South Fulton Council Votes Street Bonds

Mayor Declares Protest Petition Being Circulated

WOULD SPEND $80,000

South Fulton's mayor and city council have passed on third and final reading an ordinance ordering issuance of $80,000 in city bonds for constructing and reconstructing streets, storm sewers and walks in South Fulton.

Mayor J. H. Lowe declared today that "I have been reliably informed that there is being circulated a petition to stop the street improvements, this petition supposed to be sponsored by the same parties that were the sponsors of the article published in the Leader in February stating that they wanted streets, that we were sorely in need of streets, and not promises."

"I wonder," the mayor continued, "why they have changed their minds so quickly? The council and I are still in favor of building the streets."

Names of 75 registered South Fulton voters must appear on a petition to force a general election on the street improvement question. Any such protest petition must be filed within 10 days from the first publication of the city ordinance in an Ohio county newspaper (the Union City Messenger), which in this case would be Sunday April 6, or Monday, April 7.

The ordinance was pursuant to provisions of an enabling act passed in the recent session of the state legislature. The ordinance creates a levy of 75 cents per $100 on real and personal property in the city to raise money to pay the bonds and the interest.

The bonds will be dated June 1, 1947, and will mature in installments until June 1, 1977, with the provision that the city may call them in at any time after June 1, 1955.

The additional 75 cent tax is being levied in addition to other taxes now being collected. Revenues from the tax are to be placed in a separate bank account, earmarked for retirement of the street bonds.

City Of New Orleans To Stop In Fulton On Its Daily Runs

Fulton has been selected as one of the stopping places of America's longest-run day train, the Illinois Central's City of New Orleans, which will go into service Sunday, April 27.

This announcement, made today by H. B. Reeves of the Illinois Central offices here, assures Fulton and surrounding territory of fast daytime train service between either Chicago and New Orleans and intermediate points.

"Not only will the service be fast, but it will be the ultimate in comfort," Reeves said. "The new cars, which are nearing completion in the Chicago plant of the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing Company, will be completely air conditioned. They will have ultra luxurious seats including Pullman-Standard's new day-night type with a folding leg rest and full length reclining chair giving chaise longue comfort, electrically controlled brakes for smooth, easy stops and tight-lock couplers for safety and riding comfort."

Reeves explained that the new train, which will be the first day train to link the Great Lakes and Gulf of Mexico, would really be two trains, running in opposite directions daily. The

A large number was present.

The closing Holy Week service will begin at 7:30 tonight. The Rev. E. M. Oakes, pastor, will preach on "The Seven Sayings From the Cross." The public is invited.

Parimutuel Tax Bill Prepared For Next Legislature

Louisville, Ky., April 4—(P)—Legislation to tax parimutuel betting in Kentucky, probably five percent, is being prepared by a state senator and a county commissioner for introduction at the 1948 session of the state legislature.

State Sen. Leon J. Shaikun, Louisville Democrat, and Jefferson County Commissioner E. P. White, Jr., Republican said they are working on such a bill.

Two bills providing for a five percent tax on parimutuel betting in Kentucky were introduced at the 1946 legislature but died in committee.

At that time, it was estimated such a tax would yield slightly more than $1,000,000 annually. The men proposed that money derived be used to increase salaries of the state's public school teachers or be funneled to city and county governments.

Jobless Pay Going Astray

Too Many Jones, Smiths And Browns in State; Post Office Investigates

Frankfort, Ky., April 4—(P)—Improper distribution of jobless pay checks assigned to some of the numerous Joneses, Smiths and Browns in Kentucky has drawn the attention of federal postal inspectors, a state official said yesterday.

J. Foley Snyder, assistant director of the State Unemployment Compensation Commission, said federal postal inspectors are attempting to stop the improper distribution.

The Commission's security files, Snyder said, contain 650 John Smiths, 625 William Smiths, 375 John Joneses and 375 Mary Browns.

Snyder explained that in a small town there may be five persons with the same name who are mailed jobless pay checks. name and the town of each in name an dthe town of each intended recipient. One beneficiary might pick up all five checks and cash them, he said.

When the commission hears of such incidents, he said, all checks going to that name in the town are halted until the situation is corrected. He said banks have been urged to ask persons cashing jobless checks to show their social security numbers and observe that the number tallies with that on the check.

Fulton Teacher Addresses Club

Miss Mary Martin Shows Problems of Profession, Emphasizing Low Pay

Miss Mary Martin, Fulton high school teacher, today urged the Fulton Lions Club, as leaders of the community, to "give serious consideration to what may happen to our own schools" unless teachers' salaries are increased enough to attract and hold capable men and women.

Miss Martin was introduced by Frank Beadles, program chairman.

She discussed teachers' problems, nationally and locally, and quoted a Readers' Digest article on the subject to show the large number of teachers who have left the profession, and how many are teaching on emergency or sub-standard certificates.

The speaker also compared salaries of Fulton teachers with wages paid skilled and unskilled labor, stating that the teachers are one of the most poorly paid classes of employees in the nation.

"A teacher wants to be a good citizen," Miss Martin said. Teachers are asked to contribute to all worthy causes, and to support community activities. However, she said, there is a limit to stretching a small income.

Following Miss Martin's remarks, several club members declared they were in favor of increasing teachers' salaries in Fulton, which would have to be accomplished through an increased local assessment, or a new state law increasing the tax rate from the present $1.50 per $100 ceiling.

Truman Has Authority To Seize Phone Industry In Event Of Walkout, Attorney General Rules; Union Says It Will Obey Law

American Aid Won't Re- Greek Democracy—Molotov

Moscow, April 4—(P)—Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, in the first official Soviet comment on President Truman's proposed aid to Greece, went on record today in an interview with Johannes Steel with the declaration he doubted the plan would "restore democracy" there.

The best way to restore democracy to Greece would be to go away with foreign intervention, Molotov commented.

The implication that Greece was no democracy at present was an assumption advanced by Steel, American writer and radio commentator, who put the question to Molotov in this way: "Do you believe that President Truman's proposed American policy on Greece will restore democracy to Greece?"

Molotov's declaration on Greece and other questions came in a series of 10 questions and answers put to him in writing by Steel, who arrived in Moscow early in the conference of foreign ministers.

(The exchange was broadcast by the Moscow radio.)

Molotov stated a compromise was possible between Russia's proposal for a unified Germany and the United States plan for a federal Germany, if the questions could be decided by a German plebiscite.

Steel asked whether Molotov believed a compromise was possible between American and Russian views on this question and Molotov was quoted as saying:

"I do not preclude such a possibility if it should be possible to reach an agreement by letting the German people themselves decide the question of federation by a plebiscite."

Molotov Silent

Official sources said today that Molotov, despite his instant demand for American and British reports on China, had thus far failed to furnish a Soviet statement in an exchange of information.

April 1 was the agreed deadline for the exchange of information on China demanded by

Truman Asked U. S. Labor Dept. For Its Opinion

STRIKE PLANS LAID

Washington, April 4—(P)—At today President Truman has the right to seize the telephone industry in the current labor dispute.

Clark told reporters at the White House, after a Cabinet meeting, that seizure authority exists under the Federal Communications Act.

He said Mr. Truman did not ask his opinion, but that Secretary of Labor Schwelienbach did ask him to say whether the government has seizure powers.

Clark said he gave the ruling to Schwelienbach.

Truman Made Request

President Truman told his news conference yesterday that he had asked the Labor Department to determine whether a legal basis exists for taking over the industry in the event of a strike of 287,000 telephone workers Monday.

Clark said he looked into the Communications Act after reading in the papers that there was a question as to federal authority.

He said the act "passed in 1940, I think" is based on the war emergency but is still in effect.

The attorney general said the authority will continue until six months after the official "termination of the war."

That leaves the date of expiration indefinite. Laws expiring six months after "termination of hostilities" a technically different matter will go out of existence June 30.

Union Would Obey

John L. Moran, chairman of the National Federation of Telephone Workers policy committee, said yesterday the phone unions would "obey" a legal seizure, although he knew of no existing authority for one.

"If they seize, and there's a law against striking," Moran told reporters, "we'll obey the law."

Union leaders declared the strike, scheduled for 4 a.m. local time Monday in the various time zones, appears inevitable.

As its own last resort, the union appealed directly to members of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company board of directors for help in negotiating a new contract.

The union bypassed the Bell System management, asking A. T. & T.'s board to order system officials to "seek a reasonable compromise."

Leased Wires May Halt

In New York, A. T. and T. officials expressed belief last night that leased wires serving the press, radio, stock exchange tickers and business concerns would continue to operate if set up for around the clock operation.

The American Union of Telephone Workers, however, issued a statement predicting that a walkout of maintenance men quickly would tie up long distance service, radio network, information and other special services, and transoceanic service.

Press leased wires, the union said, require "intricate adjustments in the relay circuits all along the lines. It is doubtful that management can properly maintain these lines."

Vet Agricultural Training Classes Show Big Increase

Active participation by Kentucky's World War II veterans in agricultural training under auspices of the Veterans Administration showed a sharp increase during the first three months of this year, VA regional officials in Louisville reported today.

VA officials said 9,766 Kentucky veterans now are taking farm training, compared with approximately 5,500 on Jan. 1. The current volume includes 1,032 disabled veterans who are enrolled under Public Law 16 (Vocational Rehabilitation Act) and 8,734 under provisions of Public Law 346 (G. I. Bill).

In addition to individual practical farm instruction, most of the veterans also receive related training through classroom work in schools. Livestock management has been the general subject of intensive courses which are being completed at this time. Approximately 350 schools in Kentucky now are offering this type of instruction.

Gandhi Cites The Sermon On The Mount

By Dewitt MacKenzie
(F) Foreign Affairs Analyst

This started out to be an article about India's struggle to achieve the politico-religious unity which will bring independence, and we shall arrive at that goal in due course, but right here at the start things have got complicated by an association of ideas.

Our story begins not in the crowded bazaars of Bombay or Calcutta but in the narrow, winding streets of ancient Jerusalem. For in that Holy City at this season three great religions—Christian, Jewish and Moslem—are commemorating sacred events, each after its own manner. Christendom of course is celebrating the Easter festival, and if our little sermon has any text it is to be found in Christ's words at the Last Supper: "A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another."

With that thought we move on to India, where we find Mahatma Gandhi, frail but not bowed by his seventy-six tumultuous years, sitting cross-legged before the inter-Asian conference in New Delhi and pursuing the teaching of the new commandment as he advises the delegates that Asia should give to the West "a message of love and a message of truth." He calls for the achievement of "one world," as an audience of 25,000 listens intently to the man who is the most powerful individual in all India.

But this is merely an interlude in the Mahatma's campaign to get India into the right frame of mind to deal with its problem of implementing the independence which Britain has offered. He is dealing with this question not only from the political but from the spiritual angle—largely the latter. Gandhi is laying before his people the teachings of the Sermon on the Mount, which years ago he told me had been the greatest influence in his own life.

Now all this is vastly important, that is, it's important if you believe—as a lot of us do—that the Sermon on the Mount counts in these grim days. The political situation in India is this: A provisional government has been formed, but while the Hindus and the Indian princes have agreed to participate, the Moslems are standing out. The latter, who are outnumbered three to one by the Hindus, claim that they have no hope of fair treatment against such odds and insist on the establishment of independent Moslem states. Neither the British nor the Hindus want this.

Here enters the worst aspect of the position. There has been widespread fighting between Moslems and Hindus in many parts of the country and thousands of lives have been taken. There are reports—and they are not hard to believe—that some of these bloody clashes have been inspired by ill-advised political leaders.

Things got so bad that some weeks ago the little Mahatma went into Bengal, where the fighting had been particularly fierce, and risked his life by tramping from village to village with his message of peace and goodwill. He lived with the humble peasants, talked with them, held prayer-meetings and preached his doctrine. They flocked to hear him—Hindus and Moslems together, strangely enough—and listened with respect.

Gandhi temporarily suspended his crusade while he went to Delhi for the inter-Asian conference and conferred with the new viceroy, Lord Mountbatten, regarding the political deadlock. Coincidentally the London newspaper "The People" stated that the All India Congress Party (predominantly Hindu) had offered to accept dominion status for a trial period prior to full independence. The paper also said Nehru, Hindu vice-president of the interim government, was prepared to guarantee that he could reach an understanding with the Moslems if he himself was leader of the government.

We have seen no confirmation of this report, but in any event Gandhi, to whom Nehru defers in all matters, is bent on achieving a compromise which will permit the provisional government to function.

FULGHAM NEWS

By Docie Jones

April 2

Mr. and Mrs. Pink Myers and Mrs. Juanita Arant and children of Rivers, Tenn., and Mr. and Mrs. William Kimbrell of Fulton and several relatives from Clinton were called here Tuesday by the death of Mrs. Loh Kimbrell, who died Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Finis Myers of Paducah are in the Kimbrell home today. The deceased's sister, Mrs. Lena Cooper of Detroit, was not able to come.

Funeral services this afternoon were at Jackson Chapel, and interment in the Bethel cemetery.

Rev. A. B. Rogers was the minister in charge and Jones and Son of Martin, Tenn., were in charge of interment.

In checking over the sick patients here we learn that Goebel Jackson is still quite sick with pneumonia.

Buddy Tibbs and baby are recovering from an attack. W. B. Burkett, merchant, suffered a relapse from pneumonia. Improving again, but still unable to be in the store.

Mrs. Loyd Wilson is still confined to her bed with rheumatic fever. No improvement has been reported.

The condition of Patti Mae Vaden in the Jackson Hospital remains critical.

Cary Wilson has been dismissed from the Jackson Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Jackson, Marshall Pruitt, Jimmy Boyd, Marvin Taylor and Miss Ruth Byars of the WNGO radio station were supper guests of Mrs. Gertrude Watts Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Carpenter and son, Billy, of Detroit, are arriving Friday for an Easter visit with Mrs. Randy and Docie Jones.

Reed Elliott returned to Detroit Tuesday.

This and That

In January and February of 1924 I finished a school term at Melber, Ky. Among the sixth graders was a student by the name of Coy Thurston, a future preacher, that I didn't know about until last Sunday, when he occupied the pulpit at Bethel.

Imagine my happy surprise, for next to the immediate family a teacher rejoices most in any honor achieved by a student. Coy still resides in Melber, now with his wife and two children, and is pastoring a Baptist church at Pryorburg.

Another student there I well remember was Dr. F. O. City's son, Bedford, who had a "fluent mind." Rev. Thurston tells me he's one of the leading physicians in Memphis.

L. W. McClure had a cow to die last week that he purchased two days before and spent six weeks last a good one Friday, which makes two for him in the last six months.

Jim Wilkins, a former Hickman countryman, has done more buying and selling and trading and moving than any farmer-merchant I know. He has owned and operated a few country stores in our county, including Croley and Fulgham, also a few farms here and in Graves county, has owned several different stores and farms in all directions. When someone offers him a profit he sells and goes elsewhere. When he sees another profit in view, he sells and seeks another field or store. His latest move, 57th in number, was to Pryorburg, and guess what he bought this time? Yes, a store on Highway 56.

Ten years ago, Mrs. Mary Green, wife of the Rev. W. T. Green, a former pastor, died in Tulsa, Okla., April 1.

Judge E. J. Bennett is ill in bed. They are calling a physician now (April 2).

Mrs. Lloyd Wilson is still confined to her bed with rheumatic fever. No improvement has been reported.

The condition of Patti Mae Vaden in the Jackson Hospital remains critical.

Cary Wilson has been dismissed from the Jackson Hospital.

Oh, I'm so glad that Spring is here. It is so lovely I shed a silent tear.

It's fun to watch the grass turn green, And flowers spring up from places unseen.

To watch a little waterfall and lovely trees That grow so tall, to hear the wind that rustles the leaves And to watch the little honey bees. Yes, I'm glad Spring is here. (Dorothy Toon)

Bell Company Makes an Offer

Will Arbitrate Wage Demands With Union In Attempt To Avert Strike

In a step designed to avert a telephone strike, the Southern Bell Telephone Company announced today that it had transmitted to the union an offer to arbitrate wage demands.

The company offered to let a panel of citizens representing the public's interest, along with a representative of the company and one from the union, arbitrate wage rates on the basis of comparing telephone wage rates with the wages paid by other employers in local communities for work requiring similar skill and equivalent training.

The company also repeated its offer to renew the present contract until arbitration can take place.

"This offer is fair to everyone, we believe, and should avoid a telephone strike," Southern Bell officials declared. "The first concern of the Telephone Company is to give uninterrupted telephone service to the public. We do not want a strike and are doing our utmost to avert it."

Under the arbitration offer made by the company, the company and the union would agree to the basic wage rates established by the board of arbitration for a period of one year. They would also agree to a renewal of the present contract as to working conditions with such modifications as have already been agreed upon by the Southern Bell and the union and revisions which may be agreed upon in further bargaining. One of the bases of acceptance is that the union agree to withdraw its strike and not engage in strike action pending the proposed arbitration, during the course of arbitration or as a result of the arbitration decision.

To Go With That Easter Bonnet

When she dons that Easter bonnet along with her other new finery, you'll notice how much her eyes have brightened and you'll realize—again—how pretty she is.

Would you like to see her eyes brighten still more? Then buy her something to go with the hat.

To complete her costume, think of costume jewelry—perhaps a pair of earrings, especially selected for their harmonious coloring, or an ornament for her lapel, or a clip or brooch, or perhaps a watch—something distinctive, something in excellent taste, in short something just right for her.

We'll be glad to help you. Come in and ask our advice. We're sure that we can help you select something that will delight her and enable you to say to yourself: "Well, hat or no hat, I added the final touch."

Major League Training Camps

By The Associated Press
Atlanta, Ga., April 4—(AP)—Frankie Baumholtz, Cincinnati's highly touted rookie outfielder, is beginning to hammer the ball as his admirers expected he would before he joined the Rhinelanders.

The 26-year old pro basketball star banged out three hits including his second homer in three games yesterday as the Red Legs downed Atlanta of the Southern Association, 4-2.

New Orleans, April 4—(AP)—The Detroit Tigers turned to a steady fare of minor league opposition as they arrived here today for a night exhibition game with the New Orleans Pelicans of the Southern Association. Dizzy Trout was slated to hurl for the Tigers.

Memphis, Tenn., April 4—(AP)—Delta Dave Ferris, star Boston Red Sox hurler, was to pitch against the Memphis Chicks today in the park where he saw his first professional ball game. Dave's home town is at Shaw, Miss., some 135 miles from Memphis. A large delegation from Shaw and surrounding towns promised to come along and cheer for Ferris against Doc Prothro's Chicks.

Birmingham, Ala., April 4—(AP)—Charlie (Red) Barrett said he expected to go the distance today for the Boston Braves against the Birmingham Barons of the Southern Association. Barrett, whose sharp wit has been good morale for the Braves, wasn't used much last season by the St. Louis Cardinals.

West Palm Beach, Fla., April 4—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns were credited with one of the strangest double plays in the books as they nipped the Philadelphia Athletics, 4-3, yesterday. Athletic Catcher Joe Astroth doubled to center with Hank Majeski on second and Eddie Joost on first, but Majeski apparently thought outfielder Al Zarilla would make a shoestring catch and was slow getting away while Joost was galloping at full speed. As a result, both neared home almost together and Catcher Jake Early slapped Johnny Berardino's relay on both runners with virtually the same motion.

St. Petersburg, Fla., April 4—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals broke camp last night after what Manager Eddie Dyer termed, "the best training camp trip I've ever known," and headed for Houston, Tex., for a four-game series with their farm club there and the first stop on their long trip home.

SPORTSPOURRI

Schoolboy Rowe argues that Charley Trippi won't become a major league hitter "football players can't hit because of the blocking they did in football." Rowe maintains, overlooking the fact that a back who can run and pass doesn't have to block. The Boston Garden basketball season drew about 250,000 customers which, Bill McKray argues, "isn't bad considering that four years ago the attendance was zero." Word from Minneapolis is that Minnesota will come up with its finest freshman basketball squad next fall—and the sophomore footballers won't be so bad, either.

END OF THE LINE

Pro football fans now are trying to figure out how come Merle Hapes and Frank Filchock, who had been suspended indefinitely pending the outcome of the bribery trial, now are suspended indefinitely according to Bert Bell's latest announcement. The Cubs' baseball school for ex-GI's has graduated 82 players to various Chicago farm clubs. Director Jack Sheehan figures four of them will make the grade in class "A" this year.

Sports Roundup

Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
New York, April 4—(AP)—A Notre Dame publicity handout, dated April 1, says that Spring football practice can't really get under way until after the Easter holiday because bad weather interfered and the four workouts held were unsatisfactory. The Indianapolis News of the same date carried a column-long detailed report on the Notre Dame drills, including the fact that 91 of the 112 players participated in scrimmage—looks like somebody was stretching the facts or else that Frank Leahy has a peculiar definition of "satisfactory."—Don't know any other

Hapes, Filchock Finally Barred From Pro Ball

NFL Head Says Players Must Not Be Suspected

'DECISION WAS TOUGH'

Philadelphia, April 4—(AP)—The door barring Merle Hapes and Frank Filchock from professional football—probably forever—swung shut today.

Square-jawed Bert Bell, commissioner of the National Football League, in the most far-reaching ruling in the annals of the pro-gridiron game, suspended them indefinitely for their roles in the attempted fix of last year's championship game.

Bell admitted the decision was a "tough one to make," but said the New York Giants' backfield stars were found guilty of "actions detrimental to the welfare of the National Football League and of professional football."

"Professional football," Bell said in his decision announced yesterday, "cannot continue to exist unless it is based upon absolute honesty. The players must be not only absolutely honest; they must be above suspicion."

The ruling on Filchock and Hapes was the most recent chapter in the greatest sports scandal since the 1919 World Series. Only 24 hours earlier three men had been sentenced to prison terms for their parts in the attempt to fix last December's game.

Testimony at the trial of Alvin Paris and the three others, Harvey Stemmer, David Krakauer and Jerome Zarowitz, disclosed that Hapes and Filchock had refused the bribe offers.

Hapes, a former University of Mississippi ace, announced following Bell's ruling that "I'm through with professional football, anyway."

Filchock, former Indiana University griddle, told reporters in Washington that "I still want to play football." He formerly played on the Fulton Chicks baseball team.

Southern Bell Offers Arbitration To Avoid A Telephone Strike

The Southern Bell Telephone Company is offering to let a panel of citizens representing the public's interest along with a representative of the Union and one from the Telephone Company arbitrate wage rates on the basis of comparing our wage rates with the wages paid by others in local communities for similar skills and training. The Company also continues its offer to renew the present liberal contract until such arbitration can take place.

This offer is fair to everyone, we believe, and should avoid a telephone strike.

OUR WAGE POLICY IS TO PAY
JUST AND FAIR WAGES

The Southern Bell Telephone Company believes that its employees should be well paid, and that their wages should compare favorably with those paid by other concerns in the communities we serve for work requiring similar skill and equivalent training. Since telephone rates are regulated by Public Service Commissions this policy is certainly fair and just to all concerned.

We earnestly desire to go as far as possible in meeting the wishes of our employees and the Union but their demands must be practical and realistic. Already the earnings of the Company are such that we are appearing before the Public Service Commissions through the southeast asking for increases in rates to help meet the cost of wage increases granted last year. These wage increases for 1945 and 1946 amounted to approximately 26 million dollars.

UNION DEMANDS TOTAL $69,000,000
A YEAR; WOULD INCREASE THE AVERAGE TELEPHONE BILL
$3.30 PER MONTH

The demands of the Union for wages and related matters would increase our costs by about $69,000,000 a year and would make our pay roll costs alone 2 million dollars greater than all the money the Company took in last year. In the terms of the average telephone bill, the increase would amount to $3.30 a month for everyone of our more than 1,731,000 telephone subscribers.

Our wage policy is to pay just and fair wages to employees—wages which compare favorably with local community levels. We believe we now are doing that but we are offering to arbitrate to avoid a strike with its inevitable harm to everyone.

There is no excuse for a telephone strike.
