Where, Oh Where is 51 By-pass?

An editorial on Page Two of this issue points out the confusing and frustrating highway traffic markings into Fulton from Highway 45-E. While thousands of dollars have been spent on the Highway 51 by-pass to facilitate traffic around the city, not one sign is posted here to show the incoming 45-E motorist how and where he can get on the by-pass. Besieged by motorists asking directions to the by-pass service station operator Clyde Fields has made his own sign showing the direction. (See Editorial)

Hickman Needs Urgent Labor Survey Data

A survey of the amount of labor available in this area is being conducted by the Hickman Chamber of Commerce in a drive to locate an industrial prospect in Hickman. Every person who might be interested in working in the factory is being urged to participate to help acquire it.

The prospect has not made a definite commitment to locate in Hickman if adequate labor is shown to be available, but Chamber of Commerce officials are convinced that the results will weigh heavily in the company's decision.

The Chamber has been negotiating with the firm's representative, the National Factory Locating Service, since the latter part of June. The locating service has appeared to be quite impressed with Hickman's chances of getting the industry, provided adequate labor can be shown to be available.

South Fulton Council Meets In Harmony; Tempers Cooled By Coming Election

Milton Counce Says He'll Run; Ruddle, Reeks, Pannel Might

By Jo Westpheling

The South Fulton City Council met in adjourned session Tuesday night in a meeting that was so quiet and orderly that the creaking sounds from Mayor Milton Counce's swivel chair created a disturbing noise. The heretofore explosive issue of Councilman John Bland's proposal to increase the water rates was vetoed by Mayor Counce and not a dissenting word was heard from any of the usually vindictive councilmen.

The matter of purchasing a multi-purpose book-keeping machine was discussed by John Bland with the same sagacity that a corporation executive employs when trying to declare a dividend to the stockholders. Councilman W. W. Claiborne spoke so softly when suggesting what might have been controversial action, that even the press corps had difficulty hearing him. On several occasions the once-vehement councilmen found themselves nodding in such enthusiastic agreement with Mayor Counce that the spectators found themselves shaking their heads sideways in utter amazement.

A cool breeze calmed the air outside, but it was the wind of a coming election that permeated the air inside with such a heavy precipitation of harmony among the South Fulton Council that it almost stifled the imagination of the usually excitement-hungry citizens who attend the Council sessions.

It is no idle observation to report that everybody sitting around the Council table Tuesday night is contemplating seeking one of the three Commissioners posts to be filled on September 22.

Mayor Milton Counce made it known that he will run for office. He said he will run independently, i. e., without a slate. He said however, that he will have his preference of candidates when and if some of them make known their intentions to seek office. The News could get no definite commitment from Rex Ruddle as to his political future, although Ruddle indicated he might be thinking about it. John Reeks, Otis Pannel, Bob Lowery, Bill Jetton, Sonny Puckett, Bobby Mathews and others have been mentioned as possible candidates who would be acceptable to running mates for Counce.

Except for Bland's, Claiborne's and B. B. Jones' quiet acquiescence Tuesday to normally trouble-making actions, there were no obvious signs that they would be candidates. More than once the statement was made after the meeting that "if Bland and his buddies had behaved all along like they did tonight, we wouldn't be having to change to the City Manager."

For the record, the following action was taken:

1.) Mayor Counce vetoed the flat-rate water billing proposal passed at a previous meeting by the Bland faction of the council. Further consideration of the matter was put off until the regular meeting September 7.

2.) The Council considered recommendations from the city auditor on the purchase of a multiple-total billing machine and decided to leave the decision to the new city government. It did vote to take bids from three manufacturing firms, however.

3.) John Reeks reminded the council of his long-standing re-

September 22 Slated For Election Of South Fulton City Commission

Tuesday, September 22, has been set by the Obion County Election Commission as the date for the selection of the three city commissioners who will head the government of South Fulton under the city manager system adopted last week.

The two selected officials who receive the most votes will serve for four years with the other commissioner serving a two-year term. Elections for one or two commissioners then will follow each two years.

Under Tennessee law, the election could not have been scheduled less than 30 or more than 50 days after approval of the new form of government August 4. The date set is the 49th day.

The law provides that the new board of commissioners shall take office on Saturday, October 3, the sixtieth day after adoption of the new system. The board will replace the present mayor and city council which have been in office since January 1.

Nancy Adams Now In Engagements; Has New Record

Fulton's Nancy Adams has had a new record released by RCA and is making several personal appearances.

The numbers on the record are "Lipstick Paint a Smile on Me," a teen-age ballad, and "I want to Hear It From You." They were released last week.

This week Nancy is appearing at the RCA pavillion at the World's Fair in New York and is promoting her new record. She is also doing radio commercials for Newport cigarettes this week.

Plans are being made for Nancy to appear with Al Hirt in a concert in New Orleans soon and for the two of them to do a record album together.

Hey Kids, Get An Adult, See "Stars" Drama Free

With school days not far away, a "last fling" of enjoyment to see "Stars In My Crown" free is being made available to all school children in the area under 14 years of age. The drama association that produces Kermit Hunter's entertaining drama of West Kentucky announced today that any student under 14 years of age, when accompanied by an adult paying regular admission, may see "Stars In My Crown" without paying on any Sunday or Wednesday night through August 23.

Free admission for the school children may be obtained when paid adult tickets are purchased or presented at the amphitheatre box office.

The "last fling" special goes into effect this Sunday, August 9. It will continue each Wednesday and Sunday until August 23.

"With camps, vacations and summer schools occupying the attention of children under 14 so far this season, we think that to have these young people as our guests will be a real treat for them," Larry Berry, theatre manager, said today. "Besides, 'Stars In My Crown' is so full of history, presented in an entertaining manner, that it will be of great educational value to have them see the show," Mr. Berry added.

"Stars" Official In Appeal For Local Support

Dear Editor:

"Stars In My Crown," the entertaining drama that depicts the colorful history of West Kentucky, has about two more weeks to run. In viewing our attendance records, those of us who have watched the slim crowds on many nights are saddened to realize that we are not for added support of tourists in our area, the show would have closed weeks ago.

In spite of the various special events we have planned to boost local and area attendance at the outdoor drama, the response has been more than disheartening.

Until now, we have not had the heart to tell the hard-working cast that the reason for the poor attendance is because many people in this area have not taken the opportunity to view what discriminating critics have called "one of the best outdoor dramas in America." Dudley Saunders, the drama critic of the Louisville Times, said that "Stars In My Crown" (Continued on page four)

Baby Blankets To Ecuador - - -

With Greetings From Banana Festival

As is their custom to help in every worthwhile civic undertaking, employees of the Henry I. Siegel plant in Fulton, Ky. dropped what they were doing last Saturday to wrap many bundles of baby blankets for shipment to Rimmer Memorial Hospital in Quito, Ecuador as one of the Banana Festival's person-to-person programs of good neighborliness. In the photo at left, Ralph Work neatly addresses the bundles, Harold Taylor wraps them in heavy brown paper, and James Perry takes time out from his handling process to pose for the News photographer. Mrs. Hendon Wright, the "mother" of the Brigade for Baby Blankets idea smiles happily because of the hundreds of blankets collected everywhere to send to the hospital. In the photo at right, Ralph Work (right) poses pensively with his friend James Perry thinking how much comfort the blankets will bring to the babies in Quito. The Associated Press carried a story of the blankets on its world wire Wednesday. It was received by teletype at Radio Station WFUL and on thousands of other teletypes all over the world.

The blankets left this morning (Thursday) for New Orleans. Along the motor route the caravan will be received by newspapers, radio stations and TV stations from Memphis to New Orleans.

In New Orleans on Friday afternoon the Mayor of New Orleans, The Ecuadoran Consul, Ralph Lally, president of the National Banana Association, and newspaper, TV and radio representatives will watch the blankets being loaded on a banana boat to Quito. Mrs. Hendon Wright was accompanied to New Orleans, with the blankets, by Mrs. Paul Westpheling and Mary Jo and R. Paul Westpheling, III.

Guaranteed-Seat Al Hirt Tickets Are Selling Fast

Officials have expressed amazement at the way guaranteed-seat advance tickets have been selling for famed New Orleans jazz musician Al Hirt's special performance at the second International Banana Festival on October 3.

Only 1600 tickets have been put on sale for this highlight of the annual festival. Plans are to hold the show outdoors, but if bad weather forces the show inside, only the holders of these guaranteed-seat advance tickets can be accommodated. They are available through the Chamber of Commerce for $3.00 each.

Before his appearance at the second International Banana Festival in Fulton and South Fulton, Hirt will appear on the Andy Williams television show.

On November 26 he is to be featured with Dean Martin on a Thanksgiving TV special, and in February will star on the Red Skelton Show. He is also being considered for acting roles in a motion picture and a television series of his own.

Three Naval Units To Be In Festival

Large-scale participation in the Banana Festival of units from Memphis Naval Air station has been announced by the Festival Association.

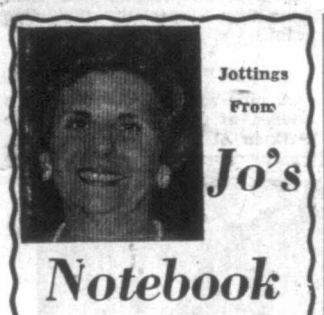

A navy band from the air station will perform in Latin American Day activities on Friday, October 2, and on the following day will give a concert and march in the parade.

A Navy drill team, called the "Flying Rifles," and a newly-organized WAVE drill team will also march in the parade.

Kiddie Katz Second In Talent Contest

South Fulton's Kiddie Katz Trio, composed of Bonita Burrow, Garmen Gardner, and Marilyn McKendree, placed second in the "Share the Fun" contest at the Tennessee state 4-H Roundup at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville Friday. Teresa Pennington accompanied them on the piano.

The group also entertained at another event and were special guests at the farewell dance. They have won awards in several other talent events in the state in recent months.

Jottings From Jo's

Notebook

I want you to know that I deeply appreciate the kind things so many of you have said while expressing regret at my resignation from the Banana Festival Board. Again in my life I am reminded of the remark made by my first managing editor, some 35 years ago. The late Dorthea Campbell of Clarksdale, Miss. said to me, when one of our star reporters left the paper and doom and sadness filled the city room: "Jo, just remember, there is no job in the world that cannot be filled by another person, and oftentimes with great improvement."

In this light too, I am reminded of all the historic statements that have been made about the usefulness of vice-presidents in any kind of organization or government. I can't remember right now who said it, or whether I have the quote right, but it goes something like: A man had two sons, one of them joined the Foreign Legion and the other became Vice-president of the United States; neither was ever heard from again."

Then there's the story that describes the duties of a vice-president—a vice president is the guy whose only duty is to check the health and safety of the President.

Seriously though, it's like the TV commercial says: "Your Banana Festival is in good hands." Nathan Wade is a tireless worker. He has devoted as much, or more time to the Banana Festival as he has to his own business. Either in self-defense, and because she is a former newspaper reporter, Pat Wade is going to assume an important part in the publicity and promotion of the Festival. Wayne Anderson will also assist in this phase of the program. Later, George Barnes, a public relations specialist from the National Banana Festival will come and stay until Festival time to coordinate all phases of the publicity program. Mary Nette Wright will handle radio and TV.

Other assignments that were made to me have been or will be re-assigned to other more capable people than I. So you see, I certainly did not resign without the full knowledge that the Festival (Continued on page four)

Candidate Discussion Is Set For Tonight

A group of the citizens who campaigned for the adoption of the new city manager form of government for South Fulton will hold a public meeting at 7 tonight at the city hall.

The purpose of the session is to allow all interested citizens of South Fulton to express their opinions on who they would like to see run for the three seats on the board of commissioners which will replace the present mayor and council after its election September 22.

The group which worked for the adoption of the new form of government will not propose a slate for the commissioner race, according to Mayor Milton Counce.

Parking Now Legal On Downtown Bridge

A city workman painted out the no-parking zone on the Commercial Avenue bridge Tuesday and thus opened it for parking, as businessmen on the street have long advocated.

City Manager Rollin Shaw and Mayor Gilbert DeMyer decided that there was no reason to deny parking on the wide new bridge, especially when it is allowed on the swayed-backed old bridge on Second Street.

The change will provide four to five much-needed new parking places only a half block from Lake Street.

Highway Routings Around Fulton Tourists' Nightmare; Service Stations Direct Traffic

Last week we wrote Highway Commissioner Henry Ward pointing out the difficulty (because of the lack of signs) in getting on to the Kentucky Turnpike from Frankfort, via Louisville.

In Tuesday's Louisville Courier-Journal Joe Creason commented on the matter indicating that we were not alone in our confusion concerning travel on the Kentucky Turnpike and the Western Kentucky Parkway, as well. Creason quoted Will Tom Wathen of Morganfield on the subject. Said Wathen:

"If you think it is a problem coming from Louisville, you should try to go from Western Kentucky on the Parkway to the Caneyville exit, which doesn't exist. The result is that you drive an extra 15 miles to Leitchfield and back to Kentucky 105 before you get on the road to the dam."

Knowing the great attention that Commissioner Ward gives to constructive criticism we think it apropos to report here the unnecessary, almost ridiculous confusion a motorist encounters trying to get on to the highway 51 by-pass when approaching Fulton from Highway 45-E. The situation is so bad that Clyde Fields, at the Ashland Service Station, at the corner of Commercial and Main, has had to erect his own sign to direct tourists to the Highway 51 by-pass.

Mr. Fields told the News that getting through Fulton has always been a tourist's nightmare, but since the recent re-shuffling of highway signs in the twin-city area, the situation is down-right frustrating. The genial and accommodating service station operator showed us a map Tuesday that he made himself, to assist tourists that stream into his station asking the various highway routes into and out of the city.

Yet, most of the time Clyde Fields' generous assistance is to no avail. After a motorist is directed across the railroad on 45-E to the by-pass, what with the traffic pattern on Lake Street at Weaks' corner, the tourist invariably turns the wrong way (left) and stops at the next nearest service station for further directions. That service station is Treas and Meness, where Buck Meness says that on normal days about 50 motorists ask, mostly for directions to Memphis and Kyro (Cairo). On busy days, Mr. Meness says that as many as 150 motorists stop, with road map in hand asking, irately, "how in the h... do you get out of this town?"

Meness told us that even after he directs them, they wend their way to the by-pass, motor on to the cloverleaf near the Scates Tire Service, get confused again, circle the business district and find themselves back at Treas and Meness. Mr. Meness said that many, many times motorists offer him money to be escorted out of town, to their destination, and relief from the Fulton traffic mess.

But that's not all, even after they leave Treas and Meness, looking for a direct route to Memphis or the by-pass they invariably take the wrong road and end up on West State Line, toward our house. When they get that far the motorist of course realizes that he is not on the highway he is looking for and turns around in our drive-way and starts all over again. Recently when we were having some work done on the house one of the workmen said: "If you were to charge $1.00 for all the cars that turn around in your drive-way, you'd soon have your home paid for."

It is not an uncommon sight to see motorists, with highway map in hand, parked on the busy by-pass trying to figure out the outlandish highway pattern around the city.

The trouble stems, we have learned, from the fact that for reasons known only to some traffic engineer, the proper highway markers designating the by-pass and other routes were removed from the places where they might have lessened the confusion. A highway 51 by-pass marker is on Lake Street, but the motorist is already lost before he sees it.

We realize of course, that every merchant in the twin cities is anxious indeed to have the heavy flow of tourist traffic pass right by his door, for obvious reasons. We're for that! But there appears to be little hope that a motorist, with shopping in mind will stop after his patience has been so exhausted trying to figure out where he's going from where he's headed.

On the front page today we are publishing some photographs taken to point out the confusion that exists in the highway markers in our area. While we feel that Commissioner Ward is often besieged by people trying to route the traffic to the advantage of those seeking the change, we know too, that Henry Ward is for getting people in and out of Kentucky in the happiest frame of mind so that they'll come back and spend those tourist dollars with us.

And Henry Ward can do just that if will take a good hard look at the highway routings in Fulton, Kentucky. Better still, we would like to suggest that Commissioner Ward send some observers to Fulton to sit at both service stations for a long enough time to determine if the situation we point out here is as bad as we picture it.

If the highway department isn't convinced that the routings are bad, what the heck, we'll just go out and put up a highway information booth, and charge a reasonable sum to escort tourists out of the city so they can at least kiss the town goodbye with their own money.

Setting Up 'Gripe Session s' For Citizens Would Bring About A Rapport Between Officials, People

When Charles Farnsley was Mayor of Louisville, he instituted what he called a weekly "beef session," when citizens could come before the city officials and gripe to their hearts content. Several times since we have lived here, candidates have promised that they would arrange similar sessions for the same reasons.

Somehow or another the session never seem to materialize. Instead, surprise delegations have appeared before the councils of both Fulton and South Fulton, leaving the city fathers unprepared as to the action to take to solve the gripes.

Recently, Russellville, Kentucky issued an invitation to citizens to attend a special meeting one night a month for the purpose of griping or airing complaints about the manner in which the officials were conducting city business.

Within past months we have seen official meetings of our separate cities consumed with controversy, prohibiting the orderly transition of vital business before the elected officials. Yet, we are heartily in favor of citizens making known their objections to some official acts; these expressions are good both for the officials and for the citizens. Besides, we think that a session devoted exclusively to griping would be such fun to cover.

How about it Mayor Gilbert DeMyer and Mayor Counce? Why not set up "beef sessions," or "gripe sessions," or whatever you want to call them? In so doing, the regular official meetings can be devoted to routine business matters ... and settling gripes, too!

100 Years Ago This Week

An historical review of the Civil War day by day in Kentucky, as reviewed by the Kentucky Civil War Commission
By JOE JORDAN

One hundred years ago this week, a Confederate States Army force under Col. Adam R. Johnson was in possession of considerable territory in Western Kentucky, far behind Union Army lines. The Rebels were making themselves at home, taking it easy, and acting with an assurance that bordered on audacity.

Johnson issued a proclamation and a series of general orders, all headed "Headquarters Confederate States Forces, Union County, Ky." He announced that the Confederate States War Department had appointed him commander of the "District of Southern Kentucky," and ordered all Confederate soldiers in his district who had taken oath of amnesty offered by Federal authorities to report to him without delay, "the Confederate States government having decided such oath is not binding." It was thought his mission was to collect remnants of Morgan's com-her home. The affair was planned in honor of Mrs. Jack Atkinson of Water Valley, Miss., who is here visiting her sister, Mrs. Norman Kopp. Supper was served to: Mrs. Atkinson, Mrs. Kopp, Mrs. Robert Bard, Mrs. Vernon Owen, Mrs. Louis Weeks, Mrs. Homer Wilson, Mrs. A. B. Dunning of Water Valley, Mrs. Bill Browning, Mrs. Lawrence Holland, Mrs. Ernest Fall, Jr., Miss Mary Swann Bushart, Mrs. Frank Beadles, Mrs. Ward Bushart, Mrs. Thomas Callahan, Mrs. Byron Blagg, Mrs. Hendon Wright, Mrs. Wilburn Holloway, Mrs. Lynn Askew, Mrs. Charles Binford, Mrs. Harry Bushart, Mrs. Harvey Maddox, Miss Mary Lee Beadles and Miss Mary Eleanor Blackston.

F. A. Homra and family on Norman Street have as their guest Miss Lillian Homra of Norman, Okla., who has just recently received her bachelor of arts degree from the University of Oklahoma.

The marriage of Lula Bell Moore to John Lane of Austin, Texas, has been announced by her mother, Mrs. Julie Moore, of 502 Tennessee Street. The wedding took place in Austin on July 31. They will make their home in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Glaser entertained on August 16 with a farewell breakfast at their home in Hickman, honoring her brother, Cecil E. Wolbertson, who left Thursday for induction in the U. S. Navy at Louisville. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Wolbertson and little daughter, Judith, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Satterfield and children, Mrs. Cleveland Bard, Mr. and Mrs. Glaser.

Mr. and Mrs. Carol Looney, Cedar Street, entertained with a lawn supper August 16, honoring their son, Sgt. Neal B. Looney, and their grandson, George (Buddy) Grugett. They were also entertained at a dinner party on August 17, when hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Looney, Eddings Street.

Mrs. T. J. Wilds of Fulton announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Mary Catherine Harris, to Pfc. Paul M. Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bennett.

the execution of two Confederate soldiers at Henderson and said "if this precedent was followed up, Confederate soldiers could be held responsible for all murders committed on the continent."

Burbridge refused to receive the communication, declaring that Johnson must be either a Confederate soldier or a guerrilla, and he had "failed to prove that he is the former." Johnson had been one of Morgan's brigade commanders on the Indiana-Ohio Raid; Burbridge could scarcely have failed to know that he was a duly commissioned Confederate officer. Maj. Taylor was escorted to Memphis and passed through the lines to Confederate territory.

The Evansville Journal reported that Johnson had at his Morganfield headquarters 700 to 800 men "finely armed and equipped and well mounted." In Crittenden County, it said, there was a company of 125 "under command of one Clements," that was expected to join up with Johnson. In the fourth year of a bloody war, the excited Evansville editor asked what must have been a strictly rhetorical question, "Now does any man suppose that these Rebel forces are concentrated there for a peaceful purpose?"

Thoughts while driving to work: At age 50, the day's routine is sort of like a 4-speed record player. From waking 'til noon, one moves at the high-speed 78 rpm; then slows down to 45 rpm 'til about mid-afternoon; then slows again to 33 1-3 'til supper. Sometimes after a big supper I even slow down to 16 rpm, if I've tried to keep that early-afternoon speed same as the morning.

And if I keep trying to play the wrong speed at the wrong time of day, I regret it every time. The music seldom makes sense.

The kids, on the other hand, never seem to run less than 78 rpm all day and all night long.

I suppose in a few years that 78 rpm morning speed won't even manage to last till noon, and that 16 rpm slow speed will creep in even before supper.

Anyway, I'm glad I didn't put in a big flower garden this year, after all. Not did I escape all that weeding, but also I have no big water bill. This has been a terribly dry summer around here; out in the country the burley tobacco crop has already been cut on many farms, and that, I am told, is one of the earliest cuttings on record. But, as Clyde Perry said, it is either "cut it or let it burn up."

On the ball: When Highway Commissioner Henry Ward picked up The News last weekend and read our story about the "unofficial" roadside park on US 45 three miles north of Fulton, he immediately fired off a memo to District Engineer Jack Gray in Paducah asking Jack to make an investigation of the spot and endeavor to place a litter barrel and picnic table there. He sent me a copy of the memo.

The unordered merchandise nuisance, whether because of or despite the key-punch trend in handling accounts, now seems coming from the "big time"—large book, record and magazine firms—about as frequently as it long has come from necktie shippers and Christmas card sellers.

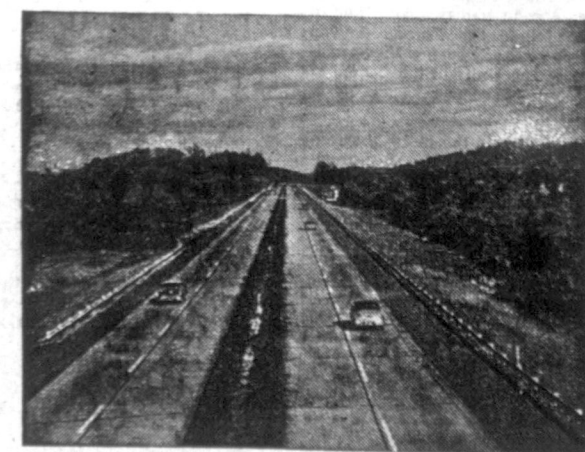

A Louisville attorney has received three different billings from such agencies (all with his first name misspelled) though he'd given no purchase orders. Complications over "free examinations," "trial memberships" and "hone this month"-type return cards are numerous. The task of sending back such articles or fighting with some "billing machine" is irritating.

Under postal rules you're not obliged to return or pay for unordered merchandise. The sender must call for it in a reasonable time. But large operators seem unmoved by the "bad image" they are creating. To protect yourself, pay close attention to your mail from them—especially that fine print.

About People and Things

Long time no visit with you in this corner. It's amazing how time gets away from us. The summer is almost over, school starts next week and yet we're still trying to find a time when all four of us can get in a car together and take that family vacation. It looks like it's a lost cause for this year. In reviewing the situation we find that with the children the age that they are, and the head of the household and his spouse (this writer) so involved in so many activities that getting way together is almost an impossibility.

But for all practical purposes it has been something of a fun summer. R. Paul has just returned from a ten-day trip all over the Mid-west travelling with his uncle Tom. He saw many of the sights in Chicago, Detroit, Minneapolis, Grand Rapids, Kansas City and no telling where else. He saw some major league baseball games and got a taste of what a travelling salesman enjoys, (or endures.)

Mary Jo has been to Mississippi, St. Joseph, Missouri (with her daddy,) and a variety of other side trips. As for this reporter... the distances have not been far away, but they have been rather regular. About two weeks ago we visited in Frankfort on a combination business and pleasure trip. We motored over to Lexington to spend the night with Bert and Mabel Combs and after all the years of our trying, Mabel came to Fulton to spend the week-end with us. Bert was to fly in for a golf game or two, but his schedule did not permit his battling that little ball around on our beautiful golf course. He promises that he will take the opportunity in the not too distant future.

All of you would have been delighted had you heard the very complimentary remarks that the former first lady of Kentucky made about our twin cities. Although we wanted Mabel to meet many of you, we deferred to her wishes to just stay around the house and rest... and that she did. We gave her a tour of the city and she couldn't believe that we had so many things to boast about. She has been told often enough about Fulton and South Fulton, but "seeing is believing," she said.

It goes without saying that Mabel Combs is mighty happy to be referred to simply as Mrs. Bert Combs. "The exciting life in the Governor's Residence at Frankfort was interesting," she told us. "But it's also a lot of fun visiting around with friends without having to rush back for some official event," she told us. And it was even more fun for us to have her, knowing that we didn't have to rush back too!

We've had a birthday since last we scattered patten among you. Don't for one minute think we'll reveal the milestone that we passed, but we will tell you that we observed the event in Frankfort where Cattie Lou Miller had a little birthday party for us. The cake had just one candle on it... so that's that! Cattie Lou was nice enough to have some of our favorite people there to celebrate the "memorable occasion."... Ellis Merrifield, Kathryn Stayton and Mabel and Tommy Combs.

Getting birthday greetings is a very pleasant feeling when people you know send them along, but when you get a greeting from unseen friends, it's even more delightful. We do so much appreciate the card that came from Mr. and Mrs. Clarence French of Wingo, whom we imagine are radio friends of ours.

In the process of going hither and yon we've not been very nice to one of our favorite people, Mary Ann Bennett. Mary Ann is going to be married to Robert Hunter Lindsey at four thirty this Saturday afternoon and we've scarcely mentioned the fact that she has been the inspiration for many lovely pre-nuptial parties. Maybe we'll be restored to Mary Ann's good graces if we publish all of her parties in one article, so that when she and her husband, who is a Captain in the United States Army, find some time they can just recapture the excitement of a bride-elect's life by reading just one article instead of a lot of them. (Ed's Note: This is an alibi we conjured to save face for ourselves... we should have reported them as they happened.)

But here are the parties and the people who gave them:

July 6—Breakfast at Park Terrace - Mrs. Aaron Butts and daughter, Ruth Louise Butts.

July 16—Coffee - Home of Mrs. Milton Calliham. Mrs. Calliham, Mrs. Robert Hailey, Mrs. H. L. Bushart, Nancy Bushart.

July 22—Breakfast at The Derby - Mrs. Ward Johnson, Mrs. Paul Boyd, Mrs. M. W. Haws, Mrs. Glenn Dunn, Mrs. Frank Beadles, Mrs. Bob Benford.

July 23—Luncheon—Home of Mrs. Maxwell McDade—Mrs. McDade and her niece, Miss Eleanor Conley from Jackson.

July 25—Luncheon - Home of Mrs. Gilbert DeMyer—Mrs. DeMyer, Martha and Mary.

August 1—Coffee—home of Mrs. Charles Bowers—Mrs. Bowers, Ann Bowers, Mrs. Wilburn Holloway, Lynn Holloway.

August 4—Coffee—Home of Mrs. Joe Bennett—Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. Arch Huddleston.

August 6—Morning bridge—Home of Mrs. Charles Gregory—Mrs. Gregory and Mrs. Charles Binford.

A very dear and old friend of ours, Elizabeth King Davis, wrote us a letter this week taking note of our birthday and chiding us a little for not getting any mail from us. We know that people do love to get first class mail often, but actually this gold-fish bowl that we live in, makes our private life a matter of public record. The only thing we've done Elizabeth, that has not been in the paper is wage a battle with Bermuda grass on our lawn.

But we did so enjoy your letter Elizabeth and we are going to publish it so all your friends can know what you've been up to!

Here's the letter:

Dear Jo:—

When I saw your name in July's birthday column I fully intended writing you a birthday letter on time—well, I'm not on time but I hope my best wishes are still acceptable.

Certainly thought the picture of you in the News wearing your most becoming and expensive dress was very attractive. There must be something to that saying "The best times are played on old fiddles" and "quality improves with age." Why don't you let me in on your recipe for success? Could it be hard work, enthusiasm, and diligence with a little sparkle of humor?

Suppose Paul has fully recovered from his bout in the hospital if he is able to be up at the crack of dawn riding his tractor to Pea Ridge? Am looking forward to your story on your part in the country life. Wish Paul took time to write more often.

The objections to the noise made by the trains there these days rather amused me. You know I practically grew up on the railroad track in Pearl Village from the time I was 5 years old and when railroading was one of the main enterprises in Fulton. Those locomotives really put out smoke, cinders and noise. I didn't especially care for their dirt, but evenings I could sleep right through all their chugging and noise.

According to reports, the Banana Festival there is going to be much better this year. Is the theme song "Yes, We Have No Bananas?" and are you having a community sing in which all can participate?

I have a new boss since Dr. Blossom retired due to multiple sclerosis. Dr. Denton is 35 and came to us from St. Joseph, Missouri (the Methodist Hospital there). He is a native of Colorado and worked in Missouri 2 years as Pathologist before accepting work here with us. I am most grateful for my job and a measure of health.

My daughter and I are planning to be together over Labor Day week end and go to San Diego to attend Shakespeare's "Measure for Measure" at the Old Globe Theatre there. I got to see Ethel Waters in person in "A Member of The Wedding" at the Lobero Theatre in Santa Barbara recently. It is hard for me to realize that Mary Jo is in high school and that R. Paul will be a senior soon.

I read the paperback of your friend's book "Wings of Fear" by Hodding Carter. Enjoyed the setting of the story and the part of the newspaper in it, but I don't relish a steady diet of violence.

My heart warmed when I noticed you made mention in your column of Dr. Robert H. Felix, Director of the National Institute of Mental Health. I worked for him when I was employed at the U. S. Public Health Service Hospital, Lexington, Kentucky 1938-1940, at which time he was acting as Executive Officer. He honored me with a will go on and on . . . and on.

The Banana Festival is a community effort of the highest order. The efforts of the hardest working laborer are just as important as the high level policy decisions made by top ranking officials. Luckily, the Festival is so organized and so departmentalized, that no matter who leaves, the program will move along with nary a hitch.

From now until "Stars In My Crown" closes on August 30 I shall devote every waking moment to promoting attendance at the show. And while doing that, it is my responsibility to keep a staff of four people busy at the Kennedy Library Foundation's headquarters in Frankfort. Following the close of "Stars In My Crown," I must direct the final push to raising Kentucky's $150,000.00 quota for the Kennedy Library. These two endeavors so vitally need my immediate assistance that I had to forego the pleasure of going to the National Democratic Convention in Atlantic City and to attend the Miss America Beauty pageant in early September.

Over and above all these extracurricular activities there's the matter of having two teen-agers start school. And as Paul has come to realize, that while I'm resting, I sort of act as the alleged editor of this newspaper.

The decision to resign was not made on the spur of the moment. I figured, and Paul and the children helped me calculate, that if I want to be around for next year's Festival and the one after that, and the one after that, ad infinitum, I'd better quit while I'm ahead. But in spite of all these things, if I had not known that my leaving the Festival would not impair its success, I'd be right where they needed me at all times! Maybe next year the situation will be different.

Anybody from the twin cities is identified with the Banana Festival wherever they go. You can rest assured that whatever paths I travel I'll always be doing something or trying to help tell the world about our Banana Festival.

SCATTERED PATTERN—

personal letter since I have been out here in California and, of course, I treasure it very much.

Best wishes to all and thanks again for the many nice things you did for me when I was in Fulton.

May you have many more happy birthdays.

Lots of love,
Elizabeth King Davis

T. C. Taylor, our linotype operator is the kind of a guy you never meets a stranger. He's a real friendly human being and the minute you meet him you'll know what we mean. But something happened to T. C. last week that sort of puzzles us, because we didn't know that people could tell what kind of a nice fellow he is, without ever seeing him.

The incident that brings about these compliments about T. C. happened when he borrowed a car from a local garage to make a trip to Dublin to visit with his father-in-law, Perry Richards. While en route to Dublin, on the Fancy Farm Road, the car started acting up and T. C. decided to turn around and head back to Mayfield. When he did, the car just stopped plum cold and wouldn't run another inch.

Well, T. C. did the normal thing in such instances. He started to get out of the car to see what was wrong and a line of cars had lined up behind him to offer help. T. C. said that he couldn't even wave those people on, every one of them stopped to help. One fellow, headed towards Fancy Farm in a pick-up truck with his wife and a flock of kids, passed by T. C.'s stalled car, slowed up a little and turned around to offer his help.

T. C. told his wife that he was almost afraid of all that hospitality, but one thing is for sure he was mighty grateful. And since our "back shop" is one of the friendliest places in the world, T. C. was relating the story to our floor man Burnis Killebrew. Whereupon Burnis quipped: "Maybe they thought you were one of those tourists trying to find his way out of Fulton."

HEY KIDS—

"Stars In My Crown" is shown nightly except Monday at Kenlake Amphitheatre. Starring Billy Edd Wheeler, famous song-writer and folk singer, the play also has such stars as James Maddox as the typical West Kentucky farmer, playing the role of Mr. Beaumont.

Children will especially enjoy the outdoor drama, Mr. Hurt said, because there are so many talented young people in the cast.

This offer does not apply to season ticket holders or press passes.

STARS OFFICIAL—

Crown" takes second place only to the highly acclaimed "Book of Job" that, you know, has appeared before audience all over the world. We have a justifiable right to be proud of "Stars In My Crown" because it is a story of the history of our area and those great individuals who have brought fame to our region.

Within the next two weeks the tourist season will reach its peak. As a result of our promotional activities directed to the tourist trade, we know that we will get our fair share of attendance from them. If only we could get the same amount of support from the citizens in our area, we could possibly end up the season without a deficit but, unless we get this area support, it appears that a handful of people will have to bear the burden for maintaining what experts have called a quarter of a million dollar industry for West Kentucky, in just two months.

Your newspaper has been extremely cooperative in publicizing the drama. The radio and television stations in the area, like you, have given us more free advertising than we could ever hope to buy.

May we impose upon you to again call attention to our problem in your next edition. You well know that there are hundreds of areas in Kentucky that would welcome such a tourist attraction as we have in "Stars In My Crown." Since we are fortunate to have this beautiful amphitheatre and this magnificent outdoor drama, won't you make a special appeal to your readers to give us their whole-hearted support in these last two weeks that remain. The show closes on August 30.

Cordially yours,
Max Hurt

4.) The council voted to send two firemen, selected by the fire chief, to the state fire school August 24-28.

5.) Councilman Claiborne made a motion that the council turn over the newly-adopted budget to the new city government.

6.) In answer to a reporter's question, it was made known that the controversial debt owed to the city by Dr. H. W. Connaughton had not yet been turned over to city Attorney Robert Fry but would be immediately.

In his veto of the flat rate for water bills, Mayor Counce said that in the interest of all the people he found it necessary to take such action because the flat rate (1.) would discriminate against at least 60 percent of the city's water users, (2.) the users affected would be in the lowest income bracket, (3.) no additional revenue could be derived, and more water would have to be pumped, and (4.) the change would violate the city's bond ordinance and might affect the city's ability to obtain the lowest interest rates in the future.

Counce added that he had been advised against the flat rate by several city officials, city managers, fiscal agents, engineering firms, and the state government.

ment will have no extraordinary powers. He will have no veto but will be required to sign all ordinances.

The three commissioners, under the new city charter, will be empowered to appoint and fix the salary of a city manager who will supervise the city's affairs.

The city manager will select and employ a city recorder, chief of police, city treasurer, city attorney, and all other officers, agents and employees necessary to conduct the city's affairs.

The city manager will have sole authority to employ and discharge city employees. Salaries for city officials and other employees, however, will be fixed by the three commissioners. The city recorder will serve as city judge.

Once employed, a city manager cannot be removed by the commissioners for at least 12 months, except for proper cause.

The commissioners will establish city policy, but otherwise their duties will be principally legislative. The commissioners will make city policy and make the rules; the city manager will carry them out.

CHESTNUT GLADE

By Mrs. Harvey Vaughn

The blacktop road that has been mentioned several times in the past few weeks has been completed. A barbecue dinner was served in appreciation of the employees who worked so faithfully to complete this road in the shortest time possible. Several worked on this project from seven to seven some days. Attending the dinner were Judge Cayce Pentecost, Sheriff L. C. Gardner, Road Commissioner Kirk Smith, Karon Hooks, Homer Laws, Howard Henderson and some others, in addition to the several citizens who employed Mr. Dowell, from Union City, to cater the dinner on the lawn of the Harvey Vaughan home. Those who were interested and contributed funds for the meal were: J. B. Nanney, Paul Nanney, J. C. Nanney, V. C. Simpson, Cecil Barber, Virgil Jones, A. B. Reed, Bill Rogers, Irvin Brundige, Carlos Brundige, Durrell Terrell, Madge Cummings, Ches Morrison, Nelson Smith, Wiley Sims, Harvey Vaughan and Elnora Vaughan.

Funeral services were at Ruthville Friday afternoon for Mrs. Flossie Strong, who had lived her entire life in this community until two months ago, when it was necessary for her and Mr. Ed to be moved to the Henderson Rest Home after she broke her ankle. Several days ago she broke her hip. She passed away Thursday in Hillview Hospital. Sympathy is extended to Mr. Ed, who will be so lonely, and to Edith in the loss of her mother.

Ollie Thomas has returned from Rector, Arkansas, where he was called on Tuesday account of the critical condition of his mother, Mrs. Myrtle Thomas. Mrs. Thomas passed away Thursday. Mrs. Lillie Ray, Mrs. Elnora Vaughan, Mrs. Treva Lamb and Cletus Reams attended the funeral service in Arkansas on Friday.

Everyone was so shocked and grieved when they learned of the death of Ray Bondurant from a gunshot on Thursday morning. Funeral was at Oak Grove Saturday morning, with burial in the Liberty Cemetery, west of Fulton. He was admired and most highly respected by all who knew him. He had capably served as the church treasurer for several years and will be missed by his neighbors, friends and in the church, where he always filled his place. Sympathy is extended to his heart.

broken wife, his daughter Rachel, sons Tommy and Jerry, brother Fred and other members of his family who find his going so hard to be reconciled to. Brother James Cannon had charge of the service.

Much interest was shown in the election in the 13th and 17th districts. L. C. Gardner was re-elected for the second term for sheriff of Weakley County. He lived in this community several years ago. T. K. Hooks was elected County Road Supervisor and Harvey Vaughan was again elected by his loyal friends to serve as County School board member for Zone 1. He is very humbly grateful to all who have so loyally supported him in this and in past years, as he has so earnestly endeavored to assist in improving and promoting the Weakley County school system. The conclusion of this term will make 22 years that he has given untiringly and devotedly to this most worthy duty.

Mrs. Ralph McKnight and Louellen from Sheffield, Ala., visited Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Vaughan, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Jones and other relatives here last week. Louellen has been given a Fellowship at the University of Alabama, where she will teach math.

Congratulations to Betty Gay Reed, who has been honored with a Fellowship at Iowa State University. She will leave for her duties there September 1. Especially is she to be congratulated on her accomplishment as the organizer and commander of the "Angel Flight," which is an auxiliary of the Air Force Unit stationed at the University of Tennessee at Knoxville. A "Betty Gay Reed" award has been established at the university, to be given each year to the outstanding member of the auxiliary. Betty Gay is a graduate of Chestnut Glade and Martin High School and her friends in this community are very proud of her and best wishes are extended to her as she assumes this most interesting work.

Your Wisest investment of time... REGULAR CHURCH WORSHIP

"I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord."

A HAT WOULD BE SO MUCH COOLER!

She must go to the native market for her physical needs. The straw hat would be so much better than the old scarf tied and knotted about her head. Sweet, cool air could come through that straw and that would feel so wonderful in this heat!

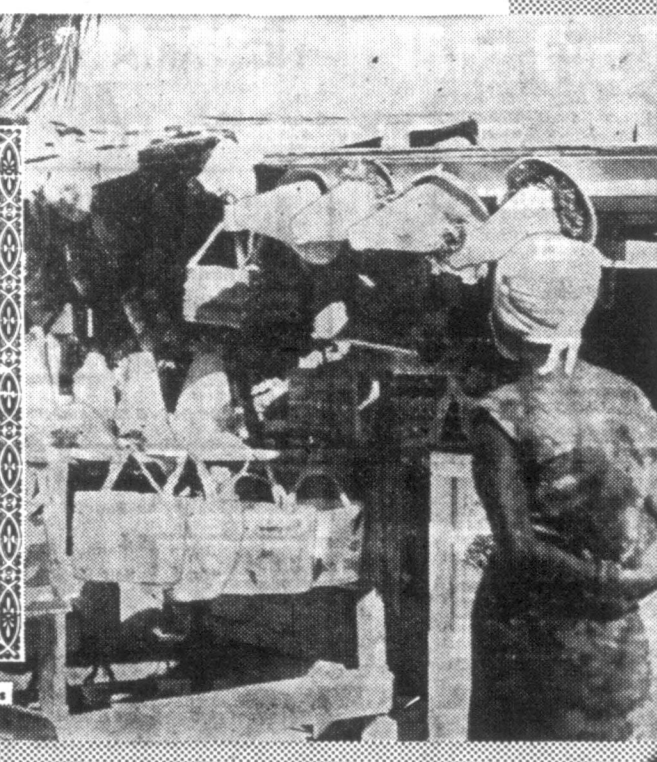

Where does she go for her spiritual needs? Is there a church on the island? Does she know that she will be told about a great God there who will help her, guide her, and refresh her?

How fortunate we are in this country that there is a church in every community. Spiritual help, refreshment of soul, fellowship and love awaits all who enter her doors. We invite you to attend Church this week.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
