The club voted to reinstate a former by-law under which members will be notified when they have missed two consecutive meetings, and will be dropped from the club roll if they miss three consecutive meetings without a reasonable excuse. Membership in the YMBC was limited to 100.

The club was invited to sponsor a beauty contest locally by the Paducah Junior Chamber of Commerce, which is planning a Western Kentucky contest in that city. Appointed on a committee to investigate this project and report to the club were Neal Looney, James Shankle, Uel Killebrew and Garland Merryman.

The club's next meeting will be a dinner at Redfoot Lake.

May Ready To Testify Today; Last U. S. Witnesses Summoned

Washington, May 14—(P)—The government hoped to rest its case in the May-Garrison war bribery trial today and former Congressman Andrew J. May prepared to testify in his own defense.

May's appearance will follow opening statements by counsel for his co-defendants, munitions-makers Henry and Murray Garsson and their Washington agent, Joseph F. Freeman.

These three are on trial with the 72-year-old May, wartime chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee, on charges of paying the Kentucky Democrat more than $55,000 in bribes for official favors.

May's attorneys, proclaimed him innocent in a statement to the jury when the case began more than three weeks ago. Freeman and the Garssons brothers waived outlines of their defense plans pending completion of the government's case.

William A. Paisley, chief prosecutor, said he intended to finish up at noon or shortly thereafter.

Government witnesses still on tap included Maj. Gen. James A. Ulio, retired wartime Army adjutant general, Maj. Gen. Alden H. Walt, retired chemical warfare service officer, and Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey.

Secretary of War Patterson related yesterday that May called him on several occasions to ask favors for the $78,000,000 string of Garsson firms, including an "E" award for outstanding war production to one company.

Paisley placed in the record letters May wrote to Gen. Eisenhower, when the latter was Allied commander in Europe shortly after Germany's surrender, asking a review of the court-martial of Murray Garsson's son, Capt. Joseph Garsson.

The government says May sent Gen. Walt by plane to Europe to deliver one of the letters.

Capt. Garsson, charged with failure to obey a battlefield command, was sentenced to Army dismissal. The verdict ultimately was set aside and he was placed on an inactive status.

One witness yesterday said that money belonging to Murray Garsson went to pay off $5,261.24 May owed a New York bank. Another witness, E. A. Feldman, onetime Los Angeles war manufacturer associate of Freeman, said he sent $1,000 to May's 1944 campaign fund.

Seven Are Treated For Bites In Obion

Union City—Seven Obion county children are undergoing treatments as a result of bites from dogs suspected of having rabies. Five children at Samburg and two at South Fulton are being treated, said health authorities. Treatment of two Union City children has just been concluded.

The health department repeated its warning that owners of dogs should take the animals to veterinarians for inoculation against rabies.

Grand Jury Is Dismissed

Made Four Indictments; Two Cases Continued and One Divorce Granted

Fulton circuit court grand jury was dismissed yesterday by Judge E. J. Stahl after returning four indictments, one of these naming Sam Walters for maintaining a common nuisance.

The case of Harry Lee Gushart vs. L. O. Bradford was continued after the jury was dismissed. This continuance was forced when attorney for the plaintiff, in questioning Bill Holman on the witness stand, inadvertently solicited the information that Mr. Holman is employed by an insurance agency.

Kentucky law prohibits the naming of an insurance company in any case involving an automobile accident.

The case of Carrie Estes vs. Bess Morris was likewise continued when the attorneys announced that they were not ready.

A divorce was granted in the case of Hunter Alexander vs. Elvira Alexander, colored.

Knox Files For Governor

Republican Candidate Has Six-Point Program; Four Others In Races

Frankfort, Ky., May 14—(P)—Headed by Jesse W. Knox, a native of Hancock county, five men yesterday filed as candidates for various state offices.

Knox filed for the Republican nomination for Governor.

John R. Hurst, Frenchburg Republican, filed for state Railroad Commissioner, Third Railroad District. J. W. Simmons, Irvington Democrat, filed for representative in the 25th District, Breckinridge and Meade counties; and T. B. Redwine of Sandy Hook and Jesse H. Shelton of Dewdrop, both Democrats, filed for representative in the 90th District, Elliott and Lawrence counties.

Knox, a former state Highway Department safety engineer who announced his candidacy in February, reiterated his opposition to writing a new state constitution. He outlined a six-point program for benefitting Kentucky.

3 Bank Thieves Will be Sentenced In Paducah Today

Paducah, Ky., May 14—(P)—Federal Judge Roy M. Shoberg was scheduled to sentence three men today, who were convicted by a federal court jury late yesterday in connection with the holdup last August 23 of the Calvert City Bank.

Convicted were Wilburn Hudspeth, Raymond Wyatt and William Daves. All had denied having anything to do with robbing the bank of $6,351.50. Hudspeth and Wyatt said they were not the home of Hudspeth's father, near Kirksey, when the bank was held up. Daves said he was in Murray at the time, delivering an automobile to a dealer.

Four Calvert City residents, however, identified Wyatt and Hudspeth as the robbers and one witness identified Daves as the driver of an automobile used in the getaway.

Gov. Willis Thought Waging "War of Nerves" On Dummit, Now That He Has No Candidate

Frankfort, Ky., May 14—(P)—In the absence of published maneuvering by the state administration in its possible quest for a gubernatorial candidate, some capitol politicians are speculating whether Governor Willis and his backers are directing a "war of nerves" against Attorney General Eldon S. Dummit.

When U. S. Rep. Thurston B. Morton of Louisville dropped out of the Republican primary picture May 5, leaving Willis without a candidate, Third District, Louisville, backing, which had been with Morton, quickly boarded the Dummit bandwagon.

Morton's good-bye to the race apparently came as a surprise to the Governor.

But some of the chief executive's followers predict the man in the mansion has at least one roundhouse swing in the offing. Dummit's candidacy is in the ascendency, they agree, but the filing deadline is June 7, three full weeks off.

One high state official, frequently put into the gubernatorial picture but always resistant on his own political future, contended the best primary campaigns are those that start late and turn into platform slugfests during the Summer. "Keep that in mind," he said.

Many weeks ago Dummit announced he would go after the gubernatorial nomination of his party. He entered the arena without apparent organized support. But as the weeks passed he acquired the backing of Lt. Gov. Kenneth Tuglie in the G. O. P. crammed ninth, and then the Third district.

In addition, Dummit's associates point out, he had spoken all over Kentucky in the past 25 years and has made numerous

Mrs. Passmore was first married to John Robey. To the union two children were born, Will Robey and Lucie Robey, both deceased. Her second marriage was to J. K. Passmore. Four children blessed this union, Mrs. Shaw; Mrs. E. C. Myers of Olney, Ill.; Mrs. Frank Heflin of Detroit; and Kirkland Passmore, deceased.

Mrs. Passmore is also survived by one step-daughter, Mrs. Charlie Black of Union City, Tenn. Two other stepchildren, Will Passmore and Mrs. Cora Robinson, preceded her in death. Her twin sister, Mrs. Martha McKinney of Fulton, with whom she recently celebrated their 82nd birthday, is also left.

Fair Managership Eligibility Tested In Circuit Court

Versailles, Ky., May 14—(P)—Arguments in a suit to determine whether C. W. Wainman Taylor of Lewisport can serve as manager of the Kentucky state fair were set before Circuit Judge W. B. Ardery here today.

Taylor, backed by Governor Willis, was named to the $5,000 a year position by the state fair board over opposition of Agriculture Commissioner Elliott Robertson. Robertson later obtained an opinion from Attorney General Eldon S. Dummit that Taylor was ineligible because he was a member of the 1946 legislature which created that position.

Taylor claimed the 1946 act had not completely gone into effect and that he was chosen under the old law.

Truman Signs Portal Pay Bill Canceling Many Wage Demands; Chief Is Not Entirely Satisfied

Washington, May 14—(P)—President Truman today signed into law the portal-to-portal pay bill.

But in a message to Congress the President expressed dissatisfaction with some provisions of the measure designed to outlaw both past and future suits for so-called "portal" pay. He asked that Congress enact new legislation to remedy them.

More than $6,000,000 in suits were filed by unions for portal pay claims, but many of them have been withdrawn since the key case, brought by pottery workers at Mt. Clemens, Mich., was dismissed.

The suits sought pay for time workers spent preparing for work. Some made claims for such things as changing clothes. Others were for sharpening tools and similar activities.

The President said, "some doubts have been expressed to me, however, concerning the effects of this legislation upon our wage and hour standards."

"Prior to its adjournment last year, the Congress had reached a large measure of agreement as to legislation to increase minimum wage standards. I trust that with the passage of the portal-to-portal act, relieving the business community of a heavy burden of doubt, the Congress will now turn to a re-examination of minimum wage standards."

Mr. Truman called for immediate legislation setting up a minimum of at least 65 cents an hour as compared to the present 40 cents and asked extension of minimum wage benefits to groups not now covered.

Claims for back portal-to-portal pay, the President said, emerged after a judicial decision on the wage and hour law had raised the possibility that employers might be required to pay back wages "for certain activities which in most industries had not previously been considered by either workers or employers to be compensable."

"In the interest of the economic stability of our nation," Mr. Truman said, "it is essential to clarify this matter by statute."

With uncertainty over these claims ended, the President said, "current wage negotiations can proceed more readily to a satisfactory conclusion and businessmen will be able to plan with assurance for full production and price reductions."

"This will be of real value to labor and management in the maintenance of a continued high level of employment."

Mr. Truman said he understood that Section Two of the act relating to existing claims was not intended "to invalidate all other existing claims." He added in explanation:

"The plain language of Section Two of the act preserves minimum wage and overtime compensable in any amount under contract, custom or practice."

Now We're Moving!

To our way of thinking the city council's actions Monday night in calling for a survey of the city water system and re-writing some of our downtown parking and traffic regulations are very encouraging. The council took the bull by the horns, so to speak, on a number of issues, and we admire them for having the courage to act when action was necessary, regardless of possible criticism from some quarters.

We have discussed before, at great length, the merits of eliminating parking in the center of Lake street, and the advantages which should result, for the merchants affected and the motoring public, from making Commercial avenue one-way. We believe time will show that the council acted wisely in each case.

Also, it strikes us as significant that a majority of the councilmen voted to have the city's consulting engineers make a survey of the water system—to tell us what's wrong, how to correct it, and how to plan for the future. Granting that the city does not now have the money to finance the rather ambitious program advocated by Mr. Russell, the engineer, it is obvious that the water system must grow as the city grows, and that an accurate blueprint for expansion and maintenance will be a handy thing to have around whenever the various projects can be undertaken.

After considerable discussion and delay, the council appears ready to put into effect one of two plans for producing more money for the city treasury: parking meters or an occupational tax. Everyone, we think, is familiar with our position on this question. Whatever course the city chooses will not suit every one, but the council has decided to ask the businessmen who protested a parking meter ordinance earlier this year which system they prefer now. Of course, the council is not obligated to act in accordance with the results of their unofficial poll, but they have tried to "do the right thing" in sampling public opinion.

It would have been fairly easy for the present council to adopt a laissez faire attitude toward the various problems confronting the city. The election is not too far in the future, and the councilmen could have chosen not to disturb the status quo during the remainder of their tenure of office. That they have embarked on a positive program of action is commendable. The responsibility and opportunity to continue this program may fall into different hands in a few months. We hope the spirit manifested Monday night will continue, no matter who occupies the chairs in the council room.

Waterfield Outspoken

Harry Lee Waterfield, in his statement before more than 50 leading Democrats at an organization meeting in the Ballard County Courthouse, was the most outspoken candidate for any public office we have ever heard.

He pulled no punches in his declaration of aims and left little doubt in the minds of his followers that he is a qualified man for the high office of governor.

In outlining his chances for victory in the August primary, he did something that few politicians would dare do—that of admitting his opponent would beat him in two of the State's nine districts.

He pointed out that he could easily offset the loss of districts two and six if voters in the first would only fulfill their duty by going to the polls. He asked for and should receive a 40,000 vote majority in his home district if the eligible voters will only vote. He has little worry about opposition here even if the Gardner-Gregory machine should openly throw its weight behind Clements. His big problem will be in effecting an organization which will create enough interest in his behalf to (1) get voters to register before the closing date on June 4, and (2) get them to the polls on election day.

Political observers over the county claim that at least 90 percent of the people favor their former resident and it is logical to assume such as a fact since his past record is

Swing To The Left?

By Dewitt MacKenzie,
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Britain's Conservative party, under leadership of former Prime Minister Winston Churchill, has made a surprising move which looks very much like swing to the left—a small swing, to be sure, but still a swing—in competition with the Socialist government's program.

The Conservatives have issued a booklet pledging themselves to work for restoration of "a wide measure of freedom" to some industries which have been nationalized. However, they say they have no intention of restoring the Bank of England or the coal industry to private enterprise, and add this provocative forecast:

"We wish to substitute for the present paralysis, in which we are experiencing the worst of all worlds, a system of free enterprise, which is on terms with authority, and which reconciles the need for central direction with the encouragement of individual efforts."

Whatever else one may think of this declaration, it is of course a bid for return to power in the next general election which normally will be three years hence.

The idea of "need for central direction" naturally catches the eye, and the Conservative London Daily Express says the Conservatives are making an elementary blunder in trying to fight under a Socialist banner. The Daily Telegraph, also Conservative, thinks the Conservatives aim at doing what the Socialists are trying to do, only doing it better.

While this move is surprising, it isn't at all illogical. The Conservatives are trimming their sails to a wind whose direction was clearly evident in the last general election when many of their party voted the Socialist ticket.

England has been moving cautiously but steadily toward moderate Socialism for many years. We got striking evidence of this as far back as 1924 when the late Ramsay MacDonald headed the first Labor government, which employed the terms "Labor" and "Socialist" as synonymous, just as is done today. That the Socialist victory which overwhelmed the great Churchill two years ago was no flash in the pan has been demonstrated in the numerous elections since then to replace individual members of Parliament. The Socialists haven't lost a single seat—a circumstance which is taken by the political experts in Britain as indicating that the general public still is determined to give the new government a chance to show its face.

All this being so, it's clear that whatever party wins in the next general election will do so on a broad and progressive platform. The face, as things now stand, again will be between the two major parties—the Socialists and the Conservatives. There is no great strength on the extreme left or on the extreme right. Hence the Conservatives party's move close to the middle of the road.

in accord with the desires of 90 percent of the people. But it will take some hard organizational work to get out the vote if Waterfield keeps his promise to fight the campaign on issues alone. Kentuckians for some reason turn out better in a mud slinging campaign than they do when lines are clearly drawn on issues such as the present two-man battle. Waterfield and Clements are close friends but disagree violently on practically every principle of government. If past records are to be judged, never were the issues so clear-cut as in this race.

But the battle on issues without some real excitement being stirred up is not, for a statewide standpoint, the type of race for Waterfield to run in view of the fact that Clements has more well-greased political machines back of him. Though such should not be the case, machines get out votes while issues seem to create little interest.

Waterfield undoubtedly is still the choice of the rank and file Democrat throughout the State. Clements has won the favor of most of the political machines and special interest groups.

Waterfield in our opinion will pile up a wide margin of victory over his opponent if only three fourths of the democrats will go to the polls but the will of the majority of the party will go down to defeat if a light vote is cast. Machine politics makes the difference. (Ballard Yeoman, Wickliffe).

The GI Bill Is Nice, But Has Its Faults

(Charles Sample is one out of a million—a million ex-service-men completing their college education with the help of Uncle Sam. A veteran who spent 33 months with the Navy in the Pacific. Sample is a 23-year-old sophomore at the University of Missouri who wants to be a newspaperman. Today he writes for Hal Boyle first national by-line story.)

By Charles Sample

Columbia, Mo., May 12.—(AP)—I'm getting so used to being a civilian that when someone says "veteran" I look around to see who they're talking about.

I'm not forgetting the war, mind you, but after all, that was yesterday. I'm working on tomorrow. Yet when some one walks up and asks me how things are under the GI bill, I really get back into harness.

No one can say enough to thank the powers who worked out the bill of rights for veterans, for it was God-sent to a lot of us who would have been in a tough spot without it.

But things could be a little better. The housing problem, I admit is tough all over, but you should see it here in Columbia, with an influx of 15,000 students into a town of 18,000. But, we'll get along. Of course, they want real money for rent now. I'm paying more than my family ever did for a six-room house, but I'm not complaining. Some vets live six to eight in a room. It's all right, that's our food costs are too high.

But when you go to school four hours a day, study from six to ten more hours to keep up in class, and then pick up a paper and read about somebody or some group raving about the veterans going to college just because of the money—well then I really blow my top.

Don't let anyone fool you. School is tough. When you have to sit in a class of 50 to learn a language and only get about five minutes of classroom recitation a week, you're almost on your own, if you want to learn.

The school is not to blame. There isn't enough money to staff sufficiently to handle the whole student body. That is something that state legislatures should start worrying about.

The University of Missouri and other schools throughout the country have been more than fair with us "GI" students. They've given us credits for service work that were really appreciated. The counselor service here is as courteous as a grocer during the depression.

We're willing to work with the VA too. We're trying to roll up a college record that will do credit to the education bill ideals.

And we're learning thrift too. Adding laundry and food and maintenance to a $30.00 rent bill means cutting lots of corners to budget that 65 bucks. I'm one of those who do think we should have at least a $25 raise in subsistence money, because right now it's just existence money, but either way we'll get by. College '47 is our business. I know we can make a success of it. I've got to. You see, I'm marrying a redhead.

Connie Mack Answers Critics With Best Ball Club In Decade

By Joe Reichler
 Associated Press Sports Writer
 Hats off to Mr. Connie Mack, the grand old man of baseball. The 84-year-old gentleman, now in his 47th year as manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, is quietly answering his critics by giving the Athletic fans the best brand of baseball they have seen in more than a dozen years.

Tomorrow's Schedule
 American League—Cleveland at Washington (night); Chicago at New York (night); Detroit at Philadelphia; St. Louis at Boston.
 National League—Brooklyn at Pittsburgh; Philadelphia at Cincinnati; New York at Chicago; Boston at St. Louis (night).

Chicks May Get New Left-Hander From Greenville

The Fulton pitching corps may be strengthened by a new left-hander from Greenville, Miss., scheduled to arrive in town late today, the Fulton Baseball Association announced. The prospective new twirler's name was not announced. The FBA also has contacted the Gadsden, Ala., Class B team, a Memphis Chick affiliate, with a view to obtaining additional players this season. Roy Galsner, Chick pitcher, was given an unconditional release by the association this morning.

ent game in their last eight starts, trampling the Chicago White Sox 19-8.

Aided by four home runs, three of them in succession in the sixth inning by Charlie Keiler, Joe Dimaggio and Johnny Lindell, the New York Yankees opened their home swing with a 9-1 triumph over the St. Louis Browns.

Led by their first base rookie sensation, Earl Torgeson, the Boston Braves defeated the Chicago Cubs 7-4. Torgeson hammered in five runs on two doubles, a single and his eighth homer of the season. The St. Louis Cardinals were blanked by Lefty Davis, who pitched the New York Giants to a 5-0 win with a neat two-hitter. Howie Pollet dropped his fourth game in five decisions.

Louisville Pro Team Sees Diddle

Louisville, Ky., May 14—(AP)—Willis W. Wyant, president of Louisville's professional basketball team, last night said he had conferred with Ed Diddle, basketball coach at Western State Teachers College, about the coaching job which is open on the pro team. Beyond that, however, Wyant declined comment. "Any announcement we might make about signing a coach is not likely to come before noon Friday," Wyant declared, adding: "It may come from another source before then."

20 players including six pitchers, almost pulled the game out of the fire by scoring three runs in the ninth but Harry Gumbert, fourth Cincinnati pitcher, replaced Clyde Shoun with two out and the bases loaded and whiffed catcher Bruce Edwards to end the game.

Cairo Takes Early Lead, Wins 13 To 9 Big First Frame Netted Six Runs; Stayed In Front

PLAY AGAIN TONIGHT

The Cairo Egyptians got six hits and six runs in the first inning of their game with the Chicks here last night and weren't headed through the rest of the evening, winning 13-9. Crain, second baseman, and Wolterding, led off with homers in the first and Malo, Hahn, Britt, and Roberts each hit safely to put the Egyptians in front.

Nick Huck took over the mound for Slide after the scoring damage had been done and held the Egyptians to two additional earned runs while giving up 12 hits. Thieke delivered Uimer, starting Cairo pitcher, in the third.

The Chicks pushed three runs across in the first on hits by Gray, Seawright, Gill and Rhodes. The Egyptians scored once in the second, third and fifth, and twice in the seventh and ninth. Three more Chicks runs came in the third, one in the fourth and two in the seventh. Manager Johnny Gill poled a home run in the third to bring in Propst and Seawright, who had walked. Peterson clouted one out of the park in the seventh with nobody on. Rhodes smashed a triple and came home on a wild pitch in the same frame.

Malu, visiting shortstop, and Britt, Cairo first baseman, had the best night at the plate.

Wall Street Report

New York, May 14—(AP)—Some of the sharp losses of Tuesday's stock market were extended today although a number of pivots displayed a measure of resistance.

Oils and rubbers were soft spots in fairly active early dealings, but the pace was not maintained. Near midday declines ranging to more than a point were in the majority.

Commission houses reported customers were lightening accounts because of uneasiness over a possible veto of labor legislation, increasing price resistance and the status of inventories in many lines.

From front on the downside were Goodyear, Goodrich, Skelly Oil, Standard Oil (N. P.), Louisville & Nashville, Union Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, American Telephone, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Engineers Public Service, Schenley, American Can, Union Carbide, Caterpillar Tractor and International Telephone. Higher at times were International Paper, Pennsylvania Railroad, International Nickel, Boeing Aircraft and American Water Works.

Railroad bonds dipped. Cotton was steady.

What A Foursome! Bing, Hildegard, Taft and Chandler

Washington, May 14—(AP)—It probably will be the most unusual foursome in golf history. For, come Saturday, Bing Crosby, Senator Taft (R-Ohio), Hildegard and Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler will tee off together.

How come such a queer assortment of golfers?

Well, they're playing in the National Celebrities Golf Tournament.

And so are two Supreme Court Justices, three Cabinet members, Bobby Jones, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, Walter Hagen, Gene Tunney, Carl Hubbell, Jack Dempsey and—if he can make it—Babe Ruth.

The tournament, sponsored by the Washington Post, will serve two purposes.

1. Attract nationwide attention to the campaign to get more youngsters interested in sports.

2. Raise money for kids' sports.

McNutt Resigns As U. S. Envoy To the Philippines

Washington, May 14—(AP)—Paul V. McNutt has submitted his resignation as ambassador to the Philippines, to take effect at the convenience of the President.

In resigning, McNutt carried out an intention made known last Fall when he indicated he was going to retire from government service to enter a private law firm in New York.

Emmett O'Neal, former Kentucky Congressman, has been mentioned for the Manila post.

Seek Flu Remedy From Soil Molds

Philadelphia, May 14—(AP)—A green and black soil mold that shows promise of furnishing a drug remedy for influenza was announced to the Society of American Bacteriologists here today.

There are vaccines for flu, but no drugs that specifically cure it. The mold shows some specific curative effect on chicken embryos and mice with influenza. It has not been tried on humans.

VA Gives Vets NSLI Advice

Veterans Urged To Note Settlement Provisions Of Insurance Policies

The Veterans Administration today urged veterans who have National Service Life Insurance to give careful consideration to settlement provisions of their policies.

Harry E. Perryman, contract representative, Veterans Administration, who serves Fulton each Monday and Tuesday at post office building, explained that the Insurance Act of 1946 opened a large field of new settlement options designed to provide for various needs and circumstances of veterans' beneficiaries.

The new optional settlements range from lump sum payments to monthly installments during the life of the first beneficiary. Under the original law, the only settlements authorized were monthly income or annuity payments.

If death occurs before the insured veteran has selected one of the optional settlements, the insurance is paid in 36 monthly installments to his beneficiary. Mr. Perryman said the beneficiary may elect to receive installments over a longer period. Under no circumstances, however, may a designated beneficiary receive a lump sum settlement unless the insured selected that type of option before he died.

The veteran may now select a combination of payments. He may specify that a certain amount of his insurance be paid to the beneficiary in a lump sum at time of death and that the remainder be paid in monthly installments over a given period or during the lifetime of his beneficiary.

When electing a settlement option for G. I. insurance, the veteran should consider what his beneficiary's future circumstances may be, Mr. Perryman said.

Veterans who have allowed G. I. term insurance to lapse were reminded they can now reinstate their policies at little cost and minimum requirements.

Disbarred Lawyer Promises Gaming Inquiry In Kenton

Covington, Ky., May 14—(AP)—Promising "one of the most sweeping gambling investigations in the county's history," Commonwealth Attorney Ulie I. Howard yesterday obtained subpoenas for 31 persons to appear before the May term of the Kenton county grand jury.

Many of those subpoenaed are members of the Kenton County Protestant Association, which recently was successful in a suit responsible for disbarment of Howard from federal court practice here. The church group had charged Howard was lax in enforcing anti-gambling laws.

Howard said yesterday as the subpoenas were issued that members of the church organization would have "full opportunity to say anything they want to say about anybody" during the grand jury session.
