Doran Decides Not To Become A Candidate

Says He'll Work For Waterfield In Governor Race

SPEAKS SATURDAY

Louisville—Adron Doran Saturday withdrew as a possible candidate for the Democratic nomination for state superintendent of public instruction to support Harry Lee Waterfield for the Democratic nomination for governor.

He based his action on the premise that it is more important to education to elect Waterfield than it would be to elect Doran.

Doran, principal of Wingo high school, represented Graves county in the 1944 and 1946 House of Representatives. Elected president of the Kentucky Education Association a year ago, he resigned April 19 with the avowed intention of running for state superintendent.

Waterfield Backs Program
Addressing himself to "the school people" of Kentucky who recently adopted a legislative program, Doran said:

"However sincere my desire to administer the program has been or your desire that I offer myself as a candidate, I have come to the conclusion after much study and counsel, that the profession should give primary consideration to the election of a governor whose responsibility it will be to direct a program of action through the legislature.

"We will gain little after we have formulated a legislative program and have chosen a state superintendent if we fail to secure the enactment of our legislative program into law."

Waterfield last week pledged his full support to the K. E. A. program, including the recommendation that the common-school-fund appropriation be raised from $18,500,000 to $34,500,000, with the increase earmarked for teachers' salaries.

Says Ideas Are Identical
Declaring that unless proper attention is given to the public schools of Kentucky, "a lost generation is in the making," Doran referred to the fight for education he made with House Speaker Waterfield at the last general assembly and said:

"Our idea of a progressive program for Kentucky are identical. We have borne the torch in a fight to appropriate money which had accumulated to the surplus and which could reasonably be anticipated to education, health, and welfare."

Doran said he never had found occasion "to consort with those who would form political combinations to advance selfish interests," nor with those "who would endeavor to circumvent the will of the people by forming alliances with representatives of vested interests."

Hits Middle-of-Road Policy
"I don't make a race of my own," Doran said in his statement, which was repeated in a radio broadcast over WHAS at 9 last night, "on a down-the-middle-of-the-road policy as it regards the issues of this campaign."

"The profession cannot secure the gains to which the youth of Kentucky is entitled by taking a down-the-middle-of-the-road course. I know which side of the road I am on. I have chosen to cast my lot with Harry Lee Waterfield."

Both Waterfield and his campaign manager, Ben Kilgore, Franklin, were present when Doran made his statement. Waterfield said that Doran easily could have won the nomination for state superintendent, probably without opposition.

Both Waterfield and Kilgore praised Doran for his denial of self in the interest of education and Kilgore said that Doran's action was "the greatest single thing that could happen to assure Waterfield of certain victory."

36 Hurt In Train Wreck Near Ontario, California

Ontario, Calif., April 28—(AP)—Thirty-six persons were injured, three seriously, when the Southern Pacific's New Orleans-bound Argonaut passenger train struck a broken rail at Guasti, four miles east of here, last night.

Only the locomotive, two baggage cars and the last two Pullmans of the 18-car train stayed on the track.

Average State Tax Is $61.78

Income Tax Returns Are Higher Than Last Year, Revenue Dep't. Finds

Frankfort, Ky., April 28—(AP)—Taxable 1946 individual incomes are yielding Kentucky an average of $61.78, the Revenue Department said today.

Individuals' returns processed between January 1 and last Saturday number 52,701 and brought in a total of $3,256,109.25 compared to 56,121 returns on 1945 incomes for a total of $3,038,367.52 and an average of $54.14 during a comparable processing period last year.

"No pays," returnees who earned a reportable income not subject to the state levy, so far number 16,187. Last year during the same period 14,363 "no pays" on 1945 salaries were recorded.

Corporations are paying an average of $999.91 on 1946 earnings compared to $631.81 on 1945 income. A total of 1,822 corporations have paid $1,821,844.96 on last year's income, against 2,074 which paid $1,310,372.66 on their 1945 income during a similar period in 1946.

"Clean Up" Drive Making Progress In Irvine, Ravenna

Irvine, Ky., April 28—(AP)—A drive to "clean up" Irvine and adjoining Ravenna was off to a "good start" today, police said, after a series of week end raids during which six men were arrested and slot machines, whisky and beer were seized.

The raids conducted in both communities in legally dry Estill county resulted in seizure of 10 slot machines, 16 cases of whisky and 101 cases of beer.

Senators Argue New Labor Law

Ball And Taft Oppose Ives And Morse Today As Debate Is Resumed

Washington, April 28—(AP)—Four Republican senators squared off for a hot verbal battle today as the Senate resumed debate on its version of labor control legislation.

While other members will be in on the light, too, the Senate expected most of the sparks to fly when these Republicans take their turns in the arguments: On one side, Ball of Minnesota and Taft of Ohio, who are determined to expand the pending measure by adding further restrictions on unions.

On the other, Ives of New York and Morse of Oregon, who are defending the bill as approved by the Senate Labor Committee.

The amendments being pushed by Taft and Ball would: prohibit unions from interfering with workers in their free choice of unions; prohibit a national union from coercing its locals in collective bargaining; enable private employers to apply for injunctions to stop jurisdictional strikes and certain other union practices; and bar employer payments into a union-controlled welfare fund.

The House, continuing debate on the $350,000,000 foreign relief bill, faced a showdown on a move to write in an amendment barring any American assistance to countries under Communism domination. The proposed restriction is aimed directly at Poland.

Both Waterfield and Kilgore praised Doran for his denial of self in the interest of education and Kilgore said that Doran's action was "the greatest single thing that could happen to assure Waterfield of certain victory."

Democrats Eye Senate Control Chances In 1949 Optimistically

Washington, April 28—(AP)—Democrats said today they plan an extraordinary effort to recapture the Senate in next year's elections.

Party leaders are spurred by the fact that the Republicans must risk seats in 10 doubtful states as against four such contests involving present Democratic members.

Senator Hill (D-Ala.), told a reporter he regards a return of the Senate to Democratic control in 1949 as "very likely" if the race for President is close.

Senator Wherry (R-Nebr.) said there is no doubt that the Republicans are at a tactical disadvantage.

States in that area which elect Senators include Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, South Carolina, Texas, Virginia, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and North Carolina. Even the most optimistic Republicans don't count on any gains from these.

In four states, Rhode Island, Colorado, Montana and New Mexico, sitting Democrats face strong Republican opposition. Rhode Island and New Mexico elected Democratic Senators in 1946 despite the Republican trend elsewhere. Colorado elected a Democratic governor, replacing a Republican, in Montana a Republican replaced a Democrat in the Senate.

On the Republican front, only eight states now are counted moderately safe for incumbent GOP Senators. These include Minnesota, New Hampshire, South Dakota, Kansas, Michigan, Nebraska, Maine and Iowa. In all of these there will be Democratic opposition, with the attendant possibility that if the national trend favors that party in 1948 the GOP may suffer some losses even among these.

In the doubtful category, where the Democrats are certain to make strong bids to break through are Illinois, Delaware, Kentucky, Oregon, Idaho, New Jersey, Oklahoma, West Virginia, Wyoming and Massachusetts.

Democrats contend that a situation might arise in a close Presidential election where, even if they lost the Presidency and the House they might regain the Senate.

Soviets Likely To Back Down, Marshall Says

Thinks U. S. Firmness Had Desired Effect

Washington, April 28—(AP)—American hopes for an easing in U. S.-Soviet tensions were buoyed today by reports that Secretary of State Marshall believes this country's firmness on European peace treaty issues may lead Russia to give ground.

Marshall's view was laid before Congressional leaders at a White House conference in advance of his radio report to the nation at 7:30 p. m. (CST), tonight on the results of the Moscow foreign ministers conference.

Some of those who attended the two hour session with the President and his cabinet officer last night said they came away with the impression that Marshall believes the unbending attitude he displayed at the Big Four meeting already has had the effect of making the Russians less sure of themselves in their demands affecting the future peace of Europe.

The soldier-diplomat was said to have counseled patience with the Soviets in the hope that as they digest the American position in the next few months, they may go to London for the next foreign ministers huddle in November more amenable to suggestions from their wartime allies on vital points involved in proposed Austrian and German peace treaties.

For this reason, Marshall was said to have told the Congressional leaders he believes it is too early now for this country to decide whether it should take the unsettled issues involving those treaties to the United Nations General Assembly for an airing.

The secretary was said to have related that proposed American action to bulwark Greece and Turkey against Communism appeared to have made a profound impression on the Russian people and their leaders, despite the fact that this program was kept out of the official discussions at the Moscow conference.

It was represented as Marshall's belief that when the Soviets have had additional time to think over the attitude taken by the American delegation, plus the President's Greek-Turkish proposal, they may be more willing to compromise some of the issues involved in the treaty discussions.

In this connection, Marshall was said to have described as "unreasonable" the Soviet reparations demands on Germany and Austria and to have declared that there should be no American retreat on this issue.

Covering only the Moscow conference in his discussion, the secretary was reported to have told the legislative leaders that he made the American position clear in an hour and a half talk with Premier Stalin before he left Moscow.

"I have no comment on that now," they both replied.

Shortly before the assembly convened a spokesman said the Jewish agency felt it "inappropriate to attend" until the delegates of the 55 member nations had acted on the agency's request for official recognition as a non-voting participant.

The U. N. previously had set aside 20 seats for representatives of the agency in the observers' section, but these were left vacant.

First Flat Pay Raise Offer By Bell System Spurs Hope Of Strike Settlement Soon

Memphis Phone Cables Are Cut; $2000 Reward Set

Memphis, Tenn., April 28—(AP)—The Southern Bell Telephone Company and the A. T. & T. today are advertising rewards totaling $2,000 for the arrests and conviction of persons involved in yesterday morning's slashing of telephone cables near here.

Within two hours vandals severed the Memphis-Decatur, Ala. toll route, carrying 142 circuits, and a 151-pair cable serving Memphis' airlines, the CAA and the War Assets Administration at the municipal airport.

Telephone company officials yesterday also reported finding a partly severed cable within the city limits, which caused 75 subscribers to be without service.

Louisville Pickets Still Marching; Court Disapproves

Louisville, Ky., April 28—(AP)—Picketing continued today at the main office of the Southern Bell Telephone System here at sub-exchanges.

George Miller, state director for the Southern Federation of Telephone Workers (Ind.), said about 12 striking workers picketed the main office while four or five were at each sub-exchange.

The picketing continued in the face of Circuit Judge Scott Miller's order limiting to two the number of pickets allowed at each building. Judge Miller earlier explained he could take no action under the law unless the company preferred charges against specific persons alleging violation of the temporary restraining order.

The strikers cut their wage demand from $12 to $6 a week last Friday, to match the 15 cent hourly boosts granted in steel, auto and other industries.

Opinion persisted among those familiar with behind-the-scenes moves in the walkout that if the strikers' lines held solid today—the start of the fourth week of the strike—the Bell System might begin to offer other wage increases in place of the arbitration plans.

To Safeguard Democracy

Americans now living are at the necessity, in the face of the gravest hazards in history, of proving their kind of government can be made to prevail; and they very badly need to learn, as quickly as possible, that a nation in which only about one-third of its eligible voters will take the trouble to go to the polls suffers a cancer from within more threatening than all the dangers from without.

Within comparatively recent years the volume of voting in Kentucky has fallen off sharply, not only in the populous centers but all over the State. If there is then dissatisfaction with things at Frankfort, the blame is easily placed; for our elections have been decided by minority votes.

The war can be blamed for lack in interest in elections of five or six of the years just past but the record shows that before 1941, many thousands of citizens in Kentucky remained away from the polls; and worse still, there is evidence this dereliction of duty has been worst among those who have the most at stake.

Our labor troubles are conceded to have arisen because many persons were not vigilant and did not recognize, while they were being enacted, just what the penalties of over-generous labor laws would be for the whole people of the nation.

The only way in which the scales can be put back in proper balance is by the electorate . . . and this not by a minority vote.

The closed shop issue may bring a change for the better, as witness Arkansas and seven other commonwealths whose people have made such unions illegal within their borders. This is an example of what citizens can do, when enough of them take the trouble to discharge their prime duty, by voting.

You feel, and say, as an individual: "Oh, it doesn't matter whether I vote. I am only one and my ballot will not change the result of the election." But multiply that individual by millions and you have our situation today, when the fate of 140,000,000 persons is at stake in the nation, and the fatal error of such a philosophy is readily realized.

"I am only one. I cannot do everything; but I can do something; and the Lord willing, that will I do."

Play on Uncle Sam's team . . . and do not give comfort to Uncle's many enemies by refusing to make your government and its servants what it and they ought to be.

A strong nation is a peaceful nation; and our Democracy cannot prevail in this world of Hashing ideologies unless the citizens who comprise it are willing to safeguard privileges they have assumed as rights.

Let us then familiarize ourselves with the issues in the coming election . . . and in every election, and then vote for better government and fairer, safer laws, according to the dictates of our consciences. We thus shall help to give our children and theirs, a better nation and a more peaceful world. (Princeton Leader.)

Firemen Caught Fire

Longview, Wash.—(P)—Firemen answering a downtown alarm box signal had to catch the fire.

Chugging slowly down the center of the street, unoccupied and with smoke rolling out of the hood, was a car of jalopy vintage.

The firemen discovered that an electric short circuit which caused the fire had also started the automobile.

Leave It To The Ladies

Kansas City.—(P)—The best J. H. Crowley and Clem Luckner could do in a day's fishing was a total catch of three small crappie.

After they gave up and rowed to shore at Houston lake near here, their wives went for a boat ride—without any fishing tackle—and came back with a five-pound bass.

The big fish, the women said, simply leaped into the boat.

Report To The Nation

By Dewitt MacKenzie,

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Tonight Secretary of State Marshall will make a report to the nation on the Big Four foreign ministers' deadlocked Moscow conference and its implications for world peace and well-being.

This is no ordinary accounting of stewardship by a public servant. Upon the general report, and the facts which he laid before President Truman and key Congressional leaders in private last night, may hinge the fate of the administration's new world-policy of combating aggressive totalitarian Communism. Congress still has to deal with that policy—to implement it, or to nullify it by refusing to provide funds—and Marshall's report is bound to have vast weight.

The decision which America has to make is one of the most important in our history. We stand at the cross-roads in our relations with our war-time ally, Soviet Russia. We have to determine whether we shall resist the continued expansion of Communist aggression, which the Washington administration warns is a threat against our own security, or whether we shall condone the expansion.

There are, of course, varying views, and the subject is anxiously debated wherever two or more people meet. Yesterday, for instance, I heard the matter discussed from the pulpit by the pastor of one of the country's large churches. He related that he had been immeasurably shocked during a recent meeting of divines when one of the leading speakers advocated pacifism and appeasement in dealing with the Russian problem. The preacher yesterday declared that this is a time for a determined stand against Red aggression. Whether his views represent the consensus of the country is beside the point. When you hear a subject like this discussed from the pulpit it means that it is of paramount public interest.

We are now faced with a dangerous interim in this crisis. The failure of the Moscow conference has delayed peace and rehabilitation six months, because the next regular session of the Big Four foreign secretaries is set for November in London. This delay in framing the German and Austrian treaties is in all conscience bad enough, but the half year lag also provides time for development of the same tendencies in Europe and Asia which have produced the present international difficulties.

That is to say, the fact that the battle-royal over the treaties has been postponed for half a year doesn't mean that there can be any relaxation in precaution to prevent further deterioration of the position. Communist aggression isn't going to take a nap just because the Moscow conference has been adjourned, but on the contrary is likely to be especially active. This doesn't provide a rest period for the Western Allies in making up their minds what policy they are going to pursue in regard to totalitarian Communism.

Former Vice President Henry A. Wallace, who has been campaigning in Europe against President Truman's policy of combating aggressive Communism, returned home yesterday and declared that the people of Western Europe are "deeply concerned that the United Nations be used for the purpose of world unity." Well, who isn't? Unfortunately, however, the U. N. isn't in position to deal with the present crisis.

The U. N. is a magnificent machine which hasn't yet been hooked up with the power to run it. The present organization cannot function until the present grievances between Russia and the Western Democracies have been settled. This is true because the veto power in the Security Council—the strong arm department—is held by the major powers involved in the present controversy, and it is obvious that any action which was objectionable to either side would be vetoed. It takes only one veto, you know, to do the job.

Alpheus Rebels At Those Hands In His Pockets

New York, April 28.—(P)—Alpheus Ronald Thistlethwaite, the "eer of Washington Square North, was seen scurrying rapidly toward a Fifth avenue bus. In one hand he carried a comfortably padded soapbox.

"Whither away, Alpheus?" called his friend Pythias Roundelay.

"To Union Square to rouse the masses!" cried Thistlethwaite.

"What is it this time?" sighed Roundelay, as he daintily placed upon a park bench the copy of Kraftfing he was translating into heroic couplets. "Is the park commissioner trying to erect another one of those devilish children's swings in Washington Square?"

"You are less than amusing," said Alpheus. "This is a matter that affects all America. It affects even you. Have you read of the Newburyport sales plan?"

"You mean the voluntary proposal to cut retail prices 10 per cent?" replied Pythias languidly. "That hardly affects me—the prices are still 90 per cent to high for a genius without money."

"The Newburyport," said Thistlethwaite vehemently. "I purpose to remove hands from the consumers pocket that have no business there at all."

"Such as?"

"Such as the people who get paid for doing nothing or who want extra pay for something they are already paid to do. It is a fiendish custom imported from totalitarian states to weaken the character of our Democratic workers."

"A doorkeeper you have no need of expects a quarter for opening a taxi door you should open for yourself in the name of exercise. The cab driver expects 35 cents above the legal fare merely for knowing the right street. The hatcheck girl regards you as leper if you toss them less than two bits for the dangerous work of guarding your hat and coat."

"If 200,000 men check their hats in Manhattan in one evening, that is $50,000 thrown down the economic drain."

"I don't wear a hat," said Pythias, tenderly combing his hair with his last month's fingernail.

"But the evil has spread throughout our whole system!" declared Alpheus. "A hotel clerk expects you to slip him $5 for putting you up in a $9 hotel room worth $3. My building superintendent used to be satisfied with a necktie on Christmas. Now he expects a suit—and for Easter I have to dig him up a topcoat that matches it or my garbage isn't removed."

"If you want to move to another apartment you have to shell out $200 to $500 on the side. You used to be able to buy a soft drink for five cents. Now it's 10 cents. If you don't leave a dime tip, the soda squirt glares as if you had just shot Lincoln."

"The things people will do for money!" sighed Pythias, looking hungrily at a fat pigeon sitting on the sidewalk. In his poetic eyes fat pigeons somehow always looked like hamburgers. "What led you to embark on this crusade, Alpheus? These things have been going on for sometime."

"Today the mailman climbed one flight of stairs to deliver me a special package," said Thistlethwaite warmly. "He stood around waiting—imagine that, a government employee—until my wife gave him a 50 cent tip."

"What was in the package?"

"A free sample of a new toothpaste," said Alpheus bitterly, as he turned to leave. "That convinced me. America must awaken to its peril."

"How are you going to get on the bus with that soapbox, Alpheus?" asked Pythias. "It's against the rule to carry such large objects on public conveyances."

"I suppose I will have to slip the driver a quarter," said Thistlethwaite forlornly. "But, mind you, this is my last compromise!"

Winchester Man Says He'll Seek Superintendency

Winchester, Ky., April 28.—(P)—Boswell B. Hodgkin, 39, for 11 years superintendent of Winchester public schools, was a candidate today for the Democratic nomination for state superintendent of public instruction.

In announcing for the nomination, Hodgkin declared last night, "I am an independent candidate not sponsored by any political group or faction over the state."

Hodgkin, making his first political race, endorsed the legislative program recently announced by the Kentucky Education Association. He advocated "sensible, practicable businesslike administration of public education" and said he realized teachers "should receive decent salaries commensurate to services which they render."

Sports Roundup

Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
New York, April 28—(AP)—If the Phillies seem to have adopted Brooklyn's "Wait Till Next Year" slogan, you can blame General Manager Herb Pennock. The Phils, you'll notice, are depending largely on talent that has been tried—and sometimes found wanting—in major league competition. The kids who were brought up for trials mostly have been returned to the farms—Pennock's theory is that it's much better for a youngster to make his mistakes in the minors, even though he might get by and learn even more in the big league—than a boy of say 20 to 21 makes a bad blunder in minor league ball. Herb figures, he can laugh it off because others are doing the same thing. In the majors he'd take the same mistake a lot more seriously and it might ruin his self-confidence. Pennock was only 18 when he first broke into big league baseball and he says he's since regretted not having a few years in the bushes—Now he has a flock of big, strong, "Yankee" ball players down there so wait till—maybe not next year, but a couple of seasons more.

MONDAY MATINEE
The man behind the Tony Zale-Rocky Graziano fight promotion in Chicago is Arthur Wirtz, better known for putting on ice shows—Major league scouts are camping on the trial of Clemson's two good boys—Hase and Landrum, whose pitching has burned up Southern college baseball—Michigan's Vic Heyliger has summoned the college hockey coaches to meet in New York this week-end and form an association like that of the football, basketball and baseball coaches.

SCOUTING ASSIGNMENT
Bob Cook, Indiana U. publisher and assistant athletic director, tells about an indignant gent who walked into his office and demanded payment for damage to his car. An Indiana ball player, he said, has just put a fly ball through the top of it—asked where the car was parked, the man replied: "Seventh street."—Cook reached for his hat and coat: "That's 500 feet from the home plate," he holiered. "If Indiana has a player who can hit the ball that far, I want to see him."—Investigation revealed that it was a guy hitting flies out in right field who had done the damage, so Bob still is look far a slugger.

A Message TO SOUTHERN BELL EMPLOYEES

The Following Are Answers To Questions Which Are Frequently Being Asked The Company ---

Question Does the company want employees out on strike to return to their jobs?

Answer Yes. We have stated publicly that we are anxious for our employees to return to their work. Nearly four thousand employees have returned since the strike began. The company feels that all employees, management and non-supervisory, have a duty and obligation to render adequate telephone service to the public. The company tried to avoid this strike. It made an offer before this strike began to arbitrate wages by allowing an impartial group of citizens in the South to determine whether or not Southern Bell wages compare favorably with other wages in this region, with both sides to abide by the decision. That offer is still open to the union.

Question Have those employees who have returned since the strike begun suffered any loss of seniority or break in the continuity of service?

Answer No. Those employees who have returned have done so without any loss of seniority or break in service.

Question What is the position of the company on the union shop?

Answer The company has publicly stated its position that membership or non-membership in a union should not be a condition of employment and has stated its policy as being that of opposition to any form of company-union agreement under which membership in a union, or payment of dues to a union would be a condition of employment. Moreover, the union shop is unlawful in some Southern states.

Question Will employees who return to work after the strike, occupy a more favorable position with respect to seniority, continuity of service, wage progression or otherwise, than those who return to duty during the course of the strike?

Answer No.

Question Does the company have an agreement or does the company expect to make an agreement with the union under which the company through payroll deductions will collect fines that may be assessed against individuals by the union?

Answer The company has no such agreement with the union and its policy is opposed to the making of such an agreement. Since there is no union shop or other form of agreement making union membership a condition of employment the assessment and collection of fines is a matter between the union and the employee.

SO LONG AS THERE ARE JOBS AVAILABLE, THOSE EMPLOYEES OUT ON STRIKE WHO FEEL A SENSE OF DUTY TO THE PUBLIC AS WELL AS TO THEMSELVES AND TO THE COMPANY, WILL BE CORDIALLY WELCOMED BACK TO THEIR WORK.

Mayfield's Kitty League nine took an 8-3 decision over the Fulton Chicks at Fairfield Park here yesterday afternoon in the first 1947 meeting of the two teams. It was the second exhibition game of the year for the Chicks, who have beaten Burlington, Ia., on their home field.

The Chicks go to Union City tonight for a return match with the townies, starting at 7:45. Nick Huck is the starting Fulton pitcher. Sunday afternoon, May 4, they are to play Mayfield again at Mayfield.

Yesterday afternoon, the Browns collected nine hits to six for Fulton, and after the first inning which ended in a 2-2 tie, led all the way. The visitors got four runs in the top of the second, and one each in the seventh and eighth. Fulton's last run came in in the second.

Wayne Lynch turned in a good performance on the mound for Fulton, but was hindered by six errors committed by his teammates. He got five strikeouts to four for Brill, Mayfield twirler, but gave four walks to Brill's one.

Shan Deniston, new Mayfield catcher-manager, ripped out five hits in five trips to the plate to lead both teams in stickwork. Gray, Buck and Seawright got one hit apiece for Fulton.
