Reports From Industrial Control Center Optimistic

If early reports reaching the "industrial park control center," at the Chamber of Commerce are any barometer, it looks like citizens of the twin cities will have plant sites ready when the next serious industrialist comes "a-prospecting" here. While only one team captain has made a tentative, but extremely enthusiastic report, others have indicated that the solicitations to raise the $50,000.00 needed, are exceeding the most optimistic hopes.

One team captain, who called on the News said: "It's amazing that almost everybody says the same thing. They sign the pledge card, then add that if any more is needed, call back." The solicitor added that with such loyal support it is apparent that the sites already under option can be purchased, with perhaps a few days' more solicitations.

One merchant told the News: "I don't view this as a donation at all. I consider it as an investment in business expansion. The best way to get more business is to go after it. If we go after more industry and we get it, it means more business for me and everybody else." The merchant commended the efforts of local civic leaders to spearhead the drive for a long-needed industrial park.

At an enthusiastic meeting last week, attended by prominent busi-

Jo's Notebook

(Ed's Note: This is a letter from the co-publisher of the News to the other "co" who is in the Baptist Hospital in Memphis recuperating from major surgery last Saturday morning. His room number is 842.)

Dear Paul:

Having been in the Army, and overseas, as long as you were, I guess you know by now, I am the world's worst letter writer. I know you've never been able to figure out why I don't mind writing the letter, but it's addressing that darned envelope that scuttles my intentions. This paper will reach you as quick as a first class letter. I'll write this way, and so I won't have to address the envelope... (Anna-belle will.)

Every time I have to pinch-hit for you when you're away I realize how right you are about how much fun it is to mozy around town seeing and talking with everybody. This week though, I didn't get to do much mozing around. R. Paul has been a great help with the household chores now that he can drive. And of course you know that Mary Jo is always the "little white angel." The house is running smoothly, although I got up before daylight the other morning, went out to get the papers, and stumbled over the laundry in the hall-way and nearly cracked my head open. The door to the bathroom was open. I crashed into it even with my specs on and I wasn't very happy about it. We must make some other arrangements about that laundry.

Mary Arrington told me that she was in to see you Monday and that you were resting better. She also told me that Mrs. (Zuanita) Phelps and the Harry Hancock's visited you. I hope Harry and Mr. Phelps are both better after their respective surgeries.

Everybody has asked about you and wishing you'd get home soon, (and so do we.) Flop and her new brood seem to be getting along well. Ozie and the children have been going out to your "dog maternity" ward every day, but I haven't. I keep telling you we ought to do something about that animal's amazing contribution to the canine population explosion. This makes 65 she's had, doesn't it?

I can't wait to get on the campaign trail. Henry Maddox announced today, as you will see by the inside pages. We had a very pleasant visit when he came into the office. We agreed to have a nice, friendly campaign, stick to the issues and let the people decide who can best serve them. I think I convinced him that I was nobody, but nobody's hand-picked candidate, I told him what I've told everybody else... that if I have to go to General Assembly, if I am elected, obligated because of campaign financing and voter support, I'd just as soon stay at home. Fact is, and how well you know it, (Continued on page twelve)

Silver Tea Has Double Sentiment For West-Fulton P-TA Meeting

A silver tea will have a double meaning when the West Fulton PTA stages its Founders' Day program today (Thursday) at three o'clock in the farm room.

The warm and shining memories of wonderful services rendered by former presidents will have one meaning, but also a silver birthday offering will be taken to continue the parent-teacher work. In Kentucky a portion of the Founders' Day gift is to finance the Leadership Conference each year.

Mrs. Joe Bennett, sixth grade teacher at Carr Elementary, has charge of the program. All of her students will participate.

Past presidents are given a special invitation to attend and will be given special recognition.

Past presidents of the West Fulton PTA are: Mrs. L. J. Clements,

Mrs. W. R. Butt, Mrs. V. E. Windsor, Mrs. T. J. Kramer, Mrs. W. C. Valentine, Mrs. F. H. Riddle, Mrs. Lon Berninger, Mrs. John T. Price, Mrs. Kelly Lowe, Mrs. J. C. Hancock, Mrs. Hunter Whitesell, Mrs. B. J. Pigue, Mrs. Maxwell McDade, Mrs. Arch Huddleston, Mrs. Leo Greengrass, Mrs. Hendon Wright, Mrs. Ernest Fall, Jr., Mrs. Ward Bushart, Mrs. L. R. Still, Mrs. Charles R. Bennett, Mrs. M. R. Jeffress, Mrs. James Warren, Mrs. George Moore, Mrs. V. J. Voegell, Mrs. Reginald Williamson, Mrs. Don Sensing and Mrs. W. O. Beard.

West Fulton PTA received its founding charter in 1921 and has continued to be an active organization since that time, striving to promote the welfare of children and youth.

'Competitors' Swap Gavel Midst Cooperative Attitude

The out-going president of the Fulton-South Fulton Chamber of Commerce handed over the reigns of office to his competitor last Monday night amidst an atmosphere of enthusiasm, cooperation and a charted course of full speed ahead for the coming year.

L. M. McBride, president of the City National Bank accepted the gavel of the civic organization from Fulton Bank's William Scott, with a pledge of dedicated support from the out-going officers to the incoming officers that should see a year of growth and development from the twin cities.

Filled to capacity, with representatives present from almost every category of business and professions in the city, the dinner meeting at the Park Terrace was acclaimed by old-timers as one of the best ever held here.

The mood for community spirit, so prevalent at the meeting, was brought into proper focus by the array of outstanding speakers. Each of them was superb in delivering the message assigned to him.

Third Candidate Files For State Representative's Race

Henry Maddox, of Hickman, citing his voting record against the bill that would have made county tax commissioners appointive instead of elective, today announced, that he would seek re-election to the office of state representative from Fulton, Hickman, Carlisle and Ballard counties. Mr. Maddox, is the third candidate to announce for the office. Mrs. Jo Westpheling of Fulton and Ralph Graves of Bardwell have already announced.

The election is May 25. As a member of the Rules Committee Mr. Maddox said: "I was proud to be on this committee to help kill such bills as S. B. 245." Supported by the Kentucky Education Association, the bill was a move intended to bring about a broader revenue base for operation of schools, municipalities and county governments.

In supporting the measure, which the Rules Committee killed, Kentucky educators sought a uniform property assessment formula, undertaken by qualified, professional evaluators, rather than by political office-holders. A farmer and native Fulton Countian, Mr. Maddox graduated from Sylvan Shade High School and attended Murray State College. He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Maddox.

Herman Sams Commander Of WWI Veterans

Herman C. Sams has been named commander of the Twin City Barracks No. 2552 of World War I Veterans of Fulton and South Fulton. The meeting was held last Thursday night at the American Legion Hall.

Other officers elected were: B. A. Clifton of Water Valley, 1st vice commander; Carl Kindred, 2nd vice commander; Ray Graham, adjutant; Irby Hammond of Cayce, aide-de-camp; J. W. Johnston, quartermaster; Robert Lamb, chaplain.

The next meeting will include the ladies and a very interesting program is being planned. Time and place will be announced later.

Radio Auction Tomorrow, Candid Camera Review To Benefit 1965 Banana Festival

For the first time in recent history, a radio auction will be held for a "fun" activity instead of a humanitarian need. Beginning Thursday morning at 9:30 over Radio Station WFUL, Bill Gray and Johnny Stayton will start chanting to sell a limited number of tickets available to attend the Candid Camera Review to be held on Tuesday, March 2, when movies taken at last year's Banana Festival will be shown. The films to be shown are those taken by CBS, NBC, Kentucky Department of Information and private movie photographers.

In addition to that, all kinds of good things to eat and valuable things to use will be auctioned off while the ticket sale goes on. It is being billed as a "way-out" kind of auction and that's as it should be, for the funds from the Candid Camera Review, the auction, and several other fund-raising projects will go to finance a "way-out" program being planned for this year's Banana Festival. Dates for this year's festival have been set as September 30-October 1-2.

Meanwhile, Bill Fossett, chairman of the entertainment committee for the gala premiere to be held for the Review, reported to day that several of the most outstanding song and dance acts in this year's "Campus Lights" musical will appear at the showing. Mrs. Nelson Tripp, on her way to bringing another laurel to Fulton's talent horizon, reveals that the Kiddie Katz, that fabulous trio of song, is busy working on an entire new routine for the Candid Camera Review. The Kiddie Katz, the highlight of anybody's program near and far, were the top winners in the talent competition held in connection with the 1964 Festival.

The lobby of the Fulton Theatre will be decorated like a Hollywood premiere. Photographs and decorations from last year's Festival will greet the guests, as will other attractions to add to the glamour of the occasion.

There's only one small note to detract from the entire event... only a limited amount of tickets will be sold at $2.00 each, so if you want "in", the advice from Festival officials is to get tickets before the STANDING ROOM ONLY sign goes up.

This is the latest photograph of the now-famous Kiddie Katz.

Corky Hill To Make Race For Magistrate

Nelson D. (Corky) Hill, a longtime resident of Fulton County announced today that he will be a candidate for magistrate in the first district of the county. Mr. Hill, well known in the Fulton area, operates a Shell Service Station at Cayce.

The candidate graduated from Cayce High School in 1950 and was employed by the Fulton County maintenance department for three years. He is married to the former Peggy Floyd and they have two boys, ages nine and six.

Mr. Hill feels that he is qualified by experience to administer the affairs of the office he seeks. "I believe I know every road in this county," Mr. Hill said in making his announcement. "When the flood damaged our county I was with the government inspector constantly and went over every inch of the county," he added.

Mr. Hill's formal announcement appears elsewhere in this issue.

Sports Final

R. Paul Westpheling, III

The Fulton City Bulldogs journeyed to Mayfield Friday night for a game with the Mayfield Cardinals.

Fulton started out by playing even ball with the Cardinals, but fell behind. As the Bulldogs went into the dressing room, Mayfield had an 11-point lead, 35-24. The third quarter was disastrous for our team and, as the buzzer sounded, the Cardinals led 51-38.

When the game ended, the Cardinals had it won with 69-56 being the final score. The Bulldogs hit 20 of 33 shots from the gratis line.

David Mann led the scoring for Fulton with 13 points. Saturday night the Bulldogs played one of their best games of the season, but still fell to the Hickman County Falcons. Fulton City started off very poorly, but came back at the end of the first, leading 19-18. The Bulldogs fell behind again at the half 31-39, Hickman County leading by eight.

Instead of the third quarter being a bad one, the Bulldogs captured a 55-53 lead. They pulled out in front by five at the midway mark of the last quarter. In a frantic last four minutes, the Bulldogs still held a slight lead. With about .04 on the clock, Kemy Davis, of the Falcons, popped in a jump shot for the winning points.

The game ended 73-71 in Hickman County's favor.

Greg Williamson and David Mann played a very fine ball game, scoring 18 points each. Fulton City led with 44 rebounds against 27 for the Falcons.

In the last five games, Fulton has been picking up in their ball playing, but seem to lose their games at the free throw line.

Mr. Martin, of Fulton High School, has released the District I tournament drawing held on February 14 at 2 p. m. The drawing was held at the Hickman County gym.

Fulton City drew Hickman County. The first time the Falcons played the Bulldogs they beat us by 11 points. The second time they beat us by 2 points. What will happen this time?

Come on over to Clinton on March 3, 4, 5 and 6 for the tournaments. Each game will start at 7:30 in the evening.

Tuesday night the Fulton City Bulldogs went to Lowes for a game with the Blue Devils, and were defeated 100-68. The Blue Devils finished the game with 56 per cent and Fulton hit 42 per cent for the game.

Industry Appreciation Week Is Time To Salute Small and Large Payroll Makers

The Industrial Development Committee of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with the State Department of Commerce and local chambers of commerce, development associations and other civic minded groups, is sponsoring INDUSTRY APPRECIATION WEEK on a statewide basis this week, February 15-20, 1965.

The Industrial Development Committee of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce takes the attitude that concurrently in our efforts to attract new industry to our state and communities, we should set aside these dates to express our appreciation to existing industry for the many contributions they are making to our economy and general well-being.

While we are engaged in the stiff competition for attraction of new industry, we are prone to overlook those industrial concerns who have been a part of our community for some time. The direct payroll and taxes paid annually total, in most instances, a surprising figure. As one example, we should like to point out that the 1963 annual industrial payroll in Kentucky was in excess of $1 billion dollars. The benefits of employment create many benefits for Kentuckians, including new schools, roads and all community and state facilities.

In this day and time, when the emphasis is on establishing an industrial park for plant sites, with the hope of securing manufacturing concerns, we must not lose sight of the hundreds of "small industries" that are so vital in making up the whole of the economic picture.

Every employer who make a weekly or monthly payroll is an "industrialist" of sorts, for it takes many, many small industries to supply the wants and needs of those persons employed in the large manufacturing factories. Progressive retail merchants, skilled professional men and women, governmental employees, even people on retirement who live and trade here are part of our economy, and thus a part of our development and growth.

This week as we pause to observe Industry Appreciation Week, let's also pause to salute "INDUSTRIOUS APPRECIATION WEEK," for without the small employers and energetic individuals, we cannot hope to entice the large industrial payrolls to our State, our area and our community.

All around us, communities are preparing to welcome manufacturing plants to their individual cities. These industries are coming as a result of a lot of dedicated and industrious citizens who have worked untiringly to make good communities better. And these include the staffs of large industries already here.

Yes, indeed, Industry Appreciation Week is a good time for everybody to take a well-deserved pat on the back. And it couldn't happen to nicer people.

Breathitt's Commission On Agriculture Seeks To Combine Efforts Of All Of State's Leaders

A few months ago Governor Edward T. Breathitt, at the suggestion of many farm organizations and rural leaders, appointed a Commission on Agriculture. It is made up of 12 farmers and three state officials. Its purpose is to study the agricultural problems of the state and to explore ways by which the farm income can be increased. In order to broaden the scope of the Commission's activities and to better utilize the knowledge and leadership of people from all sections of the state, twelve special committees, each with 15 to 25 members, have been established to study the major fields of opportunity open to Kentucky farmers. Thus, there are now some 300 farm leaders working on a state-wide basis to develop ways of increasing Kentucky's farm income.

In addition to this state-wide group there are active committees in every county, working under the leadership of the University of Kentucky's Extension Service, studying the agricultural potentialities on a county to county basis. The total number of farm leaders involved in this gigantic effort to improve the state's farm income would reach into several thousands. This united effort on the part of so many people working on a program in itself should be beneficial to the state's economy. Fortunately, no evidence of partisan politics has ever entered into the make-up or activities of the Commission or its related committees and any effort to bring politics into the program will be greatly resented by the many farm organizations and individual farm leaders who are taking part in the program.

THE BILLION DOLLAR GOAL. The goal of a billion dollar state-farm income may seem a bit unrealistic but so did our country's goal to put a man on the moon by 1970. In the case of the state farm goal the main objective is not primarily to reach a specific monetary figure at a specific date but to make progress in that direction. Actually the commission recognizes the difficulty of even maintaining the farm income at its present level if a crisis should develop in tobacco.

The Commission is concerned about reversing the trend in the production of several important sources of farm income. For instance in eggs, a commodity to which Kentucky should be as well adapted as any nearby state, our cash receipts dropped from 32 million dollars in 1949 to 22 million in 1963. In 1949 receipts from eggs represented 6.1 percent of Kentucky's farm marketing; in 1963 the population had dropped to 3.4 percent. The trend in states such as the Carolinas, Georgia and Tennessee has been upwards while ours has been downward. The same thing has been happening in other commodities, including sheep, fruit and vegetables. Special committees are studying the reasons for these trends and will endeavor to reverse them.

No responsible farm leader should be satisfied to see Kentucky's share of the national farm income drop. In spite of whatever handicaps exist every effort must be made to help farm people share in the nation's prosperity.

100 Years Ago This Week

An historical review of the Civil War day by day in Kentucky, as reviewed by the Kentucky Civil War Commission
By JOE JORDAN

One hundred years ago this week the Kentucky legislature continued to delay voting on a proposed amendment to the U. S. Constitution, abolishing slavery, and the issue was the subject of hot discussions throughout the Commonwealth, especially in the newspaper. The Lexington Observer and Reporter came out strongly against ratification of the anti-slavery amendment.

"When the rebellion was originated," the editorial said, "Kentucky took her position firmly, and by a majority decision at the polls, in favor of the Union. Her people were told that it was no part of the object of those engaged in the effort to put down the rebellion to interfere with the domestic institution of the states, that the preservation of the Union and the restoration of the national authority were alone the objects of the war. It was not even hinted that slavery might ultimately fall in the struggle."

"The people of Kentucky were assured by those to whom they gave their confidence that no such intention was entertained, and upon the assurance thus given they did not hesitate to sever the ties which bound them to their brethren of the South... and stand firmly in opposition to them in their insane desire to disrupt the government."

"Mr. Lincoln himself in his inaugural address took no equivocal position upon this subject. He therein distinctly announced that neither he nor the party with which he was identified had either the right or the disposition to interfere with slavery in the states. The platform of the Chicago Convention, which he declared should be a law unto him, had also enunciated the same position. And yet, what is now proposed? The very identical thing they stated they would not do, because they had

LET'S LOOK IT OVER

By Gov. Edward T. Breathitt

Passage by the United States Senate last week of the $1 billion Appalachian Recovery Act came 11 days after a number of witnesses, including myself, testified in its support before the Senate Public Works Committee.

Whatever influence, if any, I may have brought to bear on this action is a source of real pleasure to me.

The Appalachian bill still has to pass the House and be signed by the President before it becomes law, but its final enactment, which seems assured, coupled with the $947.5 million Economic Opportunity Act will bring to Kentucky tools to combat poverty that she never had before.

In urging speedy passage of the bill, I told the committee that the program made possible by it would remove a chronic deficit area from the nation's ledger sheet and replace it with a growing economy that would benefit the entire country.

I also told the committee that Kentucky is not depending entirely on the Appalachian measure, that it is expanding as a state its efforts to develop Eastern Kentucky and all of Kentucky and would continue to do so after enactment of the bill. New roads, schools, parks and recreational facilities are included in our program.

Now, as everyone knows, just as Rome was not built in a day, poverty in Kentucky is not going to be wiped out overnight, but what with the co-operative undertaking by all levels of government — Federal, State and local — the outlook is bright to minimize poverty by striking at its sources, by giving the people a chance to become self-supporting.

In making real use of other available Federal help, Kentucky has been quick to take advantage of the opportunities offered by the Economic Opportunity Act. As a result, we stand in the forefront of states where projects have been started. Since the Act was approved by Congress last July, more than 70 local-project applications have been channeled to Washington through Kentucky's Area Program Office.

The jobless fathers program now under way in nine counties in Eastern Kentucky includes 3,100 families, and was entirely financed by a $9.6 million grant from the Federal Government. Application already has been made in Washington to add more counties to the original nine, which are Perry, Letcher, Breathitt, Bell, Floyd, Harlan, Knott, Leslie and Pike.

So far, with the jobless fathers assigned to community-improvement work and conservation jobs, no special training has been offered. This was all changed just a few days ago however, when it was announced that in a few weeks, basic education and vocational training courses will be made available. The objective of this is permanent employment for trained men.

A still larger project, measured by the $10.7 million Federal grant made to carry it out, is the establishment by April 1 of an urban Job Corps center in Camp Breckinridge, the Army post deactivated some years ago, near Morganfield.

The center will be operated by Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, Ill., in conjunction with the University of Kentucky, Lexington, and the General Electric Appliance Park, Louisville.

The object of this center during the first year is to train 2,000 unemployed young men aged 16 through 21 who have dropped out of school. Basic education courses will be set up and training will be given in various job skills such as automobile-body repair, gas-station operation, household-appliance repair and general machine-shop operation.

The over-all programs of the Economic Opportunity Act and the Appalachian Recovery Act, which is yet to become law, will be most helpful in our continuing quest for a better life for all Kentuckians. To President Johnson and to the members of Congress we will owe everlasting gratitude because the two programs strike at the very heart of many of Kentucky's gravest problems.

I Want A Recipe

by Camille Glenn

Dear Camille,

Please give me a recipe for a beef casserole that is company fare and can be cooked ahead. I would like one that uses a little wine.

Beef a la Burgundy is considered by many to be one of the great dishes of the world. When prepared with wine and mushrooms it is "company fare" in any land, and technically this is the perfect way to cook a stew. The great charm of the French stews is not so much in the use of wine (many have none), as it is the careful manner in which they are assembled. They are never "hashed" affairs. This casserole is also one of the best in the "do-ahead" category.

The wine and mushrooms can be omitted and you will have a perfect family stew, or follow the recipe and you will be the master of a divine

BEUF A LA BURGUNDY

- (Beuf a la Bourguignonne)
- 2-1/2 - 3 Lbs. of Lean Beef (cut into 2-inch pieces)
- 1-1/2 Lb. Salt Pork
- 3 Tbl. Beef Fat, Olive Oil, or Butter
- 1 Tbl. Salt (approximately)
- Freshly Ground Pepper
- 12 Onions
- 2 Carrots
- 3 or 4 Spring Onions (white Part)
- 1 Lb. Mushrooms
- 2 Tbl. Flour
- 2 Cups Dry Red Wine
- 1 Cup Beef Bouillon or Water
- 2 Stalks Celery, Pinch of Thyme, 1 Bay Leaf, and Parsley
- 1 Clove of Garlic

Saute 1-4 pound of salt pork in a heavy iron skillet (to render fat) until crisp. Set aside.

Dry beef cubes well (they will not brown if wet), and sprinkle with 2 teaspoons of salt. Brown on all sides in the hot rendered fat. When brown, transfer to a pottery or enamel casserole or roaster. Add the flour to the pan juices in the skillet. Stir. Pour into casserole. Add spring onions, carrots, red wine, thyme, bay leaf, celery, freshly ground pepper. Cover and leave in a preheated 325 degree oven for 3 to 4 hours or until very tender. The timing will depend upon the meat.

Saute mushrooms. Saute onions (they should be very tiny ones) in a little butter so they will take on a little color, or paint them with a little meat glaze or B. V. Pour a little water into the pan and allow the onions to braise until done.

When meat is tender, correct the seasoning. Garnish the casserole with mushrooms and onions and sprinkle with chopped fresh parsley.

If this stew has been cooked too quickly the sauce is likely to be too thick. In this case add a little beef stock. The sauce should be of a medium consistency, and there should be about three cups of it. Note: The whole onions and mushrooms were cooked without wine.

THE CHARMER: That wonderful flavor!

TO THE WISE: Dissecting a dish and then building it up again is an excellent way to learn the nuance of flavors and to become aware of the contribution that each ingredient makes to a finished product. At first, FOLLOW THE COOKING TECHNIQUE, but eliminate the frills. As an example, in today's recipe the wine and mushrooms would be omitted. TASTE—THINK! Next time, add the mushrooms, and then TASTE—THINK! Then when you are ready for your diploma in Boeuf Bourguignonne, make the stew again and add the wine. It will be great fun to become aware of why this stew is cooked as it is. You will also learn the important ingredients as well as the lesser ones (major and minor keys, as it were). Connoisseurship does not come to us full blown.

HAZARDS: In making any dish with wine, cook it in ovenproof pottery, enamel ware, etc., never in iron or aluminum. Beef stew freezes well for a short time, but always remove the onions and garlic before storing, even in the refrigerator.

VARIATIONS: Carrots, onions, celery, mushrooms, and boiled potatoes are the vegetables most suitable to beef stew (add and subtract as you wish). However, do not forget that onions and carrots are sweet, and for that reason it is easy to use too many.

Industry Appreciation Week Is Time To Salute Small and Large Payroll Makers

The Industrial Development Committee of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with the State Department of Commerce and local chambers of commerce, development associations and other civic minded groups, is sponsoring INDUSTRY APPRECIATION WEEK on a statewide basis this week, February 15-20, 1965.

The Industrial Development Committee of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce takes the attitude that concurrently in our efforts to attract new industry to our state and communities, we should set aside these dates to express our appreciation to existing industry for the many contributions they are making to our economy and general well-being.

While we are engaged in the stiff competition for attraction of new industry, we are prone to overlook those industrial concerns who have been a part of our community for some time. The direct payroll and taxes paid annually total, in most instances, a surprising figure. As one example, we should like to point out that the 1963 annual industrial payroll in Kentucky was in excess of $1 billion dollars. The benefits of employment create many benefits for Kentuckians, including new schools, roads and all community and state facilities.

In this day and time, when the emphasis is on establishing an industrial park for plant sites, with the hope of securing manufacturing con-

Every employer who make a weekly or monthly payroll is an "industrialist" of sorts, for it takes many, many small industries to supply the wants and needs of those persons employed in the large manufacturing factories. Progressive retail merchants, skilled professional men and women, governmental employees, even people on retirement who live and trade here are part of our economy, and thus a part of our development and growth.

This week as we pause to observe Industry Appreciation Week, let's also pause to salute "INDUSTRIOUS APPRECIATION WEEK," for without the small employers and energetic individuals, we cannot hope to entice the large industrial payrolls to our State, our area and our community.

All around us, communities are preparing to welcome manufacturing plants to their individual cities. These industries are coming as a result of a lot of dedicated and industrious citizens who have worked untiringly to make good communities better. And these include the staffs of large industries already here.

Yes, indeed, Industry Appreciation Week is a good time for everybody to take a well-deserved pat on the back. And it couldn't happen to nicer people.

Breathitt's Commission On Agriculture Seeks To Combine Efforts Of All Of State's Leaders

A few months ago Governor Edward T. Breathitt, at the suggestion of many farm organizations and rural leaders, appointed a Commission on Agriculture. It is made up of 12 farmers and three state officials. Its purpose is to study the agricultural problems of the state and to explore ways by which the farm income can be increased. In order to broaden the scope of the Commission's activities and to better utilize the knowledge and leadership of people from all sections of the state, twelve special committees, each with 15 to 25 members, have been established to study the major fields of opportunity open to Kentucky farmers. Thus, there are now some 300 farm leaders working on a state-wide basis to develop ways of increasing Kentucky's farm income.

In addition to this state-wide group there are active committees in every county, working under the leadership of the University of Kentucky's Extension Service, studying the agricultural potentialities on a county to county basis. The total number of farm leaders involved in this gigantic effort to improve the state's farm income would reach into several thousands. This united effort on the part of so many people working on a program in itself should be beneficial to the state's economy. Fortunately, no evidence of partisan politics has ever entered into the make-up or activities of the Commission or its related committees and any effort to bring politics into the program will be greatly resented by the many farm organizations and individual farm leaders who are taking part in the program.

THE BILLION DOLLAR GOAL. The goal of a billion dollar state-farm income may seem a bit unrealistic but so did our country's goal to put a man on the moon by 1970. In the case of the state farm goal the main objective is not primarily to reach a specific monetary figure at a specific date but to make progress in that direction. Actually the commission recognizes the difficulty of even maintaining the farm income at its present level if a crisis should develop in tobacco.

The Commission is concerned about reversing the trend in the production of several important sources of farm income—For instance in eggs, a commodity to which Kentucky should be as well adapted as any nearby state, our cash receipts dropped from 32 million dollars in 1949 to 22 million in 1963. In 1949 receipts from eggs represented 6.1 percent of Kentucky's farm marketing; in 1963 the population had dropped to 3.4 percent. The trend in states such as the Carolinas, Georgia and Tennessee has been upwards while ours has been downward. The same thing has been happening in other commodities, including sheep, fruit and vegetables. Special committees are studying the reasons for these trends and will endeavor to reverse them.

No responsible farm leader should be satisfied to see Kentucky's share of the national farm income drop. In spite of whatever handicaps exist every effort must be made to help farm people share in the nation's prosperity.

100 Years Ago This Week

An historical review of the Civil War day by day in Kentucky, as reviewed by the Kentucky Civil War Commission
By JOE JORDAN

One hundred years ago this week the Kentucky legislature continued to delay voting on a proposed amendment to the U. S. Constitution, abolishing slavery, and the issue was the subject of hot discussions throughout the Commonwealth, especially in the newspaper. The Lexington Observer and Reporter came out strongly against ratification of the anti-slavery amendment.

"When the rebellion was originated," the editorial said, "Kentucky took her position firmly, and by a majority decision at the polls, in favor of the Union. Her people were told that it was no part of the object of those engaged in the effort to put down the rebellion to interfere with the domestic institution of the states, that the preservation of the Union and the restoration of the national authority were alone the objects of the war. It was not even hinted that slavery might ultimately fall in the struggle."

"The people of Kentucky were assured by those to whom they gave their confidence that no such intention was entertained, and upon the assurance thus given they did not hesitate to sever the ties which bound them to their brethren of the South... and stand firmly in opposition to them in their insane desire to disrupt the government."

"Mr. Lincoln himself in his inaugural address took no equivocal position upon this subject. He therein distinctly announced that neither he nor the party with which he was identified had either the right or the disposition to interfere with slavery in the states. The platform of the Chicago Convention, which he declared should be a law unto him, had also enunciated the same position. And yet, what is now proposed? The very identical thing they stated they would not do, because they had

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Adams entertained the following guests Sunday, when a delightful dinner was served: Mr. and Mrs. Ray Adams of Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Adams and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lowe of Pierce, Mrs. Thomas Taylor and daughter, Patricia, Mrs. Milburn Vincent and daughter of Martin.

Members of the Tuesday night bridge club gave a surprise birthday party last week to Mrs. Len Askew. A delightful dinner and an evening of bridge were enjoyed. The honoree is leaving soon for California to join her husband and make her home. The first course was served at the home of Mrs. Frank Beadles, where the honoree received a lovely gift. Then they went to the home of Mrs. Robert E. Bard, where a salad course was served. The main course was served at the home of Mrs. Maxwell McDade. After dinner bridge was played in the home of Mrs. Beadles, with high score prize going to Mrs. W. M. Blackstone and low score prize to Mrs. Homer Wilson. Guests gifts went to Mrs. E. S. Weaver and Mrs. Askew.

neither the power nor the disposition, they are speeding with all haste to accomplish."

Grayson County Home Guards attacked guerrillas encamped near Hartford in Ohio County, and in a brisk skirmish killed six and wounded four. One of the Home Guards was killed and another wounded.

The legislature adopted a resolution welcoming Maj. Gen. John M. Palmer, who had been appointed to succeed Maj. Gen. Stephen G. Burbridge as commander of Union Army forces in Kentucky.

In their relief at the prospect of getting rid of Burbridge, a good many editors throughout the state praised Palmer. The Louisville Journal said: "The people of the state may congratulate themselves. The change of military commanders will prove immensely beneficial to the state." The National Unionist, published at Lexington, was better informed than most. It said it had learned "the outlines of his policy" and predicted that it would be "very nearly the same as that pursued heretofore by General Burbridge." That would later be proved essentially correct.

Flowers For Living Theme Of Taxpayer

Internal Revenue agents assigned to tax assistance are prepared for most types of contingencies. One agent, however, was startled to be handed a bouquet of small artificial flowers.

"These," explained the taxpayer, "are the poppies, roses and other flowers I bought last year from charitable and service organizations to the tune of $28, which I am here and now deducting as a contribution on my income tax return."

LET'S LOOK IT OVER

By Gov. Edward T. Breathitt

Passage by the United States Senate last week of the $1 billion Appalachian Recovery Act came 11 days after a number of witnesses, including myself, testified in its support before the Senate Public Works Committee.

Whatever influence, if any, I may have brought to bear on this action is a source of real pleasure to me.

The Appalachian bill still has to pass the House and be signed by the President before it becomes law, but its final enactment, which seems assured, coupled with the $947.5 million Economic Opportunity Act will bring to Kentucky tools to combat poverty that she never had before.

In urging speedy passage of the bill, I told the committee that the program made possible by it would remove a chronic deficit area from the nation's ledger sheet and replace it with a growing economy that would benefit the entire country.

I also told the committee that Kentucky is not depending entirely on the Appalachian measure, that it is expanding as a state its efforts to develop Eastern Kentucky and all of Kentucky and would continue to do so after enactment of the bill. New roads, schools, parks and recreational facilities are included in our program.

Now, as everyone knows, just as Rome was not built in a day, poverty in Kentucky is not going to be wiped out overnight, but what with the co-operative undertaking by all levels of government—Federal, State and local—the outlook is bright to minimize poverty by striking at its sources, by giving the people a chance to become self-sustaining.

In making real use of other available Federal help, Kentucky has been quick to take advantage of the opportunities offered by the Economic Opportunity Act. As a result, we stand in the forefront of states where projects have been started. Since the Act was approved by Congress last July, more than 70 local-project applications have been channeled to Washington through Kentucky's Area Program Office.

The jobless fathers program now under way in nine counties in Eastern Kentucky includes 3,100 families, and was entirely financed by a $9.6 million grant from the Federal Government. Application already has been made in Washington to add more counties to the original nine, which are Perry, Letcher, Breathitt, Bell, Floyd, Harlan, Knott, Leslie and Pike.

So far, with the jobless fathers assigned to community-improvement work and conservation jobs, no special training has been offered. This was all changed just a few days ago however, when it was announced that in a few weeks, basic education and vocational training courses will be made available. The objective of this is permanent employment for trained men.

A still larger project, measured by the $10.7 million Federal grant made to carry it out, is the establishment by April 1 of an urban Job Corps center in Camp Breckinridge, the Army post deactivated some years ago, near Morganfield.

The center will be operated by Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, Ill., in conjunction with the University of Kentucky, Lexington, and the General Electric Appliance Park, Louisville.

The object of this center during the first year is to train 2,000 unemployed young men aged 16 through 21 who have dropped out of school. Basic education courses will be set up and training will be given in various job skills such as automobile-body repair, gas-station operation, household-appliance repair and general machine-shop operation.

The over-all programs of the Economic Opportunity Act and the Appalachian Recovery Act, which is yet to become law, will be most helpful in our continuing quest for a better life for all Kentuckians. To President Johnson and to the members of Congress we will owe everlasting gratitude because the two programs strike at the very heart of many of Kentucky's gravest problems.

'I Want A Recipe'

by Camille Glenn

Dear Camille,
Please give me a recipe for a beef casserole that is company fare and can be cooked ahead. I would like one that uses a little wine.

Beef a la Burgundy is considered by many to be one of the great dishes of the world. When prepared with wine and mushrooms it is "company fare" in any land, and technically this is the perfect way to cook a stew. The great charm of the French stews is not so much in the use of wine (many have none), as it is the careful manner in which they are assembled. They are never "hashed" affairs. This casserole is also one of the best in the "do-ahead" category.

The wine and mushrooms can be omitted and you will have a perfect family stew, or follow the recipe and you will be the master of a divine

BEEF A LA BURGUNDY

- (Boeuf a la Bourguignonne)
- 2 1/2 - 3 Lbs. of Lean Beef (cut into 2-inch pieces)
- 1 1/2 Lb. Salt Pork
- 3 Tbl. Beef Fat, Olive Oil, or Butter
- 1 Tbl. Salt (approximately)
- Freshly Ground Pepper
- 12 Onions
- 2 Carrots
- 3 or 4 Spring Onions (white Part)
- 1 Lb. Mushrooms
- 2 Tbl. Flour
- 2 Cups Dry Red Wine
- 1 Cup Beef Bouillon or Water
- 2 Stalks Celery, Pinch of Thyme, 1 Bay Leaf, and Parsley
- 1 Clove of Garlic

Saute 1-4 pound of salt pork in a heavy iron skillet (to render fat) until crisp. Set aside.

Dry beef cubes well (they will not brown if wet), and sprinkle with 2 teaspoons of salt. Brown on all sides in the hot rendered fat. When brown, transfer to a pottery or enamel casserole or roaster. Add the flour to the pan juices in the skillet. Stir. Pour into casserole. Add spring onions, carrots, red wine, thyme, bay leaf, celery, freshly ground pepper. Cover and leave in a preheated 325 degree oven for 3 to 4 hours or until very tender. The timing will depend upon the meat.

Saute mushrooms. Saute onions (they should be very tiny ones) in a little butter so they will take on a little color, or paint them with a little meat glaze or B. V. Pour a little water into the pan and allow the onions to braise until done. When meat is tender, correct the seasoning. Garnish the casserole with mushrooms and onions and sprinkle with chopped fresh parsley.

If this stew has been cooked too quickly the sauce is likely to be too thick. In this case add a little beef stock. The sauce should be of a medium consistency, and there should be about three cups of it. Note: The whole onions and mushrooms were cooked without wine.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Donoho, near here, and Edward Donoho of Sedalia, Ky., spent the week end in Frankfort and Lexington. At Frankfort they were house guests of their uncle and Edward's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Donoho. In Lexington they visited Mrs. Mary Browder, sister of Harvey Donoho and Mrs. Donoho. They returned home Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Vethro McClain, of Detroit, are here on a visit with parents, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe McClain. They were in Nashville to attend the wedding of their daughter, Edna Earle, last week. The groom is a Nashville citizen.

Rev. Russell Rodgers filled his regular appointment at New Salem Baptist Church the past Sunday. It has been announced that the spring revival will be held in March with Pastor Rodgers conducting, with night services only. The public is invited to each service.

Mr. and Mrs. Huse McGuire left Sunday for Murray, Ky., for several days visit with Mrs. Johnny Harrison, the niece of Mr. McGuire.

Mrs. Ralph Doren left Thursday for her home in Huntsville, Ala. She has attended the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Dytum, in Mayfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Donoho will observe their 50th wedding anniversary on Saturday, February 20, in Frankfort, where they are spending the winter with their daughter, Mrs. Nell Brawner, and family. Mr. and Mrs. Donoho are former residents of this locality and congratulations are in order. Why not send them cards on this special occasion? Mr. Donoho is now 90 years of age, while Mrs. Donoho is high 73. They own their home near Sedalia, Ky., but are no longer able to keep house, since they are shut-ins. Their address is 357 Mocking Bird Lane, Frankfort, Ky.

Mrs. Mary Bynum is doing nicely at the Mayfield Hospital, where she had surgery several days ago. We hope she will very quickly recover.

Becky Lynn, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mathis, is a victim of a deep chest cold and is absent from Cuba Elementary School. All of us send her "Get-Well" wishes that she will very quickly recover.

Your writer has just had another birthday and I say "Thanks" to all who sent cards. Although I didn't celebrate in a big way, I baked a Mardi Gras cake. Guess I may be a little early for that kind, but it can be used for a birthday or party.

Mrs. Raymond Griffith and mother, Mrs. Nellie Byars, have returned from California, where they attended the funeral and burial of a nephew and grandson. They made the trip by jet. We extend our condolences to all the bereaved ones.

We are sorry to learn that Paul Westpheling is a patient in Baptist Hospital in Memphis. Get well soon is hoped by your correspondent and all friends around this section.

Chamber's industrial committee, with deep appreciation saluted the larger industries in the twin city area;

—With humility and sincerity Mr. Scott reviewed the many accomplishments of the organization during the past year and pledged his support in completing the tasks begun during his term of office;

—Aware of the responsibilities placed upon him, Mr. McBride accepted them with challenge and with thanks for the honor that had been bestowed upon him;

—Using his best court-room charm attorney Rodney Miller introduced the speaker of the evening, building up a great "case" that Gayle Gupton was the most outstanding after dinner speaker in the Mid-South. After Mr. Gupton spoke, Mr. Miller's "client" was handed a standing acquittal;

—Insurance executive Ernest Fall, Jr. did a magnificent job of selling the need for an industrial park. When the drive started Tuesday morning, Mr. Fall's talk had people buying "insurance in Fulton's future" by pledging funds to the industrial park investment.

—Gayle Gupton, a Nashville banker, an indefatigable civic worker and former legislator was named appropriately. He kept his audience in gales of laughter, while superbly putting across his message that community attitudes and spirit make the vital ingredients for attracting industry.

—Rev. John Platt, president of the Fulton Ministerial Alliance and vicar of the Episcopal churches in the area, prayerful asked for guidance in the busy months ahead. It was a completely successful evening, touched off by the wonderful food and service at the Park Terrace Restaurant.

Efficient and capable, Mrs. Cavita Olive came in for a large share of justifiable praise for the manner in which she conducts the affairs of the Chamber of Commerce office.

Parks Weeks served as co-chairman with Mr. Miller for the outstanding program.

Other Chamber of Commerce of

ficers elected include Harold Henderson, vice-president, and James Needham, treasurer. Newly named members of the board of directors are Henderson, Needham, Ernest Fall, Jr., and James Green. They succeeded Clyde Williams, Jr., Charles Wade Andrews, J. D. Hales, and William Scott.

Other directors currently serving on the board are Charles Binford, Robert Morgan, Rodney Miller, Dr. R. V. Putnam, Joe Treas, Kenneth Turner, Sr., and Park Weeks. Bill Bennett represents the Jaycees, Floyd Martin, the South Fulton Boosters, and F. A. Homra, the YMBC. Mayors of Fulton and South Fulton are ex-officio members.

MADDOX—

In his announcement, which appears elsewhere in this issue of the News, Mr. Maddox sets forth his legislative record and other information pertinent to his candidacy.

In the last representative's race, Maddox was opposed by Ralph E. Graves, editor of the Carlisle county weekly newspaper in Bardwell, and in a special election in which Maddox was first named to serve out the unexpired term following the resignation of Hoyt Barnett, his opponent was Ro Gardner, editor of the weekly newspaper in the city of Hickman.

Local Scouters Honored For Long Service

Dr. W. W. Slider, former World War II chaplain and presently minister of Christ's Methodist Church in Louisville, was the principal speaker at the annual Scout Recognition dinner held at the Jaycee Civic Center in Paducah on February 11.

Guests were welcomed by Henry O. Whitlow, council president. Howard (Tiny) Townsend, Mayfield scoutmaster, was the recipient of the Silver Beaver Award, the highest award given to Scouters. Scoutmaster Charles Walker of troop 42, Fulton, received a Scouters' award.

Following the dinner, group singing was led by Ted Simmons, field scout executive, accompanied by Mrs. Nelson Tripp. Mrs. Tripp also sang a solo, accompanying herself on the auto-harp.

Those attending from Fulton were: Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Blackstone, Mr. and Mrs. Bertie Pigue, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Veneklasen, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Walker, Dr. J. L. Jones, Tommy Harwood, Barry Roper, Jerry Elliott, District Chairman Nelson Tripp and Mrs. Tripp, and District Scout Executive Ted Simmons.

Kennel Forum Asks Whether Large Or Small High Schools Are Best

"From The FHS Kennel"

Question:
Do you think a small or large school is best?

MRS. VARDEN—Which do I think is best—a small school or a large school? As for high schools, we have very little choice what size school we attend. That is set by the community in which we live. But this is a problem in deciding what college to attend.

There are, of course, both advantages and disadvantages to either a small or a large school. In a small school the student body is often closer knit and may therefore seem more friendly. The students often take more pride in the school. They feel that there is a place for them in the small school and that the school needs them. Particularly for students from a small town and small high school the small college may be best. There are not too many new and different things to adjust to. There may be a closer relationship between the faculty and students. Professors may have more time to help students with difficulties in their studies. In short, the school may seem to care more about keeping you there than getting rid of you to make room for someone better.

The pro side for the large school may include the more extensive facilities, such as a larger better library, more lab equipment, and language labs. They offer more subjects and perhaps some better professors. Perhaps the large school's biggest advantage is the greater variety of people to meet and the many new things to learn—how to tolerate and understand people and things very different from what we have previously known.

We should not fret over whether our school is too small or too large, rather we should take advantage of the good facets we do have. And so with college—whether you choose a small or large school—take advantage of what the school has to offer.

JENNIFER DUNCAN — There are many advantages to both large and small schools. In a small high school one gets to know the teachers and other students better.

In a large high school there are more students; there, there is a chance to meet more people. One definite advantage of large schools is that they offer a wide choice of subjects. Also, subjects are graded so that students can learn at a rate best suited for them. The atmosphere in a large high school is mostly impersonal and it is

PHIL FLANNIGAN — I prefer a small school over a large school mainly for two reasons. First, the students in a large school are hard to get to know because there are more of them. In a small school you can get around more and get to know almost everyone.

Second is the teachers and their time. In a large school the teacher has no time to teach you as an individual. She has so many students that if you want extra help you have to join an after-school class. But in small schools like FHS your teachers don't have as many students have more time to help you individually. I also found that you can learn more in a small school. ANITA KILGO — I prefer a small high school to a large one, though there are advantages in going to a larger high school.

At a large high school a more varied curriculum is offered to the students. Also there are a lot more people that you need to get to know if you are going to join in the activities of the school. You cannot have just a few friends and not know anyone else just because the school is so large.

But on the other hand when you go to a small school you can get to know people very well. At a small school you can make many lasting friendships. You can also be closer to the teachers at a small school because they take more of an interest in the students.

All in all, I have enjoyed going to a small school more than a large school.

"While bettering Lexington, you better the University," declares Miss Lee Rathbone, a co-chairman with John O'Brien of the University of Kentucky YM-YWCA Tutorial Program.

Through the program, 40 UK students currently serve as tutors for about 75 Lexington school children who need special help or are potential dropouts. Each week the tutors meet with pupils in groups of three or four for one and one-half hours. Most of the pupils are in grades seven through 12.

Psychologists Worry About Teen Age Fad

"From The FHS Kennel"

What is this? Is it a native African tribal voodoo death-agony dance? No! Are these people deep sea divers with the bends? They're not! Oh, pardon, is this the, ah—sanatorium. It's not! Well, what is it? This, friends, is the jerk.

A standard fatherly question asked at teen-age dances is, "Who is whose partner?" The usually motherly statement is, "It's not very ladylike, is it." The general uninformed public attitude is, "What are we coming to?" And the teenagers' thoughts on the jerk are somewhere between their thoughts on freedom, fun, and the new and novel, the untraditional, and just doing something wild.

These are the ordinary feelings toward the jerk, but what exactly does the jerk mean? Teen-agers have progressed from the twist to the mashed potatoes, and now to the jerk. Where can they possibly go from here? Do teens crave the unorthodox and the unheard of so much that they will go to even greater lengths to prove their modernism? Many psychologists feel that these new dances revert back to the basic drives in man. Teen-agers, they feel, are going backward instead of forward. They insist that young people are rebelling against civilization, the modern concept of a patterned life. They maintain that teens feel a great need for freedom from a confined society. The jerk is an outlet, just such a one as prehistoric man perhaps would have used.

Announcing New TOUCH-TONE® Phone Coming To Fulton

This is the remarkable, new telephone which has buttons instead of a dial. To make a call, you simply push the buttons and listen to the pleasant musical tone — a different tone for each button. Many people find that the electronic sounds "dial" their number — faster than regular dial phones.

These phones come in all standard colors and most models for your home or business. To see the exciting, new Touch-Tone phone, visit our business office and place your order right away. And you'll be ready to go when dial service comes to Fulton later this year.

New Resort Area At Kentucky Dam To Be America's Finest

The ultra-modern, 'vacation resort complex, now being planned in the Kentucky Dam area is destined to become the most popular tourist attraction in Mid-America. With facilities for everything from dining in elegant luxury, to a private lake for catching channel catfish, the developers reveal that stock in the corporation is almost seventy per cent sold, with a deadline soon to be placed on its sale.

The site upon which the proposed structure would be constructed contains 32 acres and lies "Between The Lakes" at the eastern edge of the town of Grand Rivers.

The site was "offered for lease" by the Corps of Engineers (Nashville District) January 19. Ken-Bar was the sole bidder.

The site is part of an 100 acre tract the Corps is developing as a public recreational area between Barkley Dam and the canal connecting Lake Barkley and the TVA's Kentucky Lake. The Corps will build a beach and bathhouse in the area not included in the lease and extensive picnicking and camping facilities.

Ken-Bar (short for Kentucky-Barkley Lakes Area Development Co.) recently organized Kentucky stock Company, also proposed to build 40 Motel units, 22 vacation cottages, a floating dock with complete fueling and freezing facilities, bait and tackle store, etc. Forty (40) covered boat slips were also proposed and 32 open slips for rental fishing boats. A swimming pool and extensive playground facilities would also be provided.

The proposed Main Lodge would contain public and private dining facilities for 150, a snack bar seating 52, lobby, offices and public rest rooms. The proposed structure is unique in that it would be constructed out "over the water."

Boaters would be able to tie up below the building (out of the weather) while dining above.

Ken-Bar owns another 35 acre tract in Marshall County, Ky., adjacent to Kentucky Dam Village State Park. Upon this site will be constructed a "Living Center", something new in resort living. Preliminary plans call for construction of a 150 unit Motel with dining and convention facilities for groups of up to 700 people. Its main lodge would also contain Beauty and Barber shops, a sauna bath, coffee shop and take-out food store. An Antique Shop and "Grandma's Kitchen" would be housed in another building where Kentucky craftsmen and artists will be seen at work.

The site would also contain a lake stocked with channel catfish and bluegills for children's fishing, two swimming pools, a waterfall and numerous game complexes. Ice skating will be a winter feature.

Eighty-five houses will be built on another part of the tract. These will be sold with purchasers receiving pool and recreational privileges accorded guests in the Motel.

Condominium apartments are contemplated on still another portion of the site as well as a medical clinic, sports shop, drug and general store.

Construction should start on both projects by May 1, 1965. Opening is scheduled for April 1, 1966.

RE-ELECT HENRY MADDOX For STATE REPRESENTATIVE

HENRY MADDOX

To The Citizens And Voters Of The First Legislative District Composed of Counties Of --- Ballard, Carlisle, Hickman and Fulton.

Dear Friends:

I would like to say "THANK YOU" for letting me serve as your representative for 1963, 1964 and 1965. For this I am grateful. It is my hope that you see fit to send me back to Frankfort to represent you again and help make the laws for the future of Kentucky.

So that you, the voters, may know more about me as a candidate for this important office I submit the following: I hereby announce my candidacy for office of State Representative of the First Legislative District of Kentucky, subject to the action of the voters at the Democrat Primary election on May 25th, 1965. I am 59 years of age, life long resident of Fulton County, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Maddox. I graduated from Sylvan Shade High School and attended Murray State College; and afterwards worked with U. S. Corps of Engineers and now am engaged in farming. I am past president of the Fulton County Farm Bureau, member of the Hickman Masonic Lodge 761, director of the Farmers Bank, and a member and deacon of the Mt. Hermon Christian Church. I am, and have always been, a strong supporter of BETTER ROADS, BETTER SCHOOLS, BETTER HEALTH AND PROGRESS FOR Our Commonwealth.

Since the reapportionment of our state by population only, the rural people have lost most of their power in legislature, and that is one reason I think you should have a farmer for your representative. Recently when I was in Frankfort a lawyer said to me, "Henry, I have checked your voting record and I think there should be more Farmers like you to make our laws for the future of Kentucky."

A new member of the legislature cannot become a member of the RULES COMMITTEE by a ruling of the HOUSE, in other words you must serve more than one term to be eligible to become a member of the Committee, and as you know this is one of the most important committees of the HOUSE. I was proud to be on this committee to help kill such bills as the S. B. 245, this bill to have your tax commissioner be appointed rather than to be elected by the people's vote. I think every property owner should always be able to vote for the person who assesses his property.

I was proud to get H. B. 313, the port bill, passed as I believe it will be very beneficial to all four counties. Of the 100 members in the House voting on this bill there was only one dissenting vote, which shows I have the respect and cooperation of my fellow representatives.

To the voters of the city of Fulton and the eastern end of the county I was able to have passed H. B. 504, so that Circuit Court could be held in Fulton again. I think this bill made a record for going through the two houses quicker than any bill ever had.

I have been your representative long enough to find we have an over-abundance of laws. More important to you and I, it seems to me, is to have someone safeguarding your interests against laws which would be detrimental to our people and to our state.

In the weeks between now and May 25th, the date of the Primary Election, I hope to meet as many of you as time permits but I realize that I cannot see everyone, and I hope that each of you will take this as my personal request for your vote and influence, I assure you that it will be deeply appreciated.

I am financing my own campaign as I have my other two campaigns. I am obligated to no group or individual. My only obligation is to all the people of the four counties.

This is not an office to be lightly sought, nor is it your privilege as voters to lightly give this office to anyone who might seek it. I invite all of you to investigate my past voting record. Feeling that I merit your consideration and vote, I submit myself to you, the voters, as a candidate for the re-election to the office of STATE REPRESENTATIVE.

Success Salutes Former Graduates Scattered Throughout The U. S. A.

"From The FHS Kennel"

Fulton High School, though relatively small, proudly holds its place among the larger high schools of Kentucky with the production of such successful graduates as Read Holland, Ella Doyle, Mac and Tommy Nall, Nancy Adams, and Wayne and Bob Anderson. They, once graduates of F. H. S., today are scattered throughout the United States and are continuing to bring credit to F. H. S.

Read Holland, son of Superintendent W. L. Holland, graduated as valedictorian from F. H. S. in the class of 1948. He attended The University of Kentucky on a merit scholarship and graduated four years later with honors. He began work on his Master's Degree in Metallurgy at U. K. and then received a Fulbright Scholarship to Sheffield, England, where he received his Master's. On completion, he came back to U. K. and obtained his Doctor's Degree in 1956. Read became one of the Kentucky Contract Team members and went to Bandung, Indonesia, to set up the field of mathematics and science at the University of Indonesia where he stayed two years. He is now employed in the research department of the Sandia Corporation in Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Ella Doyle graduated from Memphis State and then went to Northwestern to work on her Master's in Radio and Television Producing and now is working for the Corinthian Broadcasting Corporation in Sacramento, California.

Mac and Tommy Nall have been very successful in the fields of mathematics and medicine. Tommy is a resident in New York General Hospital where he is specializing in allergy and immunology while Mac is an account executive with Alcoa Aluminum Company in Chicago.

Nancy Adams needs no introduction. Her's is the familiar voice on the Winston and Newport commercials. She has also sung on the Eastman Kodak, Canada Dry, Luster-Cream, and Mazola Oil commercials and in March 1964, she was signed as an exclusive recording artist by RCA Victor and is managed by Gerald Purcell (discoverer of Al Hirt). Nancy has already released one record, "Some-

SHINED AND READY

"And your feet shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace." Ephesians 6:15.

These shoes fairly shine and sparkle and are ready to take their owner proudly any place. Society dictates that we should be well turned out and that our feet be shod with well-groomed footwear. The Bible tells us that we should be clad in the whole armour of God, and that our feet should be shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace. The gospel is this: "There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit." Romans 8:1

St. Peter advises, "Be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear."

Come to church this week that you might learn of Him and that you might be prepared to give this good news of the gospel to others.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

NOTEBOOK

I'd much rather stay at home and battle the problem with the home folks.

An old friend, and a very prominent political leader in Ballard County called and asked me to be his guest at the Chamber of Commerce meeting in LaCenter tonight (Thursday). He was very encouraging about my campaign there and said I had about as many loyal supporters there as I have in Fulton County. I told him that was going a long way, because it seems that my home-folks are going to do right good by me, even from what my critics say. I'm going to see if R. Paul can go with me. If not I'll get myself a "driver" so don't worry about my being on the highway at night.

T. C. Burnis, Joe Annabelle and of course the kids want me to tell you they're thinking about you and praying for a speedy recovery. And for many, many reasons, most of them sentimental and personal, I'd like to have "my podner" around close where I can feel the warm security of your good advice and wise counsel. With much love. Jo.
