Good Revenue Source

Harry Lee Waterfield's statement today for the tax on pari-mutuel betting machines in the State is a welcome indication of the seriousness with which he is considering the problem of providing funds for public education.

This is not a new idea. Similar proposals have been made in the past, and it is not surprising that some people have reservations about it. However, it is important to remember that the education of our children is one of the most important responsibilities of society.

Education is not just a matter of passing laws and regulations. It requires resources and commitment. The tax on pari-mutuel betting machines could provide a significant source of revenue for public education in Kentucky.

Of course, there are other options for funding education. However, it is important to consider all options and evaluate them carefully. The tax on pari-mutuel betting machines could provide a significant source of revenue for public education in Kentucky.

In conclusion, I urge all members of our community to consider the proposal for a tax on pari-mutuel betting machines and to support it if it is passed. Our children's future depends on it.
