U. S. Court Favors Siegel In Dispute

The United States Court of Appeals for the Second District has ruled in favor of the Henry I. Siegel Company in a suit filed by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, AFL-CIO, charging the garment manufacturers with unfair labor practices.

In the decision handed down on December 15 the court unanimously substantiated the earlier decision by the National Labor Relations Board.

While it is customary for the court to reserve its decision after the argument of an appeal, the court took the unusual action of deciding the case from the bench.

The suit involved contract negotiations in Siegel's Dickson, Tennessee and Fulton, Kentucky plants, wherein the union claimed that the Siegel Company agreed to continue the use of a certain incentive factor in fixing piece rates, yet refused to incorporate such agreement in a written contract.

Jo's Notebook

I read a rather interesting article in the Saturday Evening Post recently entitled: "Let's Keep Christmas Commercial." At first I thought I was going to resent the subject matter, but I didn't, because it proved that gift-giving at Christmas or anytime affords us an opportunity to let those we love know that we are thinking of them.

Store-bought gifts are fine. I like to give and receive them, but as I grow older, I think that the most cherished gifts I have ever received were those put under the tree by a couple of youngsters who worked hours on end to surprise me on Christmas morning.

I remember some place mats, carefully embroidered by a little Brownie; and a coat hanger entwined with plastic strips of red and white, masterfully done by a little Cub Scout. There were intricately decorated bars of soap and paintings done with unsteady little hands. Particularly do I remember, and I think Marian Huddleston will, too, the event when a little boy and a little girl went shopping for a gift for my bedroom.

The children had enough money to buy a pretty, blue glass, bud vase that matched the coloring of the walls.

They had a little money left over so they decided to buy two artificial roses and looked all over town for the right ones. They bought the vase, then found the roses, but when they went to Huddleston's to put both together, the roses were too tall for the vase; (an incident that perturbed Mary Jo, but seemed simple to R. Paul.)

He got out his pocket-knife, which he carried all the time, together with strings, campaign buttons, paper clips and dead turtles, and said, "here, let's just cut them off."

Marian was amused, Mary Jo was shocked, but somehow they finally matched both items to my great happiness.

Yes, Christmas is for giving, for remembering friends and family, for thankfulness, and for looking back on an old year and planning ahead to a new one.

And so, won't you have a Merry Christmas and a New Year filled with everything that makes you happy.

P. S.: I forgot to tell you last week in writing "That was The Rest That Wasn't" at the Hillview Hospital, that I was photographed more times and in more positions than Sophia Loren or Marilyn Monroe ever thought of. These gals only get their exteriors on film, as I have too, but only fellow sufferers can brag about life-size photographs of their interiors.

Dr. Nelson and Don Snow helped me a great deal in learning more about photography. If you have a back-drop of vanilla-flavored berium, you can get a beautiful shot of a rugged duodenum.

Besides that, Joyce McCall took enough blood out of me to stock a profitable Blood Bank.

When people ask me how I'm feeling, I'm afraid to say. With all these black and blue marks, that are now turning as yellow as my skin (caused from low-blood), it's darned near impossible to say I got a "clean bill of health" from Dr. Kildare Nelson.

One last thing... Charles Austin told me that the treatment

FHA Holds Its Christmas Meeting

The Fulton Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America held its Christmas meeting in the farm room on December 15.

Refreshments, consisting of punch and cookies, were served the girls, the FHA mothers, Mr. Martin and Mr. Holland. Mrs. Henry Underwood then entertained members with Christmas piano selections.

The president, Judy Olive, was in charge of the business meeting and the rituals were used. Christmas presents were presented to Mrs. DeMyer, who thanked all of the girls for them.

Susan Crittenden, devotional leader, read the Christmas story from the Bible. Once again, Mrs. Underwood entertained with her amazing musical talent. Carolyn Allen and Roma Foster led everyone in singing carols.

The closing rituals were used and the meeting adjourned.

CLOSED FOR CHRISTMAS

The Fulton health center will be closed Thursday and Friday, December 23 and 24 for the Christmas holidays.

Death Of Mrs. Nelle Fall Recalls Her Efforts For Women's Interests

Mrs. J. E. Fall, Sr.

by Jo Westpheling

Several years ago, in justifiable recognition of her dedication and devotion to the cultural interests of women in the twin cities, the Fulton Woman's Club honored Mrs. J. E. Fall, Sr. by reviewing her full and wholesome life in a program called, "This Is Your Life."

Those of us who were privileged to enjoy that program were deeply impressed with the determination of this charming lady to pursue the aim of her pioneer and distinguished family toward making woman's work gracious and useful.

Mrs. Fall, called Nelle by her intimates, never relented in her quest to make the Fulton Woman's Club the focal point for the cultural interests of women. An indication of this is the effort that she put forth to establish a permanent home for the Woman's Club, which today and in the future, will stand as a monument to Mrs. Fall's vision and that of other women who shared her love for an organization that is now world-wide in scope.

I have a very special niche in my personal Hall of Fame for Nelle Fall. On moving to Fulton nearly nineteen years ago, I received a personal letter, addressed in a very distinctive hand, that was postmarked Fulton, Kentucky. The letter came just a few days after we had arrived here. The only local contact we had here then was with the former owner of the Fulton News, so you can imagine how surprised and pleased I was to get a letter from our "new home."

The letter was from Mrs. J. E. Fall, Sr., inviting me to membership in the Fulton Woman's Club. It also included a warm welcome to Fulton. I cherish the letter as I cherish the deep interest Mrs. Fall always evinced in me and my family.

Scarcely less than a week before her death last Thursday night, I chatted with Mrs. Fall at the Garden Department's lovely Christmas party held at the home of Mrs. Joe Davis. Mrs. Fall had been in failing health for some time, but her smile, her charm and her interest in her friends was the same as always. She asked about our children and agreed, with her usual graciousness, to pose for a

Sam Siegel Gives H. I. S. Usual Christmas Cheer In Clothing

Santa Claus gave H. I. S. usual Christmas cheer to a large number of twin city school children this week, but the busy old fellow didn't make his rounds soon enough to catch all the children in the schools which had dismissed earlier than Wednesday of this week. But don't worry Santa Sam Siegel says, "they'll be delivered in plenty time to get some long wear from the garments this winter."

Lambuth Drive "Over The Top" In Fund Goal

The $1.5 million Christian Higher Education crusade for Lambuth College has exceeded its goal by more than $200,000 and gifts are still coming in, according to Chairman Walter Barnes, Jackson, and Co-Chairman Charles L. Yancey of Memphis.

The Crusade has exceeded its minimum goal by 14 per cent, pushing the total subscribed to $1,702,879.

Bishop H. Ellis Finger, Jr., Resident Bishop of the Memphis Methodist Conference, said he "was tremendously pleased with the response of both the Methodist people and businesses to the cause of Lambuth College."

Letters of Interest

The following letters have been received since letters to Viet Nam, signed "Operation Santa Claus" were sent, notifying servicemen that Christmas boxes were forthcoming:

3 December 1965

Good Morning:
I would like to take time out from my normal duty to answer your nice warm letter I got. I can't explain how much I really appreciate it.

I don't mind being here in Viet Nam. I enjoy it here very much except I am away from my lovely wife and kids at Hickman. But, other than that, I am glad to help support our country in this war.

I would like to thank you again for the letters and wish you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

LETTERS TO SANTA

From The SFH "Hades Herald"

Dear Santa,
I've been a good little girl this year. For Christmas, I might not have been good enough to get my handsome doll soldier. Santa, you dear, I have him already picked out. If you decide to get him you may find him at Fort Campbell, Ky. in the 506th Inf., Company "C". I'll be waiting. By the way, to make him easier to find, he is a Sergeant.

I'll settle for a certain member of the Blue Notes band if you can't get my soldier. You can find him at W. Kentucky Vocational School, Paducah, Ky. in Anderson Hall, room 30. Santa, Please try to bring my soldier doll. He would make me so happy.

Remember all the other lonely high school girls.

State Prohibits Business Of City Life Insurance

Insurance Commissioner William E. Bivin has asked for and received from Franklin Circuit Court an order restraining Insurance City Life Company of Hartford, Connecticut, from transacting further insurance business in Kentucky.

The court also set for Dec. 30 a hearing on Bivin's request to be appointed as conservator for any of the company's assets in Kentucky.

Bivin said he acted in the interest of Kentucky policy holders after being notified Nov. 22 by Connecticut Insurance Commissioner William R. Cotter that receivership proceedings are being initiated in that state.

Cotter informed Bivin his proceedings were due to findings of his examiners concerning the financial picture of the company, which is licensed in 35 states.

Cotter requested Bivin to notify Kentucky agents of the Connecticut action. Notices have gone from Bivin's office, the commissioner said.

Cotter informed Bivin the examiners found the company's capital to be impaired by $497,103. The company had assets of $5,227,004; liabilities of $4,033,667, and capital of $1,690,440. As of the last financial statement of the company, covering 1964, the life insurance in force amounted to $194,100,877, most of which was group business. Kentucky business amounted to policies with a face value of $153,000.

Originally licensed in Kentucky in July 1960, the company initially wrote life insurance, student accident and health insurance. Its license was renewed annually until June 30, 1965, when Bivin's department requested further information concerning the company from the Connecticut commissioner and from the company.

During 1964, according to the company's report, Insurance City Life collected $20,263 in accident and health insurance premiums in Kentucky and $72.72 in life insurance premiums. The company discontinued sale of student accident and health business in August 1965 and this insurance for Kentucky students was assumed by the University Life Insurance Company of America, Indianapolis, Ind., a subsidiary of College Life Insurance Company of Indianapolis.

As conservator, Bivin would take possession of any assets the company may have in Kentucky subject to further action of the court.

Peace In Viet Nam May Be Long Time Coming In Spite Of Talks

We may as well face some facts. There is little chance of an immediate cessation of hostilities in Viet Nam. Rather, indications are that forces are going to be there for many months to come, even years. Some are saying it may take as many as 10 to 12 years to stabilize South Viet Nam.

Reports that Romania may be willing to intercede add little optimism to those familiar with the situation. Britain is reported giving consideration to another attempt to bring peace. This is well and good. Efforts should be continued and encouraged, of course. And perhaps somewhere along the way something will be accomplished, but don't expect them to show immediately.

Soundings of both sides must continue, and communications are being established. Incidentally, the public seems to have the notion there is a lack of communication with the Reds, especially the Chinese. It isn't true. Undersecretary of State Douglas MacArthur has very pointedly brought out that there are many ways of communicating. The Russians, he said, have an embassy in Washington and we have one in Moscow. There are other ways, he said. In fact, he said, lines of communication have been maintained and they have been used.

He also pointed out that one of the conditions on which the other side is willing to talk peace is for a pull-out of American troops, and also those of other countries fighting the cause of South Viet Nam. This, he said, we are not going to buy. To pull out would leave South Viet Nam at the mercy of her enemies.

Just after some of the peace rumors started floating, Ho Chi Minh, president of North Viet Nam, reiterated his demand that U. S. troops be removed as a condition to peace talks.

For the time being, this appears to just about settle the chances for even a concrete start toward ending the conflict. No one should become over-optimistic, but let the efforts to bring peace to the world continue.

When men speak ill of thee, live so as nobody may believe them.

Christmas Proves God Is Real and Much Alive

On Christmas Day a soldier in Vietnam, dirty with jungle mud and blood, will tear open a letter from home. For a few moments he will forget his bone-aching fatigue, remembering boyhood days with his family and the excitement of getting and giving gifts.

The sour-sweat smell of barracks and the dank green odor of jungle camps will be replaced by the smell of white sheets on the old bed at home on Christmas Eve, the pungence of Christmas trees and the aroma of food from mother's kitchen. The illusion will be gone even before the letter is finished and that soldier will long for peace, more than we who have never lived on a battlefield can even long for peace, and he may weep for a meaning that has gone out of his life.

As long as that soldier feels joy from no more than the reading of a letter on a battlefield, or has hope expressed as a longing for peace, or repents through tears for lost meaning, we know that God is alive.

A VISIT FROM ST. NICHOLAS

'Twas the night before Christmas, when all through the house

Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse;
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care,
In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there;

The children were nestled all snug in their beds,
While visions of sugar-plums danced in their heads;
And mama in her kerchief, and I in my cap,
Had just settled our brains for a long winter's nap, -

When out on the lawn there arose such a clatter,
I sprang from my bed to see what was the matter.
Away to the window I flew like a flash,
Tore open the shutters and threw up the sash.

The moon on the breast of the new-fallen snow
Gave a luster of midday to objects below;
When what to my wondering eyes should appear,
But a miniature sleigh and eight tiny reindeer,

With a little old driver, so lively and quick,
I knew in a moment it must be St. Nick.
More rapid than eagles his coursers they came,
And he whistled and shouted, and called them by name:

"Now, Dasher! now, Dancer! now, Prancer and Vixen!
On, Comet! on, Cupid! on, Donner and Blitzen!
To the top of the porch, to the top of the wall!
Now dash away, dash away, dash away all!"

As dry leaves that before the wild hurricane fly,
When they meet with an obstacle, mount to the sky,
So up to the house-top the coursers they flew,
With the sleigh full of toys, - and St. Nicholas, too.

And then in a twinkling I heard on the roof
The prancing and pawing of each little hoof.
As I drew in my head, and was turning around,
Down the chimney St. Nicholas came with a bound.

He was dressed all in fur from his head to his foot,
And his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot;
A bundle of toys he had flung on his back,
And he looked like a pedlar just opening his pack.

His eyes, how they twinkled! his dimples, how merry!
His cheeks were like roses, his nose like a cherry;
His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow,
And the beard on his chin was as white as the snow.

The stump of a pipe he held tight in his teeth,
And the smoke it encircled his head like a wreath.
He had a broad face and a little round belly
That shook, when he laughed, like a bowl full of jelly.

He was chubby and plump, - a right jolly old elf;
And I laughed, when I saw him, in spite of myself.
A wink of his eye and a twist of his head
Soon gave me to know I had nothing to dread.

He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work,
And filled all the stockings, then turned with a jerk,
And laying his finger aside of his nose,
And giving a nod, up the chimney he rose.

He sprang to his sleigh, to his team gave a whistle,
And away they all flew like the down of a thistle;
But I heard him exclaim, ere he drove out of sight,
"Happy Christmas to all, and to all a good-night!"

Letters To Santa

From The SFH "Hades Herald"

Dear Santa,
I was typing on the electric typewriter in the office one day when I decided to type you a letter. Here is what I want. All new, 18 year old blondes to teach me, instead of Mr. Killebrew. I might not learn anything, but school would be more fun. I also want an iron stomach so I can eat in the lunch room. Last, but not least, I want a '66 Pontiac GTO.

There will be cake and cold drinks waiting at my house for you. Please hurry.

Sincerely,
Johnny Campbell

P. S. I want all new toys this Christmas, and please send Jimmy Dedmon a pack of cigarettes so he will quit bumming them off of me.

Dear Santa,
I am a little boy 15 years old. I have been good this year and I will not ask for very much. I would like for you to send me one '66 Cadillac, one electric typewriter, one inexpensive camera (about $350) and for my mommy I would like a dishwasher.

Your little helpless friend,
David Clayton

P. S. I have to do the dishes.

Dear Santa,
I want something for Christmas. I don't know what it looks like or what it can do but all I want is a Ring-dang-do. If you can't bring me a Ring-dang-do, all I want is my two front teeth.

Your Darling Brat,
Hugh Wright

P. S. I saw you kissing my mommy underneath the mistletoe last Christmas!

Dear Santa,
I am a senior. I have been a very good boy this year, Santa, and I hope you'll be nice to my friends and me.

I won't ask for much. All I want is a doll. She is about 5'9" tall, weighs about 135-140 pounds, blonde, blue eyed, and has a good figure. Her favorite color is blue, and her favorite flowers are carnations. Please bring her to me wearing a pretty blue dress with a carnation on it. Oh yes, she is allergic to carnations so you'd better bring some allergy pills, too.

Oh yes, my buddy Danny Zickefoose wants a '66 supercharged V-8-vet and a Brenda doll, so please be good to him too, Santa.

Thank you,
Sidney Phillips

Dear Santa,
I am a little girl 15 years old. I have tried to be good, but you know how it is sometimes.

If you think I have been good enough, I would like to have a little Arthur doll for Christmas. Since I am just a little girl I don't want a big doll. I would like for it to be 6'1" tall and weigh 185 lbs. I want him to be able to sing "Be Ever Wonderful." Please bring something nice for all of the little children at SFHS.

I will leave some cookies and a glass of milk for you under the three.

Love,
P. A. T.

picture, which we are publishing in this issue.

Mrs. Fall was one of the organizers of the Fulton Woman's Club and was a member of the building committee when the club home on Walnut Street was built. She had served continuously as chairman of the building committee since its beginning and had also served on the executive board of the club since the club was organized.

Her interest in the Woman's Club was not followed to the exclusion of all other activities where women make significant contributions. Mrs. Fall was active in the affairs of the First Methodist Church and in the Woman's Society of Christian Service for many years. She served as district secretary for several years when the local church was a member of the old Union City District. She was also a member of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The love and devotion she showed ered on her family was an outstanding attribute.

Mrs. Fall was 79 when she died after a brief illness at the Fulton Hospital on Thursday, December 16. She was the daughter of the late Dr. A. J. Alexander and Susie Wadlington Alexander, pioneer residents who, with their forebears were prominent in the development of this area.

Her survivors include a son, J. E. Fall, Jr., of Fulton; a daughter, Mrs. Robert H. Binford of New Orleans; two brothers, Dr. Harry Alexander of Crestwood, Kentucky and Harvey Alexander of Lexington; four grandchildren, Mrs. Robert Quattlebaum of Birmingham, Mrs. John Baxter of Jackson, Ky., Mrs. Charles Bowers of Savannah, Tenn. and Mrs. Richard Quinn of St. Petersburg, Fla.; six great grandchildren; a nephew, Theodore Sanford of Lexington, Ky., and a niece, Mrs. Watson Clay of Frankfort.

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. at the Whitel Funeral Home Chapel, with Rev. W. T. Barnes, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating. Interment was in Fairview Cemetery on December 1.

To all who knew her, Nelle Fall was the kind of a gracious lady who lived in the best traditions of the Old South. She kept alive the respect we have for those traditions. For this, and her many contributions to the betterment of our community she will be long remembered in gratitude.

No Charges Yet Filed In Motel Death

A waitress was found shot to death and her husband critically injured by bullets in their motel apartment here last Saturday.

Mrs. Leonard Newhouse, 44, a waitress at the Little Breezy Cafe, located next door to the Fulton Motel where the incident occurred,

Although the Tennessee Bureau of Investigation has been called in the case, no charges have been preferred against Mr. Newhouse.

He was dead as the result of three bullet wounds in the skull, a constable said.

Her husband had been shot in the right temple and in the left arm, but was still alive, authorities reported.

Both were taken to Obion County Hospital in Union City where the man's condition was pronounced as critical. He reportedly was in a semi-conscious state and may be temporarily blind.

Wounds to both persons were inflicted from a .22 caliber pistol which was found on the floor inside the apartment along with the empty shells.

Coroner Barry White of Union City was performing an autopsy to determine the cause of death of Mrs. Newhouse.

Officials refused to speculate on the incident.

Time of the shooting was estimated at around midnight Friday.

Harry Moss Latta, Obion County constable, Sheriff Bob McCowen and White investigated the incident.

The motel is located on the Fulton-Union City Highway, two miles south of Fulton.

Latta reported that when the three men arrived on the scene they found Mrs. Newhouse lying on the floor of the room. Newhouse was lying on the bed.

Both were fully dressed.

Mrs. Newhouse reportedly was supposed to have opened up the cafe Saturday morning. When she didn't appear at the business, someone went to the motel around noon to look for her.

It was reported the manager was called and the two persons went to the room.

They found the bodies and called authorities.

Newhouse is employed by a pipeline service station here. He is a native of South Fulton. Mrs. Newhouse is originally from Union City.

Funeral services for Mrs. Newhouse were held Monday, December 20, in the Todd Street Assembly of God Church in Union City. Interment, in charge of White-Ransom Funeral Home, was in East Side Cemetery in Union City. In addition to her husband, she is survived by her mother, Mrs. Jess Laird of Union City; a son, Leonard Morris of Martin; six brothers, two sisters and three grandchildren.

Tax Problems . . .

TAX QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Question and Answers

Q—My wife and I are separating. Will the support money I gave her be deductible like alimony?

A—If you have a written separation agreement, periodic payments made to your wife for her separate maintenance after the agreement is executed are deductible by you as alimony, provided you and your wife do not file a joint income tax return. Payments to your wife which are designed for child support are not deductible. Further information on this subject is contained in IRS Document No. 5109, Alimony, available free at your local Internal Revenue office.

Payments that are deductible by you are taxable income for your wife.

Q—I took a night course this summer that I think should be deductible educational expense. What kind of records should I keep?

A—If the course qualifies as a deductible expense then you will be able to deduct from your income the amount you spend for tuition, books, supplies, laboratory fees and similar items. Receipts showing you have paid your tuition, purchased the books and so forth should be kept to substantiate the expense.

Remember that most of these expenses may be deducted only if you itemize your deductions on Form 1040.

Q—I just started work. What kind of records should I keep for tax purposes?

A—Your tax records should show your income for the year and your deductible expenses.

As far as income goes, you will receive a W-2 form from your employer showing what you received in wages for the year and how much federal income tax was withheld. A copy of this form must be filed with your return. If you have income from other sources, such as interest on a savings account or stock dividends, be sure you keep a record of the amount you received from each of these sources.

Canceled checks are some of the best records you can keep. So are receipted bills. Medical expenses, contributions to charity, and interest payments are typical expenses that are deductible.

Q—My son is waiting on tables in his dormitory for room and board at college. Will he be liable for any tax?

A—The general rule here is that the fair market value of the room and board he receives are taxable income. If this plus any other income he receives amounts to $600 or more for the year then he will have to file a Federal income tax return.

Q—I just opened a dress shop and have several high school girls helping me out on a part-time basis. I pay them so much an hour plus a commission on whatever they sell. Should I withhold taxes from the commissions they earn or just on their hourly wages?

A—You should withhold the amounts required by law on all payments you make to your employees. This withholding requirement applies to payments of hourly wages, commissions, bonuses and other compensation.

Withholding requirements, and the few exceptions to them, are explained in the "Employer's Tax Guide," Circular E. A copy of this publication is available free at your local IRS office.

Q—I just turned 65. Can I ask my employer to reduce my withholding for tax purposes.

A—Yes you can. Ask him for a copy of Form W-4 which you can use to show the increase in your exemptions.

Q—Is it necessary to get from the Veterans Administration a Certificate of Eligibility to participate in the Housing Act of 1965?

A—No, what is necessary is a Certificate of Veterans Status obtainable at a VA office.

Duck Hunting Season Is Open For 40 Days

Kentucky's 40-day duck hunting season opens on December 1 and continues through January 9 amid mixed reports as to the general duck population. Minor Clark, commissioner of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, announced today.

According to reports received by the Department the duck population on Kentucky waterways is about the same as for last year although many sloughs do not have adequate water due to dry weather. Additional flocks are expected with the arrival of colder weather, however.

Both the goose and duck season also open on the Ballard County Wildlife Management Area on December 1, with the duck season ending there on January 9 and with the goose season ending January 15, the closing date being the same as for the statewide goose season. The duck population for the Ballard area is estimated at between 15,000 and 20,000 with about 8,000 geese.

Those who wish to hunt on the Ballard County Area must make reservation by contacting the Refuge manager at Rt. 1, Box 100, LeCenter, Ky. Only morning hunting will be permitted on this area with no Sunday or Christmas Day hunting. A fee of $3 per day per hunter is required.

The bag and possession limits for ducks and geese, statewide as well as on the Ballard Area are:

Ducks—daily limit 4 which may not include more than 2 woodducks, 2 canvasbacks, 1 mallard, 1 pintail or 4 blacks or 4 redheads if no other ducks are taken. Possession 8 which may not include more than 2 woodducks, 2 canvasbacks, 2 mallards, or 2 pintails, or 8 black ducks or 8 redheads if no other ducks are taken. Geese—daily limit and possession limit 5 which limit may include only 2 Canadas or their subspecies or 2 white-fronted or 1 each of Canada or its subspecies and 1 white-fronted goose.

Wess Jones is now able to be out some and able to attend church at New Salem the past Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Buton Lassiter left Sunday morning for Akron, Ohio, and will be house guests of children, Mr. and Mrs. David Lassiter and their new grandson, who arrived recently. They will visit briefly with other relatives and friends while there.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Rickman and sons, of Murray, were here Sunday and visited in the home of parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Carbutt Rickman and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Donoho, and attended church at New Salem.

It's Christmas time in our village and everywhere the Christmas spirit is spreading among our citizens in every home round about. I hope old Santa will get here, for this writer wishes you, the News, its force and all readers everywhere, those of our servicemen in Viet Nam, at home in U. S. A. and others who are on duty elsewhere a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bynum, their children, Gloria Ann and Hal, and Rev. T. T. Harris will leave Thursday for Tallahassee and Orlando, Fla., to spend the Christmas holidays with children, Miss Ruth Harris and Mrs. Naomi Tuck and son, Richard.

Over at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mathis the birthdays of Mrs. Mathis and her nephew, Hal Bynum, were celebrated Sunday with relatives attending. A sumptuous dinner was served at noon to the following: Mr. and Mrs. J. W.

Bynum, Gloria Ann and Hal, Rev. T. T. Harris, Grant Bynum and Margaret. The day was an enjoyable one by all.

FHA Distributes Gifts For Needy

Each year the F. H. A. club sponsors a Christmas tree in the study hall a week before the Christmas holidays. This is an annual project for the local club. Usually the tree is donated by a girl and is decorated by the second year home economics class.

The purpose of this project is to help the needy people of this area. Each person is asked to bring canned goods or other unperishable goods and place the food under the Christmas tree. Then the food is taken to one of the civic clubs of Fulton who sponsor the Christmas baskets for the needy.

The F. H. A. Christmas tree not only adds the spirit of Christmas to our school, but it also gives the satisfaction of knowing that the less fortunate people are being helped. All students are asked to bring canned goods and put them under the Christmas tree.

FHA'ERS MAKE TASTY PLANS

From The SFH "Hades Herald"

During this month South Fulton's FHA'ers will be real busy spreading Christmas greetings and joy. Many members of the chapter have accepted the responsibility of sending cards, small gifts, and Christmas greetings to a member of one of our city's nursing homes. They plan to do this not only during Christmas but throughout the rest of this school year.

This year the chapter's annual Christmas Tasty Party will be held on two separate nights instead of one one night. The Juniors and Sophomores will have their party on Thursday, December 9, 1965, while the Freshmen will have their party on Monday, December 13, 1965.

At both of these tasty parties the girls will enjoy eating many varied and appetizing dishes brought by the girls who considered them their favorite foods. Following this hearty meal, the girls will decorate coffee cans in a Christmas fashion for members of the nursing homes. Afterwards they will take them home and fill them with cookies or candy which they will give to the members of the nursing homes toward the latter part of the week.

YOUR HUNGRY COLLEGE CHILDREN will also approve of the holiday decorations in the form of rosy candy-cane apples.

College Crowd Will Send Mom To Kitchen

When the college crowd comes zooming in next weekend for the long-anticipated Christmas vacation, local mamas will be doing double duty in the kitchen — cooking up their honored guests' favorite dishes and trying to keep up with those young appetites. It's an established fact that the normal teen-ager and young adult just can't get enough to eat.

With mamas and hungry-for-home-cooking, young people in mind, we have found a number of filling dishes to help out during the holidays.

The first suggestion is a rib roast garnished with candy cane apples and served with herb popovers.

Rib Roast

Select the weight roast you need, and when ready to cook, pre-heat the oven to 325 degrees. Salt and pepper the roast to taste, and place it (fat side up) on a rack in a shallow, uncovered roasting pan. Cook to desired degree of "doneness." A four-pound roast served rare should be cooked 1 and 1/4 hours; medium, 2 1/4 hours; and well-done, 3 hours. A six-pound roast (rare) should cook 3 1/4 hours; medium, 3 and 1/4 hours; and well-done 4 1/4 hours. An eight-pound roast (rare) 3 1/2 hours; medium, 4 1/2 hours; and well-done, 5 hours.

Candy-cane Apples

- 1 cup light corn syrup
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup water
- Few drops red food coloring
- 1 teaspoon peppermint extract
- 8 small apples, peeled and cored
- 1 package (8-oz.) cream cheese, room temperature
- 8 small candy canes

Combine syrup, sugar, water and red coloring; bring to a boil. Stir in peppermint extract. Add apples and cook slowly just until they are tender, turning apples several times during the cooking. Cool. Save syrup. Beat cream cheese until smooth; beat a small amount of syrup into cheese to soften. Fill centers of apples with cheese mixture and plunge a candy cane into cream cheese center.

Herb Popovers

- 1 cup sifted flour
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon fines herbes blend
 - 1 cup milk
 - 3 eggs
 - 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
- Sift together flour and salt; add herbs. Combine milk, eggs and butter or margarine; beat until thoroughly mixed. Add dry ingredients; beat well. Fill well-greased five-ounce custard cups 3/4 full. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) until brown and crisp, 40 to 45 minutes. If desired, popover batter may be prepared several hours ahead of time and stored in refrigerator until baking time. Yield: 8 large popovers.

- Cranberry-Apple Stuffed Pork Chops
thick (1-inch) pork chops with pocket for stuffing, or 8 thin matching pork chops
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup chopped, peeled apple
1 cup cranberries
1/2 cup diced celery
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup (1/2-inch) soft bread cubes

Melt butter or margarine in a skillet. Add apples, cranberries and celery; cover and cook slowly until skins of cranberries break. Add orange rind, sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt and bread cubes; mix carefully. Fill pocket of thick pork chop with stuffing — put two thin pork chops together sandwich-fashion with stuffing between them. If two pork chops are used, secure with wooden picks. Arrange in baking dish. Sprinkle with remaining 1/2 teaspoon salt. Place in a moderate oven (350 degrees) and bake until chops are fork-tender, about 1 1/2 hours.

Christmas Meditation

A Soldier Is Born

"On earth peace, good will toward men"
—Luke 2:14

At this Christmas 1965, American soldiers scattered throughout a troubled world pause to remember the birth of another Soldier of long ago—the world's Prince of Peace.

This Soldier fought not with rockets, missiles, or guns. Love, good will, and understanding were his weapons. He put on the armor of God and conquered a world by winning the hearts of men. He replaced despair with hope, loved even his enemies, and upheld the dignity of each human being. Yet he remained firm in his convictions and steadfast in his purpose—even in the face of death.

He did not make us a gift of everlasting peace, but rather established peace and good will toward men as the noblest aim of mankind.

And throughout the ages, man has found comfort in His example. His unconquerable Spirit inspired our cold and ragged soldiers as they prepared for battle at Trenton on that fateful Christmas Eve in 1776. His indomitable Will encouraged and strengthened our soldiers in the Ardennes, on the road to Bataan, and as they stemmed the Chinese offensive in Korea.

Is it not meet then, that the thoughts of our soldiers return now to that manger in Bethlehem? There is the origin of their strength, inspiration, and hope—where the angelic voices resounded over the Judean hills on that first Christmas morning: "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace..." It's "Merry Christmas" All through the Town

"Merry Christmas!" In these two familiar words, often heard and often repeated, there lives and glows the meaning of the first of all Christmases, on that Holy Night nearly two thousand years ago. As the happy day approaches, this community, like many hundreds of thousands of other towns and cities around the world, proclaims the spirit of the season in ringing bells and happy carols, in gleaming lights and festive decorations.

Through all the celebrations—community, church, family—the simple words of greeting run like a glowing thread, weaving together into one joyous whole all the many glorious things that Christmas stands for. "Merry Christmas!" The words remind that Christmas is traditionally a time of merriment, a time for family and friends to gather together.

"Merry Christmas!" The words remind that Christmas is, indeed, more than merry. The lights and the laughter, the fun and the feasting are but the surface symbols of all Christmas truly means. It is a time of giving and sharing, a time to remember others, not only family, friends and neighbors, but all mankind, and especially the less fortunate among us.

As gaily wrapped packages make their way to Christmas trees around our town, the gifts once again recall the spirit of giving that began with the gold, frankincense and myrrh of the Wise Men, and the fragrant evergreen trees represent the message of the Christ Child, the inspiration of life eternal.

"Merry Christmas," we say, and with the words we seek to share our reverent wonder at the age-old story, our joy in ever-present blessings.

How Celebrations Began

"Merry Christmas!" The words are simple, familiar, even old-fashioned, yet they still contain a newness and freshness, a significance to thrill the heart of mankind.

Whence did they come, these familiar words? As a holy day and a holiday, Christmas means both festive merrymaking and prayerful worship, and both meanings are expressed in the traditional greeting, "Merry Christmas."

Christmas, commemorating the birth of Christ, derives its name from the medieval "Christes Masse," the mass of Christ. Yet, in the first centuries of the Christian church, there was no celebration of the birth of Christ, no Christmas.

The December festivals of those days were pagan in nature—the Roman Saturnalia in Southern Europe, the Yuletide festival of the winter solstice in Northern Europe.

When, in the fifth century A.D., Christmas began to be celebrated on December 25, the old customs of the pagan festivals were connected with the Christmas feast. The merry-making continued, but it gained a deeper meaning, as pagan traditions were hallowed by association with the Nativity. Thus Christmas became "Merry Christmas!"

Florentine Art Tells Story of Christ Child

In the Dominican church of Santa Maria Novella at Florence, Italy, stands a pulpit of white marble which bears, in bas relief, scenes from the story of Christ's life on earth—the Annunciation, the Nativity, the Presentation in the Temple.

Like many a building in famous Florence, the cradle of the Italian Renaissance, this ancient church is rich in the treasures of art and history, and both art and history combine in the story of the white marble pulpit, a story that lives across the years.

The pulpit first was placed in its present situation, on a column of the west aisle, in 1448. Early Renaissance theories of art are reflected in the bas reliefs. For instance, the Nativity scene presents lifelike figures with the warmth of humanity, rather than the more stylized, ornate forms that a sculptor of an earlier era might have chosen to create. Families "Feuded"

Full of very human feeling, too, is the story of how the pulpit came to be created—the story of a "feud" between two great families.

The Rucellai family undertook to have the pulpit designed, executed and placed in the church, and Filippo Brunelleschi, the first great architect of the Italian Renaissance, was commissioned to design it.

Brunelleschi is best known for his design of the octagonal ribbed dome of the Florence cathedral. Among his other works are the Pazzi chapel, the churches of San Lorenzo and Santo Spirito, and the Pitti Palace, all in Florence.

Designing the pulpit for the Rucellai family may have been one of Brunelleschi's last works, for the Florentine architect died in 1446, two years before the pulpit was completed and placed in the church.

Maestro Lazzaro, history says, was the sculptor chosen to execute Brunelleschi's design.

Up to this point, there is nothing unusual in the story of the pulpit. It was common in those days for parts of a church to become the "appropriation" of a particular family.

For instance, the chapel within the church of Santa Maria Novella, where the pulpit was to be placed, was the property of the Pasquali family. The Rucellai simply claimed one pillar or column within the chapel, and no objection was recorded by the Pasquali.

The Minerbetti family, however, felt differently. When the pulpit was completed and ready to be put up on the column, representatives of the Minerbetti came forward with the claim that this particular column belonged to them.

Decided in Court
The matter was taken before a court composed of Bishop Antonio of Florence and other judges. The only proof that the Minerbetti could offer to substantiate their claim was that their family arms stood painted over the column.

The court ruled that the Rucellai could place the pulpit in the church, on condition that the Rucellai would remove it whenever the Minerbetti agreed to replace it with a pulpit of equal or greater value.

How was the "feud" decided? What the Minerbetti did is not recorded, but, clearly, one thing they didn't do was to replace the pulpit. Lazzaro's bas reliefs continue to tell their stories of the Christ Child, and in the base of the pulpit, triumphantly placed for all to see, is the coat of arms of the Rucellai family.

GREENS FORBIDDEN
Until about 565 A.D., the use of evergreens for decorations at Christmas was forbidden by church authorities.

Cards Tell Of Changes

The tradition of exchanging Christmas cards is a charming part of the joyous holiday, and it has a history of its own.

One of the most interesting parts of that history is the way that greeting cards serve to record changing social customs, manners and fashions through the years, points out Miss Esther Mooney, curator of the Norcross, Inc., greeting card collection.

For instance, an English card of 1892 shows the formality existing between parents and children during the Victorian era. Here, a little girl kneels solemnly at her mother's er's knee, sedately offering her a Christmas bouquet, with the wish, "May your life be a Merry Christmas."

Modern cards take a livelier, more light-hearted approach. Even earlier, greeting cards began to reflect an easier sort of filial relationship. Declares a 1930 card: "3 cheers 4 a Merry Christmas and you, Dad!"

Boy, 7, Wants To Leave Drink For Santa Claus

SEATTLE, Wash. — Some of those letters little folks have been writing to Santa Claus were made public by Seattle post office people. One was from a boy named Larry, who said he was 7 years old. He told Santa: "I will leave a drink for you under the tree if Mom doesn't hide the bottle from Dad."

FIRST CARDS SOLD

Christmas cards were first offered "to the trade" by an English publishing house in the 1860's. They carried such designs as jolly old gentlemen (who might have been Santa's forebears), plum puddings, holly and mistletoe.

Holiday Celebrations Reflect Customs from Far and Near

Celebrating the happy holiday of Christmas is an almost universal custom, and many of the traditions belonging to the day are universal, too. Gift giving, merrymaking, gaily decorated trees and brightly glowing lights are holiday habits that have found their way to almost every corner of the globe.

Along with the similarities in the way people observe Christmas go just as many differences. From country to country, from city to city, from family to family, holiday customs vary, sometimes just enough to show the touch of individual imagination, and sometimes so greatly that it seems hard to believe the same day is being commemorated.

Gift Giving . . .

It's traditional to receive gifts during the Yuletide season, but the time is not always December 25, and the gift-giver is not always Santa.

One of the earliest Christmas giving times takes place in the Netherlands, according to the Book of Knowledge. Here, the children receive their gifts from St. Nicholas on December

5. The date, appropriately enough, is called St. Nicholas Eve, in honor of the real St. Nicholas, a fourth century bishop.

Christmas gift giving in Italy comes on January 5, which is known as Epiphany Eve. The traditional gift giver is Befana. Legend says that Befana misdirected the wise men, and now she seeks to atone by going about the world doing good to children.

In Scandinavian countries, gifts are given on St. Lucy's Day, December 13.

The time for gift giving in Puerto Rico and Spain is January 6, the day when, traditionally, the wise men came to Bethlehem.

In Germany

From Christmas trees to Christmas toys, many Christmas customs now universally observed came first from Germany.

In the medieval town of Nuremberg, the highlight of the Christmas season is the "Christkindmarkt," or "literally, Christ Child's Fair."

The "Christ Kind," or Christ Child, is the gift giver, and the culmination of the fair, on Christmas Eve, is a visit by the Christ Kind to the balcony of the historic church, the Frauenkirche. Days of group caroling by the children precede this event.

Fun and Feasting . . .

A merry, hearty feast is traditional at Christmas, but the ingredients are not always the same. Norwegians might serve, instead of turkey and trimmings, codfish and pickled pork, while baked carp is a favored Christmas delicacy in Austria.

Christmas dining customs change with time, too. History describes a "traditional" Christmas feast of seventeenth century Quebec, a feast that would be considered somewhat unusual today.

Before each diner at the feast was placed a bowl of birchbark or polished basswood and a spoon of bark. The diners supplied their own knives, and there were no forks.

Into the bowl went first the appetizers — cornbread and a boiled mixture of eels, salmon and beans. The soup course was a rich meat broth, thickened with nuts. Vegetables included corn, peas and baked squash.

The main course featured roast venison and squirrel pies, with baked wild pigeons, partridges, blackbirds, owls — all served together.

Dessert consisted of cakes of maple sugar or sunflower seeds and nuts, topped with a sauce of boiled dried berries.

Lighting Up . . .

Since the Star shone on Bethlehem, lights have been a part of Christmas celebrations. Today, candlelight services are traditionally held by many churches at Christmas.

Something unique in the way of Christmas lights are the "luminarias" used to decorate the city of Albuquerque, N.M., at Christmastime.

Outlining the borders of streets, sidewalks, yards and even the roofs of homes, the luminarias shine everywhere. Made of paper bags, weighted down with sand and lighted from within by a candle, thousands of luminarias all over the city offer a soft light.

NATIVITY SCENE IN BAS RELIEF adorns a marble pulpit in the Church of Santa Maria Novella at Florence, Italy. The early-Renaissance work was completed and placed in the church only after a court dispute by two families, both of whom claimed the rights to the pulpit.

'Practical' View On Gift Giving

"Christmas is getting too commercial!"

This modern complaint, while it may have force, is somewhat lacking in originality.

"I hate the crafty arts of giving presents," said the witty Roman poet Martial, who lived and wrote from about 40 to 104 A.D. "Gifts are like hooks."

His complaint was expressed in a series of poems written for a wealthy patron, at the time of the Saturnalia, the pagan festival from which came many Christmas customs.

Martial, however, was not always averse to presents. After listing a large number of small gifts, such as toothpicks, figs, napkins, which had been delivered to him, he pointed out that it would have been much easier for the messenger to bring him "five pounds of silver plate."

Plant Wins Yule Favor

One plant particularly favored at Christmas in the United States and Canada is the poinsettia. The holiday colors of this green shrub with its star-shaped red clusters make it an appropriate symbol of the season.

If it had not been for the interest of an American diplomat, Dr. Joel Poinsett of Charleston, S.C., the poinsettia might never have attained popularity. Serving as the first U.S. minister to Mexico in 1823, Dr. Poinsett discovered this tropical plant. Impressed with its beauty, he brought it back to the United States and introduced it into cultivation. Later, the plant was named the "poinsettia" in his honor.

Albert Ecke, a California farmer, developed and improved the plant, and first marketed it in 1906. Since then, it has become a favorite Yuletide decoration.

Sending Greetings

"Merry Christmas!" The custom of extending holiday greetings to friends undoubtedly goes back many years, but the Christmas card as a means of expressing those greetings is a relative newcomer to Christmas traditions.

Christmas cards had their beginning only 122 years ago in England, but despite the comparatively recent start, saying "Merry Christmas" in card form was a custom that quickly caught the public fancy.

The wish to say, "Merry Christmas" to friends and neighbors is strong, and the ways of expressing it are many. Today's edition of this newspaper, for instance, is one big "Merry Christmas" card, in which businessmen of this community offer special greetings and words of appreciation to their customers and friends.

Little Prune People Bring Good Luck

From the South of Germany comes a centuries-old custom of making "Little Prune People" for Christmas decorating and eating.

Legend has it that the appearance of these "little people" in the home during the holiday season will bring good luck and good harvest during the coming year. They take on characterizations of people of all ages and occupations, including St. Nicholas himself. If Dad has some heavy wire and some scraps of plywood in his workshop, and if fruits and nuts are on hand (as they usually are at Christmas), almost any family could make some "lucky little prune people" this Yuletide. For groups large or small, planned or impromptu parties, the creation of prune people could be an enjoyable Christmas Day pastime.

Most people will quickly come up with their own ideas for prune characters they would like to create. The characterizations are limited only by the imagination and the materials that can be used.

Traditional materials used to create "prune people" are: heavy picture wire, prunes, dried figs and raisins, unshelled nuts, quarter-inch plywood scraps or wood scraps from crates, pliers, hammer, small awl, foil, scraps of Christmas wrapping, glue and a little imagination.

To make prune people, follow these steps:

1. Cut a three-inch square wooden base. Make two holes one inch apart in center of base and cover with paper or foil.
2. Cut wire 30" long and put each end through holes in bottom of base. The base will now stand with wire perpendicular and ready to string on nuts or prunes.
3. Punch hole through two Brazil nuts and string wire through holes to form feet and glue nuts to wooden base.
4. String two or three prunes on each wire for legs. Then twist two strands of wire around each other to form one

PRUNE PEOPLE BRING luck during the coming year, legend says. They are easy to make with ingredients most families have on hand at Christmas time — prunes, figs, Brazil nuts, together with plywood scraps, picture wire and scraps of such decorative materials as foil and gift wrapping paper.

SOME CHARACTERS that might be created from prunes and other ingredients are shown at right. The chimney sweep is prunes from neck to toe. His ladder and hat are made from shiny black construction paper. He and his companions, the Tyrolean prune couple, stand on a three-inch wooden base covered with foil. Each has Brazil nuts glued to the base for feet, and a walnut for a head.

strand so that body can be made from prunes or figs (five or six figs or two or three prunes).

5. Twist strands of wire again to hold torso in place at neck. Then separate wires and bend down arms. Make arms of prunes, adding raisins for cuffs or hands, snip off extra wire and bend into loop to hold fruit in place.

6. For the head, make small hole in end of walnut and insert short piece of wire in walnut — just far enough to hold head in place, using balance of wire to wrap around wire that forms body of figure.

7. With scraps of cloth, thumb tacks, small balls of foil or raisins and a little creative thought, dress the little prune figures.

Distinguished Scholar Had Doubts About Famous Christmas Poem

"Twas the night before Christmas, when all through the house,

vinity, should not be associated with such "undignified" work.

For more than 20 years, he refused to take credit for the poem. In 1844 the poem was published and for the first time credited to its creator, Clement Clark Moore.

With these lines begins the familiar poem, "A Visit from St. Nicholas." Today, this poem is a treasured part of the lore of Christmas, often quoted and published at the Yuletide season.

Surprisingly, the poet who created it was far from proud of his work. A distinguished Biblical scholar and professor of divinity, Dr. Clement Clark Moore wrote the poem for the amusement of his children at Christmas in 1822. A visitor in the home at the time copied it and had it published a year later in the Troy, N.Y., Sentinel.

The poem appeared anonymously, because Dr. Moore felt that he, as a professor of di-

Joyous Message of Christmas

"And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said to one another, let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known to us. And they came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the Babe lying in a manger."—Luke 2: 15-16.

Thus, in the New Testament, Luke tells the story of humble shepherds watching in the fields—shepherds to whom the herald angels brought "good tidings of great joy" that they might seek and find the Infant Saviour. In still another Biblical account of the Nativity, Matthew writes of the Wise Men, who followed a Star to Bethlehem.

"And when they were come into the house, they saw the young Child with Mary His Mother, and fell down, and worshipped Him. And . . . they presented unto him gifts, gold, and frankincense, and myrrh."—Matthew 2: 11

At Christmas, as Christians everywhere celebrate the birth of Christ in church and home devotions, the story of the Nativity is told and retold—but it never grows old. Always, the well-remembered words of two of his disciples, Matthew and Luke, seem to resound with renewed meaning and inspiration, bringing to all some measure of that awe and wonder experienced by the shepherds and the wise men, long ago.

And now, as then, the supreme, the all-absorbing moment in the sacred story is that moment at the manger when first "they saw the young Child with Mary His mother."

Through the years, the meaning of the manger has been enriched by hundreds of thousands of reverent re-creations.

Both craftsmen and artists have been inspired by the manger, and have shared their inspiration with many. The Madonna and Child appear again and again in countless famous paintings, and the Christmas creche in miniature, created by the loving hands of skillful craftsmen, is a precious tradition in many lands, in many homes.

In song, too, "the young Child with Mary His mother" lives anew. Gathering around the manger scene, glad voices joyfully carol, "Silent Night, Holy Night! All is calm, all is bright, 'round yon Virgin Mother and Child . . ."

A Christmas Prayer

May the spirit of Christmas remain in all men's hearts so that hope and peace and love shall prevail over our land and all other lands on earth.

Yuletide Beauty Is Reflected In Legends of Flowers and Greens

Flowers burst into bloom and trees and shrubs were green with new leaves on the night of the Saviour's birth, so legend says. Down through the ages, certain flowers and greens have held an honored place in the lore of Christmas—the holly and the ivy, mistletoe, rosemary, the Christmas rose, the thorn tree.

Ancient peoples believed that mistletoe had powers to ward off evil or cure a variety of illnesses. Druid priests of Britain, long ago, believed that mistletoe should be cut with a golden knife, then hung over doorways as a protection from evil. The Greeks, too, used it to ward off evil.

One of many legends surrounding the poinsettia tells of a poor Mexican girl who, having no gift of value, humbly placed some roadside weeds at the foot of a statue representing the Virgin and Child. Instantly, the weeds became scarlet blossoms and thus, so the legend says, the poinsettia was created.

Rosemary, the symbol of constancy, was at one time widely used in England as a Christmas decoration. During the Victorian era, it lost popularity and is now seldom, if ever, seen as part of the Yuletide greenery.

An old story says that the fragrance of rosemary was given to it when Mary placed the Christ Child's garments on this shrub.

Like mistletoe, the brightly-berried holly was early credited with magical and medical powers. It could even, legend said, tell girls the name of their future husbands.

About Trees . . .

On the night Christ was born, legend says, all the trees burst into bloom. Thus began many stories about the Christmas tree.

Early folk tales described a huge tree in the midst of a forest. The tree held many candles, some straight, some upside down. At the top was an infant with a halo around his head.

It was believed that the tree represented humanity. The candles, up and down, symbolized people, good and bad. The infant was the Christ Child.

How to Put Up A Christmas Tree...Like This

Putting up Kentucky's official giant Christmas tree, lighted by Governor Edward T. Breathitt earlier this month is a big production job. The 50-foot red cedar was brought in by truck from the Owen County farm of Gerald Brock, and immediately attracted the attention of school children visiting the Capitol. With the help of a State Highway Department crane, the tree was raised, then a Frankfort utilities truck provided the "cherry picker" from which a worker attached supporting wires. The decorated and lighted tree will remain standing until after New Years Day.

Labrador and Newfoundland.

The balsam fir may grow to 40 or 50 feet tall. The southern fir is of about the same height and is found in the mountains of Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee.

Other American firs are essentially Western. They include the Pacific silver fir, the white fir, the grand fir, the Alpine fir, the red fir, the Shasta red fir and the noble fir. These firs may attain 250 feet in height.

In Canada, the exporting of Christmas trees, including firs, pine and spruce, is important business. Seven provinces export trees, to countries as far away as Venezuela.

WASHINGTON — For farm-work last year the average American farmer got $1.06 an hour. In contrast, an hour's work in a factory averaged $2.53 and hourly earnings in food marketing averaged $2.25.

Evergreen Is Undisputed Favorite

In Christmas trees, it's the spirit that counts. Almost anything can be — and is — a Christmas tree. In Minneapolis, Minn., they even made a tree out of water pipes, fastened like spokes to a telephone pole, and appropriately decorated. In Wilmington, N. C., a live oak more than 300 years old is adorned at the Yuletide with colorful ornaments and electric lights. In Indianapolis, Ind., they decorate the 246-foot Soldiers and Sailors Monument with electric candles and stars.

The U.S. National Christmas Tree, officially designated in 1926, is not an evergreen but a giant redwood, located in Kings Canyon National Park, Calif.

This unusual Christmas tree, called the "General Grant," is 3,500 years old. Many families prefer the "permanent" Christmas tree, often made of aluminum. Despite all this, the time-tested favorite tree is still the evergreen. Most people, if asked, would probably vote for the "fir tree."

Actually, there are nearly 40 species of the popular fir tree, found in the mountainous regions of Central and Southern Europe, Asia north of the Himalayas and North America.

A frequently-seen Christmas tree variety is the "balsam fir," also called "Canada balsam" or "Balm of Gilead," according to the Encyclopedia Americana. This is one of the most common trees of eastern North America, extending from Virginia and West Virginia in the United States to

'Noah's Ark' Disappears from Holiday Scene

By ANNA MANG

Where there are children, this holiday season, there's usually a Christmas tree—brightly lighted, gaily decorated, its fragrant branches bending low over a veritable "Toyland" of gifts from Santa's lavish pack.

These days, the variety of toys to enchant, entertain and instruct the youngsters is practically limitless. The toy pack holds, it seems, everything and anything that a lucky child might see in his dreams.

A century or so ago, the picture was very different. Even the Christmas tree itself was not as likely to be a part of the holiday scene. Around the middle of the nineteenth century, the Sunday school movement had begun to popularize the idea of family Christmas trees, but a tree at home was still not something a child would take for granted.

As for the toys, under the tree or not, the usual gift might be only one toy, and that one not a toy that modern children would recognize.

This is not to say, however, that nineteenth century children were to be pitied.

In a single toy, the "Noah's

Ark" then highly prized as a special occasion gift, nineteenth century children found entertainment in great variety.

Today the Noah's Ark has disappeared from the wonder world of toys, but in the days of its popularity, nearly every home with children also housed a Noah's Ark in some form, however modest.

Like modern toys, the Ark was available in many versions, from the simple to the complex. Basically, this toy consisted of the ark itself, in miniature of course, accompanied by gaily painted wooden figures representing Noah, his family, and animals in pairs.

The more elaborate the toy, the greater was the number of animals included. One nineteenth century Noah's Ark set, now part of the New York Historical Society's collection, includes more than 300 animals. Everything from little birds and domestic cats to elephants, camels, lions and tigers is represented.

Dogs Frightened By Surge Of Foam

ST. LOUIS—A research laboratory here has packaged an inert white foam with a propellant to ward off dogs. The foam, a little lighter than shaving soap, shocks the dog by its irregular movement, whiteness, hissing sound and faint odor. The product does the dogs no harm.

1,569-Pound Yield Of Peanuts A Record

ATLANTA — Yields per acre in peanut-growing areas have increased sharply since World War II. The 1947 average was 846 pounds; in 1964 a new record of 1,569 pounds was set. The rapid gain reflects increased use of fertilizer and herbicides, a shift to higher-producing varieties and more intensive planting per acre.

Gold, Frankincense, Myrrh Make Suitable Gifts for Infant King

In New Testament history, St. Matthew describes the first of all Christmas gifts—gold, frankincense and myrrh. After the wise men had knelt at the manger, he tells us, they opened their treasures to select these special offerings for the newborn Babe of Bethlehem.

To the modern mind, gold is instantly recognizable as a treasure, but the value of frankincense and myrrh is not so readily apparent. Actually, frankincense and myrrh were costly items in the time of Christ, and they are still costly. Both are resins used in making incense, surviving today at many a Christian altar.

As further evidence that frankincense and myrrh were precious treasures, worthy gifts for an Infant King, there is the old poem which expressed the ancient belief that "incense owns a deity nigh."

Omens Dim Yule Spirit

"Merry" Christmas? Not always, according to some ancient beliefs once associated with the day.

Take, for instance, the old belief that cattle and other stable animals were given the power of speech on Christmas Eve.

Any person who heard the animals speak would die within a year, so superstition said.

Somber omens of death were read into still other Yuletide legends. When the Yule log burned, bystanders were told to watch the shadows on the walls. If the shadows of any persons appeared to be headless, this supposedly meant death for those persons, again within a year.

Salt was also said to have the power of forecasting life or death, when used in connection with Christmas. The test could be made by leaving a small mound of salt on the table on Christmas Eve. If the salt melted during the night, that, too, meant death within 12 months.

If the salt remained unmelted, the forecast was for a long and healthy life.

"And on Earth" . . .

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among men with whom He is pleased."

This is how the latest version of the Bible translates Luke 2:14—a change from the familiar "and on earth peace, good will to men."

Candlemas Eve Is Favored As Time To Remove Green

When is the right time to take down the Christmas greens? Before they become a fire hazard, is the modern belief, and that usually means soon after Christmas Day.

In earlier times, however, the question was not so easily answered.

Some people believed that Epiphany, or Twelfth Day, January 6, was the proper time for removing all Christmas decorations. Others firmly contended that the greens should remain until Candlemas, February 2.

One of those favoring the later date was, apparently, the poet Robert Herrick, who lived from 1591 to 1634. He wrote of taking down the greens in his poem, "Ceremonies for Candlemas Eve," but warned that the greens must be completely removed.

"For look how many leaves there be Neglected there (maids, trust to me) So many goblins you shall see."
