BRITISH BAN ON TOBACCO LIFTED

Washington, Nov. 27.—Great Britain has yielded to the American representations for removal of all restrictions on the shipment of tobacco to neutral countries. Word of this reached here today from the American embassy at London. The Netherlands Government also has removed similar restrictions.

The British embassy today sent the following message to Secretary Lansing:

"The Foreign Office, informed that the British Government agrees for the present not to interfere with the cargoes of tobacco shipped to neutral countries, and states that in these circumstances tobacco in all its forms destined for Holland will no longer be required to be consigned to the 'Netherlands Overseas Trust'."

The removal of the British restrictions, protested against by representatives of tobacco producing states, relieves a situation which resulted in overstocking of the tobacco warehouses. Scarcity of ships to handle the product and high freight rates now confront shippers.

Big Effect Throughout Kentucky.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 29.—Tobacco men of Louisville and the state are greatly pleased with news received yesterday from the American embassy at London announcing Great Britain and the Netherlands governments have removed all restrictions on the shipment of tobacco to neutral countries, interpreting it as meaning that German and Austrian markets will be reopened to millions of pounds of Kentucky tobacco now stored in the warehouses of the state and at sea ports.

It was expected Great Britain would yield to the demands of American representations relative to removal of restrictions on tobacco shipping and average prices on Kentucky tobacco have experienced a general advance of 25 per cent. during the past sixty days in anticipation of free and open markets. Kentucky buyers, shippers and exporters have been especially active in the organized movement of American tobacco men who brought great pressure to bear in their efforts to remove the embargo on tobacco.

The announcement from London yesterday is interpreted as meaning the ports of Holland, Norway, Sweden and Denmark will be reopened to unrestricted tobacco shipments, whence the product will find its way into Germany, Belgium and Austria. The latter countries always have been, until the beginning of the European war and England's subsequent imposition of trade restrictions, the principal markets for millions of pounds of dark tobacco grown in Western Kentucky.

The lifting of the restrictions on the tobacco trade naturally will create a new foreign demand for the product and lend impetus to the trade. With the expected improvement in shipping facilities, it is believed millions of pounds of Kentucky tobacco now stored in warehouses at New Orleans, Mobile, Norfolk, Baltimore, Newport News and New York soon will be en route to European markets. This congestion along the seaboard resulted because exporters who bought the product during last year have been unable to ship to foreign markets, where there is a demand for Kentucky and Tennessee tobacco. A recent statement issued by the government shows there was a 97,000,000 pound shortage in tobacco exports the past year.

As soon as the accumulations of tobacco begin to move from American ports the crop stored in Kentucky warehouses, estimated at 12,000,000 pounds will also be shipped, thereby bettering conditions here and the outlook for the 1915 crop. Most of this estimated 12,000,000 pounds is in the warehouses of Western Kentucky, the hub of the dark tobacco trade. Congestion of tobacco in Louisville as a result of inability to ship to foreign markets has not been felt.

What resumption of the foreign tobacco trade means to the price has been reflected in the general advance during the past two months. Common tobacco, which formerly sold at from 4 to 5 1/2 cents a pound, now brings prices ranging from 5 to 7 cents. Whether prices will continue to advance after a steady flow begins into foreign ports will depend on competitive prices quoted by other countries which ship tobacco to Holland. Java is one of the United States' chief rivals in supplying Rotterdam and Amsterdam with tobacco.

Millions of Pounds Released.

Paducah, Ky., Nov. 29.—Lifting of the embargo upon tobacco shipments from America to Europe will mean the release of some 2,300 hogsheds of tobacco in storage in Paducah alone. Plans for shipment of this tobacco will be made immediately by the Peoples Warehouse Co. owners of the weed. Twelve thousand hogsheds of tobacco in

MURRAY TEACHER HIGHLY HONORED

Princeton, Ky., Nov. 27.—The 1915 meeting of the First District Educational Association closed here this afternoon, following a two days' session, which was attended by about 500 teachers, representing every county in the district. The largest delegation was from Paducah and McCracken county, which consisted of over 100 teachers. All the delegates left for their respective homes this afternoon.

At the election of officers for the ensuing year J. W. Jones, superintendent of the Murray public schools, became president succeeding J. M. Calvin, of this city, a former principal of Paducah public schools. J. E. Coleman, of Mayfield, county superintendent of Graves county, was elected secretary and treasurer; G. E. Everett, of Benton, superintendent of Benton schools, was elected vice-president. D. S. Bishop, of Bardwell, became enrolling secretary.

The next annual meeting will be held in Mayfield, according to unanimous vote.

One of the most important acts of the convention was the framing and adoption of resolutions urging that in the future county school boards shall be elected by the people of the county as a whole, and that they select the county superintendent, not being restricted to the particular county, nor to the state in that matter, for the selection.

Clarksville, Tenn., will be shipped to Europe also as a result of the lifting of the embargo.

These hogsheds will close out the 1914 crop and create a stimulating effect upon the marketing of the 1915 crop, enabling warehousemen to pay equitable prices for the incoming weed. Growers all over the district are enthusiastic.

Jones Hancock Wedding

The marriage of Miss Laura Jones to Mr. Raymond Hancock, a wedding charming in its simplicity, was quietly celebrated at the Methodist church, Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock.

An artistic arrangement of ferns with immense yellow chrysanthemums beautified the altar of the church. Preceding the ceremony, which was the pretty Methodist ring service and was performed by Rev. C. A. Waterfield, Miss Aline Fick sang "At Dawning," followed by Mrs. Geo. Gatlin, of Murray, sister of the bride, who rendered "For Love's Own Sweet Sake." Mrs. Chas. Hastings presided at the organ and Mrs. C. H. Morris at the piano, accompanied by Mrs. J. N. Courrier on the violin.

There were no attendants and the bride entered with the groom. She wore a becoming brown suit of African brown broadcloth with hat and accessories to harmonize. Her corsage was of Aaron Ward roses and violets.

As a special compliment to the groom, who is a valued employee of the L. & N., the shop suspended work for the occasion and the employees attended in a body.

The bride is a daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. G. Jones of this city, and is very popular in social circles here. She was the efficient stenographer of Lewis & Bryant, a prominent law firm of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Hancock left immediately after the ceremony for a southern trip. The many and handsome presents received attest the popularity of the couple. —Paris Post-Intelligencer.

PARTIAL LIST OF SCHOOL PRIZES

The county school fair to be held at the court house in Murray on the second Saturday in January is attracting enthusiastic attention throughout the entire county. The Civic League, or Murray, which has the undertaking in charge, is devoting much time and energy to the affair and already a real live interest is manifest by the business men of the city.

While the list of prizes to be awarded is quite attractive, an additional large number will be added later. Every teacher in the county should encourage his pupils to take part in this county school fair and lend them all assistance possible. ### Child's Burns Fatal.

Ashland, Ky., Nov. 29.—Thomas Twyman Fite, aged 6 years, son of Rev. W. A. Fite, pastor of the First Christian church, died this morning at 2 o'clock from injuries received Sunday evening about 5 o'clock when an outing flannel night robe which he had on caught fire from an open grate from in front of which the child had removed a fire screen. The father tried to extinguish the flames by means of a rug, and when he saw this method was too slow he threw the child on the bed and used bed clothing. The body was taken to Independence Mo., Mrs. Fite's former home for burial.

(Rev. Fite was former pastor of the Paducah Christian church and is well known in Murray.)

Mrs. Dollie England, one of the most popular and widely known ladies of the west side of the county, and Mr. Edgar Jones the well known lumber dealer of Alto, were united in marriage Sunday afternoon while aboard the train between Murray and Paris. The happy couple have many friends throughout the county to wish them a long and happy life.

At the recent session of the Memphis conference of the Methodist church the Alto mission, embracing Bethel, Temple Hill, Brooks Chapel, Pottertown and Russell's Chapel churches, was discontinued and these churches assigned to the East Murray circuit. Hazel and Pleasant Grove were placed back on the Hazel circuit.

Rev. W. W. Healey, the new pastor of the East Murray circuit, arrived here the past week with his family and are occupying the parsonage in South Murray. Rev. Healey is a native of Calloway, was reared on the west side and has many friends in the county to extend him a hearty welcome.

Mr. Fred Scholfield, wife and baby, of Dallas, Tex., spent the past week in the city the guests of friends. They were en route to their former home in Kansas.

PUTS ONE OVER ON MR. STANLEY

News of the reappointment of Warden A. J. G. Wells and Deputy Wardens G. W. Kazee and T. G. Newman, of the Frankfort Reformatory, for 4-year terms dating from August, 1913, has just come to light and caused something of a flurry in political circles on the eve of a change in the state government. The reappointment of Warden Wells it develops was made ninety days ago after the prison commissioners had become convinced, it is claimed, that his first appointment as the successor of Warden E. E. Mudd, deceased, which expired last August, could not be constructed as a full term under the act of 1912, creating the new prison commission and fixing definite terms for the prison officials, and therefore Warden Wells was entitled to reappointment for a full term of four years, when he finished out the unexpired portion of the Mudd term.

Soon after the present commission went into office, charges were made and suits instituted in the courts to test the right of the commissioners to remove officers and guards, raising the question whether the law protected holdover officers and guards under previous appointments or whether the terms of all officers and guards were coincident with those of the commissioners. This suit is now before the Court of Appeals.

Under the law creating the prison commission, the three members of which are ineligible to reappointment, the personnel of the commission will be completely changed after July 1, next.

School Notes.

By J. W. Jones

Wednesday evening before Thanksgiving the high school literary society rendered a special program at the school building. A fine crowd of patrons and friends were present and were pleased with the program. Some expressed themselves as having witnessed a demonstration of some of the high school's best work. But any Friday afternoon session is worth attending and we invite parents to attend.

A number of new pupils are expected after Christmas. In fact a large number have already asked us about their course of study. Classes will be organized in beginning high school subjects, in agriculture and business arithmetic, and any other subject when as many as ten apply for that subject. We hope the teachers in the country are urging their pupils to get more education after they finish the 8th grade.

The most pitiable situation we know of is where the child wants more education and the parent is indifferent or opposed to higher education. What a pity it is that such children could not have selected their parents. Instead of such parents being a help they are a hindrance, and are literally robbing their children of their rightful heritage. In most cases such parents prevent the child's education and he never gets it, but in some the child, by his own efforts and by needless hardships, overcomes the blunders of his parents and secures an education after he gets to be his own boss. God pity the parent who stands in the way of his child's development.

ROUMANIA IS NOW IN THE LIMELIGHT

PASSAGE OF TEUTONIC TROOPS
OVER DANUBE RIVER FLATLY REFUSED.

AUSTRIAN ARMY TO BORDER

Sympathy of Big Balkan Kingdom Becoming More Pro-Ally. Greece
Again Causes Much Anxiety
To the Allies.

London.—The Austro-Germans have had to divert part of their armies down the Danube to the Rumanian border, Rumania having refused the German request for the opening of the Danube throughout its entire length to enable the Germans to send supplies to Bulgaria and Turkey. Rumania insisted that armed ships must not pass Baba, which is on the Danube at the Rumanian-Bulgarian frontier.

With the concentration of the Russians, too the attitude of Rumania is becoming daily more pro-Ally, and the Austro-Germans, having aided Bulgaria in her campaign against Serbia, which is now cleared, is called upon to protect her against aggression from the east.

Russian warships, including new dreadnoughts, again have been seen off the Black Sea coast of Bulgaria, but there is no news of any landing or movement of troops.

On both the eastern and western fronts the artillery, as was the case last winter, is doing the heaviest part of the work, and it appears doubtful whether either side will attempt an early offensive.

Italy, on the other hand, under the influence of some activity, is pushing her offensive and rendering the Austrian hold on Gorizia and Rovereto daily more uncertain.

The Turks have again been showing some activity in Gallipoli, and claim minor successes against the allies. However, no big action has been fought.

German anxiety over Rumania is now matched by that of the allied powers with regard to Greece. It was believed that all difficulties between Greece and the allies had been surmounted, but now it has been found necessary to send another note to Greece.

GREECE MEETS DEMANDS.

Reply to Allies Couched in More Friendly Terms.

Athens.—Greece has met the demands of the entente powers and given guarantees that their requirements will be fulfilled.

Official announcement is made that the reply to the collective note presented by the entente ministers has been delivered to them. The announcement says:

"The reply is couched in very friendly terms and gives satisfaction of the demands of the entente powers and all guarantees considered essential."

The collective note was recently presented to the Greek government. As outlined in unofficial dispatches, it contained no request for Greek intervention in the war with the allies, but asked Greece to give assurance that she would preserve her friendly attitude in case the allied troops now in Macedonia should be compelled to retreat across the frontier to Greek territory.

WILL NOT FIGHT GERMANS.

Greek Minister Says That Decision of Country Is Fixed.

Athens.—M. Passarow, the Bulgarian minister, in an interview announced that he had good reason to believe that the Greeks under no circumstances would allow their troops to march against either the Bulgarians or the forces of the central powers.

The Greek commander at Saloniki demanded that troops of the entente powers vacate a camp at Lamethi. The commander of the troops at first refused to comply with the demand and then offered to change the position of the troops to the Greek camp some distance away. Finally, however, he gave in and began building barracks near Zeitlock.

Paris Honors Miss Cavell.

Paris.—An impressive ceremony in honor of the memory of Miss Edith Cavell, the British nurse executed by the Germans in Belgium, was held at the Trocadero under auspices of the League for the Rights of Man. President Poincaré and Mme. Poincaré and many prominent in the life of France, as well as the leaders of the British colony, attended.

Servian Loses 35,000.

London.—The Daily Chronicle's Saloniki correspondent says he is informed from Servian headquarters that the cost of the Servian retreat during the past two months has been 15,000 men taken prisoners, 4,000 killed and 17,000 wounded.

Reports Gorizia Taken.

Genova.—Reports from Chiasso, on the Swiss-Italian border, say that Gorizia has fallen, the Italians having entered the town from the north. There is no official confirmation.

BULGARS ATTACK FRENCH

Principal Servian Army Has Now
Been Driven to Border and Allies'
Position Now Objective.

London.—The Bulgars appear to have abandoned definitely, for the time being, their advance on Monastir to attack the French positions on the Cerna where fighting has already been reported. So far the French have held their positions, but Saloniki dispatches hint that it may be necessary to withdraw from Krivolak to the southwest, where British-French reinforcements are being concentrated.

While the results of these movements are being watched with some anxiety, better news from the allies' point of view comes from the north, where a big Russian army is massing. It is reported that Gen. Alexei Kuropatkin is to command this Russian army of invasion, which will either be sent up the Danube or allowed passage from Rumania to attack Yarna from the land side. Other Russian forces are being organized at Odessa and Sebastopol, and doubtless will be sent either to the Bulgarian or Turkish coast.

It is reported from the Balkans that the Austro-Germans are sending reinforcements into the Balkans to meet this new Russian offensive, but other sources state that these reinforcements are en route to the western front because the Balkan campaign is having a direct effect on all fronts.

In Galicia the Austro-Germans are attacking in the hope of compelling the Russians to divert a part of the Bessarabian army thence. While the Austrians, opposing the Italian offensive on the Isonzo, are unable to get assistance, they are counter-attacking with terrific fury, and thus far have prevented the Italians from capturing Gorizia, which has been hard pressed for nearly a week.

ITALIAN TROOPS IN ALBANIA

Allies Threaten To Withdraw Special Privileges From Greek Commerce.
England Denies Blockade.

London.—Italian troops have begun landing on Albanian territory, according to a Chiosso dispatch to the Journal La Suisse forwarded by the Central News correspondent at Zurich.

In effect of denying a general blockade of Greek ports the allies, according to a statement issued by the British foreign office, have withdrawn all threatened to withdraw special privileges that Greek commerce has enjoyed since the war's outbreak.

The nature of these special privileges is not specifically stated, but as an example Greece has been allowed to draw her supplies of coal from Welsh collieries. To do this Greek merchants required special permits, as the export of coal from the British Isles is allowed only under a special license.

There are many other commodities whose export is permitted only to certain countries. Invariably when reports have been issued against the export of these Greece has been excepted. Now, unless she concedes the allies' demands for safety of their troops in the Balkans, Greece will be struck off the list of countries that have these privileges.

This less vigorous attitude on the part of the allied governments has caused some dissatisfaction, but it has eased the situation and the belief now prevails that Greece, impressed by Lord Kitchener's visit and the threat to her commerce, will concede the demands.

Of the fighting at the Balkans reports are more confusing than ever. The Germans still claim progress and recount the capture of thousands of prisoners and many guns from the Servians. But from the towns mentioned their advance appears slow, it may be, as reported from Italian sources, that the campaign is waiting on a change in the disposition of the armies so that the Germans may be the first to enter Monastir. This would avoid the trouble likely to arise through Greek objection to Bulgarian occupation of the city.

DEFENSE OF NATION.

This Will Be Burden of Wilson's Message to Congress.

Washington.—President Wilson's next annual address to Congress, it was learned definitely, will be devoted primarily to a discussion of national defense and the subject of revenues, though it will refer to other legislative questions which the president expects congress to act on during the coming session.

Reasons for strengthening the army and navy at this time will be emphasized at length by the president. "For defense," will be the keynote of his argument, and declaring that the United States has a humanitarian mission of peace in the world, he will insist that under present conditions, when all Europe is at war, the United States must be ready to defend its rights to independent and unmolested action.

10,000,000 MEN IN FIELD.

Kitchener Told Greek Officials That Germany Must Lose.

Paris.—Lord Kitchener, the British secretary of war, is reported to have informed Greek officials in his recent visit to Athens that England would have by next March 1,000,000 soldiers under arms and would be in position to arm and provision 6,000,000 Russians, and that consequently it would show great stupidity to think that war would end other than in complete defeat for Germany.

CANADA SEIZES HIGH GRADE WHEAT

AN ACT OF WAR GOVERNMENT
COMMANDEERS OVER 20,
000,000 BUSHELS.

PRICE TO BE ADJUSTED

Most of Grain Taken Is For Use of England and Her Allies.—Italy.
To Get a Large Part—Growth.
Will Be Paid Promptly.

Ottawa.—The Canadian government has commandeered all high-grade wheat in elevators from Port William, on Lake Superior, to the Atlantic coast.

The action was taken by the Canadian Grain Commission under the special war act. The wheat seized was of grades 1 hard and 1, 2 and 3 north—It was the property of grain shippers and millers. That taken is all which was in public elevators at Port William, Port Arthur, Midland, Tiffin, Port McNicholl, Collingwood, Goderich, Kingston, Port Colborne, Prescott, Quebec, St. John, Montreal and Halifax.

A revised estimate places the amount at about 20,000,000 bushels. A considerable amount is the property of American grain dealers.

It is stated officially that the price will be fairly adjusted and the grain owners promptly paid by the Canadian government. It is estimated that there still is in Canada in the hands of the farmers and dealers west of Port William 150,000,000 bushels surplus of wheat available for export. It is expected that most of this will be taken in the future for the use of Great Britain, France and Italy. This domestic supply of Russia is more than sufficient to meet the needs of that country.

Had the Dardanelles been forced, the surplus of Russian wheat would have made the present action unnecessary. While the wheat just taken was commandeered to fill an order from the British government for a large quantity of wheat, it is understood most of it will be shipped to Italy.

U. S. SOLDIERS IN CLASH

Villa Snipers Start Battle at Nogales, in Which One Trooper Is Killed.—Carranza Victory.

Nogales.—Carrying out threats that they would fight Americans before they left the border, Villa snipers posted in Nogales, Sonora, after Francisco Villa evacuated the town, opened fire on soldiers of the Twelfth United States infantry posted at the border.

The Americans, who had endured the taunts for a week, returned the fire, and more than 20 Mexicans were killed. The Americans had three wounded, one of whom—Stephen Little—subsequently died. Another—Herbert Arthur—was not expected to live. Arthur L. Saupé was shot in the foot.

The American casualties were suffered in a brush with Carranza cavalry, who were mistaken for Villa troops as they rushed over a hill to enter the town.

In the exchange that followed three Carranza soldiers were shot.

The casualties were: Stephen Little, aged 22, Company L, Twelfth infantry, shot through the head; dead; home, Fairmont, N. C.; Herbert L. Cates, aged 25, Company L, Twelfth infantry, shot twice in abdomen and hips; recovery doubtful; home, Sweetonville, N. C.; Arthur L. Saupé, aged 19, Company L, Twelfth infantry, shot right foot; home, Verona, Ind.

Carranza troops are now in possession of the town, but with victory. Col. Sage, who gave the order to fire across the border was not fired on until the time Col. W. C. Brown of the Tenth cavalry was his senior, but having arrived only a short time before the fighting, Col. Brown requested Col. Sage to act, and he was on the line when an intoxicated Villa soldier, fighting with a woman, wrested his rifle from her and fired at a party of American soldiers on duty in the street that divided the American and Mexican towns. This seemed to be a signal for snipers. Their bullets began to fall thickly in the American town. The American officers promptly gave the order to fire.

The snipers were silenced after the firing had continued about 10 minutes. There followed a period of quiet, lasting an hour. Company L of the Twelfth infantry, stationed at Tibomb Hill, discovered what appeared to be Villa cavalrymen trying to gain a position.

Firing promptly began and while machine guns were being sent to the aid of the American riflemen a brisk fire was exchanged. Early in this engagement Little fell, mortally wounded. Later it became known that the Mexicans were Carranza cavalry under Col. Lazard Cardenas, forming the advance guard of the advancing Carranza troops. Gen. Obregon and American officers later exchanged apologies and regrets.

Take Many Wagons.

Petrograd.—The Germans evacuating Mian are requisitioning 400 wagons.

10 ARE KILLED IN ARKANSAS

Tornado Passing Near Hot Springs
Also Injures Many More—Much Property Damage Done.

Hot Springs.—Six white persons and four negroes were killed and 25 others were injured in a tornado that swept through the thickly settled farming country just east of Hot Springs on the afternoon of Nov. 25. Three or four of the injured probably will die. All the dead and injured are farmers, their families and employees. The dead are: Mrs. George Tanner, Mrs. Paul Canada, Mrs. A. J. Crowder and three children, Brookside Davis, negroes, and three negro children, unidentified.

Most of the dead were killed in the ruins of their wrecked homes. Mrs. Canada's head was severed by a flying scantling.

The city of Hot Springs suffered no damage and no one was injured within its limits. The tornado could be plainly seen from Hot Springs. A funnel-shaped cloud dipped low toward the earth and its roar could be heard in the city.

Practically every physician in the city joined the relief expeditions that were hastily fitted out. They worked until darkness compelled them to stop. Owing to the wide area of the district that was swept by the storm and the poor roads, they were unable to cover the entire district.

Mrs. Tanner met instant death when a scantling was driven through her head. Mrs. Canada's head was severed from her body by flying timbers from the wreck of her home. Poe died at a Hot Springs hospital from his injuries.

A man employed at the farm of Carl Hulbert is missing. The tenant house in which he lived was demolished and it is believed his body is in the ruins. Mrs. Pete Hite, is in a Hot Springs hospital and is believed to be fatally injured.

The handsome $20,000 country home of W. H. Maurice was demolished and the clubhouse of the Hot Springs Country Club greatly damaged. Early estimates of the property damage were placed at nearly $1,000,000.

A Rock Island railroad bridge near Hot Springs was washed out and the Iron Mountain train which reached here was delayed by trees which had fallen across the tracks.

AVIATORS LOST IN HAZE

Current Sweeps Four Machines Fifty Miles Out of Course—Finally Reach Austin.

Austin, Tex.—Four aviators of the United States aero squadron, after being lost for nearly two hours in a haze on their flight from Waco to Austin, discovered their journey to Austin. Two machines arrived here on time. A third machine came in soon after, and the other three were then in the air headed for Austin, after having drifted in the haze nearly 50 miles westward of their course.

A strong upper air current carried the machines far to the west, and about 11:30—the time when the aviators knew they should be due in Austin—they began coming down in small towns northwest of here to get their bearings. Two aeroplanes landed at Lampasas, about 60 miles northwest, and another at Kingsland, a small town a little nearer Austin, to take a new reckoning.

The two aviators who had arrived in Austin sent out an alarm over the telephone lines for the four belated fliers. In the next hour many conflicting reports of aeroplanes landing in various places were received.

SUBMARINE CAUSED PANIC.

Sight of Submersible Caused People
To Jump Into Sea.

New York.—A Turkish submarine stopped the British passenger ship Barullos in the Mediterranean, and after 25 persons had been drowned helped rescue many of the 250 passengers who had gone aboard, according to Eleanor Franklin Egan, an eye-witness, who has arrived here on the steamship New York.

The Barullos, according to Mrs. Egan, who is a writer returning from a six months' trip through Southern Europe, left Piraeus for Alexandria Oct. 2. The ship flew the British flag, but her crew was Greek. The passengers, mostly third-class, were chiefly Greeks, or Orientals. When about five hours south of Crete the ship picked up three boats containing the crew of the British steamship Saffor Prince, which had been sunk by a submarine.

The Barullos, Mrs. Egan said, carried only four lifeboats, each with a capacity for 20 persons. The picking up of the crew of the Saffor Prince created a feeling of excitement, which was at fever heat when suddenly a submarine came to the surface about two miles distant and fired a shot over the Barullos, evidently as a signal for her to stop.

Will Defend Country.

London.—King Ferdinand opened the session of the Rumanian parliament in the presence of the crown prince and the ministers. The speech from the throne, says a Renter's Bucharest dispatch, referred to the continuance of the war which is depressing the world with blood, and called attention to the fact that since the previous session other belligerents had been added to the nations engaged. "This situation," the king continued, "imposes upon us increasingly the duty of uniting our efforts for the defense

IN THE SEASON OF OYSTERS

Excellent Ways in Which They Can Be Served to Those Who Are Fond of Them.

The practical housekeeper begins to worry as she sees her summer fruits slipping away. She does her best to make good use of the fresh time, beans, string beans, tomatoes, peaches, pears and berries. What she cannot serve fresh and in pies she cans and preserves.

She worries at the idea of having meat every day and sometimes twice when other foods become scarce and costly. It is rather or perhaps one of the big boys in the family who suggests that oyster season has just begun and that those are far cheaper and more nutritious than many costly cuts of meat.

Sauce for Raw Oysters.—Take one dessertspoonful of tarragon vinegar, one tablespoonful of olive oil, one-half teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, the juice of half a lemon and one-half teaspoonful of tabasco sauce. Add a little salt and half an onion. Grated fine.

Oyster Cocktail.—For each glass take six small oysters, two teaspoonfuls lemon juice, one teaspoonful Worcestershire sauce, two tablespoonfuls tomato catsup, a dash of tabasco sauce, a pinch of salt and a little sugar. Serve ice cold.

Oyster Cocktail.—Have oysters very cold. Put not more than six in each cocktail glass or sherbet cup, and just before sending to the table cover with a dressing made in the following way: Mix together one tablespoonful of mushroom catsup, two tablespoonfuls of strained lemon juice, five drops of tabasco sauce and salt to taste. This quantity will make three cocktails. Serve thin slices of brown bread and celery with the cocktails.

HAVE COVER FOR THE CORN

Vegetable Cakes Much of Its Delicious Flavor if It Is Allowed to Become Cold.

In spite of the weather in which corn on the ear is served, the vegetable cooks off very rapidly and, therefore loses much of its deliciousness. To preserve the good taste of the corn it is quite essential that every housekeeper be supplied with a corn cover. This can be made from a square of heavy linen with the corners cut out. Finish the edge with a buttonhole scallop. On the outer flap of the cover stamp a dainty design, a wreath of eyelets and a few small petals will be sufficient. Embroider the word "Corn" on the flap also. The size of the case can be determined by the size of the family—or, in other words, by the amount of corn that is served on the table.

Similar covers with the flaps changed slightly and possibly the shapes altered, can be made for toast, rolls or hot biscuits. In fact, a housekeeper cannot have too many cases for various purposes, by making several cases from one piece of linen one can economize in the cutting of the material, a point always worth remembering.

Chocolate Croulles.

Cream two tablespoonfuls butter and one-half of a cupful of sugar, gradually add the beaten yolks of three eggs and one and one-half cups more of sugar, one cupful of sour milk, one teaspoonful vanilla, two ounces chocolate grated and melted over hot water, one-third of a teaspoonful of soda dissolved in one-half of a teaspoonful of boiling water, the whites of the eggs whipped to a stiff froth and sufficient sifted flour to make a soft dough. Roll out, cut into oblongs; divide each into three strips, leaving the dough united at one end. Break loosely, pinch the ends together and cook until golden brown in smoking hot fat.

Cambridge Roast.

Soak one cupful of lentils over night, then cook until soft in as little water as possible. Will take about four hours if German lentils. Mash through sieve. Add one-eighth pound (or less) of grated cheese. Season with salt and paprika, add enough bread crumbs to make stiff enough to mold into a roll. Bake in a moderate oven until a nice brown. Serve with tomato sauce. The roast may be varied by additions of Parmesan cheese, chopped onions, green peppers of pimento. This dish is a complete food in itself and would easily serve for a one-dish luncheon. The first cooking of the lentils is best done in a fireless cooker.

Burned Pans.

If by any chance anything being cooked in a saucepan burns ill, when the cooking is done, with cold water of which a good spoonful of salt has been added, and leave to soak till next day. Then heat slowly, and by the time the water boils the burnt portion will have been loosened and will come off quite easily.

To Iron a Centerpiece.

Do not stretch the round centerpiece on the bias before ironing, but treat it as though it were square. Stretch first with the warp, then with the woof of the material, and iron in the same way. The result will be a perfectly smooth, round surface.

Cranberries With Dates.

To a quart of cranberries add half a pound or more of seeded dates and about half as much sugar as you would without the dates. Cook until soft.

ONE GOOD TRAIT RECALLED

Unpopular Man Not Altogether Without the Attributes That Endeared Him to Society.

An Indiana town in the old days boasted of two characters—an official mean man who never did a good deed if it was possible to do a mean one, and an official optimist who had never been heard to speak an evil word of any human being.

In the fullness of time the bad man died. On the day of the funeral the usual crowd gathered at the post office to await the distribution of mail. Naturally the life and works of the late unfortunates came under discussion.

"The decedent was painted as a miser, a liar, a thief, a scandal-monger and a backbiter. The optimist, who was present, listened in silence. At length one of the group turned on him.

"Say, did," demanded the other man, "ain't ever thing we've said about that old scoundrel the truth? Kin you name one deservin' trait he ever showed?"

"Well," said the optimist, "you boys'll have to admit he certainly had a mighty good appetite." Saturday Evening Post

Conservation.

"And," continued the lecturer, "I warrant you that there's not a man in this entire audience who has ever lifted his finger or in any way attempted to top this awful waste of our forests and our lumber supply. If there is I want that man to stand up."

There was a slight commotion in the rear of the room and a nervous little man rose to the occasion and to his feet.

"And now, my friend, will you explain in just what way you have conserved the forests of our nation?"

And with the utmost gravity and sincerity the little man said: "I have used the same footpick twice."—Harper's Magazine.

Wireless Sent Many Miles.

Following experiments, extending over a period of several years, wireless communication has been established between a new station at Fuen-bashi, near Yokohama, Japan, and the Hawaiian Islands, over a distance of 3,280 miles. Wireless communication between Hawaii and the United States has been maintained for about a year, and now messages will be regularly transmitted between the United States and Japan, by way of the Hawaiian Islands.

SYNOPSIS

Le Comte de Sabron, captain of French cavalry, taken to his quarters to raise by hand a motherless Irish terrier pup, and named it Pitcheune. He dined with the Macquignons of Esclignac and met Miss Julia Redmond, American heiress. He was ordered to Algeria but is not allowed to take servants or dogs. Miss Redmond takes care of Pitcheune, who, looking for his master, runs away from her. The Macquignons plan to marry Julia to the Duc de Tremont. Pitcheune follows Sabron to Algeria, dog and master meet, and Sabron gets permission to keep his dog with him. The Duc de Tremont finds the American heiress capricious. Sabron, wounded in an engagement, falls into the dry bed of a river and is watched over by Pitcheune. After a horrible night and day Pitcheune leaves him. Tremont takes Julia and the Macquignons to Algeria in his yacht but has doubts about Julia's Red Cross mission. After long search Julia gets trace of Sabron's whereabouts. Julia for the moment turns matchmaker in behalf of Tremont. Hammett "Aunt" tells the Macquignons where he thinks Sabron may be found.

CHAPTER XXI—Continued.

Pitcheune ran with his nose to the ground. There were several trails for a dog to follow on that apparently untrodden page of desert history. Which one would he choose? Without a scent a dog does nothing. His nostrils are his instinct. His devotion, his faithfulness, his intelligence, his heart—all come through his nose. A man's heart, they say, is in his stomach—or in his pocket. A dog's is in his nostrils. If Pitcheune had chosen the wrong direction, this story would never have been written. Michette did not give birth to the sixth puppy, in the stables of the garrison, for nothing. Nor had Sabron saved him on the night of the memorable dinner for nothing.

With his nose flat to the sands Pitcheune smelt to east and to west, to north and south, took a scent to the east, decided on it for what reason will never be told—and followed it. Fatigue and hunger were forgotten as hour after hour Pitcheune ran across the Sahara. Mercifully, the sun had been clouded by the precursor of a windstorm. The air was almost cool. Mercifully, the wind did not arise until the little terrier had pursued his course to the end.

There are occasions when an animal's intelligence surpasses the human. When, toward evening of the twelve hours that it had taken him to reach a certain point, he came to a settlement of mud huts on the borders of an oasis, he was pretty nearly at the end of his strength. The oasis was the only sign of life in five hundred miles. There were very little left in his small body. He lay down panting, but his bright spirit was unwilling just then to leave his form and hovered near him. In the religion of Tatman dogs alone have souls.

Pitcheune panted and dragged himself to a pool of water around which the green palms grew, and he drank and drank. Then the little desert wayfarer hid himself in the bushes and slept till morning. All night he was racked with convulsive twitches, but he slept and in his dreams he killed a young chicken and ate it. In the morning he took a bath in the pool, and the sun rose while he swam in the water.

If Sabron or Miss Redmond could have seen him he would have seemed the epitome of heartless egotism. He was the epitome of wisdom. Instinct and wisdom sometimes go closely together. Solomon was only instinctive when he asked for wisdom. The epicurean Lucullus, when dying, asked for a certain Nile fish cooked in wine.

Pitcheune shook out his short hairy body and came out of the oasis pool into the sunlight and trotted into the Arabian village.

Fatou Anni parched corn in a brazier before her house. Her house was a mud hut with yellow walls. It had no roof and was open to the sky. Fatou Anni was ninety years old, straight as a lance—straight as one of the lances the men of the village carried when they went to dispute with white people. These lances with which the young men had fought, had won them the last battle. They had been victorious on the field.

Fatou Anni was the grandmother of many men. She had been the mother of many men. Now she parched corn tranquilly, prayerfully. "Allah! that the corn should not burn; Allah! that it should be sweet; Allah! that her men should be always successful."

She was the fetish of the settlement. In a single blue garment, her black scrawny breast uncovered, the thin veil that the Fellahs wear pushed back from her face, her fine eyes were revealed and she might have been a priestess as she bent over her corn!

"Allah! Allah Akbar!"
Rather than anything should happen to Fatou Anni, the settlement would have roasted its enemies alive, torn them in shreds. Some of them said that she was two hundred years old. There was a charmed ring drawn around her house. People supposed that if any creature crossed it, it would fall dead.
The sun had risen for an hour, and the air was still cool. Overhead, the sky, unstained by a single cloud, was blue as a turquoise floor, and against it, black and portentous, flew the vultures. Here and there the sun-touched pools gave life and reason to the oasis.

Fatou Anni parched corn. Her barbaric chant was interrupted by a sharp bark and a low pleading whine.

She had never heard sounds just like that. The dogs of the village were great wolflike creatures. Pitcheune's bark was angelic compared with theirs. He crossed the charmed circle drawn around her house, and did not fall dead, and stood before her, whining. Fatou Anni left her corn, stood upright and looked at Pitcheune. To her the Irish terrier was an apparition. The fact that he had not fallen dead proved that he was beloved of Allah. He was, perhaps, a gentle, an affr.

Pitcheune fawned at her feet. She murmured a line of the Koran. It did not seem to affect his demonstrative affection. The woman bent down to him after making a pass against the Evil Eye, and touched him, and Pitcheune licked her hand.

Fatou Anni screamed, dropped him, went into the house and made her ablutions. When she came out, Pitcheune sat patiently before the parched corn, and he again came crawling to her.

The Arabian woman lived in the last hut of the village. She could satisfy her curiosity without shocking her neighbors. She bent down to scrutinize Pitcheune's collar. There was a sacred medal on it with sacred inscriptions which she could not read. But as soon as she had freed him this time, Pitcheune tore himself away from her, flew out of the sacred ring and disappeared. The he ran back barking appealingly; he took the hem of her dress in his mouth and pulled her. He repeatedly did this and the superstitious Arabian believed herself to be called divinely. She cautiously left the doorstep, her veil falling before her face, came out of the sacred ring, followed to the edge of the berry field. From there Pitcheune sped over the desert; when he stopped and looked back at her, Fatou Anni did not follow, and he returned to renew his entreaties. When she tried to touch him, he escaped, keeping at a safe distance. The village began to stir. Blue and yellow garments fluttered in the streets.

"Allah Akbar," Fatou Anni murmured. "These are days of victory, of recompense."
She gathered her robe around her and, stately and impressively, started toward the huts of her grandsons. When she returned, eight young warriors, fully armed, accompanied her. Pitcheune sat beside the parched corn, watching the brazier and her meal. Fatou Anni pointed to the desert.
She said to the young men, "Go with this gentle. There is something he wishes to show us. Allah is great. Go."

When the Capitaine de Sabron opened his eyes in consciousness, he encountered a square of blazing blue heaven. He weakly put up his hand to shade his sight, and a cotton awning, supported by four bamboo poles, was swiftly raised over his head. He saw objects and took cognizance of them. On the floor in the low doorway of a mud hut sat three little naked children covered with flies and dirt. He was the guest of Fatou Anni. These were three of her hundred great-grandchildren.

The babies were playing with a little dog. Sabron knew the dog, but could not articulate his name. By his side sat the woman to whom he owed his life. Her veil fell over her face. She was holding straw. He looked at her intelligently. She brought him a drink of cool water in a earthen vessel, with the drops coming from its porous sides. The hut reeked with odors which met his nostrils at every breath he drew. He asked in a hoarse voice, "Where am I?"

"In the hut of victory," said Fatou Anni.
Pitcheune overheard the voice and came to Sabron's side. His master murmured:
"Where are we, my friend?"
The dog leaped on his bed and licked his face. Fatou Anni, with a wink of straw, swept the flies from him. A great weakness spread its wings above him and he fell asleep.
Days are all alike to those who lie in mortal sickness. The hours are intensely colorless and they slip and slip into painful wakefulness, into fever, into drowsiness finally, and then into weakness.

The Capitaine de Sabron, although he had no family to speak of, did possess, unknown to the Marquis d'Esclignac, an old aunt in the province, and a handful of inattentive cousins who were indifferent to him. Nevertheless he longed to live and in the hut of Fatou Anni fought for existence. Every time that he was conscious he struggled anew to hold to the thread of life. Whenever he grasped the thread he was snatched, and whenever he lost it, he went down, down.

Fatou Anni cherished him. He was a soldier who had fallen in the battle against her sons and grandsons. He was a man and a strong one, and she despised women. He was her prey and he was her reward and she cared for him; as she did so, she became maternal.

His eyes, which, when he was conscious, thanked her; his thin hand thrown over him, the devotion of the dog—found a responsive chord in the great-grandmother's heart. Once he smiled at one of the naked, big-bellied great-grandchildren. Beni Hassan, three years old, came up to Sabron with his fingers in his mouth and chattered like a bird. This proved to Fatou Anni that Sabron had not the Evil Eye. No one but the children were admitted to the hut, but the sun and the flies and the cries of the village came in without permission, and now and then when the winds arose he could hear the stirring of the palm trees.

Sabron was reduced to skin and bone. His mouth hung open, vacant, and the absence of all decent care was slowly taking him to death. It will never be known why he did not die.

Pitcheune took to making long excursions. He would be absent for days, and in his absence Sabron thought the dog was reconnoitering for him over the vast pink sea without there, which, if one could sail across as in a ship, one would sail to France, through the walls of mellow old Tarragon, to the chateau of good King Rene; one would sail as the moon sails, and through an open window one might hear the sound of a woman's voice singing. The song, ever illusive and tantalizing in its persistency, tantalized his sick ears.

Sabron did not know that he would have found the chateau shut had he sailed there in the moon. It was as well that he did not know, for his wandering thought would not have known where to follow, and there was repose in thinking of the Chateau d'Esclignac.

It grew terribly hot. Fatou Anni, by his side, fanned him with a fan she had woven. The great-grandchildren on the floor in the mud fought together. They quarreled over bits of colored glass. Sabron's breath came panting. Without, he heard the cries of the warriors, the lance-bearers—he heard the cries of Fatou Anni's sons who were going out to battle. The French soldiers were in a distant part of the Sahara and Fatou Anni's grand-children were going out to pillage and destroy. The old woman by his side cried out and beat her breast. Now and then she looked at him curiously, as if she saw death on his pale face. Now that all her sons and grandsons had gone, he was the only man left in the village, as even boys of sixteen had joined the raid. She wiped his forehead and gave him a potion that had been pierced with arrows. It was all she could do for a captive.

Toward sundown, for the first time Sabron felt a little better, and after twenty-four hours' absence, Pitcheune whined at the hut door, but would not come in. Fatou Anni called on Allah, left her patient and went out to see what was the matter with the dog. At the door, in the shade of a palm, stood two Bedouins.

CRECELIOUS ACT DECLARED VOID

COURT HOLDS FARMERS CAN NOT POOL THEIR CROPS AND HOLD FOR HIGHER PRICES.

IMPORTANT RULING IS GIVEN

Court Upholds the Original Anti-Trust Law of 1890 Prohibiting Combinations in Restraint of Trade.

(Special Frankfort Correspondence.)
Frankfort—Confuted, under the decisions of the United States supreme court in the International Harvester case in the alternative of declaring unconstitutional the Crecelious act of 1906 permitting farmers to pool their crops for the purpose of realizing a higher price than they otherwise could get, or saying that anybody else, including corporations selling farm essentials, may do the same, the court of appeals declared the Crecelious act void. It upheld, however, the original anti-trust law of 1890 prohibiting combinations in restraint of trade. It said that law does not abrogate the common law doctrine on the same subject, but is a companion law. Either may be invoked, it said.

The court attempted to make effective the Crecelious act by construing it with the act of 1890 and Section 198 of the constitution, holding that farmers may form pools to secure a higher price than they could selling in competition, and by making civil and criminal liability under the anti-trust law to rest on the question whether or not the price secured by the pool is enhanced above or depressed below the real value of the article sold.

The supreme court, however, held that the fact could not be reasonably determined whether the price was higher or lower than the real value. It said the law as construed violated the constitution, guaranteeing equal protection of the law. It reversed the court of appeals and left the anti-trust situation in Kentucky in a state of chaos, out of which it emerged in the case of David S. Gay against N. Ford Brent, appealed from Clark county, in which the whole court sat and Judge Carroll wrote the opinion, affirming the Clark circuit court.

Incidentally the court said that under these supreme court decisions the general assembly can not enact a valid law, following the language of the constitution, and restoring criminal liability on the question of whether or not the price is higher than the real value or depressed below it.

The question involved in the Gay case was whether the common law rule applies that an executory contract in furtherance of a design in restraint of trade can not be enforced, and the lower court was sustained in holding that it can not be enforced.

Attorneys Make Requests.
Developments in the injunction proceedings instituted by State Superintendent Barksdale Hamlett to prevent the state board of election commissioners from canvassing supplemental certificates of returns from county election to J. P. Lewis, were confined to requests on the secretary of state by attorneys for copies of the certifications from Christian, McCreary and Shelby counties. The Christian county recertification was made under order of circuit court. This Superintendent Hamlett appealed. The other two were voluntary corrections of the original returns by the county boards. The temporary restraining order issued by Circuit Clerk Kelly Smith will stand until Judge Stout passes upon a motion by Lewis to dissolve the injunction.

Railroad Commissioner's Vote.
Sid T. Doughitt, of New Castle, Democratic candidate for railroad commissioner in the Second district, received a majority of 12,109 over H. C. McClellan, of Louisville, and H. Green Garrett, of Winchester. Republican candidate in the Third district, received a majority of 10,447 over C. H. Stamper, of Campton. The vote in the Second district was: Doughitt, 12,692; McClellan, 60,553. The vote in the Third district was: Garrett, 75,403; Stamper, 64,956.

Hotels Are Filled.
The Stanley inauguration committee received a telegram from the Duckworth club, of Cincinnati, stating that the club would have not less than 200 men in the inaugural parade on the day Gov-elect Stanley is sworn into office. The leading hotels have no more reservations. An appeal to the citizens to throw open their homes to accommodate the crowd has been made. Indications point to a record-breaking crowd on that occasion.

Pardons Given By Governor.
Gov. McCreary gave pardons to Levi Crouch, of Lee county, and Lloyd Cantrill, of Pike county. Crouch was convicted for manslaughter and given a two-to-twenty-years sentence. He was paroled in 1915. He killed Ezekiel Chambers, which he says he did in self-defense. Cantrill was sent up for life for murder, having killed James Mullins in Elkhorn City in 1904. He was paroled in 1909 with the understanding that he was to leave the state. The pardon was given him to permit him to look after his father.

Soldiers' Winter Clothing.
The soldiers of Japan have learned the value of paper clothing for winter wear. The paper, which is made from mulberry bark, is little sizing in it and is soft and warm. Between two sheets of the paper they place a thin layer of silk wadding, and then quilt the whole. It is something of a drawback that clothing so made is not washable, but in a winter campaign a soldier has other things to think of than the dirt on his uniform. —Foughty Correspondent.

FIRST WOMAN SECRETARY

With the induction into office of the new governor of Kentucky at Frankfort on December 7, will come, unprecedented in the annals of the state, the elevation of a woman to a position of power and influence at the state capitol. The first official act of Gov. Stanley will be the appointment of Miss Minnie R. Mahler, of Henderson, as secretary to the governor, at a salary of $2,000 per year. The unique distinction of being the first woman to be the confidential adviser of a Kentucky governor will come to Miss Mahler in recognition of her services, not only to Mr. Stanley in an official capacity, but by reason of her efficient work during the primary and general campaigns, in which she displayed rare political acumen and exceptional executive ability, which eminently fit her for the responsible duties she will assume in the executive office at the capitol. The Democratic managers who are conversant with Miss Mahler's work at the headquarters cheerfully accord her much of the credit for the hard-earned victory. Miss Mahler is a native of Henderson, Ky., where previous to her employment by Mr. Stanley, then a congressman from the Second district, she served one year as deputy city tax collector and a short time in the office of the county clerk of Henderson county. She has served as secretary to Mr. Stanley for seven years. Miss Mahler is an expert stenographer and typist. Her experience included clerical work at the investigation of the affairs of the steel trust by a congressional committee of which Mr. Stanley was chairman.

REDUCED RATES

Reduced rates on all railroads for the inauguration of Gov-elect A. O. Stanley have been granted, good coming to Frankfort December 6 and 7, and returning December 9. The transportation committee announced that the round-trip rate will be 3 cents the mile, plus 25 cents. The round-trip fare to Frankfort will be $1.50 from Louisville, $1.10 from Lexington, $1.90 from Richmond, $1.45 from Paris, $2.95 from Bardonia, $3.55 from Cincinnati, Covington or Newport, $6.20 from Henderson, $5.30 from Owensboro and $5.55 from Paducah. If the plans of the transportation committee are carried out, the rate will be notable. The committee hopes to secure permission for the use of the state capitol, the spacious corridors and marble stairways of which would afford a magnificent setting for the scene, the receiving line could stand in the state reception room, and the big board rooms would accommodate all who desired to dance. If the permission is secured, several orchestras will be engaged. In the past hundreds have been turned away, while the floor has been so crowded that none could dance.

Sheriff Is Fined

Sheriff C. P. Huff, of Clinton county, was fined $10 and costs by the court of appeals, under a rule issued against him to show cause why he had failed to serve a notice to the parties of a motion before the court to dissolve an injunction granted by the Clinton circuit court in the contest between S. C. Dobbs, Democrat, and W. C. Allen, independent, candidates for representative in the Clinton-Wayne district. Allen had secured a mandatory injunction requiring the counting of votes for him in five precincts. By mistake only one of them was mentioned in the original notice of a motion to have the injunction dissolved by the court of appeals, and before service of another notice in regard to the other precincts could be secured, the votes had been counted and Allen thus received a majority. The rule then was issued on motion of Atty. Gen. Garrett. The sheriff in his response said, seeing that he, as one of the election commissioners, was mentioned in the notice as a party, he considered himself not a proper person to serve the notice.

Christmas Mail Rush

The Christmas mail rush at the post office already has begun and Postmaster Russ Hughes has requested residents of Frankfort to be careful to have all parcels properly sealed, addressed and stamped before being put into the mails. From now until Christmas the mails will be heavy and additional help at the postoffice will be necessary immediately preceding Christmas.

Are Liable for Tax

The court of appeals, reversing the Franklin circuit court in the case of M. C. Clay, insurance commissioner, vs. Hartford Life Insurance Co., held that foreign assessment insurance companies doing business in Kentucky are liable for the two per cent premium tax both upon their dues and assessments collected.

Governor Entertains

Gov. McCreary entertained the members of the administration whose terms of office expire the first of the year. R. H. Vansant, of Ashland, and Gen. Percy Haley, of this city, were invited to attend the party.

Would Abolish County

Citizens of Pulaski county, according to reliable information, have started a movement looking to the abolition of McCreary county, which was formed out of Pulaski, Wayne and Whitley, and it is stated that a bill will be introduced at the coming session of the Kentucky legislature with this end in view. If this is done the counties of Pulaski, Wayne and Whitley will take their original area. The new county, it is alleged by those behind the movement, was created more as a compromise than as a matter of necessity.

HAD PELLAGRA; IS NOW CURED

Hillsboro, Ala.—J. W. Turner, of this place, says: "I ought to have written you two weeks ago, but failed to do so. I got well and then forgot to write you. I can get about like a 10-year-old boy; you ought to see me run around and tend to my farm. I can go all day just like I used to. I am so thankful to know there is such a good remedy to cure people of pellagra."

There is no longer any doubt that pellagra can be cured. Don't delay until it is too late. It is your duty to consult the resourceful Baughn.

The symptoms—hands red like sunburn, skin peeling off, sore mouth, the lips, throat and tongue a flaming red, with much nausea and sickness, indigestion and nausea, either diarrhea or constipation.

There is hope; get Baughn's big Free Book on Pellagra and learn about the remedy for Pellagra that has at last been found. Address American Compounding Co., Box 2086, Jasper, Ala., remembering money is refunded in any case where the remedy fails to cure.—Adv.

The Only Way

"I wish," said the pastor, "that we could induce your husband to attend church more regularly."

"I don't know how it could be managed," replied the delinquent's wife, "unless you could arrange to have it rain every Sunday so he couldn't play golf."

SWAMP-ROOT STOPS SERIOUS BACKACHE

When your back aches, and your bladder and kidneys seem to be disordered, remember it is needless to suffer—go to your nearest drug store and get a bottle of Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root. It is a physician's prescription for diseases of the kidneys and bladder.

It has stood the test of years and has a reputation for quickly and effectively giving results in thousands of cases. This prescription was used by Dr. Kilmor in his private practice and was so very effective that it has been bottled on sale everywhere. Get a bottle, 50c and 100c, and you will be cured.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmor & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

A MURRAY INTERVIEW.

Mr. Ellison Tells His Experience.

The following brief account of an interview with a Murray man over three years ago, and its sequel, will be read with keen interest by every citizen.

J. A. Ellison, Murray, says: "I suffered for a long time from a lame back and often was hardly able to stoop. The trouble was worse when I got up in the morning. In fact, I was often hardly able to get out of bed. Doan's Kidney Pills, from Dale & Stubblefield's drug store made me feel like a different man and all the symptoms of the trouble left me."

OVER THREE YEARS LATER Mr. Ellison said: "I have had no occasion to use any kidney medicine since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Ellison has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

"OO-y! My Corn-n!" H-m, Use 'Gets-It'

Then You'll Have No Corns to Bump! Your Corns Will Come "Clean Off." Quick!

Did you ever see a corn, peel off after you've used "Gets-It" on it? Well, it's a picture for your life! And you hardly do a thing to it. "Bore Corn Bumped Against Use 'Gets-It' Corns Vanish!"

Put a little "Gets-It" on it, it dries at once. There's nothing to stick. Put shoes and stockings on right over it. No pain, no loss of hours—your corns are gone. "Gets-It" never hurts the true skin, never makes toes sore. If you have a corn every thing else for corns you will be much more surprised to see how quickly and easily your corns and calluses will come right off with "Gets-It." Quit limping and wringing up your face with corn-wrinkles. Try "Gets-It" tonight on that corn, callus, wart or bunion, and you'll be glad you read this. "Gets-It" is sold by all druggists. 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

State of Kentucky
County of Calloway / Set

We, W. P. Dulaney and R. L. Williams, president and cashier of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of our knowledge and belief.
W. P. Dulaney, President
R. L. Williams, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 27th day of November, 1915.

J. F. Boyd, Notary Public.

My commission expires March 2nd, 1918.

Owing to the continued dry season preventing the growers from stripping their tobacco there will be no sale at the loose leaf warehouse of J. W. Winchester & Co. this week. This new enterprise is one worth the consideration of every tobacco grower in Calloway county, and if you have not carefully read the announcement of the opening of this new enterprise look it up in this issue of the Ledger and examine it carefully. The Ledger considers the loose leaf plan of selling tobacco next best to that of the association. This firm here is backed by well known citizens, deserving of patronage and tobacco placed with them for sale will be given careful attention. If you are not fully informed regarding the plan of the loose leaf warehouse investigate it before making a disposition of your crop.

Election Notice.—Pursuant to our by-laws, as amended, the annual meeting of the stockholders for the election of a board of directors of the Calloway County Fair Association will be held at the court house in Murray, Ky., at 1 o'clock p. m., and for the transaction of such other business as may lawfully come before the body. Respectfully, Nat Ryan, president; M. D. Holton, secretary. It is very important that every stockholder be present in person.

Rev. T. N. Shelton was called to Trigg county last week to conduct the funeral of Mrs. Mildred Travis, who died of paralysis near Fenton at the age of about 67 years.

J. W. Winchester & Co. Loose Leaf and Prize House

We will open at once a Loose Leaf Auction Sale and Prize House in the large warehouse of L. Y. Woodruff, just east of the freight depot, Murray, Kentucky

THE PLAN:

We will receive your tobacco any time you wish to bring it in if in good order. Will unload and weigh it and give you a statement and receipt for same, and will offer it for sale the FIRST SALES DAY, at which time you will have to be present or have some one to represent you. If the sale is not satisfactory to you, then you can reject, and if you wish you can offer it the second time, and if not satisfactory you can again reject it. If you reject it both times there is no cost to you, but if you accept the price of either of those sales you will owe the warehouse charges of 10c per 100 pounds and 2½ per cent on amount of your sales, and get your money then, less these charges. If you do not approve any of the sales you then can order your tobacco prized at 75c per hundred and draw 60 per cent of an estimated market value and execute promissory note for same.

Joe Winchester and Jesse Roberts will have charge of the warehouse; they will transact all business, receive, weigh and receipt for all tobaccos, pay out all moneys, keep the books, and you are asked to see them for further information.

M. M. Tucker, of Paducah, who is interested in the Broadway Warehouse, Paducah, will be sales manager and will give his time and attention to this part of the business. Since he has severed his connection with the Association, he has been devoting his time in seeing what might best be done with the present crop of tobacco, and after talking to all the foreign, American and local buyers, and practically getting them to agree to attend the loose leaf sales. They are arranging to have sales at possibly all the county seats in this section.

Mr. Tucker assures the tobacco growers of Calloway that he will have lots of buyers here on sale days, who will want all kinds of types of tobacco. He further stated he would have four concerns (buyers) represented here that never had been buyers of Calloway county tobaccos.

The First Sales Day Will be Announced at an Early Date.

Kin Hubbard Essays

No Family Doctor Could Expect to Enjoy the Full Confidence and Respect of His Patients Unless He Had All the Space on His Face Under Cultivation Except His Nose and Forehead.

TH' PASSIN' O' WHISKERS

By KIN HUBBARD.

"It hain't been so many years ago since you could stand on the corner and come purty close to guessin' ever feller's age who passed along by the cut of his jib," said Hon. Ex-Editor Cale Fehbert.

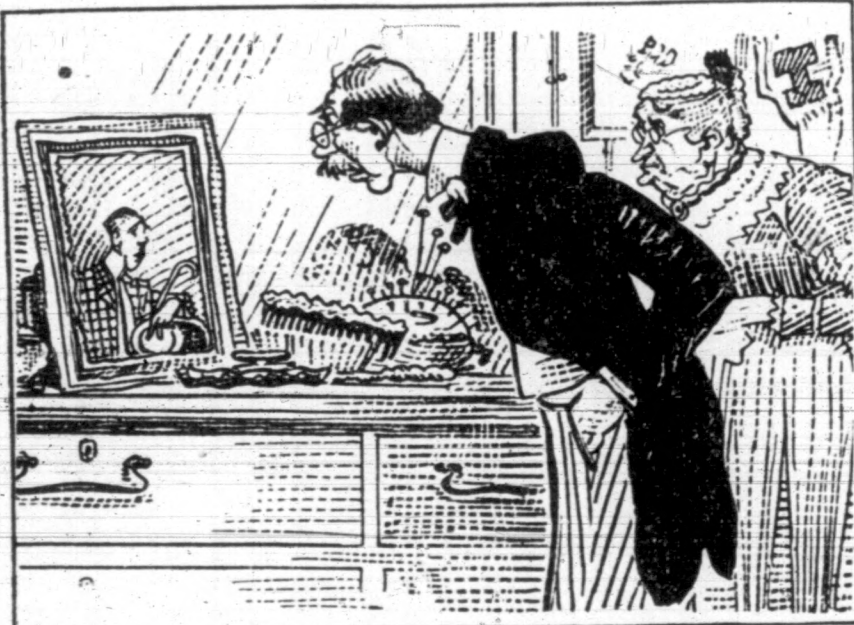

"O' course our estimates were based largely on the length an' style o' whiskers. T' day whiskers are th' exception an' th' feller who throws himself on th' tender mercies of a capable barber can easily pass for thirty-two till he's seventy-five.

"In th' ole days when whiskers wuz th' height o' ever feller's ambition nobuddy wuz ever taken seriously until they showed unmistakable evidence o' th' ability t' grow a beard. After a feller raised a full set o' crisp, glossy whiskers, either red or black, he at once became eligible t' discuss th' most momentous questions, either national or international. Whiskers denoted a mature mind. Professional men cultivated them in large bunches. Sideburns wuz in high favor. Sometimes they were under control an' sometimes they were allowed t' feller their own inclinations. Full sets were all th' rage with medical men, an' no family doctor could expect t' enjoy th' full confidence an' respect o' his patients unless he had all th' space on his face under cultivation except his nose an' forehead. A feller's ability wuz measured by th' length o' his whiskers, an' when they wuz streaked with gray his judgment wuz supposed t' be ripe an' ready t' pull.

"Once in a while some feller wuz darin' enough t' wear a smooth face, but he wuz soon drowned out o' th' conversation. If a young, bare-faced squirt proposed t' a girl she would call him for his presumption an' say: 'Be gone! When you kin show me a neat, close-reefed, velvety mustache I'll talk business, but not until.' A girl used t' believe that a feller that could work up t' a firm, evenly spaced mustache could easily master all th' later problems in life.

"A few architects still stick t' th' oldtime Van Dykes an' we occasionally meet a government employee who stands defiantly under th' civil service laws wearin' a hedge. Th' trillin' artubus, or Wild Bill mustache, is almost extinct. It wuz underpinned above th' lip an' allowed t' droop from either corner o' th' mouth after th' fashion o' cypress moss. In some sections where land sells for eighty cents per acre we not infrequently meet human beings wearin' a tangled mass interspersed with cowlicks."

TODAY'S GIRL

By KIN HUBBARD.

When th' average mother gets t' reviewin' th' past she can't help comparin' th' pleasures an' opportunities o' t' day with th' slow goin' common-place diversions o' her uneventful girlhood. So she sets on th' veranda in th' evenin' an' smiles an' quietly congratulates her daughter as th' tender striglin' hops int' a mouse colored six-cylinder Juggernaut an' spins away in a cloud o' cigarette smoke with some irresponsible pompadoured caterpillar.

"Let th' poor child enjoy herself while she kin fer she'll be married soon enough." That's th' modern mother instinct croppin' out, but it haint th' motherly instinct o' th' ole Plymouth hen that never loses sight o' her chicks till they are feathered out an' on a payin' basis.

"Th' mother o' t' day thinks that because she safely tided over th' wiles o' th' 1880 Lothario with his pink gum drops an' yellor-buggy that her daughter is too smart t' be carried away by a shepherd's plaid suit an' caxjar an' lobster t' music.

"Our girls are growin' up too fast. We no longer see th' meekness that used t' lurk under th' long lashes o' Miss Sixteen. Th' sweetness too, has vanished. Th' rambo-flush that once enveloped her face at th' slightest slip o' th' tongue is off th' job. Th' miss o' t' day is interestin' but not girlish.

"But after all th' is much t' admire in th' new girl's pluck—her aversion t' be self-sustained an' her aversion t' dishwater. We love t' see her goin' down-town t' work, when th' economic conditions demand it, with a spool box full o' angel-food. We love t' see her homeward bound with her nose erect after th' business worries o' th' day. But we miss th' ole indescribable somethin' about th' girl in her teens that used t' make us stutter an' tremble in her presence. We wonder if she's gittin' all th' home trainin' that's comin' t' her. T' day th' charm o' girlhood is just as liable t' get rubbed off under th' soft glow o' th' parlor lamp er among th' tange dancers at a week-end party as in th' factory er under th' careful scrutiny o' th' pompous floorwalker.

"What is your daughter readin'?" "Vanity Fair" er "Deserted on Her Wedding Morn." "Is she singin'?" "Sweet Genevieve" er "Mingle Your Eyebrows With Mine?" Does she leave anythin' fer th' imagination when she dresses up? What is she playin' on th' pianer? "In th' Gloamin'" er "At th' Devil's Ball?" Does she sigh fer a Shakespearean revival er is she lookin' forward t' a musical show? Is ther a photo o' a youth leanin' agin th' talcum can on her dresser? If ther is, study th' necktie an' hair cut carefully before it's too late.

"Father is th' one t' talk t' daughter. He knows what's goin' on downtown. Let him ferget his business fer an' hour er so an' take th' little girl that only yesterday set on his knee an' asked t' see his gold tooth out under th' willow tree near th' pump an' tell her that when an automobile goin' forty-miles an' hour hits a telephone pole ther is no appeal—that a gown o' gray radium silk with green stripes an' trimmin's o' green charmeuse is as nothin' t' a clear conscience, an' that many a heavy heart beats behind a pair o' perfect eyebrows.

Analysis of the Elections in Massachusetts.

Republican Claims That It Was a High-Tariff Victory Are Idle in View of the Condition That Prevailed.

In his essay on political lying, Swift remarks that a short memory is essential to the interpretation of political events, or the interpreter will find himself repeatedly "swearing to both sides of a contradiction." In Massachusetts the annual elections require an abnormal brevity of recollection. The Republicans are pointing to McCall's vote of 235,918, with its marked increase over the 198,600 votes he received in 1914, as evidence of the sweeping nature of the Republican triumph. But they forget entirely to look at the figures of Governor Walsh's increase. In 1913 he received over 183,000 votes; in 1914, over 210,000; and this year, though defeated, he polled over 229,000. An extraordinarily large vote was brought out on all sides this year in Massachusetts, and into the result it is easy to read too much by simply looking at one side. As it is, it could be contended with force that the Democrats received a share of the returned Progressive vote. Similarly, examination of the facts makes it impossible for the Republicans to claim the election as a high-tariff victory. Salem, with its cotton mills, was a Walsh city; so was Gloucester; so were Chicopee, Holyoke, Lynn, Brockton, Woburn, Lowell and Fitchburg. Eleven of fourteen of the larger manufacturing cities were carried by Walsh. It was obviously an election with an unusual number of cross-currents.

Law Has Made for Prosperity.

Ex-President Taft told members of the Hamilton club at Chicago that the Republicans would come back to power next year. He said this respects to the Democratic administration by saying that President Wilson should in no way receive credit for the present indications of prosperity.—New York Sun.

We were never much impressed by the theory that the national administrations made or unmade prosperity. But in one respect the Wilson administration has claims that are unique. The present prosperity of the United States is due in a very large measure to the new banking and currency law, which made it possible for the first time in our history to mobilize all the financial resources of the nation to meet a great crisis.

Problems in Mexico.

At present, all signs seem to indicate that the United States will be obliged to try armed intervention in Mexico within a comparatively short time. If the necessity occurs, the nation will not shrink—but neither will it rejoice. When once our troops cross the Rio Grande, no man knows when they will come back. Unless we can establish a competent native government in Mexico—a very doubtful contingency—we shall be saddled for generations with the managing of a country three times the size of the German empire and inhabited by 15,000,000 people alien to us in blood, speech and tradition.

The American nation will not condemn President Wilson for doing all that he honorably may to avoid such a burden.

Favors Bond Issue.

We can understand the president's aversion to tariff legislation, in view of the circumstances that the Underwood bill has had no fair test, but it would be infinitely better to have revenue legislation than to go further in direct taxation until the business conditions of the country have improved throughout.

All things considered, a bond sale ought to provide the money for strengthening the national defenses, for it is apparent that a large sum will be needed temporarily.—Houston Post.

"Popular" Taxes.

It was said the other day that western Democratic leaders probably would urge upon the president that he find some more popular means of providing needed revenue than through the continuance of the new stamp taxes.—Washington Dispatch.

As is well known, all taxes belong to one of three general groups: popular taxes, more popular taxes, most popular taxes.

Workers Voted Democratic Ticket.

Massachusetts Republicans should not be too sure that they won on the tariff issue. The heaviest Democratic vote came from the industrial centers.

No Longer Talk of Hard Times.

Early in the summer after industrial plants that had been idle were resuming operation people still talked about hard times; it was from the force of habit, but prosperity is now so widespread that one hears little of the recent depression," said J. M. Stevenson of Philadelphia. "Even in the South, that suffered severely when the bottom dropped out of the cotton market a year ago, there is marked recovery."

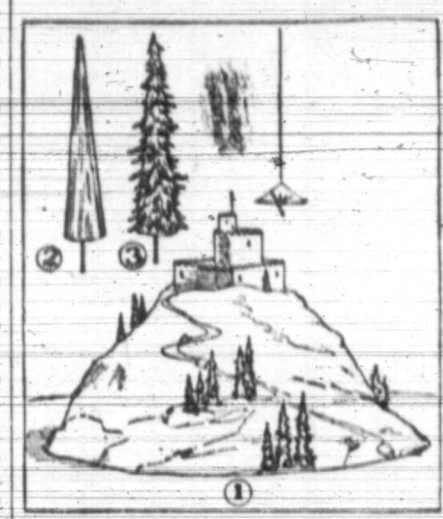

"Hard-times talk is certainly no longer in order."

Christmas Presents Easily Made at Home

By A. NEELY HALL

(Copyright by A. Neely Hall)

THIS little model of Santa Claus' castle, built upon the summit of a mountain, makes an attractive centerpiece for the Christmas dinner table. The first thing to build is the mountain, and for this you will need a large enough piece of cardboard to make a base about sixteen inches in diameter and—top nine or ten inches in diameter (Fig. 4). Cardboard from a suit box will do.

The lower portion of the castle is a square cardboard box (Fig. 5). Invert this box, and around its bottom glue a strip of cardboard having notches cut in the edge, as shown, for an embattled parapet wall. The lower tower stands upon the box base. It is made of a piece of cardboard notched along the upper edge, and bent into a cylinder with the edges lapped and glued together (Fig. 6). Make a roof out of a circular piece of cardboard with projecting tabs for turning down, and gluing to the sides of the tower (Fig. 7). Make a second smaller tower and fasten it upon the lower tower (Figs. 1 and 8).

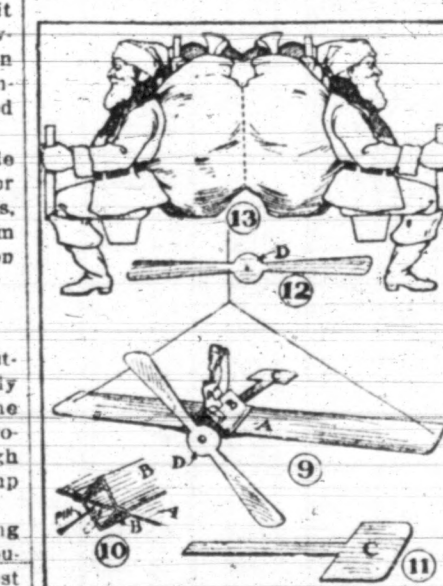

To complete the castle, paint a number of long narrow windows upon the walls, and fasten a slim stick flagpole upon the upper tower.

The mountain side must be covered with snow, and the best way to obtain the snow effect is by gluing cotton to the cardboard. Put the cotton on in varying thicknesses, to give the mountain slopes a rocky appearance. And from the base form a trail up one side to the castle, by dampering and pressing down the cotton (Fig. 1).

There must be trees, and excellent ones may be made by cutting long, slender wooden cones, similar to that shown in Fig. 2, driving a nail into the base of each, and then whitening the surface with a sharp knife so as to make the shavings stand out in the form of boughs (Fig. 3). The way to prepare the boughs is to start at the apex of the cone, and whittle in the same manner that you sharpen a pencil, but very carefully so as not to split off any of the shavings. Stain the trees a dark green. Then stand them erect upon the mountain sides, sticking the nails in their ends down through the cardboard. Pull the cotton up around their bases.

Santa Claus should be shown in his aeroplane about to alight at his castle (Fig. 1). His aeroplane may be suspended by a thread.

The aeroplane (Fig. 9) consists of a strip of cardboard 7 inches long and 1 inch wide (A), with a V-shaped piece glued to both sides of its center (B, Figs. 9 and 10), a tail plane (C, Figs. 9 and 11) glued to plane A, and a propeller (D, Figs. 9 and 12) pivoted by a pin run through its center into the edge of plane A (Fig. 10). Cut out the double picture of Santa Claus in Fig. 13, fold along the dotted line, and paste together the two halves with the exception of the feet which must be separate to straddle the framework of the aeroplane. Color Santa Claus' clothes and toy pack with water-colors or crayons.

IT'S lots of fun making Christmas gifts, and the girl who will give up the time to the work will be surprised to find how inexpensively she can provide something useful and pretty for everyone whom she wishes to remember. Likely some of the materials can be found at home, and a considerable saving in the cost of the rest can be made by getting your friends to buy with you.

The football calendar in Fig. 1 is a novel gift that brother will appreciate for his room. The football is made of cardboard. To make it symmetrical the edges must be curved alike, and the surest way of getting them so is by means of a paper pattern (Fig. 5). To make this pattern, take a piece of paper 7 by 9 inches in size, fold it along its center as indicated by dotted lines in Fig. 2, bring the corner A over to corner B (Fig. 3), then fold it again, bringing corner A to corner C (Fig. 4). From the folded corner measure off a distance of three inches along the short folded edge, and four inches along the long folded edge. Then draw an arc of an ellipse between the points marked off (Fig. 4), cut along the arc, unfold, and you will have the pattern shown in Fig. 5. Place the pattern upon the cardboard, mark out around it, and cut out the piece.

Color the football with brown crayon or water-color, and shade the surface to make it look round.

Buy a small calendar pad at the stationery store and paste it to the center of the football. Then tie a bow in each end of a piece of baby ribbon long enough to form a loop for hanging up the calendar by, and sew these bows to the ends of the football.

Father or mother will be pleased with a blotter pad like that shown in Fig. 6. It is made of four pieces of blotter four inches wide and eight inches long, and a piece of cardboard of equal size, held together at the ends with ribbon passed through holes punched near the corners and tied in bows.

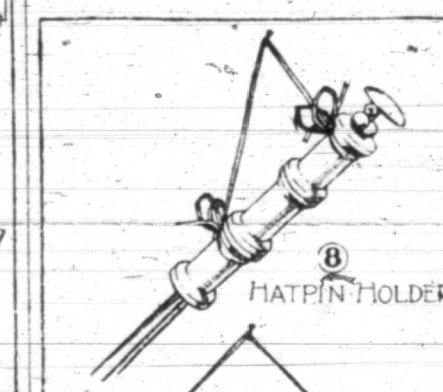

The Japanese pin cushion in Fig. 7 consists of a little Japanese doll with a cushion tucked under each arm, seated upon a piece of heavy cardboard. Use a piece of cardboard four inches square for the base, and cover it with bright colored silk. Sew the doll up stationary store and paste it to the center of the football. Then tie a bow in each end of a piece of baby ribbon long enough to form a loop for hanging up the calendar by, and sew these bows to the ends of the football.

LADY, BLINDED BUT CONSCIOUS

Said She Would Turn Blind and Fall When Nervous Spells Came on, Yet Remained Conscious.

Odeona, Fla.—"About 2 years ago," writes Mrs. J. B. Powell, of this place, "I took several bottles of Cardui as a tonic, for I was run down in health. In fact I could hardly do anything at all, could only drag around and couldn't do my work. Life was miserable to me and I knew I must have some relief, as I was so very weak. I would suffer with aching pains in my right side, back and shoulders. I would have such terrible nervous spells, which would come on me, and I'd fall down wherever I was standing. I would turn blind, as though I had fainted yet kept my consciousness. My friends would rub me... circulation was extremely poor, and the arms, hands and limbs would be cold.

"My friends... recommended that I try Cardui... I began using it and soon both saw and felt a great improvement... My appetite became good. I ate so my husband teased me about it. I could rest well at night, and got so I could do all my household work in a short time... I praise Cardui to all my friends."

If you suffer from any form of womanly weakness or irregularity, try Cardui, the woman's tonic. For sale by all druggists.

Watching the Seals.

Visitors at the Aquarium never tire of watching the harbor seals, and one thing that pleases them particularly is to see the seals fall off their table when they go to sleep. In the middle of the pool for the seals there are two low tables, their tops are just above the water, on which the seals climb out to sleep or to rest. And sometimes one or another of the seals will climb out of the water to one of those tables and lie there on it, maybe close along the edge of one side and perhaps with its head and forward part of its body hanging over the edge of the table. In front, apparently all the time in imminent danger of rolling off the table at the side or of pitching off head first into the water in front. And when a seal lies on a table like that, sleeping or dozing, people stand around the pool watching and waiting for the seal to fall off. He won't hurt himself when he does fall, he will simply fall off into the water; but old and young men, women and children, will stand there with keen interest silently watching and waiting for that seal to fall. And if they stay long enough, as they are pretty sure to do, they are rewarded.—New York Times.

A Boer Don at Cambridge.

Christ's, which has just elected to an honorary fellowship General Smuts, who was graduated there with exceptional brilliance in the law tripos, is not the only Cambridge college which has paid this academic compliment to a prominent South African statesman. Some time ago Downing conferred an honorary fellowship on the Hon. W. P. Schreiner, who was also graduated with the highest distinction in the same tripos, and was formerly a fellow. Hitherto Christ's college has proved more prone of hard- than lawyers, having been the Alma mater of six poets of such diverse types as Milton and S. Calverley.—Westminster Gazette.

Keeping It Dark.

"I don't want to sign my name to this letter. I think I'll sign it 'Cognosco'."

"If you don't want to be known, I think I'd sign it 'Incognosco'."

Treasure for Antiquarians.

In a recent issue of the London Times—announcement is made of the discovery at Caerboron, on the Roman wall, three miles east of Llandudno, in Northumberland, of a remarkable bronze measure of the Roman period. Such officially certified measures are very rare. On the present specimen the name of Emperor Diocletian, in whose consulate in A. D. 29 the measure was tested, has been obliterated, owing to the hatred felt toward him after his death. The measure contains 17½ sextarii, about thirty pounds of wine, or rather more than two gallons, and eight pounds have been allowed as the weight of the material. Professor Haverfield is uncertain whether it was really certified under the order of the emperor, or whether it is a private venture, manufacturing as official. In any case, there is no question of the date, and the discovery is of considerable antiquarian interest.

Cause and Result.

"Germany is a large producer of honey."

"Maybe that accounts for the sweet time they're having there."

One Minister's Failing.

Deacon Grabhard—Rev. du Goodie says he doesn't believe in raising money by church fairs, suppers, concerts and lotteries.

Deacon Pinchpenn—H'm! He's altogether too conscientious for a minister.—New York Weekly.

To Her Taste.

Jess—Why did Mac marry Harold? He's a perfect blockhead.

Bees—Well, you know who always liked hard-wood trimmings in a house.—Judge.

EASY TO DYE AT HOME

NO NEED TO SEND MATERIALS TO PROFESSIONALS.

Housewife May Save Much Expense and Achieve Equally Good Results by Doing the Work Herself—Some Useful Hints.

In almost every household in the spring and fall there are articles for household and personal use that must be sent to the dyers. These can be done equally well at home.

Now that one dye can be bought which will answer alike for silk, cotton and woolen fabrics, success is well-nigh assured if the directions on the packet are strictly followed. These are usually explicit, and experienced dyers need no other; but the amateur is apt to strike snags despite directions. She may not think it necessary to clean the article to be dyed, but oil or grease of any kind kills dye, so that any garment known to be greasy at all should be soaked in a warm solution of ammonia and water for half an hour, then thoroughly rinsed in hot water before going into the dye pot. Cotton goods should be washed in hot soapsuds and given a thorough rinsing. To leave soap in will interfere with the dye.

When dyeing cotton or mixed goods they should be allowed to become cold in the dye bath. Dyes set very slowly in these fabrics, so the cooling process is necessary to success. Wool, on the contrary, absorbs the dye quicker and may be rinsed while hot. Closely woven woolen goods should be boiled a little longer than those loosely woven.

Woolen goods of any weave should never be allowed to boil fast. A gentle simmering will bring the best results. If boiled violently, the tiny hairs mat and cause shrinkage, besides making the material close and board-like.

The fiber of linen, being harder and tougher than that of wool, silk or mixed goods, requires longer and faster boiling. Linen should be allowed to boil until the desired shade is obtained. This will be longer than in the case of the other materials mentioned.

Silks are so often weighted with fillers that on dyeing them they will fall apart. It has been proved that sixteen ounces of silk can, with fillers, be made to weigh double that amount. Good silks, satins and ribbons will dye satisfactorily, but it is a waste of time to bother with cheap silks. It will be better to wash them through and use for linings or trimmings when making over garments.

Two different articles may be dyed to match if they are the same color before being dyed. If otherwise, it is practically impossible to dye them to match, but they will dye black.

The home dyer should guard against over-dyeing. Use only the quantity given in the directions. Never wring dyed articles too firmly, and always dry in the shade. The dyeing process goes on until the article is dry, consequently any portions exposed to the sun will dry quickly and the result will be a streaky garment.

Luncheon Dish.

Tasty, and easily prepared, is this dish. Wash, then pare and slice fine, three medium-sized white potatoes, two large onions, two tomatoes or a cupful of canned ones. Put this in an agate kettle, add two tablespoons of cold water; simmer for one hour, season with salt and pepper, two tablespoons of minced parsley and a cupful of good, rich gravy, or one may substitute two tablespoons of beef extract. Stir until dissolved. Now drop in one tablespoonful of peanut butter and stew for five minutes longer, serve hot, with croutons or thin brown buttered toast.

Olive Sauce.

Allow as many olives as it is desired to use to remain in a basin of cold water for 30 minutes, meanwhile putting a small slice of onion in a saucepan with a few tablespoons of salad oil and cooking until the onion commences to brown. Now add two tablespoons of flour and stir until smooth. Pour in a pint of rich stock and remove the pan to the side of the fire to simmer gently. Stone the olives and add them to the sauce, seasoning with salt and pepper and simmer for 20 minutes longer. Skim well and just before serving squeeze in the juice of a lemon. If a thick sauce is desired, use less flour.

Canning Pays.

Canning at home, where fruits and vegetables are grown, is an attractive business which may be started in a small way, and developed into something bigger. It is essentially a farm industry and every member of the family may have a part, either in producing the crops or in the canning operations. The boys and girls of the home generally take an interest in canning and when given a chance to make some money for themselves, they will develop habits of industry and thrift.

Sweet Gherkins.

Fill a tub with salt water strong enough to bear an egg. Put gherkins not over a finger long in this and let them stand nine days. Take them out and wash them by letting them stand in fresh cold water for several hours; then spread them out on a folded tablecloth to free them of moisture.

IN THE LIMELIGHT*CHASTISER OF CAPITALISTS

Frank P. Walsh, as chairman of the federal industrial relations commission, made the country sit up and take notice by his verbal chastisement of capitalists. Persons who like radical utterances applauded him as a man of fearless courage. Other folk of the more conservative sort were horrified, and called him an agitating demagogue and trouble-maker.

Mr. Walsh, who comes from Kansas City, Mo., was appointed as one of the three representatives of the public; the other two groups in the commission representing the employers and the employees. Walsh was the only one who jumped out of his class in the findings of the commission. He stood with the three labor members in the main report of the commission assailing capitalism.

Although Walsh went with the labor men, he is not numbered with the proletariat in Kansas City. He owns and lives in one of the finest houses in the city. He had a law practice that earned him $50,000 a year, which he gave up temporarily to head the commission at $10 a day and expenses. He is fifty-two years old, but looks ten years younger. He is married and has eight children. He began work as a district messenger boy in Kansas City at the age of ten. Then he studied stenography, and at twenty-one was a court stenographer. Four years later he was admitted to the bar.

ARCTIC CIRCLE SENATOR

Frank A. Aldrich is a hardy man, and he needs to be in order to fulfill his public duties. For Mr. Aldrich is a member of the upper house of the legislature of Alaska, and when the lawmakers of the territory are called in session he girds up his loins, packs his dog sledges and sets out on a trip from the Arctic circle that lasts thirty-eight days. Thirty-three of these days are spent traveling on a sledge.

Down here this seems like a hardy adventure, but in Alaska the inhabitants do not think it anything out of the ordinary, and Senator Aldrich has had a life training that makes him look on it as rather trivial. Indeed, when he was in New York recently for the first time he intimated that a sledge journey of hundreds of miles over the snowy wastes was nothing to compare with a trip across Fifth avenue through the streams of automobiles.

Senator Aldrich was born in Port Wayne, Ind., fifty-eight years ago, and at the age of nineteen he joined General Terry's command on the Yellowstone river during the Indian campaign of 1876. He was driving a six-mule government team in Terry's division in Montana at the time of the Custer massacre. The next year he was with Gen. Nelson A. Miles in the Nez Perce expedition, in which Chief Joseph was captured. In 1879 he began prospecting for gold, and has pursued the career of a miner ever since. He was elected to the Alaska legislature in 1913.

NEW CHINESE MINISTER

Hundreds of young men and women scattered throughout the United States remember their young Columbia university friend, V. K. Wellington Koo. It hasn't been so many months since he graduated with them and went home to China. Should they desire to see Doctor Koo now, they will find him minister to the United States, at the Chinese embassy in Washington.

Doctor Koo is just thirty-three years old. To him has been entrusted the destiny of China in its relation to the western world. He has dedicated his life to "save China as a nation from being dismembered and swallowed up in the maelstrom of the European war."

Doctor Koo was popular at Columbia, a leader in student activities, editor of the college paper, and active in athletic and literary groups. Doctor Koo has grown a trifle more sedate since his diplomatic duties have been put upon him. He is hailed by Prof. John Bassett Moore and other enthusiastic American friends as "a most brilliant student of international law comparable to the prodigies of a century ago—William Pitt, Fox and Alexander Hamilton."

WOULD TAX RICH HEIRS

Senator Norris of Nebraska says he intends to introduce in the senate a bill providing for a graduated tax on inheritances.

"An inheritance tax," Senator Norris says, "would not take from any man a single dollar he had done anything toward earning. It would, in fact, take only a part of the property that the legislatures of the states or of the Nation have a right, if they see fit, to take away entirely."

"I do not believe any injustice can come from taking away a portion of an inheritance from a man who has done nothing whatever toward its acquisition. It is taking something that he has not produced. The particular provisions I propose will leave enough, without any serious taxation, to keep him and all his friends and family in absolute luxury during all their lives."

Mr. Norris proposes to tax all inheritances, direct and collateral, in excess of $50,000. The rate he proposes is 1 per cent on the first $50,000 above the exemption, 2 per cent on the next $100,000, 3 per cent on the next $100,000, 4 per cent on the next $100,000, 5 per cent on the next $100,000, 6 per cent on the next $100,000, 7 per cent on the next $100,000, 8 per cent on the next $100,000, 9 per cent on the next $100,000, 10 per cent on the next $100,000, 11 per cent on the next $100,000, 12 per cent on the next $100,000, 13 per cent on the next $100,000, 14 per cent on the next $100,000, 15 per cent on the next $100,000, 16 per cent on the next $100,000, 17 per cent on the next $100,000, 18 per cent on the next $100,000, 19 per cent on the next $100,000, 20 per cent on the next $100,000, 21 per cent on the next $100,000, 22 per cent on the next $100,000, 23 per cent on the next $100,000, 24 per cent on the next $100,000, 25 per cent on the next $100,000, 26 per cent on the next $100,000, 27 per cent on the next $100,000, 28 per cent on the next $100,000, 29 per cent on the next $100,000, 30 per cent on the next $100,000, 31 per cent on the next $100,000, 32 per cent on the next $100,000, 33 per cent on the next $100,000, 34 per cent on the next $100,000, 35 per cent on the next $100,000, 36 per cent on the next $100,000, 37 per cent on the next $100,000, 38 per cent on the next $100,000, 39 per cent on the next $100,000, 40 per cent on the next $100,000, 41 per cent on the next $100,000, 42 per cent on the next $100,000, 43 per cent on the next $100,000, 44 per cent on the next $100,000, 45 per cent on the next $100,000, 46 per cent on the next $100,000, 47 per cent on the next $100,000, 48 per cent on the next $100,000, 49 per cent on the next $100,000, 50 per cent on the next $100,000, 51 per cent on the next $100,000, 52 per cent on the next $100,000, 53 per cent on the next $100,000, 54 per cent on the next $100,000, 55 per cent on the next $100,000, 56 per cent on the next $100,000, 57 per cent on the next $100,000, 58 per cent on the next $100,000, 59 per cent on the next $100,000, 60 per cent on the next $100,000, 61 per cent on the next $100,000, 62 per cent on the next $100,000, 63 per cent on the next $100,000, 64 per cent on the next $100,000, 65 per cent on the next $100,000, 66 per cent on the next $100,000, 67 per cent on the next $100,000, 68 per cent on the next $100,000, 69 per cent on the next $100,000, 70 per cent on the next $100,000, 71 per cent on the next $100,000, 72 per cent on the next $100,000, 73 per cent on the next $100,000, 74 per cent on the next $100,000, 75 per cent on the next $100,000, 76 per cent on the next $100,000, 77 per cent on the next $100,000, 78 per cent on the next $100,000, 79 per cent on the next $100,000, 80 per cent on the next $100,000, 81 per cent on the next $100,000, 82 per cent on the next $100,000, 83 per cent on the next $100,000, 84 per cent on the next $100,000, 85 per cent on the next $100,000, 86 per cent on the next $100,000, 87 per cent on the next $100,000, 88 per cent on the next $100,000, 89 per cent on the next $100,000, 90 per cent on the next $100,000, 91 per cent on the next $100,000, 92 per cent on the next $100,000, 93 per cent on the next $100,000, 94 per cent on the next $100,000, 95 per cent on the next $100,000, 96 per cent on the next $100,000, 97 per cent on the next $100,000, 98 per cent on the next $100,000, 99 per cent on the next $100,000, 100 per cent on the next $100,000.

SUDDEN DEATH

Caused by Disease of the Kidneys

The close connection between the heart and the kidneys is well known nowadays. As soon as the kidneys are diseased, arterial tension is increased and the heart functions are attacked. When the kidneys no longer pour forth waste, uric acid collects, and the person dies and the cause is often given as heart disease, or disease of brain or lungs.

It is a good insurance against such a risk to send 10 cents for a large trial package of "Anuric"—the latest discovery of Dr. Pierce. Also send a sample of your water. This will be examined without charge by expert chemists at Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. When you suffer from backache, frequent or scanty urination, rheumatic pains here or there, or that constant tired, worn-out feeling, it's time to write Dr. Pierce, describe your symptoms and get his Wonderful how quickly Resinol stops itching. To those who have endured for years the itching torments of eczema or other such skin eruptions, the relief that the first use of Resinol ointment and Resinol soap gives is perfectly incredible. After all the suffering they went through and all the useless treatments they spent good money for, they cannot believe anything so simple, mild and inexpensive can stop the itching and burning INSTANTLY! And they find it still more wonderful that the improvement is permanent and that Resinol really drives away the eruption completely in a very short time. Perhaps there is a pleasant surprise like this in store for you. Resinol ointment and Resinol soap are sold by all druggists.—Adv.

BIG REMOVAL SALE

Wadlington & Company's Removal Sale Starts Saturday, December 4th, and CONTINUES THROUGH THE ENTIRE MONTH

THE carpenters are now busy remodeling the Graham building formerly occupied by W. T. Sledd & Co. They have agreed to have this building ready for us by Jan. 1, 1916, at which time we will move our entire stock of Dry Goods, Shoes, Millinery Goods and Ladies Ready-to-Wear Goods into the building now being remodeled.

During the short time that we have been in business in Murray we have enjoyed a fine business; for this we want to thank our many friends, and believing that if we had a better, lighter and larger house that we could do still more business. With this object in view we have decided to move our business to the Graham house, where we will have more room and better light to show our goods.

We intend to make this the most modern store in Murray and will be in better position to serve you in every way. But to move will mean lots of hard work and worry, so to rid ourselves of as much of this work as possible, we have decided to put on this Removal Sale and close out all the stock that we can during the month of December. You cannot afford to not attend this sale for we are going to make prices on our entire stock that will move it out in a hurry. And you know it is our policy to never disappoint the people, so come and meet your friends here and do your shopping where your dollar will do the greatest good.
