Farm Owners In Parkway's Path Protest To Breathitt

A petition, signed by more than 200 property-owners along the route of the proposed Jackson Purchase Parkway has been sent to Governor Edward T. Breathitt protesting that the building of the road would destroy some of the farming territory in Graves, Hickman and Fulton counties.

The petition cited the fact that farming is "now a business of big machinery," and that the new parkway would cross farms at an angle and divide the fields into many triangles and small fields rendering the farms unusable and unfit for operation with large farm machinery.

One of the signers of the petition, whose farm will be divided, angrily denounced what he called "the inconsistency of Governor Breathitt's farm program." Citing the names of the farm owners whose land would be "cut into shreds with the parkway," he said:

"Here is a man who said he wants to have our farm economy reach a billion dollars a year and then comes along with a plan to have some of the finest farm land in West Kentucky grow up in waste-land because you can't get to it." Heading the list of persons signing the petition was Leron Williams who owns farm property south of Wingo. Others prominent in farm circles in all three counties signed the protest petition. It was mailed to the Governor last week.

Here it is:

Governor Edward T. Breathitt: As Citizens of Kentucky and more specifically citizens and property owners in Graves, Hickman and Fulton Counties, we deem it our right and privilege to PETITION you, our GOVERNOR that the proposed LIMITED ACCESS Road not be built across the above mentioned counties and more specifically across and through our farms. This area has many good roads already. The farm lands involved are among the richest in the State. These lands are described in our deeds as being townships, ranges and sections. This is a system of square areas.

Agriculture is now a BUSINESS OF BIG MACHINERY. The road above mentioned as being surveyed, crosses our farms at an angle to the section lines and divides the fields into many triangles and small fields thus rendering the farms unusable and unfit for operation with

Nearly 400 Visitors See New "Estate"

Almost 400 persons visited the beautiful new home in Suburban Estates last Sunday afternoon and agreed wholeheartedly with the advance billing that the home and its 20 acres surrounding "is country living with city comforts."

The open house at the handsome, three-bedroom, brick dwelling will be held again this Sunday from 1:30 p. m. until five with refreshments by the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. and personally guided tours that proved so popular last week. The home, located on the Boaz Chapel Road, was built by Wilson A. Jones as the general contractor. Dewey Johnson and Associates are developing the suburban subdivision. The home, furnished tastefully throughout in the Early American motif, was by Wade Furniture

THE UNIVERSITY OF TENN. MARTIN BRANCH MARTIN, TENNESSEE

August 6, 1965

Dear President Westpheling:

I received your letter about a month ago regarding dismissal of the University for the International Banana Festival on Friday, October 1.

A committee is being convened next Monday to consider a number of items important to the institution. It is quite unusual for the University to dismiss for a day, but it is also unusual for us to have an International Festival of the importance of the one at Fulton. Therefore, we shall give the matter a good round of discussion.

Yours very truly,
/s/ Paul Meek
Vice President

Dear Mrs. Westpheling:

We in Ecuador are extremely happy to know that our country has been selected to participate, through the Operation Amigo Program, in your famous International Banana Festival. This is a wonderful opportunity for our country and we are looking forward to it, for which the local committee of Operation Amigo is actively working.

The Government of Ecuador and the Ecuadorian Tourist Commission are obviously interested and they are willing to cooperate in the proper way. Since a new Minister of Industry, Commerce and Tourism has just been appointed, we will have a meeting with him next week, when we will gladly contact you again to report the desire of the Ecuadorian officials for their collaboration.

As you know Miss Ecuador, Patricia Ballesteros will accompany the group of students and newspapermen. The girl students most probably will take with them Ecuadorian typical dresses.

We understand that Mr. Morrison will be coming to Quito in few more days. We will then be able to complete all our plans.

Mayor DeMyer Reports Latest Efforts To Route Parkway For Tourist Trade

Mayor Gilbert DeMyer Monday night raised anew the standing controversy regarding adequate access to the Purchase Parkway which will end in the Fulton area.

All the engineering work on the turnpike has been completed, DeMyer said at a meeting of the city commissioners, and State Highway Commissioner Henry Ward must now make a final decision on the problem of providing proper access from the new highway to the business areas of Fulton.

The parkway, which is to be built with revenue bonds to be repaid from toll receipts, will run from an intersection with U. S. 62 near Kentucky Dam Village to Fulton and pass close to Benton and Mayfield.

Original state plans called for the road to approach Fulton from the northeast on a route just north of US 45 and roughly parallel to it, then cross Ky. 307, US 51, the Mid-and 45 north and west of Fulton. On the limited-access superhighway interchanges were first planned only at Ky. 307 and at US 51 just north of Riceville.

The Fulton News on April 8 published an editorial questioning the adequacy of only these two access points and recommending additional interchanges at the Middle Road and State Line, the other highways the route would cross.

Commissioner Ward replied in a letter to the News April 19, and stated, "I assure you of my understanding of the problem of proper access to communities and my assurance that I will personally follow through on the matter to attempt to guarantee that there will be good access to Fulton from the Purchase Parkway."

The Fulton City Commission on April 26 adopted a resolution asking that the state either terminate the parkway at US 51 north of Riceville or, as an alternative, follow the suggestion of the News and provide two additional interchanges.

Ward on the same date told The News by phone that he had discussed the matter further with the consulting engineers, Wilbur Smith & Associates, and had asked them to make no further plans for access roads until the matter had been thoroughly discussed with local groups and engineers.

DeMyer said at Monday's city commission meeting that he had talked with officials of the Kentucky Turnpike Authority, the engineering company, and the surveying firm engaged in the Parkway project and had argued that the Parkway should be ended at an intersection with US 45 north-east of Fulton.

In addition, he continued, he had argued that if the by-pass leg of the Parkway is to be built into Tennessee that it should be designed like the by-pass around Dyersburg, which has level intersections and no fencing of the right-of-way.

This, the mayor said, would not only allow access to Fulton from all roads intersecting the Parkway but also allow commercial development along the expressway itself.

It is his understanding, DeMyer said, that the highway engineers

Fulton Unable To Help Swift, Engineers Report

The Fulton City Commission Monday night ended discussion of the Swift plant's request for sewage disposal, approved application for an urban renewal planning loan, heard a request for a second cable television service franchise, and passed an ordinance contributing $500 to the Banana Festival.

A report from Ralph C. Pickard, executive director of the Water Pollution Control Commission of the Kentucky Board of Health was read in relation to a request from the Swift plant to handle waste from its cheese-making operations.

The report backed recommendations of the Huff, Ragen, and Associates engineering firm of Memphis and strongly advised the city not to accept the waste from the plant. Swift's operations are located on the Tennessee side of the state line and South Fulton has been unable to provide adequate disposal of the plant's waste.

Swift had asked Fulton to take over its sewage disposal, and the Commission hired an engineering firm to study the ability of its lagoon facilities to handle it.

Pickard's report said that the waste, which has caused trouble in the South Fulton system, could not be adequately handled by the Fulton lagoon and pointed out that complicated legal and administrative problems would be involved.

The report also said that the City of South Fulton should have made arrangements to handle the prob-

Festival Princesses Get Scholarships From Price

The lovely beauty selected as the International Banana Princess at the third annual festival this year has something more to compete for than a dazzling crown, a trophy and the limelight of a glamorous year-long reign. Scholarships, totaling $2000, will be awarded the three top winners in the Princess Pageant to be held during the Bananas Festival on October 1 and 2. The scholarships, made available to the Banana Festival through the generosity of Mr. Mercer Lee Price, president of the Price Foundation, Inc. of Ormond Beach, Florida may be used at the college of the winners' choice.

Court Of Appeals Ruling Does NOT Mean Taxes Will Spiral; State Leaders Seeking Formula

During the past several weeks, since the State Court of Appeals handed down its history-making decision on property assessments, many individuals have been disturbed by the prospect of a drastic increase in their taxes. Most of them are afraid their taxes will double or triple next year.

Nothing could be further from the truth. The Governor, local school officials, and other governmental leaders all across the state have expressed their desire to reduce the tax rate as assessments are increased in line with the court decision. We are convinced that local school boards, which are elected to represent the public in each school district, will act wisely in reducing tax rates to the appropriate level while still maintaining essential school services.

How could they act otherwise? They are taxpayers themselves; and they serve at the discretion of those who elect them. They have the welfare of the community and the children at heart as they make decisions affecting the school program.

The most important idea growing out of this entire situation is that property taxes will be equalized.

Some people will discover that they have been bearing more than their share of the tax burden for many years when they find their actual tax payments are reduced as assessments are equalized. Others, who have not been carrying their full share of the load, may find themselves forced to pay a little more under new assessment practices.

If we just stop to think about this for a minute or two, most of us will admit that we are willing to carry our fair share of the load. What we really object to is carrying more of the load than our neighbor. This recent court decision can insure the fairness of the tax burden on each property owner, while making it possible to have a good school program.

Each piece of property will be assessed on its own merits, regardless of anything else. It is understood that the State Department of Revenue already has prepared some guidelines for this process which can be used by the local tax commissioner and the local board of supervisors in arriving at "the fair cash value" of farms, residences, and commercial property in the local school district.

Most Automobile Accidents Happen Near Home, So Let's Be More Careful At Home

A recent advertisement by a manufacturer of seat belts caught our eye:

"80 percent of all auto accidents happen under 50 m. p. h. within 25 miles of home"

Why so? Perhaps because so much of our driving is done near home. But there is surely another factor: when on a long trip, we tend to be more alert and aware of the possibility of accidents. We are more careful and cautious.

But near at home, we take our driving for granted. We become preoccupied with personal affairs. Our hands are on the wheel, but our minds are somewhere else. And bang! We have a wreck within 2 blocks of the house.

We have long known that we take other things for granted at home. Personal appearance for example. We dress up when we go out, but around the house we sometimes think it doesn't matter how sloppy and unkempt we look to our families.

And our general attitude. In public, we smile and put our best foot forward so others will say what a nice fellow we are. At home, we often show our worst side to those we love the best, and to those who love us best. "The greater the kindred, the less the kindness."

"Charity begins at home" is an old proverb. Let's add another. "Kindness and consideration—as well as safe driving—also begin at home!" A wrecked car can be repaired or replaced. But smashed homes are not so easily patched up. And who wants a family held together by Band-Aids, anyway?

SERMONETTE OF WEEK

Is Poverty Not A Christian Concern?

Poverty has become a popular political issue. The present government is making a great deal over this subject and is developing many programs seeking to alleviate extreme types of poverty. Opponents are speaking out quite loudly that this is only "political hogwash" and has no reason for being.

Perhaps it should be said that the poverty of the world, and more specifically the poverty of people in this country, is always a political issue because it is related to human problems. It is valid to debate methods being used to alleviate poverty, but there is little question of the problem existing.

Our concern here is the question of whether poverty is a Christian concern. Some might ask if even the question should be brought up. It is assumed that more compassion for the poor is a central element of the faith.

Some quote these words of Jesus about "always having the poor with you" as a justification for doing nothing about poverty, or at least doing as little as possible.

In any event this cannot be twisted into a justification for selfishness. It is pretty difficult to be patient with the well fixed people who would say that Christ told us that poverty is a necessary institution in human affairs.

Christ told us no such thing, and therefore we can hardly quote him to defend any apostles of selfish indifference.

More likely Jesus' reference to the poor in this instance was that poverty is a problem that will always be with us and is therefore always a pressing concern of those who choose to be his disciples.

As Christians we must always strive to banish unmerited poverty. The Creator has provided the human race with enough and to spare if we work and have compassion. But it is quite true, as Jesus intimated, that there are times when feeding the poor must give place to other acts.

August 10, 1945

This week marked the passing of another well-known landmark in the City of Fulton, when the old railroad water tank, which stood at the crossing near the Usona Hotel, was torn down by a wrecking crew. The old tank has been replaced by a new and larger one.

A negro was apprehended here last week and turned over to the FBI on a charge of having robbed a passenger on an Illinois Central train between Centralia and Effingham.

Major Glynn Bushart, who flew back to the States from Paris, France, is at home on leave, after serving about a year overseas, with the U. S. Army Medical Corps. Major Ward Bushart, his brother, was also here on leave this week, but has returned to camp.

Sunny Dip Pool, located on Norman Street, was badly damaged by fire on August 7. The flames destroyed the men's lockers and the garage next to it. The fire is thought to have been caused by a truck in the garage. The pool will be closed for the rest of the summer.

Mayor T. T. Boaz, Councilmen R. C. Pickering, Harry Murphy,

Dr. J. L. Jones, Frank Brady, Charles Gregory and Smith Atkins, City Police Judge Lon Adams were returned to office on August 4, being re-elected without opposition.

From Cayce: Miss Jane Garrigan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Garrigan, became the bride of William Chester Sloan on July 24, in the study of the First Baptist Church in Union City. The ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. W. A. Boston. After a southern wedding trip, the couple will make their home in Cayce.

From Pilot Oak: The Missionary Baptist Sunday School went to Rev. Ray Fleming's on August 3 for a picnic and fish fry. Eighty-six were present and preaching in the afternoon was by Rev. Bill Lowry. A most enjoyable day was spent.

From West State Line: Hillman Collier, while on his run on the railroad, got poisoned on some food which he ate in Memphis, and was quite sick, but is some better now.

From Beelerton: S. Sgt. Luther K. Moore and Mrs. Moore entertained August 8 with a supper. Forty-five friends enjoyed their hospitality. Sgt. Moore will leave August 11 for Edinburg, Ind., where he will enter a convalescent hospital for treatment.

LET'S LOOK IT OVER

By Gov. Edward T. Breathitt

Frankfort --

My Commission on Agriculture, aided by related groups and agencies, is taking the practical approach to reaching its goal of a $1 billion-a-year farm income for Kentucky.

Farm leaders throughout the state are being told in a series of 16 regional, or multi-county meetings now in progress, of the farm production possibilities of their respective counties.

They are being told by trained technicians what can be grown most profitably in the various types of soil peculiar to Kentucky and what kinds of livestock can be bred and raised to bring the greatest return.

This series of meetings began August 2 at Elizabethtown and is being continued at Owensboro, Mayfield, Hopkinsville, Bowling Green, Somerset, London, Hazard, Paintsville, Jackson, Harrodsburg, Lexington, Independence, Shelbyville, Grayson and Maysville, the last of the series, on August 31.

Several counties make up each region. Among those invited are the chairmen of county agricultural stabilization and conservation service groups, soil conservation technicians, county extension agents, vocational agricultural teachers, farm bureau presidents, and others.

I want to express my appreciation now to all these people, because I am convinced that by their participation in the program they are rendering a distinct service to our state and its farm economy.

The multi-county meetings are being conducted by a three-man team headed by Hayden Timmons, executive director of the Commission on Agriculture. He is outlining the plans for helping Kentucky to reach its $1 billion farm potential.

Teaming with Timmons are Stephen Q. Allen, University of Kentucky economist, who charts each county's production potential based on the most efficient use of types of soil, and W. Dale Scott, commodity director of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation.

Scott tells what the state and various agencies are doing now and what they plan to do in leadership of widespread, concerted effort to boost farm income.

In attendance at some of the meetings has been Frank Lebus, director of the division of agricultural development for the State Department of Commerce. Lebus reports that a survey made by his office shows an increased demand by processing companies for milk, grain, fruits and vegetables.

The next step after these regional meetings is for the county leaders to put the program into effect in their own counties. Help in county organization will be sought from local chambers of commerce, county development councils and other groups.

Kentucky boasts some of the leading farm products of the nation. The quality of its crops and its livestock are foremost. Its tobacco is equal to or better than the best. Its sheep, swine and beef are tops. The demand exists. Let's meet it.

Social Security Commissioner Gives Advice On Law Changes

As legislation providing health insurance for the aged and making other far-reaching changes in the Social Security program became effective with the signing of the 1965 Social Security Amendments, Kentucky Commissioner of Social Security Robert M. Ball offered some advice for the many millions of persons who will be affected.

Some people will want to take action right away in order to protect their new benefit rights, while most others will need to take no action at all, Ball said.

He added that the 20 million people now receiving social security benefits do not need to take any action at all in order to get the increased cash benefit payments the law provides. The amount of the increase for the months of January through August 1965 will be paid in a separate check that will be delivered in the latter part of September. The first regular checks reflecting the 7 percent increase will be mailed early in October, covering the month of September.

Social Security and railroad retirement beneficiaries now 65 or over will not need to take any action to secure their basic hospital protection under the new Health Insurance Program, Ball said. All aged persons now on the rolls will receive in September or October a full information kit directly by mail describing this protection, which becomes effective July 1, 1966. Before this effective date a Health Insurance Card certifying to their eligibility for the services will automatically be sent to beneficiaries 65 or over.

Social Security beneficiaries will not need to go to the social security office about the voluntary supplementary plan covering physicians fees and other benefits. At the time they get the basic information kit, they will receive an enrollment postcard giving them an opportunity to sign up for the added medical insurance program, which also becomes effective July 1, 1966.

A special message to people 65 or over who have never worked under Social Security. Although not qualified for cash Social Security benefits, these people may qualify for the basic hospital insurance protection under the new "medical" program, Ball explained. Those receiving public assistance from the States may be signed up for the basic hospital insurance by their welfare agencies. Enrollments in the voluntary medical insurance plan can be accepted beginning September 1, 1965.

Therefore, persons over 65 who have not worked under Social Security should wait at least until September 1 before visiting their Social Security office, Ball advised. Then they can sign up for the basic hospital insurance and, also, enroll in the medical insurance program if they wish that additional important protection.

Certain other groups affected by the law do need to take action. They need only inquire at their Social Security office, the Commissioner said.

Among those involved are: persons now 65 or over who are insured under Social Security but have never applied for benefits. Even though they may still be working full time, it would be desirable for these people to apply now to establish their benefit rights. This will qualify them for hospital insurance protection and will also make sure they get any cash benefits to which they may be entitled.

commencing in 1966 because of more liberal retirement test provisions.

Under the amendments, any earnings that a person has after applying for Social Security will automatically be included at a later date in a recomputation of benefits if it is advantageous to the individual; therefore no one can lose by filing for benefits as soon as possible.

Persons 72 or older not now getting benefits because they (or their husbands) had not worked enough under Social Security to qualify under the previous provisions of the law, also fall in this category. These persons, if they have any Social Security credits at all, should get in touch with the nearest Social Security office right away, because the amount of time they needed to have worked under Social Security has now been reduced.

Some persons 72 or over will now qualify for benefits of $35 a month with as little as three quarters of coverage under Social Security. Benefits may also be payable to the wife or widow of such persons.

Widows age 60 or 61 at the time the law becomes effective do not need to take any action, but beginning in September, widows can choose to have their cash benefits start at age 60, instead of age 62, but at a reduced amount. Application for this purpose may be filed immediately.

No action is necessary for students 18 to 22 years of age whose Social Security benefits have been stopped, as well as others nearing age 18 who plan to continue in school. Benefits can be paid back to January 1965 to those who already have been dropped from the rolls, but only upon application at a Social Security district office. Those nearing age 18 and planning to stay in school or return to school should also visit a Social Security district office, in order to supply the information about their schooling which is necessary if benefits are to be paid after age 18.

A severely disabled worker may now collect disability insurance benefits if his condition has lasted or is expected to last for 12 full months—even though he may recover. Until now, he could not collect disability insurance benefits unless his disability was expected to continue for a long and indefinite period of time, or else cause his death.

The Social Security Administration plans to search its records and get in touch with those who applied for but were denied disability insurance benefits during the past year because they were expected to recover. Others who think they may qualify under this change in the law should ask about getting benefits at the nearest Social Security office. There is no change in amount of work required under Social Security for eligibility for disability insurance benefits.

"Other persons who will want to inquire about possible new Social Security benefits," the Commissioner said, "include widows past 60 who have remarried, and women 62 or over who were divorced after at least 20 years of marriage."

One other important don't for persons over 65, Commissioner Ball emphasized, is "Don't because of this new law cancel any hospital or medical insurance you may now have. None of the health insurance provisions of the new law give any protection whatsoever until July 1, 1966."

SCATTERED PATTERN

About People and Things

You can't imagine how disconcerting "quiet" can be, until the bedlam of noise has departed. The Banana Festival's temporary headquarters in the News office moved into permanent quarters in the former Cook building Tuesday and our front office seems like a morgue. It's not that Executive Secretary Connie Pawlukiewicz made all that noise, but three people in the front office, with three phones ringing and people running in and out on Festival business made a lively spot for us. Now, only Annabelle Edwards and Wayne Anderson remain in the News office and they don't seem to have much to say. They're probably missing their co-worker Connie, who has been around for almost four months.

But lonelier still must be Connie herself in the building now owned by Charlie Burrow and Roy D. Taylor, which both wonderful gents have donated to the Banana Festival for the "duration" of the frenzy contingent upon planning the giant undertaking that begins September 29 with the Bobby Nichols Banana Match and ends on Sunday, October 3 when 26 Latin-American students, Miss Ecuador and scores of other VIP's and visitors leave for their homes.

With the establishment of Festival headquarters in a permanent place there'll be work a-plenty to do. Connie is going to need all kinds of help, clerical and manual, so why not drop by and lend a hand. By the way... you ought to pay a visit to Festival headquarters, whether you have time to work or not... we think it's a very attractive and interesting place, and we hope you'll think so too!

Getting a small respite from Festival work (Paul says publishing a newspaper is interfering with Festival planning) we found ourselves pecking the typewriter for a change, writing some items we've had to put aside for some several weeks. The luxury of writing won't last long, we're sure, but while it's here, let's enjoy!

For instance we've wanted to note for posterity that Alma Ford (the former Alma Phillips) and her husband Billy are the proud parents of a fine son born "sometime ago." We got a card, maybe a couple of months ago, announcing the arrival and have been happy about the news ever since, but never leisurely enough to tell you so. The Fords live in Alaska and from all reports they like it "way up there" just fine. Alma was with Southern Bell Telephone Company for many years, and is with a telephone company in Alaska too.

(Ed's Note: Found the card since writing this... Marvin Carlos Ford, weighing eight pounds and three ounces and "standing" 21 1/2 inches, was born June 28.)

While the arrival of the Ford youngster gave us much pleasure, a news item we picked up from our home-town paper within the past few weeks caused us great sadness. Mattie Dear is dead.

The elderly Negro woman, whose columns of homespun philosophy were once a regular feature of The Clarksdale (Miss.) Press Register, and the Fulton News died at her home on the Billy Butler Sr. place at Alligator, Miss.

The columnist originally wrote her weekly meditations, "The Sayings of Mattie Dear," for the old Clarksdale Daily Press and following the merger of the two local newspapers into the Press Register, she continued to contribute her writings until about 10 years ago.

She always closed her column with the quotation: "Be of good cheer, God is in the plan."

Mattie had been in failing health for some months and had only last month returned from a stay in a

Shelby hospital to die at her long-time home.

Her exact age is not known. Her death was preceded by her husband's (who was simply known as "Hun", even to his wife) several years ago.

Reading of Mattie's death brought back some poignant memories of those early days during World War II when we were trying to build circulation for the new daily newspaper we had started. We found Mattie living in a neat tenant house on a cotton plantation near Clarksdale. She had been recommended to us by some of her church workers as a wonderful person and a true "philosopher."

She turned out to be just that as well as a very good and personal friend.

Her columns were widely read by home-town boys in the service all over the world who passed the paper around to other servicemen on land and sea. Soon we were getting subscribers from all over the world from boys wanting to read "Mattie Dear." The New York Times picked up one of her columns. At the Press office we compiled some of her best writings and sent them as gifts to people in all walks of life.

We always thought that if Mattie Dear had not become so despondent when her beloved "Hun" died, which death took away all her zest for living, she might have become the Harry Golden of the Negro race.

Whenever we see or read something about Pat Boone, we always feel a kindred closeness to this fine and talented young man. He seems a Futurian to us, since he has kin-folks here. Recently Time Magazine wrote a short article about Pat. It was so nice we thought you'd enjoy it with us. Here it is: After bewailing the Beatles' recent Italian tour ("evenings of madness, collective hysteria, fury"), the Vatican's L'Osservatore della Domenica continued to survey the sulphurous plains of modern show business and suddenly came upon that cool, unfurrowed paragon Pat Boone, 31. Ah, sighed the weekly's writer in an open letter: "No shouts, no grins, no contortions; a deep, velvety, measured voice." But it was Pat's home life that really charmed L'Osservatore: "No grandeur, no scandal, no 'loves', a picture of moral and professional probity"—in contrast to "some sharks we know. Even if you are not of our faith, for this example we thank you wholeheartedly, Signore Pat Boone."

Miss Fuller And Mr. Warren Wed In Beautiful Ceremony Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Warren

The sanctuary of the First Baptist Church provided a handsome setting for the formal wedding of Miss Joan Carol Fuller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Fuller to James Hal Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Warren which was solemnized at three o'clock on the afternoon of Sunday the eighth of August nineteen hundred and sixty five.

The altar section of the church was effectively decorated with massive arrangements of magnolia and foliage, smilax, woodwardia and many spiral candelabra which filled the pulpit. Centering the setting was a handsome Grecian urn which held an artistic arrangement of white bridal flowers. Additional candelabra were placed at either side of the wedding party. Smilax and white flowers marked the reserved pews. Gary Fuller and Marshall Burgess served as acolytes. Prior to the ceremony Mrs. J. U. McKendree presented a program of nuptial music which included the Theme from the Symphony Pathetic by Tschowsky, My Own True Love, Greensleeves, Because DeHardenot, Schubert's Ave Maria, and the traditional wedding marches which were used for the processional and the recessional. Miss Mary Elizabeth Fields, Soprano, sang "O Perfect Love", "One Hand One Heart," and the "Maiden Lord's Prayer."

The Reverend Denzel Dukes, the pastor of the church, officiated, using a most impressive double ring service.

The attractive bride wore a formal bridal gown styled by Angelair fashioned of peau de soie. The gown was styled on the empire line featuring bodice length sleeves and a graceful Sabrins neckline. Imported Chantilly lace encircled the neckline and enhanced the detachable Watteau train. Intricate self buttons in the back added to the beauty of the gown. Her many tiered illusion veil fell from a silken rose with seed pearls outlining each petal. The bride wore a strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and tulles. Her bouquet was attached to a white satin Bible which was a gift of the groom's maternal grandmother.

The bride chose as her attendants, Mrs. Ronnie Jones of Mayfield, Kentucky, matron of honor, and Miss Jane Warren, sister of the groom, Miss Vee Kelley of Lebanon, Tennessee, Miss Elaine Capps of Memphis as bridesmaids and Miss Jane Ann Fuller, sister of the bride, as junior bridesmaid. They were attired in formal gowns styled similarly to that of the bride. Pastel Wedgewood blue was the chosen color of the floor length gowns. The detachable Watteau trains featured a panel of matching lace down the center. Their short blue veils fell from a matching headpiece of matching blue flowers. Little Miss Molly Wallace was an enchanting flower girl in her dainty frock. She scattered fuchsia colored rose petals along the bridal aisle. All of the attendants carried spray arrangements of fuchsia roses.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Fuller wore a sleeveless pink silk linen dress with a sequin and crystal trimmed bodice. To complete table was a handsome tall silver candelabra. Other silver appointments were used. The register table was covered with a white cloth and a three branched candelabra ornamented the table. Miss Linda Thorpe was at the Register. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Roland Bell, Miss Carol Schrader, Miss Marcia Capps of Memphis, Tennessee, Miss Carol Cobb of Memphis, Tennessee, Mrs. Larry Sullivan of Knoxville, Tennessee and Mrs. Bill Young of Memphis, Tennessee.

When the young couple left for their southern honeymoon Mrs. Warren was wearing a two piece silk suit of pastel blue adorned by an elongated ruffle at the neckline. Her matching hat was by Schiaparelli. She wore a corsage from her bridal bouquet.

REHEARSAL DINNER

Following the rehearsal of the Warren-Fuller party which was held at the First Baptist Church on Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Warren and Miss Mary Belle Warren entertained with a Smorgasboard Dinner at the Terrace Room of the Park Terrace. The long U shaped table was attractively decorated with miniature tiered wedding cakes encircled at the base with lilies of the valley and greenery. The cakes were decorated with a miniature bride, groom and lilies of the valley.

For the dinner the bride chose a two piece sheath styled frock of pink linen with touches of pink, yellow and white embroidery. Her gift corsage was of daisies.

Those attending were Miss Fuller and Mr. Warren, Mr. and Mrs. James Fuller, Miss Jane Warren, Miss Jane Ann Fuller, Gary Fuller, Charles Willingham, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Young, Miss Elaine Capps, Miss Marcia Capps, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harmon, Marshall Burgess, Reverend and Mrs. Denzel Dukes, Mr. and Mrs. J. U. McKendree, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Voelpel, Miss Mary Elizabeth Fields, Miss Vee Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Jones, Al Spivey, Miss Mollie Wallace and Mr. and Mrs. Karrell Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Warren, and Miss Mary Belle Warren.

She wore a shoulder length veil of silk illusion secured to a crown of pearls, accented with crystals. The bride's cascade bouquet

Furthermore the present roads serving this area are convenient and will be, when cut by a LIMITED ACCESS ROAD, a system of DEAD ENDS and long drives around which will destroy the progress we have made with Highway No. 45, 307 highway and Edgewood Cut-Off of the Illinois Central Railroad. Highway No. 45 has long been established and Highway 307 and Edgewood Cut-Off follow a north and south course, which made few triangles.

Fulton, Ky., is served by five railroad lines of the Illinois Central System and many good roads. Mayfield, Ky., is well served by many highways and one railroad line. We wish for more industry in this rich section of the Commonwealth, and the blacktopping of all roads now built. Likewise four lanes for Highway No. 45 or Highway 307, might be advisable.

For the reasons set out, we the signers of this petition ask that the LIMITED ACCESS ROAD be not built in this area.

Dear Editor:

What is a LIMITED ACCESS ROAD? First of all, it is built principally for the 70,000 pound limit giant trucks. Likewise, for Cadillac, Lincoln Continental and Rolls Royce motorists and those persons who want to drive at break-neck speed. The majority of middle class and poorer people will MAYBE get to take one or two trips a year and travel the super road.

It is not for the benefit of a local community, as no business can be built on either side, for it is fenced in. Even the gas stations and restaurants are in the middle thereof and owned or leased by the STATE. It is Kentuckiana, Ltd. A Chinese wall would be very similar and would be almost as great an impediment to the local citizenry.

Entrances and exits are far apart and will thus render present road arrangement less convenient. Many secondary roads are made DEAD ENDS when they are crossed by a Super Road and the local community is greatly inconvenienced by having to drive around to an underpass or overpass road.

The cost is very great to the TAXPAYER unless the toll charges are sufficient to pay off the bonds. Your STATE is bonded to pay the cost. You are a citizen and part of the STATE.

Our population is growing very rapidly and a road that requires a 300 ft. right of way takes much land out of production.

Too, if such a road crosses the country at an angle to section lines, it creates many triangular fields which are unadapted to use with modern tractor machinery. Again, the need for more farm acreage is thus reduced when the population increases is demanding more and more food production.

When we are asked to vote bond issues to pay the cost of these Chinese walls we should carefully weigh the matter before we vote YES to a proposed bond issue.

Incumbents Win In Obion Primary; McKinnis Sweeps Northeast Area

The incumbents won renomination in all three contested races in the Obion County Democratic Primary Saturday. County Judge Dan W. McKinnis defeated two opponents, as did Circuit Court Clerk Dee Ethridge and Registrar Mrs. Rubye C. Armstrong.

McKinnis carried both South Fulton precincts and Pierce and McConnell for a clean sweep of the northeastern part of the county. Ethridge and his opponent, Bill Hall of Samburg, evenly split the four precincts, with Ethridge carrying East South Fulton and McConnell, Mrs. Armstrong won easily in all four.

A vigorous and determined effort to unseat McKinnis failed as he carried 28 of the county's 33 precincts to win a second eight-year term.

McKinnis received 3,872 votes against 2,393 for his strongest opponent, T. Willie Jones of Obion. The third candidate, Frank Ray of Union City, received 555 votes.

In the circuit court clerk race, the closest of the three, Dee Ethridge won renomination to his third four-year term by defeating a strong challenge from Hall.

Ethridge received 3,612 votes and Hall 2,950.

Mrs. Rubye Armstrong, seeking renomination for her sixth four-year term as registrar, was an easy winner over Ed Lee Stone, veteran Obion County land appraiser, who carried only one precinct.

Mrs. Armstrong received 4,185 votes and Stone 2,170.

County Court Clerk James T. Kendall, Trustee Earl Thorpe, Sheriff Bob McCowan, and General Sessions Judge Ebb Gwaltney were renominated without opposition.

In the East South Fulton precinct the results of the races for the three contested posts were the same as in the county as a whole. For county judge, McKinnis received 142 votes, Jones 63, and Ray 19. Ethridge polled 127 against 88 for Hall, and Mrs. Armstrong defeated Stone 159 to 47.

McKinnis carried the West South Fulton precinct with 155 votes against 60 for Jones and 30 for Ray. Hall, with 165 votes, was the front-runner in the circuit court clerk race, with Ethridge receiving 123 votes. Armstrong defeated Stone 165 to 55.

In the McConnell precinct the results were: for county judge, McKinnis 31, Jones 14, and Ray 10; for circuit court clerk, Ethridge 31, Hall 19; and for registrar, Mrs. Armstrong 34 and Stone 17.

In the Pierce precinct McKinnis continued his clean sweep of the northeastern section of the county with 33 votes to Jones' 9 and Ray's 7. Hall polled 34 votes against 13 for Ethridge to carry a second of the four precincts in the South Fulton area. Mrs. Armstrong, with 159 votes, easily surpassed Stone, who received 47.

The winners of Saturday's primary will be the Democratic nominees for re-election in the general election in August of next year.

CHESTNUT GLADE
By Mrs. Harvey Vaughn

The protracted meeting is in progress at Sandy Branch this week, with Bro. Land, from Nashville, doing the preaching at the afternoon and evening services. Sunday afternoon an impressive ordination service was conducted with deacons from several sister churches assisting. Ray Terrell was ordained a deacon.

Plans are being made by members of the Ruthville Church for a homecoming on Sunday, August 22. Bro. James Jones, a former pastor, will bring the morning message. There will be dinner at the church during the noon hour and singing in the afternoon. Several quartets have promised to be present. All singers and quartets are cordially invited to enjoy this Homecoming with the Ruthville congregation. An invitation is extended to everyone.

Miss Angela Jackson, from Lansing, Mich., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Johnnie Lee Simpson, and family.

Mrs. Pearl Rogers was called to the bedside of her daughter, Pauline, in California, who had suffered a heart attack. Best wishes for a speedy recovery are extended by her many friends in this community.

A bountiful ham supper was enjoyed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Sims last Friday night, honoring Mrs. Sims' birthday. Those who were present were: Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Brundige, Mr. and Mrs. Durrell Terrell, Mr. and Mrs. Ches Morrison, and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Vaughn.

Harold Brundige, from California, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Brundige, and other relatives and friends.

Bonnie Thomas has been dismissed from the Baptist Hospital, where he was a patient for several days. He is improving at his home.

of Kentucky and eventually provide an express route from Cincinnati and Louisville to Memphis.

It was thought that traffic could easily take advantage of Fulton's existing facilities by using US 51 and 45 either before entering or after leaving the Parkway at these two points.

The problem is, of course, what the effect of the new Parkway will be on local businesses. Similar controversies have arisen every time a proposal has been made to change the location of any highway through Fulton.

The construction of the US 51-45 by-pass was bitterly opposed by some downtown merchants on the assumption that it would draw trade away from their businesses and the town itself. But some old firms moved to the by-pass and many new ones located there with the result of increased business activity for the city as a whole. New enterprises, especially service stations and motels, almost inevitably spring up around the intersections of superhighways and other main routes, and signs are usually erected on the expressways to direct motorists to facilities available in towns near the route. The existing businesses along the by-pass will be convenient to the proposed US 51 interchange and any others decided upon by the highway department.

Mayor DeMyer admitted in his report to the Commission that the by-pass alone would probably be insufficient to handle the large increase in traffic that the Parkway is expected to generate, and conceded that the western leg of the parkway would eventually have to be built regardless of any other terminal point selected now. The State of Tennessee has already agreed to build the interchange with US 51 southwest of Fulton and Gov. Frank Clement has promised continued four-laning of the highway from Fulton to Memphis.

Many people feel that completion of the western portion of the Parkway would direct much of Fulton's future growth to the west, as the construction of the by-pass has done, and thus provide an added benefit for businesses in the area. It is thought that access points at the Middle Road and West State Line would accelerate this growth as well as provide supplemental access to Highlands facilities for Parkway users.

have recommended to Ward that the by-pass portion of the Parkway be constructed into Tennessee as originally planned, but that all intersections be at ground level: as an alternative the route could be terminated at Ky. 307, the first of the originally-planned interchanges in the Fulton Area. DeMyer indicated that either of these proposals would be satisfactory to business interests located on the US 51-45 by-pass in Highlands, but said that if the western portion of the Parkway is built it should not be fenced and new businesses should be allowed to develop along the right of way. The Mayor expressed doubt that approval of such a plan could be obtained, however. It was originally foreseen that the proposed access points at Ky. 307 and US 51 would be adequate for Fulton to realize the potential economic benefits of its location at the beginning of a superhighway system that will extend the length

DO YOU RECALL.....

THOSE WONDERFUL YEARS...
They shall abundantly utter the memory of thy great goodness... The Lord has blessed us with children and now grandchildren. Our lives, and now theirs have been molded in the church. One generation shall praise thy works to another, and shall declare thy mighty acts. Pass on this priceless heritage to your children and grandchildren.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

FESTIVAL PRINCESS

A scholarship of $1000; first and second alternates will receive $500 scholarships. All members of the Princess' Court will receive individual trophies.

The scholarships to the Banana Festival Princess Pageant have been made available because of the impressive significance of the festival's program. The young ladies who will receive the scholarships will join a growing number of other deserving students who have benefited by the philanthropy of the Price Foundations, Inc. and the deep personal interest in education by Mr. and Mrs. Price.

In a telephone conversation with the genial and energetic couple from their home in Ormond Beach, Mr. Price told the president of the Banana Festival: "For many years, we have been vitally interested in giving educational opportunities to young adults who can put their talents to good use in furthering the cause of culture and good citizenship in America."

"Knowing Rita Wilson and her family and learning from them the dedication and sincerity of your program to promote the cause of understanding and friendship with our Latin-American neighbors, my wife and I consider it a privilege to assist with your Festival by recommending to the Price Foundation, Inc. these scholarships for our Princess Pageant."

"I shall be happy to be one of the judges of your pageant and look forward to meeting all the wonderful people in your twin cities."

Mr. Price is much in demand as a beauty pageant judge. He has judged many of the largest Miss America state pageants in the United States.

Meanwhile, Dr. Glynn Bushart, chairman of the Princess Pageant's contest selection committee made known today that applications are being sought for young ladies to participate in the Princess competition. Deadline for making application to participate is September 13. After that date, a screening committee will select only 30 entrants.

Contestants will be judged in swim suits and formal, on the basis of beauty, poise and personality. There will be no talent competition insofar as winning points are concerned, but there will be an informal meeting with the judges for personality judging.

When it constructed its own disposal system, and that the problem was still South Fulton's responsibility.

In discussing the report the Commission made it clear that it would very much like to help Swift, but that the request for disposal of the

Be A Real Amigo! Invite An Amigo To Your Home

Be a real Amigo... ask an Amigo to stay in your home with you during a two-week visit to the twin cities under the Operation Amigo plan.

The students will arrive in Fulton on the morning of Sunday, September 19. They will leave on Sunday, October 3.

During that time they will be under the supervision of a general chairman of the Banana Festival Association who will schedule their activities for every day that they are our honored guests.

When the 26 students come here to participate in our Festival and to attend our schools they will be visiting one of the smallest communities ever seen under the Operation Amigo program. It is a great honor for our twin cities to have been selected.

The students will be in the four high school grades. They have been selected with the highest regard for talent, scholastic ability, prominence in their communities, and from family backgrounds that will permit them to be the future leaders of their respective countries. The contacts they make in our community and the impression they get of us as individuals and as good Americans cannot help but go a long way toward the pursuit of friendship and understanding with our Latin American neighbors.

Because so many requests to house the students have come to the Banana Festival Association, the board of directors of the organization revealed that the students will be housed in a manner to give them a cross section of our community life. Applications to invite the students into our homes may be secured at the Banana Festival office in the Fulton News office. Deadline for making application is August 30.

A committee has been selected by Festival officials to review the applications when they have all been received. Prospective Amigo-hosts will be given every consideration and notified when the homes have been selected. No favoritism will be shown in the selections. Applications will be considered on the basis of the coincidence of interest with the host-applicant and the student.

SUPPLEMENT TO THE FULTON NEWS

THURSDAY, AUGUST 12, 1965

While many cities in America ponder the problems of teen-age delinquency, in the twin cities of Fulton, Ky. and South Fulton, Tenn. the teen-agers are busy trying to bring about friendship and understanding with their Latin-American friends. Shown here looking up at the name of their organization, "Tri-America Teens" and looking forward to September 19 when 26 Latin-American students come to the twin cities for a two-week visit under the Operation Amigo plan are: (left to right) Randall Roper, Dee Fields, Chris McKinney, Jen Ray Brown, Brenda Barker, Lane Douglas and David Winston. If you're tired, stop. Many drivers who are fatigued from work, long hours of driving, or other reasons, weave over the center line and crash into other cars, or fall asleep and drive off the roadway. To be safe, stop the car, rest, or take a coffee break before continuing.

New Homes Account For $1 In Each $18

ONE DOLLAR out of every $18 spent in the United States last year was directly related to home building. Perry E. Willis, President of the National Association of Home Builders, made that estimate during recent congressional hearings here on proposed housing legislation.

That figure, Willis explained, includes the $21 billion spent during the year for actual housing construction, plus expenditures directly resulting from the construction, such as new schools, community facilities, service industries, and durable goods.

He said further that each new home built provides about two man-years of employment, half of it off the construction site. At that rate, home building provided 3,000,000 jobs in 1964.

Ray Harm's Schedule Of Programs

WILDLIFE ARTIST and naturalist Ray Harm, always popular with visitors in Kentucky state parks, will follow this schedule of appearances the rest of the summer season: next Friday, Breaks Interstate; Saturday, Jenny Wiley; August 13, Pine Mountain; August 14, Cumberland Falls; August 28, Pennyville Forest; August 29, Audubon; September 5, Natural Bridge.

With one exception, Harm will appear at 8:30 p.m. on the date given for a program of nature study and interpretations of his paintings, and will be available to conduct a nature walk the following morning. The exception is August 29, when his appearance will be Sunday afternoon only.

U.S. Sells Japan More Feed Grains

TOKYO — In 1959 Japan bought from the United States only $15 million worth of feed grains and dehydrated alfalfa. Last year Japan was the No. 1 U. S. customer for those items, taking $150 million worth. In the same span of years, imports of U. S. soybean meal jumped from $120,000 to $1.7 million.

Rugged Constitution

Next time you are riding as a passenger in an automobile, hold yourself rigid for a moment. Then ask yourself this question:

"Am I moving or am I not?" Obviously, both answers would be right. In one sense you are moving, in another sense you are not. So it is with that unique legal document known as the United States Constitution. It is always changing, yet it has remained unchanged. It is, at once, both flexible and fixed.

No doubt the Founding Fathers, could they visit us today, would be astounded at some of the activities of our government.

Men who travelled by stagecoach could not have foreseen the specific need for safety regulations on jet planes. Men who dwelt in a narrow coastal strip, far from the seats of world power, could not have foreseen the demands of a global cold war.

And men bred in a farm economy could not have foreseen the exact nature of the problems of today's thronging cities and giant industries, with the nation's population 40 times what it was then.

But the Founding Fathers would be familiar indeed with the basic concepts—limited government, freedom of speech, checks and balances, popular sovereignty, freedom of religion—that still characterize our way of life.

Nor have succeeding generations yet disavowed a word of the preamble, in which the Founding Fathers defined the very purpose of government.

OVER 800 PEOPLE WERE FED in an hour at the annual Farm Bureau Picnic last Wednesday. Some of the Farm Bureau, 4-H, and FFA members attending are shown as they filled their plates and helped themselves to cold drinks on the grounds of the Union Cumberland Presbyterian Church. The picnic, which always draws huge crowds, has been held annually for about thirty years and is probably one of the oldest such continuous events. More pictures are in this week's Fulton News.

Disappointed Burglar

CARL JUNCTION, Mo.

A burglar who broke into a service station here was so disgusted he left a note, according to Arch Masterson, Jasper County deputy sheriff who investigated the break-in. The note said: "If I'd known this was all there was, I wouldn't have come here." Taken in the burglary were only a few candy bars.

Providence Bans Skateboards

PROVIDENCE, R.I.

An ordinance banning skate boards on public streets and sidewalks in Providence has been passed by City Council.

The measure, if it is signed by the mayor, provides for fines up to $200, or jail terms of up to 30 days, for use of skate boards "on any street, highway, sidewalk or pedestrian mall."

Thriving Business!

BENTON, Ky. — Eighty-six cases of beer were seized by Marshall County officers Tuesday night in a raid on a public bathhouse at Cherokee State Park.

Two Ft. Campbell soldiers were taken into custody and charged with selling or furnishing alcoholic beverages in dry territory.

Arrested were Richard Graham and Melvin Smith. Deputy Sheriff Joe Anderson, while on patrol, said he noted an unusual amount of traffic around a bath house in the park.

Anderson said he investigated and was sold two bottles of beer.

He left, obtained a warrant against the soldiers, and returned with Sheriff Sam Myers. The haul was called one of the largest in Marshall County history.

WHAT'S GOING ON

The annual District 4-H and FFA Beef Shows and Sales will commence at Hopkinsville, September 27. The department is now publishing the general rules to govern each of these six shows, and the local committees are making final arrangements for another successful show. The Hopkinsville show will also have a carcass contest on Oct. 2 at Clarksville, Tenn. Other sites and dates are: Sept. 28, Glasgow; Oct. 2 & 6, Owensboro; Oct. 4 & 7, Murray (carcass contest at Union City, Tenn.); Oct. 7, Maysville; and, Nov. 3, 4, 5, Lexington.

Wool prices and fleece weights are up but the total production is down, our Kentucky Crop and Livestock Reporting Service has announced. The price that Kentucky farmers received this year averaged 57 cents per pound compared to a 53 cents per pound wool price last year. The average fleece weight in 1965 was 7.3 pounds, up from last year's 7.1 pounds. However, only 183,000 sheep were shorn on Kentucky farms this year totalling an estimated 1,336,000 pounds of wool—the five-year average was 2,826,000 pounds. Kentucky wool prices were considerably above the average price of 53.2 cents throughout the United States for the 1965 season. We are pleased to learn that grower comments indicate their intentions to purchase breeding ewes are above recent years. Also, growers who had discontinued raising sheep indicate that they are restocking.

We hope that recent furor over the state's surplus food program will not precipitate drastic actions that may result in hardships for our school children and the many thousands of Kentuckians who are in genuine need of such assistance. We readily admit, and having been pointing out the fact for some time, that there are many instances where persons without need for such aid have been receiving surplus commodities. In all cases, we have sought to get solid evidence that would lead to the prosecution of such violators. In some cases, we have even found it necessary to withdraw food donations from an entire county. Such extreme action often adds to the hardships being suffered by many needy people who are already sorely underprivileged economically.

I have complete confidence in Thomas A. Lewis, our director of Commodity Distribution. Tom has been the only director the program has ever had since it was set up in 1949.

His excellent background of school teaching and service as a Lt. Colonel in the Quartermaster during WW2, when combined with his high personal integrity and industry, has made him one of the top surplus food administrators in the United States. School people have long been complimentary of the actions that may result in hardships for our school children and the many thousands of Kentuckians who are in genuine need of such assistance. We readily admit, and having been pointing out the fact for some time, that there are many instances where persons without need for such aid have been receiving surplus commodities. In all cases, we have sought to get solid evidence that would lead to the prosecution of such violators. In some cases, we have even found it necessary to withdraw food donations from an entire county. Such extreme action often adds to the hardships being suffered by many needy people who are already sorely underprivileged economically.

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. —Chelsea Montoya received enough write-in votes to give her a place on the student council at the University of New Mexico. But Chelsea did not accept. She is a cat whose name was mentioned on the campus as a prank.

Bad Luck Again Hit Trout Ponds

BRYSON CITY, N.C. —A trout pond manager knows that bad luck — like lightning — can strike twice in the same place.

A year ago a flash flood swept several thousand rainbow trout out of L. C. Barnes' ponds into nearby Fontana Lake. Barnes rebuilt the ponds.

This week a tank truck loaded with acid overturned on a highway a quarter of a mile from the ponds. The spilled acid ran into a small stream and on to the ponds.

Barnes said he lost 18,000 trout. Wildlife officials said he may not be able to use the ponds again for five years.
