Sol's Spots Play Hob With Radio Service

Spot 80,000 Miles Long Is Seen At Philadelphia, Pa.

THREAT TO CONTINUE

By The Associated Press
Sun spots and magnetic disturbances interfered with radio communications over a large part of the earth's surface today.
Press Wireless, Inc., in New York reported conditions erratic.
Associated Press Radio circuits to London were stymied for a time.
A spot on the sun 75,000 to 80,000 miles long was reported yesterday by director Roy K. Marshall of the planetarium at Franklin Institute, Philadelphia. He said the spot was clearly visible without a telescope, if the observer used a photographic film to shield the eye. Dr. Marshall said the spot was one of the largest in the past two or three years and would disturb radio transmission until Monday or Tuesday.

In San Francisco, Press Wireless, Inc., reported last night it experienced a "complete curtain" on its communication from the Orient for eight minutes. All its stations in the Philippines, China and Japan were out during the period, Press Wireless said. Other radio communications companies said they were affected similarly during the period.

Navy Flier Killed In Tennessee Hills

Dayton, Tenn., March 8.—(AP)—A navy flier was killed near here late yesterday afternoon when the single-engine fighter plane he was piloting crashed into the side of a fog-shrouded mountain.
Identification of the pilot was withheld by officials pending an investigation.
The navy F-6F type plane was one of two designed for service with fleet aircraft service squadron 4, based at the naval air station at Memphis.

Kentucky Today

By The Associated Press
Louisville—Approximately 410,000 Federal Income Tax returns have been filed with the internal-revenue office here this year, Seldon R. Glenn, collector of internal revenue for Kentucky, announced. He said this represented an increase of about 73,000 returns over the number filed at a corresponding time last year. Glenn added 750,000 returns were filed in 1944.

Murray—Murray Teacher College observed quietly today the 25th anniversary of its founding by act of the Kentucky legislature. Since that time, Mrs. C. G. Hester, registrar, said 11,898 students have enrolled at the college.

Louisville—Charles R. Isenberg, Louisville attorney, was indicted by a Federal Grand Jury yesterday on a charge of receiving and stealing a stolen automobile. FBI agents said the car was purchased from an auto theft ring they broke up in October.

Monticello—Harrison county's local option election fraud case of 1942 was marked closed by Circuit Judge Ed Denney after he meted one-year prison sentences to each of the three remaining defendants. The defendants—Bill Cantrell and Steve and Bill Middleton, Brothers—had pleaded guilty. They had been indicted along with others on charges of forgery in connection with the election fraud. The cases were transferred here on a change of venue.

Paducah—Mildred Faulkes filed suit in circuit court yesterday for property which she alleges is being held wrongfully by Sam King, administrator of the estate of the late R. H. Brummett. She had lost a prolonged court fight to uphold a purported will in which she claimed Brummett bequeathed her a large share of his $100,000 estate. The plaintiff asked possession of property valued at $2,811 and for $1,000 damages.

IC Orders 1000 Hopper Cars

Expects Delivery Late In 1947; Cost Is Estimated More Than $3,500,000

Orders for 1,000 hopper cars for late 1947 delivery were announced today by the Illinois Central Railroad—500 to be built by American Car & Foundry Company at Madison, Ill., and 500 by General American Transportation Corporation at East Chicago, Ind. The total expenditure will be more than $3,500,000.
These orders are in addition to orders for 100 covered hopper cars now in process of delivery to the Illinois Central from the Pullman-Standard plant at Birmingham, Ala., and 400 open-top hopper cars from the General American plant at East Chicago for delivery beginning in June. Also work was begun March 1 on 450 hopper cars that will be built by the Illinois Central in its own shops at Centralia, Ill.

Work on hopper cars at Centralia will be completed in May and will be followed immediately with a program for 1,000 box and 500 automobile cars. The 1947 freight car program at Centralia also includes 500 flat cars that were completed in February.

Fulton Couple Uninjured When Bleachers Fell

George T. James, Jr., of Fulton, Purdue University student, and his wife were among those who escaped injury in the collapse of bleachers in Purdue fieldhouse during a basketball game with Wisconsin. The bleachers fell when the estimated 3,500 persons seated there stood to cheer the Purdue team at halftime, just as they forged ahead of Wisconsin 24-23. Three were killed and over 100 injured.
Mr. and Mrs. James were seated in the bleachers. When they called their families to tell them that they were uninjured, they said they usually sat on the top row of the bleacher section, but on that particular evening were on the fifth row.
The second half of the game will be played tonight in Chicago.

Truck Damaged In Accident Friday

A Southeastern truck-trailer driven by Thomas Dedmon ran into a bridge on the Martin highway just south of McConnell's last night when the driver was blinded by snow and ice on the windshield and lost control of the vehicle.
Mr. Dedmon was not injured, but the truck was considerably damaged in the accident.

CORRECTION

Bevin First Visiting Diplomat Arriving For Big 4 Meetings

Moscow, March 8.—(AP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain arrived at the White Russian railroad station about noon today, first of the visiting foreign ministers to reach the Soviet capital for Monday's Big Four session.

"We shall spend the days ahead in trying to make some peace which will prevent any future aggression and let the whole world live in security," Bevin said on his arrival for meetings at which the foreign ministers will work on peace treaties for Germany and Austria.

He spoke into a microphone recording a message to the people of Moscow, which began: "I am very glad to be back in Moscow again and bring greetings from the British people to the people of Russia."

French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault was expected by rail late today, but U. S. Secretary of State George S. Marshall was not expected before tomorrow at the earliest. Bevin was received officially by Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei V. Vishinsky.

Vishinsky, after saying "welcome to Moscow," told Bevin he hoped the British visitor was well rested because "after March 10 I'm not so sure about it."

U. S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith welcomed Bevin on behalf of the United States. (Secretary Marshall planned to take off from Berlin for Moscow tomorrow at 2:30 a. m. (CST). Cloudy weather had forced his plane to make an instrument landing in Berlin yesterday.

The Secretary of State scheduled conferences last night and today with Gen. Joseph T. Mc-

Narney, retiring U. S. military governor for Germany; Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, named to succeed McNarney; and Robert D. Murphy, the military government's political advisor.
(He was to get a fill-in on the German situation and four-power control council disagreements over a report to the foreign ministers.)

Aid To Greece Is Discussed

British Ambassador Sees Acheson; Truman Ready To Tell Plans Very Soon

Washington, March 8.—(AP)—President Truman probably will make an announcement on the Greek situation Monday after he confers with Congressional leaders.
The White House announced today as the British ambassador and acting Secretary of State Acheson discussed Greek problems at the State department.

The ambassador, Lord Inverchapel, told reporters in response to a question that he had not delivered any note to Acheson.

Asked if Greece was discussed, Inverchapel replied: "can't you use your heads?"
Presidential Secretary Charles Ross, discussing the meeting of Mr. Truman with congressional and government leaders Monday, told reporters:

"In all probability there will be some announcement at that time as to his plans regarding the Greek situation."

Asked whether the President planned a foreign policy speech, Ross asked:
"There will be no further announcement in that respect until after the talks with Congressional leaders Monday morning."

To a question whether the President would send a message to Congress, another whether he would address a joint session, or whether his position would be made known in a formal statement, Ross declined to say.

167 Jap High School Girls Are Aboard Missing Ship

Matsuyama, Shikoku, Japan, March 8.—(AP)—Kyodo News Agency said today that a ship carrying 287 students of a girl's high school of Yamaguchi Prefecture has been missing since leaving the port of Deppu Sunday on an excursion.

NLRB Orders Election At Hopkinsville Shoe Plant

Washington, March 8.—(AP)—The National Labor Relations Board today ordered a collective-bargaining-agent election within 30 days for employees of the International Shoe Company plant in Hopkinsville, Ky.

Factory Funds Are Obtained

Hickman Residents Give $55,000 To Date Toward Erecting New Building (The Hickman Courier)

The first two days in the drive to locate funds for a factory building in Hickman netted the committee $55,000.
The field has not been completely covered and members of the joint committee from the Lions and Young Men's Business Club state that there is no doubt that the money will be raised and a building erected in the near future. They reported that practically everyone they called upon was enthusiastic about getting the drive under way, and was willing to kick in his share.
With this much capital in sight for the first two days, committees are now arranging to meet factory representatives to talk terms with them, and get their building requirements.

Over 800 Attend Farm Show Friday At Cayce School

Over 800 persons attended an exhibition of time and labor-saving devices presented by the University of Kentucky Extension service at Cayce high school yesterday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Attracting the most interest among the visitors was the farm-home running water system demonstrated by the UK specialists.

Those from the University were J. E. Humphrey, poultry specialist; J. B. Brooks, farm engineering; Ernie Nesius, home management; and Mrs. Elmer Dixon, home management.
Three bus loads of students from Westwood school and students of the Cayce school, were among those attending the show.

Taft Plans Rent Talks

Will Be First Of Series Of Republican Meetings Asked By 16 Freshmen

Washington, March 8.—(AP)—Chairman Taft (R-Ohio), called the Senate Republican policy committee together today to canvass what he said is a "wide difference of opinion" over the extension of rent controls.
Taft told a reporter the policy committee is likely to turn the question over to a Monday night conference of all of the 5-4 Senate Republicans.

He said this will be the first in a series of meetings of the majority group, expected to be held frequently in view of a request from the 16 Republican freshmen members for a greater voice in shaping policy. Outlining the questions to be discussed, Taft said that as soon as the Senate Labor Committee completes its hearings, he will ask for a conference on labor disputes legislation.

Later there will be a conference on the reciprocal trade agreements program.
Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, the Senate's presiding officer and chairman of its Foreign Relations committee, announced that he will lay information on the foreign situation before the GOP membership soon.

Taft told a reporter he doesn't know whether there will be any fixed Republican policy on rent controls.

The Senate Banking Committee has returned to a subcommittee headed by Senator Buck (R-Ind.), a measure which would continue controls until December 31, 1947, but transfer them from the OPA to the courts, increase rents 10 percent and free new housing from controls.
Taft said his own opinion is that any rent increases ought to be based on the merits of individual cases.

U. S. Will Seek Supreme Court Action In Enforcing Decision Against Lewis And UMW To Prevent Another Soft Coal Strike March 31

Sen. Robert Taft (right) (R-Ohio), Senate labor committee chairman, shakes John L. Lewis' hand (March 7) as he thanks him after his appearance before the group in Washington, D. C. Taft questioned Lewis at length during the time the latter was a witness.

LaGuardia Urges Merger Of All American Labor Organizations

Washington, March 8.—(AP)—Fiorello H. LaGuardia today urged Congress to use its influence to achieve the merger of all labor organizations into an "American Congress of Labor."

He recommended creation of a committee of Congress members and representatives of labor and industry to study this proposal, as well as pending legislation to change the labor laws.

LaGuardia, co-sponsor of the Norris-LaGuardia anti-injunction act enacted in 1932, said in a statement prepared for the Senate Labor Committee:

"Under our form of government, one national parent body for labor would fit admirably and would result in greater benefit and security for wage earners and stability for industry."

The former New York mayor testified as the Senate committee made ready to close six weeks of hearings on bills to revamp the labor laws.

LaGuardia suggested that the proposed American Congress of Labor, consolidating the AFL, CIO and all other unions, be divided into four national departments:

1. Transportation, including railroad, water, air and land workers.
2. Mining, taking in coal, all minerals and oil.
3. Professional and entertainment workers.

ROMANCE BLIGHTED

Ereosda Sinitskaya, 25, "stateless" Russian, leans head against hand in immigration office at San Francisco, Calif. As she awaits ship back to Shanghai, China. She arrived from there expecting to marry former army Sgt. Harry LeRoy Donaldson of Cameron, Mo. She said a letter and cable she got upon arriving at San Francisco told how he had remarried his divorced wife. Immigration rules are that she must return to Shanghai in 10 days.

Major House Burns Friday

Exploding Stove Blamed For Blaze Which Burned House, Much of Contents

Fire caused by an exploding oil stove almost completely destroyed a two-apartment house at 206 Cedar street, owned by Mrs. George L. Major, yesterday afternoon. The fire was reported at 2:40 p. m.

The apartments were occupied by Mrs. Hobart Weldon and Mr. and Mrs. Larrimore Taylor. The blaze is said to have started in the Taylor apartment, where a negro girl was alone with the Taylor children.

Some furniture was saved by neighbors and firemen. The fire department reported that nine sections of hose burst while they were fighting the fire.

Battle said the net profit would not exceed $50,000,000. "The big-sounding profit figures," he said, "have no foundation in fact. They are not to be taken seriously. They will deceive neither Congress nor the country."

Clarksville Blaze Destroys Tobacco Valued At $400,000

Clarksville, Tenn., March 8.—(AP)—About $400,000 worth of dark-fired tobacco was destroyed in flames which raged the J. W. Rudolph and Brothers tobacco storage warehouse here last night.

Clarksville and Camp Campbell firemen battled the flames for three hours before the fire was brought under control. Trucks from the local department remained on the scene today to extinguish sporadic flames.

Kendrick Rudolph, owner of the firm, estimated the loss of the tobacco and said it was partially covered by insurance. It was estimated the warehouse contained 1,000,000 pounds of tobacco packed in hogheads.

Thank The Stores

It takes a great war, with its unprecedented drain on our labor and resources, to reduce this country to an economy of scarcity. In normal times, the average American consumer economy is one of abundance.

Retail stores present an accurate gauge of our unprecedented living standards. Every kind and character and quality of goods is found on their shelves. The needs of all tastes, all pocketbooks, have been anticipated and met. That is not true of any other country. Abroad, good stores are usually found only in the larger cities, and they are patronized most extensively by people of relatively large income. The person who lives in the village has small choice when he goes to market.

Chain systems and progressive single unit stores must be given credit for the present scope and efficiency of American retailing. They reach into the smaller centers of population, and offer consumers selections of goods comparable to those found in big cities. No matter where you live, regardless of the distance from the manufacturing areas, standard goods of known quality and value are immediately available.

The retailer is the consumers' link with the vast American production machine. Without that link, the abundance made possible by mass production would be denied to millions. The store, like the factory, directly affects the well-being of us all.

Wildlife Facing Crisis

Are America's traditional sports of fishing and hunting destined to be victims of their own unprecedented popularity? Are our fish and game doomed to extermination by the onslaught of the greatest sportsman's army in history?

The answer to both questions may be "yes," unless drastic measures are taken to cope with the gravest crisis our wildlife ever faced. Incomplete figures for the 1946 season warrant the estimate that 30 percent more hunters invaded the woods and fields than in 1945 when, despite firearms and ammunition shortages, an all-time high of nearly 10,000,000 licensed gunners was established.

These records more than justify the U. S. Fish and Wildlife's repeated warnings that the postwar years will bring at least a 50 percent increase in the number of American sportsmen. In fact, fish and game authorities now see good reason to believe that soon there may be twice as many anglers and hunters as there were in 1941, the last season before the war curtailed such outdoor activities which would mean almost 33,000,000 sportsmen!

And that isn't all. For, besides the overwhelming pressure of legitimate fishing and hunting, the 1946 season witnessed an unparalleled wave of fish-and-game law violations which swept over the entire country, causing an additional deadly menace to wildlife.

National Wildlife Restoration Week, March 16 to 22, has far greater significance this year than at any time in the past. For never before has there been such crying need for spreading the gospel of sportsmanship and conservation. Fortunately, a long forward step in this direction was taken recently when school and other bodies all over the country adopted America's Conservation Pledge.

This pledge, designed to enlist every individual in the fight to save ALL our vanishing natural resources, is now recited regularly in classrooms and at countless civic and patriotic assemblages. It is as follows:

I give my pledge as an American to save faithfully to defend from waste the natural resources of my country—its soil and minerals, its forests, waters, and wildlife.

With The Fourth Estate

There should be a dog in every home. Every boy and also every girl should grow up with a dog. A census taken recently in a large penitentiary revealed that less than five in every hundred of the prisoners had a dog or any other pet when a boy.

That child has missed much who does not have a dog as a playmate. Dogs and children thrive well together. Get the dog as a puppy—little soft, warm bunch of fur with a wet nose—let it grow up with its youthful lord and master.

Let the child have the duty of feeding, caring for and exercising the dog. Soon there develops a comradeship which has no equal. The dog will guard the child jealously; protect it from danger; will ward off attackers, warn it of thieves; pull the child out of icy waters; fight off wild beasts; and lay down its life for the child.

Is your child cruel? Is your child ill-mannered? Is your child selfish? Is your child impatient? Then let the best teacher in the world, a dog, correct these faults.

The dog is a kind, loving servant; he trusts his master, whether that master be a grown person or toddling child. The very faith and dependence the dog gives the child unobtrusively as his master, creates a feeling of responsibility plus a desire to return the loyalty with kindness and care. (Dog's World).

Churchill Protests

By Dwight MacKenzie.

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill declared gloomily that the feeding Moslems and Hindus of India are preparing for civil war when England withdraws her troops not later than June, 1948, in accordance with the recent promises of the socialist government.

Churchill made this assertion in the House of Commons during debate in which he and his conservative followers attacked the program. The post-master of colorful language termed the withdrawal "operation scuttle," and then produced this word picture with sweeping strokes:

"It is with deep grief that I have watched the clattering down of the British Empire with all its glories and all the service it has rendered mankind."

The big socialist majority, however, stood behind Prime Minister Attlee's pledge. Sir Stafford Cripps, who has played an important role in the Indian negotiations, said Commons that the only alternative to withdrawal would be to strengthen British controls and reinforce British troops. That would mean England would have to remain in India at least fifteen to twenty years, he said. And Attlee gave this corollary:

"The time has come when Indians must shoulder their responsibilities. We can help them, but we cannot take this burden on ourselves."

The danger of civil war in India will always exist until the warring Moslems and Hindus bury the politico-religious hatchet. As a matter of fact the past few months have seen thousands slain and much property damage in communal fighting. Even as this is written, there is turmoil in the great Punjab province of Northern India.

It is true that British troops have quelled many bloody outbreaks in India. But supposing the situation as a whole should boil over, what have we? The Indian peninsula is about the size of all Europe, excluding Russia. Within that vast area are some 400,000,000 people. What sort of British force would it require to handle a full-scale civil war there? Certainly more than John Bull could muster, especially in view of his grave economic difficulties and commitments elsewhere.

Most of the fireworks are in so-called British India, which is distinct from the native states ruled by the princes. If either the Hindus or the Moslems of British India wanted John Bull to stay in the country, the situation would be far more favorable for him. Probably most if not all the princes would like him to retain control—not because they love him but because they are fearful of losing their thrones after he withdraws. However, in British India both Hindus and Moslems want John to clear out.

An overlord doesn't inspire affection in a subject people.

The consensus of impartial observers is that the time has come for England to withdraw. No one can say that there won't be civil war if she clears out, but it's a hundred to one there will be if she doesn't. And her withdrawal according to schedule may be the move which will impel the Indians to remain within the British commonwealth of nations instead of severing all ties with Britain.

Frequently I am asked whether India is far enough advanced to be able to rule herself. I've been studying this situation for more than a generation, and this is the way it looks to me:

Many of India's millions still are primitives and, gauged by western standards, her backwardness is vast. Still, she has been making mighty strides since the first World War. Education has spread, and amazingly enough she has forged ahead until she is one of the leading industrial nations of the world.

While the masses certainly aren't qualified to rule themselves, there are many brilliant and highly educated Indians who are well equipped to take over the responsibilities. There are enough of them to see the job through.

Auto Snowed In — But Good

Duaneburg, N. Y. (P)—Highway Superintendent Arthur Tulloch received this note from a farmer residing on a town road:

"When the snowplow opens the road past my place tell the men to be careful. There's a drift about 10 feet deep, and 50 feet long just before you come to my house. My car is under it somewhere. I'm not quite sure just where."

Sings For His Freedom

Chicago. (P)—John Peterson, 29, sang and danced his way to freedom when he appeared before Municipal Judge Victor A. Kula.

Peterson, arraigned on a disorderly conduct charge, told Judge Kula he had imbibed too freely but, he explained, customers in several taverns had insisted on buying him drinks because they liked his singing and dancing.

Judge Kula asked him to display his talents. Peterson complied with a song and then went into a tap routine.

"Discharged," Judge Kula said after the demonstration.

What's Happy about a Hospital?

Frankly, not much.

Not for a veteran who comes home to lie long months in pain. Not even during those up-and-about weeks that seem like a tedious lifetime.

Some things help, though. Things your Red Cross does.

Recreation, hobby fun, work with the hands—these help.

Advice on family problems and anxieties—these help.

Assistance with claims for government benefits, pension adjustments, job guidance, family aid—these help.

The American Red Cross does it—with your help.

Give—give all you can.

GIVE—so your RED + CROSS can carry on!

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

State College, Pa., March 8.—(AP)—Only a couple of dozen colleges throughout the United States support boxing teams, but they expect to be right in there punching, when the Olympic trials come around. Roy Simmons, Syracuse U. coach who had one of his pupils on the 1948 Olympic team, is confident that there will be some college boys on the 1948 squad—until recently. Roy points out, "the teams were picked out of the A. A. U. champions. Then we asked for representation and were good enough, even though against the A. A. U. boxers. A couple of the boys showed they were given a chance to try out a lot of the best college boxers didn't even appear because the trials were in midsummer, while our season is in the winter. This time they'll do a lot better."

WRECKED MOPPS

Discussing the recent bleacher collapse at Purdue, and the effect it might have on the team's performances, Bob Higgins, Penn State football coach, recalls an accident that ruined one of the best chances he ever had of turning in an upset—it was when Bob, then coaching at Little West Virginia Wesleyan, came up with a team he was sure could lick the West Virginia U. team—"we had to drive to the game in private cars and the first one overturned," Higgins relates. "Nobody was seriously hurt, but we didn't know it, at the time and just as the rest of the squad came along, an interurban trolley car smashed into the overturned automobile—our boys were shaken and mentally upset that touchdown in the first half, before they pulled themselves together. We dominated the last half, but they beat us 21 to 14."

SHORTS AND SHELLS

Oddest item picked up on the Penn State campus is that a Chinese faculty member has been pursuing baseball coach, Joe Benenk for several days, trying to locate a rule book and other data on baseball to send to an Italian friend, who wants to organize a ball club in Rome—William Hudson, father of Al, the Miami U. football star and sprinter, is jockey room custodian at Guilford Park during the current meeting—Lowa's Herb Wilkinson is one of the first players to accept a bid to play in the East-West basketball game at Madison Square Garden—apparently that's the only way a big name athlete can get into the Garden.

DOTS ALL, BROTHERS

Reddest face of the week belongs to the secretary of a New York Club which runs a big pool on the Grand National Steeplechase in England. He had made all arrangements for a dinner March 28 at which the horses would be "auctioned," only to find after issuing invitations and printing programs that the race will be run that afternoon.

Ty Cobb, "Georgia Peach," Has His Domestic Troubles

Redwood City, Calif., March 8.—(AP)—Domestic troubles today struck the 38-year-old marriage of Ty Cobb, baseball's cradle "Georgia Peach."

Mrs. Cobb, alleging extreme cruelty, used the all-time great of the diamond sport for divorce yesterday and asked the court for half of community property she valued at $7,000, $5,000 monthly alimony, $25,000 attorney fees and $10,000 costs.

New 50, Cobb scoffed at the $7,000,000 figure, but the great base sleaser long has been reported wealthy from earnings of stock in the Coca-Cola Company and other concerns.

The couple has been separated since Aug. 25, 1939. Cobb termed the divorce action "no surprise."

Miami nosed out Tennessee Tech of Cookeville in the other semifinal, 55-51.

Western, winner of six consecutive S. I. A. A. championships before the war caused an interruption in the annual tournament, was held to a standard for 30 minutes of the state game.

Wall Street Report

New York, March 8.—(P)—Leading stocks extended their decline by fractions to a point or so in today's early market transactions.

On the offside at a fairly active opening were American Telephone, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Bethlehem, Packard, Radio Corp., International Paper, Republic Steel, Douglas Aircraft, Chrysler, North American and Union Carbide.

Some market comfort was derived from word that government agencies, in order to relieve the serious scrap metal shortage "which threatens to curtail industrial production," would return substantial amounts of scrap from overseas. It was expected that about 500,000 tons would be switched to industrial channels in the next two months.

Religious ? Box

Charles L. Houser

Q—Did John the Baptist establish the Baptist Church?

A—John did not establish any church. With regard to the origin of the Baptist Church, the following quotations are from Baptist historians: "With the first decade of the 17th century we reach solid ground in Baptist history. Before that the history is more of less a matter of conjecture, and our conclusions are open to doubt; . . . (H. C. Vedder in "A Short History of Baptists") "The first regularly organized Baptist Church of which we possess any account is dated from 1607, and was formed in London by a Mr. Smyth, who had been a clergyman in the Church of England." (Benedict's History, page 304)

Q—Is the Baptist Church mentioned in the Bible?

A—No!

Q—Was Christ a Baptist?

A—No! None of John's disciples were called "Baptists," but even if they had been, Jesus was not a disciple of John—he was "The Master" himself. Not until he began to baptize, was John called "the Baptist," for that is the meaning of the term, "the baptizer or immerser." Of all those other persons who are mentioned in the Bible, not one was ever called "a Baptist."

Tennessee Solons Plan To Wind Up Session On Friday

Nashville, Tenn., March 8.—(P)—Tennessee legislators on their last week-end adjournment today were making plans to wind up business as the 75th general assembly scheduled a sine die adjournment for next Friday.

The two houses held unexciting sessions yesterday. The senate adjourned until 10:30 a. m. Monday and the house until 7 o'clock that night.

In order to complete its business in the remaining week the senate voted Friday to place all bills in the hands of a steering committee, which will pass on all legislation before it reaches the floor for final vote.

The house did not appoint such a committee, but a similar body is expected to be set up early in the week. However, the house committee on constitutional amendments has scheduled a meeting for 9 a. m. Tuesday.
