CALLOWAY FAIR
A BIG SUCCESS

The first Calloway county fair was the usual success and the attendance was larger than at any of the nearby fairs that have been held this fall. We believe the attendance would have been much larger, however, if the weather had not been a little too cool for comfort and a little too phthiria in the county.

The agricultural exhibit was the best we have had and the display of farm products from one of the best farms in the county is an ideal spot. The very interesting and useful thoughtfulness for his county's welfare in securing it. Unfortunately the lecturer was called away before his arrival, thus losing a large part of the benefit which might have been derived by the farmers.

The poultry department, while not as large as the State and Tri-State fairs, would compare favorably in quality. All the birds shown were the very best of their kind and in the pink of condition, and quite a variety of breeds, including a few of each kind of the best, than those of the good and forty or fifty more. It decidedly would not compare with any county fair in the state because of its superiority.

The display was the best ever seen in this county, showing the growing interest of our farmers in fine hogs. The herd of little and big was the first kind in our county and quite a variety of breeds, including a few of each kind of the best, than those of the good and forty or fifty more. It decidedly would not compare with any county fair in the state because of its superiority.

Geo. St. Charles, of Paducah, Ky., was the winner of the first prize in the sale of hogs, one of the best of the kind in the county. The sale was a success and the proceeds were used for the benefit of the fair.

Prominent Paris Citizen.

Mr. William J. Nolan, one of the most prominent citizens of Paris, fell dead at noon Monday at the door of the Cooper Drug Company's store. Mr. Nolan's physician happened to be standing near him and he immediately went to his assistance but he was dead when the physician reached him.

Mr. Nolan was proprietor of the Paris Marble Works and was about sixty years of age. He has been identified with business interests here for the past thirty-five years. He was born and raised in Evansville, Indiana, where he is survived by a brother, the Hon. John J. (Jack) Nolan, postmaster at that place, Parisian.

Coughs That Are Stopped.

Careful people see that they are stopped. Dr. King's New Discovery is a remedy of merit. It has held its own on the market for 46 years. Youth and old age testify to its soothing and healing qualities. Pneumonia and lung troubles are often caused by delay of treatment. Dr. King's New Discovery stops those hacking coughs and relieves the grippe tendencies. Money back if it fails. 50c and $1.00.

Nine Babies In Two Years.

About fifteen months ago a Mrs. Drury, of Spencer county, gave birth to five children; three of whom are still living and healthy. Two weeks ago she presented her husband with four more little wee darlings—making nine children she has had in less than two years. This is a little ahead of anything we have heard of before and proves that while Spencer county may not be as productive agriculturally as some other counties, she certainly cannot be headed when it comes to raising children. ## Knight &amp; Son Sold Store.

A. Q. Knight & Son, T. B. Knight, have disposed of their cash grocery business to R. C. Jones. The sale was consummated last week and Mr. Jones assumed charge Tuesday.

Messrs. Knight will remain residents of Beeville. Their only reason as advanced for selling was to take a well-earned rest. "The rumor that we are to leave Beeville, is absolutely erroneous," said T. B. Knight. "We are glued to Beeville for all time to come," he continued.

Mr. Jones is no stranger to buyers of groceries. He owned the stock now the property of C. A. Baker & Bro.

Messrs. Knight came to Beeville from Kentucky a number of years ago. They established a strictly cash-over-the-counter grocery business and developed a big trade. When first they went into business their stock filled a room just half the size of the present store-room. They are vitally interested in Beeville's future, having the town's welfare at heart. To demonstrate their faith they have made numerous and heavy investments in local property. Beeville Exchange.

E. D. Nix, a former resident of this county, and district marshal under the Cleveland administration in Oklahoma, was in the city the past week the guest of relatives and transacting business. Mr. Nix has a picture film that was shown at the Princess theatre Saturday night presenting many striking scenes of the west during the reign of the outlaw.

Home Town Building.

How does the catalogue house get the business? is a frequent question. The men who write the copy for the mail order catalogues are high priced specialists. They begin with a cheap leader in each department and gradually lead up to the more expensive lines.

If there is a man or boy who has a turn for mechanics, the countless number of tools and machines which are well illustrated and described, will hold the attention until he has scraped together the price and sent in his order.

The same thing is true of every part of the household. There are bargains to attract the young and old of the family. The catalogue which is the silent salesman is right there, with its pulling strength, twenty-four hours in the day and is a constant reminder of some real or fancied want. That is its real strength. Every word in it is an argument creating an atmosphere of a bargain which must be snapped up quick. That is the kind of advertising which gets results.

No wasted words about the age of the company or its great resources. No space or time given to roasts of competitors. Just plain talk, and the price with the picture.

I served an apprenticeship in a mail order house, and I know all of the tricks of the trade in making leaders at cut prices to serve as pullers, but I simply cannot resist the temptation to send an occasional order to one of these houses, although my workshop is already overcrowded with more tools and machines than myself and sons can possibly find use for.

Now, then, compare this sort of order soliciting with that which our local merchant attempts. I have seen the name of four or five so-called progressive merchants of the nearby towns painted on road fences, signboards and barns, in the old stereotyped form for twenty years or more. "Simpson, the one-price clothier. Boots and Shoes." Or, "Nixon Bros., Drugs and Jewelry. Clocks and Watches," and still another brilliant effort reading, "Go to Fords for Dry Goods and Groceries. Children's Ready-Made Clothing."

Look over any weekly paper in the smaller towns of the country and you will find the name of the merchant in big letters, if he advertise at all, and a few lines of type announcing, as it has done for ten years or so, the startling information that "right now is the time to buy corn planters, cultivators, refrigera-

Jagoe-Wilkinson, Wedding.

A pretty wedding of the early fall was that of Miss Effie Gordon Jagoe, of this place, and Mr. Joseph Edwin Wilkinson, of Murray, Ky., which took place at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Marcellus H. Jagoe, on East Main street, Rev. W. T. Wells, of the Christian church, performing the ceremony. Prior to the ceremony Mrs. J. Preston White sang "Last Night," accompanied by Miss Sarah Shaw, who also played the wedding music. Little Misses Mary Cameron and Ann Maria White were the ribbon bearers and the bride's only attendants.

The parlor floor was used for the wedding, and several rooms were decorated for the wedding with colors of pink and green. Southern Smilax ferns, callas and tors, wire fences, and garden hose, etc., etc." Not a single article illustrated or described in detail, and not a price quoted to interest a prospective buyer.

I have before me at this time a paper with an advertisement of that kind. It has, to my certain knowledge, been run with no change to speak of for ten years. That kind of advertising would wreck the biggest department store in Chicago. Compare it with the order pulling advertisements in the daily papers of the big cities, or the interesting pages of the mail order house catalogue.

Now Mr. Country Town Merchant, get this thought well fixed in your mind. You cannot survive against the city competition, unless you adopt the city merchants' methods. You have been permitted to live up to the present time, but your sun will set for the last night shortly and when you awake, it will be to find that you have been wiped out and everything gone, except your debts and your creditors.

You can sell just as cheaply, and in many cases you are selling a better quality of goods for the same price that the mail order house gets for an inferior article, but the people don't know it. You can talk and shout yourself hoarse in proclaiming that your quality is the best and your prices the lowest. That is not the proof. Buyers want the evidence. They may not agree with you as to the correctness of your claims. They want to see the price. They want to think it over and study it. The picture in the advertisement may look just like the machine which you have in stock and it may be quoted at a lower price than you are asking. That being true, do you blame the buyer for taking a chance and sending his order to the city dealer who seems to offer the best bargain for the money? That dealer guarantees satisfaction or return of the money. Of course, it might be different if you were right there on the spot, to tell all about the merit of the goods that you have for sale, but the trouble is, you are not there and the catalogue with its catchy advertisement is right on the job and is pulling for that order day and night.

You have in your local weekly paper a strong order getter—that little page or half page "ad" with its story of cheap prices gets before each member of the family every week and works night and day for you. Can you afford to neglect the opportunity?

astors being used. The ceremony was performed in the parlor, where an improvised altar of palms and ferns were erected in front of the mantel. On either side of the altar were placed standards topped with clusters of pink flowers.

The bride, who entered with the groom, wore a tailored suit of grey kitten's ear broadcloth, with collar and cuffs of opossum fur, a waist of delicate pink chiffon and lace was worn. A small hat of grey plush, trimmed with mercury wings and a silver rose completed the costume. A corsage bouquet of valley lilies and pink roses added a lovely touch of color. The ribbon bearers wore white lace-trimmed lingerie dresses made Kate Greenaway, with pink satin sashes.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson left on the 9:40 train for their home in Murray, where the groom has resided for some time and where he holds a most responsible position with the Murray Bank. Miss Jagoe is the youngest daughter of the late Marcellus H. Jagoe and Mrs. Jagoe, and is indeed a favorite not only among her own social crowd, but with both the older and the younger people of Cadiz.

Those who attended the wedding from a distance were: Mrs. Mattie Wilkinson, mother of the groom, and Marie and Elliott Wilkinson, brother and sister, of Murray; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Owen, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Downs, Mr. Cyrus Owen, and Miss Gladys Owen, of Murray; Miss Mattie Crenshaw and Mr. Marcellus Jagoe, of Hopkinsville; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. F. White, of Caledonia, and Mr. Thomas Smith, of Gracey. Cadiz Record.

River Hills.

Wilburn Kellie and Miss Besie Daniel, two popular young people of the Elm Grove section of the county, were happily united as one last week. Each having many friends who are wishing them a long and happy wedded life.

The little 10-year-old girl of Walter Tucker's died the past week with a congestive chill and was buried at Friendship.

Jim Finnie is still under the weather, having a nervous trouble.

There is plenty of sickness in this community at large.

The people in this section the past week, shaping crops. No tobacco frost bit that we know of, but a good deal of sorghum was bitten.

Nothing doing on the road at this writing, people are too busy to look you in the eye. Wait a little while and you will hear the explosion of gas or dynamite, I am not sure which.

On last Sunday, the 10th there was a big birthday dinner at Mr. Mont Daniel's, oh, that barbecued goat.

Many good wishes to the Ledger and its many readers. — Hobbs.

Hard Winter Ahead.

It is said that old-time Indians claim that every sign indicates the approach of a long, cold winter, according to stories coming from the reservations out west and elsewhere where the Redskins have their habitat. They say squirrels already have begun storing up nuts, the bark on trees is thicker than ordinary, the summer has been abnormally cool and wet, the migration of birds has already started, and that a dozen other signs, which, according to the aborigines, never fail, all go to forecast a severe winter. It is noticeable that the full-blooded Cherokees in the Spavinaw country are making unusual preparations for winter. For the first time in years they have stored up a surplus of fuel and food, and they are advising their white brethren to do likewise.

E. H. COVINGTON
EXPIRED SUNDAY

Paducah, Ky., 11. — Euclid Harrison Covington, 74 years old, of the wholesale grocery firm of Covington Bros. & Co., and one of Paducah's most prominent and beloved citizens, died at the Illinois Central railroad hospital at 10:53 o'clock Sunday morning after one month's confinement with a fractured hip and Bright's disease. His death occasioned widespread regret.

At noon on September 10 when alighting from an automobile at his home, 717 Jefferson street, Mr. Covington fell and sustained a fracture of the left hip. He had been suffering from Bright's disease for some time before the accident.

Mr. Covington was a public spirited citizen and had the interest of the city always at heart. He was a deacon of the First Baptist church, one of the leading members of that organization and a most liberal contributor. In years he was probably the oldest member of that church. Mr. Covington had been very active in the erection of the new church.

He was born December 20, 1840, in Calloway county near Murray, where he lived until he was 45 years of age. He was at one time postmaster at Murray and later engaged in the hotel business, which he continued after going to Mayfield in 1885. In August, 1893, Mr. Covington came to Paducah and established the present grocery firm, which was organized a few months previous to his arrival by his sons in company with his nephew, Barber McElrath. The name was changed from Covington & McElrath to Covington Bros. & Co., in 1895.

In 1869 Mr. Covington was married to Miss Lucy B. Curd, whose death occurred 17 years ago. Since her death he had made his home with his son, W. E. Covington, at 117 Jefferson Street. Of the union four sons, of which three are now living, were born. The fourth died in infancy.

Mr. Covington was a member of the Masonic lodge and was a devoted church worker. He was young for his years and possessed progressive ideas that made him widely popular. He enjoyed a successful business career and was one of the most influential and revered citizens of the city.

Surviving him are three sons: Messrs. W. E. and C. C. Covington, of Paducah, and G. C. Covington, of Mayfield, Ky. He also leaves one brother, Dr. Gus Covington, of near Hardin, Ky., who, accompanied by his son, Dr. F. D. Covington, arrived in Paducah this afternoon. Messrs. Barber and John McElrath, of Murray are nephews. They arrived yesterday and also Mr. Gus Covington and family from Mayfield.

The funeral was held from the First Baptist church at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, the pastor, the Rev. R. G. Bowers, officiating. Burial took place in the Oak Grove cemetery.

The honorary pallbearers were the deacons of the church, while the active pallbearers were employees of Covington Bros. & Co., as follows: Messrs. Will Acker, Will Huffman, Don Ballowe, Albert Lawrence, W. W. Rogers and W. Enduck.

Miss Icie Laws, of Broken Arrow, Ok., was a visitor in this city the past week while enroute home from a visit to Dawson Springs.

THE MAN AND HIS CHATTEL

Because The Man measured every thing in this world by the rule of dollars and cents it never occurred to him that anything that might add to the sum total of human happiness could be procured in any other way. He had always known what he wanted and straightway had bought it.

Left a very large fortune when he was beginning his business career he took pride in his social and financial prestige. His friends called him a "lucky dog," and matchmakers set their nets to catch him for eligible daughters, which was a waste of energy, for The Man had already made up his mind as to the sort of girl he would marry when the right time came. Above all else she must be qualified to fill the position in life he would be able to offer her. She must be cultured, brilliant, able to shine socially, be an adornment to his home, a satisfaction to his pride, and an honor to his standing in the community. He was not particular about her financial position so long as she had been well trained in the niceties of life. In fact, he thought he should rather prefer that she had not been accustomed to a great deal of money. She would be the better able to appreciate his; more grateful to him for the things he could do for her, more subservient to his will.

Naturally he met many women, and unit of perfection as it was, and that he did not want its harmony of color disturbed. He said it was his home; that he had bought and paid for it with his money, and that it was to express his ideas and his taste, and when later he found The Girl sobbing into her pillow he chided her for such thoughtless wreckage of her beauty which he told her meant so much to him.

And to prove to her that he had just as much pride in her as he had in his house he instructed her to replace her "shabby trousseau" with costly and elaborate gowns which became her position, sparing no money in making herself the most beautiful ornament in his beautiful house.

He told her that her loveliness was a part of herself and belonged to him; that he intended it to be exhibited in suitable trappings. He said it should make her very happy that he had such pride in her, and when he was all through he gave her a check so large that she sat staring at it for an hour after he had left her.

The Girl got out every piece of her trousseau. The Man had called "shabby"—the wedding clothes which she and her mother had made with the assistance of a visiting seamstress—dainty frocks and dainty lingerie expressive of her own refinement and good taste. With every stitch she had woven into the garments her lofty always he appraised them mentally as he would appraise some pedigreed addition he contemplated making to his far-famed stables, or as he would look into the possibilities of a financial venture.

While no one knew the principle upon which his mind worked in his pursuit of a wife, everybody realized that he was hypercritical, and so it came about, when it was announced that The Man was engaged that everybody flocked to The Girl's house to offer their congratulations and compliments. Secretly they were greatly astonished at The Man's choice, for while The Girl was an acknowledged beauty, her family represented one of those old broken-down houses of aristocracy with more traditions than money.

The Man had a wonderful house built for his bride. It reflected his money and his good taste, but when The Girl went to live in it she felt like an alien in a strange land. It had never occurred to The Man to consult her about the building of the house in which she was to live, and so it was that she wandered from one sumptuous room to another in an agony of unrest, even while everybody was praising The Man for the palace he had built, and telling each other what a wonderful blessing it was for The Girl to have made such a brilliant match.

The Girl told herself that she would become accustomed to the place and be happier there when she had succeeded in stamping it with enough of her own individuality to make her feel at home, but she reckoned without The Man, who declared his house a thought of wifehood and motherhood and home—beautiful, sacred dreams of the highest fulfillment of love and life. Mingled with them had been plans for the accomplishment of much beyond her own happiness, for she had not been unmindful of The Man's great wealth. What splendid work she would accomplish with his money! What sorrow she would be able to soften; what comfort she would bring to the comfortless; what suffering she would assuage, and oh, the blessed little children of the poor to whom she would give a chance of life and happiness.

As memory marshaled these plans in which she had expected The Man's help across The Girl's mind scalding tears filled her eyes and dropped one by one on the garments she held.

"But I am only a part of his chattels," she sobbed into the soft folds of her wedding gown as she folded it neatly and laid it on top of others in her trunk, which, when the evening shadows were gathering, went with The Girl very quietly out of the beautiful house which reflected The Man's wealth and satisfied his pride, but was in no sense a home.

And when later The Man searched the place for her he found the very large check he had given her earlier in the day torn straight across and lying in a conspicuous place on the perfectly-ordered table in the center of the apartment.

How to get the most from a pound of coffee

First, get a coffee that has been thoroughly aged when green. Proper aging changes the raw, strong taste of the bean to a mellow, rich flavor.

Next, it must be roasted by experts under perfect conditions. Skillful roasting brings out the full delicacy of the natural flavor. Unskillful roasting spoils the flavor and causes a heavy and waste-ful loss in weight.

Finally, coffee must be packed in a way that will keep it fresh, and protect it from outside odors and from moisture.

In Arbuckles' Coffee you get all these advantages. You get a coffee thoroughly aged when green, skillfully and uniformly roasted; then guarded from moisture and odors in special, sanitary, sealed packages.

If you haven't used Arbuckles' Coffee lately, do so now. See what big value you get—how the delicious flavor will please and satisfy. Get a package today.

School Notes.

By J. W. Jones

Miss Wilson, the music (singing) teacher, arrived Saturday and the boys and girls of Murray high school are going to learn to sing and to read music. This will be worth much to Murray and surrounding territory. Our churches, we trust, will feel the benefit in a few months, for real hearty congregational singing adds no little to the worship, and when young people get the habit of singing well it abides with them.

Notwithstanding the various obstacles during the first school month, sore throats, cirrus, etc., the average attendance for the month was 22 above last year's first month. Of this we feel glad. But now let parents see to it that their children come every day possible. Stop keeping Johnny and Mary at home for every little excuse. Children lose interest when they don't come regularly and then parents wonder why their children "won't take an education." The very parents who can least afford to keep their children out of school are those who can give their children little or no start in this world except an education. A good education is the best start a child can have too, and this education must be obtained at school, for the parents have little money with which to buy books for general reading. But these are the very parents who keep their children out most and who seem to care very little if their children grow up in ignorance. One teacher in Murray received a note from a parent which ran something like this: "Miss ——— I keep him home cause I want him to go to show and I keep him home next time if I want to it aint none of your Business what I do with him and I do think they don't try to learn him nothing anyhow. you better not keep him in any more when he aint there." This poor woman let him stay out of school and get behind his classes, forgetting that the only thing she can give her child is an education and a desire to be somebody.

We heard of a man the other day who is keeping his daughter out of school because "she would not need algebra or Latin." We suspect there are others. Mr. Parent, don't you think your son or daughter will come nearer getting the things they will need at school than on the streets? Every day we see boys and girls loafing on the streets or holding down a "blind-alley job"—a job that leads nowhere and offers no chance of promotion. Such parents are dooming their children to be "hewers of wood and drawers of water" for other people, the industrial and intellectual slave of some one. Why can't such parents realize the importance of a real education?

We are indeed pleased with the prospects for the new high school building. More than forty men have expressed themselves as in favor of it and not one against it so far as we have heard. The best is none too good for the people of Murray and we are going to have it. The school here should offer the same opportunities that pupils can get elsewhere and we believe it will next year. A town is judged by its schools and churches and you can't build up one without helping the other. United effort on the part of the people will bring it about.

Since our last issue marriage license have been issued to J. P. Burken and Miss Clara Duncan, of Dexter; Wm. Darnall and Miss Marshal Jackson, of Brown's Grove; J. W. Jones and Miss Flossie Douglass, of Brown's Grove; W. M. Kelley to Miss Bessie C. Daniel, of Almo.

Mr. Wrather still holds a warm place in his heart for his old home county, and in conversation with a friend while here made the statement that "the further one gets away from Calloway, seemingly, the further he gets from real honesty." ## TEUTONS CAPTURE CITY OF BELGRADE

AUSTRO-GERMAN FORCE CONTINUES SOUTHWARD THROUGH SERBIAN TERRITORY.

ONLY REAR GUARD ACTIONS

Serbs Will Not Make Stand Until They Reach Mountain Positions—Other Balkan States Unchanged.

London.—The Austro-Germans are in full possession of Belgrade and the heights surrounding the city, and are marching east toward the mountains which the Serbians last year so stubbornly defended against the Austrians.

For some time to come the invaders, it is expected, will have to fight only the rear guards whose duty it is to delay their progress, for the Serbians will do nothing as they have done before—fall back until they reach favorable positions. In fact, military writers do not expect a big battle on this front for several days, by which time the allies' forces landed at Salonika should have joined the Serbians.

The Bulgarians, so far as is known, have made no incursions into Serbian territory, and it is believed they will withhold their hands until they know how matters go with the Austro-Germans. Some Balkan authorities, indeed, still believe that the Bulgarians will not interfere with the movement northward of the Anglo-French expedition, for to do so immediately would bring the shells of the warships into their ports on the Black and Aegean seas, probably followed by the landing of Russian troops at Varna and Burgas and of other allied troops at Thessalonika.

ALLIES LEAVE BULGARIA

Ministers at Sofia Receive Passports When Bulgars Reject Russia's Ultimatum—To Attack Serbia.

London.—King Ferdinand of Bulgaria has rejected Russia's ultimatum demanding that she break with the central powers and expel German officers who have taken charge of Bulgaria's army staff, and at the same time, according to several correspondents, has sent an ultimatum to Serbia, allowing a time limit of 24 hours for the cessation of Macedonia to Bulgaria.

The Russian, French, British and Italian ministers have asked for their passports; Bulgaria's answer to the Russian ultimatum being unsatisfactory. The Serbian minister has also asked for his passports.

The programme of the Germanic empire apparently includes the consolidation of their field operations with their Turkish allies by sweeping clear a path from Berlin and Vienna to Constantinople. For the accomplishment of this programme they have already secured the co-operation of Bulgaria. They need the neutrality of Greece and Roumania, and then must crush Serbia.

These developments tend to confirm the statements of the German press that the German emperor has guaranteed to Bulgaria both Greek and Roumanian neutrality. Thus the crucial field of warfare has shifted from the Balkan peninsula, where German success would mean the realization of Emperor William's ambitions for expansion toward India and Asia.

The people of the entente nations fully appreciate the crisis. British newspapers impress on the public that if the German emperor has secured the friendly neutrality of the king of Greece, enormous efforts will be needed to check the combined German and Austrian advances toward a junction with the Turks and Bulgars.

The French and British expedition may have completed the landing at Salonika, but if Greek support against Bulgaria cannot be counted on heavy reinforcements will be needed.

Briton's Feat of Heroism

London.—How Lieut. D'Oyly Hughes, attached to a British submarine operating in the Sea of Marmora, swam from the craft pushing ahead of him a raft bearing explosives with which he made a breach in the Turkish railway skirting the beach, is relating in an official report given out here. This statement chronicles perhaps the strangest experience that has befallen any man during this war.

Hold American for German Spy

New York.—Kenneth G. Triest, 19 years old, who disappeared from Princeton last January, is a prisoner in London, accused as a spy, according to information his relatives here have received. Triest is the son of Wolfgang G. Triest, a member of the contracting firm of Snare & Triest. The father is a German by birth, but a naturalized citizen. He has been informed that his son is accused of having assisted in the British navy to obtain information for Germany.

FRANCE HAS ARMY IN AIR

Squadrons of New Aeroplanes Now Ready for Fighting—German Huge Battle Planes.

Paris.—An aerial army no longer is a dream of romance. Such an army, formed in divisions and squadrons, with battle aeroplanes, cruiser aeroplanes, scouts and torpedo planes, all armed heavily and carrying three-inch cannon and rapid fire guns, is a reality. It has been made possible through the development of military aviation in France.

The French government has permitted the first inspection of its new fleet of aeroplanes. Opportunity was given to inspect the large and small types of the new battle planes and watch them as they were maneuvering high in the air, firing round after round from their three-inch rifles, while they soared, looped and darted about.

The huge battle plane is the chief center of attention. The officers said that this was the first actual realization of the battle plane, other aerial fighters having proved to be impractical. This monster actually flies, carrying a crew of 12 men, with two cannons on the wings throwing three-inch steel projectiles. Three trial flights have been made, demonstrating that it has the steadiness of an ordinary biplane.

The huge craft is now ready for the battle line. The regular crew for fighting will consist of four men and an observer. The battle planes and cruisers are soon to begin movements in larger squadrons, both defensive and offensive. They are to attack the German lines of communication, particularly the railway junctions, to cut off supplies and spread demoralization in the rear of the Germans.

RUSSIANS BOMBARD VARNA

Bulgarian Port on Black Sea Is Attacked by Czar's Warships—Advances on Serbia.

London.—The long threatened Austro-German offensive in the Balkans, with the added menace of Bulgaria, has begun in earnest. Almost simultaneously with the rupture of diplomatic relations between Sofia and the entente, an Austro-German army estimated at 400,000 men, with an enormous weight of heavy artillery, started to attack Serbia from north and west, and, according to Berlin, crossed the Drina, Danube and Save rivers at many points and firmly established itself on the Serbian side.

It is reported that two Russian cruisers are actively bombarding the Bulgarian port of Varna on the Black Sea. The Anglo-French troops, which were landed at Salonika with the tacit consent of the Greek governments, are being hurried northward to assist Serbia and, if possible, keep the Bulgarians from capturing the Solliki-Nish railway, the only source by which the Serbians can be fed with munitions of war.

The hoped-for support from Greece has not been forthcoming. King Constantine, by the dismissal of Premier Venizelos, having shown that while his country sympathizes with the cause of the allies, he is not prepared to go against the central powers or to fulfill the obligations of the Greek-Serbian treaty of alliance, which provides that one ally must go to the assistance of the other in case of attack.

A new Greek cabinet of mixed sympathies has been accepted and the expectation now is that unless public opinion forces the hand of the government and insists on action on the side of the allies, Greece will remain neutral.

The programme of the Germanic empire apparently includes the consolidation of their field operations with their Turkish allies by sweeping clear a path from Berlin and Vienna to Constantinople. For the accomplishment of this programme they have already secured the co-operation of Bulgaria. They need the neutrality of Greece and Roumania, and then must crush Serbia.

These developments tend to confirm the statements of the German press that the German emperor has guaranteed to Bulgaria both Greek and Roumanian neutrality. Thus the crucial field of warfare has shifted from the Balkan peninsula, where German success would mean the realization of Emperor William's ambitions for expansion toward India and Asia.

The people of the entente nations fully appreciate the crisis. British newspapers impress on the public that if the German emperor has secured the friendly neutrality of the king of Greece, enormous efforts will be needed to check the combined German and Austrian advances toward a junction with the Turks and Bulgars.

The French and British expedition may have completed the landing at Salonika, but if Greek support against Bulgaria cannot be counted on heavy reinforcements will be needed.

U. S. RECOGNIZES CARRANZA PARTY

THE PAN-AMERICAN CONFERENCE TAKES COGNIZANCE OF FIRST CHIEF'S GOVERNMENT.

EMBARGO ON ARMS TO VILLA

Washington Will Aid de Facto Government in Mexico By Giving Full Moral Support and Aid.

Washington.—Recognition of the party led by Gen. Carranza as the de facto government in Mexico has been unanimously agreed upon by the Pan-American conference as the step to be recommended to their respective governments.

Secretary Lansing, on behalf of the United States government, expressed its intention to recognize Gen. Carranza, and the ambassadors of Brazil, Chile and Argentina and the ministers of Bolivia, Uruguay and Guatemala transmitted the decision of the Washington government as well as their own opinions in agreement with it. Mr. Lansing has obtained the approval of President Wilson to the plan, and before the conference began all the other ministers in the Latin-American corps also had given their adherence to it.

The action of the conference was regarded generally as the most important diplomatic step in the Mexican situation since the United States decided to withhold recognition from the Huerta government more than two years ago. It means that the Carranza government will receive the moral support of the United States, and that an embargo will be placed on arms destined for opposing factions as soon as recognition is actually extended.

WILSON TO BE MARRIED

Mrs. Norman Galt, Bride-to-Be, Is the Widow of a Washington Jeweler. Ceremony in December.

Washington.—Woodrow Wilson, the president of the United States, has announced his engagement to Mrs. Norman Galt, of Washington. The date of the wedding has not been fixed, but it probably will take place in December at the home of the bride-elect.

The brief announcement from the White House made by Secretary Tamm, which came as a surprise to official Washington, but to a number of intimate friends it long had been expected. From the circle came the story of a friendship whose culmination was viewed as a happy turn in the troubled and lonely life of the nation's chief executive.

It was Miss Margaret Wilson and her cousin, Miss Helen Woodrow Bones, who drew Mrs. Galt into the White House circle. They met her in the early autumn of last year and were so much attracted by her that they sought her out more and more frequently. Mrs. Galt spent a month this summer at Cornish as a guest of the president's oldest daughter.

It was through the intimacy of his daughter and cousin with Mrs. Galt that the president had an opportunity to meet and know her. One of the most interesting facts about the engagement, indeed as told by friends, is that the president's daughters chose Mrs. Galt for their admiration and friendship before their father did.

Mrs. Galt is the widow of a well-known business man of Washington, who died eight years ago, leaving a jewelry business that still bears his name. She has lived in Washington since her marriage in 1906. She is about 35 years old and was Miss Edith Bolling, born in Wytheville, Va., where her father, William H. Bolling, was a prominent lawyer.

For many weeks Mrs. Galt and her relatives have been frequent dinner guests at the White House. Often she has accompanied the president on motor rides. She is not quite tall as Mr. Wilson, has dark hair and dark eyes. Friends regard her as an unusual beauty. Her tastes are said to be strikingly similar to those of the president. She is interested in literature and charity work.

Big Fire in India.—Berlin.—It is reported from Bombay that a great fire occurred on Sept. 6 in cotton warehouses, causing a loss of $10,000,000, says the Overseas News Agency. "This was the third fire of the kind during the present season. The result of investigations of these fires has not been made public."

Engineer Dies of Yellow Fever.—Paris.—A young engineer named Mundy, whose home was in Kansas, died in a hospital of yellow fever. He contracted the disease in Colombia, where he was engaged in mining.

Air Attack on Luxembourg.—Berlin.—In the recent attack of allied aviators on Luxembourg, the Overseas Agency says bombs fell in the city near the ducal palace and the Dominican church.

TEUTONS CHECKED BY SERBS

Austro-German Invading Forces Are Badly Beaten at Two Points. French Hurry to Rescue.

London.—The efforts of Austria and Germany to force their way through Serbia to reach the near eastern seas and join hands with their Turkish allies have produced one of the most interesting situations of the war.

The advance guard of the Austro-Germans who crossed the Danube at Belgrade has been partly destroyed and partly captured, and those who entered Serbian territory across the Save have met with enormous losses, according to a statement issued at Nish.

The Anglo-French force landing at Salonika is making its way northward to assist the Serbs and to protect Macedonia from a threatened Bulgarian invasion. The landing is proceeding despite the change in the Greek government.

The ministers of the entente powers at Athens have asked Greece to define her policy with regard to the Balkan situation, but the new premier, Alexander Zaimis, has answered that he will be unable to do this until a meeting of the cabinet is held. This, however, is evidence that Greece will maintain a policy of benevolent neutrality toward the allies.

The press and public of London and Paris, with the experience of the sudden change of Bulgaria's attitude fresh in their memory, are demanding that steps be taken to see to it that a similar change does not take place at Athens.

A dispatch from Paris says that the Bulgarian minister to France has been given his passports.

GREEK COURSE DOUBTFUL

Premier Venizelos and Cabinet Sympathizers With the Allies Resign and King Constantine Takes Charge.

London.—King Constantine of Greece, brother-in-law of the German emperor, appears to hold the balance of power in the near east for the hour. In the second crisis, when Greece seemed on the brink of entering the war by the side of the entente powers, he has virtually dismissed the foremost Greek statesman, Eleutherios Venizelos, from the premiership, and has asserted personal control of the government.

It is reported that King Constantine has asked Alexander Zaimis, a former premier, to form a cabinet. The possibility that Greece may try to remain neutral, fearing to stake the nation's fate on the success of either party to the great war is recognized in England, although it is considered small. The hopes of the entente powers are that the king may find it best to bow before the will of the people, as he has done before.

French officials declare that the landing of the allied troops will take its course and that the Greek people have given them an enthusiastic reception. Bulgarian reports say mobilization is being completed rapidly and that many German officers are arriving.

GET $500,000 IN ROBBERY

Bandits Loot Mail on B. & O. Train in West Virginia—Posses Are in Pursuit of Robbers.

Wheeling, W. Va.—Posses are searching for two masked bandits who robbed a Baltimore & Ohio express train en route from New York to St. Louis, two miles west of Central Station, West Virginia, on Oct. 8. One automobile party reported that clothes supposed to have been worn by the men and two revolvers were found near Tollgate, where the robbers left the locomotive and mail car.

Reports regarding the amount of the loot obtained by the bandits varied. It was said the mail clerks declared that more than 100 packages of registered mail had been taken, but that it was impossible at present to estimate its value. It is said that the value of the currency in the packages is estimated at $500,000.

Local government officials who have been in touch with the situation are of the opinion that the bandits were sent from Washington on this train. Engineer Grant Helms of Parkersburg, who was at the throttle, said he believed the robbers boarded the train at Central Station. Shortly after the train started again two men climbed over the tender and down into the cab and ordered that the train be stopped. The command was not obeyed until after Engineer Helms struck at one of the men, thinking it was a joke. Seeing that the bandits meant business he stopped the train.

The locomotive and mail and express cars were cut loose and the robbers commanded Helms to run his engine a short distance ahead. Helms was then ordered to leave the cab.

Holy Land a Military Camp.—Paris.—The Turks have transformed the Holy Land into a huge military training camp, according to refugees who have arrived at Alexandria. All the convalescents in Jerusalem are now barracks, and thousands of recruits daily are drilled on the Mount of Olives and Samaria plain by German officers. Immense targets have been placed on Mount Golgotha, the spot where the crucifixion took place, to serve in artillery practice to test the effect of high explosives.

Crop Report Issued October 8.

The weather during the month of September was favorable for maturing corn and housing the tobacco crop. At the same time very good progress was made in the seeding of wheat, rye and barley. Many farmers delayed their fall seeding in an effort to avoid the ravages of the Hessian Fly. They feared that early sown wheat would become infested with this fly, and this is responsible for a great deal of wheat not being sown until after the first of October. The preliminary estimate of wheat sown this year is 89 per cent. This does not indicate an unusually large wheat crop for next year, the same for rye is 82 per cent, barley 93 per cent. The prices secured for wheat this year have been disappointing, although larger than the farmers have obtained for several years. The war prices of $1.05 per bushel last fall at wheat seeding time caused a large acreage to be sown. The price declined to below $1.00 per bushel by harvest time. Even at $1.00 per bushel the wheat crop has not been a profitable one in Kentucky for several years. The preliminary yield of corn is 31 bushels per acre. This is the largest yield per acre that Kentucky has had for many years. At 50 cent a bushel, corn is proving a more profitable crop than wheat at $1.00 per bushel. Naturally, therefore, the corn acreage is increasing while the wheat acreage is decreasing. The report shows that about 10 per cent of both barley and dark tobacco was not housed from one cause or another. The preliminary estimate of the yield of barley tobacco is 841 pounds per acre, that of dark tobacco 774. As reported by this Department, the average price for 1914-15 barley tobacco is $7.32 per one hundred pounds, for dark tobacco $5.70. With the 1915 prices for corn and tobacco maintained, the income of the farmers of Kentucky should be above the average.

Pastures of all kinds have been good: alfalfa, bluegrass, clover and orchard grass all being reported as in a condition about 90 per cent.

Complaints of cholera among hogs, catarrhal fever among cattle and glanders among horses have come to the Department from different localities. The number of cattle in the state to go on feed during the winter is probably larger than ever before in the past ten years. The number of breeding ewes has probably decreased on account of the difficulty of restocking from outside sources where the flocks were dispersed on account of the high prices prevailing in the summer. There has not been a case of foot and mouth disease in Kentucky since March 23rd., but the disease has broken out again in Illinois. The state of Kentucky along with several other states, has an absolute quarantine against all cloven hoofed animals from any part of the state of Illinois. The state authorities of Illinois are endeavoring to cope with the situation there and have destroyed 239 herds in the last few weeks. This last outbreak is due to using infected hog cholera serum, and the Kentucky farmer is warned against buying serum manufactured in states where the disease still exists.

The reports show that the farmers have used vast quantities of ground limestone this fall, and have sown alfalfa and crimson clover more than ever before. It is not too late to sow rye and barley for cover crops, and not an acre of cultivated land in Kentucky should be permitted to go through the winter without some covering to save the fertility of the land for the next year's crop. The farmers of Kentucky are realizing more than ever before that the hard winter rains are almost as hard on unprotected land as the season's crops. It is cheaper to save fertility than to buy it.

Very truly yours,

J. W. Newman, Commissioner of Agriculture.

FIRST GOOD SLEEP IN OVER A YEAR

T. M. PENN, WELL KNOWN CAIRO MAN TELLS COOPER.

AND EAT? EVERYTHING GOES SINCE TAKING TANLAC.

FEELS LIKE ANOTHER MAN.

Cairo, Ill., Oct. 13, 1915.—"If there ever was a miserable man in the world, I was that man before my friends induced me to take Tanlac," said Mr. Penn today, at his home 600 Commercial avenue. "My stomach was all wrong; I was constipated and miserable. Though I was careful as could be what I ate, I suffered constantly from indigestion; my stomach was sour and felt tight as a drum after meals. Night after night I have laid tossing in my bed, unable to sleep because of the gas and heaviness in my stomach. The doctors said it was catarrh of the stomach but they never did me any good. I was desperate and tried everything but still my friends insisted that I try Tanlac, the medicine which has done so much good in this section, I never got any relief.

"Now, though I have only taken one bottle of Tanlac, I can get as much good solid fun out of a good dinner as any man can; I haven't had even a single touch of the old indigestion, no more gas on my stomach, and I sleep as sound as a baby. I tell you, its great to feel well again, ready to sail right into my work for all I am worth, and I certainly recommend Tanlac most highly to everyone who suffers as I suffered. It made another man out of me."

Tanlac, that great preparation is now being sold in Murray under the personal direction of J. L. Cooper's assistance at Dale & Stubblefield's drug store. Mr. Cooper or his assistant will be found there to explain the merits of this new remedy.

Notice.

The party to whom articles, bearing the number of 375, were handed through mistake, by some member of the floral hall committee, will kindly hand them to the office of the secretary and oblige—Calloway Fair Association, by Mary Williams, secretary of floral hall.

Hon. E. P. Morrow, republican candidate for governor, addressed a fair crowd of voters at the court house Saturday night. Mr. Morrow had the closing of the fair, the Nix moving picture show, the W. I. Swain show and the bottling works plant fire to "buck" which naturally reduced the attendance at the speaking. Mr. Morrow is a splendid gentleman, a fluent talker and was given close attention by those who were present.

Mrs. C. C. Hughes, of Little Rock, Ark., attended the fair the past week and visited her parents, Nat Ryan and wife.
