Bishop Rockey Will Address Methodists Indian-Born Son Of Missionary On District Program

AT DRESDEN FEB. 19

Bishop Clement D. Rockey, head of the Methodist Church in the Lucknow Area, India, former missionary born in India, and the son of pioneer missionaries to that land, will be the guest speaker at the Parish District Missionary Institute of the Methodist Church at Dresden, Feb. 19. Bishop Rockey, who has recently visited Burma and most of the provinces of India, will speak on the aftermath of the war, and the future of the Christian movement in Asia. He is visiting the United States on a brief furlough.

Bishop Rockey was born in the historically famous Indian city of Calcutta, the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Noble L. Rockey. His father was principal of the Methodist Boys School in that city, and superintendent of the Calcutta District. As a lad the future Bishop became as proficient in the native tongue, Hindi, as he was in English, and grew up with a deep understanding of Indian customs and people, and with a fondness for the people among whom his parents labored.

He attended the mission schools as did the Indian children, finally graduating from the famous Philander Smith College in Naini Tal. Then he came to the United States and continued his education at Ohio Wesleyan University, Drew Theological Seminary, and the University of Chicago. He received a degree of Doctor of Philosophy from the latter institution, and Ohio Wesleyan University gave him an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree.

In 1913 Dr. Rockey was ordained into the Methodist ministry and appointed a missionary of the Board of Missions and Church Extension of the Methodist Church. That year until 1936 he was professor

Court Won't Hear Rose Bowl Ticket Damages Lawsuit

Los Angeles, Feb. 15—(AP)—Four disappointed applicants for New Year's Day Rose Bowl football tickets have been denied a hearing in superior court on their suit for $40,000 damages.

The four, claiming they represented 400 unsuccessful ticket applicants, sued for a $100 each for all parties. However Superior Judge Allen W. Ashburn ruled they could only sue on behalf of themselves and, additionally, that superior court does not have jurisdiction in cases involving such small individual amounts.

All Work And No Play Makes Jack a Dull Boy— But This Doesn't Apply To Fulton's Jack Foy

Jack Foy, who for years sang mountain ballads over many of the larger radio stations in the country, has recently written and sold seven new songs, which will soon be on the market. These songs are entitled: "It Must Have Been the Rain," "Until I Met You," "Must I Keep On Dreaming?" "Down by the Old Garden Gate," "Sundown on the Prairie," "There Must Be A Dixie In Heaven," and "Moonlight on the River."

Jack, who was known for years as "The Dixie Boy," was born in Duketown, Tenn., where he became popular as a promoter of shindigs and old-time square dances.

In 1928, Jack began a radio career at WMC in Memphis. Later he went to WSM in Nash-

'Cat Woman' Is Object Of Search

Covington, Ky., Feb. 15—(AP)—The "Cat Woman" was the object of an intensified police search today. City Manager Theo Hageman instructed Police Chief Al Schild to place additional officers on duty "until this person is caught" after the parents of 10-year-old Patsy Moylan reported their daughter was bitten near the right eye by a slender negro woman about 30 years old. The first "victim" was a seven-year-old boy. On both occasions, police said, the woman called the children to her on the street then bit them without provocation.

Columbians Said Weaker

Homer Loomis Admits
Anti-Negro, Anti-Jew
Order Has Lost Power

Atlanta, Feb. 15—(AP)—Using a Superior Court witness stand, Homer Loomis, Jr., last night expounded at length the white supremacy principles of Columbians, Inc., which he helped organize but admitted the Anti-Negro, Anti-Jewish order was "practically destroyed."

Loomis talked for three hours and 35 minutes, interrupted only by brief recesses. In an unsworn personal statement allowed under Georgia law in his trial on a charge of incitement to riot in connection with an alleged assault on a negro youth.

Only toward the end did he touch directly on the charge against him, asserting that "I was not guilty on any connection" with the assault and adding:

"I did not beat the negro nor conspire with anyone to have it done. The only thing I have done was to try to start a political movement to work for the white principle people."

Of the principal witnesses who testified against him, he said that "they have lied" and that they had "sold out to the Jews."

Then he added:

"But through their adverse publicity, they have practically destroyed our organization. The members are scared to death."

$6,000.00 An Inch

Donald Donnelly (left) is two inches shorter than his 12-year-old brother, Ronald (right), and a circuit court jury awarded him $6,000 for each inch. Mrs. Ethel Donnelly, mother of the Detroit, Mich., twins, sued for $50,000, charging that Donald's growth was retarded when he fell on a washroom floor of a Detroit theater in 1942. Here Jean Miller, a neighbor, uses stick to illustrate.

Underground Strikers Win; Leave Pits With Pay Assured

Lansford, Pa., Feb. 15—(AP)—Thirteen Pennsylvania anthracite miners today ended a 40-hour sitdown strike 800 feet underground.

Bedraggled and unshaven, the miners emerged from the Lehigh Navigation Coal Company's Lansford colliery at 10:30 a. m. United Mine Workers officials said the sitdown was terminated on a promise from the company to pay wage deductions which prompted the protest strike.

The 13 had refused to leave the mine since Wednesday night because the company withheld pay for failure to work a full seven-hour day.

Approximately 6,000 miners in surrounding Panther Valley collieries had walked out in sympathy with the sitdowners. UMW heads said attempts would be made immediately to end the general work stoppage.

The tired and sleepy sitdowners accepted the company offer after a three-hour conference with UMW district president Martin F. Brennan and international representative Peter Flytk.

Brennan said Evan Evans, vice president of Lehigh Coal, agreed to pay all company miners wage deductions made for the last two pay periods pending final settlement of the dispute.

Only a half dozen persons were at the pit head as the miners emerged. Most of the sitdowners, weary of sleeping on benches in the cold, damp gangways, headed for home and bed.

"I would have stayed there until Easter if necessary," one miner said.

The President brought with him his own White House Physician, Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, who will make an examination of Mrs. Truman's injury—the third hip fracture she has suffered in seven years.

The President flew in his private plane, the Sacred Cow, piloted by Lt. Col. Henry T. "Hank" Meyer. The plane landed at the Grandview airport, only a few minutes drive from the home of Mrs. Truman, at noon central standard time. A waiting motor car immediately whisked the President to his mother's bedside.

The flight of the Chief Executive was not disclosed publicly until his plane landed here. A group of Washington newspapermen, assigned to cover the President's activities, flew in an earlier plane.

During his three years in the army, Jack wrote several shows with William Strauss, son of Oscar Strauss, composer of "The Chocolate Soldier." The show "She's In The Army Now" was written by Jack. While working for Uncle Sam, he also organized and led a band composed of "big-time" musicians, which played in practically all of the circuits in the nation.

Reds May Ask UN Atom Ban

Gromyko Is Expected To Urge Security Council
To Stop Bomb Output

Lake Success, N. Y., Feb. 15—(AP)—Russia was expected today to propose formally that the United Nations Security Council allow production of atom bombs. There was a possibility that Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko would make his formal motion when the council reconvenes Tuesday to debate the whole atomic question.

In an address to the Council yesterday, Gromyko demanded that the United Nations ban production of the atom bomb as the first step toward an international atomic control system, but made no move upon which the Council would be required to act.

Categorically rejecting the American control plan, Gromyko announced he would make public the next of Soviet proposals, additions and amendments at the next Council session.

These were the principal points Gromyko made:

1. That a convention outlawing the atom bomb must be the first step in any program.

2. That control machinery must operate under the Security Council where the power of veto holds.

3. That the American plan violates the U. N. Charter and contradicts the assembly resolutions on arms reduction.

4. That despite "serious defects" of the report, Russia would accept it for a working paper and would offer "proposals, additions and amendments" in due course.

This morning they extinguished a grass fire on West State line near the overhead bridge which was started by sparks from an Illinois Central train.

Sgt. Melvin Yates Is One Of Misunderstood MP's In Korea

The military policeman is his men were especially proud recently when, after a visit by Gen. Thomas T. Handy, Deputy Chief of Staff of the United States Army, they were given a letter of commendation by General Hodge.

The first men of the 51st were selected from the 102nd Infantry Regiment when it was stationed at Schofield Barracks on Oahu, Hawaii. Three of the MP Battalion's units served with the Marines at Guadalcanal and in the Russell Island, while three other units landed on Okinawa on D-Day-plus-1 to take over a Japanese prisoner of war camp.

Nine days later the 51st was officially activated as an MP Battalion under the command of Lt. Joseph F. Conroy. Later in the campaign, the last great battle of the war, he was succeeded by Major H. O. Boed.

Men of the 51st were among the first to land in Korea when the occupation began and have been keeping high the standards of their Corps. That beloved hero of doughboys, the late Ernie Pyle, said of them: "An MP serves throughout the war as an MP, he is proud of his organization, and he is respected by his fellow-soldier."

All these functions are in addition to handling regular administration tasks and to maintaining a rigid program of training new additions to their ranks.

Heading the 51st is Major Paul A. Johnson of St. Louis, Mo., who keeps his outfit at peak efficiency by requiring keen discipline from his men and by insisting on the utmost in leadership among his officers. He and

13 Children "A Pleasure"

Indiana Mother Spends
First Night Out In 28
Years—At A Hospital

Trafalgar, Ind., Feb. 15—(AP)—Mrs. Lester Smith was back home today after being away from her family overnight for the first time in 28 years and again was directing the smooth operation of her household, in which each of the 13 of her 16 living children who are at home has his assignment.

Her one-night absence was caused by illness preceding the birth of her 28th child, which was stillborn in an Indianapolis hospital. She planned to be up soon and said she never had spent more than four days in bed after the birth of a child.

"Children get on some mothers' nerves but mine are a pleasure to me," said the 44-year-old mother, who was married at the age of 16. "If I were to do over again I wouldn't change a thing."

"If we raise our children up under the fear of the Lord he helps us in these things. Most people have forgotten that."

Mrs. Smith's knack of organizing the work around the farm home leaves her time to teach a Sunday school class and take an active part in the work of the Nazarene Church.

"Each child gets a certain job to do and I see that they do that," she said.

Mrs. Smith, who has 11 sons has one slight regret.

"I wanted 12 boys, but I suppose I won't have them," she said.

Another Court Says Talmadge Is Governor

Gives Him Access
To $95,000 Left
In State Account

NEW HEARING COMING

McDonough, Ga., Feb. 15—(AP)—Herman Talmadge won a second court decision today, holding him to be Georgia's legal governor.

Superior Judge Bond A. Mann, concurring in a decision earlier this week by a colleague, Judge Walter Hendrix, ruled Talmadge was properly elected by the Georgia legislature Jan. 15.

The decision gave Talmadge access to approximately $95,000 in public funds, left in the executive department bank account by retiring Gov. Ellis Arnall.

Hendrix had ruled last Wednesday that Talmadge was the legal claimant to the office, and dismissed a suit by Lieut.-Gov. M. E. Thompson, who sought to oust Talmadge.

Today's ruling was on suit of the Fulton National Bank of Atlanta, which had enjoined both claimants from drawing on the executive funds until it was instructed which was legal governor.

The Hendrix decision was appealed today to the Georgia Supreme Court by Attorney General Eugene Cook, who represents Thompson.

The appeal was filed with the clerk of the Henry County Superior Court, who said it would reach the high court by Monday.

Talmadge's chief counsel, S. D. Murphy, said he hoped to argue the appeal at the earliest possible moment, and indicated both sides would ask the court to advance the hearing date.

Talmadge hailed Almand's decision as "just one more example of our legal contention."

"Judges Hendrix and Almand are two of Georgia's most able judges," Talmadge said. "I am sure that their position will be sustained by any other court which rules upon the issue."

The bill of exceptions to Hendrix' decision which was handed down here last Wednesday was handed to R. H. Daniel, clerk of the Henry County Superior Court this morning.

Thompson had asked a declaratory judgment against Talmadge, and a court order prohibiting Talmadge from exercising authority of governor.

The Thompson appeal thus will join another case pending review by the supreme court, in which Superior (circuit) Judge Claude Porter of Rome, ruled directly opposite to Hendrix.

Judge Porter ordered the State Board of Pardons and Paroles to give budgetary information to Thompson, as legal "acting governor."

He ruled the legislature had exceeded its constitutional authority when it elected Talmadge to the term of his late father, Governor-Elect Eugene Talmadge.

Living Memorials

Americans have long been accustomed to giving recognition to their heroes and to historic events by the erection of handsome granite or marble memorials. Now we have passed again through a world war, and once more the weapons of destruction and the devastations of war conditions have taken their toll of our sons and daughters.

It is probably the desire of every citizen to recognize the sacrifice of those who gave so much, by the creation of fitting memorials. Many communities already have erected statues or shafts, beautiful in themselves and expressive tributes to valor and patriotism. This type of memorial is commendable, but why stop there? Memorials to American war heroes should be more than mute symbols of remembrance, and in communities throughout the United States leaders are considering and projecting the living, or useful, type of memorial to commemorate the valiant deeds of their heroic fighting men. There is a growing realization that recreation facilities offer one of the best and most eloquent means of perpetuating honor to the dead, for then, truly, the tribute attains warmth and vital meaning. It becomes a living memorial.

We were shocked by the Selective Service physical examination figures which found 4,000,000 unfit for the rigorous duties of the military forces. Would not a well planned recreation program in their communities have helped greatly to alleviate the conditions which contributed to such appalling figures?

What could be more fitting than a playground and recreation area, marked by an appropriate dedicatory plaque or flagpole and supervised by trained personnel? The center might well include one or all of the following: a community recreation building with auditorium, class and craft rooms; a city park with picnic areas, an amphitheatre, swimming and boating facilities, and shelter houses. The list is long, and all are excellent for memorial projects.

The shouts and cheers and the friendly competition on the field of sports echo the spirit of the youngsters who gave their lives that other Americans could live in freedom and happiness. Living memorials keep alive the memory of their heroic deeds and inspire American communities with the unified thinking and action that build soundly and strongly for the future.

Trapped

Los Angeles, (AP)—Six police officers, answering a radio call of a burglar in a market, followed his trail inside through a high window and over three milk crates.

They found their man, his arms loaded with liquor, but discovered they couldn't retreat the way they came because another policeman, left outside, had driven the combination patrol car and stepladder out of shouting range. And all the doors were padlocked from the outside.

They telephoned the owner, who gratefully came down and opened the door.

Critical Conditions

By J. M. Roberts, Jr.,
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

When Secretary Marshall reported to the senate foreign relations committee that the world "is in a very critical condition" he wasn't breaking what you would call a startling bit of news.

But although the secretary is a military man and therefore might be expected to think along military lines, there is no reason to believe he was talking about imminent war. There is sufficient trouble without that, although it lurks constantly in the background for the future.

There are cases when a patient's condition becomes critical merely because a cure for his ills is not found or because he fails to respond to treatment. That is the world's state today. Progress toward solution of its major problems has been small since the shooting stopped.

Marshall possibly had China much on his mind, having just come from there. China is on the brink of economic and political collapse. The general could well have been thinking what would happen if Russia "took over" the Chinese communists and tried to step into the vast void which would be left by disruption of the Nanking government.

Even if China is subjected only to political collapse, and a civil war it would provide a crisis for a world so unsettled as this one.

The situation of Great Britain, internally torn politically, suffering grievous outward wounds and struggling economically, would be in itself sufficient grounds for the secretary's statement.

Prospects for continued unrest in India, even a searing civil war which might tie up with a holy war in the middle east; the inability to get Europe started again; a certain tendency toward totalitarianism in Latin America; the uncertainty of the atomic future—all these and more probably were in Marshall's mind.

And there is, of course, the one continuing crisis which is superimposed on everything else—the difficulty of obtaining the cooperation of Soviet Russia for peace. General Marshall is well aware that when he goes to Moscow next month he will be stepping into one of the most complicated situations with which a man was ever asked to deal.

The best informed people have no idea that Russia intends to precipitate a war in the near future. They believe her intentions are just the opposite. But what Marshall will be trying to do is to effect a peace for Europe which will go as far as possible toward eliminating the causes of European wars as well as to provide forceful prevention. He cannot avoid considering the possibility that any peace to which Russia agrees now may be adopted in the light of what it will mean to her in some future war if one becomes necessary to prevent the slow death of totalitarian communism.

Success or failure at Moscow is not likely to mark the termination of this crisis. But what happens there, and in the other councils of these days, will have an important bearing on whether, when the crisis does break, the turn will be toward war or peace.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
New York, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Start of an argument—after seeing mention of the basketball scoring feats of Texas Wesleyan College and its national leader, Cliff McNeely, an Anderson (Ind.) college fan asks where his favorite team come in last season. This year, with all-freshman team headed by Johnny Wilson, they won 13 of their first 20 against good opposition and piled up 1,220 points. For the other guys—T. W. McNeely hit just 1,220 points in the first 20 and has been going the same 60 plus average since then. . . Anderson's Wilson brothers, Johnny and Ray, have been busy fighting off alumni eastern colleges who'd like to have them switch schools, to Johnny found time to drop in 15 points (not counting what he did in an alumni game). T. W. C. McNeely had 445 points for 20 games and added 64 more in the next three—Looks like an even match if they're properly introduced — Anderson, meet T. W. C.

Since Hamilton, Pa., high school stopped Allentown high's 60-game basketball winning streak, a Hazleton radio station has rebroadcast the game at least twice—Auburn's football followers haven't decided yet whether the players or coaches have benefitted more by spring (in February) grid practice. From the close of the season to this month, line coach Pop Warner gained 14 pounds, trainer Wilbur Hutsell 10 and "B" tutor Dan McMullen wouldn't report the increase on his "in shape" 275 pounds.

When Ray Ryan, boss of the Minneapolis Millers, reached his office after the papers carried the news that Johnny McCarthy's paycheck had been slashed $2,500, the first order of business was an abusive phone call from a McCarthy fan with a Swedish accent. ## Shan Denistor Mayfield Pilot

West Coast Athlete Is Announced Manager Of Browns By Acree Austin
Mayfield, Ky.—Shan Denistor, well-known West Coast athlete, has been signed to manage the Mayfield Browns for 1947, it was announced Thursday night by Business Manager Acree Austin.
Denistor, who has had professional experience as a manager, also boasts an outstanding record as a catcher and is expected to be behind the bat regularly, Austin said.
The husky Denistor, who stands 6 feet 2 and one-half inches and weighs 220 pounds, played professionally with Wenatchee, Wash., and Portland, Ore., in 1940-41. In 1942, he took over the managerial reins of Anaheim in the California league shortly after the opening of the season and remained at the helm until the circuit was disbanded July 1.
Players expected to return to Mayfield this year are Roger Ishmaus, catcher; Guy Brill, pitcher; Varon Holland, Bobby Mainzer, Warde Jones and Eddie Riendian, infielders; John Batt, pitcher; and Lawson Williams, first baseman. Angelo Marine, a shortstop, sent to Mayfield from Chillicothe, O., and who did not report, is listed as a hold-out. David Jolly, a catcher, may be sent to Mayfield this season.

WINGO INDIANS
The Wingo Indians played catch-up with the Fulton Bulldogs until the last two minutes of their game in the new gym last night, then scalped the Fulton team 42-40 in a thrill-packed game that kept the capacity crowd on its feet through much of the last quarter.
The tilt started fast, slowed a bit in the third quarter, and was anybody's game in the fourth until Clapp rimmed the winning goal for the Indians.

Last-Minute Field Goal Gives Wingo Indians 42-40 Victory

Sullivan fouled Pigue just after the four-minute time out, and Pigue dropped both in his shots. H. Guthrie put Wingo back in the ball game with a timely pivot shot. Mullins was fouled by Tip Neims, who had four previous fouls against him, and tied the score 38-38. The Indian forward then followed with a crisp shot that put Wingo ahead 40-38.
Bard broke up a Wingo attempt to freeze the ball as the clock ticked away, dribbled half the length of the floor and shot, tying it up 40-40. With seconds left, Clapp, Wingo sub, fired from within the foul circle for two points, and the game was over.
Better ball-hawking and ball-handling helped provide the Wingo margin of victory in the last quarter. The Bulldogs kept the game going their way by controlling both backboards fairly well in the first half, but were unable to steal or keep the ball when it meant the difference between winning and losing.
However, this was not the only reason for the Fulton loss last night. The Bulldogs made only eight foul throws in 20 attempts, while the Indians dropped in 14 of 22 tries. Fulton got 16 field goals to 14 for the winners.
As in several previous games this season, the Bulldogs were victims of bad breaks in being behind when the buzzer sounded. They lost their opener to Wickliffe 38-41; dropped a game to Cayce 25-20; were nosed out 35-34 at Clinton, and 24-21 at Milburn. The same jinx followed them to Madisonville for the West Kentucky Conference tournament, where Providence eked out a two-point win. The Bulldogs have the height, speed, and heart of a top-notch tournament team, and perhaps their luck won't be all bad in the district meet at Arlington in March.

11 Colleges Play Tonight

Eight Games Scheduled In State, For One Of Busiest Nights Of Year
Eleven Kentucky college basketball teams are scheduled to see action tonight, one of the busiest nights of the season on cage floors with eight games in the state.
Among top attractions are the Kentucky-Tennessee tilt in Lexington and the game between Western and Eastern State Teachers Colleges in Richmond.
Coach Adolph Rupp's Kentucky Wildcats beat Tennessee's Vols, coached by Johnny Mauer, former U. K. cage mentor, in Knoxville on Jan. 18 by a score of 54-39. In 24 meetings, Mauer's clubs have won seven from Kentucky.
Tennessee has won its last six states this season and the Vols will be pointing for tonight's game.
The Eastern-Western game stacks up as the top one in Kentucky intercollegiate Athletic Conference competition tonight. The Westerners, coached by colorful Ed Diddle, overwhelmed Coach Paul McBrayer's eastern Maroons 81-47 on Feb. 5 in Bowling Green.
But Eastern will be seeking to retain its perfect record of not having been defeated in Richmond during the past two seasons, as well as getting revenge for the earlier defeat.
Western is seeded No. 1 and Eastern No. 2 for the K. I. A. C. tourney in Louisville Feb. 20-22.
Only one game was played last night. Western beat Morehead State Teachers College at

Salt Used On State Highways

Highway Dep't. Well Pleased With Results In First Snow, Ice Of 1947

Frankfort.—Kentucky's first major snow and ice storm for 1947 witnessed the first general application of rock salt to the highways, Harry D. Metcalf, director of the highway department's division of maintenance reported today to J. Stephen Watkins, commissioner. All main through drifts and repeated snow falls, under normal maintenance operations, would have made this difficult, Metcalf reported.

"Over six million pounds of rock salt were used," the report stated. "We have been using small portions of salt on an experimental basis, but this is the first general application. The plan has been eminently successful."

"Approximately 6,000 pounds are required for 15 miles and can be applied within an hour. The salt, besides melting the snow as it falls, acts as an abrasive. The application must start with the first inch of snow. In reality, it must start with the storm whether it occurs at night or in the daytime. With the salt established, under the snow, it works from the center out under traffic.

ALL WORK (Continued from Page One)

Jack's numbers, which was written for the King's Jesters and introduced on the late Ben Bernie's show just before Jack entered the army, is becoming quite popular now.

Another song, "There's a Pony on the Range," which was written by Jack and Jean Thomas, also will be on the market soon. Some older numbers of his are "The Santa Fe Trail," "The Trailing Arbutus," and "Cactus Jack." The latter was written for former Vice-president John Nance Garner, a personal friend.

When King George and Queen Elizabeth visited Washington in 1939, Jack and Rex Lampman, who at one time was information specialist for Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau, composed a musical greeting for the royal couple. The first transcription of "Hello, Your Majesties," sung by Jack, went as a gift to President Roosevelt. The Roosevelt family are in the song almost as prominently as King George and Queen Elizabeth. In turn, President Roosevelt invited Jack to the White House to sing the song in person to the King and Queen.

Jack now lives with his sister, Kate Poy, in his spacious log home on the Middle Road, where he is in the process of completing an ultra-modern tourist court.

One of his more recent compositions is this sonnet written for a lovely Fulton high school senior:

FOUR SONNETS IN WARTIME

"What is lovely as the first flowers of the Spring?

You are, my dear, and lovelier than they!

What is more dear than any precious thing?

You are, my dear, more dear than words can say!

When I have seen you for one moment's space,

My quick tongue falters and can find no words;

You are a song my lips can never trace,

Your voice is sweeter than a dawning bird's.

When I hear music rightly played in tune,

I know for truth your heart beats truer time;

All jeweled phrases that adorn a rune,

Cannot express your worth in golden rhyme.

No words, I know, can compass what you are;

I think upon you as upon a star."

More on the question of music in the worship.

"John Wesley, who was a lover of music, and an elegant poet, when asked his opinion of instruments of music being introduced into the chapels of the Methodists said, in his terse and powerful manner, 'I have no objection to instruments of music in our chapels, provided they are neither heard nor seen.'"

(Clark's Com. Vol. 4, p. 684.)

"I believe that David was not authorized by the Lord to introduce that multitude of musical instruments into the Divine worship of which we read; and I am satisfied that his conduct in this respect is most solemnly reprehended by this prophet; and I further believe that the use of such instruments of music in the Christian Church, is without the sanction and against the will of God; that they are subversive of the spirit of true devotion, and that they are sinful. If there was a wo to them who invented instruments of music, as did David under the law, is there no wo, no curse to them who invent them, and introduce them into the worship of God in the Christian Church? I am an old man, and an old minister; and I here declare that I never knew them productive of any good in the worship of God; and have had reason to believe that they were productive of much evil. Music, as a science, I esteem and admire; but instruments of music in the house of God I abominate and abhor. This is the abuse of music; and here I register my protest against all such corruptions in the worship of the Author of Christianity." (Adam Clarke's comment on Amos 6:1-5) Note: Mr. Clarke is generally regarded as the greatest scholar that Methodism ever produced.
