The Spanish-American war will rank
as one of the shortest in the world's history.
In results for victors it is one of the most important. Other notable conflicts of modern times have been:

Turkey versus England and Russia—1877 to 1878, five years; estimated cost to England and Russia, $200,000,000;
loss of life for all involved, estimated at one-fourth of a million.

Turkey versus England, Russia and France—1877 to 1878, two years; estimated cost to the allied powers, $150,- 000,000; loss of life to the allied powers, estimated at 10,000.

Turco-Russian war—April 1877 to January 1878, ten months; Turkish loss of life, 163,000; Russian loss of life, 87,- 879; cost to Russia $600,000,000; cost to Turkey, $750,000,000.

The civil war of the United States lasted four years and one month, and cost the government nearly $2,000,000,- 000. The total loss of life on both sides was about 1,000,000. The Spanish-American war to yesterday had lasted 104 days, and cost this Government during that time approximately $108,- 000,000, with a total loss of life of less than 600, exclusive of deaths in army on American soil.

Crimean war—1853 to 1856, two years and seven months; English loss of life, 34,000; French loss of life 63,000; Russian loss of life (largely from camp disease), 600,000; cost to England $905,000;
to France, $135,000,000; to Russia, $600,- 000,000.

Austria versus France and Sardinia—April 29, 1859, to July 19, 1859, eighty days; estimated cost to Austria, $85,- 000,000; Austria's loss of life 18,000.

Austria versus Prussia and Italy—June 18, 1866, to July 30, 1866, thirty-nine days; estimated cost to Austria, $50,000,000; Austrian loss of life, 7,300.

Prusso-Franco war—July 15, 1870, to February 22, 1871; German loss of life, 855,000; war expenses of France, $1,000,000,000.

Ringling Bros. Circus.
This Famous Exhibition More Than Doubled Since Last Season.

Ringling Bros' famous World's Greatest Shows will exhibit in Hopkinsville, Saturday, Sept. 10. The event will be a doubly interesting one, for the present season marks a distinct era in the growth of this biggest of big shows.
Since last season the paraphernalia of the show has been entirely reconstructed, and the exhibition is now fully twice as large as during the season of 1897. There are twice as many elephants; twice as many railroad cars; twice as many people; twice as many performers; twice as much seating capacity; twice as much space on the huge hippodrome course for the exciting racing contests; and twice as many of the great and distinctive features which have hitherto given Ringling Bros' famous circus its superb individuality. It is evident that such an enormous enlargement of an exhibition, already vastly larger and better than its contemporaries, must have entailed the expenditure of a princely sum, and it is not a surprise to learn that the actual capital invested in Ringling Bros' World's Greatest Shows this season is over $6,- 700,000. This, moreover, comprehends only a portion of the outlay, for the daily cost of operating this stupendous institution averages $7,400, an aggregate of over $1,300,000 during the season. It is therefore no exaggeration to say that this great exhibition represents more capital and a greater annual expenditure than all other shows combined.
And the circus! to say that Ringling

Bros. have this year brought together the greatest aggregation of scenic exhibitions ever seen, either in America or Europe, is simply to repeat the declaration of all who have seen this season's marvelous exhibition. The most intriguing riders, the most gracefully athletic acrobats; the most startling mid-air evolutionists; the most wondrously trained animals, embracing 28 reasonably endowed elephants—a happy family of wisest pachyderms, ranging from the tiniest of baby elephants to the largest of living beasts, the most massive gorgeous dens and cages of rare wild beasts, in countless numbers and endless variety; and over all the largest, the longest, the highest canvas pavilion ever constructed; all so safely waterproof, and affording vast areas for the exhibition of the zoologic, ethnic, equine and gymnastic wonders of the great show.

Sick-poison is a poison which makes you sick. It comes from the stomach.
The stomach makes it out of undigested food.
The blood gets it and taints the whole body with it. That's the way of it.
The way to be rid of it is to look after your digestion.
If your food is all properly digested, there will be none left in the stomach to make sick-poison out of.
If your stomach is too weak to see to this properly by itself, help it along with a few doses of Shaker Digestive Cordial.

That's the cure of it.
Shaker Digestive Cordial is a delicious beautiful tonic cordial, made of pure medicinal plants, herbs and wine.
It positively cures indigestion and prevents the formation of sick-poison.

HOPKINSVILLE MEN ESCAPED.
They Were on a Train Which Met With An Accident.

Quite an accident occurred on train
No. 4, Pennsylvania line railroad, at Cementville, Ind., last Sunday afternoon. The train was running about fifty miles an hour, when passing some empty freight cars on a siding, some obstruction struck the moving train, raking it the entire length.

A little son of Mrs. J. J. Magie, of Memphis, was killed. A porter of a dormer had his arm broken, and an unknown man was badly hurt. T. W. and Robt. T. MacGill, of Hopkinsville, were on the train but were not hurt.

is made to wash clothes as they should be washed. It distinguishes friend from foe—your clothes from the dirt—and spares one while it strikes the other. You must use soap; why not the best? SUDDENLY

The Summons Came to Chiles T. Barker.

DIED MONDAY NIGHT.

One of Kentucky's Best and Oldest Citizens Gone—Funeral and Interment Wednesday.

The announcement of the death of Mr. Chiles T. Barker, at Glenburny, his home near Kentucky, was received in the city Tuesday with expressions of the profoundest sorrow. There are few men whose passing could have occasioned more general regret, because there are few men whose lives have been more devoted to generous deeds and acts of unselfish charity. For nearly fifty years he has lived in this country. A modest, quiet life was his, and crowned with the blessings which are won by duty well performed. Endowed with a mind equal to the most intricate problems of state, supplemented by education and wide reading, with unlimited means at his command, he might have written his name high on Fame's roll had he chosen to do so. But he chose the peaceful pursuit of agriculture, the quiet seclusion of domestic life and grew to honored age among the rural environment, which his heart so loved. He saw his sons and daughters grow to manhood and womanhood around him, and, armed with the prospect of honor and rectitude, which he had been his care to instill into their lives, took honorable positions in the great moving procession. At the annual reunion of his descendants he saw more than two score grandchildren gathered beneath the ancestral oaks.

The death of Mr. Barker was very sudden. Although he had been in declining health for several years, no one thought that he would go so suddenly as a vapor extinguished. He had rallied somewhat during the past few days and had been feeling much better and more cheerful.

At nine o'clock p. m. Monday he arose from his chair and went to his bath room. His wife a few minutes later heard a noise as if some heavy object had been overturned. A few minutes later she called to him but received no response. Entering the bath room she found him lying prostrate upon the floor, his features as calm and as much in repose as if he were sleeping. Again she called his name but there was no movement on the prostrate form, no sign of recognition. Mrs. Barker then summoned Mr. Peyton, manager of the Glenburny farm. Mr. Peyton came and they raised the body and placed it tenderly on a bed. Life was extinct.

Mr. Barker was born in this at "Cleveland," a large estate in Montgomery county, Tenn., which he owned at the time of his death. Cleveland is on the dividing line between Tennessee and Kentucky. Here his boyhood and young manhood were passed. Soon after attaining his majority he went to Virginia and was there married to Miss Mary Hutchinson, of Louisiana county. He remained in Virginia several years after contracting this happy alliance, and there his oldest children, Thomas M. and John W., were born. Upon his return he purchased the magnificent property which has since been his home and gave to the estate the romantic name "Glenburny."

Two children blessed his happy marriage, all of whom were born. Miss Clark, survive him with his noble wife. They are: Thomas M., John W., Lula (Clond), Barbara (Andrews), Nannie (Jesse), Charles, Peter, Ledy (Moore), Susan (Hall). All of these reside in Christian county except Mrs. Andrews, whose home is in Nashville, and Mrs. Hall, of Montgomery, Ala.

Mr. Barker, during his long life, perhaps contributed more to charity and to the maintenance of the poor than any man in Western Kentucky. He did not wait for the prayers of the afflicted nor the supplication of the distressed. In his community there was none in poverty or affliction whom his generosity did not reach, and who had not known his bounty. Many a prayer descended to Heaven for him from homes whose comforts were due to his generosity. His charity was of that kind which does not look for reward in the applause of men nor the praise of print.

Through his life ran a great undercurrent of benevolence and philanthropy that built its monuments in the hearts of the bruised and unfortunate and has its manifestation in their gratitude, rather than in spine and windows and temple of learning.

He never affiliated with any religious sect, but he believed in the religion of Jesus Christ and acted up to its exalted precepts. He believed more in doing religious deeds than in the constant profession of faith.

Mr. Barker was by far the wealthiest man in this county and leaves an estate variously estimated at from one-half to three-quarters of a million, including valuable property in Louisville, St. Louis and London, England.

The funeral took place Wednesday at ten o'clock at his late home. Elder Mobley of Hickman will conduct the services. The body will lie in state at Cleveland his ancestral home.

LIEUTENANT RADFORD

And the Chaplain of the Texas.—Philip Compliments the Young Lieutenant.

Lieut. Cyrus S. Radford, of the United States battleship Texas, who is now on a leave of absence visiting relatives in this city and county, comes out of the war with an enviable reputation. He saw service both on shore and sea, having had charge of the forward turret of the Texas, which figured so conspicuously in the destruction of Corrales's fleet. He also commanded a detachment of U. S. marines from the Texas at Camp McCalla, and was under the fire of the Spanish fleet two days.

Several Cuban chiefs were among the dead. The attack was vigorously repelled. Five Hundred Killed. THE TOTAL INSURGENT LOSSES ARE FIVE HUNDRED. SEVERAL CUBAN CHIEFS WERE AMONG THE DEAD.

Attorney A. E. Wilson offers six reasons for a reversal of the case, replying principally upon the instructions given and refused by the court below, and also the refusal to grant a change of venue from Graves county.

AGAINST THE CITY.

In a suit brought by G. L. The plaintiff received injuries from a fall on Main street caused by a defective plank walk. The case was appealed.

He at first thought of going to Europe to study the languages—Danville Advocate.

RICHARDSON.—The countless friends of Mr. Frank B. Richardson, of Pembroke, will be glad to learn that his condition is much improved.

FOWLER.—Mr. W. T. Fowler, who has been in the city for a couple of days looking after his congressional race, says there is no truth in the report that he agreed with Mr. Jolly that he would not come into this county in his race.

He says that Mr. Jolly was in Christian county, and that his friends sought to organize and carry it over him, but that he could not succeed. He says he wants the vote of Davies county as much as he wanted that of Christian, and he is going out after it. "And I hope," said Mr. Fowler, "that I shall not be indicted for 'pernicious activity' for coming over here to look after my interest."

ACCIDENTALLY.

Son of Lewis Mason
Fatally Shot.

HANDLING A PISTOL.

Weapon Was Discharged
and a Bullet Crashed
Through the Child's Head.

A fatal and peculiarly sad accident occurred Tuesday evening in the Fruit Hill vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Mason, who reside in that neighborhood, had gone to a neighbor's house leaving their four little children, the oldest a boy of nine years, at home. The children found Mr. Mason's revolver in a bureau drawer. The weapon was not loaded but some cartridges were found and every chapter loaded by the children.

It was not long before the report of a pistol was heard accompanied by the frantic screams of children. Neighbors were attracted to the Mason dwelling and in the kitchen a pathetic sight was presented. Lying with his head upon a sack of flour with blood and brains oozing from a wound in the center of his forehead the nine year old boy was found. He was still breathing but expired in a few minutes.

The younger children could give no intelligible account of the tragedy but it was clear that the fatal wound was inflicted while the weapon was in the victim's hands.

The body was buried at the family graveyard yesterday.
