Find Move To Integrate L. R. Churches A Farce

By M. L. REID

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—When neighbors of Albert Hudson, a 45-year-old unemployed licensed practical nurse, saw him leave home dressed up on a recent Sunday morning as they were preparing to leave for church, some of them assumed that he was going to either a funeral or a wedding.

He was not a man who attended church regularly.

It was not until the next day when they picked up their newspapers, or switched to the television news that they found out that he had attempted to attend the white Second Baptist church, and that he was accused of trying to integrate the churches.

But Mr. Hudson told the Tri-State Defender in a private interview last week that integration of the churches is not his motive. "If we were trying to integrate the churches," he said, "I would be asking for membership. We have not forced our way into a single church. If they say we are not welcome, we leave."

"A CRUSADE" Just what his purpose is in trying to attend services at a white church, Mr. Hudson would not say. He did say that it was "a crusade," and that when his mission is completed, he would probably reveal its purpose in an article.

During an earlier interview, the nurse told a reporter that had officials at the Second Baptist church known his mission they would have no doubt thrown their doors wide open to him and his group and at the same time not welcomed them in.

"I am seeking Christian-minded men and women to follow me," he said, "some who look for Christianity to stand for what it really is. Negroes and whites are worshipping the same God, and I do not see why there should be such a rickamole over them worshipping together."

"THE POWDER KEG" That his "crusade" began at the time of the crisis over school integration, Mr. Hudson said, is merely coincidental. "I am trying to escape the powder keg," he said, "and not trying to set it off."

"Christ will lead me to men on earth, and it is up to us to find it, and if we seek it, we will find it and we certainly need it now."

Mr. Hudson said that he was somewhat disturbed over the fact that reporters and photographers were capitalizing over his crusade, and "popping those bulbs in my face."

"SENSITIVE ABOUT PIX" Besides," he said, "those pictures make me look too fat. I was looking at one on television last night, and it was horrible. The one I like best though, is the one on page 93 of the 'U. S. News

CRUSADE LEADER — Albert Hudson, right, 45-year-old unemployed licensed practical nurse, who made headlines in recent weeks for attempting to attend white churches in integration-torn Little Rock is given the frigid stare by Mrs. Daisy Bates, who showed up with other reporters at the man's home under the impression that he had called a press conference. Persons who accompanied the man to churches said they were taken there by a white man, and were paid by Mr. Hudson. He denied both charges.

and World Report," the one of me coming down the steps of Second Baptist."

Mr. Hudson is five feet eleven inches tall, and has brought his weight down to 260 pounds from a previous 300. He said that during his youth he wanted to be a rural schoolteacher, and that after finishing high school in Little Rock, he entered Shorter college in North Little Rock, but was forced to quit school and go to work.

His first job, he said, was as a short order cook in a sandwich shop, and since then he has worked as a male orderly in a hospital, and as a licensed practical nurse. He took the nursing course from a Chicago correspondence school, and then did his practice work at the University of Arkansas hospital.

Two of Mr. Hudson's uncles were prominent ministers in the Church of the Living God. One was Elder S. K. Nichols, of Omaha, Neb., a divine healer; and the other was Elder J. W. Nichols, of West Helena, Ark., both deceased. He said that he belonged to the church at West Helena, but attends no church regularly now.

Mr. Hudson said that just a few minutes before the interview, the assistant minister from one of the church had decided to extend the invitation to us after a meeting, and that they would be looking for us. I am not going to tell you where it is, because all of your reporters would be there," he said.

When asked how the assistant minister was able to locate him by telephone at a neighbor's house, since he had no phone, the unemployed male nurse said that he did not know, but agreed that it was quite unusual.

NEIGHBORS' VIEWS "I am going to check back and see if it is genuine," he said. "The man did sound sincere through."

Nab BTW Prof Making Love To Girl Student

A Booker T. Washington high school band instructor, William T. McDaniel, 53, was arrested with a student last Monday night when policemen caught them in a compromising position in his car parked on Ball Rd. just west of La-Paloma st.

Inspector W. P. Houston, chief of the vice squad, said that the teacher was arrested on charges of bribery, disorderly conduct, and soliciting females.

Charges of soliciting males and disorderly conduct were placed against the girl. She was identified by police as Barbara Jean Perry of 1521 Liverwell, a 12th grade student at Booker T. Washington.

"The three officers were going by in a car," Inspector Houston said, "and saw this car parked suspiciously. When they went over to check it they found the two of them in the car having sexual relations."

The arresting officers were Lt. P. P. Poindexter and Patrolman V. G. McCraw and J. A. Carpenter.

Vice squad officers said the girl gave them a Crump ave. address when she was arrested, but later confessed that she had assumed the false address so that she would

Discuss Private Negro Schools

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — Plans for opening private schools for Negro high school students were discussed here last week by an organization of about 30 Negro parents and leaders of the community called the Educational Steering Committee, but the group ended its meeting hopeful that the public schools would open in the next few days.

At a meeting held at the YWCA it was proposed that classes for seniors be instituted at the Arkansas Baptist college and at the Shorter college in North Little Rock.

'Street Lights Turned Off To Aid 3 Hoodlums'

Hurl 2 Stink Missiles Thru Windows Of House

A cowardly attack was made upon the home of Rev. R. W. Norsworthy, at 1801 Glenview ave., last week after street lights were mysteriously turned off, and a neighbor told the minister that he saw three white youths scamper away in the darkness after breaking three windows with a milk jar filled with sand and two stink bombs.

"Those lights were turned off for the benefit of those hoodlums," the minister said, "because they were on at eight o'clock."

The street lights are under the control of the Memphis Light, Gas and Water Division.

DAMAGE LIGHT

Rev. Norsworthy said that the damage was not extensive, but that had someone been struck by the objects, they could have been seriously injured. He said that his niece, a college student, was in the living room at the time that the missiles were hurled into the house. Their impact was broken by the venetian blinds. He was in the kitchen at the time of the attack, and Mrs. Norsworthy was attending a meeting.

Police arrived at the house about a half hour after they were called, the minister said, and the street lights were turned on after they called the light company.

"I have no bitterness toward the youth who did it," said Rev. Norsworthy, who is pastor of the Mt. Moriah Baptist church, "and I personally feel that they have nothing

Dr. Venson Gives Views On Constitutional Meet

Dr. R. Q. Venson, veteran local dentist, will be a candidate for the Constitutional Convention scheduled to be held next July in Nashville, and he has already selected his slogan for the Nov. 4 election. It is "Victory For Venson."

Unlike most of the candidates, Dr. Venson regards his quest as a delegate to the Convention not as a matter of politics, but as a civic responsibility.

"I have three reasons for running," he said. "First of all I am interested in the civic life of the community, and its citizenship responsibilities. Secondly, because I believe that the issues to be discussed are of vital importance to the Negro; and finally because the election of a Negro would serve as a bloc to the propaganda that Communists are using to win the darker nations of the world."

REV. LEE DROPS OUT Dr. Venson is replacing Rev. Cody M. Lee, pastor of the Pilgrim Rest Baptist church, as a candidate for the Convention. Rev. Lee dropped out of the race after a 75-year-old law specifying that no minister could serve in that capacity was located and amplified.

Asked what issues he would be fighting for at the Convention,

Novel Twist Bobs Up In Protest Move At Tuskegee

TUSKEGEE, Ala. — A building which was vacated as a result of a boycott launched against white merchants operating groceries and sundry stores by Negroes was purchased last week by the city, and ironically enough, part of the $48,000 came from the pockets of the boycotters.

The building was formerly occupied by the Tuskegee Wholesale Grocery company, and when Negroes began the boycott in retaliation of a re-vamping of the city which put them outside of its boundaries, the company was forced to close.

While whites went out of business, Negroes established businesses, and have prospered. As a result, they have been paying more taxes.

A few weeks ago, the city took an option on the large brick and concrete building, and it will be used as a warehouse for the Department of Light.

Albert Hudson, 312 East 17th Street, Little Rock, Arkansas

If you were sincere in your statement concerning integration in the churches, you should take a group of your friends next Sunday morning and go to Pulaski Heights Presbyterian Church, at Woodlawn and Walnut Streets, on Pulaski Heights. The officers of that church have opened the doors of the church to negroes and made the statement in the newspapers that they would be welcomed and seated in the Church. You are urged to take your family and friends and attend church services next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. If the Minister and Church Officers are sincere, you will be greeted warmly.

A member of the church.

ALBERT HUDSON, of 312 East 17th st., Little Rock, Ark., who is described as a tool of the pro-segregationists, received the above insincere invitation from "A member of the church" (Little Rock's Pulaski Heights Presbyterian). The person who sent the "invitation" didn't have the courage to sign the missive nor give address. An on-the-spot investigation of Mr. Hudson by the Tri-State Defender reveals that he is being used by reactionaries to further muddle the Little Rock mess.

Madame McCleave Will Try To Make Political History On November 4

Madame Florence McCleave, prominent in social and musical circles in this city, will be out to make political history on Nov. 4. She hopes to become the first woman elected to the Tennessee House of Representatives.

Also seeking office in the November election on the Republican ticket from Shelby county will be W. R. Bradford, of 1661 Latham st., a labor leader, running for a seat in the state senate; and Sam Qualls, of the S. W. Qualls and Company Funeral home, who like Madame McCleave, is a candidate for the House.

Madame McCleave is the wife of Dr. B. F. McCleave, who was an unsuccessful candidate for the lower house two years ago.

The granddaughter of a slave who escaped from Tennessee to Detroit, Mich., on the Underground Railroad, Madame McCleave made musical history when she sang the title role in "Aida," in Corzina, Italy, in 1927.

She has lived in Memphis for the past 25 years, and at various times she has taught music at Fisk university, Rust college in Holly Springs, Miss.; and at Bishop college, Marshall, Tex.

Madame McCleave has her private studio in her home at 475 Vance ave. She is a member of the Fine Arts club, Delta Sigma Theta sorority, the Lincoln League, the League of Women Voters and the YWCA.

Mr. Bradford was a candidate for the lower house two years ago, and received more than 37,000 votes, the largest amount ever received by a Negro running for office in Shelby county, according to Lt. George W. Lee.

Rights Mandate Stirs Dixie Ire

Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler's civil rights mandate touched off renewed rumblings of discontent among Southern leaders already disgruntled by the national party's racial stand.

"Butler had better be careful that the South doesn't put him out of the party," South Carolina national committee member Edgar Brown said in angry reply to Butler's prediction that southern democrats would have to endorse integration or leave the ranks.

Roy Mayhall, Democratic chairman in Alabama, termed Butler's remarks on a television interview Sunday "a last-ditch effort to save his own skin as chairman."

He said it has been "well known among party leaders for a long time that Butler is on his way out."

SEE PARTY DANGER
Party leaders in North Carolina, Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana and Texas expressed objection to Butler's statements and charged that party unity has been endangered.

Rep. Charles E. Bennett (D-Fla.) said he felt Butler's remarks were the result of "goading" and that he did not "make the statement deliberately."

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon said that Democrats are "split com-

Nixon made the statement as he boarded a chartered plane for a new campaign stoping tour it will carry him up the Atlantic Seaboard into New England and then into the Midwest.

Bomb Scare Empties Texas High School

EL PASO, Texas — (UPI) — A bomb scare emptied six El Paso high schools for 20 minutes Monday while police and firemen searched the buildings.

No bombs were found and authorities termed the whole thing a hoax.

The 12,117 students weren't aware that authorities had been told four high schools would be blown up. They thought they were merely going through a routine fire drill.

Officials at El Paso high school said a youthful, unidentified man called the school about noon and warned them that the school would be blown up at 2 p.m.

Fire chief L. L. Jones said the fire department received a similar call an hour later but the caller said four high schools would be blown up.

ORGANIZE
Jones and detective Capt. Ted Vogel organized the evacuation.

"I think it was a lot of foolishness but we couldn't afford to sit on our hands," Keith Appleby, assistant school superintendent said. "I'm sure it was just a crank call."

El Paso integrated its schools in 1955 and now has an enrollment of 825 Negro students. But officials said it was doubtful that integration had any part of the hoax.

Last Thursday, Rabbi Floyd S. Fireman of Temple Mount Sinai, praised El Paso's Texas Western college and the public school system for their fine integration work.

Fire chief L. L. Jones said the fire department received a similar call an hour later but the caller said four high schools would be blown up.

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon said that Democrats are "split completely down the middle" on Far East policy, "just as they are on civil rights."

Nixon made the statement as he boarded a chartered plane for a new campaign stoping tour it will carry him up the Atlantic Seaboard into New England and then into the Midwest.

He was told that some of the people in the community suspected that he was being paid by Jimmy Karam, a local haberdasher, who was accused by a national magazine of promoting strife during the Little Rock Central High school integration dispute last year, and he said that the charge was false.

"I don't know Karam personally," he replied.

One of the city's leading Negro photographers, who said that he did not want his name used, said he was also invited by Hudson to go to church for pay, and that he refused to accompany the man.

Mr. Hudson, he said, then asked him to come to the church and make a picture of him as he went to church, but that he went to the man's house and found that he was gone.

The crusader denied all charges that he had been passing around money. "If I had any cash I would keep it myself."

fares, and only one was able to suppress a laugh when asked if he had ever been engaged in religious activities before.

Four persons who are not impressed by the crusade are Mr. and Mrs. Lee Harris and their children, Carolyn, 12, and Carl Bradford, 15.

Said Mr. Harris, "I never would have gone along with him if he had not promised to give me five dollars, and the children $2.50 each. I have been out of work for five months, and I sure did need the money."

"You didn't need it that bad," Mrs. Harris, who said that she was also invited to go along to the tune of five dollars, interrupted. "And the children were ashamed to go to school after their pictures appeared trying to get into that white church."

PICKED UP BY WHITE MAN
Mr. Harris said that Mr. Hudson and a middle-aged white man came by and picked them up in a light blue '55 or '56 Plymouth, and that when they approached the church the white man told them to come on back to the car if the ushers refused to let them go inside.

None of the three remembered hearing Mr. Hudson call the white man's name during the ride, but said that they could probably identify him if they were to see him again.

Asked about the charge later, Mr. Hudson said that it was not true. "The man who carried us to the church was Robert Mosley, and he is as black as I am."

He said that he did not know how Mosley could be reached, but that he lived "way out," and worked for some white people.

"DON'T KNOW HIM"
He was told that some of the people in the community suspected that he was being paid by Jimmy Karam, a local haberdasher, who was accused by a national magazine of promoting strife during the Little Rock Central High school integration dispute last year, and he said that the charge was false.

Pulpit Digest Polls Ministers On Schools

Negro ministers in the Southern states are almost unanimous in favoring integration in the public schools, according to a survey conducted recently by Pulpit Digest, a non-denominational professional journal for ministers.

The magazine said that four out of five Southern Protestant ministers who responded to the survey favored compliance with the Supreme Court's decision ordering desegregation of the public schools, and of those who opposed it, only three per cent advocated open defiance.

The magazine sent the confidential questionnaire to 3,606 Protestant ministers in the South, and its findings were based on the answers given by the 769 who responded.

Six per cent of the queries were sent to Negro ministers, and all of those who answered said that they were in favor of integration. Pulpit Digest said that this was contrary to previous claims made by the White Citizens Council.

According to the magazine, 74 per cent of the ministers said that integration was in accordance with Christian principles, and 67 per cent thought that it was a matter which should be supported by Christian ministers.

Pulpit Digest said that more than half of the ministers considered racial integration in public schools of the South inevitable. Seven per cent said that it would never be accomplished.

it that way. This is evidenced in the way that the patrons of the station converse with each other, without regard to race.

The red cap said: "I've been here ever since the station first went off a segregated basis and although the Negroes did keep going upstairs into the old 'Negro only' waiting room, they eventually started sitting in the main waiting room. Now," he continued, "hardly anybody ever goes upstairs to the waiting room anymore. The people just park themselves out in the main room and sooner or later they're talking with the other patrons," he added.

It was found that the Interstate restaurants, located in the Union and I. C. stations, make no preference for serving one race over another. The people all eat and wait, and drink water from fountains, without the need for "Colored Only" and "White Only" signs so prevalent in other parts of Memphis. And what's more, they don't seem to miss the signs at all.

of New York, will serve as master of ceremonies, while Dr. O. Wilson Winters of Norristown, Pa., will be chairman. Justice Paige is general president.

Scheduled to extend a welcome to the City of Brotherly Love is Mayor Richard Dilworth, who will be introduced by Rev. Marshall L. Sheppard.

The general convention will be held in the Hotel Sheraton, one of Philadelphia's newest and finest, located in the downtown section of the city.

Alpha Phi Alpha was founded on the campus of Cornell university in 1906 and was the first fraternity established to deal with the perplexing problems facing Negro students.

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon said that Democrats are "split completely down the middle" on Far East policy, "just as they are on civil rights."

Nixon made the statement as he boarded a chartered plane for a new campaign stoping tour it will carry him up the Atlantic Seaboard into New England and then into the Midwest.

He was told that some of the people in the community suspected that he was being paid by Jimmy Karam, a local haberdasher, who was accused by a national magazine of promoting strife during the Little Rock Central High school integration dispute last year, and he said that the charge was false.

"I don't know Karam personally," he replied.

One of the city's leading Negro photographers, who said that he did not want his name used, said he was also invited by Hudson to go to church for pay, and that he refused to accompany the man.

Mr. Hudson, he said, then asked him to come to the church and make a picture of him as he went to church, but that he went to the man's house and found that he was gone.

NO FUNDS FOR CRUSADE
The crusader denied all charges that he had been passing around money. "If I had any cash I would keep it myself."

Mr. Hudson lives with his sister and brother-in-law, and there was no evidence around that he had enough money to invest in a crusade against white churches. Asked if he has a difficult time in getting Negroes to go along with him on Sunday mornings, he replied, "Yes indeed."

He would not elaborate on how he gets them to change their minds.

Funds Contributed For Hero Foreman's Family

A campaign to raise funds for the family of the late Rev. M. C. Pugh, of Munford, Tenn., has been launched by Matthew Thornton, the mayor of Beale st., and Saturday $100 in pledges had been received.

Mr. Pugh lost his life while attempting to save the life of Guy Martin, a Negro worker, who was covered up in a wheat bin at the Cargill Mills, Inc. Mr. Martin escaped, but Mr. Pugh, his white foreman, was smothered to death.

Individual pledges of $25 have been made by Dr. B. F. McCleave, Robert Wright, Fred Hutchins, and the Thornton Service station, Linden ave. and Lauderdale st.

Mr. Thornton said that he planned to contact every religious organization in the city and ask them to support the campaign. It has already been endorsed by Rev. S. A. Owen, president of the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance; Rev. Roy Love, president of the Ministers' Alliance; Rev. D. S. Cunningham, pastor of Collins Chapel CME church; and Rev. H. C. Bunton, pastor of the Mt. Olive CME Cathedral.

NAACP Wins Court Fight For Membership List

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The United States Supreme Court last week reversed a decision of Virginia Courts requiring the NAACP to produce a list of its members and contributors in the state.

Social Security Law Change May Benefit You

Are you receiving disability insurance benefits under the social security program? If you are, or if you know of someone who is, then the recent change in the social security law is of vital importance.

Joe W. Pines, district manager of the Memphis Social Security Administration office announced last Wednesday.

Dependents of a disabled worker, aged 50 to 65, who is receiving disability insurance benefits may also draw monthly payments effective with September, 1938. If you are getting disability insurance benefits then payments may be made to: (1) your children under age 18; (2) your disabled child 18 years or over, if the child became disabled before reaching the 18th birthday; (3) your wife aged 62 or older (or your dependent husband, aged 65 or older); and (4) your wife under age 62 if she has in her care a child under 18 or a disabled child 18 or over who is eligible for benefits.

Payments cannot start for these dependents until an application has been filed, Mr. Pines emphasized, so if you are a disabled insurance beneficiary, get in touch at once with your social security office.

Charge 13 In Ala. Bus Seat Row

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — (UPI) — Charges filed Monday against 13 Negroes set the stage for a legal test of Birmingham's "driver option" policy on bus seating.

The Negroes, nine men and four women, were lodged in city jail Monday on charges of disorderly conduct, conspiracy to commit a breach of the peace and conspiracy to cause a breach of the peace.

They were placed under bond of $900 each.

The Negroes boarded two buses and took front seats Monday after a meeting with integration leader Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth. The action followed the city commission's recent repeal of bus segregation laws and adoption of a substitute ordinance leaving the seating of passengers up to the Birmingham Transit Co.

The seating laws had been attacked in the courts.

Va. Church Bomb Scare Under Probe

ARLINGTON, Va. — (UPI) — The FBI was "in close touch" yesterday with police investigation of a bomb threat that drove more than 500 persons from an integrated Unitarian church here across the Potomac River from Washington.

The Rabbi who was to have addressed the congregation said he would return next Sunday because "I have a lot to say and I don't run that easy."

Rabbi Emmet A. Frank said he thought the threat that emptied the Arlington Unitarian church Sunday was the work "of a group of cowards who are afraid to come out into the daylight." But a group of Unitarian ministers in the Greater Washington, D. C., area said in a statement that the act was part of a dangerous nationwide "pattern of lawlessness and violence."

Threaten To Bomb Home Of Englewood Clergyman

One of the two dynamite blasts in Englewood last week were misplaced in the opinion of the Rev. Owen D. Pelt, pastor of Shiloh Baptist church.

The Baptist clergyman who lives four doors from where the havoc was raised at 6819 and 6823 S. Morgan st., told the Defender that he had received numerous telephone threats since a police detail was removed from his home about three weeks ago.

Rev. Pelt said that only a week ago, his daughter answered the telephone and was told by an anonymous caller: "We are going to bomb the hell out of you."

MOVED ON AUGUST 2

The pastor and his family moved into 6751 Morgan st. on Aug. 2 and there was a police detail established there until three weeks ago when it was removed after neighbors told police that it reflected upon them and no violence was expected.

Rev. Pelt said that a couple of days after the police left, the calls began to come in, but he was undaunted by them.

He said that originally the police were staked out at the attractive seven-room home because the former owners were threatened soon after they made the sale and on the day they moved out.

The reason Rev. Pelt believes one of last week's bombs was intended for him was because neither of the owners at 6819 or 6823 had been threatened or any other violence aimed against them, while just the opposite had happened in his case.

Racial tensions and violence have existed ever since Negroes began moving into the formerly all-white neighborhood. In addition to last week's dynamiting which caused over $10,000 worth of damage, the home of Wesley Grizzle at 68th and Sangamon was burned down.

Shortly before the damage to Grizzle's home, Rev. Pelt said, some youngsters told Grizzle that they had been offered $100 to burn the place.

Grizzle gave this information to the police, and a short time later his home actually was burned.

Universal's District Office Gives Banquet

A banquet was given by personnel of the Universal Life Insurance company's local district office at the Castalia Inn last Thursday night, and among the highlights of the celebration were presentation of the winner in a queen contest, and the awarding of gifts to the top collectors for the month of September.

Workers in Memphis were competing with those in Beaumont, Tex., for the honor, and during the celebration, pictures were made for the purpose of mailing them on to the Universal Life Insurance company office in that city.

Court Ruling Opens Parks In New Orleans

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Supreme Court affirmed Monday a lower court order permitting Negroes to use facilities of the New Orleans city park.

The brief order will permit a 1957 decision desegregating the park to become effective.

The New Orleans City Park Improvement association, which brought the appeal to the Supreme Court, contended that the case had not been tried fully in Federal District court for eastern Louisiana.

The association, a state agency, requested that the case be sent back to district court so that it could present "expert testimony" to contradict "textbook authorities" on the effects of segregation which were cited by the Supreme Court in its 1954 school desegregation decision.

The New Orleans park case originated with a suit brought by a group of Negroes in November, 1949. While it was still pending, the state legislature in 1956 passed a law specifically requiring separate public recreational facilities for whites and Negroes.

The district court, in May, 1957, held the law unconstitutional and issued a permanent injunction barring the park association from denying Negroes use of park facilities. The Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals upheld that order last February.

Ex-Sharecropper Now No. 1 Farmer In Houston County

HOUSTON COUNTY, Ala. — A former sharecropper, who saved for five years to buy his first mule, is now the No. 1 farmer in his county, reports C. A. Williams, acting State leader of Negro extension work in Alabama.

The farmer is Foy Lee Callen of Dothan, Ala., who was selected a few months ago as the "Farmer of the Year of Houston County" for raising and selling 100 head of meat-type hogs in 1957, and for having farmed his way up from 12 years of sharecropping to ownership of a 111-acre farm.

MAKES LOANS

Callen got his first real upward start 18 years ago, says Williams, when he applied to the Farmers Home Administration of the U.S. Department of Agriculture for a loan to buy a 120-acre farm and build a home. After the loan was approved, the county Farmers Home supervisor and helped them analyze the merits and faults of their past farming operations, and make sound plans for the future.

For one thing, the Callens had been depending almost entirely on cotton for cash income, and their yield had been low because they had not been applying enough fertilizer.

So, they decided that when they moved to their own farm, they would have their soil tested, and then apply fertilizer in accordance with the recommendations. Also they would sow legumes as winter cover crops and turn them under in the spring to further enrich their land, plant an improved variety of cottonseed, and carry out an effective insect control program.

CASH CROP

Mr. and Mrs. Callen selected hogs as an additional cash crop, and set about developing improved pastures and planting more corn and other grains as soon as they moved.

Within two years they had increased their cotton yield from half a bale to a bale to the acre, developed improved pastures for a hog crop of 30 to 40 head, and were finding themselves with extra money to apply to the payments on their farm.

"The advice we received from our Farmers Home supervisor and our county agent helped us almost as much as the loan," says Callen.

Through the years, the Callens have continued to make crops and put something aside for a rainy day and for the education of their five children.

By 1955, they were able to complete payment to the Government for their farm—25 years ahead of time. Sale of timber and a 9-acre right of way helped them to further step up their payments.

The Callens take great pride in their farm and their neat and attractive home with a barn for their hay, grain, and livestock and a shed for their tractor and other equipment.

This year Mr. and Mrs. Callen put their entire 12-acre cotton allotment in the Soil Bank and turned their full attention to swine and feed crops. They expect to sell close to 120 head of hogs.

Their 100 head last year averaged 210 pounds and brought around 30 cents a pound, including a premium of 1 1/2 to 2 cents a pound for being lean, meat-type animals.

SMEAR TACTICS — In an effort to cast discredit upon the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, a local pro-segregationist organization has printed and circulated fake membership applications throughout the community. The applications were printed on expensive Bond paper, and shows that some person or organization is investing considerable money in the project, while at the same time it indicates just how effective the NAACP is in its battle for equal rights for all American citizens. Note parenthetical insertions under address, "If living in automobile, give make, model and license number;" "Give estimate" under illegitimate children; and "Answer 'yes' not

Xavier Preps For Homecoming

"Victory for Homecoming" is the newly adopted motto of the team and the student body of Xavier university in New Orleans, La., as they prepare for their encounter with the Garnet and Blue Bulldogs of Knoxville college, Knoxville, Tenn., Sat., Oct. 25, in Xaxier university stadium.

Knoxville college will be making its first appearance since 1936 in the Crescent city in the pigskin sport. Their recent victory over Kentucky State has resulted in some football forecasters giving them the slight edge in the contest with Xavier university.

Xavier and Knoxville tied at 13 all in 1936, but Xavier took the measure of the Bulldogs by the score of 32-6 in 1938. The visitors will be counting heavily on three representatives of the State of Florida in their attack in the persons of James Carter, colorful fullback and Albert and Herbert Lucas, twin double-trouble halfbacks, all of whom hail from Eustis Vocational High School in Eustis, Fla.

Jose Torres Looks Great For A Title

By EARL WRIGHT

NEW YORK — (UPI) — Jose Torres, 22-year-old Puerto Rican middleweight is a novelty in the New York fight game — a fellow who pulls the fans out of their armchairs into the arenas.

A "veteran" of only seven professional fights, the flat-nosed somber-faced Torres already is being tabbed on Broadway as a potential middleweight champion. As one fight wag puts it, "He's got the right gloves and the right manager."

Torres' manager is the controversial Cus D'Amato, who steered Floyd Patterson to the heavyweight championship and who is recognized as one of the top developers of young talent in the game. Cus' enemies may not like his anti-IBC policies but his worst for concedes he's a top hand in the trade.

"This boy is one of the good ones," says D'Amato. "He is going a long way and along the way he is going to help rebuild boxing in New York. He's a crowd pleaser and he's good."

You couldn't blame Torres' manager for over-playing the kid's appeal but you know its authentic when boxing promoters agree. "There's no doubt about his ability to draw people to the fight," says Teddy Brenner, promoter of New York's St. Nicholas Arena bouts. "In his last two bouts he's drawn gates of $7,200 and $5,630 — and that's not peanuts in an age when the ushers sometimes outnumber the fans at fights."

Part of Torres' terrific appeal, of course, is to the large Puerto Rican population in New York. These fans flock to St. Nick's, oldest active fight club in the country, to cheer on their hero with cries of "Pega—Pega—Pega" meaning "Hit—hit—hit."

receive special recognition during the Tennessee-Grumbling half-time festivities and to organize themselves into a permanent "G" Club to support athletic and general activities at the school.

Robert T. "Bull" Ennis, head coach at Grambling High school a 3-year football letterman in 1942, 46 and 47, was elected president of the G-Club for the ensuing year. Fred C. Hobby, head basketball coach, Grambling college and 3-year letterman in football and basketball in 1946, 47 and 48, was elected vice president.

J. Andrew Gaulden, director, Bureau of Publication, Grambling college and a hefty throwback to the days when Grambling was named "Louisiana Normal and Industrial Institute," symbolized by an "N," was elected secretary-treasurer.

Melrose Pounds Out 48-14 Win Over Carver

The Melrose "Wildcats" swarmed all over the George Washington Carver eleven last Thursday night in Melrose stadium and pounded out a 48-14 victory over the Mississippi squad. It was a sweet Homecoming win.

Playing cat and mouse throughout the first quarter Melrose broke the game wide open in the second quarter when they moved the ball 70 yards to paydirt. Fullback Willie Gunn scrambled 27 yards for the first touchdown and before the night was over Gunn had added another TD on an intercepted pass. Halfback Arthur Holman had scored twice, other halfbacks G. Parham and E. Polk each scored one and even guard Willie Franklin scored on an intercepted pass, in the assault on Carver's goal.

Carver's defense simply folded up from the second quarter. They just couldn't stop the "Wildcat" running attack, while being contained themselves. It was 28-0 Melrose, before Carver could put together a scoring combination.

CARVER SCORES

Late in the third quarter, Carver quarterback Sherman Adams began finding some receivers for his passes and his tosses to end Harold Payne, added to the revived running attack of the Carver backs, carried the ball to the Melrose three yard line. Halfback Fred Davis, a converted quarterback, bulled the ball over for the first Carver TD. The PAT was good and Carver avoided a shut-out.

The second and final Carver TD came late in the fourth quarter after Melrose coach had emptied his bench to give every boy a chance to play. A d a m s pitched a strike to Davis for 65 yards and the score. The PAT was good.

During the halftime ceremonies, pretty Miss Elizabeth A n n Mitchell, Melrose's Homecoming Queen, was presented to the crowd. After the presentation of the Queen, each of the Melrose players was introduced, along with his parents, as this was a special Mother Recognition night. Also included in the halftime festivities was the sparkling Melrose band which put on an impressive show of marching dexterity during the intermission. The band is conducted by "Tuff" Green.

Hamilton Nosed Out 13-12 By Washington

Two missed points after touchdowns proved the undoing of the Hamilton High Wildcats last Friday night at the Washington stadium as they were edged 13-12 by the Washington Warriors.

Hamilton was leading the game, that proposed a marvelous defensive battle, by a score of six to nothing until the fourth quarter. Washington roared back in this stanza with quarterback Carol Holman throwing for all he was worth. He found end June Deadmond waiting with eager arms outstretched in the end zone and Washington went out ahead as the extra point was made.

On the very next play halfback Clayton Burrus took the kickoff and ran it back 85 yards for a Hamilton TD. But the missed extra point was to send them down to defeat.

Hamilton held off the passing attack of the Warriors until the fading minutes of the fourth quarter when that fellow Holman again spied halfback Isaac Brown clear in the end zone and flipped to him for the TD. The extra point was missed but the game was over as far as the Wildcats were concerned.

Hamilton had taken the lead in the opening minutes of the second quarter, when stifled on their running attack by the hard charging Washington line, quarterback Riley Hancock pitched a strike to halfback Edgar Bolden who raced 18 yards for the tally.

Oddly enough, both teams boasting better than average running attacks, had to score all their TDs by way of the air lanes. Both lines seemed up for this contest and each did an excellent job in containing the other on the ground.

Washington faces the tough Manassas on Oct. 24, in the Washington stadium and Hamilton goes against Father Bertrand, also in the Washington stadium on Oct. 30.

Big Jim Brown Miles Ahead Of NFL Rivals

PHILADELPHIA — (UPI) — Sophomore Jimmy Brown of the Cleveland Browns, a thunderbolt running through, over and around the opposition, was a country mile ahead in the National Football League race for leading rushing.

The former Syracuse All-American, averaging a phenomenal 160 yards-plus per game and 6.4 per carry, had a net of 482 yards for the first three games of the young season.

The battering Brown also led in scoring with eight touchdowns, all by rushing, and with his early start was heading for two NFL marks held by former Philadelphia Eagle Steven Van Buren.

At Brown's present pace, he could better Van Buren's season record of yards gained (1,146) and the Mighty Steve's league touch down record of 18 in one season. Van Buren's all-time total yardage record fell this season to Joe (The Jet) Perry of San Francisco.

Rowe was sidelined most of the year after undergoing an appendectomy. He was in 19 games and had a 1.5 record. He is a southpaw. Allie had been on option to the Columbus Jets.

Trailing Brown were Tom Wilson of Los Angeles with 280 yards, followed by Bob Mitchell of Cleveland with 262, Jon Arnett of Los Angeles with 253, and Willie Galimore of the Chicago Bears with 215.

Eddie Le Baron of Washington, the little guy with the big savvy, was in front of the passers after three games with an average gain of 9.68 yards for every pass thrown. The Mighty Mite completed 25 of 44 for a 426 yard total, two touchdowns, and a 56.8 percentage.

Mack Reynolds, freshman with the Chicago Cardinals, was second behind Le Baron with a 9.54 average, followed by Billy Wade of Los Angeles (8.55), Milt Plum of Cleveland (8.52) and Tobin Rote of Detroit (7.27).

The best individual passing game of the young year fell to Bart Starr of the Green Bay Packers, who completed 26 for 320 yards and one touchdown against Baltimore last week end.

Ray Berry of Baltimore, with 19 completions for 266 yards and three touchdowns, led the pass receivers with R. C. Owens of San Francisco second with 16. Four players — John Crow of the Cardinals, Galimore, Frank Gifford of New York and Lennie Moore of Baltimore — follow Brown in scoring with 30 points each. Moore had a four touchdown game against the Bears.

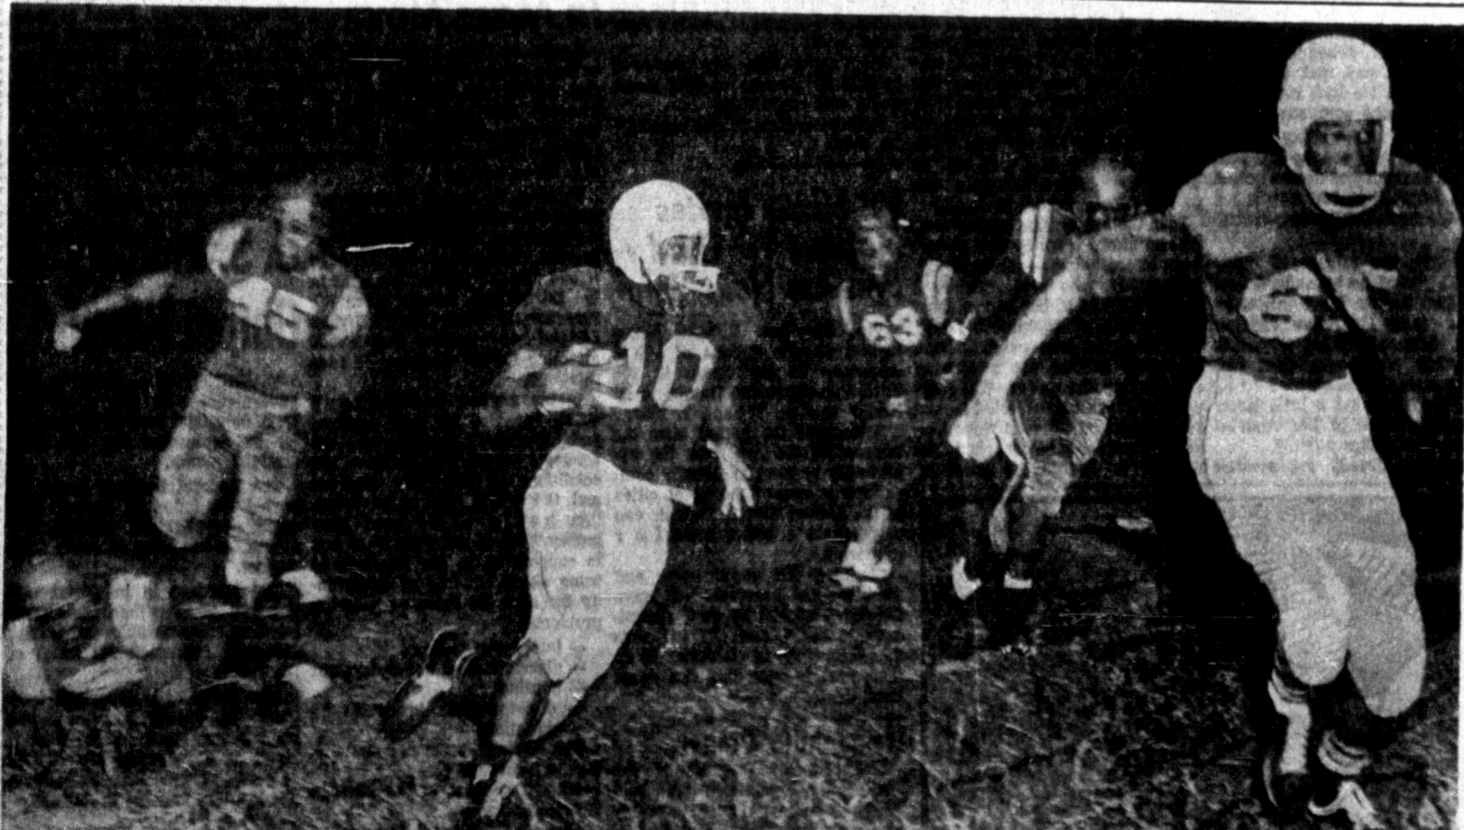

Billy Wells of the Philadelphia Eagles leads in punt returns with Bud Johnson, Houston Informer, Houston, Tex.; Collie J. more with his power running to make the Melrose Homecoming a joyous affair for the home crowd. Leading the way Willie is right halfback Arthur

SAM COOKE'S BIG DECISION

Turns Ballad, Pop Singer, Zooms To Fame, Fortune

By ERNESTINE COFIELD

Although Cooke had enjoyed singing for CTA customers, he still had not thought of the pop field as a profession. Brought up in the church and well known in those circles, it was only natural that he looked to them for his livelihood.

It was to be expected that when the Soul Stirrers offered him a berth, he jumped at the opportunity to join the nationally famous group.

As a street singer Sam's top collection was $5 or $6 but he made his first big money with the Soul Stirrers. Only a youth of 16 or 17, Sam found himself making the fabulous sum of between $4 - $500 a week.

"That was my first big money," Sam said laughingly. "I moved away from home into my own three room apartment at 6505 Langley. Just me! That's what ruined my life, that apartment." He laughed heartily.

"Don't get me wrong, my family was poor but my father provided me with all the necessities. He tried to raise us the right way."

A shrewd young man, Sam realized after six years with the Soul Stirrers he had reached his peak and yet didn't have the security he wanted.

He explained, "I wanted to broaden my scope. I was limited in the audience I could reach. I wanted to sing to a much broader audience."

That was when he decided to turn to the ballad and pop field. When he told his family of his decision, his father said, "Try

"YOU SEND ME"

Because Specialty Records, the same company he had made his spirituals for, didn't like the way he did his first record "You Send Me," Bumps Blackwell, manager of the company, asked for the release of Sam and quit the company himself. He took the record to Keen Record company.

While Sam was waiting for the record to be released, he attended the Phil Carey Jones drama school in Los Angeles to improve his speech, enunciation, poise and singing.

But with the release of "You Send Me," and its immediate success, Sam had to leave school to fill the many lucrative engagements. Almost any big television show that you name, Sam has made personal appearances on it.

Unity Staff Joins League In Mass Move

Rights Group Gets Senator, College Prexy

WASHINGTON, D. C. — State Senator Harry A. Cole and Maryland State college President John T. Williams were among six persons named this week by the Commission on Civil Rights to its Maryland Advisory Committee. The announcement was made by Dr. John A. Hannah, Commission chairman and president of Michigan State university.

Senator Cole, an attorney, has also served as Asst. Attorney General of Maryland, substitute trial magistrate, and justice of the peace. He is a former member of the executive committee of the U.S. National Commission for UNESCO.

Dr. Williams has been president of Maryland State college at Princess Anne since 1947. Prior to that he was dean and registrar at Kentucky State college. From 1928 to 1932 he was director of athletics and head football coach at Kentucky State. He was an All-American end at Langston university in Oklahoma.

The Commission has appointed similar advisory committees in 17 other states, and expects to have one functioning in every state before the end of the year. These groups are expected to keep the federal body advised of developments in the field of civil rights in their respective states. They also may make reports and recommendations to the Commission.

U. S. Industry Output Hiked

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The government said this week that U. S. industrial production increased in September for the fifth straight month.

The Federal Reserve Board reported its index of factory and mine output stood at 137 last month, a one-point increase over August.

The increase in industrial output was smaller than its August advance. Non-durable goods and minerals accounted for much of the increase.

The index, an important indicator of economic health, has been rising since April, when it stood at a recession low of 126. It went to 128 in May, 132 in June, 134 in July, and 136 in August.

VICTORY FOR VENSON

In every community there are those individuals of restless energy of mind, body and spirit, who stand out one way or the other. They either help or hurt the community. But while they are in it everyone else knows they are there.

Such an individual is Dr. R. Q. Venson, one of the most continually energetic personalities in the Memphis and Mid-South community. Happily, Dr. Venson is in the category of those who help the community. He is a community. His activities over the years all point in the direction of community benefits. His work in the American Legion, in his church, in the local, state, and national organizations of his profession (dental), his pioneering work with the Memphis Cotton-Makers Jubilee, and his dependability as a solid citizen interested in the whole community, have set him apart over the years.

And now, Dr. Venson is running for an elective office in Tennessee. He is offering for a position on the delegation Shelby County citizens who will assemble in Nashville next July with other Tennesseans to hold a limited convention on the State's Constitution. Dr. Venson has made himself available to perform another community service. He is willing to join with other citizens of the state of Tennessee in doing something to loosen up, bring up to date, and make more useful the old, and almost hide-bound basic law of Tennessee, the state's Constitution.

THREE ISSUES

The delegation which will attend the convention in July will be limited to consideration of three issues. These are the same constitutional issues carried on the ballots when folk voted last summer. They take up the questions of whether or not the legal voting age in Tennessee should be lowered to include persons 18 years of age; whether or not Tennessee sheriffs should serve four instead of two years; and whether methods of Tennessee tax assessments should be changed.

Dr. Venson would make a good member of such a delegation. For the delegation's job is primarily a civic rather than a political one. And Dr. Venson is civic-minded to the ninth degree. He has clearly formulated reactions to major civic questions. And is in favor of advancing the best interests of the whole community.

Now, in order to become a member of the delegation to the State Limited Constitutional Convention, a person has to be elected to the same by the voters of the community. He has to be nominated, campaign, and be voted on like a candidate for elective political office. And that's because the recommendations of the Convention delegates are to be accepted as representative of the views and desires of the people. . . of the voters of Tennessee. The members of the Tennessee General Assembly, the people who obtained office through the votes of the people, will be guided in the laws they pass later, on the decisions reached by the members of the State Constitutional Convention.

So, it is at once seen that the work of the Convention delegates will be pretty fundamental and important, despite the fact that the delegates are not necessarily politicians. What they do will have such a strong bearing on the politicians in the future.

SEES THE NEED

Dr. Venson sees this fundamental and basic importance. And by his candidacy for a place on the constitutional convention delegation, he is calling the attention of the rest of the community to the importance of the convention.

His candidacy is also a reminder to the Negroes of Memphis, Shelby County and Tennessee of the necessity for their use of the ballot on fundamental issues over and beyond the race problem.

If the voting age is lowered in the state Constitution to include 18-year-olds, it will mean more voters in Tennessee. It will mean an injection of greater youth and vigor into the electorate. It will mean more Negro voters. Dr. Venson is a lover of youth, a respecter of youth, and a great believer in the soundness of youth, once it is given a chance.

Dr. Venson, like other interested citizens, knows that the terms of office served by sheriffs and other law enforcement officers in Tennessee are of strategic importance in the lives of all citizens of the community regardless of race. He knows that taxes embrace everybody.

Dr. Venson's record of interest and activity in civic affairs speaks for itself. Let's elect him. Selah!

Simple On Juvenile Delinquents

"Seems like white folks on television cannot think of no way to straighten out their problems but to shoot them out or fight them out," said Simple, "especially in the westerns. Them movies is full of pictures. If a man is bad, beat him until he turns good."

"If he is too bad, B A N G! BANG! kill him dead. And children set with their eyes glued on the TV all the time they are in the house. No wonder there is so much shooting, fighting, cutting, and killing amongst the young folks in the USA because they see twenty such doings a day on the television."

"How come white folks do not have no way to solve their problems except by fighting? Do it never occur to them to set down and think them out?"

"Physical excitement on the television screen, just as in the movies, is more dramatic and interesting to look at than people just sitting and thinking would be," I said. "To make thoughts exciting would present quite a problem."

"So they start to fighting," said Simple. "And I guess these juvenile delinquents think that's the same way, which is why they load themselves up with zip guns, knives, pop bottles and iron pipes, black jacks and brass knucks. Walking arsenals, some of them are. And the white ones there does got so they fight even their papas and mammas. You very seldom did ever read about a colored child killing his mama or papa."

"But every other week or so I see in the papers where some white kid done walked up and struck his mama down, or snuck up and blasted at his papa, or throwed his little brother in the well."

"They is no respecters of families when they get bad — and — mad. Colored kids might sass their mammas when they get mad, but seldom slap her — I never heard of such — and never kill her. When do you recollect reading about a colored child, male or female, killing his mother?"

"I cannot recall reading a n y such thing," I said. "But if I were you, I would not try to draw a color line in crime. There are some bad Negro youngsters, too."

"But not that bad," said Simple. "Did you not read toward the end of the summer where a bunch of kids for no reason at all tore up the playground out at the beach and uprooted the life-guard stands and broke up the rest rooms and smashed all the looking glasses and put stones in the toilets. And these were white delinquents."

"Had they been colored, the headlines would have been bigger and blacker. And did you not read about them young thugs what was not satisfied to break in an old couple's house in the middle of the night and rob them, but strip-ped them buck naked, and left them night clothes and left them tied up with wires to chairs in the house?"

"No wonder down South they shoots Negroes without batting an eye, and the law lets them go free. No wonder they up and sends soldiers and Marines and tanks and planes across the ocean to bother folks in some A r a l country where the folks are not bothering them at all."

"They must think the world is a big TV screen just made for fighting and shooting and taking up arms and killing, not for sitting and talking and tryin' to straighten things out decent."

"The grown up ones gets a fine example for the juvenile delinquents! If I had a child, I would tell him not to pattern his self after white folks, on TV nor off. They don't know how to behave their selves."

LOUIS MARTIN

Dope And Data

The dynamite blasting of a Jewish temple in Atlanta and the dynamiting of the integrated high school in Clanton, Tenn., within the last few weeks are regarded by most observers as parts of a pattern of violence which is growing rapidly in the South.

Only these big blasts get the northern press. The small acts of violence and local terrorism in many of the southern cities are never published nationally and such news is blacked out for the most part in the local southern newspapers.

Last week in Atlanta I listened to several prominent Negro businessmen talking about racial incidents in Georgia which never made the big newspapers. A few weeks ago, for instance, a Negro physician was given his walking papers in small central Georgia town because it was alleged he cursed at the telephone operator. The incident took place in Fort Valley, Ga., the seat of a well-known Negro college.

It seems that the colored doctor had some words with the operator and the called was traced. The doctor was visited by the town's white bosses and told to get out fast or face the consequences. Under the circumstances, the doctor decided to leave.

Another case of violence near Atlanta housing project for Negroes a few days ago involved police brutality. One Negro was killed and an official of the project was beaten by the police. The case so aroused the citizenry that the mayor and police chief were unable to avoid getting involved in the incident and they promised a delegation of Atlanta leaders to investigate. Tension in the colored community was thick enough to cut with a knife.

Most students of the problem insist that the rising wave of violence in the South today represents the handiwork of a small number of dihard terrorists. It is believed that the vast majority of the whites harbor violence and are genuinely angered by the wanton brutality of the extremists among them. Perhaps this is so. I certainly would like to believe it.

Nevertheless, we must face the facts of life. We seem to have two points of view in Washington regarding these white supremacy extremists. One school of thought believes that if we give the extremists enough rope, they will hang themselves. There is a smaller school of thought which believes that some way must be found to crack down hard on the extremists. Of course, there are a great many people in government who hide their heads in the sand and pray that the whole conflict will disappear.

I have become convinced that we have reached the point now when all appeasement of the extremists must stop and some of them must be put in jail and punished properly according to law.

I was told last week that some liberals have been holding conferences in Arkansas in the hope that they can work out a strategy that will lead Governor Faubus to call off his fight on the federal government and at the same time save his face.

Personally, I believe it is too late to save Faubus' face. Now we had better concentrate on saving our form of government.

Certainly recent world history has shown us quite clearly that appeasement of extremists is a poor policy. We tried to do business with Hitler and the European dictators. We wound up in a world war with dead Americans scattered over the European landscape. We discovered that the rope we gave these dictators is used in an attempt to hang us instead of themselves.

Appeasement is a doubtful policy at home as well as abroad. I am convinced that these extremists win more and more adherents as they move forward despite the fact that the better people are horrified.

Faubus has become a national figure of tremendous importance to thousands of people who would have turned their backs upon him if the federal government had clearly shown its willingness to treat him for the traitor he really is.

The appeasement policies of the Eisenhower administration have done more to encourage the Faubus type mentality in America than anything else. Under cover of this soft policy, the more violent extremists feel that they can get away with murder as never before. Soon these little Hitler will become too big to handle. We continue our pussyfootin' course.

We send our battleships to Quemoy to warn the Chinese Red we will not tolerate any foolishness, but at home our official turn the other cheek to those like Faubus who defy federal authority and repudiate our Constitution. They say the GOP elephant doesn't forget anything, but he doesn't learn anything either.

Our Opinions

Don't Expect Them To Reason

It is not the least surprising to learn that a group of white employees at the Memphis Firestone plant contributed $196 to Faubus' campaign to finance segregated private schools in Little Rock. These employees are not alone in the pathetic and ridiculous action. Others in the "City of Good Abode" have made contributions, some substantial.

However, the Firestone group is quite well-known as a hard-core reactionary cell here. Quite a bit of the friction in labor at the plant has stemmed from this group, many members of which reside in Frayser.

The donations, ranging from 50 cents to $5.00 reflect the economic status of the contributors: Misguided, poor whites pitted against Negroes of similar status, the latter striving for economic opportunity.

These misled white citizens, who fail to recognize the true value of a good education, unnecessarily fear the Negro who has been a target of their mistreatment through the years. It is well to remember as steps are taken here for full attainment of first-class citizenship, that the conscience of members of his cell will hardly be dented by reason and logic.

Democrat Stand On Faubusism

Democrat Chairman Paul Butler won the plaudits of thousands last week when he blasted Gov. Orval Faubus' administration for defying the Constitution of the United States over the issue of school integration.

We feel that he was eminently correct in making clear the Democrat Party does not support the Arkansas governor in his concept of law and order and Christian justice.

Now there are rumbles of Arkansas withholding campaign funds from the national party headquarters, and that other Southern states may join in movement. It is our firm belief that it is far better that the Democrats on a national level purge themselves of any support of Faubusism than to have the party further stinked by the Arkansas dead albatross.

There is one thing certain. Anyone or anything that besmacks of Faubusism in the 1960 election campaign is going to get frigid treatment from the minorities in this country.

We admit it is wishful thinking, but the finest thing that could happen to the Democrat party would be for Eastland, Talmadge, and McClellan and others of the same stripe to pull out and form a third party. However, Senators Eastland and McClellan are too shrewd and seasoned politicians to give up their fat congressional status.

Nevertheless, Mr. Butler has set the proper tone by denouncing the lack of wisdom of Gov. Faubus in depriving thousands of children of the opportunity to continue their education because of a few Negro students.

ENOC P. WATERS, JR.

Adventures
In Race Relations

There are two girls working in the outer office of an important government official in a large office building in Chicago.

One girl is colored. She is classified as a secretary and has a desk just outside of executives' private office.

The other girl is an extremely pretty white girl. She is a clerk-typist and her desk is just inside the door of the outer office.

Many of the visitors to the office, most of whom are white males, stop at the white girl's desk and make inquiries. Without saying a word, she points to the Negro girl.

Some immediately walk to the colored girl's desk and repeat their inquiry which she answers according to the situation. After all, it is she who knows all of the executives' appointments and is forwarded by him of the persons he doesn't wish to see.

Others, however, are reluctant to converse with the Negro girl, preferring to conduct their business through the pretty white typist.

The "personality kid" ignores the gesture of the pretty typist. Instead, he slumps over her desk hoping to bowl her over with his charm, and coos.

"Baby, I want YOU to take care of me, not her," nodding his head in direction of the Negro girl.

But the pretty typist just continues to type, and points in the direction of the colored girl.

Finally convinced the busy girl is immune to his charm, he moves over to the colored girl's desk where he becomes crisply businesslike.

Another makes a racial appeal to the white girl. "I don't like to do business with Negroes," he confides to the young woman. "Won't you take care of me?"

She just smiles sweetly, and silently points to the Negro girl. He looks at her as though he has just discovered she is a leper, and goes dutifully to the colored girl.

Still others come in who just won't budge from the white girl's desk. Their attitude, even though they are salesmen, seems to be that "if I have to get in through that colored girl, I'll forget about it."

In such instances, the colored girl gets up from her desk, whispers a few words in the visitor's ear, and he nods his head understandingly.

What everyone who enters the office fails to know is that the pretty, efficient, and unimpeachable white girl is a deaf mute.

She neither hears what they say to her, nor can she talk to them. She does all she can, under the circumstances, point.

The People Speak

Wants Public Forum

Dear Editor: There are so many problems to be resolved that we need a public forum where we can air our views freely and exchange ideas with other people of different opinion. I have noticed in the past some letters in THE PEOPLE SPEAK column in which the writers suggested that the Defender should undertake to form such a forum. But so far I have seen nothing to indicate that your paper took the suggestion seriously.

NEW YORK — (UPI) — A rash of bomb scares Monday kept the police bomb squad hopping. One of the hoaxes involving the 77-story Chrysler Building, second tallest skyscraper in the world.

I believe that such a forum would greatly extend the Daily Defender's sphere of influence, and at the same time raise the daily's circulation to a high watermark. The suggestion is worth considering. Housing, slum clearance, fire-traps, job discrimination are issues that should be aired.—Mrs. Geraldyn Carter

Right-To-Work Law

Dear Editor: Some people are demanding a right-to-work law. But, in any shop where I have worked, I never saw any of these right-to-work boys refuse a raise or better conditions that the union men in the shop had paid the freight for.

Civil Rights Or Civil War

Southern segregationists need not think that they can bomb their way out of the school integration ruling. The Federal Courts, thank God, and the Negro people will yield not one inch on the guarantees of the 14th Amendment which underlie the principle of equality of opportunity.

Those dynamite blasts which are now occurring at frequent intervals, are, in effect, a challenge to the Federal government. Unfortunately, the government has not taken up the challenge with the requisite dispatch and effectiveness.

Although evidence was presented to the Department of Justice that an inter-state conspiracy existed and that the bombings in one place were related to those in another, President Eisenhower preferred to regard the crimes as state responsibilities.

The FBI has been alerted, and in some instances is cooperating with local police, however the full force of Mr. Hoover's organization has not yet been set in motion. Presumably the FBI is restrained by orders from the White House.

Here again is an opportunity for vigorous leadership which is being forfeited. There is, of course, a logical explanation for this, if logic can explain the President's actions. Mr. Eisenhower has, by words and deeds, advocated a slower pace for integration. The bombings are intended to carry out that suggestion.

They are the inevitable results of an official policy which has encouraged rather than discouraged disobedience of the law.

For nearly four years Ike kept ominously quiet on integration. When he finally was prodded into stating his personal views on the matter, what he said was damaging to the cause of civil rights.

Up to now Mr. Eisenhower has not dispelled the belief shared by many that he is not wholeheartedly on the side of integration. Yes, he has advised the people to respect the orders of the courts, but he added a footnote saying that as Chief Executive he cannot express agreement or disagreement with Supreme Court's rulings. The effect of such a view has been psychologically devastating.

Something more than admonition is necessary before justice can be fully secured. What is sorely needed is the realization in high places that the laws being broken by the Confederate Underground are the same as those being defied by Gov. Faubus and his carbon-copy Gov. Almond. They are laws governing not only the protection of property and the use of explosives. They are laws governing the rights of man.

Many Southern leaders recognize this. But their efforts to carry out the law are hampered and nullified by the failure of the President to recognize the moral issue underlying the challenge. Until Mr. Eisenhower throws the full might of his office into the raging battle for civil rights, offering encouragement and leadership, the segregationists will continue to defy the law with bombs and other weapons in the arsenal of race hate.

650 Enroll In Little Rock All-White Private Schools

By PHIL NEWMAN
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — (UPI) — A White Citizens' corporation and a Baptist organization registered more than 650 white high school students for private, segregated classes in a former university graduate school and three churches.

And the University of Arkansas estimated that nearly 400 high school students had applied for correspondence courses to complete high school work.

The Little Rock Private School corporation registered approximately 250 seniors Monday and plans to start classes today. The Baptists will continue registration through Wednesday and expect to open school for all three high school grades Monday.

Dr. J. W. Cady, temporary principal at the Baptist high school, said they registered 407 students Monday. Not included in that total are 47 students who have attended a high school at the second Baptist church for the past week.

No Negroes tried to register Monday. Two Negro colleges, Philander Smith and Shorter, were considering the idea of starting private schools for Negro students. But a Negro leader said the NAACP would not go along with private schools for Negroes.

It would put the NAACP in the position of supporting segregation and private schools, said L. C. Bates, publisher husband of the president of the Arkansas NAACP. The private classes are a substitute for public high school, which about 3,000 students — including 700 Negroes — can't attend because the four high schools have never opened in the integration dispute.

School Supt. Virgil Blossom said that the closed public schools would grant diplomas to seniors who qualify through the University correspondence courses.

He said juniors who start correspondence courses now may complete graduate requirements by next year, but because of the lack of sufficient classroom hours, this year's sophomores will be ineligible for graduation through the extension service.

Gov. Orval Faubus, who supported the private school plan, laughed at threats of the NAACP to go into court and demand admittance of Negroes to the private schools.

Indict Five In Temple Bombing

ATLANTA—A man described as the "central figure" in a Jewish temple dynamiting was arrested Saturday, just a few hours after threats were received by two members of the grand jury which indicted five suspects in the bombing.

Threats also were received by Atlanta's two newspapers.

Arrested was Richard Bowling, 26, one of the five men indicted Friday by the Fulton County Grand Jury.

He was seized by detectives who were tipped that he was about to leave town.

DENIES CONNECTION

Bowling upon arrest, vigorously denied any connection with the bombing of the temple last Sunday. But detectives, who had described him as the central figure in the plot, said they found a mimeographed anti-Jewish letter, apparently sent out last summer soliciting funds in his 1949 car.

The signature on the letter, said detectives, was that of the national commander of the Knights of the White Camellia.

This organization was cited by the U. S. attorney general in 1949 as one which has "adopted a policy of advocating or approving the commission of acts of force and violence to deny others their rights under the Constitution."

The letter said, "The Jew is the sworn enemy of white Christian America. . . this is a life-and-death struggle which we must win, legally if possible but violently if necessary."

CALLS IT A 'FRAME'

Boyling told reporters after his arrest that "because of my personal political beliefs, I have again been framed by Atlanta police and alien-controlled Atlanta newspapers, acting on orders and pressure by Jewish-Communist press groups."

He denied belonging to an organization dedicated to violence. But he refused to say whether he is a member of Jewish hate groups or where he was on the night the temple was bombed.

"Police would intimidate my alibi witnesses," he claimed.

Bowling was being held without bail as were the other four indicted. They are Bowling's brother, Robert, 25; Wallace H. Allen, 32; George Bright, 25, and Kenneth Chester Griffin, 32.

The charges against them carry a possible death penalty. Like Bowling, the other four have denied any connection with the bombing.

Publish New Newspaper

CARACAS, Venezuela — (UPI) — A new afternoon newspaper hit the streets of Caracas Monday. The 32-page tabloid Pregon was printed in three color besides black. It was published by Alejandro and Miguel Otero Silva, who also publish the morning newspaper El Nacional.

Homemade Bomb Blasts Ill. School

CAMPAIGN, Ill. — (UPI) — A bomb exploded in the basement of a grade school here today, but the school was empty and no one was hurt.

Police said the bomb was a homemade affair, with black powder and tissue paper stuffed into a piece of pipe.

It shattered a couple of windows in the Westview School but did not cause extensive damage.

The FBI office at Springfield said it was "keeping in close touch" with the situation.

Only white pupils attend the school, and police believed the bomb was detonated by a prankster or vandal.

The bomb apparently went off about 3:30 a.m., but it was not discovered until a janitor came to work at the school this morning.

A person living near the school told police of hearing a blast, but did not report it until after the janitor discovered the bombing.

A week ago today a homemade bomb was exploded in the Ansbach Emeth synagogue at Peoria. Police and FBI agents still are at work in that case.

Also in Peoria in the past week, three false reports of bombs planted in schools have been received by police and school authorities.

Bishop Nichols Claims Plot In Theft Charges

NEW YORK — Bishop D. Ward Nichols, under indictment for embezzlement of $171,000 from the AME church, charged that the criminal action against him was caused by "persons seeking to embarrass me."

Nichols was indicted by a grand jury in Philadelphia, and was released on $1,000 bond.

The bishop, in a prepared statement, declared that the "present criminal charge against me is nothing more than a repetition of the charges which were dismissed by the judicial council of the

(AME) church."

He said that his "enemies have chosen to ignore the rules of our church and thereby threaten the very existence of our church."

He emphasized the fact that he had not been found guilty of wrongdoing. Nichols stated that an "indictment is not a conviction."

Meanwhile, bishops of the denomination's judicial council are said to have stated that they were offered money to vote in Nichols' favor, but refused to accept it.

Nichols has said that the action taken by the judicial council "not only completely vindicated me, but protected me in my position as bishop."

He added: "The discipline of our church permits my enemies to have this decision of the judicial council reviewed at the next general conference of the church. However, angered at losing their case and not willing to trust the judicial procedures of our own church, those who would destroy me took out church matters into the courts of the land."

There the matter rests, until the "courts of the land" make a decision on whether Bishop Nichols is guilty of the crime with which he is charged, or, as he proclaims is a victim of irresponsible persons.

By Mrs. Anna Lee Cooke

Now that the city schools are well in session, have you visited your schools this school year? A special invitation is being extended to all to do just that during American Education Week which is nationally set aside, Nov. 10 through 16. The type of instruction that is being given your children should be of great importance. To see the children in action, a public program is planned by the Jackson City Teachers' Association to be held at Merry at 7:30 p.m. The theme this year is—REPORT CARD—U. S. A.

The Publicity Committee is offering the American Education Week Cup to the school having the largest per centage of attendance. For the last several years, Lincoln Elementary School, which has the largest enrollment in the city has received the cup for having the largest attendance. Parents having children in all schools are encouraged to attend the program.

At a recent meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of Washington-Douglass school an all inspiring and encouraging program was had.

Boys for a television set to be installed in the school library was accepted by the group and purchase and installation was made during the following week, making Washington-Douglass one of the first to take this step in the trend of modern education.

An overview of activities of a school day was given by Mrs. V. M. Bell, which gave parents a chance to know what our schools are trying to do as many of them work during the day and are unable to visit schools while they are in action.

Honorary membership was awarded Miss Jessie Brooks, supervisor of Instruction.

A total of 65 members were present and pledged their wholehearted support for the year. Special guests included Reverends L. R. Swiney, P. C. Northern, F. Mercer, W. M. O'Leary and J. Kendrick, Mr. O. C. Cole is principal of the school.

Obey High Court, PE Bishops Ask

By LOUIS CASSELS
MIAMI BEACH — (UPI) — The House of Bishops of the Episcopal church yesterday overrode protests from Southern members and adopted a resolution condemning "civil disobedience" to Supreme Court desegregation rulings.

The resolution was approved 73-58 after one of the most spirited debates of the church's 59th general convention. The Episcopal House of Deputies, meanwhile, moved toward adoption of the largest budget in the denomination's 169-year history, providing for major increases in support of home and foreign missions.

Church leaders had expected strong opposition to the budget increases, but found themselves faced instead with demands from some lay delegates for even higher goals. IN PAST The House of Bishops has passed many resolutions in the past deploring racial segregation as un-Christian. It passed one only last week by a unanimous vote. What touched off Tuesday's sharp debate was a move by Bishop Angus Dun of Washington to spell out specific language the "obligation of Christian citizens" to obey the U.S. Constitution as interpreted by the Supreme Court.

The approved resolution says there are some circumstances in which Christians have the moral right to disobey civil laws and even to wage revolutions against the established governments.

But such "civil disobedience" may be undertaken by Christians "only for the gravest reasons of conscience and as a last resort." In this country, the resolution said, "those who are in disagreement with federal and Supreme Court interpretations of the Constitution have the legal recourse of amendment of the constitution."

Therefore, it concluded, church members have a clear "obligation" to conform to final rulings of the Supreme Court which is "the ultimate interpreter of the constitution." Bishop Robert R. Brown, Little Rock, Ark., said there was "no question" among southern bishops that the stand taken in the resolution "is a just and right one." But he warned the bishops they would "do more harm than good by passing it."

Hoodlums Bomb 2 Chicago Homes

Two bombs, exploding almost simultaneously, shattered the neighboring buildings housing two Negro families in a Southside neighborhood early Tuesday morning.

Both were black powder bombs, police said, and were believed to be home made. Officers did not have an immediate damage estimate, but believed it would total about $10,000 in the two blasts.

None was injured in either blast. The neighborhood was described as a changing one, into which a few Negro families had moved in recent years.

The explosions which occurred almost simultaneously were believed to have been set by time mechanisms caused as estimated $10,000 damage.

Nineteen persons occupied the dwellings, but none was injured. The building at 6819 S. Morgan is occupied by John and Thelma Daniels and their two children, John jr., 10, and Phillip, 9. They live on the first floor.

Owners of the building, elderly John and Emma Schult, and a sister of Mrs. Schult live on the second floor.

The 6823 S. Morgan residence is owned by Kit Johnson, 25, who lives on the second floor with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kit Johnson, sr.; his brother, William Earle, and his wife, Eula Mae.

First floor occupants are James Branch, 31, a parking house worker; his wife, Mary, and their five children, ranging in age from 8 to 14 years.

The bombs were believed to have been placed behind doors leading into the first floor entrances of the buildings sometime between 5:45 and 6 a.m. The explosion occurred about 6:10 a.m.

Daniels, 32, an 11-year postal clerk, moved into the apartment a week ago. He said the blast blew the front door completely from its hinges and carried it 10 feet across the room where it lodged against a closet door.

Windows were shattered. However, the families escaped injuries because bedrooms in both homes are located in the rear of the buildings.

Branch explained that his brother-in-law, Kit Johnson, pur-

Hate Groups Merge In New War On Minorities

A merger of Klan type organizations of the South and the Hitlerite, fascist groups of the North in a national underground hate movement designed to terrorize all minorities is believed by some observers to have led to the bombings of schools and synagogues in the last few weeks.

Operating under cover of the Faubus State's rights rebellion against the Supreme Court, the national hate underground is believed to be well financed by "fat cats" who are ready to hire professional hoodlums to carry out acts of violence. The hate underground seeks to capitalize on the anti-Negro, anti-semitic, and anti-Catholic sentiments of prejudiced Americans.

Bombings and bomb scares were reported this week in Atlanta, Peoria, Ill., Chicago, Boston and New York. Most of the violence was directed at Negroes and Jews, but bomb scares were reported received at St. Patrick's cathedral in New York and a bombing shook the Jehovah's Witnesses meeting center in Boston.

OTHER THREATS
In addition to homes, schools and churches, bomb scares have been reported received by some newspapers and at least one radio station in Atlanta. United Press International reported:

"Guards were placed at the offices of the Atlanta newspapers and a local radio station, where telephone threats were received late yesterday. Investigators went over both buildings thoroughly, but no explosives were found."

In the meantime Atlanta authorities sought a mystery figure thought to be the mastermind of dynamite in the South. A major break in the case appeared imminent.

CONFISCATE ITEMS
There were reports the Federal Bureau of Investigation was ready to make a wide-scale move against bombers who have labeled themselves "The Confederate Underground." The FBI in Atlanta and in Washington declined to comment on the reports.

Officers declined to give more than sketchy information about the person whose trail they were following. He was described, however, as being a key figure in a hard-core racist group believed to have been in operation since well before integration became a sore issue in the South in 1954.

Stacks of confiscated items piled up at Atlanta police headquarters as officers continued raids on the homes of persons known to have participated in past anti-semitic activity. Most of the material was not identified, but it was known to include racist literature and several crude swastikas, the symbols of Hitlerism.

Authorities moved their base of operations to an undisclosed spot this week, complaining that newsmen were interfering with the on what appears to be an organized campaign of terror."

Izola Tries To Flee Hospital

NEW YORK — (Special)—An attempt to escape from the women's psychopathic ward of Bellevue Hospital, where she is confined for observation, by Mrs. Izola Curry Ware, the woman who attempted to murder Rev. Martin Luther King, was nipped Friday by hospital personnel.

The woman tried to stroll out casually through the outer of two barred gates that seal off the prison ward in which she is confined, as a hospital aid was leaving for home. Caught in the act, Mrs. Ware was firmly, but politely taken back inside.

She promptly complied a n d since has made no further attempt to sneak out. Meanwhile, District Attorney's Frank Hogan's office reported that an indictment by the New York County grand jury was expected, early this week of the Georgia-born domestic who tried to assassinate Dr. King, hero of the Montgomery, (Ala.) bus strike while he was autographing copies of his new book in Harlem's Blumstein's Department store three weeks ago.

RECOVERING
Dr. King, now recuperating from the critical chest wound inflicted with a letter opener, will be the last of the witnesses to be questioned before the grand jury by Assistant District Atty. Howard Jones, a Negro.

A psychiatric report is also expected on the woman this week, the Daily Defender was told.

At the same time, Bellevue Hospital sources report that Mrs. Ware is quarantined in a ward supervised by a staff of a correction officer, a nurse and two aides. Along with 14 other patients, her daily wearing apparel consists of a white cotton gown, white flat heeled shoes and a blue and green bathrobe.

She is awakened at 6:45 a.m. daily with the other patients from her single metal bed which is one of three set up in the dining room adjoining the third floor ward. Her sleep is untroubled, aides declare, and she rises no more than twice a night to go to the toilet.

"She is a pretty nice patient and no trouble at all," an orderly reports. "She is very clean and each night puts her hair up in paper curlers."

Other sources described the woman as being "taciturn" a n d "not friendly." She looks out the window onto a busy downtown section of the city.

She never refers to the stabbing incident that landed her in the hospital and expresses no resentment over being confined. Oddly, she has yet to ask when she will be released and has received some mail and a few visitors, names of whom are withheld.

Of the many plentiful listed for the weeks ahead there is none more tasty than apple. They are such easy eating too being ready to serve right from the tree or cooked. They also blend well raw or cooked with other foods to make these mouth watering dishes. Apples are good eating for any meal, breakfast, lunch or dinner. They are good snack eating, too.

Along with all this they are good for us. So do serve apples to the little ghosts and goblins for trick - or - treats Halloween night.

If you want to serve a highly satisfying and truly delicious dessert just try this pie.

Top Fishermen Get Prizes At Memphis Depot

After seven months of suspenseful fishing and waiting, the winners in the contest sponsored by the Memphis General Depot have been announced, and four prizes were given to the top fishermen last week.

The men who won top prizes in the contest which began on March 1 were Ted Craft, of 2180 Hunter ave., who received a Whirl-A-Way rod and reel for landing a three-pound, 12-ounce crappie; W. H. Keel, of 2530 Howard st., who received a similar prize for catching a one-pound, six-and-one-fourth ounce bream; and Hardy Roddy, clothing and textile inspector of Belvidere, Tenn., who was awarded a casting rod and reel with nylon line for catching a bass weighing the same as Mr. Keel's bream.

Parvee Rasberry, of 2813 Brewer st., caught 34½ pounds of assorted fish during the contest, and was given an outing kit holding two quart thermos bottles.

This year marked the third one in which a contest was sponsored by the Depot's Civilian Welfare Fund, which provides employee recreation including softball and bowling.

135 Below Is 'Low'

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — A balloon-borne instrument 13 miles above the South Pole picked up "the lowest temperature ever recorded at any height, anywhere" on July 16, the Commerce Department announced. It was 135.4 degrees below zero.

By CARLOTTA STEWART

Musing: I don't feel that God would command children to honor parents without implicitly commanding parents to be worthy of their parental duties, chief among which are special love and signs of affection equally given to all without favoritism. They are obliged to provide them with food, clothing, shelter and education and other necessities suited to their state of life. They should see that they are taught personally or by others common prayers, the chief truths and to love God. Grave neglect and omission of these duties is a serious violation of the law of our Heavenly Father.

Dear Carlotta: I am in love with a boy who takes little interest in girls or dating. How can I get him interested in me? Ann

Dear Ann: Wait until he grows up. I think you are chasing 'em too young.

Dear Carlotta: Is it permissible for a woman past 70 to wear a black lace gown to a formal wedding? She is the bridegroom's aunt and will have a place in the receiving line. The bride objects because she is superstitious.

Grace: A close member of the family would not wear black at a wedding. Superstition or not, if auntie wishes to be correct, she will do better to invest in a new dress.

Noteworthy: We should be careful to get out of an experience only the wisdom that is in it. . . and stop there; lest we be like the cat who will never sit on a red.

hot stove again . . . and she will never sit on a COLD one either. Selected.
