Golf Lessons For Students

Free Instruction Will Be Offered By Country Club

HUGHES IS TEACHER

In an effort to provide sport and recreation for the high school students of Fulton and surrounding vicinity, officials of the Fulton Country Club have announced a summer sports program aimed at teaching and promoting golf and tennis among these students.

A series of free golf instruction will be given to all interested high school students, with clubs, balls and instruction provided without charge. This instruction will be of the highest type, and will begin with the fundamentals of gripping the club and continue on through the proper swing and on to actual play. Instruction will be given by Dick Hughes, now an employee of the Illinois Central Railroad Company working out of Fulton, but formerly for 15 years golf professional for the Bunker Hills Country Club in Chicago, Ill. Later, when the tennis courts at the Country Club are completed, free instruction will be provided for tennis by expert players of this vicinity.

At the completion of instruction, and when students have had an opportunity to become fully familiar with the games, a special high school membership in the club will be available at a charge of $7.50 for the entire year. This offer will be good only for bona fide high school students and 1947 graduates.

In order to extend this program to the largest number of high school students possible, citizens of Fulton who have used sets of golf clubs at their homes are asked to make these available for the use of these students of the game this summer.

May, Garsons Trial Will Open In Capital Today

Washington, April 22—(AP)—Andrew Jackson May, former Democratic Congressman from Kentucky, goes on trial today charged with conspiracy to defraud the government.

The others are: Henry M. Garson, fired from an $1,800-a-year government job in 1936, but who later became president of 16 companies.

His brother, Murray Garson, sales manager for these companies, which had $75,000,000 in war contracts.

Their Washington representative, Joseph F. Freeman.

The trial was assigned to U. S. District Judge Henry Schweinhaut's court.

The first day—and maybe longer—is expected to be used for choosing a jury.

The government charges, in an indictment returned in January, that the Garsons gave May money illegally in connection with certain of their war contracts.

AFL Awaits Word On Merger; NFW Says "Get Cash Offers"

By The Associated Press
The AFL executive council today awaited a reply from CIO President Philip Murray to an invitation to discuss a merger.

In Pittsburgh, Murray said he had delayed his answer because the invitation, sent by telegraph, was slow in reaching him.

The AFL invitation was made in a move to combat proposed union restrictions which will be up for debate in the Senate tomorrow.

One council member, who asked that his name be withheld, said "this is the time for merger. The workers of the country want it, and it will show those fellows in Congress that labor stands together."

As the council waited, other developments in the labor situation included:

Instructions from the National Federation of Telephone Workers to its locals, telling them to seek "money offers" from Bell System companies.

The instructions followed a mix-up last night in which the NFW policy committee announced the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company had offered a 7 1/2 cent hourly wage increase, and the company said there was "nothing to it."

After the conflicting announcements, the policy committee directed NFW's 39 striking member unions to try to get "money offers" wherever possible, hoping a national telephone wage pattern might shape up.

In Chicago, the Illinois Bell Telephone Company rejected a proposal calling for a $5 across-the-board wage increase, a suggestion offered by conciliators last night. The unions were to reply to the proposal today.

Phil Ardery To Head Vets For Waterfield

Appointment of Frankfort Man Made Monday

IS WORLD WAR II-VET

Philip P. Ardery, Frankfort, will be chairman of the veterans' division of Harry Lee Waterfield's campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor.

The announcement was made yesterday by Waterfield through his headquarters in the Seelbach Hotel, Louisville.

Ardery, an attorney, is a veteran of World War II. He was second in a field of nine candidates for the party nomination for the United States Senate last year.

In accepting the appointment, Ardery said he predicted the Democratic primary this year would develop along "clear-cut issues." He expressed belief that Waterfield was on "the right side of those issues."

He said veterans throughout the state with whom he had talked realize the need for vigilance against "pressure groups." With that in mind, he said he and many others believe Waterfield would be the best representative of the whole people, and as such the best representative of veterans.

Demo Women To Back Clements; President Protests

Louisville, Ky., April 22—(AP)—The Third District Democratic Women's Club was on record today endorsing U. S. Rep. Earle C. Clements, Morgantown, for the Democratic nomination for governor of Kentucky.

The club, including members in Louisville and Jefferson county, also has endorsed Lawrence Wetherby, a Louisville, former juvenile court judge, as candidate for the party's nomination for lieutenant governor.

Mrs. John Kesselring, club president who recently "personally" endorsed Harry Lee Waterfield for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination and was named state chairman of his women's division campaign, said the club's endorsement of Clements was "against the better judgment" of the organization's president.

Happy Over Steel Pact

David J. McDonald (left), vice president of the United Steelworkers, and Philip Murray, CIO and Steelworkers' president, smile happily in Pittsburgh after announcing a two-year pact with the U. S. Steel Corp. The agreement provides for wage increases of slightly more than 15 cents hourly with a wage re-opening clause after one year.

CIO-U. S. Steel Corp. Will Sign Pact Assuring Peace Two Years

Pittsburgh, April 22—(AP)—Top officials of the CIO-United Steelworkers and the U. S. Steel Corp. today will put their signatures to a new pact which Union President Philip Murray declared "assures peace in the industry for two years."

The signing will climax more than three months of negotiations and will make official the agreement providing a $1-per-day increase for 140,000 employees of five U. S. Steel subsidiaries.

The steelworkers' executive board approved the agreement Sunday and the union's 175-man wage policy committee added its unanimous endorsement yesterday.

Murray termed the wage pact "an answer to all Congressional labor baiters' ill-bent on destruction of labor unions in America."

"It removes certain elements of doubt concerning the things that labor and industry can do, independent of government intervention, to preserve decent, peaceful and honorable relations," the white-haired labor leader told a press conference following the policy committee meeting.

With its major task of signing "Big Steel" completed, the CIO's biggest union turned to the job of winning similar wage contracts for the remainder of the industry which employs the bulk of its 853,000 members.

Murray said yesterday that he anticipated no troubles in negotiations with the remaining 86 basic firms with which the union holds contracts.

As for the steel-abracing firms, he declared no "exact formula" had been worked out but he expected the U. S. Steel contract to "become the basis for our national wage makeup."

Last year's wage drive by the steelworkers, which precipitated a 30-day nationwide strike, resulted in an 18 1/2-cent hourly wage boost that did become the pattern for industry generally.

Since January 1, Kentucky has had only the safety responsibility act in effect. It requires license suspension of an operator who is unable to show proof he can't set any judgment arising from an accident he was involved in causing death, injury or property damage in excess of $50.

Big Four Meets In Secret; Austrian Issues Stalemated

Moscow, April 22—(AP)—The council of foreign ministers wound up a second secret session on the Austrian peace treaty today and failed to announce any conclusive results, apparently leaving the key Austrian issues stalemated.

It was understood the lineup on these questions remained where it was, with the three western powers standing against Russia.

Some informants said they expected at least one more secret session would be held before a final decision was reached on whether any of the key deadlocks can be broken during the Moscow conference.

Secretary of State George C. Marshall's advisers in the restricted group included Gen. Mark W. Clark, the ranking American authority on Austrian questions. Also with him were U. S. Ambassador W. B. Smith and interpreter Charles Bohlen.

There was no immediate indication as to whether any change had occurred in the Soviet position, or that of any other delegation, but speculation continued that the western powers were hopeful of some concessions soon by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov—perhaps as a result of new instructions from the Kremlin.

Since on the main problems—Yugoslavia's territorial claims against Austria and definition of German assets in Austria—Molotov is facing a three-to-one lineup against him, he seems to be in the position either of giving ground or of having the other foreign ministers blame him for failure to finish the Austrian treaty at this conference.

Two Planes Collide At Columbus, Ga.; 9 Thought Dead

Columbus, Ga., April 22—(AP)—A Delta Airlines plane collided with a reconverted Army basic trainer in landing here today and at least nine persons were believed dead in the crash.

Attaches at Muscogee airport said no bodies had been recovered from either plane, both of which were burning at 11:15 a. m.

The special plane carried seven officials of Delta Airlines on an inspection trip.

Uniform Auto Law For State Recommended

Would Reduce Deaths, Wrecks, Committee Says

SUGGESTS NEW CODE

Frankfort, Ky., April 22—(AP)—Adoption by Kentucky cities of a uniform traffic ordinance, designed to reduce slaughter and wreckage on the roads, is recommended in a report to the governor's Committee on Highway Safety.

The report charged that ignorance of the laws is a major reason for Kentucky's high traffic-fatality rate, but it partially excused the ignorance because of the many differences among traffic rules enforced by cities.

If the model ordinance were adopted, the report explained, "a citizen of Ashland driving in Paducah would meet the same traffic rules which Ashland would have, and the Middleboro citizens (living) through Covington could not claim ignorance of what Covington required in the way of traffic safety."

Prepared by a subcommittee of the Governor's coordinators, the report also urged adoption by the state of a five-part uniform vehicle code, now in effect in Indiana and Missouri.

The code includes acts related to automobile registration and anti-theft, operators' and chauffeurs' licenses, civil liability, safety responsibility, and traffic regulation.

State P-TA Hears Williams

Superintendent Outlines Plan For Expansion Of Education in Kentucky

Covington, Ky., April 22—(AP)—A call for an expansion of education was heard by delegates to the 27th annual convention of the Kentucky Congress of Parents and Teachers here last night.

John Fred Williams, Kentucky superintendent of public instruction, told the delegates education must be expanded "upward, downward and outward in an effort to further instruction for pre-school children, school children and adults."

Williams spoke at a dinner which opened the three-day convention at which 500 delegates are in attendance.

The expansion, Williams said, must be planned over a long-range period. "But for the immediate program we also have three definite goals ahead of us," he said.

"First we are seeking to bring about a longer and more equal school term throughout the state. Secondly, we must attempt to equalize education and instruction methods in all areas, and thirdly, we must have more adequate financial support in order to obtain competent teachers and better school facilities."

Williams said that the state's present educational program is "indispensable."

Before voting on the program the Senate had up for disposal amendments by Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.), No. 1 opponent of the legislation to eliminate Turkey from the plan and to strike out the military features.

Senators Pepper (D-Fla.) and Taylor (D-Idaho), also have a proposal that the matter be turned over to the United Nations.

Pepper, who previously had said he would support the legislation, changed his mind last night and announced he will vote "no."

"Price Cutting Discarded"

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), commenting on the Steel-CIO agreement for a $1 daily wage boost, said "it looks like price cutting has been tossed out of the window."

He told a reporter: "Now we see pretty clearly that corporations are going to raise wages and with increased costs they are not likely to fall in with the idea of cutting prices."

His remarks were in advance of a meeting of the Senate House committee on the economic report which planned a statement on its price study.

Why We Pay More

How long has it been since you heard someone say: "I'm glad to see all the groceries and meats I want back on the shelves—but, golly, the prices are out of reason?"

The story behind this was given in a very few words last week by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Americans are eating more and better than they ever did before, and the inescapable law of supply and demand has raised prices again and again.

People who, only a few years ago, subsisted chiefly on sow-belly and soup beans, with a mess of turnip greens on the side at the appropriate seasons, now are calling for beefsteak and out-of-season vegetables. There is more first-quality food in the country now than ever before, but as long as there's not enough to go around, prices will stay up.

Eating habits are hard to change. Some of us acquired tastes in the armed services that we took back to civilian life; others made more money in defense and war industry than we had ever made before, and we spent a sizable portion of our inflated incomes on expensive food, getting ration points the best way we could. Once a person has become accustomed to a better diet, it's hard to go back to the old meals that formerly satisfied him.

But go back we must, unless incomes keep pace with spiraling food prices, or unless food prices come down to meet incomes. The logical solution, as we see it, is to insure a production of unprecedented production on the farms and in the factories, by everyone's staying on the job and putting in a full day's work for a day's pay. Without production, there will be no funds with which management can pay labor. Without pay-checks, there will be no money to spend for food—or clothing, or any other necessities. The economic cycle, or, moreover, must be complete, or beefsteak may go down to a dime a pound, with few having the price of a hamburger readily available.

British Like Monarchy

By Dewitt MacKenzie.

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
Princess Elizabeth, heiress presumptive to the British throne, who is touring South Africa with other members of the royal family, yesterday celebrated her twenty-first birthday and dedicated her life to the vast empire "upon which the sun never sets."

There was widespread observance of this memorable event in the life of the comely girl who may one day sit on the world's greatest throne. Socialist Prime Minister Attlee cabled congratulations to her from London, declaring that "the steadfast leadership and selfless devotion of the royal family shine forth as one of the greatest blessings and surest bulwarks of this land." But the Communist Daily Worker's greeting was a bitter editorial which sounded the only discordant note of the day. Said this paper:

"We mean no sort of personal disrespect to a young woman who, within the narrow confines of her caste, is no doubt worthy and amiable. But what a reflection on the institution of hereditary monarchy it is that the titular headship of the British state should descend to a princess whose political and intellectual qualifications for a great public office are no more than those of any wealthy squires daughter brought up in the most limited Victorian way. x x x Surely the fundamental conclusion is obvious. The institution of monarchy is an anachronism in the middle of the 20th century."

Certainly absolute monarchy is an anachronism because it is a totalitarian dictatorship which circumscribes the right of the individual. But the British monarchy, and the few other remaining monarchies of Europe, are constitutional. The real head of government is the prime minister who is answerable to a parliament elected by the people. They are democracies.

True, a lot of us prefer the republican form of government for ourselves. Still, while recent years have been tough ones for the kings, it's interesting to note that yesterday King Paul took the oath as sixth sovereign of Greece, and at the same time Frederick IX was proclaimed King of Denmark. Meanwhile Princess Elizabeth was doing very well, thank you, with greetings from loyal subjects throughout the empire, not to mention gifts of great price, including 400 diamonds valued at $80,000 from the South African government.

Anyway, England likes her monarchy, as witness her Socialist Prime Minister's striking tribute to the throne. And there's a great deal more to it than just a fondness of tradition and pageantry, for the greatest of the bonds which hold together the globe-encircling British Commonwealth of Nations is the throne. You'll find many British people who believe that the commonwealth would dissolve if the monarchy were abolished.

But to get back to Princess Elizabeth. That young lady is a very highly educated person for her years. She not only has had the usual scholastic training, coupled with fine arts such as music and painting, but she has specialized in those things which are essential for a sovereign. For instance she speaks French and German well and handles Spanish and Italian acceptably. History and constitutional law have been emphasized, and she has been constantly drilled in the duties of royalty towards the people.

Then of course she has had training in public speaking, and for a considerable time has been making public appearances at public functions.

Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
New York, April 22—(AP)—So many colts seem to have eliminated themselves as Kentucky Derby prospects that there likely will be a heck of a field in the $100,000 gallop at Churchill Downs May 3.—If that seems confusing, it works out this way: the only real standout so far is Phalanx, winner of last Saturday's better division of the Wood Memorial.—Then come a few "possibles" such as Faultless, Double Jay, On Trust and Jet Pilot.—From there on nobody knows and there's only an outside chance that the Blue Grass Stakes Thursday and the Chesapeake Saturday will do more than possibly add a few names to the list of those. Only 35 favorites have won in 72 Derbies and that some horrible things can happen to favorites especially if they draw one of those inside post positions. So we figure a lot of owners will risk the $1000 starting fee on the chance that Phalanx and maybe a few others will be caught in a jam.—But don't bet on it.

1947 Big League Attendance May Match 1946 Record High

By Joe Reichler
Associated Press Sports Writer

Judging from early returns, the attendance at the major league baseball parks this season should come pretty close to matching last year's record. Despite poor weather which has caused the postponement of 16 games during the first week of action and cut into the crowds in others, the 16 big league clubs drew a combined total of 786,991 cash customers, an average of 13,309 per game.

During the first week a year ago, the majors, taking advantage of perfect baseball weather, got in 50 of their 52 scheduled games which attracted an average of 20,028 per game.

With the increase in the number of night games, and added interest in such cities as Pittsburgh and Cleveland, where new owners have taken over, it is not inconceivable that the 1947 attendance will approach, if not top, last year's amazing figures. Yesterday only two of the five scheduled games were played.

The limited action produced one big upset as the surprising Chicago White Sox, taking liberties with the left-handed shoots of Hurricane Hal Newhouser, the Detroit ace, slapped down the Tigers 6-4 to remain unbeaten atop the American League standings. In registering their third victory of the campaign, Ted Lyons' crew nudged Newhouser and two successors for 10 safeties, four of them for extra bases.

It was not until the fifth inning that the Tigers managed to score. Chicago pitchers had a record of 22 straight scoreless innings until then.

The Sox swatted Newhouser for five runs in the first five innings to settle the issue. Newhouser was wild, walking five men during that time.

He uncorked a wild pitch in the first inning that conked Ralph Hodgins and sent the Chicago outfielder to a Detroit hospital with a concussion and bad bruise. Hodgins' condition

Wall Street Report

New York, April 22—(AP)—Individual stocks continued to advance moderately in today's market although many leaders stumbled over further light selling.

The U. S. Steel wage pact still was a mildly bullish influence although the spread of pay boosts aroused some apprehension market-wise owing to the feeling of some economists that many corporations might find it difficult to reduce prices and, consequently, stiffen consumer resistance.

Dealings tapered after a fairly active opening and the direction was a bit cloudy near midday.

Gains of fractions to a point or so were recorded for Chrysler, American Tobacco, "B" American Woolen, Monsanto Chemical, Goodrich, General Motors, Sperry, Glenn Martin, U. S. Steel, Santa Fe, Pennsylvania Railroad and Anaconda. Small declines were posted for American Telephone, N. Y. Central, Great Northern Railway, American Smelting, Youngstown Sheet, U. S. Rubber, International Nickel, Air Reduction, Douglas Aircraft, Bethlehem and Sears Roebuck. Bonds and cotton futures were relatively steady.

Negro Patrolmen Under Indictment On Gaming Count

Lexington, Ky., April 22—(AP)—Lexington's negro patrolmen, Charles Cruse and Prather Walker, were under joint indictment today on a charge of assisting in setting up and operating a game of chance.

The Fayette county grand jury returned the indictment yesterday in connection with a card game in which the officers and Ira Davis, a white plumber, are accused of participation.

The charge, a felony, carries upon conviction a maximum $500 fine and three-year sentence.

The patrolmen were accused in individual indictments of suffering gaming, a misdemeanor. Davis also was indicted on a gambling charge.

CANDIDATE

Frankfort, Ky., Charles H. Gartrell, Ashland, weighed into the race for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor Saturday with a one-plank platform that advances a solution for Kentucky's ills—a higher level of income.

Arguing that every additional dollar added to individual incomes of Kentuckians puts $41,000 into the Kentucky general fund, Gartrell said the road to more money for education and other state needs lies not through taking money out of the pockets of the people but in putting money into their pockets.

He offered an eight-year, industrial engineering plan administered by the lieutenant governor and working toward the scattering of small, home-owned industries throughout the State as the way to raise the income level. Industries that would utilize raw material from Kentucky farms should be emphasized, he said.

Bums Lose Hope Of Lip's Returning

Cincinnati, April 22—(AP)—Four one-syllable words, "the case is closed," today snuffed out hopes of the Brooklyn Dodgers that Leo Durocher might manage the team at least part of this season.

They came from Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler yesterday as he rejected a request by Branch Rickey, president of the Dodgers, and Ford Frick, National League president, that he reconsider the one-year suspension he imposed on the Brooklyn manager April 9.

Rickey and Frick appeared before the commissioner accompanied by Arthur Mann, Rickey's assistant, and Walter O'Malley and Judge Henry L. Ugratta, part owners of the club.

Memphis Bans "Duel In Sun"

Selznick's $6 Million Movie Said "Repellent", Memphians Can't See It

Memphis, Tenn., April 22—(AP)—"Duel in the Sun", David O. Selznick's $6,000,000 western, was banned today by the Memphis censor board whose chairman described it as "the most repellent movie I've seen this year."

"The picture is vulgar, sexy and with not a decent thing in it," Lloyd T. Binford added after previewing the picture that was to open at Loew's State theater here May 1.

"It starts off with two murders and ends with two murders. Woven into it is a train wreck, torrid love-making and other stuff that is repulsive."

The censor chairman said he planned a full report on the movie today that "will tear it apart."

Binford heads a tough three-member board that has turned thumbs down on several pictures. Other members are Mrs. Sid Law, housewife, and Ho-Ge Honnoll, attorney.

"The Outlaw", starring Jane Russell, was banned because it featured "too much shooting."

"Brewster's Millions" was not allowed to play here because the negro comedian, Rochester, was "too familiar with the white folks."

Maryland Racing Chairman Fired

Baltimore, April 22—(AP)—George P. Mahoney, chairman of the Maryland Racing Commission since 1945, had his walking papers from the governor today.

In a surprise announcement described by Mahoney as "very distressing news," Governor William P. Lane, Jr., disclosed last night he would replace the present chairman with Stuart Symington Janney, Jr., attorney and gentleman jockey from Glyndon, Baltimore county, on July 1.

Mahoney, head of a Baltimore contracting firm, became a center of controversy during his tenure as chairman, a post he reached after serving on the three-man commission since 1941.
