Doran To Seek State School Supt. Office Quits KEA Post After Assigned Task Completed SUCCESSOR NAMED

Adron Doran resigned Saturday as president of Kentucky Education Association to run for the Democratic nomination for state superintendent of public instruction.

The 37-year-old principal of Wingo high school said he resigned "for the avowed purpose of becoming a candidate."

He is the first K. E. A. president to run for state superintendent, and the first to resign to enter a political race.

"I have completed the task assigned to me in leading in formulating a minimum educational program which has been adopted by the K. E. A. delegate assembly," he stated.

"I now desire the opportunity to assist a united profession in guiding their program through the general assembly, and in serving as chief state school officer in administering it."

He is succeeded by Miss Sheila Johnson, former first vice-president, Fort Thomas, Ky., who will serve until June 30. On that date Herman H. McGuire, Grayson, superintendent of Carter county schools, will become the new president. He was elected Friday.

Doran sent his resignation to the board of directors yesterday "to become effective immediately."

He is a native of Graves county, and was graduated from Murray State College in 1932. He taught in the Grayson county schools, and has been principal at Wingo nine years.

He served in both the 1944 and 1946 general assemblies. Last November he was picked by the Association of Colleges and Secondary schools for its merit award for distinguished service to education.

An ordained minister in the Church of Christ, he has held many summer revival meetings throughout the state. He is married and is a member of Kiwanis Club.

Lexington—One hundred pastors and community leaders are expected to attend the day rural leadership institute which opens here tomorrow. The institute, designed to support religious leadership in towns and rural communities, is sponsored by the Kentucky College of Agriculture and the Kentucky Rural Church Fellowship.

Louisville—A $1,500 contribution toward the total $10,000 cost of a statewide study of child health services was announced by the Kentucky Chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The survey is being conducted by the American Academy of Pediatrics.

Louisville—The cutting of a cable serving 1,375 phones in an exchange here was termed "sabotage" by C. Hunter Green, district manager for the Southern Bell System. He said service would be restored on the line today.

Louisville—Lee E. Gatewood, 41, was shot fatally and James W. Persell, 61, stabbed seriously in the abdomen in a fight which detectives said resulted from an argument over use of "foul language." Detectives George Johnson and Roy Myers said a murder charge was filed against Persell. They said he had objected to language used by Gatewood near Persell's trailer home.

Louisville—Edward H. Shelman, 93, Breckinridge county farmer and banker and a former state representative, died at a hospital here. He had been ill two weeks.

Lexington—Four-year-old Teresa Bernice Riley was burned fatally when fire damaged the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Riley. Riley suffered minor burns trying to rescue the sleeping child from an upstairs room. Two other children escaped the flames. The fire broke out in the kitchen and spread to a room directly above, where the little girl was asleep.

Stolen Auto, Trucks Found

Pete Peterson's Car, DeMyers' Grocery Truck, Ice Co. Truck Taken

An automobile and two delivery trucks stolen here Saturday have been found and returned to the owners. All vehicles were damaged considerably.

Pete Peterson's car was taken from a parking place near the Legion Cabin at about 10 o'clock Saturday night, he said. It was found Sunday morning in a ditch between Fulton and Water Valley, headed toward Fulton. One window was broken out, a fender was bent, a spring was broken, and other damage was done.

Gilbert DeMyer's grocery delivery truck was stolen at about 3 p. m. Saturday from the alley in the rear of the grocery. It was reported that the thief started to go to the home of a friend near Martin, Tenn., and that he ran the truck off the road and into a ditch between Martin and Union City.

The truck has been brought back to Fulton, and a man accused of stealing it is being held in the Trenton, Tenn., jail, by the Federal Bureau of Investigation on a charge of transporting a stolen vehicle across a state line.

A Fulton Ice Company delivery truck was stolen early Sunday morning, reportedly by two Fulton negroes. An ice company employee found the truck at 6 o'clock Sunday morning overturned in a ditch on the Hickman highway near J. T. Powell's farm.

YMBC To Elect Officers Tuesday

The Young Men's Business Club will meet at the clubroom on Lake street at 7 o'clock tomorrow night before going to Beeler school for a dinner meeting.

Following the meal, the members will return to the clubroom for a short business session, in which officers for the coming year will be elected.

AFL Is Ready For Merger

Asks Meeting With CIO Thursday to Seek Union; Discuss New Labor Bills

Washington, April 21—(AP)—AFL executive council today invited the CIO peace committee to confer here Thursday on merger of the two big labor organizations.

AFL President William Green announced the invitation after a meeting of the council to discuss general problems, including the prospect that Congress will enact sharp restrictions on labor union activities.

Green said a telegram was dispatched to CIO President Philip Murray suggesting the meeting.

Top AFL leaders went into a huddle today to map their strategy in the face of union curb legislation already halfway through Congress.

The 15-man AFL council, which last winter foresaw just such an "emergency" and scheduled its spring meeting a month early, began sessions today which may last two weeks.

Thus, the Federation's policy-making group will be on hand for most, if not all, of the Senate's debate on a committee-softened labor bill which some members have pledged to try to toughen up on the floor.

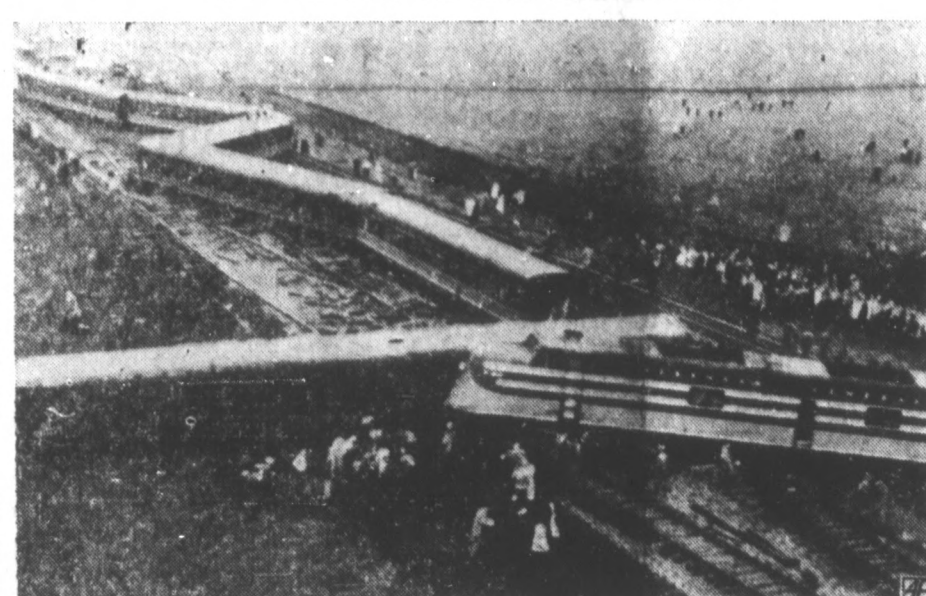

Debate on the measure is scheduled to open Wednesday.

Sometimes A Man's Too Busy To Remember Every Little Thing

People are apt to do strange things in the rush and excitement of an emergency, as Barney Speight of Fulton can testify. Lightning struck the stock barn on Jim Cardwell's farm, East State Line, at about 4 o'clock Sunday morning, starting a fire in the building. Someone passing by saw the flames, and woke up Mr. Speight, who lives on the farm.

The first thing he thought of was a new car, belonging to Bob White Motor Co., which he had brought from Memphis and left in his garage. He dashed out

Overtaken Illinois Central Car

Two crew members were known dead and about 25 passengers injured Saturday morning when the southbound City of Miami, Illinois Central streamliner to Florida, Jackknifed and derailed three miles north of Champaign, Ill.

A combination baggage car and coach turned over, pinning the dead in the wreckage. The huge three-unit diesel locomotive plowed up tracks for a quarter of a mile and finally came to rest at a right angle across the track. All of the other eight coaches left the track but remained upright.

The conductor, Charles H. Redus, 70, of Centralia, was dead upon arrival at a Champaign hospital. The baggage man, Charles N. Wood, of Champaign, was pinned in the wreckage.

The train, estimated to be going about 60 miles an hour, had just passed over a switch when the locomotive jackknifed, with the front end going in one direction and the rear end in another.

The fireman and engineer were "dazed" when they were helped from the locomotive. The conductor's leg was almost severed by a rail, which came up through the floor of the coach.

Thirty-five bodies were recovered yesterday, the majority from the torn steel and debris in the 70-acre blast area.

A Red Cross list posted Saturday listed 580 persons presumed dead, but at Red Cross headquarters in Galveston yesterday an official said 19 of those listed had been found alive.

Trahan told Gerald Wessellus of St. Louis, local director of the Red Cross activities, that the real relief that has been given to the people of Texas City has not come from the Red Cross.

The mayor called on Wessellus to tell him that "too many people are coming to the city to tell us that they have appealed to the Red Cross for aid and that help has been denied them."

Wessellus answered: "I don't know of any such cases. The Red Cross is here to do everything possible to help victims of this explosion. We are here to attend to emergency needs of all kinds, food, clothing, shelter, medical attention."

"In a disaster situation of this kind there are bound to be mistakes made. People are not normal under a pressure situation. There is bound to be a lot of erroneous thinking and misquoting. We are certain to make some mistakes and we are always glad to rectify them."

Mrs. Hedge, 68, died Saturday afternoon at Haws Memorial Hospital. She had been in poor health for about three years, and was in the hospital for several days prior to death.

She leaves her husband; two sons, Jody Hedge and Neal Hedge, of Dukedom; and a daughter, Mrs. Jake Cavender, also of Dukedom.

Funeral services for Mrs. Will Hedge of Dukedom, were conducted at 10 o'clock this morning at the Old Bethel Baptist church by the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Smith. Burial, with Jackson Brothers' Funeral Home in charge, was in the church cemetery.

Nation Needs Lower Prices To Halt Depression, President Truman Tells New York A-P Session; Says Press Can Help To Achieve This Objective

Chief Executive Repeats Opposition To Dropping Rent, Credit Controls; Also Against Major Slashes In Taxes

421 Dead In Texas City

Total Deaths Expected To Reach 575 Or More; Mayor Raps Red Cross

Texas City, Tex., April 21—(AP)—President Truman, cautioning that the economic situation is acute, appealed today for a united effort to bring prices down and prevent a depression.

Addressing the annual luncheon of members of the Associated Press, the Chief Executive said there must be:

1. "Moderation on the part of business."

2. "Forbearance in the part of labor," plus greater productivity.

3. "All-out effort on the part of the farmer."

4. "Wise guidance and action on the part of the government."

Here he reiterated his plea against cutting taxes now and called for extension of rent, export and credit controls.

The address, highlight of Newspaper Convention Week in New York City, was broadcast by the four major networks from the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria.

The President praised the service of the American press in wartime. Then he said:

Interior Department Funds May Be Slashed 47 Per Cent

Washington, April 21—(AP)—An unprecedented 47 per cent budget cut was recommended for the Interior Department today by the House Appropriations Committee.

Slashing vigorously in its promised "meat axe" drive to chop $6,000,000,000 from President Truman's $37,500,000,000 federal budget for 1948, the committee sent to the house floor a $156,538,513 bill to operate the Interior Department for the 12 months starting July 1.

This is $138,881,907 below the President's budget estimates. $101,562,173 under current appropriations, but $26,860,053 above the department's last pre-war fund in 1938.

With a single exception—the Fine Arts Commission which received the full $12,000,000 requested, every one of the Department's far-flung activities felt the committee's axe.

If Congress follows the Committee's recommendation, the Division of Power and the Division of Geography will be abolished, the Oil and Gas Division will be cut down to "Hot Oil" Act enforcement activities, and thousands of Interior Department employees will be looking for jobs.

And such multi-million dollar agencies as the Reclamation Bureau, the Bonneville (Ore.) Power Administration, the Bureau of Indian Affairs, the Geological Survey, the Bureau of Mines, the Fish and Wildlife Service, and the National Park Service, will be required to get along on sharply-trimmed budgets.

Murray, Mayfield Tobacco Averaged $22.18 For Season

Louisville, Ky., April 21—(AP)—An average price of $22.18 a hundredweight was paid for western district fire-cured tobacco at the Mayfield and Murray markets during the auction season which ended last week, the State Agriculture Department said.

The department reported sale of 26,471,673 pounds of the leaf as the two markets for $5,870,923.77. During the last week of sales, Murray handled 587,480 pounds which returned $118,837.08 for a $21.32 average. Mayfield sold 307,121 pounds for $60,006.99, a $19.54 average. Murray's average the previous week was $22.26 and Mayfield's $19.48.

Because of high prices, he said, too many families are spending savings, cashing war bonds, postponing medical care, and "they have gone into debt in an amount 50 percent greater than a year ago."

"If we are to avoid a recession we must act before it starts," he said.

"Prices must be brought down."

Chinese May Try Moral Rehabilitation

By Dewitt MacKenzie,
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

During long years of journalistic globe-trotting a reporter naturally encounters many extraordinary stories, but I've just run into one of the most remarkable of my experience.

There is in New York on special duty the distinguished Chinese soldier, General Ho Ying-Chin. He is widely regarded as Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's right hand, and at this critical juncture in world affairs is representing China on the United Nations military staff committee.

Several weeks ago I heard the general had developed a plan which might ultimately end the bloody civil strife torturing his unhappy country. Since the United States had exhausted its best efforts to halt this tragedy, any new ideas by responsible people were worth hearing. So I signaled that I wanted to meet General Ho.

It was over the luncheon table that the General unfolded a project which, so far as I can recall, is without precedent in such a situation. In relating the interview, in this column it should be emphasized not only that we are dealing with one of China's top men, but that he is a professional soldier, accustomed to settling arguments with bullets. He was Chinese minister of war from 1930 to 1945. He also was chief of staff of the army during the World War, and in that capacity received the surrender of 2,000,000 Japanese troops at the close of hostilities.

His project calls for moral rehabilitation—eventually among the Chinese Communists but first among the Nationalist government regime and its supporters—this being calculated to remove the causes of the fratricidal strife.

Such a program sounded strange coming from a fighting man. And the general admitted that until recently he regarded the settlement of the civil strife purely as a military job. The government had to blast the Chinese Communists into submission.

Why It's Hard To Tell Russians About U. S.

One phase of the Russian problem is a puzzle to a great many people. Ex-soldiers and others who had a chance to mingle with the typical Russian "common man" during the war almost invariably report that he was friendly, curious about the United States and other nations he had not seen, sick to death of war and talk of more war, and eager to live at peace in a friendly world. On the other hand, the ruling class in Russia exhibits none of these characteristics. The average high Soviet official is openly contemptuous of all countries save his own, is about as non-cooperative as they come, and certainly is not averse to considering the possibility of World War III.

This difference in attitudes between the Russian masses and the Russian leaders is not so curious as it may seem at first glance. First of all, ninety-odd per cent of the Russian people have nothing whatsoever to say about their government and its foreign policy, and their desires are never considered in the formulation of Soviet policy. Secondly, it is a great mistake to think of the Soviet Union as a land populated by some 160,000,000 Communists. The truth is that only a very small proportion of the Russian people belong to the Communist party—or would be permitted to join the party if they wished to. The Communist party rules Russia—but it enrolls its ranks only those citizens who have abilities and energies which it can use to its advantage. It is an elite class, and as such has no resemblance to a political party as we know it in the United States. Its members receive many personal privileges and prerogatives which the ordinary Russian can never hope to attain. Thus, it is possible to draw an organizational parallel between the Communist party and Hitler's old Nazi group. There is one great difference, however. Hitler's backers consisted largely of fanatics who had great passion but little practical ability. The Communists are interested only in obtaining able men and women, and potential members are rigorously examined and investigated.

At the top of the Communist party is a series of bureaus which do the actual work of governing. At the very top is the Politburo, where the real seat of power lies. No one outside of a few men high in Soviet councils, even knows the exact membership of this remarkable organization. It is self-perpetuating, and its powers are literally unlimited. The names of some of its most important members are virtually unknown in this

New Excuse?

Springfield, Mass.—(AP)—It may be a chemical—known as melanin—not dirt that gives a child's neck a darker hue than his face. Dr. Gene Weifflich of Columbia University's graduate school told a class at Springfield College that the chemical is more abundant on the neck. He ascribed that as the reason many children develop what appear to be unscrubbed necks.

Strong Family Ties

Nancy, France.—(AP)—When the four sons of Farmer Brierly of the village of Kivray began going out with the four daughters of Farmer Goujon of St. Jours it looked like a good "boy-meets-girl" story. When one of the couples became serious, it looked like a marriage. Now they're all married—the last pair of them today.

with high explosive. How else are such disputes settled?

General Ho discovered a new approach to the problem as the result of attending the international assembly for moral re-education at Niagara Falls a few weeks ago. Of this change he says:

"During the past 20 years of my fight against the materialists in China, the method I used was force against force, and organization against organization. But it did not occur to me that I should hit back with an idea against an idea. I have come to the very firm conclusion that I must fight an idea with an idea."

The general said he believes that, whatever military operations may be necessary, the only way to cut the ground from under the feet of Communism in China is for the national government to inaugurate reforms which will win over the population now dominated by the Reds. And along with economic reforms must come the moral force that will give new standards to the country.

In short, there's no use trying to "reform" the Communists unless the change starts first in the government and among its key supporters.

Obviously the spreading of these new ideas calls for specially trained people, and the energetic Ho has laid before the Generalissimo a program which calls for selected groups of Chinese to be sent to America at once for training in moral re-education. He specifies that these men "must be absolutely unselfish; they should be men of faith, not necessarily Christian but with a spiritual philosophy."

In order to speed up the project, General Ho has proposed to send to China forthwith the brilliant S. S. Lo—who long was private secretary to Chiang Kai-Shek but now is in Washington—to help in the selection of men who will fight ideas with ideas. Lo himself has been associated with the moral re-education movement for some time and is enthusiastic over the Chinese program.

country. They are rarely mentioned in the Soviet press, except in connection with the discharge of official duties.

These are the men—and they probably number only about fifteen—who decide Russian policy in all its phases. Stalin, of course, is the head of the group, with Molotov second. Many Russian authorities feel that Molotov will be Stalin's successor. But, whether he is or not, the Politburo will remain in control.

It can be stated categorically that the Russian people know almost nothing about what is going on in the rest of the world. The Soviet press is, and is meant to be, a governmental instrument. It consists of a few papers of enormous circulation. All articles of any importance are "inspired"—that is, the party leadership tells the writers just what attitude they will take. A great deal of space is given to alleged news from the United States, and practically all of it is directly or indirectly unfavorable. Special emphasis is placed on U. S. murders, riots, strikes, and internal disorders. Photos of such happenings are featured. The whole idea is to give the Russian people the idea that the United States is an embattled country, with a low standard of living, and with a weak and vacillating government which may collapse at any time and be replaced by a system akin to Communism. Editorial comment to this effect often buttresses the "news" stories.

This gives an idea of the tremendous difficulties in the way of appealing to the goodwill of the Russian people in working out world problems. No one really knows whether the typical Russian wants to extend the Communist sphere of influence, or use German slave labor, or engage in an atom-bomb and armament race with us. Further, it doesn't make any difference what he wants. All that matters, from the practical point of view, is what is in the minds of the handful of men of the Politburo.

The current discussion of Communist activities in this country has produced some rumblings in the Soviet press, but, as yet, no major bias. A great unanswered question is just how much Soviet undercover work is undertaken here. The revelations of a year ago in Canada, where it was officially confirmed that some prominent Canadians, including a member of parliament, had been working directly for the Russians, were disturbing. This country certainly offers a far more fertile field for Russian intelligence than does Canada. That fact may have a considerable future bearing on U. S.-Soviet relations.

With The Homemakers

PALESTINE CLUB STUDIES COLOR CHOICE

"Choosing Becoming Colors" was featured in the lesson by the leaders, Mrs. Robert Thompson and Mrs. William Collier, at the meeting of the Palestine Homemakers Club April 18 at the home of Mrs. J. L. Verhine.

Mrs. W. F. McClanahan, president, called the meeting to order at 1:30 p. m., after which Mrs. Thompson read "Common Things". Next year's program was discussed and the club decided on home improvement for the major project, also some food lessons. Landscape notes for April was given by Mrs. J. H. Lawrence, who told about the care of lawns, and flowers, and the pruning of roses and shrubs.

"Backwoods Part of Japan" was used for the rocking chair tour by Mrs. Gus Browder. Among some things mentioned was that farms often contained only two and one-half acres, the women do most of the hard work, their bath tubs are of wood, and for gripping silk threads a finger up weaver files her nails like saw teeth. Mrs. Adams, agent, gave information about sugar stamps and the Courier Journal contest for farm women and men.

For the recreational program the group sang the Homemaker's Song and Mrs. Adams conducted a flower contest. Mrs. McCleod, the new agent, was introduced by Mrs. Adams, and Mrs. McClanahan welcomed her to the club.

During the social hour the hostess served a dessert course to 20 members and the agents. A gift from the club was presented to Mrs. Adams at the close of the meeting.

Barkley Secretary Marries Publisher

Washington, April 21.—Miss Wythe Louen Killen of Washington and Bowling Green, Ky., and Frank W. Mayborn, Texas newspaper publisher, were married at the New York Avenue Presbyterian church here yesterday.

For the past six years, the bride had served as secretary to Senator Alben W. Barkley, Paducah, Senate Democratic leader. Mayborn is publisher of the Temple, Texas, Telegram and other Texas newspapers. The couple plans to reside at Temple.
