THE MURRAY LEDGER.

VOL. 38. NO. 21.

MURRAY, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1916

$1.00 PER YEAR

$150 IN CASH TO BE GIVEN AWAY TO PERSONS ATTENDING THE FAIR

Instead of spending one hundred and fifty dollars for a balloon ascension or some other similar attraction, the New Calloway County Fair is going to give away to persons attending the fair in cash prizes this amount. The prizes will be awarded as follows:

First Day—1st $15; 2nd $10; 3rd $10.

Second Day—1st $25; 2nd $15; 3rd $10.

Third Day—1st $25; 2nd $15; 3rd $10.

Fourth Day—1st $15; 2nd $10; 3rd $10.

Here are the conditions. With each fifty cents you spend for tickets, whether adults or children, you will get an additional ticket with duplicate numbers on it, one of which you retain and the other is dropped in a sealed box. Each afternoon there will be a drawing. After the coupons are thoroughly mixed a little girl will be blindfolded and asked to draw the required number of coupons each day from the box as above stated—two for the first day; three for the second day; three for the third day, and two for the last day. The prizes will be awarded in the order the coupons are drawn from the box. The person holding the winning number must be present at the drawing, if not, another coupon will be drawn. Two minutes time will be allowed after each drawing to permit the winner to present his number to the judges. All coupons not drawn out are to remain in the box from day to day and will participate in each day's drawing. Don't forget, the person holding the winning number must be present or the premium will be declared forfeited to the holder of the next coupon drawn. —The New Calloway Fair, Inc.

Large Crowds Hear Speakings.

One of the largest week-day crowds that has been in Murray in a long time was here Wednesday of this week to hear Hon. D. H. Kincheloe address the democrats of Calloway county. He spoke for about one hour and fifteen minutes commencing at 2 o'clock and was given the very best attention by the crowded house that came to hear him. Mr. Kincheloe was greeted often by vigorous applause and aroused the democrats of Calloway to the necessity of becoming active in behalf of Woodrow Wilson.

Mr. Varney, county farm agent of Trigg county, spoke for about one hour commencing at 1 o'clock and urged upon the people of Calloway county the necessity of a farm agent for Calloway. He is a splendid speaker and delightfully entertained the large crowd that heard him. The results of the labors of a farm agent are very evident in Trigg county and there is no doubting the necessity of an agent in this county. The fiscal court heard Mr. Varney in a body and will take final action at their meeting next week.

SCHILDKRET'S HUNGARIAN ORCHESTRA.

The Schildkret Hungarian Orchestra is probably more widely known today than any other Hungarian orchestra in this country. As a director Samuel Schildkret can get as much music out of six men as many directors will get from an orchestra of ten.

Mr. Schildkret and his orchestra first became known during the World's fair, Chicago. The members had then just recently come to this country from their native land, and their work was attracting considerable attention when, through Mrs. Potter Palmer, chairman of the women's committee of the World's fair, they were engaged for the Columbian exposition. Mr. Schildkret and his men have not only played at the home of Mrs. Potter Palmer, but also at the homes of Mrs. Marshall Field and other social leaders.

Mr. Schildkret has studied the wants of the Lyceum and Chautauquists and has an appreciation of just the kind of concert program that will best please. His audiences often reach a high pitch of enthusiasm on account of the vim, life and fire which he puts in all renditions. In addition to this, he is one of the finest flute soloists in America, and his solos on this instrument are a feature of every program. There are also other solos as well as trio and quintet numbers.

Calloway County Development Ass'n.

This organization, which is composed of Calloway county's best citizenship from nearly every section of the county, was formed for the purpose of looking into and investigating any condition or any enterprise looking forward to the betterment of all classes in Calloway county.

This organization is non-factional, non-sectional and knows no one interest as opposed to any other interest in the county. It favors better farming, better stock raising, better schools, better roads, the best market for everything that grows on our farms and the very best markets for any commodity that is produced in this county, and as the time is near at hand for marketing our present crops, we have been investigating for some time the conditions affecting our present crops.

We are reliably informed that there are more demands in Murray for tobacco warehouses, for the purpose of handling the splendid crop of tobacco that is being housed, than there ever was at this time of the year. Some of the best barns are already contracted for. Some of the order buyers are not ready to talk yet as possibly their arrangements are not completed, and it is almost a certainty that no one can talk prices at this time with any assurance that it will be what the market will open at. It is the general opinion that prices will be fairly good as the tobacco is the best in quality than for a number of years.

The Calloway County Development and Improvement Association has for more than a month been making an earnest effort to ascertain the prospects for a market in Murray for Calloway's crop and we are glad to say that we have met with encouragement and assurance that Murray will have as good a market for Calloway's tobacco as any market that it could be practically sold at. We have no suggestions to make further than take the best care and pains of your to bacco, get it ready for the market and you can safely rely on the markets being ready for you, and another thing you can count on, that all these buyers who are making arrangements to handle tobacco in Murray will have to pay as good prices as other places or they will not get it.

We invite your attention to these articles which will appear in the papers from week to week. —H. G. Wadlington, President; W. H. Finney, Secretary.

Will You Use Your County Fair?

To make the FAIR profitable, educational and social is to have the largest, best and most attractive exhibits of Calloway's products. This will advertise our county abroad, will attract the very best immigration to Calloway.

The management has offered attractive premiums for practically every kind of product produced on Calloway farms, and it is up to the farming interests to bring in anything you have that might be of interest to visitors attending the fair. If you have anything of this kind and it is not on the list of premiums, bring it in and I believe the managers will give a premium. They have gone to quite a little expense for a large tent, etc., for the agricultural exhibits.

I want to make this exhibit attractive and educational. When you bring in your exhibit, I would be glad you would give me any information that might be of general interest to the people in regard to your exhibit.

Let us make this agricultural exhibit an agricultural school. Remember we cannot have a good fair without the co-operation of the agricultural interests with the management of the fair.

A county fair should be operated absolutely for the betterment of the county, socially, educationally and profitably to those who bring in the choice products of the county.

This is your fair. Will you contribute to it by bringing in some nice exhibits and participate in 4 days of enjoyment, meeting old friends and having a good time. —L. Y. Woodruff, Superintendent Agricultural Dept.

Fort Henry, Tenn.

Tate Ring closed an interesting revival in Calloway, county, Ky., last Sunday night.

Robert Hart, of New Providence, Ky., began a series of meetings at Mt. Zion last Monday night.

Rev. Pool preached his farewell sermon at St. Mary last Sunday.

Rev. Mathews, christian minister, of Murray, Ky., will begin a series of meetings at Blue Spring, Saturday night, September 30. Rev. Mathews preached for this church several years ago and will tell us the "old, old story of Jesus and His love." He has perhaps sown more pure unadorned seed of the kingdom in this community than any man living or dead. Come hear him.

Boyd Gorham and Bud Thomas were in Dover Tuesday.

For Male Bites.

Will Linn Caudle, of the Newstead neighborhood, returned a few days ago from Bowling Green, where he spent several days taking the Pasteur treatment as a precaution against possible hydropobia which he feared he might contract from a mule on his place. The mule did not actually bite Mr. Caudle, but he had some open places on his hands and he thought it best to be safe and he took the treatment. He took nine doses of the treatment at Bowling Green and the balance of sixteen doses he is taking at home, his brother, Dr. B. A. Caudle, administering them. So far he has suffered no inconvenience from it, and goes about his daily work as usual.

The mule bit another mule, a calf and a hog before the animal was killed. These are being kept up and closely watched, but so far they have shown no evidence of developing the terrible malady.

The brain of the mule was sent off for examination but no germs of hydropobia were found. It is believed that the mule was killed too early for these to have developed sufficiently. —Cadiz Record.

WALL ST. SENDS WOMEN ON TOUR

New York, Oct. 1.—Wall street is too busy harvesting democratic prosperity to go campaigning, but is sending its women folk. The greatest aggregation of wealth and social distinction ever represented by femininity leaves New York Monday by special train de luxe to tell their sisters of the west how they should vote.

Stopping at Albany, Utica and Syracuse on their first day, the itinerary takes the women's campaign train through the principal cities of the north across the continent and brings them back through Colorado, Nebraska, Missouri and Kentucky, a tour lasting until November 4. The expenses are paid by and the tour is conducted under the auspices of the women's committee of the Hughes national alliance.

The treasurer of the women's committee is Mrs. Mary Harriman Rumsey, heiress to the millions of the late Edward H. Harriman, railroad magnate and "practical man" of the days of Theodore Roosevelt. With Mrs. Rumsey on the finance committee are Mrs. Robert Bacon, whose husband was transferred from the "House of Morgan" to be Roosevelt's assistant secretary of state and later ambassador to France; Mrs. Bernard H. Ridder, wife of one of the proprietors of the New York Staats-Zeitung, leader of the propaganda against President Wilson, and Mrs. W. H. Crocker, widow of the California mining and railroad multimillionaire.

On the train fund committee are Mrs. Daniel Guggenheim, of the smelter trust; Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, representing inherited millions of railroad capital; Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, daughter of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt; Miss Maude Wetmore, of the wealthy Rhode Island family of that name; Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, daughter of Theodore Roosevelt, whose husband, Nicholas Longworth, inherited a large fortune.

Many of the justicers who are going along to do the speaking are professional women who have won their own way in the world;

ARRANGEMENTS ALL MADE FOR THE BIGGEST AND BEST FAIR EVER HELD

The throttle of The New Calloway Fair will be pulled wide open next Wednesday morning, and from all indications Calloway folks are coming to attend the big show in larger numbers than ever before.

This big annual meeting has but one purpose, the making of Calloway a better county in every respect in which to live. Neighbor is coming to compete with neighbor in friendly rivalry.

Get the products of the farm, the livestock, the poultry, the kitchen, the art and handicraft of the home together and display them before the folks that they might be improved where possible.

After you have done all this get the "younguns" together and come and see us and spend two or three days visitin'.

The weather man has promised to give us the best in the shop, and these cool, crisp mornings makes a fellow feel like a fightin' cock from the time he hits the floor 'until he hits the bed at night. Come in and get tired walkin' and talkin' and lookin'.

In addition to the many attractions and amusements booked last week to be here the management this week closed a contract with the DeVaux & Klein show company for twelve additional big shows. Thus it will be seen that nothing has been left undone to furnish amusement for young, middle aged, old, the gay and giddy. The Ferris wheel, the merry-go-round, the animal show, two big bands, in fact lots to see and lots to entertain and lots to learn. Gosh! Feelin' it in our bones already.

Look over that premium list again. Look what the folks are offering you fellows for samples of your tobacco. One hundred and fifty dollars in money to be paid the fellows who hold the "lucky numbers." Ah, come on in, the water is fine.

The New Calloway Fair is for the people of Calloway county. You can either make or break it, but it is your duty to make it. Are you coming to spend two or three days?

While not possible to publish again this week the entire premium list following are a few special premiums to which your attention is directed:

For the best French embroidered center piece E. B. Holland & Co., will give a nice leather hand bag.

Dale, Stubblefield & Co., will give a bottle of Rexall Toilet water for the best angel food cake.

Graham, Miller & Owen will give a 50c tie to the boy under 15 years of age exhibiting the best specimen of penmanship.

Joe T. Parker will give a solid gold brooch, worth $2.50, for the best tatted center piece.

H. B. Bailey will give a hand painted plate for the best Caramel cake.

H. P. Wear will give a box of Penslar face powder for the best gown with crocheted yoke.

Ryan & Co., will give a $1.00 pair of silk hose for the best crocheted bath towel.

Baby Show.

W. P. Briessidine & Co., will give a $2.50 coat to the best baby, either sex, one year old and under.

Wadlington & Co., will give a pair of shoes to the best baby, either sex, between the ages of one and two years.

O. T. Hale & Co., will give a solid gold ring to the best baby between the ages of two and three years.

women who could not afford the luxury of special trains nor the diversion of campaigning without pay. But back of them, with their money and the glamor that attaches to their gilded names, are the women standing as financial sponsors and social background for this greatest society show that was ever put on wheels. Some of these wives and daughters of the super-rich will go along on this mission, and with their presence, if not with their oratory, will warn the women of the west, who are already voters, that their country cannot be "saved" unless the women cast their vote for Hughes.

The letterhead from republican campaign headquarters gives only the names of the train fund committee as above, but besides them there is an additional committee in charge of this feature of the Hughes campaign. On this committee appear, in addition to the foregoing members, the following:

Mrs. E. T. Stotesbury, whose husband is a Philadelphia partner of J. P. Morgan & Co.; Mrs. H. O. Havemeyer, wife of the sugar trust and Standard Oil magnate; Mrs. Phoebe Hearst, wife of William Randolph Hearst, owner of untold millions in American mines and Mexican plantations;

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, who has undertaken to raise half a million dollars to defeat President Wilson; Mrs. John Hays Hammond, wife of the multi-millionaire mining man; Miss Mary Dreier, society leader, member of a wealthy German family with strong antipathy to President Wilson; Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wealthy in her own right, and Mrs. William Eistein, wife of the millionaire owner of the Puritan woolen mills.

A leading attorney of Pocatello, Idaho, writing to the democratic national committee, says: "I read with deep interest of the preparations of the silk-stocking, poodle-dog feminine brigade that is soon to start on their million-dollar special across the continent to awaken the enthusiasm of the mothers and the women who carry the burden of our national greatness on their shoulders to vote for their idol, Hughes."

"It will not be difficult for the rank and file of the common people to see the hypocrisy of this movement, fostered by an element whose sacrilegious fingers are dripping with the fat and sweat that has been wrung from the lives of thousands of toilers during the half century of republican control of this government."

United States Senator J. C. W. Beckham is billed to speak in Murray next Wednesday morning, October 11, at the court house. Hear this great apostle of democracy.

THE CITY OF NUMBERED DAYS

BY FRANCIS LYNDE

Copyright by Charles Scribner's Sons

It seems to be the scheme of life in all ages and climes that just when a man thinks he is able to stand on his moral feet, temptation comes and tries to trip him up. Do you know the power of money to corrupt honesty? And do you know the power of a good woman to strangle corruption? In this story you will find these problems working themselves out.

CHAPTER I The Heptadern

It was not characteristic of Brouillard—the Brouillard Grislow knew best—that he should suffer the purely technical talk of dams and reservoirs, bed-rock anchorages, and the latest word in concrete structural processes to languish and should drift into personal reminiscences over their first evening campfire in the Niangua.

"As you were saying," Grislow prompted, stretching himself luxuriously upon the fragrant banking of freshly clipped spruce tips, with his feet to the blaze and his hands locked under his head. He felt that Brouillard was merely responding to the subtle influences of time, place and companionship and took no shame for being an analytical rather than a sympathetic listener. The hundred-odd men of the pioneer party, relaxing after the day-long march over the mountains, were smoking, yarning, or playing cards around the dozen or more campfires. The evening, with a half-grown moon silencing the inverted bowl of a firmament which seemed to shut down, lidlike, upon the mountain rim of the high-valley valley, was wistfully enchanting.

"I was saying that the present-day world stant is sanely skeptical—as it should be," Brouillard went on at the end of the thoughtful pause. "Just the same, every man has his little atavistic streak, if you can hit upon it. For example, away back in the porringer period, in which we are all like the pin-feathered dickybirds, open-mouthed for anything anybody may drop into us someone fed me with the number seven."

"Succulent morsel!" chuckled Grislow. "Did it agree with you?"

Brouillard sat back from the fire and clasped his hands over his bent knees. He was of a type rare enough to be noteworthy—a well-knit figure of a man, rather under the normal stature, but bulging athletically in the loose-fitting khaki of the engineer; dark of skin, and owing a face which might have served as a model for a Verger study of a fighting franc-tireur.

"I don't remember how early in the game the thing began," he resumed, ignoring Grislow's joking interruption, "but away back in the dimmest dawnings the number seven began to have a curious significance for me. Back in the pin-feather time somebody handed me a fact about the waste and replacement that goes on in the human organism, bringing around a complete cellular change about once in every seven years. Are you asleep?"

"Not yet; go on," said the hydrographer.

"Up to my seventh birthday I was a sickly child, puny and only about half alive. It came—the change, I mean—when I was seven years old. That was the year of our removal to Vincennes from the country village where I was born. Since that time I haven't known what it means to be sick, or even ailing."

"Bully old change!" applauded Grislow. "Is that all?"

"No. What the second period spent on my body it took out of my mind. I grew stouter and stronger every year and became more and more the stupidest blockhead that ever thumbed a schoolbook. I was fourteen to a day when I squeezed through the first grammar grade; think of it—fourteen years old and still with the woman teachers! I found out afterward that I got my dubiously given passport to the high school chiefly because my father was one of the best-known and best-loved men in the old home town. Perhaps it wasn't the magic seven that built me all over new that summer; perhaps it was only the change in schools and teachers. But from that year on all the hard things were too easy. It was as if somebody or something had suddenly opened a closed door in my brain and let the daylight into all the dark corners at once."

Grislow sat up and finished for him. "Yes; and since that time you have stayed your way through the university, and butted into the reclamation service, and played skittles with every other man's chances of promotion until you have come out at the top of the heap in the construction division, all of which you're much too modest to brag about. But, say; we've skipped one of the seven-year flag stations. What happened when you were twenty-one—or were you too busy just then chasing the elusive engineering degree to take notice?"

Brouillard was staring out over the loom of the dozen campfires—out across the valley at the massive bulk of Mount Chigiringo rising like a huge barrier dark to the skyline save for a single pinprick of yellow light fixing the position of a solitary miner's cabin half way between the valley level and the summit. When he spoke again the hydrographer had been given time to shave another pipe charge of tobacco from his pocket plug and to fill and light the briar.

"When I was twenty-one my father died, and"—he stopped short and then went on in a tone which was more than half apologetic—"I don't mind telling you, Grislow; you're not the kind to pass it on where it would hurt. At twenty-one I was left with a back load that I am carrying to this good day; that I will probably go on carrying through life."

Grislow walked around the fire, kicked two or three of the charred logs into the blaze, and growled when the resulting smoke rose up to choke and blind him.

"Forget it, Victor," he said. "In less than a hundredth part of that time you'll be at the top of the reclamation service pay roll—won't that help out?"

"No; not appreciably. Grislow gave it up at that and went back to the original contention. "We're dodging the main issue," he said. "What is the active principle of your 'sevens'—or haven't you figured it out?"

"Change," was the prompt rejoinder; "always something different—radically different."

"And what started you off into the memory woods, particularly tonight?"

"Coincidences. It began with that hopelessly unreliable little clock that Anson was tinkering around with him wherever he goes. While you were up on the hill cutting your spruce tips Anson went over to his tent and I heard the clock strike—seven. Just as I was comfortably forgetting the significant reminder the clock went off again, striking slowly, as if the mechanism were nearly run down."

"Another seven?" queried Grislow. "No; it struck four."

"Well?" was the bantering comment. "I suppose Anson was tinkering with his little tin god of a timepiece. It's a habit of his."

"I was curious enough to go and look. When I lifted the flap the tent was empty. The clock was ticking away on Anson's soap-box, dressing case, with a lighted candle beside it, and for a crazy half-second I had a shock, Murray—the minute hand was pointing to four and the hour hand to seven!"

"Still I don't see the miraculous significance," said the hydrographer.

"Don't you? It was only another of the coincidences, of course. While I stood staring at the clock Anson came in with Griffith's tool kit. 'I've got to tinker her again,' he said. 'She's got so she keeps Pacific time with one hand and eastern with the other.' Then I understood that he had been tinkering with it and had merely gone over to Griffith's tent for the tools."

"Well," said Grislow again, "what of it? The clock struck seven, you say; but it also struck four."

Brouillard's smile tilted his curling mustaches to the sardonic angle. "The combination was what called the turn, Grizy. Today happens to be my twenty-eighth birthday—the end of the fourth cycle of seven."

"By George!" ejaculated the hydrographer in mock perturbation, sitting up so suddenly that he dropped his pipe into the ashes of the fire. "In that case, according to what seems to be the well-established custom, something is due to fall in right now!"

"I have been looking for it all day," returned Brouillard calmly.

It was Murray Grislow who finally rang the curtain call on the prolonged talk.

"Say, man! do you know that it is after ten o'clock?" he demanded, holding the face of his watch down to the view. In the deepest of the shadows at the mouth of the gorge, where the torrenting Niangua straightened itself momentarily before entering upon its plunging race through the mountain barrier a beam of white light flickered unsteadily for a fraction of a second. Then it became a luminous pencil to trace a zigzag line up the winding course of the river, across to the foot-hill spur where the camp of the reclamation service vanguard was pitched, and so on around to the base of the Chigiringo. For certain other seconds it remained quiescent, glowing balefully like the eye of some fabled monster searching for its prey. Then it was gone.

Grislow's comment took the form of a half-startled exclamation. "By Jove! wouldn't that give you a fit of the creepies?—this far from civilization and a dynamo? What are you calling it?"

"Your guess is as good as mine," was the half-absent reply. Brouillard had got upon his feet and was buttoning his many-pocketed shooting coat.

"I'm going to take a little hike down yonder for investigation purposes. Want to come along?"

But the mapper of watersheds was yawning sleepily. "Not on your tin-type," he refused. "I'm going to 'cork it off in me ammic'."

It was only a short mile from the camp on the inward slopes of the eastern foothills to the mouth of the outlet gorge, across which Brouillard could already see, in mental prevision, the great gray wall of the projected Niangua dam—his future work—curving majestically from the broken shoulder of Chigiringo to the opposing steep of Jack's mountain. The half-grown moon, tilting now toward the skyline of the western barrier, was leaving the canyon portal in deepest gloom.

Picking his way judiciously because the trail was new to him, Brouillard came in due time to the descending path among the spruces and scrub pines leading to the western outlook upon the desert swales and sandhills.

At the canyon portal, where the forest thinned away and left him standing at the head of the final descending plunge in the trail, he found himself looking down upon the explanation of the curious apparition.

None the less, what he saw was in itself rather inexplicable. In the first desert looping of the river a campfire of phylon knots was blazing cheerfully, and beside it, with a picnic hamper for a table, sat a supper party of three—two men and a woman—in enveloping dust-coats, and a third man in chauffeur leather serving the sitters. Back of the group, and with its detachable searchlight missing, stood a huge touring car to account for the picnic hamper, the dust-coats, the man in leather, and, doubtless, the apparitional eye which had appeared and disappeared at the mouth of the upper gorge. Also it accounted, in a purely physical sense, for the presence of the picnicers, though the whim which had led them to cross the desolate Buckskin desert for the dubious pleasure of making an all-night bivouac on its eastern edge was not so readily apparent.

The young engineer saw no reason why he should intrude upon the group at the cheerful campfire. On the contrary, he began speedily to find good and sufficient reasons why he should not. That the real restraining motive was a sudden attack of desert shyness he would not have admitted. But the fact remained. Four years in the reclamation service had made the good-looking young chief of construction a man-queller of quality. But each year of isolation had done something toward weakening the social ties.

A loosened pebble turned the scale. When a bit of the coarse-grained sandstone of the trail rolled under Brouillard's foot and went clattering down to plunge into the stream the man in the chauffeur leather reached for the searchlight lantern and directed its beam upon the canyon portal. But by that time Brouillard had sought the shelter of the scrub pines and was retreating his steps up the shoulder of the mountain.

CHAPTER II J. Wesley Croesus

Brouillard was not what the West calls "jumpy." Four years of field work, government or other, count for something; and the man who has proved powder-shy in any stage of his grapple with the Land of Short Notice is customarily a dead man.

In spite of his training, however, the young chief of construction, making an early morning exploration of the site for the new dam, winced handsomely when the shock of a distance-muffled explosion trembled upon the crisp morning air, coming, as it seemed, from some point near the lower end of the canyon.

The detonating crash reminded him forcibly that the presence of the touring party was asserting itself. The explosion was too heavy to figure as a gunshot. Therefore it must have been an accident of some sort—possibly the blowing up of the automobile.

Between this and a hurried weighting of the sheet of blueprints with his fieldglass preparatory to a first-aid dash down the outlet gorge, there was no appreciable interval. But when he came to his outlook halting place of the night before, he saw that there had been no accident. The big touring car, yellow with the dust of the Buckskin, stood intact on the sand flat where it had been backed and turned and headed toward the desert. Wading in the shallows of the river with a linen dust robe for a sash, the two younger men of the party were gathering the choicest of the dead mountain trout with which the eddy was thickly dotted.

Coming toward him on the upward trail, and climbing laboriously to gain the easier path among the pines, were the two remaining members of the party—an elderly, pudgy, stockily built man with a gray face, stiff gray mustaches and sandy-gray eyes to match, and the young woman, booted, gauntleted, veiled, and bulked into shapelessness by her touring coat. Brouillard had a sudden rush of blood to the anger cells when he realized that the alarm which had brought him two hard-breathing miles out of his way had been the discharge of a stick of dynamite thrown into the Niangua for the fish-killing purpose. In his code the dynamiting of a stream figured as a high crime. But the two on the trail had come up, and his protest was forestalled by the elderly man with the gray face and the sandy-gray eyes, whose explosive "Ha!" was as much a measure of his breathlessness as of his surprise.

What do you think will be capital's first move to get concessions for city building near the Niangua dam project?

SMALL CANNON FOR POCKET

Deadly Weapon of War That May Be Readily Concealed Is a New Invention.

The smallest breech-loading cannon in the world is now being made for pocket use. It is not a toy, but takes a 22-caliber rim-fire cartridge and fires a bullet that would inflict a nasty wound at close range.

It is in the form of a pocket knife, no larger than the usual knife, and has two blades of fine steel. But at one end is a hole. Anyone asked to examine the article and say what it is will be most likely to guess that it is some new-fangled pencil-sharpener or cigar cutter.

In the end of the knife is a steel block that turns out on a swivel, being held by a spring that is released with the thumb nail and reveals a hole straight through the block. The cartridge is inserted at the base of this hole, the trigger on the side is opened, thus cocking the pistol, which is now ready to fire. It is held in the hand and the trigger pressed down with the thumb.

What the Doctor Knows

KIDNEYS MUST BE RIGHT TO INSURE HEALTH.

Few people realize to what extent their health depends upon the condition of the kidneys.

The physician in nearly all cases of serious illness, makes a chemical analysis of the patient's urine. He knows that unless the kidneys are doing their work properly, the other organs cannot readily be brought back to health and strength. When the kidneys are neglected or abused in any way, serious results are sure to follow. According to health statistics, Bright's Disease, which is really an advanced form of kidney trouble, caused nearly ten thousand deaths in one year, in the State of New York alone. Therefore, it is particularly necessary to pay more attention to the health of these important organs.

An ideal herbal compound that has had remarkable success as a kidney remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

The mild and healing influence of this preparation, in most cases, is soon realized, according to sworn statements and verified testimony of those who have used the remedy.

When your kidneys require attention, get Swamp-Root at once from any pharmacy. It is sold by every druggist in bottles of two sizes—50c and $1.00. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper. Adv.

Cy Warman, author of the song "Sweet Marie," who died a few months ago in Chicago, was a high official of the Grand Trunk; but he was always modest about his post.

Once he stopped overnight at a little hotel in northern Michigan, conducted by a man who had previously run a shooting gallery, and later a night-lunch car in New York. The host related his own life story at length. Then he became interested in the biography of the visitor. "What do you do up in Montreal, Mr. Warman?"

"I work for the Grand Trunk," said Warman.

"What kind of a job have you got—do you sell tickets or handle baggage?"

"Oh, I've got a better job than either of those," said Cy. "You know the man who goes alongside of the train and taps the wheels with a hammer to see that everything's all right? Well, I help him listen."

Enrollment of German Universities Shows Increase in Number of Students During War.

War has not made much difference with German universities. On the books of the 22 universities of the German empire there was an enrollment during the last half-year of 53,800 students, against 52,500 in the first winter semester, and 61,200 in the last half-year before the war.

All students serving in the army have continued their connection with the university, and of the 43,800 carried on the books of the university last winter there were 45,000 in the ranks of the soldiers, or 82 per cent. of the total enrollment. 1,800 were women and 1,400 were foreigners. The University of Warsaw, reopened after the Germans and Austrians captured the city, has already 1,125 students, men and women, desiring the honor of associating their names with this famous old institution of Poland, which had been suppressed by the Russians.

AFTER SIX YEARS OF SUFFERING

Woman Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Columbus, Ohio.—"I had almost given up. I had been sick for six years with female troubles and nervousness. I had a pain in my right side and could not eat anything without hurting my stomach. I could not drink cold water at all nor eat any kind of raw fruit, nor fresh meat nor chicken. From 173 pounds I went to 118 and would get so weak at times that I fell over. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and ten days later I could eat and it did not hurt my stomach. I have taken the medicine ever since and I feel like a new woman. I now weigh 127 pounds so you can see what it has done for me already. My husband says he knows your medicine has saved my life."—Mrs. J. S. Barlow, 1624 South 4th St., Columbus, Ohio.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound contains just the virtues of roots and herbs needed to restore health and strength to the weakened organs of the body. That is why Mrs. Barlow, a chronic invalid, recovered so completely. It pays for women suffering from any female ailments to insist upon having Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

TRAINING TODAY'S BOYS AND GIRLS

Fair Play Among Brothers and Sisters a Necessity.

HASTY JUDGMENTS ARE RISKY

Innocent Child Too Often is Held Responsible for the Frictions That Arise—Tasks Must Not Be Evaded.

By SIDONIE M. GRUENBERG.

FATHER was glancing at the papers while waiting for his son to join him for their Sunday morning walk. Presently he noticed that he had read more of the paper than he had expected to, and looked at his watch. The delay was unusually long, and he called to William. William's voice came back sobbing: "They won't dress me!"

Father did not like that. He went right up to the children's quarters to see what it all meant. The oldest sister spoke up. She thought that William, aged seven, was quite old enough to dress himself, and he wouldn't even try. The silence and the expressions on the faces of the other sisters suggested a conspiracy. This would never do. Father pronounced final judgment. "A boy who has three older sisters ought to be able to get help when he has to be dressed, and not be neglected." William had to be dressed at once, and the girls would see to it that the task was accomplished with neatness and dispatch.

To have the opportunity to look after younger brothers or sisters is no doubt of great value to any girl. And to be obliged to dress William through all those years must have been an education for the girls. But it is certain that whatever they gained was more than counterbalanced by the boy's loss. And it is also certain that the experience and "discipline" that the girls gained were counterbalanced by the resentment and sense of injustice which they developed as William became old enough—at least in their judgment—to relieve them of their responsibility.

William was no less a victim of circumstances than his sisters. It was his fate to be the youngest—and the only boy. It is bad enough to be the youngest, and it is bad enough to be the only boy—or the only girl. But the combination of the two handicaps is in many households quite insurmountable.

But every child is unique, if not in one way then in another. And so every child is likely to derive advantages from his peculiarities as well as to be handicapped by them. The older of two brothers was of the "accommodating" kind. A neighbor said to Charles that he "always gave in before and after." By this she meant that he always did what he could to avoid friction in advance; but that when any altercation arose he was then ready to make further concessions and yield. He would not let his preferences stand in the way of peace. This was so marked that whenever trouble did arise it was quite natural for Henry to receive the blame. But later it became possible for Charles, in his quiet way, to make trouble in the certainty that Henry would be blamed.

It is quite proper for us to recognize the fact that the children are not alike and to take the differences into consideration in our judgments and in our other treatment of them. But we must not let our classification of children stand in the way of substantial justice. It is quite probable that Henry was the trouble maker nine times out of ten, and an understanding of Charles' disposition was very helpful to the parents. But each case, as it arises, should be considered on its merits and not on the earlier generalization that Henry is usually at fault.

The actions of parents, like all movements in the world, are along the line of least resistance. And the generalizations we make about our children furnish channels that are often helpful, but occasionally dangerous. So it happened that Helen, whom everyone knew to be noisy and nervous, often suffered for her nervous reputation. One day her mother heard her voice berating Edward, while the children were at the edge of the water. She could also see the blade of an ear raised menacingly to the air. Of course, Helen was up to some mischief and was abusing Edward. She started for the shore in the interests of peace and justice. But when she came near enough she saw that the quiet and unobtrusive Edward was the real aggressor. He held out his foot to indicate where Helen was to land her boat, and as the boat did not strike exactly in the indicated spot he would shove it out again. This he repeated several times, until Helen was exasperated beyond self-control. The mother admitted later that had she not seen the performance herself she would have considered Helen responsible for the friction, without regard for the girl's plea in extenuation.

In the distribution of tasks and responsibilities of a household among the children there will necessarily be inequalities in age and strength and also on account of interests. Some children are more obliging than others, and at one stage the child is more eager to go on errands than he will be later. It is perfectly legitimate to allow such inequalities. But we must not let the less-obliging child take advantage of the more helpful brother or sister; he needs to do his share of the work even more than the work needs to be done. Nor must we allow him to evade his tasks through subterfuge or through persistent refusal. Let George do it, if he will, for he likes it and it is worth his while. But do not let the others defraud themselves by leaving too much to George.

The education of the child in ideals of equity must come in large measure from the give-and-take of his relations with other children, whether in the home or outside. But this must be supplemented with the pervasive influence of sympathetic, yet detached, judgment of older persons.

Fifty-Fifty.

In the big preparedness parade which took place in New York in May, and which set the example for other preparedness parades all over the country, Digby Bell, the comedian, led a company made up largely of actors, theatrical managers and playwrights from the Lambs and the Players club.

The marchers moved in wide lines 20 abreast, extending from curb to curb of Fifth avenue. All went well with Capt. Digby Bell's squad until they reached Forty-Second street, where an issue of safety for pedestrians stands in the middle of the asphalt roadway.

He knew there must be a military command for dividing a column so as to pass about a fixed obstacle, but he didn't know what it was. For just a moment confusion threatened his group. Then in this emergency an inspiration came to the leader.

He swung about and faced the oncoming formation. "Fifty-fifty!" he blared at the top of his voice. And, splitting in the center, the line flanked the "safety" isle without missing a step.

Took It for a Poultice.

Mr. Coddles was suffering from that rundown feeling. In fact he might have sat as a model for the artist who draws those pictures every one of which is alleged to tell a story.

A bright idea came to him—namely, that he should visit some friends in Bradford, for he knew that there was no cure quite equal to Yorkshire hospitality. But hardly had he come to them when he caught cold and had to take to bed.

With kind thoughtfulness his hostess baked a Yorkshire pudding, which she carried to his room.

Three hours later she again visited the invalid Mr. Coddles.

"Well," she asked, "have you eaten it all up?"

"Eaten it?" gasped Mr. Coddles. "Was it meant to be eaten? I'm wearing it on my chest?"—London Tit-Bits

Caught.

Mrs. Flatbush—Why, you're all wet!

Mr. Flatbush—Yes; got caught in a shower.

"But you had an umbrella when you left this morning?"

"Yes, but it was the fellow who owned the umbrella that caught me!"

Let Him Try It.

Bacon—Someone has figured it out that the annual fall of snow and rain in the United States weighs in the neighborhood of 6,000,000,000 tons.

Robert—Oh, well, my horse who ever shoveled any knows right well that the snow alone weighs a good deal more than that.

Every druggist here, yes! your druggist and everybody's druggist has noticed a great falling-off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it while Dodson's Liver Tone is safe and gives better results," said a prominent local druggist. Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist. A large family-sized bottle costs only 50 cents and if you find it doesn't take the place of dangerous, salivating calomel you have only to ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine, no sick headache, biliousness, ague, sour stomach or clogged bowels. Dodson's Liver Tone doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all next day like calomel.

Take a dose of calomel tonight and tomorrow you will feel sick, weak and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work!

Dodson's Liver Tone is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning because you will wake up with your head clear, your liver active, bowels clean, breath, sweet and stomach regulated. You will feel cheerful and full of vigor and ready for a hard day's work.

You can eat anything afterwards without risk of salivating yourself or your children.

Get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and try it on my guarantee. You'll never again put a dose of nasty, dangerous calomel into your stomach. Adv.

HOW TO MAKE COFFEE

By the greatest coffee merchants in the world
With pictures of three wives and what their husbands say of their coffee

There has been a great deal written and said about making coffee, and wherever you go, each woman thinks her way is best. Yet we all know how much coffee varies; good one meal—bad the next—often so bad you simply can't drink it.

Don't be discouraged if you are not getting coffee as fine as you would like to have. Don't be satisfied to drink coffee which is "just medium." A million other women make coffee their husbands brag about, and it is so easy for you to do it.

Instead of coffee which you only put up with because you can't get the kind you would like to have, you can get coffee which every member of your family will enjoy, coffee which every visitor will praise, coffee which you yourself couldn't do without.

Mrs. Jones boils her coffee

How to make Boiled Coffee: The way most people make coffee: Boil the water first, then add the coffee. This does not make as strong coffee as boiling—if you want it stronger, don't make it this way—in creating the amount of coffee won't make it any stronger.

The Drip Method: The simplest way: Have your coffee ground very fine, almost to a powder. Use only half a tablespoonful to each cup of water, with an extra one for the pot. (This method requires only half as much coffee as used for other methods.) Put the coffee in a piece of clean cheese cloth; pour boiling water through it slowly—through once only. Be sure to have water boiling. This does not make as strong coffee as boiling—if you want it stronger, don't make it this way—in creating the amount of coffee won't make it any stronger.

Percolator coffee—the surest method: Use a medium fine ground coffee for percolators, (just the size Arbuckle's Ground Coffee.) Allow a tablespoonful to each cup of coffee and one extra; let the water percolate up through the coffee until it is just the right strength. Making coffee this way, you can have it just as mild or strong as you like, and you can rely on its being good every time.

Mrs. Green uses up anything but a percolator

To get these results, the coffee itself must be right and must always be the same

Things you should watch out for

The coffee itself: There are hundreds of varieties of coffee grown. The coffee itself must be put up by men who know coffee! Arbuckle's Coffee is the greatest coffee merchants in the world. They can give you the value in coffee which no one else can afford to give.

Clean and fresh: No matter how good coffee itself is, if it isn't well taken care of, it makes poor drink. Arbuckle's Coffee is put up in sealed, dust-proof packages, carefully wrapped to protect it from moisture, dirt, store odors. It arrives in your kitchen strong, full of flavor.

Always the same: Arbuckle's Coffee today is the biggest selling coffee in the United States. Did you ever stop to think what this means? To think how good a coffee must be to be the biggest seller in the United States! From the moment it was put on the market, it was a success. Today, it is used in over a million homes in the United States.

Beautiful Gifts: We share our profits with you by giving you useful and beautiful premiums for signatures saved from Arbuckle's packages. We buy premiums for over a million users of Arbuckle's Coffee. Buying in such large quantities makes it possible for us to give the greatest premium values ever seen.

In every package of Arbuckle's Coffee there is a circular showing our premiums. Be sure to get it and see how quickly and easily you can get what you want, all without any cost.

Get Arbuckle's Coffee from your grocer today, either the Whole Bean or the new Ground.

THE SMARTEST MAN.

The smartest man in the world is the farmer who knows all about farming without reading a book on farming or taking a farm paper. He digs his knowledge out of the ground with an old grubbing hoe, or ploughs it out with an "old mould-board" plough. He says, "I don't want my boy to have none of the book-learned farming. Let him get it on the farm just as I have been getting it." His head is so full of conceit that you could not knock a modern idea into it with a rail splitting maul and a dog-wood glut. He still raises "raisin-backs" and "long-horns" and scratches a poor man's back, sweetens his coffee with "long-sweet" and thanks God that "I am not like other farmers." His boys leave the old home at the first opportunity and say, "none of your farming for me." His wife wipes her tired skinny face with an old faded calico apron wishes the farm was in "hades" and the children in a town school where they could learn something besides "starving farming." But you can't help "Old Smarty."—Cadiz Record.

Log Kills Six Year Old Girl.

The six year old daughter of Thurmond Wilson, about seven miles south of Mayfield, was killed in a shocking manner Monday afternoon when a log rolled from a wagon, knocking her down and crushing her skull. Logs for firewood were being hauled and the child was standing near the wagon when one of the heavy logs fell off. Death was almost instantaneous. The fatal accident occurred near the home of Albert Pickering, on whose farm Wilson and family lived.—Mayfield Messenger.

Farms for Sale.

I have three of the most desirable farms in Calloway county for sale.

No. 1. 80 acres, 2½ miles south-east of Murray on the best gravel road in the county. 62 acres cleared, balance in fine timber; 30 acres in meadow, all level land, not a foot but what is tenable and will make good stuff. New 7-room house and all necessary outbuildings, 2 barns, new $500 stock barn. This is an ideal stock farm, all under good fence; conveniently located to churches and schools, in fine neighborhood, admitted by everybody to the garden spot of the east side of Calloway county. This is my home place. Price $7,000.

No. 2. Is 70 acres just across the gravel road south of farm No. 1, known as the Jim Hicks farm, 65 acres cleared, balance in beautiful grove surrounding house; all good level land, not a foot but what is tenable; 20 acres in meadow, 7-room house virtually new, good cistern and well, good stables and barn. Everybody knows the J. B. Hicks farm and knows that it has always been well cared for; located in the garden spot just across the road from No. 1. Price $5,000.

No. 3. 80 acres about 1 mile south of Cherry at the junction of the Cherry and New Providence and Boydsville and New Concord roads, beautifully located, quarter mile of school house, about 60 acres cleared, 20 acres in fine timber, 30 acres of the cleared land is the best tobacco land in the county, all being fresh cleared, the remainder of the cleared land is old but is level and makes good stuff. There is not a foot of land on this place but what is tenable and will make a fair crop of most anything raised in this county; all under good fence, 7 room new house, cistern, ponds and all necessary outbuildings, good 2-room tenant house, 2 good barns, in a fine neighborhood. Price $5,000.

Now listen, if you have as much as $1,000 or $2,000 in cash or good interest bearing land notes, you can buy either one of these farms and get from 1 to 10 years time on balance with payments and time to suit purchaser. On account of health I want to change climate, otherwise these farms would not be for sale.

Hon. L. Y. Woodruff, the sweet clover grower of Calloway county, has informed the Enterprise that he will be here today to attend the meetings at Salem and Lola, and that he will probably remain over until Saturday morning. Mr. Woodruff is one of the best farmers in West Kentucky and for six years he has been raising sweet clover, alfalfa, red clover and all other crops on an old worn out farm he bought several years ago, together with as fine a head of Hereford cattle as can be found in this end of Kentucky. When he comes he will have some good things to tell us in an old fashioned farmer's way of doing things.—Livingston Enterprise.

Religious Debate.

The Benton Tribune-Democrat says that beginning on Monday, October 9, and continuing for four days, at Mt. Moriah church, Elder C. H. Cayce, of the Primitive Baptist church, and Elder C. M. Stubblefield, of the Church of Christ, will debate the following propositions

First—"The scriptures teach that God gives spiritual or eternal life to alien sinners without conditions on their part." C. H. Cayce affirms. C. M. Stubblefield denies.

Second—"The scriptures teach that faith, repentance and baptism are, to the alien sinner, conditions to be conformed and complied with in order to salvation or remission of sins." C. M. Stubblefield affirms. C. H. Cayce denies.

"Only 'Gets-It' for Me After This!"

It "Gets" Every Corn Every Time Painless. Nothing More Simple. "I'll tell you what, I've quit using toe-eating knives for corns. I've quit making a package out of my toes with bandages and contraptions—I quit digging with knives and saws. Now, I use 'GETS-IT' every time!"

When You See These Pretty Girls in Your Druggists' Window It's a Good Time To Buy Your Corns.

That's what they all say the very first time they use "GETS-IT". It's because "GETS-IT" is so simple and easy to use—but it's on in a few seconds—because there is no work, no corn-fooling to do, no pain that shoots up to your heart. It sets your corns on your mind. All the time it's working—and then, that little old corn peels right off, leaves the clean, corn-free skin underneath—and your corn is gone! No wonder millions prefer "GETS-IT". Try it tonight. "GETS-IT" is sold and recommended by druggists everywhere. It's a bottle or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill. Sold in Murray and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by H. P. Wear and Dale, Stubblefield & Company.

River Hills.

There was a big birthday dinner at Mr. Miles Compton's last Sunday. A fine dinner was spread and enjoyed by many of his friends.

It's a young soldier at Dave Miller's home.

Clyde Lovett and Weslie Russell lost all of their tobacco except 200 sticks in their recent burn.

All of the tobacco in this section was cut before the frost came.

Sorghum making is the order of the day in this community. Sydney talks and runs the molasses mill at the same time.

Fellow farmers, this is the time of our lives for demanding a good price for our tobacco. It is up to us. Remember, the United States produces over one-half of the world's tobacco. As the European war has interfered with raising the weed in some sections and as we have an extra good crop and a fine grade every farmer should demand and have a good price for his tobacco before he lets it go. I believe the farmers in every school district should meet some Saturday night in this month at the school houses and discuss and set prices on leaf ranging from 12 to 20 cents per pound and from 6 to 10 cents for lugs. We can get a good price or we can give it away as we did last year.—Your Uncle Ezra.

A Gourd 60 Years Old.

W. F. Waldrop has placed an old time "fat" gourd on exhibition at the fair in the floral hall, which is now 60 years old, it having been raised by his grandfather, Richard Lawrence, near Lynn Grove, in Calloway county, and at his death it was given to Sallie A. Waldrop, who kept it in her possession for 24 years and eight years ago she gave it to W. F. Waldrop who prizes it very highly. During the lifetime of Mr. Lawrence it was used as a "coffee" gourd, for when he would buy $1.00 worth of green coffee he put in the gourd.

This gourd was raised in 1856, and is yet as sound as a dollar and measures 40 inches in circumference.—Mayfield Messenger.

R. T. Wells left Sunday afternoon for Hopkinsville, Ky., where he delivered an address Monday afternoon to the democrats of Christian county. From there he went to Omaha, Neb., to attend a meeting of the board of directors of the W.O.W. lodge.

LOCKED IN ROOM WITH GIRL "LURE"

PROMINENT IOWA "LEADING CITIZEN" VICTIMIZED BY BLACK-MAILING BAND.

COMPELLED TO PAY $15,000

Alleges He Was Locked in Room by Girl Accomplice—Cost $15,000 to Prevent the Episode Becoming Public.

Chicago.—The details of a scheme whereby a wealthy Iowan referred to as a "leading citizen of his community" was compelled to pay $15,000 to a band of so-called Mann act blackmailers became known here when H. G. Clabaugh, investigator for the department of justice, appeared to hold a conference with C. E. Wheeler and W. N. Jay, attorneys for the Iowa victim, and one of the two girls alleged to have been the "lures" in this case.

The Iowan, it is said, was introduced to one of the "lures" by a client in his home town, who said she was the girl's aunt. Later he came to Chicago alone and visited the apartment at which the girl he had met in Iowa lived with another girl. While the girls were showing him through the flat the bell rang and in going to answer it one of the girls locked the Iowan and the other girl in a bedroom.

The visitors, two men, proclaimed themselves lawyer and detective, respectively, and accused the Iowan of violating the Mann act. Under the combined pressure of the girls and the two men, the former pleading that he saw them from shame, the victim paid the gang $5,000 in cash and $10,000 in notes. The "lures" and their accomplices later were betrayed to federal authorities by the abandoned wife of one of the men.

BUOY FROM BREMEN.

Life Preserver Picked Up by Boy on Portland, Maine, Beach.

Portland, Me.—A life preserver marked "Bremen," the name of the German submarine freighter which has been generally expected to arrive at some Atlantic coast port for the past week or more, was picked up on the ocean side of Cape Elizabeth. The name "Bremen" was stenciled in black letters two inches high on both sides of the buoy.

The preserver seemed to be new and apparently had been in the water only a short time. It is generally conceded that the Bremen has been sunk by an English destroyer.

SOLDIERS LIKE Y. M. C. A.

First Tennessee Boys To Have Fine Athletic Field.

Eagle Pass, Texas.—The Y. M. C. A. work here for the First Tennessee Regiment will be started at once under T. S. Daniel, formerly of the Memphis association.

Beside the inside work that is carried on for the soldiers, which consists of talks, social and religious meetings and supplying writing materials, outdoor work will be provided, as Col. Berry has given the Y. M. C. A. the use of an adjoining field, on which will be a baseball diamond and several tennis courts. The boys are anxious for the work to begin.

SUBMARINES ARE BUSY.

Two of Them Sink 15 Vessels in Waters Off England.

Berlin.—The following semi-official announcement has been made public: "Eleven British fishing steamships were sunk by a German submarine in the North Sea Sept. 23. Four Belgian lighters were sunk in one day at the entrance to the English channel by another submarine."

"On Sept. 27 a naval ship successfully attacked the aerial station at Lebara (on the Gulf of Riga), and the defense batteries on Oesel Island. Although the airship was shelled heavily it returned undamaged."

W. C. NIXON ILL.

President of Frisco System Suffers From Poisoning.

St. Louis.—Wm. C. Nixon, recently elected president of the Frisco system under the reorganization following receivership, is ill at the Frisco Hospital.

His illness was brought on by poisoning of some sort, friends say, although just what kind of poisoning is unknown. First reports that he suffered from ptomaine poisoning were later denied. His condition is said to be serious, but not critical.

Public Wards Are Noisy.

Philadelphia.—Elimination of public wards in hospitals was advocated by speakers at the convention of the American Hospital Association. Many of the delegates expressed the opinion that public wards fail to provide the quietness that is necessary for early recovery of patients.

Declines Portolio.

Peking.—Former Premier Tang Shao-Yi, recently appointed Chinese foreign minister, has refused to accept that portfolio.

CLAIMS "DIGNITY" IS HURT

Will Renew Demands Against Alien Land Law at Close of European Conflict.

Washington.—Baron Yoshio Sakai, former finance minister in the Tokyo cabinet, frankly admitted at the Japanese embassy that Japan would renew her fight against land restrictions as soon as the European war ends. Negotiations over these questions, which came to a deadlock two years ago, are not regarded by Japan as concluded, it was explained, but merely postponed while the larger issues of the war are being dealt with.

The deadlock followed a long series of conferences between former Secretary Bryan and Baron Sakai, then the Japanese ambassador, and an exchange of notes between the two governments over the alien land legislation enacted by California. After the state department had pointed out that under its constitution the United States government could do no more than seek to prevent such legislation, and that persons affected by it had resorted to the federal courts, Japan closed the exchanges with a note saying her complaint had not been answered and reserving "for the present further discussion of the issue."

It has been generally assumed that the issue would remain in abeyance only while Japan was occupied with the war, but until now no one in a position to speak with authority has said so. There will be no formal discussion of the subject at least until the arrival of the new ambassador, Dr. Amoro Sato, who was appointed when Baron Sakai was transferred to London, and who is expected in Washington in a few months.

The position of the Japanese government, according to informal state department officials, still is that restrictions on immigration and land holding are not only derogatory to her dignity, but are unjust under international law in that they are discriminatory against her in favor of other nations.

ALLEGED MURDERER CAUGHT

D. D. Overton, Accused of Killing Probate Judge, Is Captured in Tennessee.

Nashville, Tenn.—D. D. Overton, ex-circuit court clerk of Madison county, Alabama, who has been in the Davidson county jail, this city, since his capture last Tuesday at Smithville, Tenn., by Sheriff G. C. Puckett, charged with the murder of Probate Judge W. T. Lawler in Huntsville, was delivered to Police Chief A. J. Dyas of Huntsville and taken to Montgomery.

Several other Alabama officers and Sheriff Puckett of Smithville also accompanied the prisoner on the trip. Arrangements were completed here to take Overton directly to Montgomery, where he will be held until November, when he will go to Huntsville for trial. The prisoner signed the waiver of extradition and consented to go to Alabama without fighting for his liberty. He expressed a desire to return to his friends in Huntsville and to prove him innocent.

Sheriff G. C. Puckett, his captor, was paid the reward of $1,500 when Overton signed the waiver of extradition. The reward was paid by Chief Dyas of Huntsville.

Says Game Law Is Void. Meridian, Miss.—The new game and fish law, passed by the 1916 legislature, is not in force, but is held in abeyance until the people vote on its adoption or rejection at the general election in November, under the initiative and referendum amendment to the state constitution, according to the opinion of Assistant Attorney General George H. Ethridge. In consequence the provisions of the new game law are being laughed at.

Many Pay Poll Tax.

Jackson, Tenn.—Five hundred Madison county citizens have paid their poll tax for 1915 during the last two weeks. When an appeal was made by the Democratic and Republican headquarters that all delinquents pay their taxes by Oct. 7, and it became known that after that date a poll tax receipt would be worthless in the November election, there was a rush to pay taxes.

Cotton Seed Reports.

Washington.—Census bureau officials are busily engaged organizing their forces for the collection and publishing of monthly reports of cotton seed and cottonseed products and quarterly reports of cotton fiber used in the manufacture of gun cotton and explosives of all kinds and of absorbent and medicated cotton.

Three Schooners Sunk.

London.—The British schooners William George, 151 tons, and Pearl of Truro, 144 tons, and the Norwegian schooner Manuel, of Tonsberg, have been sunk.

Air Raids Not Justified.

Berlin (via Sarville).—Attacks by the entente aircraft upon foundries in Luxembourg are declared by the Luxembourg newspaper Obermoser to be unjustified. Luxembourg, it declares, stands ready to furnish ammunition to any customer.

Flour Takes Jump.

Chicago.—The price of flour has advanced 20 cents a barrel, the highest level since the Civil War. Paten's sold for $9.10 a barrel, an increase of $3 over a year ago.

SENATOR CLARKE OF ARKANSAS DIES

ATTACK OF INDIGESTION FOLLOWED BY PARALYSIS CAUSE OF SUDDEN DEATH.

STRICKEN WHILE IN OFFICE

Brilliant Career of Former Mississippi Native Cut Short by Sudden Death—President Pro Tem. at Last Session of Senate.

Little Rock, Ark.—United States Senator James P. Clarke, aged sixty-two, died at his home in this city Sunday. He was taken ill suddenly with acute indigestion in his office Wednesday afternoon and early Saturday was stricken with paralysis, causing death in a few hours.

Associate Justice W. E. Kirby, who opposed him in the primaries two years ago, will very likely be appointed to succeed him, as the associate justice and Gov. Hays are close political friends.

A meeting of the Democratic state central committee will be called at once to name a nominee for his permanent successor, who must be elected in the November election. The nomination must be made at once, as under the law the date for certifying all nominations in this state expires Saturday next.

Native of Mississippi. Senator James P. Clarke, president pro tem. of the United States senate, was born in Yazoo City, Miss., Aug. 18, 1854.

He came to this state from Mississippi shortly after his graduation from the University of Virginia, located at Helena, Phillips county, and engaged in the practice of law. He at once entered politics.

In 1886 he was elected to the lower house of the Arkansas legislature, where, although practically unknown to the politicians of the state, he became in less than a month its recognized leader. His efforts were devoted almost exclusively to fighting the all-powerful lobby and corruption in every form.

In 1888 he was elected to the state senate, where he at once became the most prominent figure in it, being elected its presiding officer in 1891.

First Lawyer in Senate. In 1896 he declared himself a candidate for United States senator against Senator Jones, but the machine alliance, which at that time controlled all the federal offices in the state, was too strong, and he was defeated.

Without any official position, with no prospects to ever reward his friends, his personality and extraordinary ability enabled him to obtain almost absolute control of the masses of his party. When in 1900 the Democratic state convention met to select delegates to the Kansas City convention he had fully two-thirds of the delegation for anything he wanted.

In 1902 he again opposed Senator James K. Jones in the first general state primary ever held in Arkansas and was successful. Senator Jones at the time was chairman of the Democratic national committee and was supported by William J. Bryan and other Democratic leaders of national fame. Senator Clarke had no opposition for a second term, but when he entered the contest for a third election he had strong opposition in Associate Justice W. F. Kirby of the Arkansas supreme court, who will very likely be appointed until the November election. Senator Clarke was universally regarded as the foremost lawyer in the United States senate. He frequently voted independently of his party on important measures. The most notable exceptions were the Panama canal, eight-hour labor measure and the Panama canal bills, the last two being recent Democratic administration measures.

Indians Are Flourishing.

Chicago.—The race of Indians is no longer a dying race, Cato Sells, United States commissioner on Indian affairs, announced here on his return from an inspection trip through western Indian reservations. There are more Indians in the country, he said, than there have been at any time since the bureau of Indian affairs was established.

Two Trains Wrecked.

OCEAN LINER RACES TO PORT

Reaches Philadelphia With Fire in Hold—Passengers Safely Taken Ashore.

New York.—Racing to port from mid-ocean when flames were discovered in the hold underneath the steerage quarters, the steamship Philadelphia, of the American Line, arrived here Sunday, with the fire still smoldering. The hatches battened down and steam being poured in over the cargo in an effort to prevent the fire from gaining headway.

Although the fire was not discovered until Thursday afternoon, it is believed it had been smoldering since the Philadelphia left Liverpool five days before.

The Philadelphia carried 646 passengers, of whom 343 were in the steerage. It was feared that a panic might result in the steerage if the passengers there learned of the fire, and accordingly, when the situation seemed serious, they were moved to another part of the vessel.

At times the heat was so great that the pitch in the seams of the deck melted. The fire burned briskly until just before the vessel reached port.

YEAR'S EXPORTS TO EUROPE

Breadstuff Shipments in Eight Months More Than $283,000,000—Break All Previous Records.

Washington.—American shippers exported $283,101,181 worth of breadstuffs during the eight months ending Aug. 31, according to an analysis of August trade just issued by the department of commerce. The August exports represented an increase of more than $5,000,000 over August of 1915. Meat showed an increase of $2,000,000 over the previous August.

One of the largest export gains was in gasoline and naphtha shipments, total of which for the last eight months was more than double that for the same eight months a year ago. The August total was $5,000,000 greater than for August, 1915.

ATTACKED BY SUBMARINE.

British Steamer Escaped After She Had Been Damaged.

Newport News, Va.—The British steamer Antinous had a narrow escape from destruction by a German submarine when off Algiers, en route to New York, via Gibraltar and Newport News. The Antinous was badly battered up by shell fire from the U. boat and only the two guns carried by the steamer, by keeping the undersea craft at a distance too great to fire a torpedo, enabled her to escape.

Convoys German Ships.

Newport News, Va.—Commanders of eight U. S. battleships which will convoy the two interned German cruisers to the Philadelphia navy yard, met here and arranged the details of the trip. The cruisers, the Kronprinz Wilhelm and the Prinz Eitel Friedrich, are being sent to Philadelphia on account of the crowded condition of the Norfolk yards.

TWO HUSBANDS AT BEDSIDE.

One Sued For Maintenance and Other Divorced—Woman Suicides.

Chicago.—On a cot in a local hospital Mrs. Anna Lossman Erickson Ruggles, is awaiting death, which is certain, to come, physicians say, from self-administered poison. While on either side of the cot sat a man. Eric Erickson, the husband, she had divorced, and Glenn Ruggles, the husband he had sued for separate maintenance. Neither spoke to the other.

JELLY AS IT SHOULD BE

Success in Making It by No Means Depends on Luck, as Many Have Believed.

Many housewives insist that the making of good jelly depends upon luck, but any housewife may always have a perfect jelly if she knows the principles of jelly-making and follows a few general rules.

The essential part of fruit juice that makes jelly set is a chemical substance called pectin. It is found in abundance in apples, currants, grapes, quince and the white rinds of oranges and lemons. Small quantities are found in cherries, raspberries, blackberries and pears. Since pectin is essential, the housewife should determine whether the fruit juice she expects to use contains any before she starts the jelly-making process. To determine whether pectin is present, add two tablespoonsful of grain alcohol to two tablespoonsful of hot fruit juice. Cool, and if the pectin is present, a lump of jelly will have formed. The size of the lump will indicate the amount of pectin present.

Fruit juice should also contain acid. By tasting it one can easily determine whether or not acid is present; if lacking, enough lemon juice or tartaric acid may be added to give the fruit a tart taste.

MUSHROOMS AT THEIR BEST

Economical and Thoroughly Satisfactory Way of Preparing This Always Delicious Vegetable.

This is by far the most economical way of cooking mushrooms; for all the stalks can be used, and in addition the sauce makes them go further. Take half a pound of mushrooms, three-quarters of pint of milk, one tablespoonful of flour, one pint of milk, one tablespoonful of butter, salt, pepper and lemon juice.

Peel and stalk the mushrooms, wash them quickly and examine them carefully to see if there are any tiny punctures like pin pricks in the white flesh, because they indicate the presence of small worms deep in the flesh, which are not visible to the naked eye, and make the mushrooms poisonous. If they are found to be all right, put them in a saucepan with the milk and let them cook gently until tender.

Mix the flour smoothly and thinly with a little cold milk, then add this thickening to the mushrooms and milk, and stir gently over the fire until it boils well and thickens. Season to taste with salt, pepper, butter and lemon juice. Serve on a hot dish, garnished with fried bread. Never warm over mushrooms. They are not whole some if cooked twice.

Chicken a La Warwick.

This is as tasty as tasty can be. Dress, clean and cut up a fowl. Melt one-third cupful butter, add two medium-sized onions, thinly sliced, and the fowl; cover and cook slowly seven minutes, watching carefully to see to it that the onions do not burn. Cover with boiling water and cook slowly until the meat is tender, when the stock should be reduced to 1½ cupfuls. Remove the fowl, take off the skin from breast, second points and legs and arrange on a hot platter, having wings and second joints opposite each other, the breast in center of the platter and the drumsticks crossed just below the second joints. Rub stock and onions through a sieve and thicken with 2½ teaspoonfuls each of butter and flour cooked together. Season with salt and pepper and add one-third cupful of cream. Pour the sauce over the meat and garnish with bananas cut in slices, dipped in flour and sautéed in butter and parsley.

Favorite Chicken Recipe.

For two small young birds, about five pounds in all, take one-half cupful butter in a deep iron kettle. Have birds already cut up, first lay on hot butter the wings, drumsticks and necks (the bony pieces). After these are browned on both sides, remove and place in a warm pan on stove until breast and meaty pieces are well cooked and browned. Take out these, put in kettle three cups hot water, one-fourth teaspoonful sugar, salt and pepper, then lay in bony pieces, then an onion cut up fine and "meats" on top of this. Whole thing takes about an hour.

Delightful brown gravy, much better than fricassee.

Pickled Mushrooms.

Put some young mushrooms, sprinkle with a little salt and pepper and put in a saucepan with a blade of mace. Set over a gentle fire, and as the juice runs from them shake them well in the pan. Keep them over the fire until all of the juice is dried into them again, shaking frequently to prevent burning.

Nut Bread.

Four cupfuls flour, six teaspoonfuls baking powder, one teaspoonful salt, three-fourths cupful sugar, one cupful nuts (chopped), one and one-half cupfuls milk. Put in pan and let stand 20 minutes before putting in oven. This makes one loaf. Sometimes it takes a little more milk.

To Improve Mustard.

Add a little drop of salad oil to mustard when it is being made. Not only will it improve the taste, but it will keep it fresh for days.

Pulp for Paper.

It is reported that the department of agriculture is experimenting with wire grass as a source of supply for pulp for making paper. In place of poplar or loblolly, this variety of grass grows on the Pacific coast and in western Mexico, and possesses the very desirable property of toughness and can be reduced by the soda process. It is stated that paper manufactured from the stock has proved as satisfactory in physical tests as a first-grade machine-finished printed paper. In appearance and in feeling the paper produced is satisfactory. However, the experiments have indicated that more bleaching powder is required in the bleaching process than in the case of poplar stock.

New Dimes Nearly Ready.

The first of the new 10-cent pieces are ready for issue. They are being turned out at the Philadelphia mint at the rate of 250,000 a day and 10,000,000 of them are to be issued.

The new piece bears the figure of a Groenian lady on the obverse side and the bundle and rods and the ax of the Roman letters on the reverse.

Within the next two weeks work will be begun on the new 25-cent piece, while the making of the new design half-dollars will not be started until the early part of October.

The newly designed quarter on one side has the full figure of a woman coming through a gate in a wall; the reverse side shows an eagle in flight.

The 50-cent piece bears a full-length figure of the Goddess of Liberty holding olive branches, while the reverse design is that of a spread eagle standing on a rock.

ASKS MANY QUESTIONS

DEMOCRATIC TEXT BOOK PUTS 21 QUERIES TO HUGHES.

Demands He Tell What He Would Have Done in Wilson's Place and Calls for Definite Stand on the Future.

Charles Evans Hughes, Republican nominee for president, is called upon to answer 21 leading and pertinent questions asking specifically what he would have done had he been in President Wilson's shoes during the latter's administration, and, if elected, what he would do in the future relative to critical problems which he has evaded or ignored in his public utterances. Following is the list of questions as they appear in the Democratic textbook:

1. Do you favor repeal of the federal reserve act passed by a Democratic congress, recommended and approved by President Wilson, under which the danger of financial panics is forever banished from the United States?
2. Would you have protected against the violation of Belgian neutrality and have backed the protest by plunging America into the European carnage of slaughter?
3. Do you favor repeal of the rural credits act, passed by a Democratic congress, recommended and approved by President Wilson, which gives long-term credit at interest rates that promise an annual saving of $150,000,000 to the farmers?
4. Would you have recognized Victoriano Huerta as president of Mexico?
5. Do you favor repeal of the Clayton antitrust act, passed by a Democratic congress and approved by President Wilson, which overthrew the principle that the labor of a human being is a mere commodity of commerce?
6. Will you, Mr. Hughes, recommend, and will the Republican party in congress support a law establishing universal compulsory military service in the United States?
7. Do you advocate repeal of the federal trade commission act, passed by a Democratic congress, recommended and approved by President Wilson, which has given so much assistance to legitimate business enterprise and under which adequate protection against unfair competition is provided?
8. Mr. Hughes, would you have tried the policy of diplomatic negotiation as a means of summoning the moral force of law and neutral opinion to stop Germany's illegal use of submarines?
9. Do you favor repeal of the "poorless" good roads act, passed by a Democratic congress and approved by President Wilson, for the development of rural highways?
10. Would you, Mr. Hughes, have broken relations with Germany and sent our young men by the hundreds of thousands to nameless graves at the bottom of the Atlantic in the hands, before the policy of diplomatic negotiation had had thorough trial?
11. Will you undertake to repeal the income tax, passed by a Democratic congress, recommended and approved by President Wilson, which places a just share of the burden of taxation upon those best able to bear it?
12. Do you favor violating neutrality and risking the future safety of your country by placing an embargo on munitions of war?

13. Do you favor repeal of the agricultural extension act, passed by a Democratic congress, recommended and approved by President Wilson, which for the first time provides facilities for carrying direct to the farmer practical scientific knowledge of how to increase the profits of his farm?

14. Do you favor intervention in Mexico?

15. Do you advocate repeal of the grain standards and warehouse acts, passed by a Democratic congress, recommended and approved by President Wilson, which did commerce in the great staple cereals and enable owners of stored agricultural products to secure loans on warehouse receipts on better terms?

16. What is your attitude toward the disloyalists of your party who have attempted to prevent the enforcement by President Wilson, both on the part of the American government and by all American citizens, of an honest neutrality toward all the warring nations of Europe?

17. Inasmuch as the largest amount collected in any one year under the highest tariff ever enacted (Payne-Aldrich act) was $333,000,000, what form of taxation would you substitute to pay a "preparedness" cost of $630,000,000?

18. Do you favor the reactionary Republican plan of granting huge subsidies to favored corporations, money collected from the people by taxation, as the best way of encouraging the development of an American merchant marine?

19. Do you favor repeal of the child-labor law, the anti-injunction law, the woman's act and related social justice measures of high importance, passed by a Democratic congress and recommended by President Wilson?

20. Do you favor re-enactment of the Payne-Aldrich act, which betrayed your party's campaign pledge of 1908, and which has been repudiated by many Republican and all progressive leaders?

21. Do you stand with those Progressives and progressive Republicans in congress who voted for practically all the progressive measures mentioned above, or do you stand with the reactionary Republicans who voted against them?

Michigan Moose for Wilson.

The turning over of the Michigan Progressive party to Woodrow Wilson by formal resolution of Michigan Moose leaders, including Charles F. Hoffman, who was chairman of the speaker's bureau of the National Progressive party and secretary of the Michigan state central committee in 1912, chairman of the Michigan central committee of the National Progressive party, is considered the forerunner of similar action in other states.

The resolution, which was passed at an enthusiastic meeting at the Hotel Statler in Detroit attended by delegates from all over Michigan who paid their own expenses, concludes with the following significant words:

"We believe it our duty to take an active part in the approaching national campaign, and to this end we favor the organization of congressional and county National Progressive party committees for the election of Woodrow Wilson."

A state district committee selected by the officers of the organization to work actively for the re-election of President Wilson was indorsed unanimously.

NOMINATION OF MEAGHER VOID

COURT OF APPEALS SO RULES IN DISSOLVING INJUNCTION OF FRANKLIN COURT.

OPINION WRITTEN BY MILLER

When Assembly is Not in Session Governor Must Issue Writ Ere Vacancy Can Be Filled.

(Special Frankfort Correspondence.)
Frankfort, Ky.—Although George G. Speer forfeited his seat in the Senate automatically when he qualified as State Banking Commissioner, the nomination by the Twentieth Senatorial District Democratic Committee of M. J. Meagher to succeed him was void. Chief Justice Miller, of the Court of Appeals, dissolving an injunction granted Mr. Meagher in the Franklin Circuit Court, restraining the committee from meeting again, rescinding his nomination and naming another candidate.

The reason was that when a vacancy occurs in either House of the General Assembly, if it is not in session, the Governor must issue a writ of election before the vacancy can be filled. Unless there is a special session there will be no occasion for filling the vacancy until November, 1917, just prior to the regular 1918 session. If one is held, the court said the Governor will have plenty of time for issuing the writ, as it must be done only eight days before the date set for the election. Judges Clarke, Thomas and Carroll heard the case with Chief Justice Miller and the opinion was ordered printed.

Border Dwellers Hit.

Border dwellers, who sell whiskey to Kentuckians on the Tennessee side of the line, and to Tennesseans on the Kentucky side, will not escape punishment for violating the local option laws by this rule, according to an opinion of the court of appeals, written by Judge Thomas, reversing the Clinton circuit court in the case of Allen Huddleston, fined $60 and sentenced to 20 days in jail. Huddleston resides within six feet of the Tennessee line and possesses a government retail license, but said he never used the capital grounds, where Gov. Stanley will plant a tree. School children of Frankfort will participate in the exercises.

Arbor Day November 10.
November 10 has been designated as Arbor day in Kentucky. Gov. Stanley will issue a proclamation calling for its general observance and, following the proclamation, State Superintendent V. O. Gilbert will send out programs for its observance by the schools. State Forester J. E. Barton is planning observance of the day on the capital grounds, where Gov. Stanley will plant a tree. School children of Frankfort will participate in the exercises.

Governor Names Trustees.

Gov. Stanley appointed to the board of trustees of the Girls' Reform School provisions for the organization of which without an appropriation were made by the late General Assembly: Mrs. Henry Bishop, of Louisville, promoter of the project, and Mrs. William Cromwell, of Frankfort, four years; Mrs. A. M. Harrison, of Lexington, and Col. W. J. Abrams, of Louisville, three years, and J. R. Rash, of Henderson, two years.

Death Sentence Affirmed.

James Heffley-Klug, convicted and sentenced to death in the Jefferson circuit court for killing Adam Oster in May, 1915, will go to the electric chair unless his sentence is commuted by Governor Stanley. The court of appeals in an opinion by Judge Carroll, affirming the death sentence, said "the murder was without provocation and exceptionally cruel."

New Road Drag.

The State Road Department has designed a road drag which Commissioner Rodman Wiley considers superior to the "split log drag." He is sending out specifications to all the counties, with recommendations that they be used on dirt and gravel roads. Sixteen applicants for county road engineers were taking an examination before the commissioner.

Take Prisoners to Bell.

Warden T. M. Phythian, Deputy George Ireland and Capt. Scott arrived in Bell county from the reformatory with six more prisoners to work on the roads. Col. Phythian upon his leaving the camp, took two other prisoners back with him. Deputy Warden Ireland will relieve Deputy Warden Johns, who has been in charge of the road gang in Bell for the last month.

Jury Fails To Agree.

The jury in the Franklin Circuit Court disagreed in the case of Virgil Lucas, indicted on a charge of killing William Riley, his companion, on the Georgetown pike last July. The jury stood nine for conviction and three for acquittal, and was discharged.

Special Judge Named.

Judge A. T. Patrick has been designated to preside over the Pike Circuit Court in several cases, set for immediate trial.

Penalty Affirmed.

A fine of $100 and 40 days' jail sentence given Tandy Johnson for having liquor in his possession for purposes of sale in Perry county were affirmed by the court of appeals in an opinion by Commissioner Clay.

New Aides-de-Camp.

Gov. Stanley appointed F. Logan Thompson, of Mt. Vernon; George Gatewood Hamilton, of Mt. Sterling; and John Bell, of Shepherdsville, aides-de-camp on the staff, with the rank of colonel.

Only Few More Filing Days.

The time for candidates to file their certificates of nomination with the Secretary of State James P. Lewis is about ended. They must be filed thirty days before the election. Republican and Progressive candidates for presidential electors have filed. Others are Geo. P. Thomas, Republican, First Congressional district; W. T. Fowler, Republican, Second district; W. C. Owens, Republican, Fifth district; L. T. Neat, Republican, Eighth district; W. J. Fields, Democrat, and A. J. Pennington, Republican, Ninth district; S. B. Dishman, Democrat, and Caleb Powers, Republican, Eleventh district; J. M. Robertson, Democrat, and F. D. Sampson, Republican, Seventh appellate district; Charles H. Ditch, Democrat, for circuit judge, Third district; M. J. Meagher, Democrat, Twentieth Senatorial district.

Must Open Turnpike.

Reversing the Spencer Circuit Court in the case of J. W. Husband et al. against Richard Cotton, the court of appeals, in an opinion by Chief Justice Miller, held that Cotton should be restrained from obstructing the Little Mount and Yarn Run turnpike. Cotton and the others had given land for the road, which was incorporated, and he was constructing the pike. The company refused to accept his work as completed and he placed an obstruction in the road, running over his land, compelling other residents to detour. An injunction was refused the other patrons of the road, but the court of appeals directed the relief to be granted.

Trap Shooting Planned.

A big trap-shooting event has been arranged for Frankfort to take place next week by J. Q. Ward, executive agent of the state game and fish commission. Mr. and Mrs. Ad Popperwein, two of the best rifle and pistol shots in the country, will participate. Mr. Popperwein has the record of breaking with a rifle 961 out of 1,000 two-inch blocks, thrown up into the air. Mr. Ward, accompanied by C. E. Brewster, game warden of Pennsylvania, was in Central City and met the deputy warden of Southwestern Kentucky.

Arbor Day November 10.

November 10 has been designated as Arbor day in Kentucky. Gov. Stanley will issue a proclamation calling for its general observance and, following the proclamation, State Superintendent V. O. ## TO TAKE CARE OF SMALL FARMERS

FARM LOAN BANK SHOULD BE PLACED IN LOUISVILLE, DECLARE KENTUCKIANS.

MANY REASONS FOR CLAIM

Thousands of Acres of Fruit Lands Would Benefit—Tobacco Crop Would Increase.

Western Newspaper Union News Service. Louisville, Ky.—Members of the Federal Farm Loan Board, now making a tour and conducting hearings for the purpose of deciding upon a location for one of the twelve branch farm loan banks to be established under provisions of the new rural credits act, stopped over in Louisville for a day. Board members, including Wm. G. McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury; Herbert Quick, Captain W. S. A. Smith and Charles E. Lobdell constituted the board.

Presenting Louisville's claims for one of the branch banks were Peter Lee Atherton, Congressman Swager Sherley and R. A. McDowell, of Louisville; Dr. Fred Mutchler, of Lexington, and Prof. M. O. Hughes, of Bowling Green. The principal argument used by the speakers was that of Louisville's "central location in a district embodying Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee makes it the logical location for one of the banks."

Congressman Sherley gave the board assurance that the board might expect the fullest co-operation from Kentucky people generally in assisting the bank in performing its mission. Other speakers pointed out that 87,000 of Kentucky's 259,000 farms are tenanted and of the total given 135,000 farms are mortgaged, and that many thousands of acres of valuable fruit lands in certain sections of the state are lying idle. Mr. McAdoo announced that the tobacco output of the state could be enlarged by long-time loans, such as those proposed by the farm loan bank system.

One of the statements made at the hearing was that there are no farmers' loan associations in the entire state. This testimony was given by Julian Whit Potter, Bowling Green banker, who asserted that the small farmer is on the outside of the financial inclosure by reason of the fact that the insurance companies prefer only large loans.

I. &amp; C. "SAFETY FIRST" CAMPAIGN

To Reduce the Number of Accidents at Grade Crossings.

Paducah, Ky.—The Illinois Central Railroad Co. has inaugurated a "safety first" campaign for its grade crossings in Paducah and McCracken county and asks the public to co-operate with division officials in preventing accidents. In the past few years a number of fatal accidents have occurred at such crossings. As an experiment a watchman was stationed at the Benton road crossing and from 8:30 a. m. until 5 p. m. 208 vehicles passed over it, eighty-four of which passed without looking to ascertain if a train was in sight, the watchman reported.

KENTUCKIANS WILL BUY LAND.

Paducah, Ky.—A tract of 960 acres of land near Phoenix, Ariz., has been purchased by R. E. Grace, of Harlow, Ky.; C. H. Bradley and J. L. Barnett, of Murray, Ky.; S. E. Jordan, of the Phoenix Trust Co., of Phoenix, Ariz.; George W. Dixon, of Grand Rivers, Ky.; E. L. Sales, of La Center, Ky.; G. D. Johnson, of Natchez, Miss., and Thornton & Lassiter, a real estate firm of Louisville, Ky., and will be developed. The land cost $225,000 and will be irrigated.

WEEKS' BURIAL AT PADUCAH.

Paducah, Ky.—The body of W. E. Weeks, an officer of the United States cruiser Memphis, which was wrecked on the shore of Santo Domingo on August 29, was brought to Paducah and interred in Oak Grove cemetery. He and other members of the crew were in a launch at the time of the disaster and he was so badly injured that he died September 5.

CONTRACT FOR LEVEE IS LET.

Hickman, Ky.—The contract for a levee to protect West Hickman was let to the Dixie Construction Co., of Nashville. Work will be started at once. The levee will extend from the Reelfoot levee below town to water tank on the N. C. & St. L. railroad, where it will cut across to the hill, thus leaving out the business section.

STUDYING SCIENTIFIC FARMING.

Georgetown, Ky.—County Agricultural Agent H. A. Pickett is giving a practical demonstration to the people of Scott county of the great advantages of scientific knowledge of the farm and its products. He is now negotiating with a big corporation to supply it with 1,000 capons, which he expects to have each community in the county furnish with one super-cussherd pig in the county being raised by members of the boys' clubs.

LOSES 1 OF 1,300 FRUIT TREES.

Dunville, Ky.—G. W. Jett, of Parksville, who purchased 1,300 fruit trees last spring, has lost but one tree out of that excessive number. These trees were transplanted the first week in May. Set deep, well watered and tamped solid, except about three inches on top, left loose which serves as a mulch. His orchard consists of apples, peaches, pears, plums, apricots, cherries and quinces. Many varieties of each and all high grade fruit.

ANNUAL CONFERENCE HELD

Three Hundred Workers of the M. E. Church, South, Assembled.

Franklin, Ky.—The seventy-first annual session of the conference of the M. E. Church South convened in Franklin with about 300 ministers and delegates in attendance. Bishop W. H. Murray, of Jackson, Miss., presided. Dr. H. A. Miller, of Broadway, Louisville, former secretary of the conference, was unanimously elected secretary this year. His assistant secretaries are Rev. S. E. Lewis, Drakeboro; H. R. Short, Louisville; Joseph Chanler, Campbellsville, and L. K. May, of Calhoun.

The addresses of welcome were delivered by L. B. Finn and Mayor W. H. Bryan. The response was by Bishop Murray. Among the distinguished visitors who were presented to the conference were Drs. H. N. Dubose, book editor of the M. E. Review; Stonewall Edison, I. S. Campbell, representative of the publishing house, and John R. Stuart, representative of the superannuated ministers, all of Nashville.

FORM CO-OPERATIVE BEEF CLUB.

Bowling Green, Ky.—Twelve prominent farmers and stock raisers of Clayport vicinity, this county, have organized an organization to be known as the Clayport Beef Club, the purpose of which is to furnish each member with fresh meat. One of the members is to furnish a steer every Monday for club members' use during the week. This is the first club of its kind ever organized in Warren county.

KENTUCKY BREVITIES

Carlisle, Ky.—Diphtheria and scarlet fever are reported prevalent in this city and county. Nine cases are now reported and under quarantine.

Bowling Green, Ky.—At a meeting of the board of directors of the Warren County Fair Association it was reported that this year $1,960.84 was cleared.

Mayfield, Ky.—A few loads of tobacco have been hauled to the city and purchases are being made by the local dealers, paying prices that prevailed at the close of the past season.

Carlisle, Ky.—The large dry goods business of R. C. Oldham & Co., in this city, was sold by T. B. Rodman, receiver, to O. H. Brayfield, formerly of Carlisle, and James Patton, of Shawhan.

Hopkinsville, Ky.—With $10,000 capital stock the Hopkinsville Golf and Country Club has been incorporated. Membership is limited to 100. Grounds have been secured near the city and an attractive clubhouse will be erected.

Burkesville, Ky.—Work on the new Christian church building at this place is well under way, and the contractors expect to have it completed and ready for occupancy by November 1. The new Christian church, which is located on the site of the old one, when finished will cost over $10,000.

Carlisle, Ky.—The Rev. Dr. J. W. Crates, who has been appointed by the conference as pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, of Carlisle, arrived in this city and preached his first sermon last Sunday. For four years he has been located at Carrollton.

Burkesville, Ky.—The official count of the local option election, held in Cumberland county September 23, shows the "dry" majority to be 884. This is the first local option election ever held within the borders of Cumberland county and will result in the closing out of four small distilleries and a half dozen "road houses."

Hazard, Ky.—Owing to a difference arising between the miners and the operators at the Hazard Coal Company's plant the men came out of the mine on a strike and work was closed down. The difficulty arose over a check weighman whom the men had elected. The company refused to allow him on the tipple, it is alleged, and the men quit on this account.

Morehead, Ky.—Extensive drilling for oil will begin at an early date in the southeastern section of Rowan county. The Pette & Pierce Oil Company, of Louisville, has leased 8,000 acres of land from Senator S. M. Bradley, of this city.

Vine Grove, Ky.—The Vine Grove postoffice has been raised to an office of the third class with the salary fixed at $1,100. It is the information received by Postmaster T. B. Nall from the department at Washington that Saturday.

It Brings Relief to Boy Standing His Watch Deep in Mud.

Once upon a time, only a few months after this terrible world war had begun, Private Bailey, a soldier in the ranks had stood for days in the trenches "somewhere in France." The cold rains soaked him to the skin; the mud was deep. He had no rest. Weary and aching with rheumatism, he recalled the faith his mother had in Sloan's Liniment. He asked for it in his next letter home. A large bottle was immediately sent him and a few applications killed the pain. Once more he was able to stand the severe exposure. He shared this wonderful muscle-soother with his comrades, and they all agreed that it was the greatest "reinforcement" that had ever come to their rescue. At your druggist, 25c, 50c and $1.00 a bottle.

KILLS PAIN

To Exterminate the Sparrows.

The League of American Sportsmen, whose object is the preservation of birds and wild animals, is preparing to issue a proclamation declaring war on the English sparrow and setting aside a week for waging it, possibly in April or May of next year. The governors of every state will be asked to aid in the work. Instructions as to the plan of the campaign will be sent to the mayors of all cities, heads of school systems, college presidents, principals of preparatory schools and to heads of the boy scouts in each state. Four principal methods will be recommended: Tearing down the nests, trapping the birds, shooting them under police supervision and under licence issued by the police authorities, and in cities where water pressure is available turning the hose on the birds at night after they have gone to roost.

Green Feed in Winter.

Why don't your hens lay when eggs are high? They do not get the chemical ingredients that the grasses and green feed supply in season. B. A. Thomas' Poultry Remedy supplies these very ingredients only in a more concentrated form. We sell it and guarantee you to get eggs.—Sexton Bros.

License Required.

Princeton, Ky., Sept. 20.—Non-resident horse jockeys have been put to considerable disadvantage here since the passage of an ordinance by the city council requiring horse traders who do not reside in Caldwell county to pay a daily license fee of $10.

The third Monday in each month is known as county court day and a large number of horse traders from adjoining counties assemble here on that day and trade and retrade. Last Monday was the first third Monday since the city council put a license on non-resident horse jockeys, and many of them from adjoining counties, unaware of the passage of the ordinance, came here for the purpose of trading horses. They were much chagrined upon being informed that they would be required to pay a license before they could legally trade horses. However, none of the traders obtained a license, but it seemed that the ordinance was obeyed, as no arrests were made for any violation.

The ordinance provides for a fine of $10 for violations and each horse trade constitutes a separate offense.

A fine casket can be bought at the Murray Furniture & Undertaking Co. for little money. See them.

Duty to Report Diseases.

The following is an extract from Section 2060, General Statutes of Kentucky, pertaining to health of cities and counties: "Any physician or head of a family who shall fail or refuse to report to the local board of health cases of cholera, smallpox, yellow fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria and other epidemic and communicable diseases as provided for in Section 2025 of this act, shall be fined not less than five dollars for each day he neglects or refuses to report."

Why Not Have Perfect Lenses?

Improvement and betterment in Glasses are just as frequent as in anything else.

Until a few years ago, all lenses were flat—because no one had thought of a better way to make them.

To day nearly 50 per cent of lenses fitted are TORIC lenses, curved to follow the shape of the eye ball.

TORICS give a perfect range of vision from every angle—the edges do not confuse you when looking from the corner of the eye.

Let us demonstrate the many advantages of TORICS made by us. We correct all forms of eye strain.
