearance, knowledge and performance of duties and military courtesy.

Graves County Jury Gives Life Sentence To Robbers

Albert C. Taylor, 48-year-old Nashville, Tenn., man was given a life sentence by a Graves County jury Monday, April 6, which found him guilty of aiding and abetting in the robbery of Citizens Bank of Water Valley last October 14.

Two men robbed the bank of approximately $6000 on that date. Taylor's son, Ben Ray Taylor, 25, also of Nashville, and Herbert P. Hurt Jr., 27 of Paducah Rt. 7, have been charged with the robbery. They probably will be tried during the June term of court.

The younger Taylor is being held in Graves County jail in lieu of $7,500 bond. Hurt was released under $1,000 bond following a lie detector test. He has maintained that he caught a ride with the elder Taylor after the robbery and had no part in the bank holdup.

Taylor's attorney, Dee L. McNeill, said in his closing argument that no person had identified Albert C. Taylor as having been in or near the bank at the time of the robbery and that the prosecution had built up only a circumstantial case.

McNeill said that some $2,100 found on Taylor when he was arrested in Paducah on Oct. 15 had never been identified as coming from the bank. Taylor had won most of the money gambling, according to his defense, and also had on him some $108 for tools he pawned in Paducah.

Commonwealth's Attorney L. M. Tipton Reed, in his summation to the jury, said that the prosecution had never claimed that Taylor was in the bank, and that he was not charged with the robbery, but with aiding and abetting which carries the same penalty as that for the actual robbery.

Reed also said that a person identified only as an Italian called "DeMarco" is still being sought in the robbery.

The jury which found Taylor guilty deliberated less than an hour before returning its verdict. It could also have assessed a death penalty in the case. The state had not sought the death penalty for Taylor, but asked for a life sentence.

According to Hurt, the chief witness for the prosecution, he caught a ride with the elder Taylor on October 14 as Taylor was returning from Memphis.

Taylor bragged to him about the robbery, Hurt said, and a filing station attendant where the pair stopped for gas also testified that he heard Taylor talking about the robbery.

Taylor and Hurt attempted to check into Holiday Inn in Paducah early on October 18, according to the prosecution, and when an attendant recognized the license number of the car as the one being sought, he questioned them.

Taylor left the scene but was caught shortly afterwards on a Paducah used car lot trying to start a car, according to Paducah police. Hurt, who was also arrested, had no money on him, according to officers making the arrest.

and an elementary principal, will visit our schools. Mr. Taylor and Mrs. Quieris will also be present. The committee will begin its activities as guests of the Fulton City Board of Education at a dinner meeting in the cafeteria of the Carr Elementary School on April 20. The board members, superintendent, supervisor, director of pupil personnel, and all elementary faculty members will be present for a get-acquainted meeting.

The following day, the team will go into the classrooms, visit the school plant, and talk with the teachers in an effort to evaluate the schools in the areas mentioned above. At the close of the visit, the committee members will compile their findings and make their recommendations for improvement. They will review their findings at a meeting with administration personnel on Wednesday. The teachers will then prepare a report of the ways in which they will attempt the recommended improvements and submit it to the state committee. The committee recommends or rejects a school's request for accreditation at the next annual meeting of the Southern Association.

tion which meets in December.

Much thought, time, and effort have gone into this study. Every member of the elementary faculties and special service personnel has taken an active part. They have evaluated the program of the entire system and each faculty has carried on its study of its own school under the guidance of the consultant and the local supervisor. There have been myriads of meetings, telephone conversations, letters, and hours of individual and committee work. Local personnel have attended a Southern Association Meeting in Memphis; met with the State Director of Instruction on two occasions; spent at least four full days working and planning with the consultant. The consultant has worked closely with the State Department in her role as adviser in this study. The group understands that the work does not end here. The emphasis in this program is not upon excellence already attained, but upon improvements which grow out of the study.

Only a planned evaluation of all factors and resources which affect the school program can reveal the program's unique strengths and weaknesses. It is important to be aware that, no matter how good or poor our schools are, better things are possible if attention is focused upon what prevails in the light of what it is possible to achieve.

The chief concern of this self-study has centered around an attempt to provide the best possible educational advantages and opportunities geared to meeting the needs and desires of Fulton City's boys and girls.

Widowed Teacher Of Five Is State Mother Of Year

A 56-year-old schoolteacher, who reared five children after her husband's death, was chosen as Kentucky Mother of the Year.

The selection of Mrs. Omeda Hadden Terry of Jackson was announced at a luncheon in Paducah attended by nominees from all parts of the state.

Mrs. Ramelle Pigue of Fulton was one of the twenty-two finalists honored at the gathering on Saturday.

In winning, Mrs. Terry automatically becomes a candidate for the title "American Mother of the Year."

The citation stated that Mrs. Terry, by her life, "has exemplified the true characteristics of a Christian mother, a good citizen and a community leader."

The character and accomplishments of her children reflect the Christian influence she has given them. All her children have been active in church and school work.

Mrs. Terry, a native of Lost Creek, was educated at Eastern Kentucky State College and the University of Kentucky.

Prior to her marriage in 1933, she taught in the rural schools of Breathitt County. After her husband's death in 1945, she went to work for the First National Bank at Jackson. When the bank president, her father-in-law, died, she took over his duties for a short period.

During the past 15 years, she has held positions with the Jackson city schools and the Breathitt County school system.

One of her sons, Charles, is a third-year medical student at Vanderbilt University. He is married to the former Brenda Napier of Jackson. They have two children.

Mrs. Terry's youngest son, James Isaac, was graduated from Jackson High School with music honors and attended Lees Junior College before entering the U. S. Army. His wife and their seven-month-old son are living with Mrs. Terry while he is on active duty.

All three of Mrs. Terry's daughters are married. Mary Ellen is the wife of Hubert Lee Little, an officer in the Army. They have two children.

Elizabeth Louise Terry married Roy Martin and they have two children.

The third daughter, Addie Christine, is the wife of Billy Ray Wright, a student of West End Laboratory at Nashville. Mrs. Wright also is taking a course there.

In 1957, Mrs. Terry was named "Mother" of her church in recognition of her services to the community. A member of Jackson Methodist Church, she has served as a Sunday School teacher and youth advisor and is secretary of its youth organization.

CHARLES WRIGHT—

Miller, Field Representative with the Kentucky Division of Soil and Water Resources; along with the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, Agriculture Extension Service and Farmers Home Administration.

In a letter to Mr. Wright, Secretary Freeman said, "I want to commend the governing body of your district for their progressive action in up-dating the soil and water conservation program and modernizing the memorandum of understanding with the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This is an important initial step in helping private landowners move forward more effectively with their resource conservation and development."

Mr. Taff, Soil Conservation Service State Conservationist, Lexington, Kentucky, in a letter to Mr. Wright expressed the compliments of Administrator Williams to the members of the District governing body for their foresight and vision in broadening the concepts of conservation and rural areas development in their District and commended them for recognizing the new challenges and opportunities which lie ahead in this field. He pledged to them the full cooperation of the Soil Conservation Service in meeting these new challenges.

The revised District Program and Basic Memorandum replace those developed in 1948 when the district was first organized. The documents recognize modern concepts in resource development and soil and water conservation, and provide for full use of current programs and modern technology.

'A Family Affair'

Cleveland, Dec. 31—Murder is largely "a family affair," a New York sociologist has said.

At least, declared Dr. Gerhard Falk of the State University College at Buffalo, murder is a "very intimate matter, which takes place between relatives and friends and rarely between strangers."

Describing a study of various aspects of homicide, he told the American Association for the Advancement of Science that among 121 murders committed in Buffalo in the years 1948-1956, only 12 percent of the victims were strangers to the killers.

DETROIT NEWS By Roy Mauer

Spring is really here, with some of the early flowers in bloom and the others all peeping up after the long winter.

Last Saturday at Grace Church the three churches had their missions book review and many had booths on the countries they had their talks on. But one church really had the best display, including ham and chicken. All the things grown on the farm were hanging from the ceiling. For lunch we were served a sample from every land and one preacher ate a whole cup of fried rice after his regular lunch. Was he full!

All the pastors and delegates to Spring Presbytery, to be at Owensboro, left Monday evening in two cars. Some had never been to one, so they will have a great experience and a lot to talk about when they come home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ferguson now have their new son home from the hospital. He should be well fed, as grandma and mother had to learn how to feed him.

Mrs. Alta Roland is still in St

Josephs Hospital. Mrs. Rogers is back in Ford Hospital.

Our deepest sympathy to the family of the late Art Grissom, who passed away last week. He was a good friend of mine, as well as a Lodge brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde McDonald and son Billy spent the Easter holidays in Tennessee at the old homestead and, as usual, Ann ate too much.

Call me with your news. I will be waiting. And come to church on Sundays, as we have two good song leaders (Roy and Leslie) and one very good preacher. With a combination like that, how can you stay at home and miss all this?

BIG THRILL!

Personal Points: The little thrill of making three green lights in a row . . . the peeve of being told, "Please be seated in the bar until we get a table cleared" when there are a dozen empty tables in the dining room . . . the way to lick 'em is to leave 'em . . . ordering a seafood cocktail and finding it's made of scraps of fish, without sign of shrimp or crab . . . folks who turn their big dogs loose early in the a. m. to make shambles of your flower bed . . .

Favorite Vacation Spot: The Long Beach Peninsula of Washington State . . . near the mouth of the Columbia River, it offers fine sand and turbulent sea, swimming for those who don't mind a bit of chill . . . excellent fishing, digging for razor clams, wonderful driftwood beach fires and very little of the tinsel and the honkytonk atmosphere common in many areas . . . I recommend it highly.

Teacher Has Led Interesting Life

Miss Nancy Ward, history teacher at FHS, has led a very busy and interesting life since the day she was born in Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Receiving most of her education in Jackson, Tennessee, she graduated from Jackson High in 1959. During her high school days she was president of the Library Club, a member of the National Honor Society, on the literary staff, and the winner of the D. A. R. Oratorical Medal.

Miss Ward received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Union University in 1963. Among her many activities there was Chi Omega, a social sorority, in which she was rush chairman and chapter correspondent. Her other activities there included literary editor of Last We Forget, news editor and editor of the "Cardinal and Crown," Justice on the student court, Homecoming Royalty in 1963, participant in the Honors Program in English, and competitor for the Strickland Medal for the best speaker of the Senior Class. Her major was English and her minor was history.

AUSTIN SPRINGS By Mrs. Carey Fields

Rev. Russell Rodgers filled his regular appointment at New Salem Baptist Church the past Sunday at 11 a. m. Sunday School is held at 10. The evening service is held preceding the Baptist Training Union, where a good attendance is had at each. The enrollment continues to be excellent. Everyone is invited to attend these services.

Mrs. T. T. Harris underwent successful major surgery in Baptist Memorial Hospital in Memphis the past week and her children have been at her bedside. All friends wish for her a most speedy recovery.

Grant Bynum continues to improve at his home near this village. He is able to be out some, after having been indisposed a few weeks account minor surgery in Hillview Hospital.

News from the bedside of Lammy Murrell of Akron, Ohio is that he remains about the same. He has been a-bed for several months, requiring constant care by his wife.

Mrs. Naomi Tuck and son, Richard, left Saturday afternoon for Orlando, Fla., via Memphis to visit at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. T. T. Harris.

Congratulations to Miss Barbara Carroll, who won in the beauty contest held in South Fulton Friday night, sponsored by the Boosters Club. The young lady is a senior at Palmersville High School and resides on Dresden Route 2.

Late word from the bedside of Joe Payne is that he is critically ill in Mayfield. Mrs. Payne, the former Bonnie Vincent, is at his bedside, as well as all the children. Everyone will regret to know of his serious condition. Several weeks ago he had a major operation in a local hospital.

Your writer spent the past week end with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mac Reed and had a nice visit.

NOSTALGIA DEPT.

Remember the thrill of the Tom Mix movies . . . and what a kick we got out of William S. Hart at a Saturday matinee . . . nickel phone calls . . . flag pole sitters . . . Rin Tin Tin . . . homemade ice cream . . . ummmm . . . the Big Apple . . . such popular radio shows as Green Hornet, the Shadow and I Love a Mystery . . . the Sunday band concert in the park, back when every town that amounted to something had a bandstand.

Here Is The Good And The Bad Of Fulton's Image

HANDSOME, neat new home of the Charlie Seates Goodrich store in Riceville presents a pleasing appearance not only because it is new and sparkling, but also because it is clean and there is no litter on the grounds.

AIRLENE GAS COMPANY BULK PLANT is another well-groomed and neat area, free from litter, weeds and kept well-painted and orderly as this photo shows.

NEW MILTON SCHOOL in Missionary bottoms presents a well-tailored, neat appearance in contrast to unkempt neighborhood surrounding it. School was built new about 2 years ago following destruction of the old building by fire.

OLD ABANDONED house on US 51, vacant for a number of years, is one of the "horrible" examples of what should not be standing. It serves no useful purpose at all, and is not fit to be lived in.

DILAPIDATED HOUSE on Cedar Street in East-Fulton is unoccupied, a neighborhood eyesore, and a fire hazard, rat harborage and general deterrent to neighbors to clean their own places up.

JUNKYARD ON U. S. 51, in Riceville is certainly an eyesore to the north entrance of the city and to the rest of the neighborhood.

ABANDONED, BURNED HOUSE across the railroad from the former Smith Cafe is an area eyesore, serves as a public toilet, and is fit for nothing but to be torn down.

THE BAD ALONG WITH THE GOOD: Rubbish-filled, sagging creek bank in foreground harbors rats, is an eyesore, and serves as refuse-dump for neighborhood. New, well-kept Milton school is in background.

EXAMPLE OF SQUALID LIVING CONDITIONS is Missionary bottoms area: yards littered with junk, unpainted and unkempt houses, rats, filth, mosquitoes and filth. These kind of areas breed the filth and send it over the rest of the city.

Delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. Agnes Britt of Milan, Tenn. spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Claude Fields.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Fields and granddaughter Edna and Mr. and Mrs. Noble Jones spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Claude Fields.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Fields have built themselves a storm house.

Mrs. Claude Fields spent Wednesday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Baines of Mayfield, also spent a while with Mrs. Tommie Moore, who was in the Mayfield Hospital. We wish her a speedy recovery from her operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Fields and little son Trent and Mr. and Mrs. Rob Fields called on Mr. and Mrs. Claude Fields Thursday night. We are sorry to hear of the death of Mrs. Pearl Carr's brother, Everett Yates, in St. Louis. Our deepest sympathy goes out to her and his loved ones.

Sorry to hear of Charles Carr being in the hospital in Fulton. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Rhodes have bought a pony for their little son, Rickie, which we are sure he will enjoy very much.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Walls called on Mr. and Mrs. Claude Fields Sunday night.

We are sorry to hear of Mrs. Wayne Lawrence being in the hospital at Fulton and wish for her a speedy recovery.

Glad to hear Mrs. Tommie Moore was dismissed from the Mayfield Hospital. She is at her home in Pilot Oak. She received so many nice cards and flowers during her stay in the hospital, for which I am sure she was very thankful.

McCONNELL NEWS

Mrs. L. T. Caldwell

Evening services at the Church of Christ have changed from 6 p. m. to 7 p. m. on Sunday evenings. Mid-week services have been changed to 7:30 p. m. on Wednesdays.

Our community was shocked at the tragic death of Mr. Oscar George Clark on Friday morning. A good number from here attended his funeral at Hornbeak Funeral Home in Fulton and burial at Liberty Cemetery. We extend our deepest sympathy to his family in their bereavement.

Mrs. Lila Jones Payne, a resident of this vicinity for many years, died at the Jones Clinic last Wednesday night. Mrs. Payne was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stack Jones. She had a host of friends in this area and we all extend our sympathy to her family in their loss.

We also extend our sympathy to the Luther Allen family in the passing of their husband and father. Mr. Allen had many friends in this vicinity.

Mrs. Harold Sills recently underwent major surgery at the Obion County General Hospital in Union City. She was dismissed the early part of the week and we wish for her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Thad Parrish and sons, David and Larry, spent Sunday in Memphis visiting his brother, Emmett Lee Parrish, and family.

Mrs. Laverne Gurley of Fulton visited Mrs. Dorita Boggess and family Saturday night.

Brad and Luan Boggess have heard from their father, Preston Boggess, who is employed with the Department of Interior, Anchorage, Alaska. He reports he is well, but was somewhat shaken in the recent Alaskan earthquake.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Meadows honored their daughter, Glenda Faye, with a birthday dinner at their home on Sunday, April 12. Glenda Faye was observing her first birthday. Those attending were: Mrs. King Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Meadows, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Haynie, Linda Meadows, Johnnie Meadows, Mike Meadows, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Meadows and Linda Faye.

Mrs. Jordan Ferguson was entertained with a birthday dinner in her honor at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Leroy Hastings, on Sunday, April 12. Approximately 40 attended this event.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Cathey of St. Charles, Mo. spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Audie Cathey, and other relatives.

DUKEDOM RT. 2

Mrs. O. F. Taylor

Mrs. T. J. Moore is home from the hospital and is feeling fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Yates were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Don Starks Thursday night.

The Oliver Taylors visited Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Ruddle Thursday night.

Mrs. Hattie Puckett was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Wilma Eubanks, and family of Wingo Sunday.

Our sympathy goes out to Mrs. Pearl Carr in the loss of her brother, Everett Yates, of St. Louis. Mrs. Carr attended the funeral one day last week.

Mrs. Don Starks is not feeling much better since coming home from Jones Clinic.

Mrs. Evaline Yates attended the Pilot Oak Homemakers meeting at the home of Mrs. Hattie Puckett of Pilot Oak on Tuesday of last week.

This community was made sad last week because of the death of Tom Wheelis. Our sympathy goes out to his family.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Rowland and Mrs. Ollie Singleton of Lynn Grove were Sunday guests in the O. F. Taylor home. They later visited Mr. and Mrs. Martin Givens.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Ruddle visited in Memphis last week as guests of their sons and families, Mr. and Mrs. Loyd E. Ruddle and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ruddle.

Michael McClain came home from the Fulton Hospital recently and is back in school at Cuba.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Taylor called on Mr. and Mrs. T. C. House and Mrs. Ruth Weems Friday afternoon. Harry Yates was also a caller.

REGULAR CHURCH WORSHIP

"I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord."

The Ultimate in Satisfaction

When we were children, the ultimate in satisfaction was an ice cream cone, a nickel's worth of candy, a handful of homemade cookies. But now that we are grown-up, God's spirit has shown us there are more important things in life than satisfying our appetites. There is a higher plane of living—that of loving and serving God and one's neighbor. God wants us to respond to His love by showing this same kind of love to others. The church is the place to center your mature living. Attend church this Sunday.

"When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child, but when I became a man, I put away childish things." I Cor. 13:11.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the well-being of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Social Security Tax Payments Are Explained

There is often confusion concerning how social security taxes are paid. Here are a few of the basic facts:

If you are employed, your tax is deducted from your wages each pay day. Your employer sends it, with an equal amount as his own share of the tax, to the District Director of Internal Revenue. Thus, your employer pays a share of the cost of your social security protection.

If you are self-employed and your net earnings are $400 or more in a year, you must report your earnings and pay your social security self-employment tax each year when you file your individual income tax return. Even if you are not required to pay any income tax, you still must file an income tax return and pay any social security self-employment tax due.

The maximum amount of earnings that can count for social security and on which you pay social security taxes is $4800 in a year.
