BUREAU MEMBERS ATTEND DISTRICT MEET AT MAYFIELD

Local Delegation Urges Eradication of Bang's Disease

Rupert Hendon, Farm Bureau president, Harvey Dixon, O. D. Wilson, Roy Graham and Otis Key attended a meeting of the District Farm Bureau at Mayfield Monday night, November 24. C. O. Bondurant, associate county agent, accompanied the delegation as a representative of the county extension office in the absence of Jno. T. Cochran, county agent.

The group met to offer suggestions and resolutions on the formation of the Farm Bureau legislative program which the state organization will offer and seek to gain in the coming session of the state legislature.

A county roll call of membership was also made at the meeting. Reports indicated that all counties have or will definitely meet, or exceed their quotas by Saturday night, November 29, except possibly Marshall, Hickman and Calloway. President Hendon, in reporting for Calloway, stated that after 20 meetings he had secured during Monday he had secured the quota of 100 members being met by Saturday night which is the deadline for 1941 memberships to be counted at the National Farm Bureau convention, incidentally Mr. Hendon was very pleased about the fact that personally secured 19 of the 20 memberships which were signed on county court day.

A large number of resolutions were presented by the different counties and voted on at the district meeting. The Calloway delegation offered a resolution that the legislature be asked to increase appropriations to match Federal funds for the control and eradication of Bang's disease in dairy cattle. It was pointed out by the Calloway delegates that the use of milk from Bang infected cows is a menace to the health of the people and the lives of several calves in Kentucky, and some in Calloway County. Other counties expressed much interest in this resolution and the measure was passed unanimously. Other important resolutions which will be at the meeting included the following:

1. Continuation of policy in favor of the State Income Tax Law and unfavorable opposition to its repeal.
2. Favoring legislation, in line with recommendation of State highway engineers, that will raise the load limit on trucks on the major highways of the state.
3. Restoration of the $50,000 which was cut during the Depression from the state appropriation for agricultural extension work.
4. Asking that Farmers Cooperative Marketing Associations be exempt from the labor wage rate regulation of the Federal Labor Laws known as the Wagner Act.
5. Asking that tobacco grades on individual farmer's baskets be kept off the baskets until after the tobacco is sold and the grades be placed on each basket immediately after sale of the crop.

At the conclusion of the meeting all county representatives were made to meet membership quota this week. The immediate question facing Calloway is whether or not 25 more local supporters will join this week.

Chandler Favors Keeping Ocean Traffic Moving

If we fail to keep the sea lanes open we will be in a bad fix, said Senator Chandler (R-Ky.) today in a speech before the Senate. He said that the nation's defense program is making progress despite strikes.

He said he believed the President has won a sweeping victory over John L. Lewis and that anti-strike legislation will be enacted by Congress.

"When a man strikes against his government," he said, "that should be his last strike so far as our laws are concerned."

Elaborating on the statement, he said that rights granted citizens are not supposed to be used against the government. He said that the government has a right to deal with citizens and groups of citizens.

The Senator said that the Japanese are not going to back down in their foreign policy in regard to the Far East. He considers war likely unless the new Japanese government alters its course.

He said that he was in an army camp during the World War and that he had seen the state of mind of soldiers and repeated the statement made some weeks ago that his services in the armed forces are at the disposal of the government if he is needed.

Dr. Mason had been an outstanding surgeon since the early days of Calloway County, had ever kept pace with the rapid strides of medicine, and truly he had been a humanitarian and thousands mourn the untimely passing of this prominent citizen. It would have been a relief to the community to have these benefactors rest in peace at the passing of "Dr. Will" as he was known to his countless friends.

The William Mason Memorial School of Nursing, founded by Dr. W. H. Mason, has turned out great numbers of young men and young women in this field. He enjoyed the sight of thoroughbred horses and some few years ago possessed fine race horses which made track records in this part of the state.

At different periods during the past few years, visitors to the Mason Hospital, which occupies almost a city block, were amazed at the rare birds and animals to be found on the hospital grounds.

Never striving for riches, but only for those things that would enable him to relieve human ailments, he will ever live in the memories of his friends and dwell in their hearts as a man who lived and worked as a humble servant to mankind.

Today it can be said of Dr. W. H. Mason: "Well done thy good and faithful servant."

Dr. Mason came from a long line of skilled physicians and was born September 29, 1875, at Hazel, a son of Dr. William Mason and Amanda E. (Perry) Mason. He is also survived by a large number of other near relatives, including several nieces and nephews.

Active pallbearers were Everard Hazen, Morris William and Edgar Maddox, Macon Dismukes, and Alva Burke. Honorary pallbearers were Dr. Hal Houston, Dr. Hugh Houston, Dr. C. J. McDevitt, Dr. C. H. Jones, Dr. Robt. W. Hahn, Dr. E. D. Fisher, Dr. E. L. Garrett, Dr. E. D. Hale, Dr. J. A. Outland, Dr. A. D. Butterworth, and Dr. E. D. Miller, Calloway County physicians; Dr. Bob Overbey, Paducah, Dr. Elroy Scruggs, Paris, Tenn., Dr. Hughes Hardin, Dr. T. Z. Barber, Princeton; Riley Miller, Darwin White, H. L. Neely, Oscar Turnover, and Milton Marshall, T. H. Stokes, John Clonlog, K. C. Frazee, J. T. Hughes, Dr. S. D. Sexton, Dr. J. W. Carr, E. J. Beale, G. C. Ashcraft, Billy Marberry, Ed Dismukes, Dr. Charles Hirt, George S. Hag, H. B. Bailey, Sr., and L. L. Velea.

Dr. Mason was a devout member of the Second Baptist Church and had done much to forward the growth of this denomination in Calloway County.

Dr. Mason had been an outstanding surgeon since the early days of Calloway County, had ever kept pace with the rapid strides of medicine, and truly he had been a humanitarian and thousands mourn the untimely passing of this prominent citizen. It would have been a relief to the community to have these benefactors rest in peace at the passing of "Dr. Will" as he was known to his countless friends.

The William Mason Memorial School of Nursing, founded by Dr. W. H. Mason, has turned out great numbers of young men and young women in this field. As a result of Dr. Mason's dreams in former years, this school of nursing has annually graduated outstanding nurses and graduates from this institution are in great demand today.

The prominent Calloway surgeon had a number of hobbies. He was a great lover of the fox hunt and owned and entered outstanding dogs in fox dog field trials. He enjoyed the sight of thoroughbred horses and some few years ago possessed fine race horses which made track records in this part of the state.

At different periods during the past few years, visitors to the Mason Hospital, which occupies almost a city block, were amazed at the rare birds and animals to be found on the hospital grounds.

Never striving for riches, but only for those things that would enable him to relieve human ailments, he will ever live in the memories of his friends and dwell in their hearts as a man who lived and worked as a humble servant to mankind.

Today it can be said of Dr. W. H. Mason: "Well done thy good and faithful servant."

Dr. Mason came from a long line of skilled physicians and was born September 29, 1875, at Hazel, a son of Dr. William Mason and Amanda E. (Perry) Mason. His great grandfather, William Mason, was born in England, whence

HAPPENINGS IN AND NEAR HAZEL

DR. W. H. MASON
No event in Hazel's history caused more sorrow than the passing of Dr. W. H. Mason. Hazel claimed him as her own. He was born in this community before the establishment of the town and grew to manhood here.

His father and grandfather were outstanding physicians. Two of his brothers, Dr. E. and Dr. Rob. Mason, practiced here and the name Mason is synonymous with the medical profession here.

Despite all of Dr. W. H. Mason's high attainments in the medical world, he was just plain "Will" Mason to his friends here, all of whom he recognized and called by their first names.

His frequent visits here brought cheer and happiness to the rich and the poor and the low and the high many of whom owed their health or prolongation of their lives to him.

His aged mother, who is perhaps the oldest and most honored citizen of Hazel, is spending the evening of a useful life in Hazel.

Pioneer Merchant Is Celebrating Twenty-Second Birthday

BY JOSEPHINE CRAWFORD

One of Calloway County's most colorful characters brought to a climax almost a quarter of a century's service to Murray this week.

T. O. Turner, who has braved the winds of nearly 70 winters, came to Murray on November 19, 1919, when he first set up business here.

He had since 1895 been connected with the merchandising business in Cerulean Springs, Ky., where he was born. Mr. Turner is still interested in the activities around his birthplace, Cadiz, and Gracely, Ky.

Immediately upon his advent to this community, Mr. Turner became a leader . . . social, educational, civic, and political. For 12 years, beginning in 1928, he served as state senator under the administration of Sampson, Laffoon, and Chandler.

Although Murray State College was already founded when Mr. Turner began his first term as senator, he has always been a booster of the institution and has been associated with it in several ways during his residence here.

At one time he was a member of the Board of Regents.

He has also been a member of the State Efficiency Committee and served on the State Board of Charities and Corrections.

His first political appointment was made in 1895, when he was selected as district chairman, which position he held for 25 years.

During the period from 1912-1920, he served on the Democratic Executive Committee from the first district of Kentucky.

The ex-senator was one of the influential factors in reorganizing the state government at a special session in 1936.

Favors New Roads
In answer to the question, "What is the most needed thing in Calloway County?" he stated, "More recognition from the government for improvement of our roads . . . and for the state to reimburse the county for money in advance, to be used in building roads."

In connection with the long-sought pavement project on Olive Boulevard, Mr. Turner said, "It is a grand thing that Olive Boulevard is being paved. It's been a long fight to get it . . . it wasn't a state project. It is nice to have it included in the national setup sponsored by the state department."

Mr. Turner believes in a practical theory of education . . . a plan through which the students will learn things that will be of use to them in their daily life.

He is also an advocate of physical education.

Murray State College offers a great opportunity for the people of this area who could not otherwise avail themselves of a higher education," Mr. Turner remarked.

"It has been superior in growth to that of any other college in Kentucky or the adjoining states," he added.

According to Mr. Turner, its danger as an educational institution in the future is in not being able to secure sufficient maintenance.

one of their children to be born in the United States was William Morris Mason.

William Herbert Mason secured his primary education in the rural schools of Calloway County, and at the age of 13 years entered the Murray Male and Female Institute, where he spent one year. He then took a three-year course at Connersville Academy, Connersville, Tenn., this being followed by three years of literary work at Union College, Lincoln, Neb.

For one year after his graduation therefrom he was principal of the school at Hazel, and then for a like period taught Latin and history in the Murray Male and Female College, entering Vanderbilt University, he had a brilliant college career, being honor man in his junior and senior years, and receiving gold medals, the call came for his services during the smallpox epidemic. He responded promptly thereto and after stamping out the epidemic, settled down to practice. He specialized in surgery, a field in which his reputation extended far and wide. In 1890 was duly graduated with the degree of Doctor of Medicine. In later years he took post-graduate courses at the Chicago Polyclinic and the Chicago Post-Graduate School, Chicago, Ill., Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md., and Battle Creek Sanitarium, Battle Creek, Mich.

In 1907 he visited the famous Mayo Brothers Clinic at Rochester, Minn., and returned nearly every year since that time, specializing in surgery.

Dr. Mason began practice in association with his father at Hazel in 1898, but one year after entering upon his professional duties beyond the bounds of his immediate community. Doctor Mason belonged to the Calloway County Medical Society, the Southwestern Kentucky Medical Society, the West Tennessee Medical and Surgical Society, the Kentucky State Medical Society and the American Medical Association, belonged to the Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America, and was a life member of the Surgeons Club, with headquarters at Rochester, Minn.

He was medical referee of Calloway County for the State Board of Health, served as health officer of Calloway County for 10 years, and as county physician for a like period; and from 1900 served for many years as local surgeon for the N. C. and St. Louis Railroad Company. During the World War period he volunteered for service in the United States Army Medical Corps and was accepted, but the Armistice was signed before he was called to the colors.

In 1929, Doctor Mason realized the ambition of years when he accepted on Poplar Street his new brick and concrete hospital and sanitarium. It realized the expectations of its founder and gained its hold upon the public confidence until it was recognized among the leading institutions for healing in the state. In 1935 this structure burned to the ground and in its stead a magnificent building arose from the ashes of ruin and today its facilities for the care of the sick are modern and complete.

Dr. Mason was a republican in his political allegiance and had long been influential in the ranks of his party. He was a delegate to the Republican National Convention, held in Chicago in 1916. In 1909 he was chairman of the Republican County Central Committee. As a fraternalist Dr. Mason was united in marriage at Washington, D. C., with Dr. Ora Kress, daughter of Dr. D. H. and Dr. Martha Kress. To Dr. and Mrs. Mason there was born one daughter, Patricia Grace, at Murray, January 9, 1919.

ON THE RECORDS

By F. P. INGLIS

This month sees Victor's finest 1941 release—the Tchaikovsky Piano Concerto in Bb as played by Vladimir Horowitz and the NBC Symphony Orchestra under the pianist's distinguished father-in-law, Arturo Toscanini. Here is Victor gives us one of Ravel's finest works this month in "La Valse"—a choreographic poem for orchestra. This rather bitter commentary on society, written in 1920, is a good example of a sensitive artist's reaction in tone to that era of disillusionment and premonition of the troubled world of today. It is a true apotheosis of the waltz and all that it symbolizes. There is much food for thought beneath the surface of this disturbing music, and Pierre Monteux and the San Francisco Symphony give it a definitive and beautifully recorded reading. The fourth side filler is the familiar Bridal Procession from Rimsky-Korakov's opera "Le Coq d'Or" (Victor Set M-820).

Another outstanding newcomer is Charles Holland, negro tenor. He makes an impressive debut with a wistful, intelligent interpretation of an old familiar spiritual "Hogart." Honors coupled with Davies' unusual and sombre "Talk About a Child That Do Love Jesus" (Victor).

Fine Russian "choral" music is offered this month by the General Plottoff Don Cossack Chorus in two good Russian folk-songs—"Evening Bells" and "The Snow Has Blown Over Russia." You will like the clear, resonant high-tenor solo voice and the rich quality of the basses (Victor).

TIGERS DEFEAT GROVE HIGH 13-0 IN TURKEY DAY BATTLE

Buchanan Sparks Bengals by Gaining 169 Yards

The Murray High School Tigers hit their peak here Thanksgiving Day to decisively defeat the Blue Devils of Grove High School, 13-0, in a game that was the highlight of the 11-game series.

The Hollandmen were sparked to their victory by Paul Buchanan, halfback, who turned in his greatest offensive game of his career, by amassing a total of 169 yards. Polly, fleet Murray back ran second with 78 yards; Starks added 40 yards and Gibbs, contributed 25 yards to the Tigers' cause. The entire Murray line displayed strength to hold the Parisians to one first down while rolling up 16 of their own.

Murray won the toss and chose to receive. Baker, powerful Paris back, kicked to the Murray-20 where Gibbs brought the oval to the Murray 28. Starks played the line for 8 yards but on the next play Waddy, for the visitors, recovered Polly's fumble on Murray's 22.

Two plays later, Buchanan fell on Maxwell's fumble on the Tigers' 19. Murray called time out. Starks played the line for a 2-yard gain. Buchanan was pulled down from behind for a 2-yard loss; Polly dashed around his own left end for 18 yards; Buchanan passed to Polly for an 8-yard gain; Gibbs made it a first down at midfield; Polly hit the line for 1 yard; Starks slanted off tackle for a first down on Grove's 42; Buchanan dug at the line to pick up a yard; Buchanan's pass to Saunders and Polly were knocked down and the ball went over to the visitors. Smith lost a yard on an attempted buck; Rasberry managed to pick up a yard to make it third down and 10; Ogden knifed his way through the Grove line to dump the Blue Devil for a 4-yard loss; Rasberry kicked out of bounds on Murray's 8.

Starks stepped nicely to gain 4 yards through center; again Starks found the same opening and picked up 5 yards; Gibbs made it a first down on Paris' 19; Polly hit the line for 1 yard; on a mix-up in signals by the Murrrays the ball went wild but Starks made the recovery; Buchanan's pass to Outland was incomplete; Buchanan punted to midfield where the ball was downed.

Eaker, small but speedy back for Grove, carried for 5; Baker crashed through center for a first down as the first quarter ended.

Eaker punted the line for 1 yard and on the following play again picked up 1 yard; Rasberry was dropped for a yard loss; Baker gained 3 yards on a line play and the ball went to Murray on downs. Buchanan's pass to Polly was knocked down; Buchanan swept his own right end for a first down; Murray was penalized 15 yards for holding; Polly gained 2 through the line; Buchanan raced around right end for 7; a pass, Buchanan to Outland, was grounded; Buchanan punted over the end zone.

Hicks tried left end for no gain; time out was called by Paris; Blacklock for Murray, who was injured in the first quarter, reentered the game at guard for Mason; Balch carried for 3 yards around his own right end; Rasberry kicked to the Murray 37. Buchanan's pass to Outland was knocked down; Buchanan tried right end for 3 yards; Polly failed to gain through the Grove line; Buchanan kicked to Grove's 5 and the ball was downed.

Rasberry punted out to his own 38.

Starks gained 3 at the line; Buchanan went to the 30; Polly made it a first down on Grove's 24; Starkshipped his way for 5 yards; Starks again hit the line for 3; Gibbs added a yard; Starks carried for a first down on Paris' 10; Starks dug his way to the yard; Polly blasted his way to the 3-yard line; Buchanan dropped for a 3 yard loss; Buchanan's pass to Polly was no good as the half the third quarter opened with the ball going to Grove on downs. Baker punted to Buchanan on the 43 yard line.

Polly got loose around left end for 26 yards to place the ball on Grove's 31; Buchanan picked up a yard through the line; Buchanan went down the sideline to the 1-yard line. Buchanan then took the ball across for the score. A fake play gave the ball to Polly who went around left end to convert 1-0, Murray.

Polly kicked off to the visitors' 11 and the ball was returned to the 28; an end-around pass was incomplete; following a completed pass, Rasberry to Norwood, Rasberry punted to Murray's 17.

Buchanan scattered around right end for 20 yards; Polly tried left end and carried for 2 yards; Gibbs plunged for 3 through center; Buchanan went for 6 yards and a first down on the 50-yard stripe; Polly lost 1 yard on two sweeps; five plays and Buchanan was trapped for a 7-yard loss on an attempted pass; Buchanan's pass was intercepted by Rasberry; Buchanan gained 3 through the line; Eaker's pass was grounded by Mason; Eaker was tossed for a yard loss at midfield; Polly took Rasberry's punt on Murray's 18.

Gibbs picked up a yard as the third period ended.

Polly drove his way for a 2-yard gain; Polly rambled to Grove's 30 for a first down; Polly found 3 yards at left tackle; Buchanan plugged for 5 yards and Polly made it a first down. Time out. Starks replaces Huie for Murray. Buchanan went around right end for 3; Polly failed to gain; Buchanan again raced around Grove's right end for 15 yards to place the ball on the Tennessee's 38; Starks, on a reverse, gained 3 yards; Polly was thrown for a 3-yard loss; Buchanan's pass to Outland was incomplete. Russell replaced Outland who was injured. Buchanan kicked to Paris for a downfield.

Baker gained 3 yards at the line; King plowed for 2; King's pass to Waddy was no good; Rasberry kicked to Paris' 40.

Buchanan got loose for 28 yards and went to Paris' 23; the Parisians were offside and a penalty put the ball on the 18; Buchanan found 5 off right tackle. Paris called time out. Polly managed to pick up 3 around his own right end; Buchanan gained yards to make it first down and goal to go. Huie, in for Gibbs, slipped across for the score. The try for a point was no good. Score: Murray 13, Grove 0. Buchanan picked up 8 yards around right end but Murray was penalized 15 yards for roughness as the game ended.

Calloway County Farmers Are Eligible For Cotton Insurance On 1942 Planting

Approximately 700 cotton farmers in Calloway County are eligible for "all-risk" insurance on their 1942 crop when policies offered by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation go on sale at the county AAA office, B. W. Edmonds, county AAA chairman, announced today.

Sale of cotton insurance is expected to begin about the first week in January, Edmonds said. Cotton insurance is being offered for the first time under the AAA crop insurance program, which has been in effect for wheat since 1939.

Every farmer, cooperating in the AAA programs of the U. S. Department of Agriculture is eligible for insurance on his acreage of the crops now being insured.

Either 50 or 75 per cent of the farmer's normal yield is insurable under the program.

The insurance covers losses from all unavoidable hazards, such as flood and drought.

Cost of the insurance will be based on the actual risk of growing cotton on each farm, Edmonds said.

QUAIL, RABBIT SEASON OPENS MONDAY

The quail and rabbit season opened November 24, and quite a number of Murray and Calloway sportsmen have been enjoying the week — especially the quail-hungry.

According to reports received from most every section of the state, quail are plentiful this year, partially due to the restocking program carried out last spring by the Division and the sportsmen, and to favorable seasons.

S. A. Wakefield, director of the Division of Game and Fish, calls the hunters' attention to the fact that the Bob White quail cannot be bought or sold anywhere in Kentucky, and anyone caught doing so is liable to arrest. The bag limit is 12 a day, or not more than two days' bag limit (24) in possession. Rabbits may be bought or sold anywhere in the state, but no person may have more than 16 in possession at any time. The daily bag limit is eight. The cottontail rabbit is reported plentiful in many counties.

County hunting licenses are issued for $1; state licenses, to residents, are $3.

NAVIGATION LOCKS AT GILBERTSVILLE ABOUT COMPLETE

GILBERTSVILLE, Nov. 13.—Preparations are advancing rapidly to put the navigation lock at the Kentucky Dam in operation.

The lock structure is practically complete. The great steel permanent gates have been installed and the work now in progress consists mostly in completing the installation of the necessary machinery to operate the lock, and a general clean-up and check-up in the lock construction area.

Both upstream and downstream from the navigation lock large earth-dikes at present block the east channel so as to keep the lock construction area clear of water from the river. A portion of this dike is being removed by a hydraulic dredge and as soon as a sufficiently large opening is made in the downstream dike for the dredge to pass through, the dredge will proceed through the flooded boat channel and the lock to the upstream dike. The dredge will then remove the upstream dike and then resume operations on the downstream dike until the boat channel is free of obstructions to navigation.

As soon as the navigation lock is put into operation river traffic will use a new navigation channel in the Tennessee River which skirts the construction work on the dam and around an island in the river immediately behind the dam construction area.

Arrow Head Can Be A Bommerang

CAMP SHELBY, Miss., Nov. 10.—Can an arrowhead be a bommerang?

Yes. Here's how it happened: A soldier of the 38th Division found an arrowhead on the grounds of Camp Shelby. Dreaming up a wonderful joke, he took the flint to the 11th Ordnance Department, which has charge of all weapons. The soldier approached First Lieutenant Charles W. Hart, of Bardonia, Ky.

"Sir, do you know the calibre of this projectile?"

Now the bommerang part of this story is that the lieutenant did, soon. He checked it out on the department's instruments, and then made an official report, telling the soldier the history of the flint arrowheads, its use, how it was replaced by the gun.

Lieutenant Hart, you see, is by vocation a technical expert on firearms, but by avocation is a collector and student of arrowheads!

• DR. WILLIAM MASON

Just as every community is made up of individuals, every community whose name and fame is spread over a wide area owes its reputation largely to one, or more, individuals. Dr. William Mason, who died Sunday after an illness of several months, was that kind of individual.

Murray would be here today if there had been no Dr. William Mason practicing his profession here over a quarter of a century period, but many who are well acquainted with our city and its people would never have visited us. For they came here because of him, and because of the hospital he built.

What his practice in Murray meant to the community from a dollars and cents standpoint, however, is unimportant when compared with the greater good he performed in restoring ailing men, women and children to health, and the still more noble accomplishment of renewing hope in the depressed, and giving inspiration to those in despair.

As a new-comer it would be ridiculous, as well as improper, for the writer to attempt to comment at length on what Dr. William Mason meant to Murray and Calloway County for he was probably affiliated with almost every institution and movement designed and dedicated to the community welfare, but as a near neighbor we have observed over the past decade and a half that his hospital attracted more people to this community, possibly, than any other institution here with the exception of Murray State Teachers College, and he was as much a part of the great state institution as his own.

Dr. Mason was a pioneer in his profession. But he was more than a man of science. He was a community leader and, as such, his death is a community loss.

• MURRAY'S PAYROLL

Merchants, and others in business in Murray, are chalking up nice volume increases each week and month over the same period of 1940.

Several changes in local conditions are responsible, such as the increased price of farm commodities, the improvement in the livestock and dairy industries, and the like, but one of the chief reasons for the substantial increase of money in circulation in Murray, and other communities in Calloway County, is the Tennessee Valley Authority payroll for land clearance which was created some weeks ago and which is now growing week by week.

Those who may hold some doubts as to the economic effect this great public agency is having on our community life have but to take notice of the increased activity in our stores on TVA paydays, and the period immediately following.

As headquarters for some of the Authority's main divisions, we have as citizens scores of the leading officials and employees, and Murray is getting her share of the major payrolls at Kentucky Dam because of our modern mercantile establishments, banking institutions, eating and amusement houses and other advantages.

As time goes by Murray will benefit in increasing measure by the TVA program, and when power is finally available at the Kentucky Dam switchboard industry is as certain to make use of it here and elsewhere in this section, as it has followed in the wake of power dam development from the mountains of North Carolina and East Tennessee to the very borders of Kentucky, or just as far as transmission lines can reach.

• PROGRESS IN DEFENSE

In a national emergency there are so many disconcerting developments in a democracy such as ours that one is likely to become alarmed over internal disunity, and is sometimes inclined to doubt our ability to cope with the dangers facing us.

For that reason if does us good, at times, to forego the evening news of the war, lay aside the newspaper with its frightening headlines and listen to a well-balanced, sensible, calm appraisal of the world's political, economic, and military situation, as it applies to us, by a person whose record in public life justifies his opinion-bearing weight. Such an appraisal was given by such a person here last week when J. Lyter Donaldson, commissioner of highways, addressed one of the largest gatherings of men in Murray in many months.

Another public figure who must have inspired most people who heard him was H. V. Kaltenborn, noted radio commentator, who has been on the Pacific coast visiting some of the principal defense factories. In his broadcast last Sunday he stated that one gets discouraged in Washington, but encouraged when he gets out and visits some of our defense factories and sees what is going on in the matter of providing our army and navy with fighting equipment and producing arms for our allies.

The discussions by Donaldson and Kaltenborn had little, if anything, in common, yet one who heard both cannot help but being inspired. Donaldson's talk was on the type of government that has given Americans the highest standard of living on earth, and Kaltenborn inspired confidence in our ability to maintain democratic institutions.

It makes us mighty blue to read and hear so much about strikes, political inefficiency and outright corruption in our beloved country, but it is fine to realize that the overwhelming majority of our people are patriotic, that most of our public servants are trustworthy and that industry is functioning more smoothly in this country, despite the gangsters in ranks of organized labor, than anywhere else on earth.

It makes us shudder to think what happened to France and to realize why it happened. It causes chills to run up and down our spines to note so many symptoms in our own society of the evils that caused France's down-

This Week In Defense

President Roosevelt sent identical letters to UMW President Lewis and to the steel company representatives Benjamin Fairless, Eugene Grace and Frank Purnell stating "work in the captive mines must be reformed." The issue in dispute does not justify a stoppage of work in a grave national crisis.

The President asked the four leaders to "allow the matter of the closed shop in the captive mines to remain in status quo for the period of the national emergency" or else to accept final arbitration. He said any agreement reached would have no effect on the UMW's closed shop agreement already in effect with regular commercial mines.

In a message to the CIO convention at Detroit, the President said "democratic freedoms are protected from the 'world scourge' of Hitlerism. 'Free trade unions and all other free institutions will flourish.' To protect these freedoms, we must produce guns, tanks, planes and ships without delay and without interruption, and the American people and their Government are determined that we shall have them.

The State Department announced an agreement has been reached with Mexico providing 1. The settling of a final fair price for American petroleum properties taken over in 1933—Mexico to pay $9,000,000 at once as a token payment, 2. Mexico to pay $40,000,000 in full settlement of general and agrarian claims, at a rate of $2,500,000 annually, 3. A reciprocal trade treaty to be negotiated at once, 4. The United States to provide a $40,000,000 stabilization fund to maintain the peso at its present rate, 5. The U. S. to purchase up to 6,000,000 ounces of newly-mined Mexican silver monthly, 6. The Export-Import Bank to establish credits up to $30,000,000 to be made available in installments of $10,000,000 a year to aid Mexico in developing her highways.

The Department of Agriculture reported nearly 1,500,000 pounds of agricultural commodities costing almost $200,000,000 were delivered to the British Government for Lend-Lease shipment from the beginning of operations in April up to October 1. Animal protein products, including cheese, dried milk, evaporated milk, eggs, pork and lard, made up the most important groups of commodities.

State Secretary Hull announced a Lend-Lease agreement has been signed with Iceland, which is being used for the neutrality act.

President Roosevelt signed the legislation to repeal the three key sections of the Neutrality Act. The President also requested from Congress a new $200,000,000 appropriation for the Navy, including $120,000,000 for "defense installations" of merchant ships. Navy Secretary Knox said the first armed U. S. merchant vessels will be plying the sea within a week. He said ships playing both the Atlantic and Pacific will be armed. The arming of the ships will require three to four months to complete. The Navy will put gun crews of from 12 to 18 men on all ships as fast as they are armed. The Maritime Commission reported the keels of 21 Liberty ships were laid during October to bring the total to 75. Four of these ships were launched in October, compared with three for September. Another three are scheduled to be launched this month. The Commission added four ships to its six-ship training fleet to help turn out 15,000 trained seamen for the deck, engine and steward's departments during 1942 and 1943.

The Navy announced capture by the U. S. Coast Guard in Atlantic equatorial waters of the German ship Odenwald, which was sailing under U. S. colors. The disguised merchant ship was on its way from Yokohama to Bordeaux with a cargo of 3,000 tons of raw rubber and American-made automobile tires. Secretary Knox told his press conference the Odenwald was one of a number of German ships which had been chartered to Japanese interests.

Three destroyers, a submarine and the battleship Indiana were launched—making a total of three months to complete. The Navy will put gun crews of from 12 to 18 men on all ships as fast as they are armed. The Maritime Commission reported the keels of 21 Liberty ships were laid during October to bring the total to 75. Four of these ships were launched in October, compared with three for September. Another three are scheduled to be launched this month. The Commission added four ships to its six-ship training fleet to help turn out 15,000 trained seamen for the deck, engine and steward's departments during 1942 and 1943.

This is not France, however, and the difference is that virtue is in the majority here, even though the same vices are all too prevalent.

In the present emergency it is impossible to overdo the matter of flag waving. Here in Kentucky Lyter Donaldson can do no better job than to deliver the kind of speech he delivered here in Murray in every city, town and hamlet in the Commonwealth, despite the fact he said little about his job of maintaining and building our highways and bridges. Nor can Kaltenborn perform any more valuable public service than to keep on visiting defense plants and telling us of what he sees and hears.

Subcontracting

The Maritime Commission announced that because it started 14 months ago to "farm out" contracts to small manufacturers, it is now receiving machinery and equipment for the emergency ship construction program from 450 concerns in 32 states. The Treasury Department issued a booklet on procedures called "Doing Business with the Procurement Division." Copies are available without charge from the Treasury Procurement Division, Washington, D. C. The Contract Distribution Division opened nine more field offices to bring the total to 66.

Coke and Coal
Fuel Coordinator Ickes reported coke production during the first 10 months of this year was 16 per cent greater than during the corresponding period last year. A record production of 63,000,000 tons is indicated for the complete year of 1941.

Mr. Ickes also said production of Pennsylvania anthracite coal through October, 1941, was nine per cent above the corresponding period of 1940. If the percentage is maintained, he said, total 1941 production will approximate 56,000,000 tons, the largest since 1934.

Newboys to Sell Defense Stamps
The Treasury Department announced plans have been completed with newspaper circulation managers for 500,000 newspaper carrier boys to sell Defense Savings Stamps direct to American homes.

Agriculture
The Department of Agriculture said additional improvement in the demand for farm products is indicated for the next few months as a result of increased consumer buying. Farm income from markets increased 15 per cent more than the normal seasonal gain during the period from June to September. The Department also reported 10,420,000 persons employed in agriculture as of November 1, the lowest November level since 1925.

Secretary Wickard announced establishment of a nation-wide organization of farmers and Department workers to make plans for an agricultural post-war program.

Army Ordnance
President Roosevelt asked Congress for a supplemental appropriation of $5,687,000,000 for the War Department, including $3,720,000,000 for ordnance and $1,967,000,000 for the Air Corps. Army Chief of Ordnance Weson, speaking in Hartford, Conn., said U. S. light and medium tanks have greater fire power, maneuverability and speed than European models as well as "many times the powers of endurance." He said the Ordnance Department has also developed a light anti-tank artillery, piece "capable of knocking out any known tank at very great ranges."

Army Health
The War Department announced the death rate in the Army from disease now is less than one-tenth what it was in 1917-18 and the venereal disease rate is less than half what it was at that time. Chief of Army Medical Service said most of the USO buildings will be in use by Christmas. The Army also announced field houses are being built in 37 camps to furnish additional recreational facilities during winter months.

Civilian Supply
Director of Civilian Supply Henderson announced passenger car production during February, 1942, will be reduced by 56 per cent as compared with production in February, 1941—from 396,000 cars to 174,000 cars. An OPM automotive committee recommended the effective date for the order banning bright work from automobiles be postponed from December 15 to December 31. The OPM made tentative allocations of 112 airplanes to U. S. commercial airlines during 1942.

We begin to realize more fully the harshness of winter as we see the different ones transport their dogs from their muddy pens to the smokehouse where there will be no more feed required for them.

For the benefit of those who work at home and abroad, prayer meeting at the Cherry Baptist Church has been changed from Wednesday night to 6 o'clock Sunday night. A good number were present Sunday night for the interesting program presented by the Gannus Quartette. Mr. Gannus plans to begin a music school at Cherry. Fifteen have enrolled. By means of this school, we hope to determine and develop our musical talent and thus make our worship services more interesting to others.

The Cherry division of the WMS met in the home of Mrs. Burnett Outland last Tuesday for a study of mission work in Kentucky. Twelve members and three visitors were present for the inspiring lesson, prepared and taught by Mrs. Sadie Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Henry and Rose were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Henry Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilma Heath and Mrs. Perry Hendon were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Heath Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hargis visited his mother, Mrs. Ethel Hargis, and family Thanksgiving Day.

Mrs. Zora Hendon spent several days with her daughter, Mrs. Euphie Baucum, and family of Memphis, Tenn. recently.

School News

School was dismissed Wednesday afternoon for cooperation with our President in celebrating Thanksgiving a week earlier than was set aside and observed by our forefathers for years in the past.

The honor roll for the fourth month follows:

First grade, Dan Parker, Thomas D. Forrest.

Fourth grade, Edward G. Russell, Sixth grade, Jean Parker, Alma Grooms.

With deep regret we report the loss of two students, Alton and Alma Brown Riddings, who are missing this week. They are moving about two miles west of Lynn Grove where they plan to enter school soon. While we suffer a great loss to our community, as well as to our school, someone else will receive a gain of untold worth.

Letter to Editor

Kirkland, Texas
Nov. 18, 1941

The Ledger & Times

Dear Editor:

The fall weather now seems made to order. It is warm and windy and cotton and feed are growing and being placed in bales. We have had a few light frosts but you still see lots of green and flowers are still blooming. Every farmer is taking advantage of the perfect weather.

I attended the Farmers' Cooperative meeting at Childress on November 6 and there stood 300 bales of cotton to be ginned. Of course with three units in operation they will gin lots of cotton.

The house was also full of cotton. They gin about nine bales an hour.

All gins here are not so crowded but the Co-op gins half the cotton in this county.

Ducks are drifting South later this year and we have seen very few flocks flying over. Quail are plentiful here than in previous years. There are a large number of coyotes here and they can be heard howling every afternoon and night. Hardman County has hired a government trapper. My hope will be to thin them out so we will be able to raise a few chickens next

Armistice day was quietly celebrated here with most farmers remaining at home to gather crops.

However, at 11 o'clock for 30 minutes every thing that had a whistle was turned loose in Holts, Okla., which is about 17 miles northeast of us. The atmosphere was just right and the noise carried plainly.

We can't say how much we enjoy the Ledger & Times. It is, of course, the first paper we read on Monday after we read the letters from our babies in the sanatorium at San Angelo. That is indeed a very grand place for the sick. The tuberculosis sanatorium is located 15 miles northwest of the beautiful city of San Angelo, in the county of Tom Green. The children's hospital has a total of 187 beds, eight large airy wards which are spotless and can be. Five school rooms give the children their education as if they were at home.

At 7 a. m. the children in this hospital rise and dress and have their temperature recorded by the nurse which is followed by breakfast. School begins at 8:00 and with only a 15-minute recess they are dismissed at 11:30. Children under weight are given nourishment at 10:15 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. All children go to bed promptly at 1 p. m. for two and one-half hours of absolute rest. At 3:30 p. m. the children get up and dress for an outdoor play under supervision of a nurse and a school attendant. At 4 p. m. school is resumed for an hour and fifteen minutes of study.

Temperature and pulse are recorded again at 5:15 p. m. after which the children play until called for the evening meal at 5:45 p. m. After supper the children play out doors until bed time, 7:30 p. m. in winter and at 8 p. m. all

1941 LOOKS AT 1916

THINGS have changed a lot in 25 years—yet there is much that is the same.

In 1916 it was Preparedness; in 1941, National Defense. But now the scale is bigger, the pace is faster. There was pressure on the telephone business then. The pressure is infinitely greater now. New training camps; new aviation fields; new munition plants; new shipyards and many other defense industries, all need telephones. Everyone is moving faster. . . and, when a nation hurries, it does so by telephone.

Southern Bell spent about $4,600,000 on new construction in 1941. It is spending over $51,000,000 in 1941.

The entire Southern Bell organization serving nine Southern states, is giving "first call" to Defense. We believe you would want it that way.

LIVING FROM THE FARM

By JNO. T. COCHRAN
County Agent

Each year at the end of November County Extension workers report the activities of the Extension Service for the year.

Calloway County agents are working on the report for Calloway County. Some fine things have been accomplished this year, judging from reports received from community leaders. Farm families have tried hard to live better from the farm or to make the farm do a better job of caring for the family needs.

Fine reports have been received from 84 community leaders in 19 communities, but space will permit the use here of but one on each of the five five-at-home projects.

Poultry, Palestine Community, Mrs. Eulis Goodwin, Leader

"I hardly think there can be too much said of how poultry has helped us do a better job of living on the farm. With egg prices soaring more than in the past several years, we are able to feed more and better feed, thereby realizing much more profit which is helpful in furnishing the family's needs, such as groceries that cannot be grown on the farm, fruit cans with which to can the surplus food, clothing for the family and in some instances the farm flock has helped buy seeds to sow for winter cover crops, wallpaper to decorate the interior of the home, making the family feel happy and gay.

They have even bought church papers for the family to read and last, but not least, made us able to pay more to our church and missions. Yes, another important item in our farm poultry project is roofing to cover the laying house and on another they paid for a laying house complete. The next job they must help in is the Red Cross drive and we will give them the praise."

Mrs. Goodwin's 165 hens have a new house this winter, thanks to Mr. Goodwin and the income from the hens.

Fruit, Kirksey Community, W. D. Perdue, Leader

"I think people have made more effort to save more fruit and vegetables this year than ever before for most everyone in this neighborhood has a lot of fruit, both canned and dried for winter. I think they have plenty for home use and some to share. I know one family that has over 700 quarts of canned fruit."

Dairy, New Concord Community, Elna Dick, Leader

"I think if it was not for the dairy cow in this community the farmer would have a harder time of it. I don't think the most of the farmers know how much the dairy cows are worth to the family. I think there is more profit in a dairy cow than anything you can put on the farm. They help you grow better corn and tobacco and will do the big end of feeding your family. I think this community is realizing more and more each year from the dairy cow."

Meat, Backusburg Community, Mrs. Noble Fugate, Leader

"After the demonstration on canned meats as given in my home last fall by Miss Rowland, Mrs. Raymond Stevens and Mrs. Harlan Hughes, there is hardly a housewife in this community who hasn't canned chicken. All have canned pork, more are trying to can ribs, backbone, hearts and liver. I canned 20 quarts. Never lost a can, and don't think anyone else lost any, as it is not time in this community for any kinds of meat but chicken. Our pork canning runs from about November to February in this community, but am sure there will be more cans in everybody's pantry or cellar than ever before."

Garden, Brooks Chapel, Henry Burken, Leader

"I think everybody in this community has done their best to raise what they had to eat. They have canned more different things than I ever heard of. I don't know of a family that hasn't canned more than enough to do. Every one had a early garden and a late one, too."

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Nancey of Farmington, Route 1, a daughter, Mary Nell, November 19. Now "Ole Eagle" has 10 grand children in whom he is well pleased.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cochran have sold their fine farm on Highway No. 121 (Stella) to Mr. Wilson of New Providence and have bought the Byron Henry place on South Twelfth street in Murray. These splendid, aged people have resided at their home farm for more than 40 years.

A few months ago, Roy Knight's fine home burned down. Now he has had a new house built on the original D. Radford place at Stella.

I think Oscar Jones was the main carpenter. We are truly glad that this good family are "at home and friends" once more after going through many days of adversity.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Morgan and "Celia of Detroit" are "in" seeing their head to foot with pneumonia. Finally I saw myself in the looking glass—ole ugly mug, that's all.

Did you ever hear two old men or women tell of their aches and pains? They know not when to cease such uncalculated talk, which is superfluous.

I know of several families that have not been away from home all night in the last 10 years and a lot of house flies are very thankful.

A certain man went into the henhouse and killed an "opossum" with his walking stick and the dog got out that he killed a bear with his walking stick. Later on he killed a snake thief in his henhouse with two automatic pistols buckled around him. A lie can get all over town before the truth can get up and gets its boots on.

Keep on coming, Ledger & Times, you are a welcome guest not only here but at Maxfield, San Antonio, Tex., Jersey City, N. Y., and other cities—"Ole Eagle."

Cedar Knob

Hello, folks! It's the old Cedar Knob gossip again for a chat with you good folks.

Mrs. Jim Simmons was visiting with Mrs. Susan Oliver and daughter Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Morris and his mother, Mrs. Alice Bray, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Simmons and son, William Brooks, W. D. Lassiter and Joe Anderson came in Wednesday from Detroit, Mich., and spent until Sunday with home folks and friends—around Providence and Macedonia and Blood River.

A. W. Simmons was in Paris Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Simmons and children, Lucille and E. H., and Miss Mary Mitchell were in New Providence Friday and spent part of the day with Mrs. Edgar Lamb and their daughter, Miss Pernie Mae Simmons, who is working for the Lambs. Mrs. Lamb is still very feeble and is still confined to her bed.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Willis spent the first of the week with his sister, Annie Willis, and Jessie McClure. Miss Mary Mitchell was the first.

A pleasing addition to dishes or meals is the occasional use of nuts. The family lucky enough to have a walnut, pecan, or chestnut tree, or have a nice patch of peanuts, can have many meals made more interesting and nutritious during the winter when it is easy to get into a rut of serving the same foods cooked the same way over and over.

Nuts are a concentrated food and should be used as part of the meal rather than as an addition to an already adequate meal.

Many people have the idea that nuts are rich in protein and may take the place of meats and other protein foods. It is true that most nuts are fairly rich in protein but they also contain so much fat that we should consider them as a substitute for foods rich in fat rather than protein foods. Peanuts are over 40 per cent fat, black walnuts are 50 per cent, and coconut 33 per cent.

Nuts contain little carbohydrates or starch, with the exception of chestnuts. Most nuts are rich sources of phosphorus and fair sources of calcium. We get some iron from nuts, such as walnuts, pecans, and hickory nuts, and a good amount of vitamin A from pecans. Most nuts furnish good supplies of vitamin B which is hard to get enough in the average diet.

There are many different ways of including nuts in meals. Delicious loaves or croquettes may be made with left over vegetables and nuts. Nut bread makes most any lunch or supper better. Try adding some nuts to a vegetable or fruit salad and watch how fast the salad disappears.

With Christmas in the air we find that nuts added to a simple cake or pudding gives it a festive air, and what would a holiday be without peanut brittle or some other nut-filled candy?

dried fruit, and over 100 pounds of dried fruit, and a lot of dried beans and peas. So I am sure this community is in better shape in that line than ever before. If every community in the county has done as well as this one, I am sure the farm people of Calloway will not get hungry this winter.

Dairy, New Concord Community, Elna Dick, Leader

"I think if it was not for the dairy cow in this community the farmer would have a harder time of it. I don't think the most of the farmers know how much the dairy cows are worth to the family. I think there is more profit in a dairy cow than anything you can put on the farm. They help you grow better corn and tobacco and will do the big end of feeding your family. Did you ever hear two old men or women tell of their aches and pains? They know not when to cease such uncalculated talk, which is superfluous.

I know of several families that have not been away from home all night in the last 10 years and a lot of house flies are very thankful.

A certain man went into the henhouse and killed an "opossum" with his walking stick and the dog got out that he killed a bear with his walking stick. Later on he killed a snake thief in his henhouse with two automatic pistols buckled around him. A lie can get all over town before the truth can get up and gets its boots on.

Keep on coming, Ledger & Times, you are a welcome guest not only here but at Maxfield, San Antonio, Tex., Jersey City, N. Y., and other cities—"Ole Eagle."

A pleasing addition to dishes or meals is the occasional use of nuts. The family lucky enough to have a walnut, pecan, or chestnut tree, or have a nice patch of peanuts, can have many meals made more interesting and nutritious during the winter when it is easy to get into a rut of serving the same foods cooked the same way over and over.

Nuts are a concentrated food and should be used as part of the meal rather than as an addition to an already adequate meal.

Many people have the idea that nuts are rich in protein and may take the place of meats and other protein foods. It is true that most nuts are fairly rich in protein but they also contain so much fat that we should consider them as a substitute for foods rich in fat rather than protein foods. Peanuts are over 40 per cent fat, black walnuts are 50 per cent, and coconut 33 per cent.

Nuts contain little carbohydrates or starch, with the exception of chestnuts. Most nuts are rich sources of phosphorus and fair sources of calcium. We get some iron from nuts, such as walnuts, pecans, and hickory nuts, and a good amount of vitamin A from pecans. Most nuts furnish good supplies of vitamin B which is hard to get enough in the average diet.

There are many different ways of including nuts in meals. Delicious loaves or croquettes may be made with left over vegetables and nuts. Nut bread makes most any lunch or supper better. Try adding some nuts to a vegetable or fruit salad and watch how fast the salad disappears.

With Christmas in the air we find that nuts added to a simple cake or pudding gives it a festive air, and what would a holiday be without peanut brittle or some other nut-filled candy?

dried fruit, and over 100 pounds of dried fruit, and a lot of dried beans and peas. So I am sure this community is in better shape in that line than ever before. If every community in the county has done as well as this one, I am sure the farm people of Calloway will not get hungry this winter.

Dairy, New Concord Community, Elna Dick, Leader

"I think if it was not for the dairy cow in this community the farmer would have a harder time of it. I don't think the most of the farmers know how much the dairy cows are worth to the family. I think there is more profit in a dairy cow than anything you can put on the farm. They help you grow better corn and tobacco and will do the big end of feeding your family. I think this community is realizing more and more each year from the dairy cow."

Meat, Backusburg Community, Mrs. Noble Fugate, Leader

"After the demonstration on canned meats as given in my home last fall by Miss Rowland, Mrs. Raymond Stevens and Mrs. Harlan Hughes, there is hardly a housewife in this community who hasn't canned chicken. All have canned pork, more are trying to can ribs, backbone, hearts and liver. I canned 20 quarts. Never lost a can, and don't think anyone else lost any, as it is not time in this community for any kinds of meat but chicken. Our pork canning runs from about November to February in this community, but am sure there will be more cans in everybody's pantry or cellar than ever before."

Garden, Brooks Chapel, Henry Burken, Leader

"I think everybody in this community has done their best to raise what they had to eat. They have canned more different things than I ever heard of. I don't know of a family that hasn't canned more than enough to do. Every one had a early garden and a late one, too."

Arline Blackburn, who plays the lead in the Kroger company's coffee radio serial, "Linda's First Love," participates in one of the regular tests of the firm's coffee. Shown with her at the Kroger Food Foundation in Cincinnati are Harry Allen, center, chief of the inspection laboratory, and J. A. Dalve, chief chemist at the Food Foundation. Miss Blackburn learned that laboratory tests are made by pouring boiling water over a measured quantity of ground coffee and then sipping the brew without benefit of either sugar or cream.

Stella Gossip

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Nancey of Farmington, Route 1, a daughter, Mary Nell, November 19. Now "Ole Eagle" has 10 grand children in whom he is well pleased.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cochran have sold their fine farm on Highway No. 121 (Stella) to Mr. Wilson of New Providence and have bought the Byron Henry place on South Twelfth street in Murray. These splendid, aged people have resided at their home farm for more than 40 years.

A few months ago, Roy Knight's fine home burned down. Now he has had a new house built on the original D. Radford place at Stella.

I think Oscar Jones was the main carpenter. We are truly glad that this good family are "at home and friends" once more after going through many days of adversity.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Morgan and "Celia of Detroit" are "in" seeing their head to foot with pneumonia. Finally I saw myself in the looking glass—ole ugly mug, that's all.

Come To CHURCH

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

A. V. Washburn of the Sunday School board will be the speaker at the morning hour. He is one of the outstanding leaders in the South today in the development of our young people in the study of the Bible and in personal work and soul winning. We bespeak for this very worthy and capable man a large hearing of our people and others.

The evening hour will be devoted to the observance of the Lord's Supper. This is perhaps with a large majority of our people the most tender and far reaching of all the services of the church. Since this Supper is a picture of the broken body and shed blood of Jesus Christ it is easily one of the most meaningful of all the services. It should, therefore, be attended by every member and friends.

Church School with classes for all ages meets every Sunday morning at 9:30 under the supervision of faithful, Bible-loving officers and teachers. Every class meets in a separate room for the study of the Bible lesson for the day.

Training Union meets every Sunday at 6:15 with a union for every age beginning with the Story Telling Hour for the smaller boys and girls. The director and all helpers are very anxious to build the greatest possible Union for service, therefore ask the united support of the members of the church in this worthy and growing work.

Mid-week meeting every Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. Many take part in this meeting. It is one of the most helpful meetings of the church. This meeting should be attended by all members and others.

The church and pastor invite the people of Murray and others to worship with us whenever it is possible to do so.

Sam P. Martin, Pastor.

Comments From Friends On Change In Ownership

The editor wishes to acknowledge receipt of quite a number of letters relative to the change in ownership of a majority interest in the Calloway Publishing Company and his employment to publish the Ledger and Times.

Some are from people and institutions well known in Murray and Calloway County and we have selected excerpts from them for whatever interest they may have to our readers, as follows:

HOYT MOORE, Editor and Publisher of the Fulton Daily Leader—"I am delighted that you have taken over the Ledger and Times and will certainly come over and see us before long—or as soon as the opportunity arises. I had heard that you were taking over the paper some time ago, and I certainly liked your first edition."

The paper has been a good one for a long time. I think that there is a real opportunity there and know you are the man who can meet that opportunity. I would also like to say that your paper at Paris has made a great improvement within the past two or three years. You have done a fine job there and I am certain you will do well at Murray. The town is a good one, with magnificent people and you will have a real opportunity to be of real service."

CARL A. JONES, Jr., Publisher Johnson City (Tenn.) Chronicle—"I was very pleased to see the announcement of the sale of the Ledger and Times to you, as well as the splendid article signed by Mr. McLean. I am sure that you will find this very successful venture and I trust that I will have an opportunity in the very near future to visit with you and see your property in Paris and Murray."

HARRY WATKINS, Business Manager, Dyersburg State Gazette—"Please accept our congratulations on the recent purchase of the Ledger and Times. It is certainly encouraging to note that some of our friends are making strides forward and enlarging their interests. I believe that you have bought into a fine newspaper and one I hope will prove profitable to you and those with whom you are connected."

W. H. McCALL, United Press Association—"Congratulations on your new Kentucky weekly. CONGRESSMAN NOBLE J. GREGORY—"You are entering business in a very fine town filled with very fine people, and I know with your experience in the newspaper field, and what I have heard of you through mutual friends in the Congressional Delegation, I bespeak for you a very successful and useful service in West Kentucky. It is a fertile field and a fine opportunity for service."

A. B. CAMPER, AAA, Washington—"Congratulations on your acquisition of the Murray Ledger and Times. I know you feel as if you were making another step forward realizing some of your ambitions, very worthy ones, and I am glad."

J. A. EVANS, Carroll Paper Company, Jackson, Tenn.—"Just a word or two to congratulate you."

Moving Picture to Be Shown at Christian Church Sunday P. M.

The interested public is invited to see a motion picture in natural colors with sound at the First Christian Church here, Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock, presented by J. E. Catron, secretary-treasurer of the Christian Church Widows and Orphans Home. This fine institution is located in Louisville, Ky.

Several large gifts enabled the Widows and Orphans Home last year to build a summer camp for the children and their activities will be shown in the motion picture, which was one of the most popular attractions at the recent state convention.

This film is professional in quality and interesting to all, according to Rev. C. C. Thompson, pastor of the church here.

on your success in purchasing controlling interest of the Ledger and Times of Murray, Ky., and to wish you every success in this new venture.

Your achievement within the few years in Paris demonstrates your ability as a successful newspaper man, as well as a successful business man."

WALLACE WITMER, Memphis, Tenn.—"Congratulations on your purchase of an interest in the Murray Ledger & Times. Murray is one of the best towns in the area being developed by TVA and has a bright future. As your national advertising representative ever since you acquired the Post-Intelligencer at Paris I wish you every success in your new undertaking."

LOCAL NOTES

Mrs. Maydell Bucy Is Honored

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Luter, who have been married for thirty years, celebrated their anniversary on Friday night, November 14. The celebration was held at the home of Mrs. Luter, 1401 S. 10th St. Refreshments of sandwiches, cake and coffee were served to the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Luter were accompanied by Mrs. Luter's daughter, Mrs. Maydell Bucy, who is the wife of Mr. W. H. Bucy, a well-known local businessman. Mrs. Bucy is a member of the Red Cross and has been very active in its work.

Red Cross Extends Thanks to Calloway County Women

The local chapter of the Red Cross wishes to thank the many women of Calloway County not only for their splendid cooperation and help but also their patience in dealing with the present equipment available.

Calloway County can be doubly proud of the work completed because the local chapter has been, and is entirely dependent on county donations of sewing machines and other necessary equipment. Sewing has been done in any place available and often under difficulties, yet more and more women of Calloway County are volunteering daily in view of the great need for workers.

Those in charge of Red Cross work are also carrying a double burden, for the local and county welfare projects must be continued along with the added defense job. It is not always easy, but a locality which can answer a call with both workers and equipment is performing a two-fold job in its country's defense, and can indeed be proud.

Your Red Cross asks that we all work together in closer cooperation than ever before during the busy days of December. With patience and the will to overcome any obstacles, we can begin now to share together the true Christmas spirit by bringing all the aid and happiness possible to others less fortunate.

Todd-Ferguson Marriage Solemnized November 20

The marriage of Miss Mary Edith Todd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Todd of Harris Grove, and Robert Hillman Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Ferguson of Midway, was quietly solemnized on Thursday, November 20, at the Methodist parsonage with the Rev. H. L. Lax officiating.

Preceding the ceremony a vocal solo, "Love You Truly," was sung by Herbert Lax, Jr. The bride and groom were attended by Mr. Mary Katherine Orr and James Ferguson.

The bride was attired for her wedding in a stock of royal blue with black accessories and wore a shoulder corsage of sweetheart roses and tube roses. Mrs. Orr wore a sky blue frock with brown accessories and a shoulder corsage of tallian roses.

Immediately following the ceremony a small reception was held at the home of the bride's parents in Harris Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson are making their home on Maple Street.

Looks Like a Suit

There is an unprecedented demand this fall for richly colorful plaids in gay young suits, jackets, and coats. The smartest number on the present style program is the two-piece dress that looks like a suit. You see it pictured here. This jacket and skirt may be worn either way as a dress or as a suit. To add to its practicality the "plaid" skirt may be worn separately with various blouses. The jacket also is interchangeable with versatile skirts. The sheer wool plaid used for this smart two-piece suit is of warm autumnal browns combined with beige. Brown bow buttons and a belt of self fabric add the finishing touches.

Miss Lassiter Has Birthday Party

Miss Lorraine Lassiter entertained a few friends with an informal dance on her sixteenth birthday, last Tuesday night, November 18, at her home on West Main street. The hours were from 8 to 11.

The guest list included Misses Peggy Lou Black, Martha Jean Baker, Avonelle Farmer, Sarah Ruth Rhodes, Bonnie Lee King, Margaret and Gile Hall, Dickie Hood, Ben Crawford, Joe Earle Roberts, Tom Covington and the hosts.

A birthday cake and punch was served.

The bride wore a blue wool dress with brown accessories. For the occasion she has been employed in Detroit, Mich.

Dramatic Students Make Death Mask for APO Production

When the Murray State College dramatic students need any special effect for a play, they don't have to go outside of their own group to get it.

In "Alpha Psi Omega's play 'Death Takes a Holiday,' which will be presented December 5, in the college auditorium, a death mask is called for.

Joe Fitch, who plays the part of Death, was told that he must undergo a plaster of paris application in order to have a death mask made. For two hours, this young man breathed through straws, while the artist, Miss Sarah Lee Rowland, a senior from Henderson, molded the mask to his features.

This procedure consisted of a heavy coating of vaseline over his face, neck and hair line. Towels were packed around his head and shoulders to support the weight of the plaster cast. There was a ring of wet clay pressed around the face to mark the outline of the mask. After this, the straws were placed in Fitch's mouth to facilitate breathing. His nostrils were packed with cotton to keep the plaster out. The artist painted a thin layer of the plaster all over his face. Additional layers were applied by hand until it was built up to the required thickness.

It was left on until the plaster became cool and settled to his features. From this mold, the artist will make the paper-mache mask which will be used in the play.

The complete cast for the production, numbering 13, is as follows:

Joe Fitch, Prince Sirki (Death); Frank Shuler, settled to his features; From this mold, the artist will make the paper-mache mask which will be used in the play.

'FOOD FOR FREEDOM' PROGRAM MAY MAKE HISTORY—EVANS

R. M. EVANS

Food production by American farmers in the months ahead will decide the course of history, R. M. Evans, national AAA administrator, told an audience of farmers and consumers at the State Fair Grounds in Louisville, Wednesday, November 13.

"The strength of America, the strength of Britain in the war on aggression, and the strength of America's hand at the peace table depend upon the food from farms of the United States," Mr. Evans said.

The AAA administrator has just returned from England where he studied the British food situation.

"Britain never produced more than one-third of her own food needs," Mr. Evans said. "And now even with her own food production stepped up to maximum levels she cannot hold out against Nazi aggression without increased food supplies from America."

Pointing out that this is a war of production, Mr. Evans emphasized the importance of a statement made to him by British leader Ernest Bevin that "if you give us plenty of meat from America, we will increase industrial production from 15 to 20 percent in 30 days."

The AAA administrator said Bevin told him British miners often have to lay off one day a week to recover their strength.

"This illustration from the British labor leader made me realize how fortunate we are in regard to food and food supplies," Mr. Evans asserted. "Without the Ever-Normal Granary of our farm program," he said, "the 'Food for Freedom' program now getting under way could not be started."

"Farmers are rallying this fall to the 'Food for Freedom' program," he said. "This is the farmer's answer to the call for the greatest production in history. It is carrying forward the policy that is and always has been a fundamental part of AAA action since 1933—the policy of balanced abundance."

"Today balanced abundance is taking on an even greater meaning. More than ever before the nutritional needs of our people are being considered in the production plans of farmers the country over."

Today as Americans are able to buy more food, the farmer is acting to stay ahead of increased buying power. At the same time the program is providing us with a fourth crop for the post-war era. We have the foresight to use it. I am confident we can match agricultural surplus capacity with increased consumption of food to raise the nutritional standards of our people."

"Consumers in this country today need have no fears of food shortage."

"America today faces critical times," the administrator warned. "The strength of our nation is being tested as never before. Agriculture is meeting that test. There is little need for me to repeat that agriculture is the best prepared of any industry in the nation. I have yet to hear a responsible person say that agriculture and food are not provided enough and more than enough of food and fiber."

"And the Farm Defense Program works to the benefit of the farmer while they are helping the fight for freedom. The program is based on good solid farming practices, and will not create the havoc and unorganized ruin that resulted from the farm effort during the first world war."

"The strength of our nation is being tested as never before. Agriculture is meeting that test. There is little need for me to repeat that agriculture is the best prepared of any industry in the nation. I have yet to hear a responsible person say that agriculture and food are not provided enough and more than enough of food and fiber."

R. M. EVANS

Mr. Evans continued, "The farmers' program to convert our vast reserves of food into food and the use of our farm resources for such production, is the nation's assurance of plenty. But to produce this plenty, farmers must have fair prices. Farm prices are better today after a long period of low prices, but they are not unreasonably high. According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the average factory worker in the first ten months of this year could buy 27 per cent more food for his dollar than he could in 1937. Furthermore, it must be remembered that farm prices are only one item in the cost of food."

While speaking primarily of food and its vital importance in national defense, the AAA administrator also described the part tobacco plays in maintaining British morale.

"From the way people in England grabbed whenever I offered a package of cigarettes, you might have thought a smoke was more precious than a steak dinner or the eggs and milk we are sending them," he said.

While supplies of tobacco now moving to Britain are mainly flue-cured, Mr. Evans said, burley growers can expect a healthy situation because of the increase in domestic consumption of cigarettes, which tends to reduce somewhat the large stocks of burley on hand.

Cigarette consumption is at a record level, more than 10 per cent higher in the past 12 months than in the previous year.

"Loan rates for burley, fire-cured and dark air-cured leaf will be 85 per cent of the October 1 parity price," Mr. Evans pointed out. "Under legislation approved this summer, loan rates offered on the 1940 crop were at 75 per cent of parity."

"America today faces critical times," the administrator warned. "The strength of our nation is being tested as never before. Agriculture is meeting that test. There is little need for me to repeat that agriculture is the best prepared of any industry in the nation. I have yet to hear a responsible person say that agriculture and food are not provided enough and more than enough of food and fiber."

"I was particularly impressed to find English farmers are recognizing the need for a post-war plan of action," the AAA administrator said. "Many of them recognize the importance of world agreements for surplus crops like wheat, cotton and tobacco. They realize that although they are not a surplus country they have a vital stake in a fair break for other producers on whom their country must depend for supplies. These are problems that will have to be worked out by the time peace comes, and the English agree with us that now is the time to get busy."
