Doran Decides Not To Become A Candidate Says He'll Work For Waterfield In Governor Race

SPEAKS SATURDAY
Leonardo--Adrian Doran declared Saturday that he will not run for governor this year on the Democratic ticket.

The former state senator made his announcement at a meeting of Waterfield supporters in the War Memorial Building.

Leonardo, who is looking forward to a move to farmer's market in the house next year, said he has been working for Waterfield in the district of 10,000 ranking counties in the state for the past two years.

Doran said he has a strong belief in the man who would succeed Waterfield. He added that he has been working with him in the state legislature during this campaign season.

The former state senator said he has been working in Washington, D.C., for several years and has been a member of the state legislature since 1945.

Leonardo also said he has been working on legislation that would benefit the state of New York.

"I have been working with Waterfield in the state legislature," Leonardo said. "I have been working on legislation that would benefit the state, and I have been working in Washington, D.C., for several years.

Leonardo also said he has been working on legislation that would benefit the state of New York. He added that he has been working in Washington, D.C., for several years and has been a member of the state legislature since 1945.

To Safeguard Democracy

By debris Maclord

AP Foreign Desk Analyst

Tonight Secretary of State Marshall will make a report to the Senate on the Big Four conference and its implications for world peace and good-will.

It is an orderly accounting of events, a picture of the world situation as it is and as it might be. The facts which lie before the Secretary of State are the result of the administration's new world policy

The war can be saved for lack of insistence on the part of the American people. Congress still has to deal with that problem. Marshall's report is bound to have vast weight.

There is less than a month until the election, and the citizens who

A Message TO SOUTHERN BELL EMPLOYEES

The following are answers to frequently asked questions regarding labor disputes and union membership:

1. Do the company want employees out on a strike to return to their jobs?
   Answer: No. We have stated publicly that we are arduous for our employees to return to work. Any company that pays a strike is more to the employees.

2. Who have returned after the strike began lost any of their seniority or break in the continuity of their service?
   Answer: No. Those employees who have returned after the strike began lost any of their seniority or break in the continuity of their service.

3. What is the position of the company on the union shop?
   Answer: The company has no such agreement with the union and the employee is opposed to the making of such an agreement. Since there is no union shop or other form of agreement making union membership a condition of employment, the company and the union shop are not in agreement with the union on the union shop or other form of agreement making union membership a condition of employment.
