County's 3 Banks Report Resources Over 14 Millions

Marshall County's three banks, in their Dec. 31 financial statements, showed a healthy growth since their last reports on June 30, 1960.

The three banks reported total resources of $14,173,481.87.

Deposits in the three banks totalled $13,315,148.09. These deposits were divided among the three banks as follows:

Bank of Marshall County deposits—$6,013,764.09.
Bank of Benton deposits—$5,226,104.42.
Calvert Bank deposits—$2,075,279.58.

And that's quite a bit of money—in any rural county. The banks' financial reports show a definite and steady growth in Marshall County.

And now is a good time—at the very beginning of the year—for every citizen in Marshall County to start making plans to keep our county growing.

Marshall County is one of the finest rural counties in the entire State of Kentucky and its future looks unusually bright.

Let's all work to keep our county GROWING.

3-Inch Snow Fell Here On New Year Eve

It was the second big snow of the winter season—the first being on Christmas. Thus Marshall County had a white Christmas and also a white New Year's Day.

The New Year's Eve snow caused the usual inconveniences. There was a rash of minor traffic accidents, but no injuries were reported. Traffic snarls occurred on Sink Hole Hill on the Benton-Hardin Road and on the S curve on the Benton-Paducah Road.

Garages and filling stations were busy answering wrecker calls, selling chains and antifreeze. Plumbing and heating firms that were open also were busy answering service calls.

Telephone Talk
By HAROLD WILEY Paducah Manager

EVERY 3 SECONDS A NEW PAPA IS BORN! And if you think that's a lot of papas, you're right. Now that we're starting another new year, I thought it would be interesting to look at some figures on our increasing population. Today there are 3 billion people in the world—twice as many as 100 years ago.

United Nations estimates now forecast that by the year 2000 there'll probably be between 6 and 7 billion. The United States, with 180 million now will most likely pass the 3 hundred million mark in the next 40 years. In our business—communications—this growth means a lot of planning ahead to meet the needs of our fast-growing population, and you may be sure we're not sleeping at the switchboard!

TELEPHONE MILESTONE—Just to back me up about not sleeping at the switchboard, here's news about an event that happened recently in this country. The 60 millionth telephone in the Bell System was installed! Actually, America's telephone "population" is now more than 75 million, including the stations operated by the 3,500 independent companies. You know, the more phones there are, the more valuable telephone service becomes to everyone.

WEATHER OR NOT—You can visit out-of-town friends and relatives with the greatest of ease. Just pick up your phone and go via Long Distance! It's fast, it's easy and it's a wonderful way to cheer gray days and make other people happy, too!

Payments of Sales Tax Are Deductible From Income Taxes

A table reflecting average state sales tax payments by residents of the State of Kentucky has been announced by G. C. Hooks, district director of Internal Revenue at Louisville.

Mr. Hooks said that the table may be used as a guide by Kentucky taxpayers in claiming sales tax deductions on their federal income tax returns for 1960.

"Taxpayers who itemize their deductions instead of taking the standard deduction on Forms 1040 and 1040-W may find the table helpful in estimating the amount to claim for sales taxes on their returns," he said.

Mr. Hooks stated that the law requires taxpayers to substantiate any deduction claimed on their returns, and if requested, they must be prepared to do so.

South Benton News

BY MRS. M. U. SIRES

How sad and lonely everything seems this New Year's night after the passing away of our good friend and neighbor,
Mrs. Charley Burd.

But death is coming to all of us. However, the Book of Revelations, Chapter 2, Verse 10, offers this hope—"Be thou faithful unto death and I will give you a crown of life."

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Greenfield and son, Carl Wayne, returned last Saturday night from Tampa, Fla., where they spent the Christmas holidays with the families of Mr. and Mrs. Dahl Greenfield and Mr. and Mrs.
Scott Greenfield.

They brought me a half bushel of grapefruit, oranges and kumquats (Is that the way to spell it?).

Mildred said she enjoyed going to the citrus orchard in Florida and picking grapefruit for the breakfast table.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Edwards of Parkview Heights were guests last Saturday evening of Mrs. Lavada Sires.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Riley of Backsburg were the guests on Christmas Day of Mr. and Mrs.
Raymond Edwards.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Greenfield
and son and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Greenfield and Bobby White were New Year's Day dinner guests of Mrs. Lavada Sires.
Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Martin spent the holidays in Sacramento, Ky., visiting the mother of Mrs. Martin.

Statistics Show 250 Businesses In Marshall County,

There are a total of 250 manufacturing, wholesaling and retail businesses in Marshall County, according to statistics released by James W. Hill III, district manager of the Louisville office of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc.

This total is based on a physical count of the January 1961 edition of Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book. Last year 251 businesses were listed in this county.

The Louisville office reports 41,371 names in the 102 counties which it covers in Kentucky and Southern Indiana. A count of some of the larger cities showed Louisville 7,472, Lexington 2,340,
Bowling Green 724, Owensboro
982, Paducah 918, Evansville,
Ind., 2,683, and Vincennes, Ind., 646.

The Dun & Bradstreet reference book lists all manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers who seek or grant commercial credit but it does not include some of the service and professional businesses such as beauty and barber shops, security dealers, and real estate brokers.
Therefore, the figures for total businesses would be higher than the ones quoted above.

Miss Judy Crowell Of Grand Rivers Is Christmas Bride

In a wedding solemnized on Christmas Day, Miss Judy Crowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Crowell of Lake City, became the bride of Johnny Hina, son of Ernest Hina, Sturgis police chief, and the late Mrs. Hina.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. W. Robinson, minister of the Olive Branch Baptist Church, in his home at Madisonville.

For her wedding the bride was attired in a winter white brocade satin suit and small matching hat trimmed with pink roses and a short veil. Her shoes and gloves were winter white and her corsage was a purple orchid. The maid of honor, Miss Beverly Berry of Sturgis, wore a gray wool suit with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The groom's brother, Howard Hina, attended him as best man.

Following the ceremony the couple left for a honeymoon in Eastern Kentucky.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hina were graduated from Sturgis High School in 1958. They will reside in Murray where Mr. Hina is a student at Murray State College.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lee of Hardin were business visitors in Benton Tuesday.

Dock Bradley of Route 6 was a business visitor in Benton Wednesday and while here renewed his subscription to The Marshall Courier for a year.

Virginia Ham Wed In Double-Ring Ceremony

Miss Virginia Ham and Jackie Hancock were married Thursday evening, Dec. 28, at the Bethel Baptist Church. The Rev. Curtis Warf, pastor of Utica Baptist Church, performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Ham of Benton. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Holman Hancock of Onton.

Ferns and palms banked the altar and chancel for the ceremony. Poinsettias highlighted the arrangement and tall white tapers burned in candelabra on either side of the altar and chancel. The family pews were marked with white satin bows.

Miss Nancy Young, organist, and Miss Susan Smith, pianist, presented a program of nuptial music.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, wore a gown of white Chantilly lace embroidered with seed pearls. Her fingertip tulle veil was attached to a tiara of pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and showered with white satin streamers.

Miss Frances Ham, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her short bouffant gown was of gold embroidered net. She wore a matching gold net hat and carried an arrangement of white carnations.

Bridesmaids were Misses Patsy

Heath, Carolyn Wommack, Rachel Vied of Gilbertsville, and Miss Nancy Quinn of Onton. Their dresses were identical except for color, and were fashioned of lace over satin. They wore matching lace hats and mitts. Miss Heath and Miss Vied wore in red and Miss Wommack and Miss Quinn were in green. They each carried bouquets of white carnations.

Donald Copeland, cousin of the bride, served as ringbearer. Attired in a white coat and dark trousers, he carried the rings on a white satin pillow. Serving the groom as best man was Larry Mahurin of Onton. Ushers were Ronnie Quinn, Bill Martin of Onton, Bobby Higgins of Seebree and Jack Wommack of Gilbertsville.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the recreation room of the church. Mrs. Barbara Jackson and Miss Ona Pearl Hicklin of Seebree kept the register. Miss Robble Vasseur served the cake and Mrs. Sandra Higgins of Seebree presided at the punch bowl.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Jacob and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Morgan of Chicago were weekend visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Jacob of Benton Route 4. Sunday visitors at the Jacob home also included Mrs. Mildred Jacob and family and Mr. and Mrs. George Jacob, all of Benton, and Mrs. Ray Metcalfe of Sharpe.

TOBACCO TALES

by Sander

Tobacco, native to America, was first introduced into England by Sir John Hawkins. It soon became a staple product of the Colonies.

Not all tobacco-shop statues were of Indians. Dwarfs, jack tars, blackmoors—even killed Highlanders were popular.

Tobaccos are cut in many ways—flaked, ribbon-cut, plug-cut—to control the rate of burning and so bring out the best flavor in the smoke.

AMPHORA is the Greek word for an unusual kind of urn. AMPHORA is also the name of America's most popular imported pipe tobacco. Produced by Douwe Egberts Royal Factories in Holland, it is imported into the United States by Romick's International Tobacco Company.

Uncle Ned ... From Dogtown

DEAR MISTER EDITOR

I see where the U. S. Department of Agriculture reports that farm income is now down 10 per cent from the 1949 level. The farmers ain't plowing enough in the right place.

When I was a boy I recollect my Grandpa telling how he got rid of a feller that come to his house selling books on how to farm. Grandpa said he told the feller, "I ain't farming now half as good as I know how." It's been 40 year since my Grandpa told that story and I can't see much improvement. The farmers is farming easier and faster, but when they git 10 cent a pound for somepun that's selling at the store for 60 cent, they ain't learned how to plow the middle man under.

They was a piece in the papers the other day about some town in Utah that has cut taxes and don't owe a dime and has got money in the bank. I'm disappointed in learning that we got such old fashioned towns left in this country. I knowed a feller from Utah once and I always thought they had real live, modern, up and coming, bustling towns that was floating bonds, borrowing money, and raising taxes and going in debt for all sorts of things like all other good towns. I think they need to have a election in that town and git some fellers running the place that knows about these new methods of progress.

I wonder where the folks in that town think we'd be in this country today if our Federal Government hadn't gone in debt for 285 billion dollars. Where would we be today if we wasn't borrowing money by the billions and raising taxes and gitting someplace? Come to think about it, Mister Editor, where are we today?

Well, now that we're gitting a new President in office, I hope the political scars is all healed from the November election. Incidental, political scars ain't as hard to heal as they was in the old days. In these times the candidates discuss what they call the "issues," but when I was a boy the issues wasn't never mentioned. The candidate always started out accusing his opponent of looking like Judas Iscariot, acting like Benedict Arnold, and milking his neighbor's cow through a crack in the fence. He took it from there and worked down.

As I was setting here writing this piece I heard a news feller on the radio announce that the Government is reducing the number of weather bureaus around the country. I hope they'll keep enough for us farmers and ranchers to git our usual "widely scattered thunder showers" from some place else.

Yours truly,
Uncle Ned.

Tempest puts safety-minded performance in a gas-saving 4!

(Range of horsepower choices from 110 to 155)

Take a Tempest out on the highway and put it through its paces. This car is a whiz at moving into fast-stepping company on an expressway. Takes you from a standing start to a safe operating speed in seconds... gets you up a steep hill in high gear.

Run the Tempest over the roughest road you can find. It rides like the big ones because it's balanced! The engine's up front—the transmission's in the rear. And it's got independent suspension at all four wheels. Tires dig in firm on curves and turns. Full 15-inch wheels make car look big. Tires last. Brakes run cooler.

Before it hit the market, Tempest had 3,000,000 miles of testing by engineers, pro drivers and a team of teenagers. Its reliability checked out 100%. Owners have rolled up millions more. The only kick is the one it puts back in driving. Try it!

FARMING AROUND

By Mark Welsh

Science is revealing the secrets of the steer. A new ultrasonic device sends high frequency sound waves into the various parts of an animal, and the rib eye or other most valuable meat parts show up in outline on a camera.

Mark Welsh

A whole beef animal can be checked in about two minutes with this $3,000 piece of equipment which takes guesswork out of selecting superior meat animals and breeding stock. Bulls that can produce offspring that have rapid growth and a maximum of high-priced cuts can be spotted with this new equipment's use on yearling calves, thus eliminating the need to wait for the slaughter records of two- and three-year-olds.

Antibiotics such as Aureomycin can speed the growth and safeguard the health of calves; the size, quality and tenderness of the cuts is governed by superior breeding animals. So now it is possible to eliminate the culls quickly and inexpensively.

(Editors Note: Dr. Mark Welsh is a former university instructor and state livestock sanitary service director who has spent a lifetime in agriculture. He now is agricultural consultant to American Cyanamid Company.)

stride forward for meat animal producers.

A heifer costs you money every day until she has her first calf. If calves are wisely and amply fed for growth from the day of birth, they can be bred earlier and thus start paying you back sooner.

Well grown first-calf heifers don't suffer from early breeding; produce more milk and calves in their lifetime and make more money for their owners. And plenty of lime and fertilizer pastures is the key to it all.

Ky. Lake Exhibits are Planned at 3 Shows

Preparation of Kentucky Lake promoters to exhibit in three of the Midwest's leading sports, boat and vacation shows during early 1961, are now underway.

A combined Paducah Chamber of Commerce - Kentucky Lake Vacationland Inc. group will open the season at the International Travel Show at Chicago's Navy Pier Jan. 14. The show extends through Jan. 22.

This, the first major show of the season, will also be the largest travel and vacation show in the country in exhibition and attendance for the travel industry, resorts, resort areas, tour attractions, dude ranches and chambers of commerce.

The Kentucky Lake booth will occupy a space 10 feet by 20 feet and will feature a huge map of the portion of Kentucky Lake lying within Kentucky. The map has been prepared by the Tennessee Valley Authority and is done in great detail. The booth will be set up in the Jaycee Civic Center Monday night, Jan. 9, as a backdrop for the Chamber of Commerce's annual meeting.

The lake exhibit will be shown at the St. Louis Sport, Boat and Vacation Show Feb. 17-26 and the Cincinnati Sports Show March 4-12. Members of Kentucky Lake Vacationland, Inc. will man the booth exclusively in St. Louis and Cincinnati.

The State Tourist and Travel Commission's booth depicting all of Kentucky's many tourist attractions will adjoin the Kentucky Lake exhibit at all three shows.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert G. McCrory visited her relatives at Bandana during a portion of the holiday season.

Joy Is The Sign

Lesson for January 8, 1961

CERTAIN shining words appear over and over again in the Gospel of John, like gleaming threads woven into a beautiful fabric. These words are hard to define. They suggest rather than describe. They are poetic, in that they convey or induce moods rather than tell us sharp facts.

They may perplex the mind but they fascinate the heart. One of these words is "Glory." It is hard to say precisely what the means, but we can see that in the Fourth Gospel it is always associated with God. It refers to the whole wonderful, indescribable, awe-compelling, overwhelming presence of the living God. Now the message of the Fourth Gospel can be summed up this way: The whole life of Jesus of Nazareth brought the glory of God wherever he was and whatever he did. Jesus is quoted as looking back on his life (as he was praying in the upper room) putting it all into these words: "I glorified thee on earth, having accomplished the work which thou gavest me to do... the glory which thou hast given me I have given them." (John 17.)

The Power and the Glory
The plan of John's Gospel, for the first twelve chapters, is simple: the author presents seven stories about Jesus. Each one tells about something Jesus did, and the author calls each of these acts a sign, a sign of glory. The first of these is the story of Jesus at a wedding in a little country town called Cana. (Not to be confused with Canaan.) One feature of these stories, a peculiarity the modern reader might call it, is that each of them presents a kind of miracle. In other words, these were acts of power. Jesus does not appear to be under the same limitations which hamper the rest of us. These miracle-stories, or power-stories, bother many 20th-century readers. We are more ready to believe a miracle announced by the American Medical Association or the National Aeronautics and Space Program, than we are to believe the miracles of the Bible. Be that as it may, the least you could say about these Gospel miracles is this: The impression which Jesus left on those who knew him was such that he could not be described in ordinary routine language. Only the language of mystery, of power beyond ordinary man's understanding, can describe what he was and did. On the other hand, the most that can be said is this: If Jesus Christ was really not simply a man, but the eternal Word of God become a man, if (as the Phillips translation puts it) the Expression of God became a human being, then he himself, without doing a thing, was more miraculous than anything he could do.

Glory, Power, Service
Yet there is something quite strange about this after all. If you were making this story up out of your head, and began (as John does) with a man whose life actually radiated the glory of God, what would you invent as the high points, the climactic moments, of that glory? You would almost certainly not think of the simple truth. It would seem a little too simple. Here is the Number One Sign, the first opportunity Jesus had to make use of his great mysterious powers. What does he do with it? Of all things, he uses it to keep a country wedding party from being a failure.

Joy Is The Sign
God is never snobbish; he leaves that to foolish people. But some snobs try to make God one like themselves. They picture Jesus in a kind of perpetually dismal mood just because he had to be born and live among sinful and foolish people. They associate God with pain, gloom. "Acts of God" are earthquakes, tidal waves, catastrophes. What one-sided nonsense! The first "sign" of the divine glory that John describes is associated with joy. To come into the presence of God it is not necessary to wipe all smiles off your face. It is true, God may be found in the Valley of the Shadow of Death; but he is also to be found upon the mountains of delight.

BY AMY ADAMS

A HULLABALOO OVER 'HICKEYS'

Dear Amy:
For the past week I've been stewing about the answer you gave to the young woman who complained of her husband brand- ing her with 'hickey' marks on her neck, and I was very much surprised that a woman of your intelligence would O.K. such a thing. For your information, these 'hickey' marks are degrading and any time a woman goes around with her neck marred with the ugly things, she's invit- ing trouble.
They are not just 'friendly lit- tle nips.' They are marks made by sucking the flesh until the blood is drawn to the surface and they can be dangerous. Even the low- est animal doesn't chew and dis- figure its mate in such a manner and I can see no reason why man should.

This young woman has every right to object to being marred with a neck full of such marks on her skin, and any man who has any respect for his wife and chil- dren wouldn't put them there. I love and respect my wife more than anything in the world, and I certainly would never put 'hick- eys' on her neck to invite passes from every bum who comes along.
Been Around (Missouri)

Dear Amy:
Do me a favor. That woman who complains about the hickey marks on her neck, tell her I would be very happy to change places with her . . . if she is will- ing to trade her hickey marks for my black and blue marks. Please give her my address. And I'm not kidding!
Mrs. C. S. (California)

Dear Amy:
Speaking of 'hickey marks,' my husband can nibble seven days a week if he wants to. Better me than somebody else!
Marie from Michigan.

Dear Amy:
I don't blame 'Monkey Blt' one bit for complaining about those unsightly marks her husband af- fectionately 'brands' her with. This type of love-making went out with Alley Oop. Brands today are reserved to show proof of owner- ship of cattle. This young lady has that little ring on her third finger, left hand to show the world she has a mate.

If my husband acted like a cave man, I'd bruise the brute.
Mrs. J. B. (Kentucky)

Dear Amy:
I'm an old married lady with 37 years experience. I want to tell the young married woman whose husband gives her 'hickey' marks not to worry about it. Eventually they stop misbehaving because they lose their teeth.
An Old Timer (Pennsylvania)

Dear Amy:
I can't imagine any woman complaining about her husband's affectionate attitude. If more men showed their wives how they feel about them, there would be less women looking for other avenues of excitement.
Happily Married (New Jersey)

Dear Amy:
I had a good laugh when I read the letter in your column from the woman about the 'hickey' marks. I bet it was from my wife. Sue's young, sweet, temperamental and has a lot to learn. Please tell her for me (as I am in the dog house) that I'll quit it if she is willing to kiss and make up.
It's just like a woman to make a hullabaloo over a hickey!
Her husband (Texas)

Dear Amy:
Please tell me if it was my wife who wrote to you about the 'hickey' marks. It will just be between you and me as I have a right to know. A yes or no will do. Print this and sign it.
Ron (Ohio)

Dear Amy:
No.

CARING FOR YOUR FAMILY

by Edith Clarke

Children, Snow and Sniffles

Children, cold weather and snow go together. In fact, it's almost impossible to keep youngsters indoors once the landscape is softened by the first real snowfall of the season. This lovely white stuff, they reason, was made to roll in—and who cares if it slides down the backs of their jackets or melts inside their boots? Well, mothers care—for several very good reasons.

Mothers view snow with some what mixed emotions. On the credit side, it lures the children outdoors and offers enough excitement to keep them from being bored in their own yards where they can be watched. On the debit side, it often sends them home again with suspicions of colds and sadly chapped cheeks and hands.

However, when these cold-weather hazards are anticipated, a mother should be prepared to ward them off. Here are a few suggestions that might help. If the temperature is above thirty degrees, don't bundle a child up for sub-zero weather in such a way that he's bound to become overheated at play. It's possible that he might unzip his jacket or remove his scarf in order to be more comfortable—and this will almost guarantee his catching a cold. A warm, loose-fitting jacket that will allow for some ventilation and ease of movement, with an attached hood—heavy wool or lined corduroy pants—snowboots and mittens will keep him cozy and warm when the climate is several degrees above freezing.

When a child comes indoors after being out in the cold, he or she should remove all warm outer clothing immediately, including snowboots, rubbers or any type of footwear that is either damp or snow-soaked. If a mother suspects that a child has the beginnings of a cold, she should give him a hot bath and pop him into bed. After he's had his dinner and when he's ready for sleep, he might be given a hot lemon and honey toddy laced with half an aspirin. Make sure he has plenty of warm covers and isn't sleeping in a draft. Most of the time, this procedure will help nip a cold in the bud... if it's caught at its very early stages.

The combination of cold air and melting snow invariably causes chapping on small cheeks and hands. This can become miserably raw and sore if it isn't treated at once. A mother can usually tell if her child's face and hands are in the process of chapping if they seem much rosier than usual, even after he's been indoors for some length of time. Therefore, when he goes to bed she should apply Vaseline Petroleum Jelly over the chapped areas, wiping off any excess so that just the thinnest film remains. This soothing unguent will hold moisture in the skin and assist in natural healing.

The following day treat the child's hands and cheeks to another application of petroleum jelly before the youngster goes bounding off into the snow. Water will never penetrate this occlusive film and further weather-injury to the skin can be avoided.
