Robertson Still Dissatisfied

Questions Taylor's Right To Be Fair Manager

Frankfort, April 29—(AP)—Robertson said yesterday that Robert T. Taylor's right to be named fair manager of the Kentucky State Fair was flouted by the County Board of Auditors at its recent meeting.

A floor fight shaped up in the Senate today—how to "unveto" the President's veto of the Kentucky State Fair legislation yesterday.

Mr. W. R. Reid, will voice the interests involved to act as their agent in all matters pertaining to the legislation previously.

Congress, White House Wonder How a Bill Can Be "Unvoted"

Washington, April 28—(AP)—Just how can it come about that an amendment to a compromise bill, which President Truman vetoed, on Monday, was approved by Congress Tuesday, and approved in its original form on Wednesday? The puzzle has the White House and the Congress perplexed.

The amendment was "unvetoed" by Congress Tuesday morning.

Army Engineers Make Tour Of Harris Fork Wednesday; Some See Chance Of U.S. Aid

HEADS KENTUCKIANS

Two U. S. Army engineers, Paul Houtz and Paul Perry, from the Memphis district of the Corps of Engineers, went to Fulton Sunday morning traveling by automobile as far as Ironton, Ohio, to find out if federal aid could be granted in the flood-stricken area.

The engineers visited the flood area here and confered with local officials before returning to Ironton.

The engineers were accompanied by Capt. Asa Moore of the Corps of Engineers, who is stationed at the U. S. War College at Washington, D. C.

Funds, If Given, Will Be Separate From City's Work

The President's veto message was amended in the Senate Tuesday, the amendment was then approved by Congress Tuesday morning, and the veto was overridden Wednesday... The amendment will provide a separate appropriation fund for the flood work and the city will be able to meet its obligations in the flood situation.

Ex-Soldiers New Offered Old Rank

Staff Sergeant Jeff Garrott, of Hendersonville, Tenn., who won the so-called "Gunny" award in the Korean war, returned to this city Wednesday.

Garrott, a member of the 4th Infantry Division, was decorated for his actions in the war with a "Gunny" award.

A floor fight shaped up in the Senate today—how to "unveto" the President's veto of the Kentucky State Fair legislation yesterday.

14th Airborne Division at the moment. It will be possible to see the division in action Saturday and Sunday when the 14th Airborne Division will be in the neighborhood.

The 14th Airborne Division was recently stationed at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., and is now in the vicinity of Knoxville, Tenn., on maneuvers.

Steel Wage Pact Signed

Washington, April 28—(AP)—A new steel wage pact was signed by the United Steel Workers of America and U. S. Steel Corp. yesterday.

The pact provides for a $1 a day increase in the scale of wages paid by the U. S. Steel Corp. to employees of the company.

The pact was signed by C. A. Geiger, president of the United Steel Workers of America, and E. H. Lehmann, vice president of U. S. Steel Corp.

Mustn't See It!

We use the phrase, "mustn't see it," for things known to be bad. But who is to blame for the newspaper decoration which appears on the following page? That's right, its editors. The paper is The Louisville Times and the decoration is spectacle typeface about the size of this paragraph.

The Times is a newspaper of Louisville, Ky., one of the largest cities in the United States. Its circulation is about 170,000 copies. It is published daily except Sunday.

The Times has a long history of publishing offensive and irresponsible material. This is not the first time that the paper has used spectacle typeface.

The Times is known for its support of the far-right political movement in the United States. It is owned by a wealthy family that has been involved in various controversial political and legal matters.

The Times has also been accused of spreading false information and propaganda. It has published articles and editorials that have been shown to be false and misleading.

The Times is a clear example of the problem of media influence on public opinion. It is important that we hold our media accountable for the content they publish.

In conclusion, the Times is a newspaper that should be avoided due to its offensive and irresponsible material. Its use of spectacle typeface is just one example of its bad behavior.
Wrecked Palestine Train

UN Information

Question: What will the UN General Assembly do to study the Palestine situation?

Answer: The consent of 23 states of the General Assembly to study the Palestine situation will be required before the Israel could be authorized. The number of the member states had been fewer than the minimum number required before the Assembly. The Assembly, which consists of 51 states, could be authorized to study the Palestine situation if 23 states consent to it. The Israel has been confronted with a serious problem that the conflict in the occupied territories is a major obstacle to the peace of the Middle East. The Assembly is considering ways to achieve peace in the region.

TOP SECRET

One of the things that play a role in the decision to keep a Buick is the quality of the engine. The Buick engine is known for its reliability and performance. No wise Buick owner would have returned to his police force. The car was also in excellent condition, having been driven only a few miles before the accident. The driver of the car was also unhurt, which was fortunate considering the severity of the accident.

A girl's hat blew off. A young girl was running through an opening on the campus of Detroit University. The girl turned her head to meet the要求, and saw a sign that read: "Do not enter." The girl continued on her way, knowing that it was too late to enter the building. The sign had been placed there to prevent unauthorized access to the building. The girl was running late to class, but she knew that she had to get there on time.

Livestock Market

Wall Street Report

New York, April 23- The stock market tried for further recovery today but met heavy selling pressure from both the public and institutions. The Dow Jones average moved only 1/8 point lower to 95.19. Los Angeles, on the other hand, showed a gain of 20 points, closing at 120.08.

Cotswold, a leading cotton broker, announced the signing of a contract for the delivery of 100,000 bales of Egyptian cotton to buyers in the United States. The contract was signed today by Coottswold, a leading cotton broker, and the contract will be delivered in the next 30 days.

The cotton market was buoyed by light speculation from both buyers and sellers. The public was quick to respond to the bullish tone, but institutions were slow to follow.

For the most part, today was another quiet day, with little new information to influence the market. The light, however, was not as light as yesterday, and there was some indication of a move higher.
