South Fulton Students Note School Needs

Six Girls Present Program Today At Lions Club

SUGGEST SOLUTIONS

Six South Fulton high school girls used principles of geometry to prove that education is an investment in tomorrow at the regular meeting of the Fulton Lions club today.

The students—Maxine Stoker, Odie Blakemore, Vada Belle Ward, Mary Nell Roach, Adell Henderson and Maggie Vowell—conducted a round-table discussion of the problems confronting schools today, and suggested a number of solutions.

The geometry students displayed two triangles, the corners of which were Intelligence, Strength of Body and Strength of Character; and Kindness, Willpower and Cooperation, as the true goals of education.

Equipment in many schools is inadequate for present-day needs, the students declared. We need larger and better schools, more and better teachers, they said.

Ed Keller, South Fulton principal, told the Lions about the Fulton County Parent-Teacher Association's essay contest on the subject, "Teaching As A Profession In A Democracy," which closes on April 1.

Miss Roach then read an essay she had written for the contest, emphasizing that teachers should be accepted as social equals of other professional persons of the community; that present low salaries are unfair to students and teachers; and that teachers need greater occupational security, and better working conditions.

The girls also answered questions on education asked by members of the Lions Club.

Russell Pitchford presided at today's meeting in the absence of the president, Charles Gregory.

Presbyterians Conduct Drive

Seek 1 Million New Members By 1950 In Evangelistic Campaign

To implement its drive for 1,000,000 new members by 1950, the Presbyterian church will conduct nine planning conferences with synod and Presbytery leaders throughout the country, and 23 "Schools of Church Evangelism," exclusively for ministers.

This program was decided on at a two-day meeting of the denomination's Commission on Evangelism called to chart the three-year campaign which started January 1 under the name of the "New Life Movement." In addition to obtaining a 1,000,000 new church members, the campaign has a goal of establishing 300 new churches and Sunday schools.

The schools for ministers to be held next fall will consist of four days of intensive instruction in evangelistic methods and opportunities of the local church leaders and deepening of the church's spiritual life.

The planners hope to enlist 100,000 trained volunteer workers.

Didn't Run For Office—Love

South Fulton Mayor Says He Was Not Candidate in Last Election In 1945

J. H. Lowes present mayor of South Fulton, today announced for publication that he was not a candidate for the position of mayor in the 1945 election, as has been reported.

"Mr. Rogers also resigned his office as Justice of the Peace shortly after this."

Mr. Love was asked to allow his name to be placed on the ballot to fill the unexpired term of Justice of the Peace, and was elected without opposition to represent South Fulton in the Obion county court.

"I now hold the commission as Justice of the Peace for Obion county, signed by Jim McCord, Governor of Tennessee, and Joe Carr, Tennessee Secretary of State," the mayor declared.

"I would like to add that I may have been defeated in the past, but I have never been in the penitentiary," he said.

Hoover Urges U. S. Relief Be In Form Of Loans, Not Gifts, In His Report To House Committee

Washington, Feb. 28—(AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover called on Congress today to put United States relief abroad on a loan rather than a gift basis. He also urged establishment of the post of foreign relief administrator to coordinate this country's missions of mercy.

Only a day after he recommended that the United States spend $475,000,000 for the relief of Germany alone over the 18-month period beginning last Jan. 1, he was called to give his view before the House Foreign Affairs Committee on a proposed bill to expend $350,000,000 in five other European countries and China.

Just back from making a three weeks' survey of Europe's food needs, Hoover contends that relief for the other European countries should not be put at higher levels than those recommended for Germany and Austria.

In his report to President Truman on the survey, Hoover said German civilian needs have

Reds May Have World's Best Airborne Army, Information Filtering Out Of Russia Indicates

Washington, Feb. 28—(AP)—Russia is believed to have an airborne army in being or in training far surpassing that of any other power.

Information filtering out of Russia indicates, it was learned today, that the Soviet Union's strength in troops trained for lightning strikes from the air may number as high as 100,000 men.

This force compares with the single airborne division which the United States possesses. That division—the 82nd at Fort Bragg, N. C.—has an authorized strength of 13,000 men but presumably is below that figure.

Some strategists note that the reported 100,000-man strength of the Russian airborne force may be misleading because of a possible Soviet deficiency in the important matter of air transportation.

Russia's primary aviation interest during the war was in fighter type planes. She virtually ignored heavy bomber aircraft and, either because of policy or production difficulties, did little transport plane building. What her strength in transport is today is uncertain. Lend-lease reports show that during the war the United States turned over to Russia about 700 transport airplanes among the 28,000 delivered.

How many of these 700 transports plus any she may have obtained from Britain and built herself still are operable is unknown. However, American experts have estimated that it requires about 1,500 transports of existing designs to move one division of about 12,000 men with their equipment.

During World War II, Russia's standard airborne unit was a brigade of slightly more than 4,000 men used either as paratroopers or carried in transports. While details are not known, it is believed that the Red army may have organized its postwar airborne force somewhat along the lines of the United States, into divisions probably about the standard 12,000 strength.

The armament and vehicles used in the wartime Russian airborne organization roughly paralleled that of other nations, including howitzers, antitank weapons, mortars and two or three classes of machine guns and motorcycles and bicycles.

Although Russia was one of the pioneers in prewar parachute experiments, she made little use of airborne forces during the conflict with Germany, presumably because of her own peculiar military problem.

She was fighting on land, at close quarters with huge masses of troops where the element of surprise was at a minimum.

Married In Jail, No Honeymoon for Kentucky Couple

Newport, Ky., Feb. 28—(AP)—Carroll (Mickey) Dugan, 36, and Nancy Archer, 23, were married here yesterday but there will be no honeymoon.

The ceremony was performed yesterday in Newport jail where Carroll is awaiting transfer to Kentucky Penitentiary to serve a five-year sentence for robbery, plus 14 years remaining of a 21-year term imposed on him several years ago after conviction on a similar charge.

The fact that they faced a 19-year separation did not deter Miss Archer in her determination to become Carroll's bride. She said:

"I love Mickey and am willing to wait for him."

Porter Killed, 10 Others Hurt In Penny Wreck

Gallitzin, Pa., Feb. 28—(AP)—A Pullman porter was killed and at least 10 passengers were injured early today when the last sleeping car of the Pennsylvania Railroad's westbound "Sunshine Special" broke loose and plunged down the men's talside, near the site of the PRR's tragic "Red Arrow" wreck ten days ago.

A railroad spokesman at Pittsburgh said the name of the victim was not immediately available.

The spokesman said the New York-to-Texas train stopped for "some unknown reason" outside Gallitzin as it neared the top of the scenic Allegheny mountain. Suddenly the rear car broke loose.

The accident occurred at 3:54 a. m.

Graves Attorney Can't Accept Pay From Air Board

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 28—(AP)—A county attorney cannot accept private legal employment from his county's air board, the attorney general's office said today.

Farland Robbins, Mayfield, Graves county attorney, said he had been approached by the Graves County Airport Board which suggested that he become its lawyer for compensation.

The attorney general's opinion assumed that the board had been appointed by the fiscal court. If that's the case, the opinion said, the board is a government agency which the county attorney must serve in regular line of duty.

Bridges Offers Compromise In Debate On Budget Cut Vs. Reduction In National Debt

Would Use First $3 Billion Saved To Pare Tax Levy

REST TO GO ON DEBT

Washington, Feb. 28—(AP)—Senator Bridges (R-NH) came up with a possible compromise today as the Senate considered whether projected economies in the budget should be used to cut taxes or reduce the nation debt.

Bridges' suggestion is that the first $3,000,000,000 of savings go to reduce income taxes with all over that being applied to the debt.

The Senate has approved a proposal to cut $4,500,000,000 from President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget. Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) wants $5,000,000,000 of that reduction applied to the debt. His resolution to that effect was up for decision today. On the other hand, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) favors earmarking only $1,000,000,000 for debt reduction with the rest offsetting an income tax cut.

Regardless of the outcome the matter must go to the House, which has voted to whack $3,000,000,000 from the President's budget.

The House resumed debate on a bill to ban postal pay raises with indications it will approve the measure some time today. Supporters of the bill—including both Republicans and Democrats—appeared to hold a heavy majority as members opened debate yesterday.

Rep. Celler (D-N.Y.), leading the opposition, contended the bill would "emasculate" the Fair Labor Standards Act. But he acknowledged "I am swimming against the tide."

Both House and Senate labor committees continued with hearings on labor legislation. Edward A. O'Brien, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, was to give his views to the house committee. Officials of two independent unions, the American Watchmakers and the International Association of Machinists, were to appear before the Senate group.

Meanwhile, Senator Ball (R-Minn.), Senate committee member, said he is "confident" Congress will approve "some form of ban" on the closed shop and industry-wide collective bargaining despite opposition of union leaders. Ball sponsors bills to outlaw both practices.

Other Congressional Doings
Ships—the House Merchant Marine Committee tore up a subpoena for Secretary of State Marshall but pressed for return of American merchant ships from Russia and Britain.

The subpoena, issued by Rep. Weichel (R-Ohio), chairman of a sub-committee, was rescinded by Chairman Bradley of the full committee who censured Weichel for having issued it. Weichel said his subcommittee had been unable to obtain United States-Russian correspondence in the matter.

Subsequently Undersecretary of State Acheson gave the committee the information it requested.

Bradley said he will seek legislation calling on Britain to return 306 lend-lease ships and Russia to give back 65.

OFA—OPA awaited a decision by the Senate appropriations committee on a subcommittee proposal that the agency be allowed $22,000,000 to stay in business until June 30.

Sugar—Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) said witnesses have told that a huge supply of sugar—1,500,000 to 2,000,000 tons—is stored in Java and that if it could be obtained the United States could end sugar rationing. However, the Dutch-Indonesians clash reportedly would complicate the problem of obtaining and shipping the sugar.

Warm rains coming East from Texas expected to melt blanket by night.

The light snow covered most of Tennessee, Northern Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina, extending almost as far south as Montgomery Ala., and Macon, Ga.

The snow storm was moving east-northeast. Rain was falling in the area south of the snow storm.

Temperatures were not severe, ranging around the freezing mark. Atlanta had a low of 30 degrees.

In New England the weather was fair and cold with August. Mo., reporting a low of 15 degrees. Buffalo, N. Y., had a low of 19. It was clear and cold in the Midwest with Chicago reporting a low of 10 degrees. There was a prediction of snow in Chicago.

Sub-zero temperatures were reported in Northern Minnesota and Montana where a cold wave is moving in from Canada.

Army Squadron Flies To Save 3,000 Flood-Trapped Bolivians

West Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 28—(AP)—The army today sent a rescue squadron of four flying boats speeding toward the town of Trinidad, in northern Bolivia, where upward of 3,000 persons were reported clinging to tree-tops, roofs and debris in imminent danger of drowning in a flood.

On direct orders from Washington, the Fifth Emergency Rescue Squadron under command of Capt. Banta M. York took to the air on short notice and sped across the Caribbean Sea.

Four Catalina flying boats capable of landing in floodwaters make up the squadron.

The word from Washington was that Trinidad, a town of 8,000 at a confluence of two rivers, was completely under water and that a majority of its inhabitants had been trapped.

The squadron was to alight at Balboa, Canal Zone, to refuel and for further orders before hopping to Bolivia.

Pilots of the four planes, all First Lieutenants, are William R. Marsden of Toledo, Ohio; Ishmael M. Waggoner of Charleston, W. Va.; Charles J. Zoel of Grand Rapids, Mich.; and Victor L. Wojtowski of Milwaukee, Wis.

Last Chance Tonight

Fulton basketball followers have their last opportunity tonight to see the Bulldogs play on their home floor this year. The regular season closes after tonight's game with Mayfield.

Judged only on a won-lost basis, this has not been an outstanding basketball year for Fulton high school. But seven of the first team's games have been decided by such slight margins that the results easily could have been reversed, and the good sports among the Fulton spectators, though disappointed, have agreed that these were "good games to watch."

All the supporters of the Bulldogs can ask, this year or any year, is that the team play as well as it can as fairly as it can. We believe Coaches Carter and Goranilo have encouraged the boys to do that. Tournament time is just around the corner, and support from home-town rooters can help turn the tide of victory in favor of the Bulldogs.

Whether the home team wins or loses, those spectators who accept the decisions of the officials as final and who refrain from ridiculing or abusing the opponents' team are to be commended. Fortunately, there has been no instance of flagrant referee-baiting here such as occurred in one or two nearby gyms this season. There will be boos and poor losers in any crowd, but the sooner these misfits realize that they are out of place in the Fulton gymnasium the better off the team and school will be.

No Delays Here

Forty minutes after officers appeared at the courthouse to present evidence to the grand jury, a Dyersburg, Tenn., youth was indicted, tried, convicted and sentenced on a larceny charge.

The speed with which justice was meted out is all the more noteworthy when one remembers the many similar cases that seem to drag on and on through the courts, when there is little doubt as to the guilt or innocence of the accused.

As long as we subscribe to the theory that punishment of known law violators will act as a restraining influence on other criminally inclined persons, it might be well if more courts acted with such speed and dispatch in less important cases on the docket.

With The Fourth Estate

The Useful Press

Springfield, Mass., is a city of 150,000. It has been without newspapers for five months. Strikes have closed the city's two morning and two evening papers. The citizens, it is said, are deeply disturbed and unhappy over their newspaperless situation.

From what can be heard now and then about newspapers, one might gain the impression that Americans were, against the press. Few public institutions in this country must endure such beraiding as is handed out to newspapers. Everybody and his brother are of the opinion that they could write, edit and publish better papers than the writers, editors and publishers do.

But when newspapers are not there, as in this Massachusetts city, they become infinitely desirable. The radio is good in its way, but every city which has had to go without newspapers soon finds that the radio cannot do the job alone. (Paris Enterprise.)

We can see how a town like Santa Claus, Indiana, would be proud of its unusual name, but still, Michigan, we think, is in a different category. However, maybe residents of the city enjoy the play on words too much to change the name. There's no denying that snowballs have a pretty long life there.

Britain—A Good Risk

By Dewitt MacKenzie, AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The British government's decision to inaugurate night work in industry—a measure heretofore almost unknown to England excepting under pressure of war—gives us a fair measure of the gravity of the economic crisis which has overtaken John Bull's fair isles.

The fact that this is a Labor (Socialist) government—made up of men who have spent their lives fighting just such onerous hours for the workers—further emphasizes the seriousness of the situation. And it emphasizes the determination of the Britons to battle this difficulty to a finish, just as they did in the perilous days of '40 when the black shadow of German invasion struck across the white cliffs of Dover.

The London Daily Express thinks the crisis is one of character rather than of economics, and expresses confidence that character, sound and steady, will give the life to the prophets who say Britain is finished. Well, I haven't yet encountered any major prophet who ventured to claim that England was finished. Indeed, such a viewpoint strikes me as being exceedingly ill-founded.

Lewis W. Douglas, the economic expert who has been nominated by President Truman for the ambassadorship to London, when asked whether he believed the British would weather their present crisis, replied:

"Of course they will. They are too fine and their character too strong to assume anything else, as an insurance men, I think Britain is a good risk."

No, England isn't finished—not by a long shot. However, we must recognize that this is no ordinary or temporary emergency through which she is passing. She is undergoing a mighty change—is being reborn.

Those of us who know England well through former residence there are wont to think of her before the war as a delightful land of emerald lawns, sweet droll-house gardens and trim hedges, where life moved tranquilly and folk took time to enjoy it. We like to recall our own rose gardens—the long tramps across a countryside dotted with thatched old-world cottages—the lazy-week-ends boating on the Thames.

These things come back to us because they are typical of a land of charm, where life's tempo was moderate and its setting exceedingly pleasant. Of course that wasn't the whole story. There were inequalities. The rich on their baronial estates were very rich, and the poor in their humble cottages sometimes were very poor. Still, the whole, life was gracious to the people of the British Isles.

I believe the spirit of those days will be restored in England, though the road to recovery will be difficult and dangerous. John Bull will see the crisis through. Likely it will be even a better England, because inequalities which have blemished the way of life have been disappearing these many years. She will again see the happy long week-ends upon the Thames.

Still, I don't believe England is heading toward her old affluence. Her days of vast personal fortunes are gone. Her domination of world markets is a page of past history. But the Union Jack flies high over the capital of the globe-encircling British Commonwealth of nations.

Wall Street Report

New York, Feb. 28.—(AP)—While individual stocks made a little further progress in today's market, the list generally failed to follow through on the rally of Thursday.

Prices were slightly uneven at a fairly active opening. Dealings then slowed appreciably and irregularly lower tendencies prevailed near midday. Numerous pivots were unchanged.

Lack of volume on the upturn of the preceding session served to revive speculative and investment caution.

Crown Zellerbach and International Minerals responded moderately to lifted quarterly payments. Occasional advances were Santo Fe, Northern Pacific, Anaconda and U. S. Gypsum. Laggards included U. S. Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, Southern Pacific, N. Y. Central, Du Pont, Douglas Aircraft, International Harvester and American Telephone.

Bonds were narrow. Cotton futures slipped.

Nine and a quarter million of the $47,800,000 construction program will go into the new Muhlenburg county plant.

Plans for a gigantic 10-year construction program, costing $47,800,000, to expand and improve power facilities in the 80 counties served by Kentucky Utilities Company were announced today by R. M. Watt, company president.

One of the important cogs in the new building program, which is expected to bring K. U.'s property to more than $80,000,000 by 1952, is a new 66,000-kilowatt steam powered electric generating plant to cost $9,250,000, on the Green river near South Carrollton in Muhlenburg county.

Other major items planned in addition to the new power plant already under construction at Tyronne, include:

Installation of a second 33,000-kilowatt generator at a cost of nearly $4,000,000 to double the capacity of the present Pineville plant.

"Loop" interconnections to towns now supplied only from one source, K. U.'s western division power plant at Earlington and the new Green river plant will be connected with the Bluegrass and central division at the Dix Dam substation with a 138,000-volt line.

Completion of the Tyronne plant in 1948 and the Green River plant in 1950 will more than double Kentucky Utilities' present generating capacity, according to E. W. Brown, K. U. vice president and chief engineer, provided by steam generating facilities at Paducah, Earlington, Graham, Lexington, Pineville and Mayesville, Kentucky, and Pickett, Virginia, and by hydro-electric generators at Dix Dam and Lock No. 7 on the Kentucky River.

"Despite the doubling of power consumption in Kentucky in the last 10 years, all our customer requirements have been met without stint or ration," Brown explained. "However, we are preparing for tremendously increased loads caused by Kentucky's industrial expansion and the extension of power lines to more rural areas."

4-H Club News

A report of First District 4-H Club workshop held at Mayfield Feb. 20.

Four excellent leaders from the University, Mr. Ramsey and Misses Lacy, Gentry and South-ern, conducted the 4-H club workshop for First District at Mayfield, Thursday, Feb. 20. About 40 women and home agents attended.

All phases of work and a brief review of the origin of 4-H Club work were studied.

There is a crying need for co-operation by all parents, schools and teachers in training children to take the responsibilities they must assume to be tomorrow's leaders. They must grow up and so must parents. Between the two extremes of parents who do not know if their children are below 4-H Clubs and those who do all the work for Johnny in his projects, we must show all parents the need for proper teaching and leading the child to finish his projects.

Good leaders get work done by children. Get them to decide what they want to do, and then to do it. All boys and girls between 10 and 21 years of age are eligible. Kentucky has 480,000 members.

Incentives for action are recognition, new experience, security and response. Parents must bear out the desirable qualities of interest, helpfulness, financial aid, fellowship and good sportsmanship if children are to be successful.

By the interest of club members, extension workers, adult leaders, junior leaders, parents, schools, and organizations and communities, 4-H Clubs will develop better citizens for our future world with unity and understanding.

"The nations of the world look to the people of this country for leadership. They have seen our youth in action. They have seen their courage and their strength. They have admired the human kindness and tolerance of our men who went overseas. May we stand firm in our conviction that America has achieved a way of life that we can all cherish—and cherish, strive ever to guard and improve."

George A. Sloan, publisher, Southern Agriculturist.

Czechs Regain Cermack Plaque

Kladno, Czechoslovakia.—(AP)—This little Bohemian mining town has unveiled, for the second time, the bronze tablet that marks the birthplace of one of its favorite sons, the late Mayor Anton Cermack of Chicago, slain in the assassination attempt upon President Roosevelt.

Several hundred of Kladno's citizenry turned out for the ceremony and there were speeches by U. S. Ambassador Laurence Steinhardt, Prof. J. B. Kozak, formerly of Columbia University, and now of Charles University, Prague, and by officials of Kladno.

The Germans had removed the tablet and brought it to Prague to be melted down with other bronze for gun manufacture. Residents of Kladno came to Prague, stole the tablet and hid it.

With him is Rogers Hornsby, another immortal, who runs the Indians' batting school.

The best suggestions I have ever run across for organizing and running community, clubs or committees are gleaned from Kenneth S. Beam's, "A Guide to Community Coordination". Mr. Beam is executive secretary of Coordinating Councils, Inc., with headquarters in Los Angeles. Here goes:—

"Start with a small group, then increase by inviting representatives from other organizations in the community, until all are represented."

"Sell the idea to three people who will devote their time and efforts, and the job is done."

"Get young people on the committee."

"Secure the board, inclusive participation of all interests and agencies."

"Secure an active and discriminating membership chairman."

"Study the community, find actual needs; then select one
