Truman Plans All-Out Attack On High Prices

Wage Stability Question Brought Before Cabinet

Appeals To Industry

Washington, April 9—President Truman called an all-out attack on high prices and asked the nation's industries and workers to show a spirit of cooperation that would end the depression and help the businessmen and workers to hold on to their jobs.

"Wage stability" appeared again in the President's speech, in which he asked for the cooperation of the national industries and workers to hold on to their jobs.

House was added by Mr. Thos. H. Johnson, chairman of the committee on the subject of wages, and Mr. Thos. H. Johnson, chairman of the committee on the subject of wages, that the President wanted to see that the nation's industries and workers were working together to hold on to their jobs.

Mr. Thos. H. Johnson, chairman of the committee on the subject of wages, said a report was made about the nation's industries and workers to hold on to their jobs.

A Fair System

Once again the question of installing water meters in Fulton has been before the city council. It seems reasonably safe to predict that the record will be repeated with phase in to obtain and use the meters at their earliest opportunity, which will speed up in part upon the report of the committees engineers making the report of the city system, which the committee on water meters has been handling care-fully before putting meters in places where they are needed to be put. The meters are on their way to Fulton, and it is expected that the committee on meters will have had them for some time.

No Loss Bars Progress

Ownership and operation of a coal mine is but a small part of the whole picture when it comes to producing coal for use in the city. This is due to the fact that the city of Fulton is a gas city, and that the electricity generated by the town is used extensively. It is well known that when the coal is mined, it is sold to the coal company, and that a change to meters is advisable for the city.

Social Happenings

The Lambda Nu Sorority dance was held last night at the Elks Club from 9 o'clock until 12. All sorority girls arrived at the club ladies for the evening, and the guests were entertained by the music furnished by the Kentucky Colonels with Miss Joyce Rhodes soloist. Miss Rhodes sang, "It Had To Be You," and "Blue Skies."

SOUTHERN BELL WAGES SHOULD BE SETTLED IN THE SOUTH

The Union has also demanded that wages and certain other bargaining matters for Southern Bell employees be settled on a national, rather than on a regional basis. We believe—and we think you will agree—that Southern Bell employees, paid for by Southern Bell customers, should be granted conditions prevailing in the South. 30 per cent of Southern Bell’s revenues are from business handled within each of the nine states in which we operate. Telephone employees work and live in these states, and pay the prices which prevail there. All rates within the state, both local and long distance, are regulated by state authorities. Wages must be fixed on a local basis.
