THE MURRAY LEDGER.

VOL. 38, NO. 21.

MURRAY, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER, 28 1916

$.00 PER YEAR

MURRAY CITIZENS INVEST IN WEST.

The party of Murray citizens who visited Arizona about two weeks ago are at home. While in the west the party invested in very valuable lands in Salt River valley, Arizona. C. H. Bradley, H. D. Thornton, I. L. Barnett and Robert Lassiter composed the party. They are very enthusiastic over the country and its wonderful resources. Mr. Bradley purchased an additional 70 acres, making a total of about 200 now owned by him; Mr. Thornton purchased 80 acres for which he paid $16,000, while Mr. Barnett bought only 20 acres for which he paid the sum of $4,000. Mr. Bradley transferred his home place here in the deal and expects to leave for Phoenix to make his home at an early date. In speaking of the transfer the Phoenix Republican says:

"Sales of eight tracts of land in different parts of the valley aggregating 930 acres, at the total price of $203,000, was effected by Jordan & Company during this month to some excellent people from Kentucky who are coming here to make their homes. Some of these gentlemen had been here in August last, but most of them had never seen the valley before, and they are all delighted with the prospect and have gone home to prepare to bring their families to the valley."

"The list includes H. D. Thornton, Robert Lassiter, I. L. Barnett, C. H. Bradley, Colonel G. W. Dixon, P. L. Sale, J. D. Johnson and R. E. Grace, all high class citizens."

"This looks as if the Salt River Valley was really coming into its own. It is the finest valley for agriculture, horticulture and stock growing in the world and these gentlemen had the intelligence to see it. These men realize something of the value of soil that make it possible to produce in one season ten tons of cured alfalfa hay per acre and $500 to $1,200 worth of grape fruit per acre, and a climate the most healthful of any in this blessed United States of America."

Stock Sales—

Are being held all over the country all the time. You as a stock raiser appreciate the value of healthy looking animals. Of course it increases their value, but they need a regulator and tonic to help nature keep them in condition. B. A. Thomas' Stock Remedy is guaranteed by us to give satisfaction or we refund your money.—Sexton Bros.

Wants $50,000 for His Mutilation.

Mayfield, Ky., Sept. 25.—Henry Campbell, who was mutilated by Byrd E. Choate, near Wingo, last July, has filed suit in the federal court at Paducah for $50,000 damages, the attorneys for the plaintiff being Pete Seay and F. B. Martin, of Mayfield, and S. H. Crossland, of Paducah.

Campbell now lives in Martin, Tenn. Deputy United States Marshal Wash Kimball, of Clinton, went to the home of Earnest Choate, near Stubblefield, where his brother, Byrd Choate, the defendant, is staying, in an effort to execute the summons. Byrd Choate evaded service at that time by leaving out a rear door. This suit, although creating a sensation, has been expected since the crime was committed.

The Church of God, or Christ, of which I. T. D. Willis, am a member, is identical in origin, name, doctrine and practice with the Church of the New Testament. Affirmative, T. D. Willis; negative, H. B. Taylor.

Missionary Baptist Churches, of one of which I am a member, are identical in origin, name, doctrine and practice with the Churches of the New Testament. Affirmative, H. B. Taylor; negative, T. D. Willis.

This debate to be held at Magan, Ky., beginning September 25, 1916, and continuing four days of two sessions each. To begin at 10:00 a. m. and run for two hours and then two hours intermission and two hours in the afternoon.—Hartford Herald.

A Vivid Contrast—

Exists between the old, clumsy, drenching method and the new, easy Farris way of putting the medicine on the back of the horse's tongue by means of a medicine dropper which comes packed with the remedy. Farris' Colic Remedy is not an experiment. It cures colic. We are behind it and will refund your money if you do not get results, Sexton Bros.

Crops Destroyed by Hail.

A hail storm visited the southern part of Calloway and the southern part of Graves county late last Friday afternoon and as a result thousands of dollars of damage was done to late crops. Tobacco standing in the fields in the section visited by the storm was a total loss and hundreds of acres were destroyed. A high wind accompanied the hail and considerable damage resulted on this account also.

CALLOWAY'S FAIR THIS YEAR TO BE ONE OF THE VERY BEST EVER HELD

Calloway's fair this fall is going to be the best ever.

All that is necessary to make a big thing of anything in Calloway is for all the folks to pull together—team work counts.

The county fair this year is for Calloway folks.

Want you help?

Just a few remarks. The promoters of the Calloway fair are not out for the money there is in the thing—fact is, there isn't any money in it. The whole purpose of the fair is to make Calloway a better county in which to live; a better stock raising county; a better agricultural county; a better poultry raising county; in fact, the paramount aim of the fair is to do good to everything and everybody. If you fail or refuse to co-operate with these folks behind the fair you are failing or refusing to help yourself.

Work was commenced this week on the track, the grounds, etc., and nothing is going to be left undone to have everything in "ship shape" when the big opening day comes.

Get your live stock, your poultry, your tobacco, your other crops; well, get everything ready and come to the fair and compete with your Calloway neighbor and see which raises or grows the best.

This issue of the Ledger contains the complete premium list for the fair this fall. Read it on pages two and three. File it away for reference. Immediately following this article is the big premium list on tobaccos of all grades. Calloway farmers have a big crop of good tobacco and every grower in the county should compete for these liberal cash premiums. Make this item a big feature of the big fair. The management has already booked fifteen or twenty high-class amusements for the entertainment of both young and old. The race program includes some liberal purses and the secretary has been notified that many fast horses will come to Murray following the Paducah and other nearby fairs. It is going to be a big show and one that deserves the support of every Calloway citizen. Look over the following premium list on tobacco and then read the complete list including the race program on pages two and three of this issue of the Ledger:

Shoots Down an Officer.

Fulton, Ky., Sept. 23.—Will Robertson, city marshal on the Tennessee side of Fulton and a former citizen of Graves county, was killed early Friday morning by a man named Ferguson. Robertson was shot three times and died almost instantly, seven shots being fired. From meager reports of the tragedy it seems that a negro man was pushing a wheelbarrow containing a trunk on the sidewalk when Robertson asked the negro if he did not know that it was against a city ordinance to use the sidewalks for such purpose. The negro, it is said, resented with some sharp retort and at this juncture Ferguson got into the argument and with a few words began shooting at Robertson. It was reported that Robertson intimated that he would search the trunk and see what it contained, and it is said that it contained whisky belonging to Ferguson, who is said to be a dealer in such spirits. Ferguson surrendered to an officer.

Robertson was a son of Allen Robertson, deceased, and was born and reared near Vealsburg in the south part of Graves county. He was well known, about 38 years of age and made a good officer, having been city marshal for the past year.

Graves Barn Destroyed by Fire.

The big tobacco barn of Henry Skinner, near Farmington, was destroyed by fire Sunday morning at 4 o'clock, with its contents, which consisted of about 3,000 sticks of good tobacco which was in process of being cured when the fire started.

For Sale.—47-acre farm, well improved and in high state of cultivation, located 6 miles north of Murray; 5-room house, other improvements good, fine water, good young orchard, 7 acres in timber, 34 acres in grass. For terms and price, see or write A. S. Blalock, Almo, Rt. 2. 72712*

REGISTRATION TO BE ON OCTOBER 3

The general registration of voters to qualify them to vote in the general election in November will be held on the third of October, which is the first Tuesday in the month.

Those qualified to register are male persons who have reached the age of 21 years or who will have reached that age on election day and who have established their residence by living in the state for one year, in the county for six months and in the voting precinct for 60 days.

Registration is only required in incorporated cities and towns and is not required in the county. The registration will be for one day only, but subsequent opportunities will be provided for persons who were unable to register at the first registration.

The supplemental registration will be on the first three days of the week preceding the election at the office of the county clerk.

At this supplemental registration only persons will be permitted to register who can show that on account of absence from the city or for some other valid reason they were not able to register on the date set.

Previous registration will not qualify a person to vote, and no matter how long the voter has lived in the precinct he must register again this year.

Although there will be no candidates to be elected for whom women of this state may vote, the registration books for women will be opened at this time in order that women voters may qualify to vote in subsequent elections.

Old Bow is Now a Man of Leisure.

Sam Carrico, having sold his interest in the clothing business on the east side of the square, is walking about aimlessly but not without hope, for he declares that he is going back in the same kind of business the first time that he can find a loophole in the wall on the east side. At first he said he would give the public 99 guesses as to what his next vocation would be, and when he was asked if he was likely to go to Texas since his Murray attraction had moved to the Lone Star State, he had very little to say, except he was willing to go if he could be assured a return ticket.—Mayfield Messenger.

Edw. Morrow, recent candidate for governor of this state, opened the republican campaign here in a speech of about one and a half hours Wednesday afternoon. Only a fair audience heard him, composed of a goodly percent of democrats. Mr. Morrow's speech was along the usual lines of the present day republican spellbinders, in which he devoted much time to a criticism of President Wilson's Mexican policies. His remarks in this matter were applauded, but at the same time it was quite noticeable that those republicans applauding were not fathers of any of the boys now doing duty on the Mexican border. Mr. Morrow is not an objectionable campaigner and was given close attention.

BACKACHE IS DISCOURAGING

Nothing is more discouraging than a constant backache. It is hard to work or to rest. Backache often indicates bad kidneys and calls for prompt treatment. The best recommended remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills. Profit by this nearby resident's experience:

L. C. Claypool, machinist, Irvan St., Paris, Tenn., says: "My back was weak and ached terribly. The kidney secretions were too frequent and painful in passage and I had to get up at night."

Doan's Kidney Pills rid me of the trouble and I haven't been bothered much since.

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Claypool had, Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Lebanon, Mo.

I have been living at this place Two years; yes, nearly three. I love my neighbors, every one. I hope they all love me. It seems that Fate has made it so That here I cannot stay; But you all will remember me When I am far away. I've learned to like this little town And love the people so, I only wish that I could stay And did not have to go. An interest in your prayers I crave; Is that too much for me to ask? It seems as if I hear you say, Oh, that's an easy task. And now I say that little word, But not without a sigh: It breaks my heart to think of it, That little word, Good Bye.

RHEUMATISM ARRESTED

Many people suffer the tortures of lame muscles and stiffened joints because of impurities in the blood, and each succeeding attack seems more acute until rheumatism has invaded the whole system. To arrest rheumatism it is quite as important to improve your general health as to purify your blood, and the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is nature's great blood-maker, while its medicinal nourishment strengthens the organs to expel the impurities and rebuild your strength. Scott's Emulsion is helping thousands every day who could not find other relief. Refuse the alcoholic substitutes.

"Gets-It" Never Fails for Corns!

There's Nothing on Earth Like It For Corns and Calluses.

"Whenever you get corns and calluses, don't experiment—just use 'GETS-IT' and nothing else. Easiest and simplest thing I know to use—just a few drops on in a few seconds."

Wear Shoes That Fit Use "Gets-It" Tonight

—"GETS-IT" does the rest. The old way is to bundle up your toes in harnesses and bandages, use salves that make toes raw, cotton rings that make your corns pop-eyed, knives and "diggers" that tear your heart out and leave the corn in. No wonder they make you limp and wince. Forget all these—use "GETS-IT," the simplest corn remedy in the world—easiest to use, never fails or sticks, painless. Your corns loosen, then you lift it off. You can wear smaller shoes.

"GETS-IT" is sold and recommended by druggists everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent on receipt of price, by S. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill. Sold in Murray and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by H. P. Wear and Dale, Stubblefield & Company.

A Distinctive Reason

What is the chief reason for the superiority of Royal Baking Powder?

There are several good reasons, but there is one which distinguishes Royal from other baking powders.

This reason, which every woman should know, is that Royal Baking Powder is made from cream of tartar, which comes from grapes. This means a healthful fruit origin. It means natural food as distinguished from mineral substitutes used in other baking powders.

There is no alum nor phosphate in Royal Baking Powder.

Wood, pastor of the First Baptist church, at his home on South Ninth street, Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, spoke the words that united in marriage Eldon Jones, of Backusburg, and Miss Medis Melone, of Farmington. HUSBAND OBJECTS TO OPERATION

Wife Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Des Moines, Iowa.—"Four years ago I was very sick and my life was nearly spent. The doctors stated that I would never get well without an operation and that without it I would not live one year. My husband objected to any operation and got me some of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it and commenced to get better and am now well, am stout and able to do my own housework. I can recommend the Vegetable Compound to any woman who is sick and run down as a wonderful strength and health restorer. My husband says I would have been in my grave ere this if it had not been for your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. BLANCHIE JEFFERSON, 703 Lyon St., Des Moines, Iowa.

Before submitting to a surgical operation it is wise to try to build up the female system and cure its derangements with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it has saved many women from surgical operations.

CLUB SHOULD BE SATISFIED

Organization That Persistently Fought for Shorter Skirts Might as Well Disband.

Twenty years ago an organization of women in New York began a fight to influence women to wear shorter skirts. The organization was known as the Itany Day club, and branches of it were formed throughout the country. Mrs. A. M. Palmer, who has been president of the organization since its birth, has just announced that the fight has been won with a vengeance, and that the organization may as well disband, unless it should decide to reverse its bylaws and begin a crusade for longer garments.

When the Itany Day club was organized, the style for women was to wear long, trailing skirts that did a portion of the work now paid for by the street-cleaning department. Crusades for short skirts produced volumes of testimony from physicians that the long, dragging, heavy skirts were wrecking the health of women, carrying disease germs and causing many kinds of grief. The rainy daisies, as they were then called, pleaded for skirts at least four inches from the ground. The fight was stubborn. For some time fashion would not yield an inch. Then the bicycle fad came along and helped a little. Finally the shortening process gained headway, and even a casual glance skirtward today finds proof that the battle has been won, and the time has come to call a halt. It is high time that the Itany Day clubs disband—Minnneapolis Tribune.

Brightens One Up

There is something about Grape-Nuts food that brightens one up, infant or adult, both physically and mentally.

What is it?

Just its delightful flavor, and the nutriment of whole wheat and barley, including their wonderful body and nerve building mineral elements!

A crisp, ready-to-eat food, with a mild sweetness all its own; distinctive, delicious, satisfying.

That phrase, the "one small woman," startled me like an electric shock. It was my own phrase, my pet, secret phrase, my love phrase for her. "Where did you get that phrase?" I demanded, with an abruptness that in turn startled her.

"What phrase?" she asked.

"One small woman."

"Is it yours?" she asked.

"Yes," I answered, "mine. I made it."

"Then you must have talked in your sleep," she smiled.

The dancing, tremulous light was in her eyes. Mine, I knew, were speaking beyond the will of my speech. I leaned toward her. Without volition I leaned toward her, as a tree is swayed by the wind. Ah, we were very close together in that moment. But she shook her head, as one might shake off sleep or a dream, saying:

"I have known it all my life. It was my father's name for my mother."

"It is my phrase, too," I said stubbornly.

"For your mother?"

"No," I answered, and she questioned no further, though I could have sworn her eyes retained for some time a mocking, teasing expression.

With the forecast in the work now went on apace. Almost before I knew it, and without one serious hitch, I had the mainmast stepped. A derrick-boom, rigged to the foremast, had accomplished this; and several days more found . . .

. . . all stays and shrouds in place, and everything set up taut. Top-sails would be a nuisance and a danger for a crew of two, so I heaved the topmasts on deck and lashed them fast.

Several more days were consumed in finishing the sails and putting them on. There were only three—the jib, foremast, and mainsail; and, patched, shortened, and distorted, they were a ridiculously ill-fitting suit for so trim a craft as the Ghost.

"But they'll work!" Maud cried jubilantly. "We'll make them work, and trust our lives to them!"

Certainly, among my many new trades, I shone least as a sailmaker. I could sail them better than make them, and I had no doubt of my power to bring the schooner to some northern port of Japan. In fact, I had cramped navigation from text books aboard; and besides, there was Wolf Larsen's star-scale, so simple a device that a child could work it.

As for its inventor, beyond an increasing deafness and the movement of the lips growing fainter and fainter, there had been little change in his condition for a week. But on the day we finished bending the schooner's sails, he heard his last, and the last movement of his lips died away—but not before I had asked him, "Are you all there?" and the lips had answered, "Yes."

The last line was down. Somewhere within that tomb of the deck still dwelt the soul of the man. Walled by the living clay, that fierce intelligence we had known burned on; but it burned on in silence and darkness.

"No," agreed the Fool. "You can't tell when you are going to get a puncture."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

"To think, Humphrey, you did it all with your own hands!"

"But there were two other hands," I answered. "Two small hands, and don't say that was a phrase, also, of your father."

She laughed and shook her head, and held her hands up for inspection.

"I can never get them clean again," she wailed, "nor soften the weather-beat."

"Then dirt and weather-beat shall be your guerdon of honor," I said, holding them in mine; and, in spite of my resolutions, I would have kissed the two dear hands had she not swiftly withdrawn them.

Our comradeship was becoming irremediable. I had mastered my love long and well, but now it was mastering me. Willfully had I disobeyed and won my eyes to speech, and now it was winning my tongue—ay, and my lips, for they were mad this moment to kiss the two small hands which had tolled so faithfully and hard. And I, too, was mad. There was a cry in my being like bugles calling me to her. And there was a wind blowing upon me which I could not resist, swaying the very body of me till I leaned toward her, all unconscious that I leaned.

And she knew it. She could not but know it as she swiftly drew away her hands, and yet could not forbear one quick, searching look before she turned away her eyes.

By means of deck-tackles I had arranged to carry the halyards forward to the windlass; and now I hoisted the mainmast, peak and throat, at the same time. It was a clumsy way, but it did not take long, and soon the fore-sail as well was up and fluttering.

"We can never get that anchor up in this narrow place, once it has left the bottom," I said. "We should be on the rocks first."

"What can you do?" she asked.

"Slip it," was my answer. "And when I do you must do your first work on the windlass. I shall have to run at once to the wheel, and at the same time you must be hoisting the jib."

This maneuver of getting under way I had studied and worked out a score of times, and, with the jib-halyard to the windlass, I knew Maud was capable of hoisting that most necessary sail. A brisk wind was blowing into the cove, and though the water was calm, rapid work was required to get us safely out.

When I knocked the shackles loose the chain roared out through the hawse-hole and into the sea. I raced at putting the wheel up. The Ghost seemed to start into life as she heeled to the first fill of her sails. The jib was rising. As it filled the Ghost's bow swung off and I had to put the wheel down a few spokes and steady her.

I had devised an automatic jib-sheet, which passed the jib across of itself, so there was no need for Maud to attend to that; but she was still hoisting the jib when I put the wheel hard down. It was a moment of anxiety, for the Ghost was rushing directly upon the beach, a stone's throw distant. But she swung obediently on her heel into the wind. There was a great fluttering and flapping of canvas and reef-points, most welcome to my ears, then she filled away on the other tack.

Maud had finished her task and come aft, where she stood beside me, a small cap perched on her wind-blown hair, her cheeks flushed from exertion, her eyes wide and bright with the excitement, her nostrils quivering to the rush and bite of the fresh salt air. Her brown eyes were like a startled deer's. There was a wild, keen look in them I had never seen before, and her lips parted and her breath suspended as the Ghost, charging upon the wall of rock at the entrance to the inner cove, swept into the wind and filled away into safe water.

My first mate's berth on the sealing grounds stood me in good stead, and I cleared the inner cove and laid a long tack along the shore of the outer cove. Once again about, and the Ghost headed out to open sea. She had now caught the boom-breasting of the ocean, and was herself a-breast with the rhythm of it as she smoothly mounted and slipped down each broad-backed wave. The day had been dull and overcast, but the sun now burst through the clouds, a welcome omen, and shone upon the curving beach where together we had dared the lords of the harem and slain the boltschickie. All Endeavor island brightened under the sun. Even the grim southwestern promontory showed less grim, and here and there, where the sea-spray wet its surface, high lights flashed and dazzled in the sun.

"I shall always think of it with pride," I said to Maud.

She threw her head back in a queenly way, but said, "Dear, dear Endeavor island! I shall always love it."

"And I," I said quickly.

It seemed our eyes must meet in a great understanding, and yet, loath, they struggled away and did not meet.

There was a silence I might almost call awkward, till I broke it, saying: "See those black clouds to windward. You remember, I told you last night the barometer was falling."

"And the sun is gone," she said, her eyes still fixed upon our island, where we had proved our mastery over matter and attained to the true comradeship that may fall to man and woman.

"And it's slack off the sheets for Japan!" I cried early. "A fair wind and a flowing sheet, you know, or however it goes."

Lashing the wheel, I ran forward, eased the fore and main sheets, took in on the boom-tackles, and trimmed everything for the quartering breeze which was ours. It was a fresh breeze, very fresh, but I resolved to run as long as I dared. Unfortunately, when running free, it is impossible to lash the wheel, so I faced an all-night watch. Maud insisted on relieving me, but proved that she had not the strength to steer in a heavy sea, even if she could have gained the wisdom on such short notice. She appeared quite heart-broken over the discovery, but recovered her spirits by colling down tackles and halyards and all star-ropes. Then there were meals to be cooked in the galley, beds to make, Wolf Larsen to be attended upon, and she finished the day with a grand housecleaning attack upon the cabin and storeroom.

All night I steered, without relief, the wind slowly and steadily increasing and the sea rising. At five in the morning Maud brought me hot coffee and biscuit she had baked, and at seven a substantial and piping hot breakfast put new life into me.

Throughout the day, and as slowly and steadily as ever, the wind increased. It impressed one with its sullen determination to blow, and blow harder, and keep on blowing. And still the Ghost foamed along, racing off the miles till I was certain she was making at least eleven knots. It was too good to lose, but by nightfall I was exhausted. Though in splendid physical trim, a thirty-six-hour trick at the wheel was the limit of my endurance. Besides, Maud begged me to leave to, and I knew, if the wind and sea increased at the same rate during the night that it would soon be impossible to leave to. So, as twilight deepened, gladly I brought the Ghost up on the wind.

But I had not reckoned upon the colossal task the reefing of three sails meant for one man. While running away from the wind I had not appreciated its force, but when we ceased to run I learned to my sorrow, and well-nigh to my despair, how fiercely it was really blowing. The wind balked my every effort, ripping the canvas out of my hands, and in an instant undoing what I had gained by ten minutes of severest struggle. At eight o'clock I had succeeded only in putting the second reef into the foresail. At eleven o'clock I was no farther along. Blood dripped from every finger end, while the nails were broken to the quick. From pain and sheer exhaustion I wept in the darkness, secretly, so that Maud should not know.

Then, in desperation, I abandoned the attempt to reef the mainsail and resolved to try the experiment of heaving to under the close-reefed foresail. Three hours more were required to gasp at the mainsail and jib, and at two in the morning, nearly dead, the life almost buffeted and worked out of me, I had barely sufficient consciousness to know the experiment was a success. The close-reefed foresail worked. The Ghost clung on close to the wind and betrayed no inclination to fall off broadside to the trough.

I was famished, but Maud tried vainly to get me to eat. I dozed with my mouth full of food. I would fall asleep in the act of carrying food to my mouth and waken in torment to find the act yet uncompleted. So sleepless helpless was I that she was compelled to hold me in my chair to prevent my being flung to the floor by the violent pitching of the schooner.

Of the passage from the galley to the cabin I knew nothing. It was a sleep-walker Maud guided and supported. In fact, I was aware of nothing till I awoke, how long after I could not imagine, in my bunk with my boots off. It was dark. I was stiff and lame, and cried out with pain when the bedclothes touched my poor finger-ends.

Morning had evidently not come, so closed my eyes and went to sleep again. I did not know it, but I had slept the clock around and it was night again.

Once more I woke, troubled because I could sleep no better. I struck a match and looked at my watch. It marked midnight. And I had not left the deck until three! I should have been puzzled had I not guessed the solution. No wonder I was sleeping brokenly. I had slept twenty-one hours. I listened for a while to the behavior of the Ghost, to the pounding of the sea and the muffled roar of the wind on deck, and then turned over on my side and slept peacefully until morning.

When I awoke at seven I saw no sign of Maud

RAILWAY REVENUES SHOW BIG INCREASE

FIGURES INDICATE BUSINESS IS MOST FLOURISHING EVER KNOWN.

GAINS DUE TO "EFFICIENCY"

Income Goes Over Billion for First Time in History—Eastern Roads Make Best Showing; and Southern Next.

Chicago, Ill.—Railroad financial results for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1916, made public through the Railway Age Gazette, shows that net revenues for the year crossed the billion mark for the first time.

The net operating revenues for the year were $1,176,804,000, or $5,134 a mile, as compared with $838,660,638, or $4,231 a mile, for 1915. The average mileage represented in 1916 was 229,222 and in 1915, 221,829.

The increase is due largely to better efficiency, it is stated. The advance in total operating revenues was only 7.5 per cent, but the net operating revenue increased 21.3 per cent over 1915.

Compared with the fiscal year 1915 the current year shows an increase of $308,390,025 or 16.9 per cent a mile in aggregate operating revenue. Operating expenses increased $338,867,393, or 8.3 per cent per mile.

The smallest increase in net operating revenues was in the West, with 26.5 per cent and the largest in the eastern group of railroads with 45 per cent. In the South the increase was 44.6 per cent.

CALOMEL MAKES YOU SICK, UGH! IT'S MERCURY AND SALIVATES

Straighten Up! Don't Lose a Day's Work! Clean Your Sluggish Liver and Bowels With "Dodson's Liver Tone."

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. Take a dose of the vile, dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with your bile crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you feel sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store or dealer and get a 50-cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. Take a spoonful tonight and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous by morning I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it cannot salivate or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.—Adv.

Critic Shies.
Theodore Dreiser, the novelist, was talking about the public's library taste.

"The public," he said, "likes trash. Put good stuff before it and it shies like the critic at the 'Players.'"

"A poet smiled affectionately on this critic, thrust a ten-cent cigar in his hand and said:

"Let me show you the proofs of my new volume of poems."

"No, no," said the critic, rising hastily and grabbing up his hat. "No, no. I don't need proofs. Your word is sufficient."

"And he rushed off without finishing the two inches of beer that still remained in his glass."
