Formal AnnouncementTO THE VOTERS OF DISTRICT
NO. 2 OF MARSHALL COUNTY:I would at this time like to announce to you my candidacy for Magistrate of District No. 2.
I am 29 years old. I was born, raised and still live near Tatum-ville and Bethel Church. I feel that after living my entire life in this District on a county road and traveling about in the District I am acquainted with the county roads and their problems very well.Therefore, if elected as your Magistrate, I pledge to you to devote my time and very best ability, knowledge, and efforts to improve your roads, and then maintain them, not forget them!I further pledge, if elected, to work with the other Magistrates and County officials as a body, in the name of the Marshall County Fiscal Court, to influence the State Highway Department in building and maintaining state roads throughout the entire County. Also an improvement program for the County Rest Home at Calvert City. If the County's financial conditions are appropriate for expansions and improvements to the County Court House, we surely can make some much needed improvements at the Rest Home?Now, may I ask each voter of District No. 2 for your support until you have cast your ballot, and if I am elected, as long as I am your Magistrate, I will personally strive to see each of you and discuss with you other major items and improvements I will be for as your magistrate of District No. 2.

Miss Sue Williams Wed In Beautiful Church Ceremony

Miss Linda Sue Williams and John Darrell Roberts were united in marriage last Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the First Christian Church in Benton.

Rev. Stanley Duncan officiated at the double-ring ceremony before the candle-lit altar banked with ferns, palms, white gladioli and mums. White satin ribbon decorated the church pews.

The nuptial music was presented by Miss Susan Smith at the organ and Wendell Roberts, brother of the groom, who sang "O Promise Me," and the "Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of brocade satin. The tight fitting bodice was buttoned up the back with small self-covered buttons. The scooped neckline was outlined with seed pearls, and the sleeves came to a point over her wrist. The finger tip veil of illusion was held in place with a band of sequins and seed pearls.

She carried a colonial bouquet of mums centered with an orchid with white satin streamers.

Miss Nancy Williams, bridesmaid, and sister of the bride, wore a satin brocade dress of blue with matching headpiece and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Miss Mignon Nelson and Miss Cheryl Roberts, bridesmaids, wore identical dresses of blue brocade satin and carried bouquets of blue and white carnations. Their headpieces were alike.

The flower girl, Amelia Roberts, sister of the groom, wore a pink dress and pink bandeau. She carried a small basket filled with rose petals.

Lowell Roberts, brother of the groom, served as best man. Joe Mark Roberts and Tommy Meyer were ushers.

Mrs. Williams, mother of the bride, wore a pink wool sheath, matching gloves and hat. Her corsage was an orchid.

Mrs. Roberts, mother of the groom, was attired in a two-piece orchid suit with matching accessories and wore an orchid corsage.

Uncle Ned From Dogtown

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

It's a great pity some of them Washington column writers don't cover our sessions at the country store. They'd get more horse sense in one Saturday night than they get from a whole session of the Congress.

Saturday night, for instance, Ed Doolittle unveiled a plan that would help get a heap of folks out of debt. He called to mind how them Federal income tax officials come out several year ago with colored stripes on envelopes to let the public know how much income tax a fellow was paying.

If he was reporting $10,000 a year, for instance, he got a envelope with a yellow stripe on it, so the folks in the post office, the mail man and all his neighbors would know about it. The politicians made the tax folks cut it out, but Ed allows as how the idea is sound as a 1910 dollar.

Take the merchants, for instance, said Ed. If a fellow is a couple months behind on his bill, let the merchant send him a envelope with two big red stripes on it. If he's behind three months, send him one with three red stripes. And when he gets a whole year behind, send him one printed red all over with his name in black.

Ed allowed as how people could tell just exactly how everybody else was getting along and that folks would start paying their bills a heap better.

Zeke Grubb allowed that the system was good, would cover about everything except a woman's age. Clem Webster said they ain't no system to cover this situation, that about the only way you can find out a woman's age for shore is to ask her mother-in-law.

Bug Hookum was lamenting that while Ed's system might help a little, they ain't no cure for debt in this country unless we do away with automobiles.

Bug claims we got millions of people in this country that ain't doing nothing but supporting their automobiles.

Out this way, for instance, Bug says most folks keep up the payments on their car and if they is anything left, they pay their taxes and get some groceries. Got any of them kind over in town, Mister Editor?

Well, I see by the papers where President Kennedy aims to get a team of folks and train 'em in the field of promoting peace and disarmament. Up to now, allows Kennedy, them that's been handling that department ain't had no more training in it than a hound dog has had pointing a covey of quail.

But the Prime Minister of England says he ain't going to follow suit, is going to stick to the one-man system. I reckon he figures that one man can handle about all the peace and disarmament we got at present.

Yours truly,
Uncle Ned.

Pine Seedlings Will Pay Off Big Profits

Can residents of Marshall County afford to pass up $32,000,000? This is a conservative estimate of the effect of an accelerated pine planting program on the county's economy, according to District Forester Stanford Tillman, of the Kentucky Division of Forestry.

As of now, a total of 20,000 acres of idle, eroded, or abandoned land is found in Marshall County. The foresters and agricultural workers all agree that this type of land is best suited to pine. Over the next 45 years, these 20,000 acres could add $32,000,000 to the county's economy.

According to Mr. Tillman, the landowners who plant the pine seedlings can expect a gross return of $15,000,000 during this period—on land not now productive. This includes returns from pulpwood, post, and pole thinning as well as sawtimber harvests.

The marketing and processing of forest products from these pine plantations would provide $17,000,000 income to woods workers, pulpwood dealers and sawmill operators in the county. Over 250 new jobs will be created in the county by these woods operations. Pine seedlings cost $8.00 per thousand—the recommended planting per acre. They may be purchased through the county agent's office, the Soil Conservation Service, the ASC office, County Ranger, Russel Wilson, or from District Forester, Stanford Tillman in Mayfield.

Solomon A. Williams of Calvert City, an instrument foreman at the Pennsalt Chemical Co. plant recently completed a two-weeks course in industrial instrumentation at the Leeds and Northrup Company training center in Philadelphia.

He left home and stayed away 11 months. Last week he returned. Our television set was broke and I gave him money to buy tubes for it. He used the money for transportation and disappeared again. I later found out he was living with his cousin's wife and her two children.

I couldn't let it go on. He had never done anything like this before. The children missed him so much I went after him and brought him back home. I told him that I was tired of working and it was time he took over. But I don't think he will change any after 18 years. What should I do? He says he loves me.

Dear Mrs. H.B.: When a man says he loves you but hasn't worked for 18 years to prove it, what he really loves is the soft life you make possible for him to lead. Before you attempt any do-it-yourself repairs on this flat tire, get professional guidance from the Family Service Agency. You need it and it's free for the asking!

Dear Amy: Do you think 14 and 15-year-olds should be left alone in the house when they are having a party? My husband says they should be chaperoned but I disagree. Which one do you think is right?

Dear Amy: I never used to believe that a woman could love two men at the same time, but I find I was wrong. I married the first time when I was seventeen to a man who after we were married a year started going out with other women. But I still loved him no matter what he did. After almost three years, he left me and our two children for another woman. After a while, I met and fell in love with my present husband and he is a wonderful man. But there is something missing and I find myself thinking of my first husband more and more.

Not long ago he called and told me that he still loved me and wanted me back and the very thought of being with him again makes me tremble. But I won't leave my present husband and go back to that kind of life again and besides I love him too.

Sometimes I feel like going away or it will drive me out of my mind. I need help badly, please!

Dear B.J.A.: The only thing lacking in your present marriage is your willingness to get your first husband out of your mind. He's like a disease and I recommend major surgery. Cut him out of your heart and mind and make your present marriage meaningful!

Dear Amy: I am writing this for a very dear old friend of mine who had been invited on Mother's day week-end to a friend in Philadelphia to stay a few days. Saturday evening they had been invited for a turkey dinner party and wanted to take her along but she refused as her husband had died a few months before. She was not in the mood for a party. So she left for home and forgot her dress. Now those friends refused to give the dress when other friends called for it. They want her to come and get it herself. But she has high blood pressure, is over 70 years of age and can stand no more excitement. Isn't there anything we can do about this?

Dear Mrs. H.M.: You can do your friend a service by getting in touch with these people and request they return her dress for the reasons you mention. If they still refuse, they are not to be considered her friends.

Please address all letters to: AMY ADAMS c/o THIS NEWSPAPER For a personal reply enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Cumberland Gap Gateway for Settlers

FRANKFORT — Kentucky is the home of the most historically famous mountain pass in America, the legendary Cumberland Gap, "Pioneer Gateway to the West."

It was through the wilderness country of the Gap that such pioneer heroes as Daniel Boone, Colonel Todd, Major Harlan and others hewed a path out of the wild Cumberland Mountain pass that became the very heartline of western settlement. By 1800, over 100,000 people were pushing into the newly opened territory each year.

Dr. Thomas Walker, a Virginia physician and part-time explorer, found the pass in 1750.

Pushing through the great Cumberland Gap, Walker made it possible for Daniel Boone and his legendary "axmen" to blaze the historical path now known as Wilderness Road through the towering Cumberland Mountains. Boone's explorations have made Wilderness Road a legendary and immortal term in Kentucky history.

Today, standing on the Look-out Point at Cumberland Gap National Historical Park, three states—Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee—may be seen sprawling below the mountain peak.

Of the 21,000 acres in the Park, 12,000 are in Kentucky, 7,000 are in Virginia, and 2,000 are in Tennessee.

The park couples spectacular scenery with the history and legends of the past to make the Cumberland Gap area a vacation delight. The laurel, redbud, dogwood and rhododendron present a panoramic color scheme unequalled in the early spring.

One of the most interesting attractions at the park is the new Visitor Center located just inside the park boundary, near Middleboro. The Center features a museum and theater. The Museum houses 23 exhibits that depict the history and glory of the Cumberland Gap region from the pioneer era up to 20th century progress. Of special interest is the diorama showing Daniel Boone and his famed axmen blazing a path through the wilderness.

The first 50 units of a 150-unit campsite are now under construction at the park. The first of these units should be ready for use during the summer of 1961.

Following the luncheon, the afternoon was devoted to the playing of bridge.

Attending from Calvert City were Mesdames G. H. Alford, Robert Arnold, Carl McKim, William Colburn, and Leroy Keeling.

Those attending from Sled Creek were Mesdames Basil Brooks, R. A. Wesson, James Pursley and Dory Johnson.

Guests from Paducah were Mrs. Pete Troutman and Mrs. Lester Wolfenden.

Lovely prizes were awarded the winners, Mesdames Wolfenden, Pursley and Wesson.

Fred Huffman of Chattanooga, Tenn., spent the weekend in Benton with his mother, Mrs. Violet Huffman.

FROM MY FRONT PORCH

Like the majority of television viewers, I'm getting adept at mentally "tuning out" the cruder, louder commercials that affront one's good taste and intelligence.

TV's bigwigs are concerned about this. A. J. so there's a growing trend toward low voiced "soft sell" salesmanship; actually, a sort of politeness, as becomes a guest in one's home.

The other evening I saw myself really wince at a commercial into my consciousness. It made good sense in more ways than one. The announcer said, "You expect more from Standard, and you get it." I projected the message to read "When you expect more from yourself, you'll get it."

Some happy day it could be that there will be commercials that we won't mind listening to at all. There are a few already which are intelligent in concept and delivery. Fortunate indeed, in their bid for business, are those concerns which possess a built-in tradition to background and emphasize their products.

Most fortunate of all, without doubt, are those whose authentic tradition of service has become a part of our American heritage, forever linked with the history of our land and the days of our hardy forebears. The Studebaker people, for example, can and do look back to more than a century of keeping our country on wheels projecting an image of the durable Comestogus which carried the western pioneers, on into the sturdy wagons and buggies for the conquered plains and yet on into their smart and sturdy automobiles of today. Such an image, truly, as transcends a million words.

Calvert Woman's Club Honors Their Husbands At Dinner

The Calvert City Woman's Club entertained their husbands at a dinner meeting Thursday evening, Jan. 26, in the private dining room at Ky. Dam Restaurant. Rev. George T. Hubbard gave the opening devotional.

Tom Brewer, commercial representative for the Bell Telephone Co., Paducah, was guest speaker. He explained the use of the solar battery with his talk entitled "Harnessing The Sun With Use of the Solar Battery."

The speaker's table was centered with a large milk glass bowl filled with fruit and green hurricane lamps burning at the guest tables.

Mrs. H. V. Duckett, president, announced that the next meeting will be held Feb. 16 and will be the annual style show. Taking part will be eight girls from the North Marshall High School home economics class who will model outfits they have made from Vogue patterns. Four Club members also will model.

On Feb. 8 at 10 a.m., the second work day for the Christmas Bazaar will be held in the home of Mrs. Frank Tomic. Bring your ideas and materials. Pot-luck luncheon will be served at noon.

Attending the dinner meeting were Dr. and Mrs. William Colburn, Dr. and Mrs. Carroll Traylor, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Badgett, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Wesson, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Drafen, Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Duckett, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vezzey, Mr. and Mrs. George Hubbard, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hampton, Mr. and Mrs. G. Hines, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Brewer of Paducah, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard McLaughlin, Mrs. Leroy Keeling, Mrs. G. H. Alford.

The Earl Twins, Ruth and Jane, have a busy life ahead. These redheaded Iowa twins danced into television fame on Fred Astaire's last show, "Astaire Time." They did a specialty dance with Fred involving a mirror without glass. Following "Astaire Time" they went into production for "The Sounds of America"—and you see them here at Disneyland, which will be used for a background for the show, rehearsing with Gene Nelson, left, and Jacques D'Amboise. "The Sounds of America" will be telecast over NBC-TV on February 17th, just three days before the repeat of "Astaire Time," which will appear in full color over NBC-TV on Monday, February 20th.

The Life Of A Senate Lady

By MRS. JOHN SHERMAN COOPER

Washington, D. C. January 23, 1961

"Ah, bitter chill it was!" I don't think I have ever been as cold as on Jan. 20, which, besides being the inauguration day of President Kennedy, was also the Eve of St. Agnes, whose traditional climate has been so well described in the familiar lines:

"The owl, for all his feathers, was a-cold;
The hare limp'd trembling through the frozen grass,
And silent was the flock in woolly fold;
Numb were the Beadsman's finger while he told His rosary . . ."

The blizzard started on Thursday afternoon and completely disrupted Washington, D. C. My husband left the Senate at 5:30 to pick me up as we were going to a reception and then on to the Kentucky Society Inaugural Dinner Dance. The traffic was so snarled that he didn't arrive home until 10:30.

Washington goes absolutely to pieces in a snowstorm. The City Fathers' only defense against the weather is to send out announcements on the radio that all government workers should start home at once and that schools will be closed. They have hardly any snow equipment at all and what they have they don't know how to use, so perodically we go through this kind of thing much to the astonishment of outsiders such as the thousands of people from all over the country who had come to attend this inauguration.

Thank goodness, it was bright and sunny Friday even though it was zero weather. We went up to the Capitol for the swearing in ceremony, which was conducted with great dignity as I am sure you all saw on television. We then went down in front of the White House to see the parade and waited with chattering teeth until the Kentucky contingent had passed, then we bolted for home telling every friend that we met on the way to come back to the house for a cup of tea by the fire.

We were happy that so many people did turn up, including Governor Combs, General Lloyd, the new Secretary of the Army, Elvis Stahr and his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. John Young Brown from Kentucky.

Now I'll tell you a secret because this letter won't be published until after Jan. 28. By that time, the President and Mrs. Kennedy either will or will not have had dinner with us and it will be a secret no longer. When the President and his wife accept a dinner it is with the proviso that they come unless some-

Mrs. David Provine Is Complimented At Lovely Shower

Mrs. Darrell Cope entertained at her home in Parkview Heights Thursday night, Jan. 26, to honor a recent bride, Mrs. David Provine, with a miscellaneous shower.

Other hostesses for the occasion were Mesdames Pete Gunn, Rubie Cope, J. M. Fields, Frank Dunn, Ray Moffield, and Junior Morris.

The white linen covered table was centered with a tiered brass container of bronze mums, surrounded by little candles. The house was decorated throughout with a profusion of bronze, pink, white and yellow chrysanthemums.

Funch and cookies were served by the hostesses to a large number of guests. Mrs. Gunn poured and Mrs. Dunn kept the register. Other friends sent gifts.

JOHN UNITAS TO ATTEND MURRAY DINNER FEB. 16

John Unitas, football great with the world champion Baltimore Colts, will be the speaker on Feb. 16 at a dinner sponsored by the Murray Backboard Club.

The dinner will be held at the Murray State College Student Union Building at 6:30 p. m. Tickets for the event are on sale at Graham & Jackson with Cliff Cochran in charge of the ticket sales.
