Manslaughter Charge Brought Against Hickman Man In Death Of Union City Woman Friday

Richard Williams
Free On Bond,
Sheriff Reports

WOMAN IN AUTO

Sheriff A. O. Wynne reported today that Richard Williams, 26, of Hickman, was at liberty on a $500 bond after being held to the grand jury by County Judge Homer Roberts on a charge of manslaughter growing out of the death of a Union City, Tenn. woman.

The sheriff said Williams was charged in connection with the death of Mrs. Alice Carter Sampayan, 31-year-old mother of two, who accompanied Williams on a prolonged drinking party Thursday and Friday night. The woman, her neck broken, was found yesterday morning in Williams' car mired in a side road off the Hickman-Union City highway, the sheriff related. Wynne said Williams came to the sheriff's home to report the death.

The sheriff quoted Williams as saying the couple had driven to a number of places in Fulton county and drank several bottles of whiskey during the party. "After the car got stuck and I couldn't get it out," Williams was quoted by the sheriff, "we went to sleep. When I woke up she was dead."

Wynne said Williams denied that he had struck the woman. Williams' case will be tried at the regular May session of circuit court.

Mrs. Sampayan's two children, Margaret, Union City junior high school student, and Patricia, fourth grade student at Union City Central school, had gone to school when word was received in Union City of their mother's death.

She had no other relatives in Union City.

Mrs. Sampayan's first husband, a Mr. Carter, died from tuberculosis a number of years ago. She then married Ruperto Sampayan, a Filipino, whom she met in St. Louis. The couple had been separated for some time, and he is now at his home in the Philippines.

Mrs. Sampayan was born in Henderson county, Tenn., the daughter of Will and Birdie Mayfield Lovell. In addition to her daughters, she is survived by her parents, who now live at Tiptonville; three sisters: Mrs. John Dean, Mrs. Maude Marchbanks and Mrs. Robert Phillips; and a brother, Herman Lovell, all of Tiptonville. She was a member of a Church of Christ near Tiptonville.

Funeral services were expected to be held tomorrow, with burial at Hopewell, near Medina. Williams was discharged from the army a few months ago.

Rust Is New Trainmaster

Takes Ky. Division Post
Succeeding A. S. Pitzer,
Effective On March 1

H. A. Rust of Carbondale, Ill., succeeds Albert S. Pitzer as trainmaster of the Kentucky Division of the Illinois Central railroad in Fulton, effective Saturday, March 1. Mr. Rust is in Fulton now and Mr. Pitzer has gone to Chicago, where he will be roads examiner with the IC system.

The new trainmaster has 30 years of service with the railroad. He spent seven years at Cairo, Ill., and was at Carbondale for the remainder of the time. He was assistant trainmaster there before coming to Fulton.

Mr. Rust served for 18 months in Europe with the 743rd Railway Operating Battalion, which was sponsored by the Illinois Central, holding the rank of major. He spent a total of two years in the army, receiving his discharge on June 9, 1946.

Mr. and Mrs. Rust have twin daughters, 19, and a son, James, 20, who live at Carbondale. Mrs. Rust and their daughters will join him here as soon as possible, the trainmaster said. He, too, has discovered that finding housing in Fulton is still very much a problem.

I-Minute Picture Is Possible With New-Type Camera

New York, Feb. 22.—(AP)—A revolutionary new camera, which turns out a finished picture one minute after the shutter is snapped accomplishing in a single snap all the processing operations of ordinary photography, was demonstrated yesterday.

The camera, which can be carried by any one, was announced to the Optical Society of America by its inventor, Edwin H. Land, of Boston, the discoverer of polaroid.

Several types have been built, Land said, and announcement will be made in a few months about when the cameras will be available and what they will cost.

The inventor, demonstrating a portrait type and also one of the size frequently carried by news photographers, said the process could be adapted to any camera and possibly to making motion pictures.

The camera produces a fully-finished picture, of the same quality as it developed and printed by dark room technique.

2 Fires Reported, One False Alarm

Three fire alarms were turned in last night and today, one of them a false one, firemen reported.

The fire department was called to an apartment over Fulton Hardware and Furniture Co. on Lake street at 8 o'clock last night when a passerby saw what appeared to be flames in the upstairs window. Firemen found that the residents had lighted a fuse, and that there was no fire there.

A car caught on fire at about 9:30 this morning at the City Motor Co. Damage was reported slight.

Later today the firemen went to the Highlands to extinguish a grass fire.

U. S. To Get More Sugar

Average Increase Over
Last Year Is 17 Pounds
Under New Division Plan

Washington, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The United States accepted today a division of the world sugar supply for 1947 which will give Americans an increase of about 17 pounds apiece over last year.

This country's share of the world's export supply, coupled with its own production, will provide a per capita supply of about 90 pounds of refined sugar this year. Consumption last year was 73 pounds, while usage in the prewar period was about 97 pounds.

The allocation was made last night by the International Emergency Food Council, an inter-governmental agency representing more than 20 nations, charged with the responsibility of apportioning scarce foods of the nations of the world.

The United States was granted 6,800,000 short tons, raw value, of a total world export supply of 14,986,000 tons. (The refining process diminishes raw sugar about 7 per cent.) This compared with 5,433,000 tons allotted this country last year and with an average annual per capita consumption of 6,700,000 tons.

Of the 1947 per capita supply of 90 pounds, individual consumers probably will get 35 pounds through ration stamps and the remaining 55 pounds in the form of candy, bakery products, other foods, soft drinks and similar products.

One Million Knots Left By Sailor Who Said Knots To You

San Diego, Calif., Feb. 22.—(AP)—A problem of one million knots left in the hands of the "Sea-Dogs Trust" and Savings bank along with the rest of the estate of an old navy man—is about to be disposed of.

Robert P. Purucker, retired chief petty officer who died last fall, spent more than seven years tying the knots, officers of the bank said, because his barber had challenged his ability to tie a million in different designs.

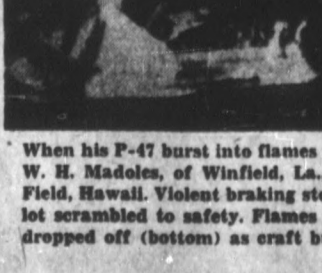

They were tied to form belts, purses, watch fobs and such articles and packed in cases built for them by Purucker, whose favorite expression was "knots to you."

"We Don't Want Unions," Say Industry Foremen At Hearing; New Labor Inquiry Proposed

"We Are Members Of Management," Foremen Declare

SEN. IVES SPEAKS

Washington, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Several industry foremen told congress today they opposed legislation to labor unions because they considered themselves part of management.

"We are not just part of management, but management," assisted Floyd H. Rhoads, of the Sparks-Whittington Company of Jackson, Mich., as he testified before the House Labor committee.

"It is self-evident," Rhoads said, "that any legislation compelling industry to recognize foremen's unions would not be to the best interest of foremen themselves, the companies they represent, and ultimately our economic structure as a whole."

"All conscientious foremen are and must be considered a part of the management team," said Joseph E. Cox, a foreman at the Delco Products Corporation plant at Dayton, Ohio.

Cox suggested that foremen do not need to organize for group action or protection.

"We are now and have been a team in the true sense of the word, each man contributing his share according to his talents and capabilities," Cox said.

Donglas Dean, a shop worker of Niles, Mich., said that "next to the Wagner Labor Relations Act the closed or union shop should certainly be outlawed."

Dean said that a worker has no choice about joining or not joining a union. "He has to pay his dues to support the union, no matter how much he disapproves of the union's policies," Dean said.

Senator Ives (R-NY), suggested today that the House and Senate set up a joint committee to hold separate private conferences with union and management leaders before congressional action on labor legislation.

The New York lawmaker, a member of the Senate Labor committee, told a reporter that "under that kind of an arrangement I think we could work out a program helpful to everyone."

Ives made his suggestion as the senate labor group took a recess until Tuesday from testimony by union witnesses. Meanwhile, its house counterpart stayed at work today to hear additional industry representatives.

Ives, a freshman senator who is a labor relations expert, said he believes a joint committee is needed because:

1. "There is not too much liaison" between the House and Senate Labor committee.

(In the House, Chairman Hartley (R-NJ), has announced there will be no action on labor legislation until the senate moves. He contended house labor bills always are butchered in the senate.)

2. Management and labor are at loggerheads over what kind of legislation, if any, congress should enact.

Paducah Bus Walkout Canceled At Eleventh Hour

Paducah, Ky., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Union representatives at the eleventh hour, just before midnight last night, called off temporarily a strike of city bus drivers and garage workers, originally set for 5:30 a. m. today.

W. A. Boyd, general manager and arbiter for the Paducah Bus Company, said he agreed to accept one of three men proposed by the union as an umpire in the dispute over wages.

Boyd said he advised W. M. Homer, Washington, arbiter for the union, he would accept one of the three by Monday if there were no work stoppage.

Ed Oliver, representative of the AFL Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America, said the strike was off pending selection of the umpire and that regular drivers would work today.

Don't Muzzle The Ox

As agriculture became developed under a settled government, Palestine was a corn exporting country. The most common kinds of corn were wheat, barley, rye, and spelt. Our Indian corn was unknown in the early history of the Hebrew people.

A large area of beaten and hardened earth having been made, the sheaves of corn were placed on it and over these oxen were driven to crush out the grain.

Common decency and the high regard for the animal used to thresh the grain prompted the law prohibiting placing a muzzle upon the ox when he treaded out the corn. As the social order progressed, all labor became worthy of its hire. When asked by the husbandman to work in his vineyard, the laborer has always been justified in requiring adequate wages.

Certainly this figure of speech fixes upon the social order which created the public school system the responsibility to support those who man the school units of the State of Kentucky. The institution of education was brought into existence as the result of a felt need upon the part of society. It maintains the relationship of creature to creator. The public then becomes responsible for its welfare.

The school has not forged its way into the social order, nor has it barged into our established structure. It has been invited to do a job which could not be done by any other established institution. The factor which determines whether or not the school will do the job assigned to it will depend upon the teachers. The teacher becomes the most important cog in the wheel. The populace, therefore, should not only demand the best qualified and efficient teachers but should assume the bound obligation to pay them a decent and living salary.

We face a crisis in education—a test which will determine whether this system will survive, or whether we shall go into educational bankruptcy. The challenge to society, to guarantee the solvency of the system, is to determine the ways and means by which the teachers can be paid.

The trained teacher likes to teach as well as the ox liked to tread out the corn. However, the job cannot be done and will not be done when the muzzle is applied which denies the teacher the fruits of her labors. The teacher who is prepared should be paid an amount comparable to the salary drawn by those of similar professions. We advocate a minimum annual salary of $2400 for a teacher who holds a valid certificate issued upon completion of four years of college work.

Eugene, Ore.—(AP)—Children in the one-room rural Fiddle Creek school can come back from recess now.

Britain Tries Persuasion

By J. M. Roberts, Jr., AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Great Britain, revealing the exceeding gravity of her economic position with promulgation of a drastic program for export production by means of belt-tightening, is attempting to do by persuasion what others have tried through totalitarianism.

"We do not say that whether you like it or not you have got to go into the coal mine, or steel factory, or whatever it may be," says Sir Stafford Cripps in commenting on what the government calls its "working pattern for the nation."

"Instead, we try to induce employers and employees to conform to a pattern of industrial production in order to get the greatest benefits for the nation as a whole."

Export production 40 per cent above the pre-war level for 1947, ultimately 75 per cent above is the goal. Otherwise, says the government statement, "the foundations of our national life" will be at risk.

Labor is asked to give up arrangements which restrict production, prices or employment; to postpone its hopes for shorter hours, increase individual production, hold older workers to their jobs beyond normal retirement, accept continued rationing along with all the British people.

Through this the hope is to attain more coal, more production, more foreign exchange, and reverse conditions which will result this year in a $1,400,000,000 government deficit.

Strict control of imports is planned, presumably holding down on consumer goods in favor of raw materials which can be exported as finished goods.

This is a picture of a nation still at war, with, as Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard put it, and offer to the British people only of "toil, tears and sweat. Blood alone they are spared in these piping days of peace."

Another serious aspect of the problem is that, faced with an unsettled world, the government realizes it must, do with a smaller Army, both for the sake of expense and to shift manpower into industry.

One of the trickiest items in the program involves importing foreign labor—principally from among the displaced peoples of Europe.

Here we have a country, already short, forced to bring in more mouths to feed in a desperate attempt to revive and maintain its world trade. And at the same time hundreds of thousands of Britons are reported to be seeking a way out of the homeland, desiring to settle in South Africa, Canada, Australia and the United States. Some have wanted to get away so badly that they have been willing to undertake the hazardous overland trip from Cairo to South Africa.

Here we have a picture of a great people, mobilized first for military and then for economic survival for seven years, fighting against a changing world economic and political system; seeking to preserve the economics of their little island against a movement of industry to the areas which actually produce the raw materials; compromising with social forces sweeping 46,000,000 tightly-enclosed people, yet fighting, too, against a corporate state, permanent regimentation, totalitarianism, or reduction to a non-entity.

Men Lose Weight More Than Women On Air Voyages

New York.—(AP)—Men on the average have more excess weight to lose than women.

That's what weight statistics on Pan American World Airways' passengers flying to food-rationed postwar Europe show.

Men ordinarily lose about 10 to 15 pounds on their round-trips to Europe. They average 164 when they leave and in the low 150's when they return.

Women on the other hand have fewer extra pounds to spare and are less affected. They leave New York weighing on the average 134 pounds. They return weighing 131.

Washington-Modest, merry-eyed Robert Brennan, the Irish Minister to the United States, was unable to describe the matching medals which he and his wife proudly pin on for fancy affairs.

The medals had been awarded to them both for the same services—their part in the Rebellion of 1916-1922.

"I guess Mrs. Brennan has them secreted for safekeeping somewhere and I can't for the life of me remember exactly how they look," the Minister said a bit sheepishly.

Mrs. Brennan, the minister explained, is now visiting in Ireland after accompanying their son, Robert Patrick, 18, to their native land to enter Trinity College.

Petite, somewhat retiring Mrs. Brennan was a little surprised when she first learned she had been awarded the medals, although she is considered as much of a heroine in her country as is her husband a hero.

It was she who hoisted the flag of the Irish Republic after the siege of Enniscorthy during Easter week of 1916. She nursed the wounded and fed the publicity department of the Irish Republican Government.

Brennan has been a journalist off and on since 1900 until he became Minister of Ireland to this country in 1938. He was director of publicity for the Sinn Feiners from 1918 to 1921.

He was again engaged in newspaper work from 1922 to 1931 and was general manager of the Irish Press from 1931 to 1934.

He likes to "think out" detective stories; has published more than 100 of them in the pulp magazines of Ireland and the United States between 1912 and 1926. Sometimes he writes under the name of Selskar Kearney.

The Minister says he would like to write a few plays, now, but he seems to be always too busy. Around about 1939 he had two plays produced in Dublin, one in the famous Abbey theater.

His last play was called the "Bystander" and was based on a prison theme. It went very well, he says.

He seems to feel that he got his most fun out of the second production—a farce called "Goodnight, Mr. O'Donnell," written especially for the famous Dublin comedian, Jimmy O'Dea.

The Brennans have three daughters, named after the ancient Irish queens. There's Emer, the eldest who is married to Svend Yort, who was born in Denmark and now is associated with the Washington telephone company.

There's Maeve, associate editor of Harper's Junior Bazaar in New York and there's Beirdre, the youngest, married to Gilbert Jervoid, in Washington with the French Purchasing Commission.

Colors of the commercial sponge, when alive, range from yellowish gray to coal black.

Clinton Takes 39-37 Overtime Victory Over Fulton Bulldogs

Johnson, lanky Clinton center, threw in two field goals in an overtime period here last night to give his team a 39-37 victory over Fulton, the second time this season that the Hickman countians have rallied to win in the last few minutes.

The Bulldogs blew the 27-19 lead they enjoyed when the fourth quarter started to let Clinton tie the score 35-31 at the end of regular playing time. Johnson's two baskets were the first scores in the overtime. Billy Joe Forrest, Fulton guard, barely had let go a long shot for two points before time was up.

Forrest and Johnson led in scoring with 17 apiece.

At Clinton in the first meeting of the two teams, the score was Clinton 24, Fulton 23 at the end of the third quarter, and the Red Devils went on to a 35-34 win.

The Fulton Pups lost their game 27-14, trailing 2-0, 5-13 and 9-22 at the quarter intermissions.

The Bulldogs clamped on a tight defense in the first period, forcing the Red Devils to shoot off balance and from far out in the floor. Griffin drew first dropped the ball in to make it 26-20, Fulton. Forrest sank another side shot and Neims got his second goal, putting the home team in front 33-28. Johnson was fouled, made his shot, and Craddock, Clinton forward added two more. Griffin stole the ball and shot, using the score again at 33-31. Craddock put Clinton ahead 35-33, and seconds before the buzzer Bard grabbed the ball under the Fulton goal to score and force the game into overtime. After Johnson's four points, it was all over but the shouting and paying off bets.

The Bulldogs will have a chance to break their tough luck streak against Clinton at Arlington in the district tournament. They meet the Red Devils in their first game there.

Still to be played are games with Wickliffe, there Feb. 25, and Mayfield here Feb. 28. Both teams have beaten the Bulldogs this season.

South Fulton Teams Win At UC Tourney

Kenton Boys and U. C. Girls Lose; Finals Are Tonight

TO GO TO REGIONAL

Both South Fulton basketball teams assured themselves of a trip to the regional tournament at Kenton next week by taking decisive victories in the semifinals of the Eighth District tournament at Union City last night.

The Angels put on a fourth-quarter scoring spurt to topple the Union City girls 31-25 in the first contest, and the Red Devils won in a walk from the Kenton boys, 34-17.

Tonight the South Fulton girls play River at 7:30 and the South Fulton boys meet the Golden Tornado of Union City at 8:30 in the final round. The same teams will represent the district at the regional meet, which opens Tuesday night.

The Angels were tied with Union City, 11-11, at the end of the first quarter last night, and were trailing 13-18 and 22-31 after the next two periods. They held the county seat sextet to a scant two points in the last quarter while boosting their total to 31.

Moore was high scorer for the winners with 22 points, five more than E. Williams, Union City's pace-setter, could manage.

In the boys' game, Sammy Haddad lacked only one point of scoring as many as the entire Kenton team, having 16 to his credit, while his teammates helped him double the score of their opponents.

The winners were in front 7-3, 13-5 and 28-10 at the end of quarters.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 22—(AP)—Kentucky's high-scoring Wildcats set their sights on their 27th basketball victory of the season against Georgia Tech tonight after drubbing Vanderbilt's Commodores with ease last night, 84-41.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
New York, Feb. 22—(AP)—In case you didn't know it, the war ended Feb. 15—by decree of Happy Chandler—at least, that's the date set by the baseball commissioner for the end of "duration" regulations—as a result, some minor league club owners who thought they were well fixed for the 1947 season may have to rip their teams apart because rookie rules, suspended due to wartime conditions, are going back into effect—from another angle, the emergency still is going strong.
President Charley Allen of the Durham (Carolina League) Bulls, returned his contract unsigned. He wasn't beefing about his salary (naturally, not to the Bulls) but he insisted that a two-bedroom apartment for the season should be included in the terms.

HE HEARS EARS

J. B. "Ears" Whitworth, Georgia line coach, has taught his young son that the Sabbath is a day for serious affairs, not for play—so "Ears" was surprised one Sunday when he found the youngster calling toy boats in the bathtub. Whitworth started to administer a rebuke—"don't get excited, pop," the kid interrupted, "this isn't a pleasure boat. This is a missionary boat, going to Poland to bring back some rugged men to make the kind of football players Georgia likes." (p. 5; we don't believe it either, but Scoop Latimes says it's so.)

SPORTS BEFORE YOUR EYES

First Flight, who may be the second Whitney filly to win the Kentucky Derby, likes to munch cough drops—at least five small colleges in the Ohio-Western Pennsylvania district are resuming baseball this year after long interruptions. Allegheny will have its first team in 33 years. Other are Alliance, Slippery Rock, Youngstown and Waynesburg—Charley Trippi isn't taking any money out of his basketball tour with some other Georgia footballers. His end of the take goes to teammates who weren't offered $100,000 contracts—Guy Lombardo, the bandleader, flies to Miami next week-end to race his gold cup speedboat, Tempo VI, in the Biscayne Bay regatta—when the Philadelphia Warriors' Joe Pulks scored his 1000th point of the basketball season, reports the observer, "the entire audience acted like expectant fathers. They knew it was coming but couldn't be sure of the arrival time."

WEAK END ITEM

Since it began in 1871, major league baseball has had 7,904 players and managers (up through 1946). Only three diamond historians—one in Cooperstown, N. Y., one in Forest Hills, L. I., and one in Philadelphia—have the complete lists. They intend to keep them.

Louisville—Members of the AFL truck drivers union scheduled a meeting today to consider a wage offer of $1 an hour made by 20 trucking firms. Union officials said they recommended acceptance. More on the question of music in the worship.

Lyman Coleman, Presbyterian scholar and author, says: "The tendency of this (instrumental music) was to secularize the music of the church, and to encourage singing by a choir. Such musical accompaniments were gradually introduced; but they can hardly be assigned to a period earlier than the fifth and sixth centuries. Organs were unknown in church until the eighth or ninth century. Previous to this they had their place in the theatre, rather than in the church. They were never regarded with favor in the Eastern church, and were vehemently opposed in many places in the West." (Primitive Church, pp. 376, 377).

Thomas Aquinas, one of the most learned scholastic doctors produced by the church of Rome in the 13th century, says: "Our church does not use musical instruments, as harps and psalteries, to praise God withal, that she may not seem to Judaize." (Bingham's Ant., Vol. 3, p. 137).

Alexander Campbell, a scholar and leader of the restoration movement, says: "To those who have no real devotion or spirituality in them, and whose animal nature flags under the oppression of church service, I think that instrumental music would be not only a desideratum, but an essential prerequisite to fire up their souls to even animal devotion. But I presume to all spiritually minded Christians, such aids would be as a cowbell in a concert." (Mem. of A. Campbell, p. 366).

J. W. McGarvey, who was once head of the College of the Bible, Lexington, Ky., in writing on instrumental music in worship, said: "We cannot adopt the practice without abandoning the only ground upon which a restoration of New Testament Christianity can be accomplished."

Home Repair Is Huge Job
About $3 Billions To Be Spent On Non-Farm Dwellings This Year

New York—Getting the nation's homes back into tip-top shape is going to be one of the biggest jobs for the construction industry.

Between $2,400,000,000 and $3,000,000,000 is expected to be spent on repairing single-family non-farm houses this year, according to the Title Council of America.

This bill will include roof repairs to more than 2,345,000 homes and the replacement or overhauling of heating equipment in some 2,037,000, the council estimates.

Still another 1,793,000 houses will have showers installed, bathrooms tiled or repairs made to water piping, according to the report.

Painting is by far the most common home repair, the study showed. Either the exterior or some room of the interior is painted in almost a third of the nation's single-family homes each year.

The number of single-family nonfarm homes in the United States has risen from 17,510,847 in 1940 to an estimated 19,830,000 as of November, 1946, the Title Council states.

Augustus' Bust Believed Found In English Home

London—(AP)—A bust believed to have been made by the Romans to depict Caesar Augustus, who died A. D. 14, has been found among a collection stacked in the music room of one of the ancient homes of England.

The bust, which was at Tottenham House, Savernake Forest, the former home of the Marquess of Allesbury, was among the Allesbury Collection stored there.

The identity of the bust will be decided by the British Museum, to which the estate architect, Mr. W. H. Brooke, has sent a photograph.
