E. W. James and Sons Supermarket of Fulton announced this week that they would provide all of the food for a benefit picnic to be held July 15th for the Twin Cities Youth recreation program.

The benefit picnic will be held at the Fulton city park. Tickets will be $1 for adults and 50c for children, and will go on sale next week.

A spirited competition to sell tickets is expected to develop among the local boys and girls softball and baseball teams following the announcement this week that the team selling the most picnic tickets will be awarded a trip to St. Louis to see a Cardinal baseball game.

Circle the date, Thursday, July 15th, and let's go to the picnic!

High Ranking Leaders Of Industry, Fulbright Students In Latin-America Coming To Festival

The program for the Third International Banana Festival got in high gear Tuesday night with the announcement that six outstanding students from five Central American countries will spend two weeks in the twin cities this fall to participate in school programs and to enjoy all the exciting events of the week-long Banana Festival. Festival officials anticipate that, in all, about thirty students, many of them from Guayaquil, "the banana capital of the world," and Quito, in Ecuador, will be a part of the twin communities for a two-week period. Arrangements for the arrival of the students, their housing and their activities are being worked out with the State Department in Washington and school officials in the countries involved.

The students, many of them talented artists, all of them honor students, will bring gifts to the Festival from their countries to be presented to the United States government, to be accepted by an official representative of the White House to be announced later.

At the same time, Festival officials made it known that the focal point of the Festival will be an Industry Executives Luncheon to be held on Friday, October first. In discussing the plans of the luncheon with Kentucky Commerce Commissioner Katherine Peden, she said:

"Plans for inviting high ranking officers of giant industries to your Festival for a 'look-see' at the spirit of your community is the kind of program my department encourages wholeheartedly. I have found that executives who rarely leave their offices are happy to come to Kentucky when they know that they will meet local people in a relaxed and enthusiastic mood. Your Festival is an outstanding opportunity for the Department of Commerce to assist you and I shall devote every energy to helping your people with the project.

"I hope to be in Fulton soon for an over-night stay to discuss your plans with you. I feel that the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce may also want to help plan the Industry Executives Luncheon."

Miss Peden will be in Fulton on Thursday, August 5, and will be an overnight guest with friends here. Governor Edward T. Breathitt, who will conduct state government in Hickman on that day, has also been invited to be a guest in the city to work out plans for the entire Festival program.

Meanwhile, Mayors Gilbert R. Myer and Rex Ruddle informed the Festival board Tuesday night that their respective city administrations have set aside a financial appropriation to help stage the Festival.

Both mayors, enthusiastically about the Festival planning, pledged the support of their administrations to work to make this year's event a successful undertaking. Both are ex-officio members of the Banana Festival board.

In addition to the Student Visitation program, the Festival will be the scene of the first International "Banana Peel Off," a drag racing competition; the world's first "Banana Match," with 1964 PGA Golf Champ Bobby Nichols giving a golf clinic and playing 18 holes of golf with area tournament winners; a spectacular beauty revue; an arts and crafts exhibit; and, of course, the mammoth parade featuring Miss America and Latin-American beauty queens.

Plans are in the making to erect an exact replica of a banana plantation village, complete with grass roofs and banana trees.

Dr. Rafael Squiri, head of the department of cultural affairs of the Pan-American Union in Washington, is working with Mrs. Sarah Gertrude Knott, president of the National Folk Festival Association, to send a group of Latin-American artists here, with the possible return engagement of the fantastically popular marimba band.

While the plans for the program are well in the making, financing the program is the chief concern of Festival officials. Local business people will be asked to assist in this undertaking.

The board also elected Joe Sanders first vice-president and Tom Wade as second vice-president. The vacancies occurred by resignations of two board members.

Festival comments concerning the value of the Student Visitation Program planned by the Festival are contained in letters from the headmasters of the schools.

Neil A. Thomas, Director of Sociedad Escuela Jorge Washington in Cartagena, Colombia writes: "We are extremely interested in promoting closer ties between countries and individuals from different cultural backgrounds. An understanding and appreciation of culture groups is one of the basic objectives of a bi-national, bi-cultural school. We also seek to show that students of various national and cultural backgrounds can work, study and play together peacefully."

John P. Maloney, Headmaster of Escuela Americana, San Salvador, El Salvador has this to say: "I feel and so does my Board of Directors that this project of yours in working with our young people is one of the most promising approaches to building better understanding across international boundaries."

Other schools that will participate in this program are: Colegio Americano De Quito, Quito, Ecuador; The American School, Guatemala City, Guatemala; Colegio Bolivar, Cali, Colombia; Escuela Internacional Sampedrana, San Pedro Sula, Honduras.

The schools sending students are part of a foreign educational assistance program under the Fulbright-Hays Act.

Jo's Notebook

I had almost forgotten what homes' to goodness enjoyment it is to be a newspaper editor. To tell you the truth, I'd almost forgotten how frustrating typographical errors can be, too! In the Fulton News-Shopper there are a few more errors than I can tolerate, but we're due some pardon for that because this off-set business is new to us. But we're learning. The cut lines in the photo on the front page of the Shopper failed to have Lillian Cooke's last name (Cate) on the second line and though the original photo clearly showed Mrs. Betty Hastings behind Lillian the off-setters didn't do so well.

That old, sly typographical error got into the cut lines under the Fred Lancaster-Max McDade photo, too. But bear with us! We're getting the kinks out of the operation slowly. We have to apologize for these errors because the Shopper and the News are so avidly read these days (what with all those advertising messages) folks ought to know that we know better. But there's many a slip between the type-writer and the press.

Yes indeed, printer's ink is beginning to flow smoothly in my veins again. Seems like the ink coagulated sometimes around 1955 when we bought the radio station and I went out there to manage it around 1956. Trying to get that operation on a paying basis was not conducive to writing words, because mostly I was juggling figures. In 1958, just about the time we started using black ink out there instead of red, I got involved in a gubernatorial campaign, building an amphitheatre, promoting an outdoor drama and a Banana Festival, in something like that order, with a few other outside activities sandwiched in between.

Then came the big snow this past January. The weather outside was frightful, but the desire to help develop West Kentucky was burning inside me, so I ran for state representative. I can laugh about it now, but it looked like January in May when one applies the thermometer to the election returns in my race. Not a snow-storm, but not a heat wave either. If nothing else the campaign taught me I have this old resilience I used to have in the good old days. Still I'm going to have a right high-numbered birthday this month.

Life begins at forty... well maybe, fifty, well maybe... who cares? As long as there are projects to work on like the Banana Festival, manuring the lawn, taking care of zinnias and smelly dwarf marigolds, running a taxi service, playing a little of a mighty miserable game of golf, keeping interested in politics, trying to figure out if Mary Jo and R. Paul are perpetual motion, and wondering if Paul is going to put up with me until our fiftieth anniversary, my only concern is to stay on the winning side of life with a new blood transfusion of printer's ink every day.

Mayfield's Lancaster Wins Ken-Tenn Golf Tourney; To Play With Nichols

Fred Lancaster, the youthful Mayfield shotmaker who refuses to shatter under pressure, became the first sub-par champion in the history of the Ken-Tenn Invitational Golf Tournament as he rolled to an impressive six-stroke victory in Sunday's final round.

Lancaster's win made him eligible to become a golfing partner of 1964 PGA Champ Bobby Nichols, when the famed golfer appears here on September 29 in the World's First Banana Match to be staged as a prelude to the Third Annual International Banana Festival. Fulton County Club President Max McDade issued the invitation to Lancaster. Invitations will be extended to other area tournament winners.

Lancaster, who got the jump on the record books when he carved out a two-under-par 70 on Saturday, held his own for most of Sunday's 18 holes and finally sat down with a one-over 73 to make his overall 143 the best in five years of the meet.

The Mayfieldian wasn't given a serious challenge. His closest rival was fellow townsman Jim (Cueball) Pryor who closed out at 149.

Pryor entered Sunday's final round as the only possible threat to the younger Lancaster. The burly linksman, long a dominant figure on the area scene, matched par through the first 18 holes of the meet.

Bobby Hancock Brings Honors To Fulton High And To Himself

Robert Joseph (Bobby) Hancock has been placed on the current Dean's List of Vanderbilt University and, in the process, brought forth some fine compliments for his alma mater. Hancock is a graduate of Fulton High School with the class of 1961. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hancock.

Here is what Vanderbilt University said about the Fulton High School graduate and of Fulton High School:

"Mr. J. M. Martin, Principal Fulton High School Fulton, Kentucky

Dear Sir:

I am very happy to send you a copy of our current Dean's List, particularly since one of your students appears thereon. We con-

Well Deserved Promotion Goes To W. R. Butt

A well-deserved promotion has come to Walter Butt, Jr., a native of Fulton and well known and popular here.

Butt was recently elected president of the Courier-Journal Lithographing Company at Louisville. He succeeds Robert G. Griffin, who was named chairman of the board and chief executive officer.

The company reported record sales for its year ended April 30 of $4.4 million, or $500,000 more than the previous year.

first flight winner after beating Tim Taylor of Brownsville, Tenn., in a playoff. Both golfers finished the 36-hole play with 156.

Richard Maddox of Mayfield won second flight honors with 166, a shot better than runner-up Milton Combs.

Third flight laurels went to Hebride Hunt of Fulton with a 27-hole total of 129. He was three shots better than Dave Homra, also of Fulton.

Butch Cashion of Jackson, Tenn., placed third, one stroke behind Pryor, and Jasper Vowell of Fulton and Jeff Wolfe and Scott Nell Jr., of Mayfield deadlocked at 151 for fourth.

Fred Pitts of Jackson knotted with local pro Max McDade for the No. 7 position, a shot ahead of Lynn Newton of Fulton and Don Morris of Henderson, Tenn.

It was Lancaster's second major tournament victory. He captured the Rolling Hills Invitational last year in Paducah in a sudden-death playoff with Pryor.

The new champion matched par on the first nine-hole round Sunday and backed it up with a one-over 37 on the final round. He beat Pryor each time. Pryor could do no better than 39 for the first nine and closed out with 38 for his five-over 149 score.

Distinguished Professor Comes Here; Dr. Scherago Lauds UK, Dr. Oswald

Fulton's Rotary Club had the rare privilege last week to have as its guest speaker, Dr. Morris Scherago, one of America's most distinguished authorities in the field of micro-biology. A professor at the University of Kentucky since 1919, Dr. Scherago is head of UK's Department of Micro-Biology.

Coming to Fulton at the special invitation of Dr. Ward Bushart, a UK trustee, Dr. Scherago spoke to the Rotarians at their weekly luncheon on the broad new programs being initiated, the challenges faced, and the plans for expansion for the University for its "second hundred years."

A graduate of Cornell University, Dr. Scherago speaks enthusiastically of the progress made by the University and the hopes and plans it has for the future. High in his praise of Dr. John Oswald, UK's eminent president, Dr. Scherago expressed his own confidence, and the confidence of all Kentuckians that Dr. Oswald's philosophy that "the education of yesterday will not suffice for the problems of today and tomorrow," is the major concern of the University of Kentucky.

Dr. Scherago said that "larger and larger enrollments are going to complicate the already pressing problems of class-room space, housing and parking. And these day to day difficulties may have their effect on the academic life of the universities of the future."

The speaker echoed Dr. Oswald's view that the "challenge" that the University of Kentucky must face is the transition for an institution that is regional in nature to one that is national in scope.

"The rotation of department heads gives the student the full benefit of the strength, quality and vigor of the complete academic program," Dr. Scherago said in an interview following his talk. "The type of contribution which the University makes to the broad needs of the state and nation reflects the kind of faculty which he possesses. Only when the development of a superior faculty is emphasized through vigorous policies of recruitment and retention, can the University hope for high achievements in the decade ahead," he added.

Named the Distinguished Professor of the Year in 1951, Dr. Scherago also received the alumni research award in 1959. Speaking of UK's Centennial celebration this year he said: "Outstanding scholars from throughout the United States and around the world will be among the participants in the University's six major Centennial

There's Nothing Like Fields Day For Having A Real Field Day

by Ruth Fields Lewis

The second annual reunion of the Fields family was held at the Derby Restaurant Saturday, June 26, with 84 in attendance, representing eleven states, Mississippi, Virginia, North Carolina, Florida, Colorado, California, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Missouri, Tennessee and Kentucky. Mr. and Mrs. Norman Terry and Mr. and Mrs. Hunter Whitesell were hosts and chairmen of the occasion.

A beautiful buffet lunch was served at noon, including country ham, barbecue and fried chicken, which were furnished by the hosts. The invocation was given by Charles Reams. A short business session followed the lunch, presided over by the co-chairmen, at which time Roy Pickering was named chairman of the 1966 reunion, with Mrs. Joe M. Reed and Mrs. J. O. Lewis as other members of the committee. The date was set for the last Saturday in June of each year.

The site of the meeting place was significant, for it was on this land that Nelson Fields and family lived, purchased in 1828 from the Commonwealth of Kentucky for 50 cents an acre. The home site was situated north of where the restaurant stands. A large pond, which witnessed many baptisms, was in the vicinity of the now Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company. On a nearby knoll was the family burying plot. There are no visible signs now of pond or cemetery. This land was later bought by the late W. W. Meadows, Nelson Fields and his wife, Mary Rankin, and many of their family are probably buried there.

There were two lanes through this property connecting the State Line and Middle road; one, a very narrow lane on the eastern boundary of the A. P. Fields property (now the Westpheling's), and the other was approximately where the Stephen Beale Drive is today.

The Fields and Whitesell families were connected by intermarriage. Ambrose Peter Fields, the eldest son of Nelson Fields, first married Lavina Whitesell, and after her death, Catherine Whitesell. His sister, Sarah Catherine Fields, married Peter Whitesell, Jr. They were brothers and sisters of Jesse Whitesell, who lived about a half mile due west of the Fields on adjoining farms. The Whitesells were among the children of Peter Whitesell and Elizabeth, his wife, who settled in Weakley County near the old town of Jacksonville. Of German parentage, Peter Whitesell (Weitzel) was born in 1791, the son of John Ludwig and Maria Weitzel, emigrating to Lincoln County, Tennessee, before coming to Weakley County. Hunter Whitesell, a grandson of Jesse Whitesell, and his wife, Elizabeth Wright, live at the old homestead, the only landmark of the two families left.

For the most part, the families represented at the reunion were descendants of Nelson Fields and

Charges Of "Pay-Off" By Political Hypocrites Irks Thousands Who Laud Combs Administration

The "pay-off" charge made by an indicted Nashville tax chiseler against the good record and reputation of the State Administration of former Governor Bert T. Combs impresses us with the fact that there is something ominously curious about people and politics. Be there a voter, with soul so dead, who never to himself has said: "This candidate is for me... this candidate, if elected, can help me, can help me, can help me."

There are various and sundry ways how this self-interest can be consumed in any given campaign, yet all with the same goal... personal and private interest. The interest may be good government, or opposition to a candidate and his platform... but anyway you look at it, every vote is the individual expression of the person casting the ballot. That's the way it should be... that's the way we wish it could be always.

Various groups of mutual interest join together, for many reasons, and show a lot of strength for favors or legislation needed. Since all the members of a particular group needing favors and/or legislation cannot attend the legislative sessions, they take the sensible approach and form what is known as a "lobby," which the dictionary defines as "persons, collectively, who frequent the lobbies of the legislative house to transact business with legislators, especially in the effort to influence proceedings by personal agency."

It should come as a surprise to no one that, with all levels of state and national government becoming so complex and so fraught with laws and restrictions, all kinds of extremely nice people have representatives, or lobbyists, in attendance at legislative conclaves in every state in the union and in Washington.

The butcher, the baker, the candlestick-maker has somebody around the legislative halls looking after his interests.

Doctors, lawyers, teachers, preachers, beauty operators, pensioners, waitresses, cafe-owners, pipe-fitters, and laborers have people delving into every phase of proceedings that might affect them individually, for better or for worse.

Trucking, railroading, contracting, retailing, wholesaling, farming, manufacturing interests all have "legislative representatives," or "lobbyists" influencing legislation that would tend to benefit their particular industries.

It would be the ultimate in stupidity for Mr. Average Voter to pretend to be ignorant of the fact that the election of a candidate who can help him can be greatly enhanced by giving some financial assistance to the candidate's campaign. With the high cost of the communications media (television, radio, newspaper, billboards, etc.) personal financing of even the lowliest type of campaign is becoming almost impossible, perhaps except to the independently wealthy. That's why so many millionaires (Kennedy, Rockefeller, Symington, Harriman, Roosevelt) are in the campaign area these days.

Republicans accept campaign contributions. Democrats accept campaign contributions. Magistrates accept campaign contributions, so do lieutenant-governors, governors, senators and presidents. It's the pattern of American politics and, until something better comes along, we think it's going to continue that way.

A lot of nice people make a lot of nice contributions to a lot of nice candidates; there's nothing wrong with the custom unless the intent of the donor is wrong and when that happens the donor with malice aforethought calls it a "pay-off."

It is not likely that E. H. "Eph" Hoover, a Nashville trucker, in trouble with the federal government for chiseling on his income taxes, would consider financial assistance to a candidate's campaign as a "simple contribution." Apparently accustomed to many shady, under-the-table, disreputable deals in his private business transactions, Hoover is certainly not the kind of a man who could be concerned either with the harm his allegations could bring to the good reputation of former Governor Bert T. Combs or to the reputation of distinguished Frankfort attorney, Louis Cox.

Lying is a by-product of chiseling and, from newspaper accounts, it appears that Hoover is a past master of both arts. We share the view of some high-ranking members of the trucking industry in resenting the sordid connotation of "pay-off" in making a contribution to a candidate's campaign, for obviously there have been some several contributions made in the past and will be made in the future.

We are lucky that there are not too many nefarious creatures like the Eph Hoovers stalking the hallways of our legislative sessions, for if there were, we would have a justifiable right to lose faith in the whole process of law-making and law-makers.

The increase in truck load limits, recommended by the United States Department of Commerce to bring Kentucky's truck laws in conformity with other truck laws in the Nation, was certainly in keeping with the many other bold new programs in mental health, education, tourist promotion, roads, and industry put into motion during the Combs Administration.

Any politician, be he dissident Democrat or pious Republican, would be a consummate hypocrite to pretend that many interested groups did not make contributions to particular candidates to bring about these good and progressive steps.

And yet there comes along a chiseling, unsavory character like Eph Hoover, aided and abetted by devious, insidious political cohorts who cries "pay-off" when the noose tightens around his thwarted, low-level high jinks.

From his record it appears that Eph Hoover has "bought off" many men in his life-time, but there are thousands upon thousands of grateful Kentuckians who will stake their lives on the fact that Bert T. Combs is not one of them. Moreover, the record will prove that Combs had no part in the Hoover, or any other alleged "pay-off."

Only the good Lord can keep the alleged Hoover incident from becoming a campaign issue in 1967. Whether it's Bert Combs, Henry Ward, or anybody else the Breathitt administration chooses to support for governor in 1967, the opposition faction will hurl "pay-off" charges to the Breathitt-supported candidate.

And shouldn't that be a right interesting event to anticipate?

"Drive carefully! Come home safe!"

LET'S LOOK IT OVER

By Gov. Edward T. Breathitt

Frankfort—

If you need one, and can't get one, build it yourself—I mean an industry to pump new life into the economy of the city, county or area of Kentucky in which you live.

That is what a group of public-spirited business and community leaders are attempting to do in the Johnson County area with a corporation they have formed to develop a timber industry that will utilize the state's abundant forest resources.

The corporation is Kenwood Products, Inc., Paintsville, Ky. Its organizers refer to it as a $5-million venture. Its objective, they say, is to improve the economic health of Eastern Kentucky and to provide more job opportunities for those in need.

Kenwood had its beginning in the Kentucky Forestry and Timber Industry Task Force established in 1961 during the administration of former Governor Bert T. Combs, to devise a forestry and timber industry program which could be put into effect immediately.

For various reasons the program was not put into effect immediately, but now, four years later, a project that had its inception in the analysis made by the task force has been re-activated by the desire of a group of Kentuckians to help themselves and their communities.

Activities of the new corporation which seemingly sets an example for other economically hard-pressed communities, will range over a 32-county area in Eastern Kentucky.

The plan of operation extends from the ownership and control of a minimum of 26,000 acres of forest land, through the processing of carefully selected products, to the operation of a complete sales organization.

Included in the venture would be several independently-owned wood processing plants, identified as "satellite" operations, which would manufacture specialty furniture, upholstered chair frames, pallets, mulch and other products.

Kenwood's prospectus says the complex will provide employment for 400 persons at all levels. It estimates that the number of jobs indirectly created in servicing the needs of the complex will call for 160 to 180 men.

Kenwood, which is headed by George E. Branham, Paintsville business man, has already received its charter and raised some $100,000 to finance organization. An experienced general manager was hired—Robert H. Sloat who had spent the last several years as an industrial engineer with the Boeing Company in California.

Part of the capital for the Kenwood operation is due to come from the sale of $1,750,000 worth of stock at $2.50 a share. The rest, according to plan, will come from borrowings from conventional sources. I understand stock sales presently are restricted to Kentucky residents.

With construction scheduled to start the first week in August, Kenwood will build its plant in three phases on a 190-acre industrial site near Paintsville.

First phase will consist of administration building, roadways, a water system, and the log collection yard. Phase two will include the sawmill, dry kilns and the woodworking areas. Each of these phases will take four months to complete. Phase three, a particle-board plant, will take eight months more. Production is scheduled to start eight months after breaking ground for phase one.

Mr. Sloat says that Kenwood will be a first for Kentucky in that never before have all phases of the lumber industry been brought together on one plant site.

It's my belief that Kenwood may not only provide a pattern for profitable utilization of the state's hardwood resources, but also may show the way for development of other build-your-own industries in other parts of the state bypassed by outside interests.

Tid-Bits

of Kentucky Folklore

"THERE ARE TWO OF US"

Several years ago a man whose actual name was William Shakespeare was interviewed by some radio announcer. Probably coached a bit before the program began, Mr. Shakespeare said in answer to the announcer's question as to his relationship with the "other one": "Was there another one?" In this field of chronicling folkways there is and has long been another one, one far better known than this one, if by "this one" you mean me. The "other one" is Professor John W. Allen, emeritus professor of Southern Illinois University, at Carbondale, a veritable encyclopedia of local history and folklore and humor of southern Illinois, "Egypt," if you like that term better for the name of the area.

By a strange coincidence, he was born on October 14, just exactly one year before I appeared, some eighty miles to the south of his southern Illinois home. His career has been varied and fascinating, from a one-roomed school as his first alma mater, then as a teacher of a similar school, as a principal of a two-room school, as a principal of a larger school, as a city superintendent, as a Marine who got a close-up view of World War I notables, as a scholar in history, as a leader in just about every type of scholarly and patriotic organization in his native state, and as a tireless writer of articles for newspapers, articles that show the folkish backgrounds of that whole interesting area of southern Illinois that has been home to him, no matter where he roamed.

In the winter of 1964-65 a friend of mine who knows Professor Allen sent me his book LEGENDS AND LORE OF SOUTHERN ILLINOIS, a publication of the Area Services Division of Southern Illinois University. More than any other regional book that I have read in my years-long interest in folklore this one records folkways that are almost identical with those of my own Fidelity. I am personally acquainted with Professor Allen, and we have exchanged comments on our various passing institutions.

The largest single section of the good-sized volume deals with folklore. Just about every type of superstition that we knew in western Kentucky was just as vigorous not too far away to the north of us, for similar people had settled both places. The customs that were once almost universal have declined, at Carbondale and at Fidelity, and only someone with a liking for this type of research seems to be trying to put down on paper some of the ways we used to have before all traces are gone. Professor Allen's remedies are so much like mine at Fidelity and at Mammoth Cave that I believe we could exchange our bottles and dried roots and leaves and kyrups and cordials and never miss a dose.

As in nearly all areas, there have occurred many changes in farming, in business, in daily living. His area once was a great cotton-raising section, especially in the years when cotton was tied up in the Civil War further down south. And tobacco was once a big crop in Egypt, too. Both of these crops have now run their course, so far as the present is concerned. Scattered all over the area are remains of once-prosperous businesses that remind me of Marse Peter's tobacco factory, away out in the country from where the railroad later came. And prominent businesses along the rivers are often now only nostalgic memories.

In some of our Kentucky counties that face Egypt across the Ohio River there are very similar reminders of former grandeur, now growing over with vegetation or bypassed by more modern roads than were the muddy-dusty trails that once connected thriving villages or boat-landings or small factories with the rest of the world.

Through the whole book there runs a thread of understanding of folk psychology. The author never looks down his nose at any custom that had a respectable following; people may have had different enthusiasms in other times, but they were remarkably like us, their descendants.

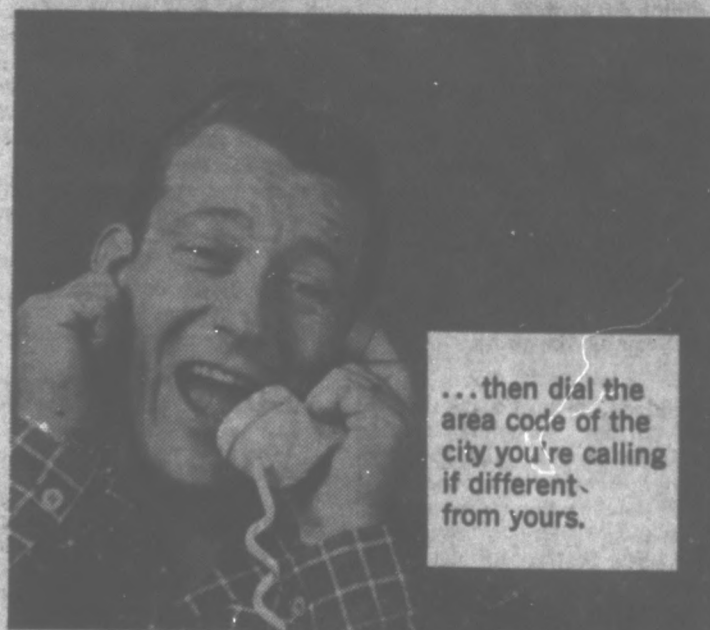

And there is no effort to glorify the Good Old Days merely because they are gone or to belittle them because automobiles and airplanes have taken the places of oxcarts and wagons and fashionable surreys.

Fulton, Kentucky.

Dear Mrs. Westpheling:

I have just read The Fulton News and I want to commend and praise you for writing such a fine tribute to Smith Atkins who richly deserved it. In all I lived about nine years in Fulton and you have written many fine things about men and women who have passed on whom I have known so well and many were good friends of mine and I have cut out these writings of yours and put them in my "scrap book" and now and then I re-read them as I am a bit sentimental and I do think that folks who do so much for their community and their fellow-men are entitled to those things and their friends and families and succeeding generations will appreciate what was said by the Editor of the Home town Paper.

Smith was my good friend and we would exchange our Bank statements from time to time and add a few words and would see him now and then and also at the Bankers Conventions. I have told many people about him and how much energy he possessed and always anxious to be doing something. He was very much a success.

You wrote a fine article about Bob White whom I admired a great deal and of course I saved it. I addressed an envelope to his wife but failed to write her and got to thinking that perhaps she had forgotten me. Both of these men were self-made men and deserved the good things you said about them.

With all good wishes, I am,

Sincerely,
Glenn Lane

Miss Turner, Mr. Pruett Pledge Vows In Lovely Church Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Betty Joyce Turner and Tommy Pruett was solemnized in the First Methodist Church in Fulton on Saturday evening, June 19, with Rev. W. T. Barnes, pastor of the church, performing the double ring ceremony.

Miss Turner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Turner of Fulton and Mr. Pruett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Pruett of South Fulton.

The altar was decorated with arrangements of white gladioli and mums. Gleaming white tapers in branched candelabra starred the woodwardia and smilax that banked the background. The pews were marked with white satin bows.

Preceding the ceremony a program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Jane Edwards and vocal numbers by Miss Treva Lou Hedge and Mrs. Nelson Tripp.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a formal bridal gown of white organza, with fitted bodice, which featured a scoop neckline sculptured in Chantilly lace embroidered motifs, tiny buttons to below the waistline in the back, and long tapered sleeves. The voluminous skirt flowed gracefully into a chapel length train, interspersed with Chantilly lace motifs. Her veil of silk illusion was shoulder length and was attached to a crown fashioned of seed pearls and sequins, and she carried a bouquet of cymbidium orchids with sprays of green velvet ivy.

Miss Judy Clayton served as maid of honor and Misses Laura Lee Pierce and Mae Mann as bridesmaids. All wore identical street-length dresses of pink brocade taffeta with matching pill boxes, to which were attached circular nose veils. They carried cascade bouquets of white carnations with the leaves outlined with seed pearls.

Ed Pruett served his brother as best man. Ushers were Kenneth Turner, Jr., brother of the bride and Tommy Kimbro.

Serving at the reception, which followed the ceremony, were Mrs. Leon Fields, Mrs. Guy Fry, Mrs. Mike Williams, Mrs. Johnny Green and Miss Jane Edwards. Mrs. Kenneth Turner, Jr., was in charge of the guest register.

After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Pruett left for a wedding trip to Cumberland Falls. On their return, they will make their home in Fulton. The groom is employed at Siegel Company in South Fulton and the bride is a student at Anderson's Beauty School in Union City.

Charges Of "Pay-Off" By Political Hypocrites Irks Thousands Who Laud Combs Administration

The "pay-off" charge made by an indicted Nashville tax chiseler against the good record and reputation of the State Administration of former Governor Bert T. Combs impresses us with the fact that there is something ominously curious about people and politics. Be there a voter, with soul so dead, who never to himself has said: "This candidate is for me... this candidate, if elected, can help me, can help me, can help me."

There are various and sundry ways how this self-interest can be consumed in any given campaign, yet all with the same goal... personal and private interest. The interest may be good government, or opposition to a candidate and his platform... but anyway you look at it, every vote is the individual expression of the person casting the ballot. That's the way it should be... that's the way we wish it could be always.

Various groups of mutual interest join together, for many reasons, and show a lot of strength for favors or legislation needed. Since all the members of a particular group needing favors and/or legislation cannot attend the legislative sessions, they take the sensible approach and form what is known as a "lobby," which the dictionary defines as "persons, collectively, who frequent the lobbies of the legislative house to transact business with legislators, especially in the effort to influence proceedings by personal agency."

It should come as a surprise to no one that, with all levels of state and national government becoming so complex and so fraught with laws and restrictions, all kinds of extremely nice people have representatives, or lobbyists, in attendance at legislative conclaves in every state in the union and in Washington.

The butcher, the baker, the candlestick-maker has somebody around the legislative halls looking after his interests.

Doctors, lawyers, teachers, preachers, beauty operators, pensioners, waitresses, cafe-owners, pipe-fitters, and laborers have people delving into every phase of proceedings that might affect them individually, for better or for worse.

Trucking, railroading, contracting, retailing, wholesaling, farming, manufacturing interests all have "legislative representatives," or "lobbyists" influencing legislation that would tend to benefit their particular industries.

It would be the ultimate in stupidity for Mr. Average Voter to pretend to be ignorant of the fact that the election of a candidate who can help him can be greatly enhanced by giving some financial assistance to the candidate's campaign. With the high cost of the communications media (television, radio, newspaper, billboards, etc.) personal financing of even the lowliest type of campaign is becoming almost impossible, perhaps except to the independently wealthy. That's why so many millionaires (Kennedy, Rockefeller, Symington, Harriman, Roosevelt) are in the campaign area these days.

Republicans accept campaign contributions. Democrats accept campaign contributions. Magistrates accept campaign contributions, so do lieutenant-governors, governors, senators and presidents. It's the pattern of American politics and, until something better comes along, we think it's going to continue that way.

A lot of nice people make a lot of nice contributions to a lot of nice candidates; there's nothing wrong with the custom unless the intent of the donor is wrong and when that happens the donor with malice aforethought calls it a "pay-off."

It is not likely that E. H. "Eph" Hoover, a Nashville trucker, in trouble with the federal government for chiseling on his income taxes, would consider financial assistance to a candidate's campaign as a "simple contribution." Apparently accustomed to many shady, under-the-table, disreputable deals in his private business transactions, Hoover is certainly not the kind of a man who could be concerned either with the harm his allegations could bring to the good reputation of former Governor Bert T. Combs or to the reputation of distinguished Frankfort attorney, Louis Cox.

Lying is a by-product of chiseling and, from newspaper accounts, it appears that Hoover is a past master of both arts. We share the view of some high-ranking members of the trucking industry in resenting the sordid connotation of "pay-off" in making a contribution to a candidate's campaign, for obviously there have been some several contributions made in the past and will be made in the future.

We are lucky that there are not too many nefarious creatures like the Eph Hoovers stalking the hallways of our legislative sessions, for if there were, we would have a justifiable right to lose faith in the whole process of law-making and law-makers.

The increase in truck load limits, recommended by the United States Department of Commerce to bring Kentucky's truck laws in conformity with other truck laws in the Nation, was certainly in keeping with the many other bold new programs in mental health, education, tourist promotion, roads, and industry put into motion during the Combs Administration.

Any politician, be he dissident Democrat or pious Republican, would be a consummate hypocrite to pretend that many interested groups did not make contributions to particular candidates to bring about these good and progressive steps.

And yet there comes along a chiseling, unsavory character like Eph Hoover, aided and abetted by devious, insidious political cohorts who cries "pay-off" when the noose tightens around his thwarted, low-level high jinks.

From his record it appears that Eph Hoover has "bought off" many men in his life-time, but there are thousands upon thousands of grateful Kentuckians who will stake their lives on the fact that Bert T. Combs is not one of them. Moreover, the record will prove that Combs had no part in the Hoover, or any other alleged "pay-off."

Only the good Lord can keep the alleged Hoover incident from becoming a campaign issue in 1967. Whether it's Bert Combs, Henry Ward, or anybody else the Breathitt administration chooses to support for governor in 1967, the opposition faction will hurl "pay-off" charges to the Breathitt-supported candidate.

And shouldn't that be a right interesting event to anticipate?

"Drive carefully! Come home safe!"

Governor's Coordinating Committee for Traffic Safety

LET'S LOOK IT OVER

By Gov. Edward T. Breathitt

Frankfort—

If you need one, and can't get one, build it yourself—I mean an industry to pump new life into the economy of the city, county or area of Kentucky in which you live.

That is what a group of public-spirited business and community leaders are attempting to do in the Johnson County area with a corporation they have formed to develop a timber industry that will utilize the state's abundant forest resources.

The corporation is Kenwood Products, Inc., Paintsville, Ky. Its organizers refer to it as a $6 million venture. Its objective, they say, is to improve the economic health of Eastern Kentucky and to provide more job opportunities for those in need.

Kenwood had its beginning in the Kentucky Forestry and Timber Industry Task Force established in 1961 during the administration of former Governor Bert T. Combs, to devise a forestry and timber industry program which could be put into effect immediately.

For various reasons the program was not put into effect immediately, but now, four years later, a project that had its inception in the analysis made by the task force has been re-activated by the desire of a group of Kentuckians to help themselves and their communities.

Activities of the new corporation which seemingly sets an example for other economically hard-pressed communities, will range over a 32-county area in Eastern Kentucky.

The plan of operation extends from the ownership and control of a minimum of 26,000 acres of forest land, through the processing of carefully selected products, to the operation of a complete sales organization.

Included in the venture would be several independently-owned wood processing plants, identified as "satellite" operations, which would manufacture specialty furniture, upholstered chair frames, pallets, mulch and other products.

Kenwood's prospectus says the complex will provide employment for 400 persons at all levels. It estimates that the number of jobs indirectly created in servicing the needs of the complex will call for 160 to 180 men.

Kenwood, which is headed by George E. Branham, Paintsville business man, has already received its charter and raised some $100,000 to finance organization. An experienced general manager was hired—Robert H. Sloat who had spent the last several years as an industrial engineer with the Boeing Company in California.

Part of the capital for the Kenwood operation is due to come from the sale of $1,750,000 worth of stock at $2.50 a share. The rest, according to plan, will come from borrowings from conventional sources. I understand stock sales presently are restricted to Kentucky residents.

With construction scheduled to start the first week in August, Kenwood will build its plant in three phases on a 190-acre industrial site near Paintsville.

First phase will consist of administration building, roadways, a water system, and the log collection yard. Phase two will include the sawmill, dry kilns and the woodworking areas. Each of these phases will take four months to complete. Phase three, a particle-board plant, will take eight months more. Production is scheduled to start eight months after breaking ground for phase one.

Mr. Sloat says that Kenwood will be a first for Kentucky in that never before have all phases of the lumber industry been brought together on one plant site.

It's my belief that Kenwood may not only provide a pattern for profitable utilization of the state's hardwood resources, but also may show the way for development of other build-your-own industries in other parts of the state bypassed by outside interests.

Tid-Bits

of Kentucky Folklore

"THERE ARE TWO OF US"

Several years ago a man whose actual name was William Shakespeare was interviewed by some radio announcer. Probably coached a bit before the program began, Mr. Shakespeare said in answer to the announcer's question as to his relationship with the "other one": "Was there another one?" In this field of chronicling folkways there is and has long been another one, one far better known than this one, if by "this one" you mean me. The "other one" is Professor John W. Allen, emeritus professor of Southern Illinois University, at Carbondale, a veritable encyclopedia of local history and folklore and humor of southern Illinois, "Egypt," if you like that term better for the name of the area.

By a strange coincidence, he was born on October 14, just exactly one year before I appeared, some eighty miles to the south of his southern Illinois home. His career has been varied and fascinating, from a one-roomed school as his first alma mater, then as a teacher of a similar school, as a principal of a two-room school, as a principal of a larger school, as a city superintendent, as a Marine who got a close-up view of World War I notables, as a scholar in history, as a leader in just about every type of scholarly and patriotic organization in his native state, and as a tireless writer of articles for newspapers, articles that show the folkish backgrounds of that whole interesting area of southern Illinois that has been home to him, no matter where he roamed.

In the winter of 1964-65 a friend of mine who knows Professor Allen sent me his book LEGENDS AND LORE OF SOUTHERN ILLINOIS, a publication of the Area Services Division of Southern Illinois University. More than any other regional book that I have read in my years-long interest in folklore this one records folkways that are almost identical with those of my own Fidelity. I am personally acquainted with Professor Allen, and we have exchanged comments on our various passing institutions.

The largest single section of the good-sized volume deals with folklore. Just about every type of superstition that we knew in western Kentucky was just as vigorous not too far away to the north of us, for similar people had settled both places. The customs that were once almost universal have declined, at Carbondale and at Fidelity, and only someone with a liking for this type of research seems to be trying to put down on paper some of the ways we used to have before all tracks are gone. Professor Allen's remedies are so much like mine at Fidelity and at Mammoth Cave that I believe we could exchange our bottles and dried roots and leaves and syrups and cordials and never miss a dose.

As in nearly all areas, there have occurred many changes in farming, in business, in daily living. His area once was a great cotton-raising section, especially in the years when cotton was tied up in the Civil War further down south. And tobacco was once a big crop in Egypt, too. Both of these crops have now run their course, so far as the present is concerned. Scattered all over the area are remains of once-prosperous businesses that remind me of Marse Peter's tobacco factory, away out in the country from where the railroad later came. And prominent businesses along the rivers are often now only nostalgic memories.

In some of our Kentucky counties that face Egypt across the Ohio River there are very similar reminders of former grandeur, now growing over with vegetation or bypassed by more modern roads than were the muddy-dusty trails that once connected thriving villages or boat-landings or small factories with the rest of the world.

Through the whole book there runs a thread of understanding of folk psychology. The author never looks down his nose at any custom that had a respectable following; people may have had different enthusiasms in other times, but they were remarkably like us, their descendants.

And there is no effort to glorify the Good Old Days merely because they are gone or to belittle them because automobiles and airplanes have taken the places of oxcarts and wagons and fashionable sur-reys.

Letters To Editor

Mrs. Paul Westpheling,
Fulton, Kentucky.

Dear Mrs. Westpheling:

I have just read The Fulton News and I want to commend and praise you for writing such a fine tribute to Smith Atkins who richly deserved it. In all I lived about nine years in Fulton and you have written many fine things about men and women who have passed on whom I have known so well and many were good friends of mine and I have cut out these writings of yours and put them in my "scrap book" and now and then I re-read them as I am a bit sentimental and I do think that folks who do so much for their community and their fellow-men are entitled to those things and their friends and families and succeeding generations will appreciate what was said by the Editor of the Home town Paper.

Smith was my good friend and we would exchange our Bank statements from time to time and add a few words and would see him now and then and also at the Bankers Conventions. I have told many people about him and how much energy he possessed and always anxious to be doing something. He was very much a success.

You wrote a fine article about Bob White whom I admired a great deal and of course I saved it. I addressed an envelope to his wife but failed to write her and got to thinking that perhaps she had forgotten me. Both of these men were self-made men and deserved the good things you said about them.

With all good wishes, I am,
Sincerely,
Glenn Lane

Miss Turner, Mr. Pruett Pledge Vows In Lovely Church Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Betty Joyce Turner and Tommy Pruett was solemnized in the First Methodist Church in Fulton on Saturday evening, June 19, with Rev. W. T. Barnes, pastor of the church, performing the double ring ceremony.

Miss Turner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Turner of Fulton and Mr. Pruett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Pruett of South Fulton.

The altar was decorated with arrangements of white gladioli and mums. Gleaming white tapers in branched candelabra starred the woodwardia and smilax that banked the background. The pews were marked with white satin bows.

Preceding the ceremony a program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Jane Edwards and vocal numbers by Miss Treva Lou Hedge and Mrs. Nelson Tripp.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a formal bridal gown of white organza, with fitted bodice which featured a scoop neckline sculptured in Chantilly lace embroidered motifs, tiny buttons to below the waistline in the back, and long tapered sleeves. The voluminous skirt flowed gracefully into a chapel length train, interspersed with Chantilly lace motifs. Her veil of silk illusion was shoulder length and was attached to a crown fashioned of seed pearls and sequins, and she carried a bouquet of cymbidium orchids with sprays of green velvet ivy.

Miss Judy Clayton served as maid of honor and Misses Laura Lee Pierce and Mae Mann as bridesmaids. All wore identical street-length dresses of pink brocade taffeta with matching pill boxes, to which were attached circular nose veils. They carried cascade bouquets of white carnations with the leaves outlined with seed pearls.

Ed Pruett served his brother as best man. Ushers were Kenneth Turner, Jr., brother of the bride and Tommy Kimbro.

Serving at the reception, which followed the ceremony, were Mrs. Leon Fields, Mrs. Guy Fry, Mrs. Mike Williams, Mrs. Johnny Green and Miss Jane Edwards. Mrs. Kenneth Turner, Jr., was in charge of the guest register.

After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Pruett left for a wedding trip to Cumberland Falls. On their return, they will make their home in Fulton. The groom is employed at Siegel Company in South Fulton and the bride is a student at Anderson's Beauty School in Union City.

DUKEDOM NEWS

By Mrs. Hillman Westbrook

Here's a repeat announcement of the revival at Pleasant View Baptist Church, to begin Sunday, July 4. Rev. Bill Delaney, of Martin, will be the visiting preacher, assisting the pastor, Rev. Bobby Pruitt. Services are each night at 7:45, through the following Sunday and probably through Wednesday. The church extends a cordial invitation to all to attend.

On last Sunday afternoon members of Pleasant View, Dukedom Methodist, Knob Creek Church of Christ and Good Springs met in Welch school building for a service. Rev. Bobby Pruitt conducted a very worth-while meeting. This is an interdenominational effort to strengthen Christian witness in our community. Plans were made to continue this and on next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 Bro. Gene Watson, of Lynn Grove, will be the leader, with the service being sponsored by Knob Creek. The public is invited to attend.

A Guide For Summer Yard Keeping

Hot or cold, wet or dry, the best flower gardeners I know are like a postman; they make the "rounds" every day, deliver whatever care plants may need, and collect available flowers for fresh arrangements in the house or give to friends.

There is no need to let roses go dormant in July and August. Keep plants mulched and watered. Feed plants every 4 to 6 weeks with a cupful of complete fertilizer. Remove seed hips. Also remove and destroy diseased leaves. Spray or dust plants thoroughly every seven to ten days with a fungicide-insecticide mixture to control black spot, mildew, insects, and spider mites. Crepe myrtle blossoms make beautiful bouquets in the home. In fact, cutting off flower heads will make plants put out more new shoots for more blooms before frost. Also fertilize plants again now with a cupful of super phosphate or 0-14-14 for each two feet of plant height. If plants were not fertilized in spring, and they are making poor growth, use a fertilizer with some nitrogen such as 4-12-12. Give buried shrubs, such as holly, nandinas, and pyracanthas a similar feeding if they are heavily loaded and lower leaves are beginning to lose dark green color. If crepe myrtle leaves begin to curl with powdery mildew, spray or dust plants every 7 to 10 days with karathane, acti-dione or sulphur. Do not use sulphur when temperature is likely to go above 90 degrees during the day. Powdery mildew on zinnia, verbena, phlox, lilac, dahlia, rose or other plants can be controlled with materials suggested for crepe myrtles.

Insects and diseases on roses, azaleas and other shrubs and flowers can be kept in check by spraying or dusting with one of several dual purpose mixtures on the market. They usually have one or more fungicides for diseases like black spot and mildew and two or more insecticides such as lindane, DDT for control of most insects and spider mites.

Other pests to watch for this month include bag worms on narrow leaf evergreens, lace bugs on azaleas, camellias and pyracanthas cause leaves to look frosty; spider mites on narrow leaf evergreens, azaleas, hollies, boxwoods, and marigolds cause pale yellow leaves; white flies cause sooty mold on gardenias, azaleas, camellias, and crepe myrtles; thrips cause deformed flower buds on many plants and watch for chinch bugs on lawns especially St. Augustine grass.

July and August plantings may be made of such flowers as marigolds, zinnias, nasturtiums, asters, candy tuft, cosmos and annual phlox. Dig, divide, and reset crowded iris and spring flowering bulbs such as daffodils, jonquils, hyacinths and tulips as soon as tops die down. This usually needs doing every 3 or 4 years.

DID YOU KNOW?

Lack of moisture is sometimes the reason for the poor condition of shade trees during the summer months. But an equally frequent cause of trouble is starvation. Elements most necessary for tree growth are nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium and these are deficient in most soils where shade trees are grown. The result is an unhealthy color of the foliage, poor bud development, dying branches, and poor growth of the tree in general.

Barnyard manure is low in these three necessary elements for tree growth. Furthermore the elements reaching the roots of the tree are very limited when the usual practice is followed of spreading manure on the surface or even working it into the top soil. A fertilizer of the analysis 12-12-12, or 15-15-15 is currently available or can be obtained at most feed stores. For average shade tree conditions 1 to 1 1/2 pounds of such fertilizer for each inch of tree diameter is sufficient.

UTMB Summer Session Tops All Records

Summer enrollment for the first session at The University of Tennessee Martin Branch has set an all-time high with 630 students registered, according to Henry C. Allison, registrar.

This is a 27.5 increase over enrollment for the first summer session last year.

Swelling the enrollment this year is a large number of students who did not find profitable jobs for the summer, others who wanted to advance the time of their college graduation and still others who have already experienced difficulty in doing college work and are endeavoring to raise their grade point average.

UTMB's large summer enrollment is probably ahead of the general pattern of college enrollments for this year. An enrollment of 2,500 is expected this fall, and this figure will give a 35.5 average over fall a year ago.

Rev. Russell Rodgers filled his regular appointment at New Salem Baptist Church the past Sunday at both the morning and evening services.

The new three-bedroom home of Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Warren, this village, is coming right along since construction began a few weeks ago. It is modern in every respect and a nice addition to this area.

Mrs. Naomi Tuck and son, Richard, arrived several days ago to spend the summer with their father and grandfather, Rev. T. T. Harris. They will return to Orlando, Fla., this fall, where Mrs. Tuck has a teaching position and where Richard attends high school.

Bro. Charles Wall filled his appointment at Knob Creek Church lie Vincent, who has been ailing the past few weeks and ordered to bed most of the time by his family physician. He can now be up a portion of the time, which his many friends will be glad to know. Vincent remains about the same at this writing, but still has to keep in bed some, too. We hope our beloved citizens will soon be on the mend.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Lassiter and baby son, Richard Allen, visited parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Carroll, Sunday on Dresden Route.

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Fields of Tullahoma, Tenn., were my guests over the week end. They visited in Dukedom and South Fulton while here and have now returned home to Mid State, where Doyle is employed in the Arnold Engineering Development Center.

Bro. Charles Wall filled his appointment at Knob Creek Church of Christ, Sunday at 11 a. m. They were dinner guests of Grant Bynum and Margaret, then left on their vacation to Florida in the afternoon.

Congratulations to the News on their Shopper each week, as it reaches so many citizens. It is being well read by many and, no doubt, all advertisements by Fulton merchants will bring results.

Dog Licenses
Go On Sale

State dog licenses go on sale July 1. Commissioner of Agriculture Wendell P. Butler has informed Kentucky dog owners. According to Butler, the State dog law requires that all dogs six months of age or older must be licensed.

The $1.50 tags will be on sale in all of the 120 counties. County dog wardens or sheriffs will handle the sales.

Joe W. Campbell, Hickman, is in charge of the sale of tags in Fulton county.

Any person operating a kennel may, in lieu of obtaining a license for each dog, apply to the dog warden for a kennel license. A license fee of $10 is required to keep ten dogs or less; a fee of $15 is charged to keep more than ten dogs.

LONGING

To every child there comes a time when they begin to wonder . . . Where did I come from? Who made the trees? Who made the mountains?

EVERYONE has a desire to know their creator.

"O GOD, thou art my God; early will I seek thee: my soul thirsteth for thee..."

This longing for knowledge of God should be satisfied at an early age.

"Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it."

Plan NOW to attend church with your family.

SUMMER

Tasty Picnic Desserts Easy to Create

Into the picnic basket on balmy summer days go the favorite picnic items—hot dogs and hamburgers, buns, potato chips, catsup, mustard and pickles. But what should you pack for dessert?

Why not top off your outdoor meal with a flourish by bringing out a surprise treat that's a bit out of the ordinary. Such desserts as Brownie Kabobs, Quick Shortcake, and all-butter pound cake with a variety of toppings will be gobbled enthusiastically by the picnic crowd. And, they're ready to serve in an instant.

The basis for each of these quick desserts is a frozen dessert cake or frozen brownies, like those from Sara Lee. They come from your grocery store—completely baked in their own foil pans and go right from your freezer to the picnic site.

Here's the how-to for the easy dessert preparation:

Brownie Kabobs: Tuck a package of popular all-butter Chocolate Brownies, a package of large-size marshmallows, and colored toothpicks into your picnic basket. At mealtime, cut the brownies into 1-inch squares, spear with a toothpick and pop a marshmallow on top. The Brownie Kabobs will be delicious and fun to eat, and they fit right into the picnic theme.

Quick Shortcake: Bring along one pound cake, fresh fruit and a can of instant whipped cream (carried in the cooler). Slice the pound cake and top with fruit and whipped cream. Delectable servings of shortcake are ready to please any picnicker.

Pound Cake Toppings: Pound cake is great served plain, but it also deliciously adapts to many picnic variations. Try spreading pound cake slices with jams, jellies, or marmalade. Or pour butterscotch, chocolate or fruit sauce on top, along with chopped nuts or coconut.

Picnic Birthday Cake: A Sara Lee Chocolate Cake or Golden Cake makes an easy to serve treat for a birthday picnic. Decorate each serving with a candle or other candy birthday decorations. Or place a "Happy Birthday" greeting and the appropriate number of candles on the whole cake before it is sliced.

Safeguard Lanterns

Lamps and Japanese lanterns lighten summer's night, but don't let this illumination explode into a fire. LePage's offers this precaution. Apply plastic electrical tape around all wire, with a special reinforcement on those places joining plugs. Don't wait for a rain storm to show you that your wiring is frayed. That will be too late.

Plan Outlined For Spillway

Representatives from Obion, Dyer and Lake counties Thursday night, at the American Legion Hall at Reelfoot Lake, heard a proposal designed to allow fish to swim into and out of Reelfoot through the Spillway ditch.

The 50 to 75 persons present are preparing to present the same plan before the Tennessee Conservation League, which meets in Nashville Sunday, with the hope that the league will endorse the proposal. If this is done, backers of the plan feel they will have a better chance of selling the proposition to the Tennessee Game and Fish Commission.

Bert Newsom of Memphis, an engineer for Allen and Hoshal of Memphis, prepared a plan which calls for the construction of five weirs (or locks) in the Spillway ditch which would allow fish to swim back into the lake during spawning season. Mr. Newsom has been living at Kirk's Camp at the lake, while working in Henderson, and at the request of Kenneth Kirk, prepared the drawing without charge.

For Fast House Cleaning, Get a Hose

Homes with aluminum siding let their owners enjoy summer fun like vacations, golf, picnics, and the beach. This is because the home's constant new look can be maintained by occasionally hosing it down.

When ordinary surface dirt or oily or sooty deposits settle on the siding, use a mild soluble tablet or mild liquid detergent and a garden hose equipped with a long handle car-washing brush.

When it is necessary to wash aluminum siding, the mild liquid detergents are suitable in concentrations recommended on their labels for dishwashing or cleaning woodwork.

When fine powdered detergents are used to wash siding, an ounce or two in a 12-quart bucket of warm water is ample, according to The Aluminum Association.

To avoid streaking when cleaning your aluminum siding with a detergent, it is always advisable to begin at the bottom of the house and work up to the top. A final hose rinse, even where the detergent label does not call for it, is recommended. This keeps the home's aluminum siding finish looking alive and vibrant.

To remove severe blemishes from your aluminum siding first use one of the regular mild detergents with an ultra-fine nylon pad. For more stubborn dirt spots, use a cleaner with a fine abrasive.

For unusual dirt problems, consult the manufacturer of your aluminum siding. Above all, don't resort to a harsh, abrasive detergent or cleaner on the paint finish of the siding.

The Aluminum Association suggests that where deep scratches have occurred, you should feather the paint edges with fine sandpaper before applying a paint, recommended for use on aluminum siding.

Silent Aid For Cookout

Outdoor cooks can always use a silent partner. A handy one is a roll of double layer paper towels. Just fasten a towel holder to the side of your garage, a wall near your patio or the end of a picnic table. That way, your towels are right where you need them for quick wipe-up jobs or handling hot or greasy forks, shovels, and spatulas.

Versatile Cans

On picnics or camping trips a supply of canned meats in the new zip top cans is nice to have. The lids slip completely off in seconds, leaving a smooth rim.

Mayfield Highway Fulton

Starring BOBBY NICHOLS for the World's first "BANANA MATCH"

Tournament Winner To Play With Nichols

Fred Lancaster, the 24-year old Murray College student who won the Fifth annual Ken-Tenn Golf tournament at the Fulton Country Club this past week-end, is all smiles as he anticipates a round of golf with famed 1964 PGA golf champion Bobby Nichols who will appear in Fulton during the Third International Banana Festival this year. Fred, whose home is in Mayfield, is shown here with Fulton Country Club president Max McDade, who extended the invitation to Lancaster to be the first of several area golf tournament winners who will play with Nichols on September 29 in Fulton. Lancaster will be invited to play with Nichols in two nine-hole exhibition matches. Prior to the match Nichols will give a 30-minute "golf clinic." Tickets to the event may be secured by writing Mr. McDade, Banana Festival headquarters in Fulton. — Photo by Margaret Hargrove. Many other local photos in the Fulton News.

Unattractive Rows of Toes? Pedicure Pays Off!

Well-groomed feet are a must for summer sandals. A pedicure will prepare feet for maximum exposure and pamper them at the same time. Follow these steps for feet you'll be proud to display.

It's easiest to begin in the bath because water softens skin and nails. Smooth rough skin with a cosmetic stone while you're in the tub. Out of the tub, dry feet thoroughly, including those often neglected spaces between the toes. Immediately smooth hand lotion or leg cream into your feet, including the soles.

Next, work on your toe nails much as you would your finger nails. Begin by spreading out several layers of Kleenex paper towels to protect rug or floor from spilled polish. Then clip nails straight across. Smooth rough edges with a file or emery board, but do not shape toe nails. Shaping will risk ingrown nails or infections. Carefully push back your cuticle with an orange stick wrapped with cotton soaked in cuticle remover.

Before polishing toe nails, wind Kleenex tissues in and around each toe to separate them. This will help keep polish from smudging. Use a base coat, two coats of polish and a top coat to assure a longer-lasting pedicure.

When the polish has dried, dust your feet with powder, and you're ready for the glamour and comfort of a summer-in-sandals.

HEAR YE!

The earliest electrical hearing aid was a huge device larger than many present-day console television sets. It actually weighed more than the person using it. According to the Hearing Aid Industry Conference, today's hearing aids are so tiny that they can be rolled into eyeglass frames, built into hairpins, brooches or tie clasps, or even fit completely into the ear!

TUNE-UP

Are you one of those people who took a few music lessons in years gone by and wish you had continued. You will be amazed to find how easy it is to pick up your music where you left off. You can have a good time doing it too, if you are playing the Hammond Organ. The organ is easy to learn to play and will provide you with a lifetime of pleasure right in your own living room.

Unattractive Rows of Toes? Pedicure Pays Off!

Well-groomed feet are a must for summer sandals. A pedicure will prepare feet for maximum exposure and pamper them at the same time. Follow these steps for feet you'll be proud to display.

It's easiest to begin in the bath because water softens skin and nails. Smooth rough skin with a cosmetic stone while you're in the tub. Out of the tub, dry feet thoroughly, including those often neglected spaces between the toes. Immediately smooth hand lotion or leg cream into your feet, including the soles.

Next, work on your toe nails much as you would your finger nails. Begin by spreading out several layers of Kleenex paper towels to protect rug or floor from spilled polish. Then, clip nails straight across. Smooth rough edges with a file or emery board, but do not shape toe nails. Shaping will risk ingrown nails or infections. Carefully push back your cuticle with an orange stick wrapped with cotton soaked in cuticle remover.

Before polishing toe nails, wind Kleenex tissues in and around each toe to separate them. This will help keep polish from smudging. Use a base coat, two coats of polish and a top coat to assure a longer-lasting pedicure.

When the polish has dried, dust your feet with powder, and you're ready for the glamour and comfort of a summer-in-sandals.

HEAR YE!

The earliest electrical hearing aid was a huge device larger than many present-day console television sets. It actually weighed more than the person using it. According to the Hearing Aid Industry Conference, today's hearing aids are so tiny that they can be molded into eyeglass frames, built into hairnets, brooches or tie clasps, or even fit completely into the ear!

TUNE-UP

Are you one of those people who took a few music lessons in years gone by and wish you had continued? You will be amazed to find how easy it is to pick up your music where you left off. You can have a good time doing it too, if you are playing the Hammond Organ. The organ is easy to learn to play and will provide you with a lifetime of pleasure right in your own living room.

WHAT'S GOING ON HERE

by
Wendell P. Butler
Commissioner
Ky. Dept. of Agriculture
Frankfort

The State Board of Agriculture has amended the regulation governing the standards for agricultural limestone. The Board has approved an amendment requiring that farm limestone be ground finer. This should prove beneficial to farmers, as finer limestone will become available to crops much sooner than lime of a coarse grind.

Under the new regulation, ground limestone must be fine enough so that not less than 80 per cent will pass through a 10 mesh sieve and 40 per cent through a 60 mesh sieve.

The old regulation required that at least 80 per cent pass through a 10 mesh sieve, with no specifications given for a second screening.

Studies by the University of Kentucky and the Plant Foods Council have shown that much of the lime being used by many farmers is failing to give early results. In fact, it was shown that in many cases, farmers were failing to realize crop benefits for two or three years after making applications of coarse limestone.

By using a finer ground type of lime, farmers may realize better yields the first year after making applications. Too, specialists say lime is basic to a program of fertilization on most any Kentucky farm, and in many instances, if lime isn't applied, other fertilizers will produce only a minimum of good.

With our farmers seeking an increased farm economy, and particularly trying to realize the greatest return for every dollar invested, this new regulation should be to their advantage. By applying lime which will aid crops during the first year of application, they should realize greater results from their over-all fertilizer investment. Too, they should have fewer failures with such crops as alfalfa by using lime that comes available more readily. All in all, I think they will now have a better idea of what to expect from their lime applications.

The Division of Pest Control presented the State Board with the names of 13 people who passed the State examination for licensing as termite or general pest control operators. Those making passing scores were Jesse Ackerman, Lamon Blake, Brent

Summer Fashion Tips

Fun-to-wear colors and the easy look follow the young adult in this summer's fashion fun. Shifts, skirts, smocks, shirts or slacks are all swinging scene-stealers.

But the color that's bright, the look that's relaxed droops too often by mid-vacation, just when it's most important for a girl to be in the spotlight.

HELP WANTED: MALE

WATER PLANT OPERATOR. Work involves semi-skilled and specialized work in the operation of a water treatment plant and the reading of water meters.

Preferred Qualification Requirements:

Some experience in mechanical repair and maintenance work, and graduation from high school. Minimum age: 25. Salary, open. AP-PLY: City Manager, City Hall, South Fulton, Tenn.

To stay on stage all summer with the look of fashion freshness takes a bit of doing in between sunning, swimming, and a part-time job, but the extra effort pays off in extra attention.

—Whether washing by hand or machine, check water temperature, washing action. Particularly important for washing by hand is a thorough rinsing.

—The finishing touch is putting the fashion look back in place with Faultless spray-on starch. Either spray and iron a portion at a time (ideal for larger items and heavier fabrics) or spray the article completely, roll up, then unroll and iron (great for smaller articles and lightweight fabrics).

—Use a dry or steam iron, but be sure to check the iron temperature setting for the type of fabric first. Iron in long smooth strokes, moving ironed surfaces away from you to prevent wrinkling. Iron small areas first, then larger ones. Navy blues, blacks, and other dark colors should be both spray-on starched and ironed on the wrong side to avoid shine.

RIDING TO THE GREENS

Getting some real "exercise" via the golf cart are Thayer Bruce left and Dr. Ward Bushart, who formed a part of the large gallery that followed the championship flight of the Ken-Tenn tournament at the Fulton Country Club this past week-end. The bare-foot boy, "with shoes in hand," is John Reed. Others identified in the photo are Pat Nanney, a former tournament winner with his face away from the camera, right, and Johnny Henson standing to the right of young Reed.—Photo by Margaret Hargrove. Troy Youth Cuts Record, Appears On 'Opry' Show

Jerry Vaughn, who not too long ago used to amuse the patrons of a Troy barber shop by strumming on a guitar and mocking Elvis Presley, now at 23 years of age feels he has finally broken into the country and pop music fields.

A writer of perhaps 45 songs (most of which have not been published) his "Big Handsome Man" record now has sold more than 120,000 copies. The flip side of the platter is "I'm Unhappy."

Jerry is now under contract to Qualla Recording Artists out of Nashville and will appear on the Grand Ole Opry this Saturday night. Over the past year he has appeared on the Opry three times and will appear 26 times over next year.

He is now traveling and playing background piano for such Opry stars as Marty Robbins, Webb Pierce, Bobby Edwards and Stan Beaver.

Since his graduation from Troy High School in 1961 he has played in night clubs, tent shows and making radio and by picking cotton. Once he had the guitar he played at the barber shop every chance he got.

After his graduation he went out on his own and has been playing and singing ever since, with the exception of a few months he was in the Army and in construction work. He was released from the Army because of his poor eyesight.

A single man, Jerry is convinced he can hit the top in the country and pop field and is out to make a name for himself in the field he loves so well.

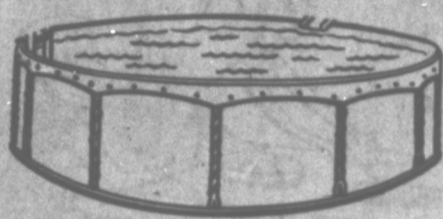

JERRY VAUGHN

television appearances all over the country. He is the son of Mrs. Francis Vaughn and the late B. C. Vaughn of Troy.

Jerry was born in Fulton but lived in Troy most of his life. When he was about 12 he used to earn spending money shining shoes in the barber shop at Troy, selling papers, working for the janitor at the school and doing about anything else he could to earn a dime.

While working in the barber shop with Dwight Coleman and John Mosley, the barbers there, he learned a few chords on the guitar and later traded his 'coon dog for an old guitar. Later, however, he bought the dog back with money he earned

Hello There!

One of the highlights of Southern Bell's Dial Conversion Dinner last Saturday was the first Direct Distance Dialing call from Twin-Cities's Mayors Gilbert DeMyer and Rex Ruddle to International Banana Princess Rita Wilson. Shortly after the mayors talked to her, she was given a chance to speak with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Wilson of Fulton. In the photo left to right are: Mayor Ruddle, Phone Manager Curt Mathis, Mrs. Wilson, Mr. Wilson, and seated Mary Anderson, chief operator for Southern Bell.

A HEALTHFUL HINT—

Before Diving into Summer

Swimming can be a lot of fun in Summer, for with all the heat and humidity in the air, who can resist the lure of a dive into cool blue waters? But, before you take that first refreshing dip, here is something to remember—

The Hearing Aid Industry Conference underlines the importance of using correct diving form to prevent damage to the ear drum which could lead to a hearing loss. They also point out that swimming in polluted waters can result in an infection that could bring on a temporary or permanent hearing loss, and that ocean breakers hitting the ear can also create hearing problems.

H.A.I.C. suggests that swimmers bear these facts in mind and use every safety precaution, including ear plugs and/or bathing caps, and that they bring any seemingly minor hearing problems to the attention of their medical ear specialist immediately.

Once a hearing loss has been detected, it can be corrected or compensated for through medical or surgical treatment or the use of a modern hearing aid. The first step, getting a hearing test once a hearing loss is suspected, is the urgent action required to get the correction underway.

For information about where you may have your hearing tested, get in touch with your local hearing and speech center, your medical ear specialist, or your local hearing aid dealer.

Autos Collide Near Drive-In

Two cars were damaged about 8:45 Friday night when they collided on the Union City-Fulton highway, in front of Ting's Drive-In.

Union City police said the cars were a 1963 Chrysler, driven by Hayden W. Karcher,
433 East Church street, and a 1967 Chevrolet, driven by Gary Lynn Braswell of Rixes. The Chrysler was proceeding west on the highway while the Chevrolet was pulling out on the highway from the drive-in restaurant, officers said.

Damage to the front end of the Chrysler was estimated at $400, and to the back end of the Chevrolet at $100. There were no reported injuries.

Two men were arrested on Railroad street at 8:45 this morning on charges of public intoxication. They registered as L. A. Devasier and James Thomas Bondurant, both of Union City.

Silent Aid For Cookout

Outdoor cooks can always use a silent partner. A handy one is a roll of double layer paper towels. Just fasten a towel holder to the side of your garage, a wall near your patio or the end of a picnic table. That way, your towels are right where you need them for quick wipe-up jobs or handling hot or greasy forks, shovels, and spatulas.

Versatile Cans

On picnics or camping trips a supply of canned meats in the new zip top cans is nice to have. The lids zip completely off in seconds, leaving a smooth rim.

Tournament Winner To Play With Nichols

Fred Lancaster, the 24-year old Murray College student who won the Fifth annual Ken-Tenn Golf tournament at the Fulton Country Club this past week-end, is all smiles as he anticipates a round of golf with famed 1964 PGA golf champion Bobby Nichols who will appear in Fulton during the Third International Banana Festival this year. Fred, whose home is in Mayfield, is shown here with Fulton Country Club president Max McDade, who extended the invitation to Lancaster to be the first of several area golf tournament winners who will be invited to play with Nichols in two nine-hole exhibition matches. Prior to the match Nichols will give a 30-minute "golf clinic." Tickets to the event may be secured by writing Mr. McDade, Banana Festival headquarters in Fulton. — Photo by Margaret Hargrove. Unattractive Rows of Toes? Pedicure Pays Off!

Well-groomed feet are a must for summer sandals. A pedicure will prepare feet for maximum exposure and pumper them at the same time. Follow these steps for feet you'll be proud to display.

It's easiest to begin in the bath because water softens skin and nails. Smooth rough skin with a cosmetic stone while you're in the tub. Out of the tub, dry feet thoroughly, including those often neglected spaces between the toes. Immediately smooth hand lotion or leg cream into your feet, including the soles.

Next, work on your toe nails much as you would your finger nails. Begin by spreading out several layers of Kleenex paper towels to protect rug or floor from spilled polish. Then clip nails straight across. Smooth rough edges with a file or emery board, but do not shape toe nails. Shaping will risk ingrown nails or infections. Carefully push back your cuticle with an orange stick wrapped with cotton soaked in cuticle remover.

Before polishing toe nails, wind Kleenex tissues in and around each toe to separate them. This will help keep polish from smudging. Use a base coat, two coats of polish and a top coat to assure a longer-lasting pedicure.

When the polish has dried, dust your feet with powder, and you're ready for the glamour and comfort of a summer-in-sandals.

HEAR YE!

The earliest electrical hearing aid was a huge device larger than many present-day console television sets. It actually weighed more than the person using it. According to the Hearing Aid Industry Conference, today's hearing aids are so tiny that they can be molded into eyeglass frames, built into barrettes, brooches or tie clasps, or even fit completely into the ear!

TUNE-UP

Are you one of those people who took a few music lessons in years gone by and wish you had continued? You will be amazed to find how easy it is to pick up your music where you left off. You can have a good time doing it too, if you are playing the Hammond Organ. The organ is easy to learn to play and will provide you with a lifetime of pleasure right in your own living room.

WHAT'S GOING ON

by
Wendell P. Butler
Commissioner
Ky. Dept. of Agriculture
Frankfort

The State Board of Agriculture has amended the regulation governing the standards for agricultural limestone. The Board has approved an amendment requiring that farm limestone be ground finer. This should prove beneficial to farmers, as finer limestone will become available to crops much sooner than lime of a coarse grind.

Under the new regulation, ground limestone must be fine enough so that not less than 80 per cent will pass through a 10 mesh sieve and 40 per cent through a 60 mesh sieve.

The old regulation required that at least 80 per cent pass through a 10 mesh sieve, with no specifications given for a second screening. Studies by the University of Kentucky and the Plant Foods Council have shown that much of the lime being used by many farmers is failing to give early results. In fact, it was shown that in many cases, farmers were failing to realize crop benefits for two or three years after making applications of coarse limestone.

By using a finer ground type of lime, farmers may realize better yields the first year after making applications. Too, specialists say lime is basic to a program of fertilization on most any Kentucky farm, and in many instances, if lime isn't applied, other fertilizers will produce only a minimum of good.

With our farmers seeking an increased farm economy, and particularly trying to realize the greatest return for every dollar invested, this new regulation should be to their advantage. By applying lime which will aid crops during the first year of application, they should realize greater results from their over-all fertilizer investment. Too, they should have fewer failures with such crops as alfalfa by using lime that comes available more readily. All in all, I think they will now have a better idea of what to expect from their lime applications.

The Division of Pest Control presented the State Board with the names of 13 people who passed the State examination for licensing as termite or general pest control operators. Those making passing scores were Jesse Ackerman, Lamon Blake, Brent

Summer Fashion Tips

Fun-to-wear colors and the easy look follow the young adult in this summer's fashion sun. Shifts, skirts, smocks, shirts or saris are all swinging scene-stealers.

But the color that's bright, the look that's relaxed droops too often by mid-vacation, just when it's most important for a girl to be in the spotlight.

To stay on stage all summer with the look of fashion freshness takes a bit of doing in between sunning, swimming, and a part-time job, but the extra effort pays off in extra attention.

treat them before washing. Suntan lotion, a dollop of mustard from yesterday's picnic, or even make-up can leave unwelcome marks if not properly pre-treated.

—Whether washing by hand or machine, check water temperature, washing action. Particularly important for washing by hand is a thorough rinsing.

—The finishing touch is putting the fashion look back in place with Faultless spray-on starch. Either spray and iron a portion at a time (ideal for larger items and heavier fabrics) or spray the article completely, roll up, then unroll and iron (great for smaller articles and lightweight fabrics).

—Use a dry or steam iron, but be sure to check the iron temperature setting for the type of fabric first. Iron in long smooth strokes, moving ironed surfaces away from you to prevent wrinkling. Iron small areas first, then larger ones. Navy blues, blacks, and other dark colors should be both spray-on starched and ironed on the wrong side to avoid shine.

HELP WANTED: MALE

WATER PLANT OPERATOR. Work involves semi-skilled and specialized work in the operation of a water treatment plant and the reading of water meters.

Preferred Qualification Requirements:

Some experience in mechanical repair and maintenance work; and graduation from high school. Minimum age: 25. Salary, open. AP-PLY: City Manager, City Hall, South Fulton, Tenn.

RIDING TO THE GREENS

Troy Youth Cuts Record, Appears On 'Opry' Show

Jerry Vaughn, who not too long ago used to amuse the patrons of a Troy barber shop by strumming on a guitar and mocking Elvis Presley, now at 22 years of age feels he has finally broken into the country and pop music fields.

A writer of perhaps 42 songs (most of which have not been published) his "Big Handsome Man" record now has sold more than 120,000 copies. The flip side of the platter is "I'm Unhappy."

Jerry is now under contract to Qualla Recording Artists out of Nashville and will appear on the Grand Ole Opry this Saturday night. Over the past year he has appeared on the Opry three times and will appear 26 times over next year.

He is now traveling and playing background piano for such Opry stars as Marty Robbins, Webb Pierce, Bobby Edwards and Stan Beaver.

Since his graduation from Troy High School in 1961 he has played in night clubs, tent shows and making radio and by picking cotton. Once he had the guitar he played at the barber shop every chance he got.

After his graduation he went out on his own and has been playing and singing ever since, with the exception of a few months he was in the Army and in construction work. He was released from the Army because of his poor eyesight.

A single man, Jerry is convinced he can hit the top in the country and pop field and is out to make a name for himself in the field he loves so well.

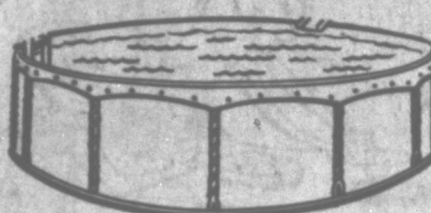

JERRY VAUGHN

television appearances all over the country. He is the son of Mrs. Francis Vaughn and the late B. C. Vaughn of Troy.

Jerry was born in Fulton but lived in Troy most of his life. When he was about 12 he used to earn spending money shining shoes in the barber shop at Troy, selling papers, working for the janitor at the school and doing about anything else he could to earn a dime.

While working in the barber shop with Dwight Coleman and John Mosley, the barbers there, he learned a few chords on the guitar and later traded his 'coon dog for an old guitar. Later, however, he bought the dog back with money he earned

SUMMER TORTE

For a quick, yet taste-pleasing dessert, slice a Sara Lee all-butter pound cake into 4 layers. Melt 1 package semi-sweet chocolate bits and mix in 1 cup dairy sour cream. Spread this mixture between layers and on top and sides of cake. Refrigerate the Chocolate-Cream Torte several hours, then slice and serve. If you wish, top each serving with vanilla ice cream.

PAINTING POINTER

Some homeowners may like to change the color of the aluminum siding on their homes. You can paint aluminum siding with either conventional oil modified or acrylic latex-type house paints, according to The Aluminum Association. A brush or spray paint equipment may be used. For directions on good surface preparation, follow the recommendations of your paint supplier.

Hello There!

One of the highlights of Southern Bell's Dial Conversion Dinner last Saturday was the first Direct Distance Dialing call from Twin-Cities' Mayors Gilbert DeMyer and Rex Ruddle to International Bananas Princess Rita Wilson. Shortly after the mayors talked to her, she was given a chance to speak with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Wilson of Fulton. In the photo left to right are: Mayor Ruddle, Phone Manager Curt Mathis, Mrs. Wilson, Mr. Wilson, and seated Mary Anderson, chief operator for Southern Bell.

A HEALTHFUL HINT—

Before Diving into Summer

Swimming can be a lot of fun in Summer, for with all the heat and humidity in the air, who can resist the lure of a dive into cool blue waters? But, before you take that first refreshing dip, here is something to remember—

The Hearing Aid Industry Conference underlines the importance of using correct diving form to prevent damage to the ear drum which could lead to a hearing loss. They also point out that swimming in polluted waters can result in an infection that could bring on a temporary or permanent hearing loss, and that ocean breakers hitting the ear can also create hearing problems.

H.A.I.C. suggests that swimmers bear these facts in mind and use every safety precaution, including ear plugs and/or bathing caps, and that they bring any seemingly minor hearing problems to the attention of their medical ear specialist immediately.

Once a hearing loss has been detected, it can be corrected or compensated for through medical or surgical treatment or the use of a modern hearing aid. The first step, getting a hearing test once a hearing loss is suspected, is the urgent action required to get the correction underway.

For information about where you may have your hearing tested, get in touch with your local hearing and speech center, your medical ear specialist, or your local hearing aid dealer.

Autos Collide Near Drive-In

Two cars were damaged about 8:45 Friday night when they collided on the Union City-Fulton highway, in front of Tiny's Drive-In.

Union City police said the cars were a 1963 Chrysler, driven by Hayden W. Karcher, 433 East Church street, and a 1967 Chevrolet, driven by Gary Lynn Braswell of Rivas. The Chrysler was proceeding west on the highway while the Chevrolet was pulling out on the highway from the drive-in restaurant, officers said.

Damage to the front end of the Chrysler was estimated at $400, and to the back end of the Chevrolet at $100. There were no reported injuries.

Two men were arrested on Railroad street at 8:45 this morning on charges of public intoxication. They registered as L. A. Devastier and James Thomas Bondurant, both of Union City.
