"Second TVA" for Kentucky Being Talked
Need for Cheaper Electric Power Seen By Co-ops

"Would Abound Us"

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 1—Pipes for making a revolutionary power outlet, similar to TVA, are to be unveiled in the Union City police box, according to experts on electrical power. This outlet is a result of the conference and the report of a Louisville firm. It is designed to provide cheaper electric power for rural and suburban areas. The conference provided a commission of four representatives from the various states to work out a plan by which the outlet can be provided by Chicago utility companies.

Various phases of the plan were outlined by representatives from the Kentucky State Equalization Southern Bell, Confederate Electric, and Metropolitan Electric companies.

Give It To The U. N.

While the United States will agree to take the responsibility for settling the Jewish-Mandate in the Holy Land. Times have changed, and the U. S. alone cannot come to the rescue of the Arabs who are quite understandably opposed to giving up their land and homes.

The United Nations accepted the responsibility for finding a solution to the conflict. It seems a wiser course to give the independent union of South Africa for the British government. The British government will have to organize a commonwealth in which the empire is passing but also because the British government will have to organize a commonwealth in which the empire is passing. The strongest of these elements are the relations between South Africa and England. There's much bitterness among the Boers who haven't forgotten the war in which they were beaten by the English.

The British government has had considerable support in this cause. It is the responsibility of the United Nations to act on the behalf of the British government. The U. N. has the ability and the power to do something about this situation. If this country succeeds in making the British government accept the responsibility for finding a solution to the conflict, perhaps making them accept the responsibility for finding a solution to the conflict, perhaps making them accept the responsibility for finding a solution to the conflict, perhaps making them accept the responsibility for finding a solution to the conflict.

Johnny Kling, 71, Ex-Cub Catcher, Dies In Kansas

Rutus City, Feb. 1.—John O. (Johnny) Kling, colorful baseball immortal of the Chicago Cubs from 1910 to 1915, who played in all World Series in which the Cubbies competed, died at his home here today. He was 71 years old.

Kling was a native of Butte, Mont., and was a member of the Chicago police force, before he was signed by the Cubs in 1909. He was the last of the famous infielders of the Chicago team. Joe Tinker was the only other member of the Cubs of the time left in the game.

The former catcher had a tough time making a living after leaving the game. In later years he worked as a detective. His private in the police force was considered the best in the West.
