Victim Of Mowing Machine Recovers

Five-year-old Charles Fisk has been wearing her artificial arms for two months and is already capable of helping her mother around the kitchen. Charles lost both arms last summer when she toppled from a work horse into the path of a mowing machine while her father watched in horror. Holding her attention in her home in Grand Rapids, Mich., is a toy bank containing $100 contribution from patrons of a Grand Rapids cigar store. Public sympathy created $22,000 fund being reserved for the child's education.

Selective Service Boards Preparing To Close Business

Louisville, Ky., March 14—(AP)—State Selective Service headquarters here and the 165 local draft boards scattered over the state prepared today to go out of business, along with similar groups over the nation.

Col. Solon F. Russell, state director, said the state's local boards had sent "greetings" to more than 700,000 Kentuckians since the start of selective service.

Several tons of records are on file at the state office here and Col. Russell said it had not been determined yet whether the draft records would be sent to Washington, given to the various states or distributed among the counties.

Fulton Classes Clash Tuesday

Annual Tournament Set For March 18, New Gym Benefit of Shop Program

The Fulton high school class basketball tournament will be played Tuesday afternoon and night, March 18, in the new gym.

The freshmen play the seniors in the first game at 3:30 p. m. and the sophomores and juniors meet at 4:45 p. m. Finals will be at 8 p. m.

Admission is 35c, with proceeds going to the school shop program. A registered official will call the games.

The seniors will have a considerable edge in the tourney, since six are first-string Bulldog players. They are Baird, Baird, Forrest, Pique, Sammons, and Fuzell.

The juniors, however, have Nelms, Bone, Campbell, Collins, and Nall, all varsity veterans of the past season. The sophomore team will be composed largely of "B" team players, and the freshmen draw most of their men from the junior high school team.

The class tournament is an annual event, and was won last year by the juniors. The Industrial Arts Club, this year's sponsor, is asking the public to attend the games and see some top-notch basketball games, in addition to helping the club add much-needed equipment to the school shop. Enrollment in shop classes has more than doubled in the past three years.

British Barracks Blasted

A hole is torn in stone wall around damaged British Army pay corps barracks in Jerusalem, Palestine, following explosions set off in pre-dawn raid. British authorities said the hole was blasted by a party of "Jewish Raiders" who stormed the building under cover of machine gun fire to touch off four explosions. Barracks is a converted Syrian orphanage.

Fulton Artist's Work Shown

Harold Holland, Now In Michigan, Draws Scenes Of Lakes, River

Paintings of Great Lakes and Mississippi River studies by Harold Holland, a native of Fulton, now are on exhibit in the Royal Oak, Mich., public library.

Holland, who went to Royal Oak in 1937, has sketched and painted for diversion during the greater part of his life. Lacking early art training, he has attended art classes at Wayne University and the Detroit Society of Arts and Crafts since going to Michigan.

His painting of the steamboat, "Golden Eagle," was exhibited last year at the annual show of the Michigan artists held in November and December at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

He was born near Fulton in 1903 in the home of his grandfather, one of the oldest house in this part of the country. Three generations of the Holland family have lived in this home.

He was reared there and in Memphis. After graduating from Carr Institute, he secured a position in Pittsburg, where he stayed for several years. Later he was employed by General Motors in 1923.

His wife is the former Miss May Bell Netherly of Fulton. They have one son, Mark, three years old.

A picture of Mr. Holland and one of his river paintings appeared in a recent issue of the Royal Oak Tribune.

Some Doubt That Senate's Consent Can Be Obtained

TRUMAN SUPPORTED

Washington, March 14—(AP)—A move developed today to combine Senate and House committee hearings and thus speed action on President Truman's program for American aid to Greece and Turkey.

It was suggested by Rep. Lodge (R-Conn.), as the House Foreign Affairs Committee met to hear a discussion of the program by Undersecretary of State Acheson, Secretary of War Patterson and Secretary of the Navy Forrestal.

These same officials went over the President's proposal yesterday in a session with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Lodge said he saw no reason why hearings should not be combined. But some other committee members expressed private doubt to newsmen that the Senate committee would agree. They said the Senate group always had been reluctant to depart from the tradition of separate hearings.

At the White House, officials reported a continuing inflow of comment on the President's Wednesday speech. Ewen Ayers, assistant press secretary, said about 200 telegrams arrived overnight.

He said there were many in opposition but called them "obviously inspired." Most came from New York.

Outside of those that are "clearly propaganda," Ayers declared, the overwhelming majority favor the President's recommendations.

Capitol Hill comment indicated Congressional opposition would be confined to narrowing the terms under which $400,000,000 of aid would go to the Greeks and Turks.

Rep. Mundt (R-S.D.), a member of the House Foreign Committee, told reporters he thought the chief bone of contention would be Mr. Truman's request for authority to send military missions to the two countries.

Senator Aiken (R-Vt.), who has yet to make up his mind on pitting direct financial and limited military assistance against communist pressures in the Mediterranean area, summed up the situation to a reporter this way:

"It looks like there isn't much Congress can do but go along with the President in this crisis."

Similarly, Senator Connally (Tex.), top Democrat on the Foreign Relations Committee, predicted that Mr. Truman's proposal "will pass both houses by a large majority."

Here's How To Clean Out A Flue—In One Easy Lesson

If you're looking for the latest word on cleaning out a flue or a stove pipe, you might do well to see Wallace Ashby, 415 Pearl street, before proceeding with the task, some of his friends suggested today.

Recently someone told Wallace an easy way to do this job, and he tried it. First, he filled a half-pint bottle with water and closed it securely. Then he placed the bottle on the coals in the stove and shut the stove door. Still following instructions, he held the stove pipes until the bottle exploded. The result: the pipes expanded to about three times their original size, the stove door was blown off, the pipes burst, and the newly-pierced room was filled with soot.

Mrs. Ashby, frightened by the blast, darted out of the house and into the home of a neighbor, and Wallace was close behind her, headed in another direction. When they returned to their house, the pipes were clean enough, but the room left something to be desired in the way of cleanliness.

They carried the stove into the back yard, and removed soot by the tubful.

Hopkinsville—Relatives were advised that Guy W. Stirling, son of Mrs. Guy Stirling, Hopkinsville, is among a group of scientists and staff members of the National Geographic Society who will participate in the 1947 solar eclipse expedition to Brazil. Frankfort—The execution of Earl Tunge, 23, of Louisville, originally scheduled for today, was deferred by Chief Justice W. H. Rees of Kentucky in order that Tunge may appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court. The State Appellate Court last Feb. 7 affirmed Tunge's conviction of murder in connection with the slaying of L. R. Gumm, deputy warden at Eddyville penitentiary, in December, 1946.

Frankfort—Much of Kentucky's forests has been depleted by man's ignorance, State Forester Harold B. Newland told the Kentucky Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. Mrs. James Wiley Jones, Lexington, was elected state regent, succeeding Mrs. Hugh L. Russell, Ashland.

CIO Still Ready For Merger With AFL, Murray Says

Washington, March 14—(AP)—The CIO tried today to keep the idea of eventual merger with the AFL alive—for the record at least.

There was no indication from the AFL that it would accept, but the CIO executive board again proposed an early meeting to discuss a united attack on labor's problems, and later "organic unity."

The use of this term was an unmistakable concession to the AFL.

CIO President Philip Murray, in a letter to AFL President William Green, said the CIO unity committee "awaits word from you as to the date and place for an early meeting."

EXTENDED FORECAST: Kentucky and Tennessee: (Through Wednesday)—Partly colder Saturday and Sunday, warmer Monday and Tuesday, colder Wednesday. Temperatures for the period will average about 4 degrees below normal. Rain Sunday and Tuesday with total precipitation about .25 inch.

Handless Veteran Wins Oscar With Other Hollywood Greats

Hollywood, March 14—(AP)—Fredrich March was chosen as the best actor of the year, Olivia De Havilland as the best actress—but handless Harold Russell stole the show at last night's 19th annual presentation of awards by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

Russell, the veteran with the hooks in the "The Best Years of Our Lives," which won the "best picture" award, went home with two Oscars tucked under his arm.

His "Best Years" role, his first in motion pictures, brought him Academy acclaim as the best supporting actor, and a special award by the Academy's board of directors.

He would win the supporting award, because results were kept in a sealed envelope until announcements were made from the stage.

"Consequence" Better Than Truth At Lions Meeting

"Truth or Consequences," without the expensive prizes but with hilarious consequences, was featured at today's Lions Club meeting.

The Killbrew-McDaniel-Bu-tis trio rendered, in the strictest sense of the word, "Home on the Range," as a penalty for failure to come through in the clutch, and Bill Scott was saved by the bell from uttering a word with another victim of R. V. Putnam's questioning. Lion President Charles Gregory assisted the quizmaster with the program.

March was not present to receive his Oscar. He is in a New York stage production and his statuette was accepted by Cathy O'Donnell, Russell's sweetheart in "Best Years."

Other awards went to Anne Baxter for her supporting role in "The Razor's Edge," and to the director of "Best Years," William Wyler.

Miss De Havilland's sister, Joan Fontaine, former Award winner, presented March's Oscar, but she was noticeably absent from the crowd which gathered to congratulate Olivia, Ray Milland, who won an Oscar last year for "The Lost Weekend," and presented Olivia's award.

Russell, manager of a chain grocery in Cambridge, Mass., before the war, lost his hands when a half-pound of TNT he was carrying exploded at a paratroop training camp June 6, 1944—the day Allied troops invaded France.

Soviet Newspaper, Henry Wallace Hit Truman's Foreign Policy; Churchill Says It May Stop War

Moscow, March 14—(AP)—The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia accused the United States today of interfering in the internal affairs of Greece and Turkey and of behaving in a manner that could not have been expected from a member of the United Nations.

It was the first real Russian editorial reaction to President Truman's speech to Congress Wednesday.

"In Washington," said the editorial, "they obviously do not want to consider the obligations adopted by the United States government before the United Nations organization."

"Expressing unusual nervousness, President Truman did not even deem it necessary to wait for the results of the work of the Security Council's commission set up to Greece to determine the situation there."

From one end of Moscow to the other this editorial, which in size alone was one of the longest to appear in many months—it stretched from the masthead to the bottom of the front page through two columns—was read with avid interest by all who could get a copy.

"Claims of the United States for leadership in international affairs," said the government newspaper's editorial, "grow in keeping with the appetites of interested American circles."

"However," it continued, "American leaders, acting on a new historical situation, do not take into consideration that the old methods of colonizers and hard-headed politicians have already outlived this century and are doomed to failure. In this is the principal weakness of Truman's speech."

New York, March 14—(AP)—Henry A. Wallace, former cabinet member, predicts that the policy advocated by President Truman in his speech to Congress Wednesday "will spread Communism in Europe and Asia."

"When President Truman proclaims the worldwide conflict between East and West, he is telling the Soviet leaders that we are preparing for eventual war," the editor of New Republic Magazine said in a radio broadcast last night.

"Russia may be poor and unprepared for war but she knows very well how to reply to Truman's declaration of economic and financial pressure," Wallace said.

"All over the world Russia and her ally, poverty, will increase the pressure against us. Who among us is ready to predict that in this struggle American dollars will outlast the grievances that lead to Communism?"

"I certainly don't want to see Communism spread. I predict that Truman's policy will spread Communism in Europe and Asia. You can't fight something with nothing. When Truman offers unconditional aid to King George of Greece, he is acting as the best salesman Communism ever had."

In proposing this reckless adventure Truman is betraying the great tradition of America and the leadership of the great American who preceded him."

London, March 14—(AP)—Winston Churchill, commenting on President Truman's appeal for U. S. aid to Greece and Turkey, said today: "No step that I have seen taken lately has more increased the chance of the maintenance of world peace and world freedom."

He spoke at a Conservative Party meeting.

"If such a step had been taken by the United States before the last war it would have stopped it," Britain's wartime Prime Minister declared. "If it had been taken after the first war, still more would it have stopped it."

"If it had been taken before 1914, peace might have been preserved and we should have all been living in a far happier world."

New U. S. Policy Justified

By Dewitt MacKenzie,
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

While there can remain small doubt in most minds regarding the far-reaching implications of President Truman's declaration of a new world-policy which is calculated to halt Communistic aggression, a good many folk are puzzled as to just why Greece and Turkey have been selected as the symbols of Uncle Sam's determination.

Why shouldn't we have picked any other two countries in the path of the Red advance? How is it that these two small Balkan states cast such great shadows in global affairs? This column has been asked to elucidate.

Perhaps the easiest way to arrive at our answers is first to set down the objective of this dynamic new policy. To epitomize, it's aimed at preserving the security—both military and political—not only of the United States and the Western Hemisphere, but is designed to maintain world peace.

Communism mingles no words in making it clear that it is out to destroy what it terms the capitalist governments. It employs not only political weapons but bolsters them with Bolshevik tactics, that is, the strong-arm methods of direct action. It has struck heavily not only in Europe and Asia but is boring into many countries of the Western Hemisphere.

Things have gone far enough in the United States so that Secretary of Labor Schwelbensch says that the Communist party should be outlawed by Congress. Yesterday the government of Paraguay announced that "international Communism" is to blame for the revolt in that country. And so the story runs. Well, now, anything which further strengthens Communism, politically or militarily, increases the threat to the security of nations which wish to preserve their own forms of government. That brings us up to Greece and Turkey, and the famous Dardanelles strait under Turkish control.

These two countries, and the great waterway between the otherwise landlocked Black Sea and the Aegean, form one of the most important strategic zones of the whole world militarily. Turkey, which straddles the Dardanelles, is the land-bridge between Asia and Europe, and through the centuries the conquerors have battled for its control. Twelve hundred years before Christ the Greeks under Agamemnon designed Troy near the mouth of the Dardanelles. In our own time the Allies of the first World War tried unsuccessfully to dislodge the Turks from the strait in the bloody Gallipoli campaign. And the Greek peninsula stands as a mighty sentinel to guard the flank of the Dardanelles.

The Turks have controlled the Dardanelles for 500 years, although the strait long has been internationalized. Now Russia is reaching for domination. Should she succeed, it would give her control of the Eastern Mediterranean and the whole great Middle East.

This would so completely upset the already badly battered balance of power in Europe and the Mediterranean theatre as to jeopardize world peace. Such wholesale control of territory by Russia, or by any other single nation, couldn't help menacing the security of other countries.

Strength is given this viewpoint by the fact that U. S. Secretary of State Marshall, whose task is to handle this crisis, is widely credited with being the greatest military strategist of our time. He must believe in this method of halting Communism, or he wouldn't support it. President Truman tells us that "the United Nations and its related organizations are not in position to extend help of the kind that is required."

So the United States proposes to come to the aid of Greece and Turkey because (1) they are hard pressed, (2) they haven't the wherewithal to defend themselves, (3) they are easy geographically for the U. S. to reach, and (4) Britain's own economic crisis makes it impossible for her to give material assistance to these Allies. The alternative would be for America to isolate herself, but this would mean tossing the bulk of free Europe, Asia and Africa into Moscow's hands.

Some claim the new policy must lead to war with Russia—and obviously war could ensue. Those who favor the policy, however, say there is far greater danger in giving Communism a free rein. They maintain that the present show-down may clear the air.

War is not inevitable, though none can deny that it is possible.

A Familiar Story

The tragic death of an editor of the New York Post, who leaped from an eight floor window during a minor fire in his apartment, has two all too familiar accompanying circumstances:

First, the fire was started by a carelessly placed and forgotten cigarette.

Second, the victim became panicky and jumped to his death when he probably could have been rescued had he waited a few minutes longer.

We Americans seem to have a chronic case of "It won't happen to me" philosophy—but it might.

Stopped Too Soon

A Providence, R. I., man has invented a snooze smood, which consists of an awning-like false front to a pillow slip. By burrowing inside, a sleeper may escape drafts, mosquitoes and bright lights, the inventor says.

Now, if he can discover some way to sound-proof the smood, thereby shutting out friend husband's snores, he'll earn the undying gratitude of countless wives, not to mention a few million dollars.

through a glass darkly

By ERL SENSING

It has long been my desire to start a column in the Leader. Until now there has been so much to do that I could not find time to think seriously of such a thing, much less put my half-formed ideas into practice. All I knew about a newspaper before last September I had learned reading one. When I bargained to be the business manager of the Leader I didn't have the slightest idea what my duties were to be. Under the able directions of the publisher, and working side by side with the skilled managing editor, I have been able to grasp enough of the fundamentals sufficiently to discharge the trust that was placed in me, at least, to a degree that lets us carry on publication of the Leader. I have had to wrestle with the problems involved in circulation, both by carrier and mail, also, I have had to supervise the keeping of all records, and, most important of all, I have handled all of the advertising, both local and national. Once or twice, too, I have had to punch bit for the managing editor when he was called out of town. (You can blame me for a few of those issues that weren't so well edited and left a lot to be desired in make up. However, I was quite proud of myself that we got the Leader out at all those days I was alone.) It has been a long and arduous struggle for me, at times working from the early morning hours until late at night. All in all, though, I have enjoyed it. There is something fascinating, to me, about the publication of a newspaper. It is just that I have not had enough time to write as I would like to write. I've had to do too much figuring and not enough lettering to suit me. To begin this column only means I'll have to do a lot more of both, but I'm game to give it a try. That is, providing you will give me a break. I believe you will do that. In fact, I have hastened to attempt this column because so many of you have prevailed upon me to do so. The reception you have given the few pieces I have already written leads me to believe that others published more frequently might be acceptable. In any event, it will be a simple task to discontinue writing this column, if it does not meet with approval.

I have selected the name "Through A Glass Darkly" first of all because it comes from a favorite passage of scripture, and quite truthfully, because what I shall write will be seen through a glass darkly—colored by my own likes and dislikes. Here I shall express my own beliefs and thoughts as freely as I know how. It is needless to say that the opinions expressed here are in no way those of the editor or publisher.

I intend to write of Fulton and of the people who dwell within our little town. I intend to write of what I can see when I look out at the earth-sky line—with perhaps now and then, the thoughts and memories that come to me across the horizon.

I have always held that life is just as interesting here in Fulton as in any place upon this earth. It is full of joy and sorrow, work and play, laughter and tears, shame and glory, and being born, living and dying just as surely here as in any other place.

We who live in a small town have a way of concerning ourselves primarily with what takes place in that part of the world we can see when we stand in front of our homes and look out to where the sky comes down and touches the earth. It is as if we lived under an up-turned bowl. We know that the big earth lies out there beyond the horizon, where the rivers run down to the seas, the mountain ranges climb up to the sky—and the faces of men carry on their everlasting struggle to escape their tribal bonds and unite in the brotherhood of mankind. And we know that what happens out there shapes the lives we live here within our own little world. But what happens under the up-turned bowl over us is personal and private, and it touches our hearts.

I say again, I intend to write of such things.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
New York, March 14.—(AP)—The American Olympic committee again expects to call on college football fans to pay the freight to send a team to London in 1948—the plan, tried once before, is to ask each college to designate one big game as the Olympic game and to tack an extra two bits onto the price of tickets—a number of them, and even some of the big bowl game promoters, have agreed to go it next fall—although only one imported horse is eligible for the Kentucky Derby. Tub Thumper Browne Leach has found an "imported" trainer to go with him. He is Arthur Brent, born in England and now training for R. S. McLaughlin of Oshawa, Canada.

WHAT'S YOUR DECISION?

Joe Ryan, former Blue Ridge League Prexy and now business manager of the Miami Beach Flamingo, claims that his Florida host, Troy Walker, is the only man who ever really stole first base—here's how it happened: A number of years ago, Walker was batting in a game at Logan, W. Va., when a terrific argument over balls and strikes arose—during the course of the dispute, Walker casually strolled down to first base and another batsman took his place—nobody noticed the change when play was resumed and Troy stole second and then third. Troy says he was all set to try for home when the opposing manager rushed out and asked how he got on base—the ump claimed he didn't know what to do, since Troy never had been declared out and others had batted, so he let it stand and Walker scored on a single.

SHORTS AND SHELLS

Talk in local fight circles is that the New York State Athletic Commission has asked the appointment of a new $4,000 a year deputy commissioner to look after affairs upstate, but there's no sign of action on a new unpaid commissioner—Glenn Dobbs reports he packed on 20 pounds in his first two weeks at home after the football season. That must make him the AAC's most valuable eater as well as player.

END OF THE LINE

Ted Bowie's Lanphier high basketball team of Springfield, Ill., has a 846 average for three years—33 won, 6 lost.

The tournament bound North Carolina State basketball squad includes six players from Indiana and one each from Wisconsin, New York and Connecticut—what a state of affairs!

The Sports Mirror

Today a year ago—Rhode Island State defeated Bowling Green and West Virginia knocked out St. Johns of Brooklyn in the opening round of the Ninth Annual National Invitation Basketball tournament in Madison Square Garden.

Three years ago—Stan Musial, St. Louis Cardinal outfielder and defending National League batting champion, was classified 1A by his selective service board.

Five years ago—Leslie Mitchell defeated Gil Dodds by three yards to win the mile event in the Knights of Columbus meet in 4:08 at Madison Square Garden.

Ten years ago—Outfielder Earl Averill and pitcher Johnny Allen ended their holdouts and signed their 1937 Cleveland Indian contracts.

Favorites Fared Better Over State Thursday Night

SEMI-FINALS TONIGHT

Louisville, Ky., March 14.—(AP)—Semi-final games were scheduled tonight in most of the 16 regional tournaments of the Kentucky High School Athletic Association's basketball elimination which will end with the crowning of a state champion here March 23.

Favorites fared better last night than on the regional's main opening night Wednesday. One upset occurred in the Seventh Regional here as Male high ousted Flaget high, 55-40. Flaget had defeated Male twice during the regular season. Male meets St. Xavier in the regional final Saturday night.

Inez, one of the state's top teams, beat Paducah, 46-26. Elkhorn City trounced Frenchburg, 58-22.

Paducah's Tilghman high was from Wingo in the first regional at Mayfield in the last half minute of play. With the score tied at 33, Paducah's center, Jim Landen, put in two field goals quickly to provide Tilghman the winning margin 40-36.

Cunningham beat Hardin 38-31. Brecken county just edged Cynthiana, 25-26, in the 20th Regional at Paris. Mayville eliminated Morgan handy, 61-31. The winners meet tonight in the regional final.

Church Installs Burglar Alarm

Louisville, Ky.—(AP)—Thieves in Louisville are coming to regard the poor box near the door of St. John's Catholic Church as jailhouse bait.

It's all because of a secret burglar-alarm hooked to the box by the Rev. Robert A. Willett. The device has just trapped its 12th victim.

Father Willett got tired of having the box rifled. So he rigged up a trick contraption. Now every time somebody tries to take out instead of put in, a bell sounds an alarm in the rectory.

Wall Street Report

New York, March 14—(AP)—Stock market customers, still confused by the international situation, generally continued to trim accounts in today's session. As in Thursday's proceedings, selling pressure was negligible from the start. The ticker tape frequently halted. While a few plus signs cropped up here and there, declines of fractions to a point or so ruled near midday. Earnings and dividends, on the whole, were ignored. Backward were Bethlehem, U. S.

Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, American Telephone, North American, Anaconda, Phelps Dodge, Union Carbide, Westinghouse, Texas Co., Southern Railway and N. Y. Central. Resistant were International Harvester, Woolworth, Standard Oil (N.J.), Allied Chemical and Kennebec.

Bonds and cotton futures slipped.

FIRST IN SALES!

FIRST IN CAR SALES—FIRST IN TRUCK SALES
FIRST IN COMBINED CAR AND TRUCK SALES!

The final registration figures are in, and again in 1946 America purchased more Chevrolet cars—more Chevrolet trucks—more Chevrolet cars and trucks combined—than any other make, despite the fact that Chevrolet was out of production entirely during the first three months of the year! A magnificent tribute to Chevrolet production efficiency, as well as to the dollar value of Chevrolet products! It's the best proof you can possibly have that you're wise to choose Chevrolet, the only cars giving BIG-CAR QUALITY AT LOWEST COST, and the only trucks rating as THRIFT-CARRIERS FOR THE NATION! True, there still aren't enough new Chevrolets to go around, but highest popular demand means higher dollar value, just as highest production means quicker delivery of your new car or truck.
