Off To Ecuador!

The News photographer was on hand Sunday afternoon when 13 local travellers took off from the Illinois Central Railroad on the first lap of a long journey to Ecuador. Here are some candid shots!

David Forrest gives Harry Williams a hand with the special Banana Festival tie that all the men will wear while on the trip.

Gid Willingham, (Mrs. Willingham is partially in view) poses for Sonny Puckett's camera just as the train was getting ready to move. That's Mrs. Don Sensing enjoying the leaving-taking.

Mildred Freeman and Louise Killebrew wave goodbye just as the train started moving.

Mrs. Lillian Cooke Cate and Mrs. Ted Clark stroll back to the station after the "goodwill ambassadors" had gone on their merry way.

Jottings
From

Jo's Notebook

Monday, April 11

By the time you read this column I hope that all 30 of us will be in South America safe and sound, doing the job we set out to do, while enjoying ourselves at the same time.

All of the Fulton group departing for Ecuador except the three Westphelings (Paul, Mary Jo and yours truly) left Sunday afternoon by train. Sadie Kirkland of Union City and the three of us left Memphis, via Delta Airlines at 5:45 p. m. on Tuesday. Rushing to get one paper out on a shortened schedule is bad enough, without trying to get two of them put together. While this week's issue is fairly under control as we leave, the one for next week must start from scratch.

I hope that all of you will help! Annabelle Edwards, T. C. Taylor, Burnis Killebrew, Joe Weeks, Gordon Baird and Marti Eakin will have no trouble at all if you supply them with all your local news items and give them your advertising messages early and in plentiful supply.

There have been so many times while planning this trip that I said to myself, "why are we doing this? Why are we going to Ecuador, a banana-producing country, for a foreign trip, when we could just as well have selected Nassau, the Grand Bahamas, or even Europe as we have hoped so long to do?"

I think the question was answered Sunday afternoon when we said farewell to the first group of travelers going to Ecuador to return the visit those wonderful people paid to us last Fall.

By and large, most of the people in the twin cities feel that we have a vital role to play in the peace and safety of this troubled world. Going to South America to try to make friendships and to understand our Latin-American friends may seem like the long way to peace, but nevertheless it is a way... and that's more than many people are travelling!

As president of the Banana Festival I am deeply grateful to the response from individuals, organizations and our local municipalities to visit Ecuador to make more friends and make some arrangements for our festival program this Fall. It was not easy for many business people to get away from their homes and their firms to make the trip, but they made the effort just the same. The community and the Festival will surely benefit from the visits. I hope you will make the opportunity to say "thank you" to them, when they return.

This is the second time in the nineteen years we have been in Fulton that Paul and I have been away together on press day. The first time was in 1960 when the four Westphelings were in three different directions. Mary Jo and I were in California, where I was

Desegregate Completely Or Lose Federal Aid, Area School Districts Are Warned

A meeting has been set for April 29 in Louisville to discuss the integration plans of the 16 Kentucky School districts who may lose Federal aid next fall unless they devise better plans for racial desegregation, the News learned today.

Eleven of the school districts so warned are in far western Kentucky and include the Fulton Independent School district, the Fulton County Schools and the Hickman Schools.

KEA Supported Bill Is Vetoed By Breathitt

The Kentucky Education Association (KEA) has expressed disappointment over Governor Edward T. Breathitt's veto of a bill allowing teachers to use three days of their accumulated sick leave for personal hardship reasons.

"This bill, which was part of the KEA legislative program mandated by our delegate assembly, was passed overwhelmingly by both the House and Senate," Dr. J. M. Dodson, KEA executive secretary, pointed out. The measure was known as Senate Bill 69.

Dodson said KEA worked diligently for the bill and that it never would have passed without KEA efforts.

He took issue with newspaper reports that quoted the Governor as saying KEA officials had recommended the bill be vetoed.

"It should be made clear," Dodson said, "that KEA officials could never recommend vetoing legislation that our delegate assembly had instructed us to seek."

Lt. Williamson Is Commissioned In Air Force

Panama City, Fla. - Second Lieutenant Gary E. Williamson, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Williamson of 1107 E. Walnut St., Fulton, Ky., has received a regular commission in the U. S. Air Force at Tyndall AFB, Fla.

Lieutenant Williamson previously held a USAF reserve commission as an Officer Training Graduate. He was named for regular status on the basis of his duty performance, educational background and potential as an Air Force officer.

He is serving as a finance officer at Tyndall with the Air Defense command which provides aerospace defense against hostile aircraft and missiles.

The lieutenant is a graduate of Fulton High School. He received his B. A. degree from the University of Kentucky at Lexington, where he is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Lieutenant Williamson's wife, Ann, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Tate of Hunter Road, Lexington.

Local Ham Talks To Jo Westpheling

Local amateur radio operator Wick Smith, with the help of amateur radio station K4JGU in Hollywood, Fla., whose handle is Mildred, and with the cooperation of amateur radio station HC1QM in Quito, Ecuador, whose handle is Andy, talked with Jo Westpheling at the Hotel Quito about noon today, Thursday.

Mrs. Westpheling said everyone arrived in good shape and that the carpet has been rolled out for them. She said the country is beautiful and that the group is making a trip to the Capitol this afternoon. Her main comment was, "I feel so sorry for all who could not make the trip."

Enoch Campbell talked for a few minutes with his wife, Sara. Wick advised the News that it was a great thrill for him to be able to talk with Jo and Enoch, away off in Ecuador.

Senator Cooper Joins Move For Student Prayers

Senator John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky has joined in a move to permit "the voluntary participation by students or others in prayer" in schools or other public buildings.

The proposal was introduced by Senator Dirksen of Illinois, the Minority Leader.

Senator Cooper said, "The guarantees of the First Amendment that the 'Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof,' are important, and I respect the decisions of the Supreme Court interpreting the First Amendment. But I see nothing wrong with permitting voluntary prayers, which are not prescribed in form or content by State authorities."

"I do not believe the people of the country want to see every expression of faith prohibited in their schools," he said.

Senator Cooper has also received testimony by the Corps of Engineers on all water projects, dams and reservoirs in Kentucky—including flood protection projects in the Big Sandy, Upper Kentucky and Upper Cumberland-river basins, and navigation projects on the Ohio River.

Thieves Take Liberty's Big Opening Serious

Thieves climaxed a four-day grand opening Sunday by stealing $27,000 from the new Liberty Supermarket at Martin.

Police said the safe at the big new store was opened by using the combination, leading them to believe professional safecrackers were involved.

Charles Hide, store manager, said the theft occurred during the 10-hour period after the store was closed early Sunday and he returned before noon.

Officers said the burglars gained entrance by cutting a hole through the roof, and made their getaway through a large loading door at the rear.

The market had burned to the ground four months ago and had just been rebuilt. About half of the money taken was in checks, Mr. Hide stated.

action has not been made clear in the case of his school district—the Paducah Independent School District.

The subject of school desegregation is expected to come up at this week's state convention of the Kentucky Education Association (KEA).

The KEA delegate assembly, a 600-member legislative body that meets tomorrow night in Louisville, probably will be asked to approve a resolution on faculty and student desegregation.

The U. S. Office of Education is responsible under the federal civil rights law for seeing that local schools receiving federal funds do not practice segregation.

Last year Kentucky school districts could meet the requirements either by filing statements of compliance with federal desegregation policy or by filing specific plans of desegregation.

Freedom-of-choice attendance plans were all right then, but now, under new federal guidelines, they are acceptable only as a first step toward eliminating racial bias in schools and are "no longer adequate" to accomplish the purposes of the civil rights act, Seelye said.

Conferences are scheduled this month between representatives of 15 of the districts and Lawrence W. Knowles, a University of Louisville professor and consultant to the U. S. Office of Education.

John H. Bruce, superintendent of the 16th affected district, Simpson County, has declined to arrange a conference, a reliable source said.

SPRING CONFERENCE

The American Legion Auxiliary Spring conference of the First District, Department of Kentucky, will be held in the American Legion building at 111 East Carlisle Street in Marion, Kentucky, Sunday, April 24. Registration starts at 12:30 Noon, with luncheon at 1:00. Any member of the Fulton Auxiliary who can attend should make reservation with Mrs. Herman-Sams, Sr., by Saturday, April 16.

PROCLAMATION

To All To Whom These Presents Shall Come:

WHEREAS, knowledge is increasing at a fantastic rate; and

WHEREAS, self education is of primary importance if Fulton County citizens are to keep abreast of the fast changing and increasingly competitive times; and

WHEREAS, all citizens of the County, no matter where they live, need library and bookmobile service of high quality; and

WHEREAS, adequate and modern library service will help the county to attract new industry and to keep young citizens in the county;

NOW, THEREFORE, WE, JOHN E. CRUCE, RO GARDNER, GILBERT DeMYER, and REX RUDDLE, do hereby proclaim April 17-23, 1966, as in Fulton County, and call upon the citizens of the county "to join with Library Board Members and other local and county officials in working for better library service for all."

Done in the County of Fulton this 19th day of April in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred sixty-six.

Henry Ward, On Threshold Of Gubernatorial Race, Seeks Grass Roots Support Against 'King-Makers'

Well, bully for Henry Ward!

Here is a political pro, a graduate summa cum laude from the hazardous and rough and tumble school of Kentucky politics on the threshold of becoming the major Democratic candidate for Governor next year, who has the courage to let people know early that it's high time that the Democratic party in Kentucky be made up of people, for people and by people.

Speaking at La Grange, Kentucky recently, Ward severely criticized the "so-called king-makers and the interests which seek to control government because of purely personal motives."

Ward's remarks were as refreshing as the cool breezes that blow in from the Caribbean in Spring-time, and just about as welcome to the thousands upon thousands of rank and file Democratic voters who must pay homage to some well-heeled king-makers, whether they like it or not.

Ward said, however, "that a crusade of this character would be extremely difficult to develop and very costly to prosecute."

He said the "greatest curse of the advancement of Kentucky over many years has been the brand of politics as usual played in our state."

Ward said "some partisan or factional politicians need to be shocked by a revolution of the voters against being taken for granted and against the idea that the interest of the political party or some faction ought to be placed against the interest of the whole of Kentucky."

Henry Ward is a superb administrator; a magnificent "cut-red-tape" expert; and an imaginative and dedicated public servant. But he's terribly uninformed about the difficulty to develop and the costliness to prosecute the revolt against this miserable caste system in Kentucky's Democratic political circles.

The effort would be as simple as one and two if grass roots voters could sincerely believe that the man who promises to break up this oligarchy would do so, if he is elected. Unfortunately, the promises made on the campaign hustlings are soon forgotten when the "governor collectors" have access to the very, very few open doors to the Governor's office and the Governor's residence, after the inaugural oath is recited.

Nobody seems to know why good and sincere governors succumb to the pressure tactics of the likes of the king-makers. Almost, nearly everybody knows that based on the ability to pay and the rewards received a high-way maintenance worker contributes equally as much to a campaign as the king-makers. And surely there are precinct workers who can deliver ten times more votes than any of the Palace guard members can, individually and collectively.

But then as has gits, and that's the way the system crumbles!

Nobody knows better than a grass roots politician the frustration, the futility, the hatred, the bitterness that comes after working in a hard fought campaign, only to be shunned aside while the "governor collectors" reap the rewards of political influence.

There are many issues that will crop up in the 1967 gubernatorial campaign in Kentucky. But if Henry Ward is the candidate, and he can convince the people that Kentucky government is a democracy and not a collector's item, he just might well win in a landslide.

But campaigns cost money . . . and that's where you hear the buzzing.

Cancer Crusade Workers Ask Your Help In The Campaign To Continue Fighting This Dread Disease

American Cancer Society Crusade Chairman Mrs. Charles Wade Andrews and Co-Chairman Mrs. Bill Fossett made a special and urgent appeal for more volunteers for its 1966 Crusade.

They estimated that to meet the requirements which could result in helping to save the lives of a great many more men, women and children—to conduct a successful educational and fund-raising program in Fulton, Ky.—a minimum of 100 volunteers will be needed.

"Already, we have made considerable progress in enlisting volunteers in this difficult effort to conquer cancer," Mrs. Andrews said, "but we need more if we are to do the job we have cut out for ourselves and the people of our community."

"Many jobs need to be done right now: training of new volunteers for the 'Tell Your Neighbor' cancer facts program; records need to be kept; every house in the community must be covered after the Crusade begins on April 1st. But we need more volunteers if we are to save more lives now; strengthen our education program, enlarge our research efforts and expand service to patients.

"There would be no need for my jobs as Chairman if we did not have a vigorously fighting army of volunteers. Volunteers are the dedicated workers who often make the difference between success and failure in the Society's struggle to save lives from cancer."

Last year the Society enrolled 90 volunteers in Fulton. This year it needs many more.

The Society's immediate program is based on the fact that cancers of the uterus, colon and rectum, breast, oral cavity, lung and skin account for over 60 per cent of all cancer cases diagnosed and almost 48 per cent of all cancer deaths.

"The present cure rate," the Chairman said, "could be changed radically by application of present medical knowledge in detection and treatment in these six sites. That knowledge could save thousands more lives in the United States and could help prevent the development of cancer in hundreds more."

He said the Society would concentrate on these six sites of cancer where much can be done now; but will not overlook other sites.

People willing to serve as volunteers in the 1966 Crusade should contact Mrs. Charles Wade Andrews 472-3396 or Mrs. Bill Fossett 472-1369

POET'S CORNER

DON'T IGNORE FRIENDS!

Around the corner I have a friend,
In this great city that has no end;
Yet days go by, and weeks rush on,
And before I know it a year is gone.
And I never see my friend's face,
For life is a swift and terrible race.
He knows I like him just as well
As in the days when I rang his bell
And he rang mine. We were younger then,
And now we are busy, tired men;
Tired with playing a foolish game,
Tired with trying to make a name.
"Tomorrow," I say, "I will call on Jim,
Just to show that I'm thinking of him."
But tomorrow comes and tomorrow goes
And the distance between us grows and grows,
Around the corner, yet miles away.
"Here's a telegram, sir,"
"Jim died today"
And that's what we get, and deserve, in the end:
Around the corner, a vanished friend.

"AN UNCERTAIN SOUND"

by Dr. N. Burnett Magruder
"For if the trumpet give an uncertain sound, who shall prepare himself for the battle?"

(I Corinthians 14:8)

One of the most evil devices which Communists use against free Americans is "brainwashing." What is brainwashing? Very simply, it is a process by which the individual is reduced to a state of doubt, confusion and uncertainty so as to be incapable of decisive, determined action.

The classic example of brainwashing is a series of experiments which were conducted by the Russian scientist, Pavlov, in which a dog was reduced to a helpless state of anxiety by a series of conflicting signals. In one case, he was given a high pitch and with it he got food. When he was given a low pitch, he received no food. As the signals were brought closer together, the dog collapsed in pathetic confusion.

This is the philosophy of "an uncertain sound" carried to its final extreme. Against such things, the Lord and the Apostles have warned us because they are really devices of Satan and instruments of evil.

Last week, on March 21st, the leading editorial of BARRON'S NATIONAL BUSINESS AND FINANCIAL WEEKLY carried a story which shows very clearly the danger of an "uncertain sound."

The main concern of this editorial is to analyze the HAVANA MANIFESTO which is a master plan drawn up by the Communists from around the world in their now-famous Conference of last January 3-10 in Havana, Cuba. This Manifesto, backed by the Russian Communists and the Chinese Communists, calls for "the use of every form of struggle necessary, including armed battle," to subvert the governments in the Western Hemisphere and to accelerate guerrilla warfare. This is clearly a declaration of war by a new Communist Internationale against the United States and all other governments in this Hemisphere. This Manifesto, like the Communist Manifesto of 1848, should be a clarion call and a sound of the trumpet to alert, awaken and stir the American people into awareness and action of the determined nature of the Communist conspiracy to isolate and overthrow the United States government in the climactic stage of world revolution.

But what do we find? First of all, there is no awareness in the country that the Conference ever took place. As the BARRON'S article points out, "The Havana Conference received little or no coverage in the major U. S. newspapers," despite the fact that the press of Europe and Latin America followed the Conference very closely. Secondly, the most prominent speaker in the Havana Conference was the leader of a thirty-four man delegation from the Kremlin named Sharaf R. Rashidov. Here is what he said: "The Soviet delegation came to this conference to promote in every conceivable way the unity of anti-imperialist forces of the three continents, so as to

Library Corner

by Miss Jessie Orgain

Throughout the nation the week of April 17-23 is being observed as NATIONAL LIBRARY WEEK. The theme for this year is "KEEP GROWING - READ". Though actually no one week of the year is sufficient for demonstrating the importance of books and libraries to the growth and prosperity of the nation, special emphasis is to be placed at this time on some of the areas of greatest need. There is a growing need for trained librarians (approximately 10 jobs were available for each librarian receiving a degree in Library Science last year). Continued improvement needs to be pressed for in the total range of libraries—public, school, college, state, and special. Locally there is a need to reach more and more of the people of the county, and for the enthusiasm that many have expressed about the library, to become a more and more contagious interest in making reading accessible to all.

There is at present a very practical way in which everyone can help to bring about better library services in Fulton County, and at the same time help on a national plane. The LIBRARY SERVICES ACT, on which legislation is now pending in Washington, if passed, will make a tremendous difference in the amount of financial help that can be secured for libraries in Kentucky. The more letters and postal cards that the congressmen receive showing interest in the bill, the more chance there will be to get it passed. Information on the status of the bill and addresses of the congressmen may be found in the library, along with some postal cards for your use. Everyone can do his bit by making his wishes known to these men.

Sunday, April 17, 2 p. m. - 5 p. m.
OPEN HOUSE in the library. Woman's Club will be host for this occasion.

Monday, April 18, 3 p. m. - 5 p. m.
HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS are especially invited. Recruitment material for Librarianship and for other careers will be featured.

Tuesday, April 19, 2 p. m. - 5 p. m.
ELEMENTARY SCHOOL age will be special guests. A showing of films will be featured at this time.

Tuesday, April 19, 8 p. m. - 9 p. m.
ADULTS will be special guests. An exhibit of local artists, works will be exhibited along with other features of interest to this group.

Thursday, April 21, 10 a. m. - 10:30 a. m.
Story hour for pre-school children.

Friday, April 22, All Day.
The bookmobile will be downtown on Lake Street. Everyone is invited to come and see inside the bookmobile, and to check out books. New borrowers for the library will be registered for library cards during the day.

ALL ARE WELCOME! COME AND HELP MAKE THIS A RED LETTER WEEK IN THE LIBRARY!

If We Can't Spell Enemy, Can We End The War?

The editorial crisis over the spelling of the place where we are at war has too long endured. Many of the columnists, The New York Times, and Webster's insist so far on "Vietnam." The wire services say "Viet Nam." The State Department evidently hoists a dash in between: "Viet-Nam."

Since "Viet" is the name of the people and "Nam" simply means "South," the phrase is said to mean "Southern country of the Viet" (North and South Vietnamese). And two words look preferable.

In any case the problems of editing, particularly in an age of electronic journalism, are endless and needless, really. We certainly are inclined to agree with Barbara Richards of West Richfield, Ohio, who wrote to Newsweek recently: "How can we expect to approach the bargaining table on major issues in the war when we cannot decide how to spell the name of the country involved?"

FROM THE FILES:

Turning Back The Clock--

April 12, 1946

Students of the Fulton High School were dismissed during the early part of this week, while repairs were being made after the hail storm which struck this community Sunday. Mr. Holland, superintendent, stated that 392 windows were broken in the various school buildings of Fulton.

A torrent of hail, accompanied by wind struck Fulton and surrounding territory Sunday afternoon, continuing for about 30 minutes and causing untold damage to property, crops, gardens and orchards. It is estimated that property damage in Fulton and South Fulton alone will run between $200,000 and $300,000. The most serious damage was to roofs and windows.

Hugh Holliday, manager of the Fulton baseball club, is expected to arrive here about April 19, and spring training will begin April 20. Manager Holliday has been in Henderson, Texas for about three weeks, working out with the Memphis Chicks and selecting players.

G. H. Dallas Produce Company, which has been located on Mears Street for many years, has moved to Plain Street in the building formerly occupied by Legg Poultry House.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Bruce have taken over the Fulton Hotel, located across the street from the Orpheum Theater, and have thoroughly renovated, redecorated and refurnished this hostelry. The new hotel is modern, clean and comfortably arranged and the new proprietors are to be complimented upon the improvements they have made.

Fulton, Route Three: If you don't want your frogs killed, put a lock and key on your pond banks, as Dean Williams and W. A. Crittenden were death and destruction last week for 20 nice ones. Ask us to dine? No, siree.

From Latham: Spencer Travis of Dresden came to Latham last Saturday and chose as his bride Miss Virginia Reed, the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reed. She has been working at the factory at Fulton. They will make their home in Dresden.

Dale Cummings and Robbie June Carney, representing the 6th and 7th winners of the sectional meet of spellers at Dresden last Friday were defeated in the finals. Congratulations to the winners.

Letter From Washington

by
Mrs. John Sherman Cooper

We spent last weekend with Ambassador and Mrs. Averill Harriman at their heavenly house on the sea in Hobe Sound, Florida. This is the first time we have been there since 1957. Even though the day we arrived was colder than Washington, the day we left was sunny and warm, and John did get a tan.

Back to Washington Monday at noon. John went directly to the luncheon Secretary of State and Mrs. Rusk gave for the Prime Minister of India at the State Department, while I sped to the hairdresser to get the salt water out of my hair before having the REA ladies for tea that afternoon. There was a big Kentucky delegation this year, and it was a delight to see so many friends again. I had gotten the garden all set for their arrival, but, like Florida, it was too cold to spend much time out of doors.

As I am sitting here in the library writing this letter, I am looking at a beautiful bouquet of mixed flowers that came from the White House dinner table. Mrs. Johnson sent it to me following the state dinner President and Mrs. Johnson gave in honor of India's first woman chief of state that same Monday night. We have known Mrs. Gandhi for many years.

She has always been the Indian symbol of womanhood, compared to the legendary Sita, with her complete devotion and dedication to her country and her father, the late Prime Minister Nehru. Although her entire life has been a preparation for the great role she now fills, this was the first time that she stood alone in the United States, a slight, dignified figure in her shimmering sari, looking very tiny next to President and Mrs. Johnson as they received the 140 dinner guests.

After dinner and the President's toast, Mrs. Gandhi, looking very feminine and shy, rose and spoke in her precise English and made a statesman-like response. She was very clear in speaking about India and its problems, and she quoted an old Indian proverb, "I complained that I had no shoes until I met a man who had no feet."

The after dinner music in the East Room was especially pleasing. Isaac Stern, our great violinist, chose a program based on his impressions of Mrs. Gandhi when he had been entertained by her and her father in India.

Yesterday my husband flew to

MRS. COOPER

Kentucky to speak at the University of Louisville at a conference on Southeast Asia, which was an excellent and informative meeting. He was back in time to go to the dinner that the Indian Ambassador and Mrs. Nehru gave for Mrs. Gandhi at the embassy.

The President and his daughter, Lucy (Mrs. Johnson is ill with a cold) had come to pay a farewell visit to Mrs. Gandhi. They had not been invited to dinner because of the long-standing custom of never accepting reciprocal dinner invitations from visiting heads of state. The President was still at the embassy in his day clothes when the dinner guests arrived, and when asked if he would care to stay, accepted with pleasure. Great excitement for the hostess who had to rearrange her table of 38 guests, which was no easy task, as they included the Vice President and Mrs. Humphrey, Chief Justice and Mrs. Warren, the Secretaries of State and Defense—in fact all of the highest government officials in Washington.

Just as the White House dinner had been perfect in its pomp and ceremony, the Indian dinner was a contrast in its feeling of impromptu and friendliness. The menu was Indian, with its surries, and ending with a North Indian dessert made of carrots, milk, burnt sugar and covered with a thin silver foil that Indians feel is good for the digestion. When the President rose for the final toast, he referred to himself as the man who stayed for dinner, and all the Indians beamed with pleasure.

Deadline Near For Buying GI Insurance

Midnight May 2, 1966 is the deadline for eligible World War II and Korean Conflict veterans to take advantage of purchasing GI insurance, Olney B. Owen, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office, stated today.

Mr. Owen said to be eligible for this insurance a veteran must have had service between October 7, 1940 and January 1, 1957; he must have a disability resulting from his service; and not have more than $9,000 of GI insurance now in force.

If the veteran has no service disability, he must have a non-service disability so severe that a private insurance company will not issue a policy. Also, the disability that causes uninsurability must have been in existence before October 13, 1964.

A veteran who has never filed a claim with the VA for service connection of his disability may do so at the same time he makes his application for insurance. Owen pointed out that a minor disability such as a scar from surgery undergone during active service would qualify the veteran to purchase this insurance. Also, those who had minor disabilities and who are no longer receiving compensation may be eligible.

Seven permanent plans of insurance are available and can be obtained in policies ranging from $1,000 to $10,000.

Full information may be obtained by writing or visiting the Regional Office at 1405 West Broadway, Louisville, Kentucky.

GROUNDING!

With over one million drivers in Kentucky, it is logical that some will finally lose their privilege to drive. Over 600 drivers a month are grounded for driving under the influence of alcohol on Kentucky streets and highways. The Division of Driver Licensing, Kentucky Department of Public Safety, offers a word of advice: "If you drink, that's your business. . . if you drink and drive, that's our business."

unfold on a still greater scale our common struggle against imperialism, colonialism and neo-colonialism headed by U. S. capitalists." Very bluntly, this means that the Soviets are as deeply committed to the subversion of the United States as are the Red Chinese.

This involvement of the Soviets with the Red Chinese in this Hemisphere is a massive refutation and denial of the attempt to paint the Soviet Union as a friend of America - as "reliable Communists" against the "bad, unreasonable, hostile Red Chinese." In the words of the editorial, "To both open provocation and hidden aggression, the U. S., which officially clings to the myth of 'good' and 'bad' Communists, has largely failed to respond." The reason for this is easy to see. We are in the grips of the conflict of signals - we are hearing "the uncertain trumpet." The Red Chinese come in on the high signal . . . the Soviets come in on the low signal. In one case we are told to resist, and in the other case we are told to follow an accommodation. The result is confusion compounded to a high degree.

We believe that the editorial of BARRON'S has the only answer and that is, the United States cannot hope to win until it learns to recognize the enemy. "The United States is at war not only with the Viet-cong and North Vietnam, but also with a new Communist International."

Introducing Our Churches - God's Agency For Spreading His Love

KINGDOM HALL OF JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES

The local Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses was organized in 1950. Then there were eight associated. By 1966, there have been in the upward 200's associated with the local congregation. In October of 1964, there were two other local groups organized from the Fulton congregation, one in Martin, and one in Union City, Tennessee.

Now let's take a look at the organization on a national scope. Jehovah's witnesses have gone to the ends of the earth in enemy countries, in friendly countries, during their 1965 service year. With love in their hearts they preached the good news of God's kingdom in 197 different lands, under the direction of 92 branch organizations of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society.

In 1965, there were 1,934,208 declaring the good news all over the world because these additional hundreds of thousands have the love of God, too, in their hearts.

Jehovah God has blessed Jehovah's Witnesses for showing love to their enemies and those who persecute them, because many who have been opposed to the work have now listened to their message, and have dedicated their lives to Jehovah God. In fact, during the last service year there were 64,393 baptized, showing that they have dedicated their lives to Jehovah God. By studying the Word of God they are now gaining accurate knowledge of Jehovah, his Son, and his work. To show their love for mankind, Jehovah's witnesses in twelve months of the 1965 service year spent 171,247,644 hours going from house to house and visiting with people in their homes conducting Bible studies. Each week they conducted 779,595 Bible studies with interested people.

So, it is with this same love in their hearts that the local group of Jehovah's witnesses invite you to join them at their local Kingdom Hall to share this love. Their meetings are:

Surviving are his wife; a daughter, Marty Ford; a son, Charles Ford, and a brother, Clark Ford of Three Rivers, Michigan.

ROBBER CHANGES MIND

Lincoln, Neb. — Robert M. Gordon, manager of a store, said a young man came in looking for a gun and not finding one he liked left to look elsewhere. Soon he returned to look at the guns again. He strapped one on and demanded money. The gunman then changed his mind, returned the $66 and said, "It's just not worth it."

UC Highway Collision Damages Three Cars

Only minor injuries were reported from Mrs. Ann Whitnel of Fulton in a three-car collision on the Union City-Fulton highway Friday at 1:30 p. m.

Others involved in the accident were U. B. Foster of Decatur, Ill., driving a 1966 Chrysler and Thomas I. Gargus of Water Valley, driving a 1965 Ford. The front of Mrs.

Whitnel's 1966 Oldsmobile and the front of the Chrysler were heavily damaged.

Investigating officers, P. T. English and Tom Kilpatrick said conflicting statements were given and the accident was still under investigation.

Building Code Finds Substandard Houses

VINE STREET houses some of which were recently condemned as substandard dwellings. You can see one of the signs on the front of the second house.

This outside view shows unsafe floors, and windows with most of the glass out.

Rear view of one of the substandard dwellings.

Several houses on Vine Street have been condemned as substandard dwellings by the Fulton Building Inspector, Glenn Williams. Many of the houses have no water, no bathrooms, and in some instances the doors and windows are out.

Tenants of these houses (501, 502, 506, 507, 508, 509 Vine) have vacated recently. The buildings are condemned and signs placed on the front to prevent anyone using them as dwellings until improvements bring them up to standard code, according to Mr. Williams.

One of the houses is owned by Minnie Williams, and the others by David, K. and Amaline Homra.

Ed Neeley President Of South Fulton PTA

Ed Neeley was elected president of the South Fulton PTA for the 1966-67 year at the monthly meeting held Thursday night at the school. Installed with Mr. Neeley in a ceremony conducted by Mrs. R. L. Harris, was the following slate of officers:

First vice president, Harold Henderson; second vice president, Mrs. Charles Maynard; third vice president, Mrs. John R. Lawson; secretary, Mrs. Richard Bodker; treasurer, Mrs. Frank Barber; and parliamentarian, Guy Finch.

Linda Potts Is Charter Member Of New Sorority

Miss Linda Potts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Potts of Clinton, is one of the charter members of the newly installed chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi at the University of Tennessee, Martin Branch.

Graduate of South Fulton High School, Linda is a Junior at the University of Tennessee, Martin Branch, majoring in Pre-Law. She is a member of the Liberal Arts Club and was installed as Student Senator for the Tau Omicron Chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi.

The traditional Rose Banquet was held March 26 in South Fulton, Tennessee, at which Miss Potts was awarded the Scholarship Award for the highest scholastic average of her Fall Pledge Class and received Honorable Mention for her scrapbook of Alpha Omicron Pi activities.

Tau Omicron chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi was installed on March 26, 1966 with ceremonies at First Methodist Church Youth Center in Martin. It is one of the 83 collegiate chapters of the sorority located throughout the United States and Canada.

Alpha Omicron Pi was founded January 2nd, 1897 at Bernard College, now a part of Columbia University, New York, by Stella George Stern Perry, Elizabeth Heywood Wyman, Helen St. Clair Mullan, and Jessie Wallace Highan. For more than twenty-five years they have supported the Social Service Department of the Frontier Nursing Service of Eastern Kentucky as their national Philanthropic project.

Other members of Alpha Omicron Pi from this area are Julie Andrus of Mayfield, Kentucky, and Jane Peeples, formerly of South Fulton, now a resident of Nashville.

Local Pastor, Wife Going To Church Meeting

John Sherman Cooper, United States Senator from Kentucky, will be the speaker for a breakfast session of the General Assembly of the Kentucky Association of Christian Churches April 21 in Lexington. The breakfast session is sponsored by the Disciple Peace Fellowship. Senator Cooper will speak on Viet Nam.

The Assembly, annual convention of the Christian Churches of Kentucky, will be held April 19, 20 and 21 in the Central Christian Church, Lexington. Five thousand registrants are expected.

Attending from Fulton will be Rev. and Mrs. Henry Hanna. Rev. Hanna is minister of the First Christian Church.

Other speakers for the Assembly include a Methodist layman, who is a member of the General Board of the National Council of Churches; a lay woman, who is a former national president of United Church Women; the Dean of the Disciples Divinity House at the University of Chicago, and a Japanese national who is a missionary to Okinawa.

The keynote address at the opening session of the Assembly will be given by Franklin R. McGuire, minister of the First Christian Church, Georgetown. He is the 1966 president of the Kentucky Association of Christian Churches.

At a breakfast session for ministers and wives on April 20, Henry Campbell of Glasgow will speak. He was the 1966 president of the Kentucky Christian Church Minister's Fellowship.

James A. Moak, Lexington, will deliver a "sermon in summary" at the closing session. He is the General Secretary of the Kentucky Association of Christian Churches.

State Parks In 'New Look' For Food Suggestions

There'll be a new look in and on menus at Kentucky State Parks beginning in early May.

Parks Commissioner Robert Bell says that park restaurants this year will offer for the first time a children's menu, featuring entrees of chicken, fish, beef and the old favorite—peanut butter and jelly.

Additionally, the children's menus each feature four pages of "do-it-yourself" pictures which are formed by connecting a series of dots. Each picture represents a fictional character from a nursery rhyme—Little Tommy Tucker, Cock-A-Do-Do, Tommy Tittlemouse and the Cat and the Fiddle.

Bell also said that a new sandwich line has been added at all State park restaurants. A hot brown sandwich, formerly served only at Kentucky Dam Village State Park, will now be available at all parks in addition to fish and grilled cheese sandwiches. Special emphasis will also be put on the chef's salad bowl specialty, Bell said.

Bell said these park restaurants were open to the public on Easter Sunday: Carter Caves, Olive Hill; Natural Bridge, Slade; Rough River Dam, Falls of Rough; Lake Cumberland, Jamestown; Kenlake, Hardin; Kentucky Dam Village, Gilbertsville; Cumberland Falls, Corbin; General Butler, Carrollton; and Jenny Wiley, Prestonsburg.

B&PW State President Commends Local Club

Mrs. Culver, standing, commends the local organization for its wide scope of community effort and particularly for its important role in staging the Banana Festival. Others in the photo are: Left to Right: Miss Ruth Parsons, member of the Paducah club; Miss Virginia McCaslin, immediate past district director; Mrs. Gaynelle Stum, Kentucky Federation second vice president; Mrs. Culver, Mrs. Lorene Harding, president of Fulton-South Fulton Club.

Last week Mrs. Henrietta Culver the State President of the Kentucky Business and Professional Woman's Club came to Fulton as guest speaker at a large meeting of the Fulton-South Fulton Club. The meeting held at the Park Terrace was attended by members of other clubs in the area as well as by district officials. The pictures tell the story.

Breathitt Seeks Spotlight On Local Industry

In proclaiming April 11-16 as "Industry Appreciation Week", Governor Edward T. Breathitt urged the Fulton-South Fulton Chamber of Commerce to give special recognition to the area's manufacturing industries during that period.

Last year, 46 Kentucky communities honored their local industries in programs held during the first such week, set in February. Many other towns and cities held special observances in succeeding weeks.

Breathitt's proclamation urges "all citizens, civic groups, and public officials, state and local, to participate in the recognition of the importance of our industrial citizens."

Taking note of Kentucky's current industrial expansion program, the proclamation observes that "continually increasing efforts are being made to attract new industry so that Kentucky's advantages and potential for manufacturing may be realized in an ever-growing and orderly manner."

The proclamation also lays stress on the state and local support given to existing industries to encourage expansion.

"Industry Appreciation Week" is being sponsored by the Kentucky Department of Commerce and the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce.

SURPRISE!

Mrs. Vera Parrish received a pleasant surprise Sunday when her sister, Mrs. Eula Sykes, of Vallejo, California, called to wish her a happy Easter and a happy birthday on April 21.

People would be healthier if they had a mind for it.

W. S. C. S. Circle One Monday Meeting

W. S. C. S. Circle One of the First Methodist Church met at 2:30 p. m., Monday, April 11, in the church, with Mrs. Hoyt Moore and Mrs. Herman Williamson serving as hostesses.

After the roll call and routine business, Mrs. J. O. Lewis took charge of the program. She was assisted by Mrs. W. E. Hart, who gave a comparison between women's work in the United Brethren Church and in the Methodist Church. Also, Mrs. J. D. Davis gave some interesting information on the Jesse Lee Children's Home in Alaska.

Mrs. Lewis commented on the article in the Methodist Woman, "What Concerns the Rhodesian Woman." The meeting closed with the devotion given by Mrs. Hattie Wood, entitled "God's Jewels." Pie and coffee were served by the hostesses to fifteen members during the social hour.

Andy Wade Is Spelling Champ

The Fulton County Spelling Champion for 1966 is Andy Wade son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wade, Crutchfield, Route One. Andy will represent Fulton County in the Mid-South Spelling Bee at Memphis on April 29.

Andy, 13, is a student in the Cayce eighth grade. He and Marilyn Morrison, a Hickman elementary student, battled for two hours and fifteen minutes before they both missed the word "knick-knack". Marilyn missed "sedan" and Andy spelled it correctly, then got the next word right to win the match.

Other schools participating with Cayce and Hickman were Phillips, Western and Riverview.

Andy won the Cayce school spelling bee several weeks ago. The following were competing: 6th grades - Keith Meneses, Ray Woodruff; 7th graders - Dale Yates, David Sneed; 8th graders - Larry Patrick and Andy Wade.

Down on the Farm

With JIM PRYOR
Agricultural Agent, Illinois Central Railroad

Grass and American Agriculture

Those who know little about agriculture admit grass is basic to our national economy. No other nation can produce like farmers in the United States of America.

Agriculture has provided for development of industry, stimulated progress in science and engineering, and released all but a small fraction of our population from production of food and fiber.

An agricultural economy must have certain strong cornerstones. Our ability to produce grass is one of these assets.

Total national grassland is about 1,100 million acres, this means our hay and pasture acres are more than three times as great as other cropland. This includes all grain, fiber crops, oil seed, fruit, vegetables and harvested crops. This actually provides more than 70 per cent of the annual feed requirements of all dairy and beef cattle, including sheep. Pasture and rangeland alone supply more than 50 per cent of the feed requirements in the form of nutrients too.

Our system of agriculture naturally lends itself to many types of grazing. We use some for pasture and rangeland, and other areas for hay and silage. More recently haylage has been added to the list of forage crops.

Grassland is composed of many different legumes and grasses. Much of our soil not suited or needed for crops under cultivation can be used in this manner.

Great diversity in climatic conditions throughout the nation created problems for our farmers. Species adapted for one region would not survive in another. Experiment stations are constantly working on new varieties to combat weather and soil conditions.

Despite these problems, prosperous farmers have profitable grassland. Management of these areas is complex. It will become more difficult as our demand increases. Future roughage will undoubtedly become a more solid cornerstone to profitable farming.

Feed costs account for at least 50 per cent of the cost of producing milk. Forage plays an important role in holding this fixed cost down. In beef cattle and sheep hay and pasture make up more of their daily feed and reflect an economic ratio when high quality products are used.

Agricultural strength in America depends to a great degree on such natural resources. For many years this will justify special attention and strong action in education and research programs.

Properly managed grassland will remain indispensable for soil and water conservation, watershed development, outdoor recreation and landscape beautification.

CHILDREN ADOPTED!

The Kentucky Department of Child Welfare adoption program placed 465 children in the fiscal year 1964-65. A total of 1,458 children were placed in foster care.

It's Here Again

The Battle Of The Weeds

Mary, Mary, quite contrary, how does your garden grow? With dandelion, chickweed, and solid crabgrass in a row? A dandelion really might be "a thing of beauty" and "a joy forever" if it were not for the fact that it fits a common definition of a weed: if it is hard to control it is a weed.

One reason why it is hard to control is that one blossom can produce 200 seeds. Crabgrass is a pest because one plant produces thousands of seeds.

Lawn weeding once meant hours of back breaking labor of pulling weeds by hand, and the results were not usually impressive. Nowadays, you can choose from the modern arsenal of chemical weed killers and get close to 100 per cent control of weeds in a matter of 10 to 14 days.

The first widely used selective weed killer which would control weeds with broad leaves and not harm grass was 2,4-D. Introduced in the 1940s, it ushered in a new concept of chemical weed control.

While 2,4-D kills plantain and dandelion, it is not so effective in controlling knotweed, chickweed, curly dock, dog fennel, clover, and red sorrel. New weed killers now available to homeowners contain Banvel D and 2,4-D and give control of nearly all problem broadleaf weeds in lawns.

In spring or early summer when weeds are actively growing is the best time to use this weed killer combination. Because this is also the time when grass is actively growing, a fairly healthy stand of turf will fill in the bare spots left after the weeds disappear.

Some of the most effective crabgrass killers are lawn products containing Bandane as the active ingredient. They also will kill ants, grubs, and other soil insects. Bandane has little or no post-emergence activity, and therefore must be applied before the crabgrass germinates. That usually happens when the soil temperature is 65 degrees and there is plenty of sunlight and surface moisture. Generally speaking, this crabgrass killer should be used at lilac bud time.

Feeder Calf Sale Averages
$144 Per Calf

Last Tuesday the Demonstration Feeder Calf Sale of Obion County Livestock Association saw 348 feeder calves go through the auction ring and placed in the hands of Obion County farmers $50,103.38. This is the highest price per calf ever received at a Spring Feeder Calf Sale sponsored by the local livestock association. The feeder calves averaged $144 per calf.

One hundred seventy-six (176) steers with an average wt. of 574 lbs. averaged 27.77 per CWT, and 172 heifers with an average wt. of 506 lbs. averaged 25.33. A big majority of the calves were carrying an excess amount of flesh, which attests to the good feed the calves had received during the past winter. The bulk of the choice steers brought from 27.75 to 30.25 - choice heifers from 25.50 to 26.25 - good steers 27.20 to 30.00 - good heifers from 25.40 to 26.50 - medium steers from 25.00 to 28.75 - and medium heifers from 24.25 to 25.80. A large percent of the calves returned to Obion County farms and feed lots.

According to my observations the sale last week was the smoothest and most efficiently operated feeder calf sale ever conducted by the Obion County Livestock Association, and credit for this should go to the feeder calf committee composed of Johnnie Wall, Paul Grisham, Rufus Taylor, Charles Powell and W. T. Garrigan, Jr.

ALFALFA GROWING AND WORMS GROWING ALSO

Obion County alfalfa producers started spraying their alfalfa last week when the alfalfa weevil worms began chewing up a lot of the alfalfa fields. If you have alfalfa, look at it closely and it's time to spray when 50 percent of the alfalfa plants show signs of the worms feeding on the plants. I've been in a lot of alfalfa fields lately, but I observed the best field of fall 1965 seeded alfalfa on W. T. Garrigan, Jr. farm at Woodland Mills.

COMPULSORY WALK!

A person can do a lot of walking in six months, if he doesn't have a driver license. If he needs his car for business, he may wear out shoe leather finding a new job, unless he takes care of the privilege to drive. The Driver License Point System regulates those who refuse to obey traffic laws. Don't wait until too late to care about your license, warns the Kentucky Department of Public Safety.

WOOL PAYMENTS UNDER WAY IN COUNTY

Incentive payments to Fulton County growers under the 1965 national wool program now are well under way, according to Roy Bard, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee. Payments in the County on shorn wool, unshorn lambs, and amounted to $1,445.24.

The payments on wool represents the percentage necessary to bring the producer's sales returns up to an announced support level. Lamb payments are made under the program to encourage the normal marketing of lambs with the wool on and to prevent unusual sharing of lambs.

The Chairman also reminded growers of the continuing need to keep complete records on their sales of wool and lambs and to report their purchases of unshorn lambs when filing applications for program payments.

Where lambs have been owned by more than one producer, the program payment is prorated among the various owners. Deductions are made from the payment to any one producer equal to the amount of payment due a prior owner on the liveweight of his sale of unshorn lambs; the payment to each owner is based on the weight gain of the lambs during his ownership.

Lamb payments are made only on lambs which a producer has owned for 30 days or more and which had never been shorn at the time of sale. Likewise, wool payments are made only to a producer who has owned the sheep or lambs from which the wool was shorn for at least 30 days.

The wool payment program was first authorized by the National Wool Act of 1954. It was extended by the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965 to cover marketings through December 31, 1969. As changed last year, the support level for wool in the future will be related to changes in production and other costs.

The 1966 support price for wool, announced November 24, 1965, is 65 cents a pound, 3 cents a pound higher than the support price for 1965. The 1966 support price for mohair is 75.8 cents a pound, 3.8 cents a pound higher than the 1965 support price.

Mrs. Opal Outland arrived from Chicago last Tuesday to spend an Easter vacation with her brothers, Basil and Loyd Watkins and families.

Mrs. A. C. Bell had to return to the hospital last week. Mrs. Bell had surgery at Hillview recently and is unable to make complete recovery since then.

Mrs. Nell Frye and son, Jimmie, from Walled Lake, Mich., visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Coy Harrison, last week. She is doing just fine after a recent operation. Mr. Harrison, who has been under the doctor's care for several weeks, was able to return to his home.

Mrs. Lewis Armstrong and grandson, Jimbo, visited Mrs. Gert Ford at Mayfield Sunday; and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Sanderson visited Rubie Sanderson and family at Mayfield.

Mrs. Jodie Hedge has been a patient in Fulton Hospital the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Johnson, of Murray, were home for Easter and attended services at Good Springs. Mrs. Johnson was formerly Dean Watkins.

Others home for the Easter vacation were Ruth Darnell, who teaches at Neoga, Ill., and Sarah Ann Dacus, a teacher at Waterloo, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Easley and baby left on Saturday for Youngstown, Ohio, to make their home. Mr. Easley is employed there.

Mrs. T. L. Ainley, Mrs. Cleve Work and Hillman Westbrook served as a committee to secure a new piano for Good Springs Church. It was delivered last Friday and added much to the music on Easter work today.

Songstress Hank Fort Puts Out LPs - There's Talent In That Family

Songstress Hank Fort has brought out a record album of her own tunes.

Hank Fort McAuliffe is the former Eleanor Hankins. She is related to Doris Huddleston Wiley and frequently visited in Fulton.

An inventive composer of catchy novelty numbers, who has enlivened the Washington cocktail circuit for years singing her own zippy selections such as "Save Your Confederate Money, Boys" (The South will rise again), "Put Your Shoes On, Lucy," and "Southern Cookin'," Miss Fort this time has come up with something different.

Most of the twelve selections on the two-sided long-playing record could best be described as popular ballads—"the kind of thing you might expect Robert Goulet to sing," Hank says.

She is composer or co-composer of all of them but "they aren't the kind of thing I sing well," she says, so her voice is seldom heard on the album.

Most of the tunes are sung by Hank's husband of two years, William McAuliffe, a stock broker who surprised everyone by having a good voice.

Favorite Friend

The album takes its name from one of the songs, "My Favorite Friend," an appropriate title because the whole enterprise is about as steeped in friendship as it could possibly be.

Several friends of Hank and Bill's put up the $5,000 it cost to cut the record ("I think it's the first album ever 'angels' by a group of people," Hank says).

"There are five full angels, one double angel, and the rest are half angels," she says. "I couldn't have any less than that, because if I ever get to paying dividends, I couldn't figure a half of a half."

Another friend, Writer Ruth Montgomery, wrote the blurb on the back of the jacket as her contribution. Friend Ed Clark, now a Washington builder but formerly a photographer for Life Magazine, took the photographs of Hank and Bill that adorn the jacket.

Friends in the recording business—Producer Jerry Crutchfield and Arranger Bill McElhiney—found time to help. They were paid regular rates, Hank says, but no amount of money could have persuaded them to fit her unknown record company (Gemini Records—"I thought up the name 12 years ago. It's my birth sign. I believe in those things.") into their busy schedules if they hadn't been old friends.

Crutchfield and McElhiney, in turn, talked an old friend of theirs and tops in his field, Engineer Chuck Seitz, into coming aboard.

Unknown Label

Pianist Bill Purcell, the Anita Kerr singers and some individual members of some male singing groups provided background talent for the record on the same basis. It is a practice common among equally well-known performers, and they were paid standard union rates—but again, only friendship impelled them to agree to perform for an unknown label. They could not even be listed in the jacket credits, because all have contracts with large record companies.

To finish up the friendship theme, Hank clipped the signatures from hundreds of letters she has received over the years, for reproduction on the record jacket.

The list—often signed with first names only—ranges from politics—Sam Rayburn, "Lady Bird," former Senator Theodore Francis Green, Rep. Hale Boggs, "Estes" and "Nancy" Kefauver, "Adlai"—through show business Ed Wallach, "Jack" Lemmon, "Red" Nichols, "Vaughan" Monroe, "Rosemary" Clooney, "Franchot" Tone and "Helen H." for Hayes.

She Flipped

The hardest part of the whole project, Hank says, was persuading her old friends (most of whom live and work in Nashville, now the nation's "record capital," that her husband, whom they hadn't met, could sing.

"I could see them exchanging glances and thinking, 'Poor old Hank, she's flipped over this guy; he probably can't sing a note,'" she said.

But they agreed to go ahead, after asking her if she realized "how much all this is going to cost," she said.

Her sweetest memory, Hank says, was when Crutchfield, the producer turned to her in the production booth while the record was being cut, and said: "Man alive, the man sings!"

"You're not going to be able to keep him on Gemini," he added. —ISABELLE SHELTON.

Paducah Art Guild Showing One-Man Exhibit

A one-man show of work by George N. Foster, prominent Illinois painter, and Professor of Art in the School of Fine Arts at the University of Illinois in Champaign, is now on exhibition at the Paducah Art Guild Gallery, Second and Broadway. He was born in Ridgway, Illinois and many of his paintings reflect his interest in the landscape and geology of Southern Illinois which was his boyhood home.

Foster received his art education at the University of Illinois, Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts and the University of Denver. He holds several degrees and is widely known as an art educator, and juror of art exhibitions.

His work has been shown in many national exhibitions, and last year he won a Purchase Award in the annual Audubon Artists show in New York City. He has exhibited at the National Watercolor Exhibition, Dulin Gallery, Knoxville, Tenn.; Corcoran Biennial, Corcoran Gallery of Art, Washington, D. C.; National Academy of Design, New York (Purchase Award); Oklahoma Printmakers Society; Western Annual, Denver Art Museum; Butler Institute of Art, Annual Exhibition of American Painting; Mississippi Art Association, National Oil Painting Exhibit (Purchase Award); Evansville Museum of Arts and Science (Honorable Mention); Ohio Valley Oil and Watercolor Exhibition of Drawings; National Painting Exhibition, University of Miami; Chicago Union League Exhibition of Painting.

His work in the Paducah show will be oil paintings and drawings. He uses an unusual technique combining wax lithography crayon and color washes. His work has strong design and is influenced by his intense interest in nature and its many conformations.

This exhibit will be on view through April. The gallery is open 12-4 Tuesdays through Saturdays, 1-5 on Sundays, and is closed on Mondays. There is no admission charge and the public is invited.

MORE TEACHER PAY!

Kentucky public school teachers will receive base salary increases ranging from $450 to $1,100 over the 1966-68 fiscal years, with those having at least 10 years' experience receiving the biggest increases.

Rev. Russell Rodgers filled his appointment at New Salem Baptist Church the past Sunday at 11 a. m. and the evening worship service was conducted following the BTU, which meets at 7 p. m. A very good attendance was had at this Easter service.

Mr. and Mrs. David Lassiter and children, Jacqueline and David Keith, of Akron, Ohio, arrived Saturday afternoon on Easter vacation and will be guests of parents, Mr. and Mrs. Buton Lassiter, near here, and Mr. and Mrs. Mancil Wright of Dresden Route.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard McGuire were guests of relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Grover True, the past Sunday.

Cloyce Puckett has just recently undergone gall-bladder surgery at the Fuller Morgan Hospital in Mayfield. We hope for him a quick recovery, as do all friends' round about this vicinity.

Mrs. Buton Lassiter suffered some injuries to her lame limb and strained muscles, the cartilage in her knee, and has been a-bed a portion of the time from the pain. All friends hope she will improve very soon.

Fire destroyed an old landmark, the old home of the late Mr. and Mrs. Minor Tucker, State Line Road, near this village the past Sunday afternoon. Both Tennessee and Kentucky fire departments were summoned, the forest rangers and volunteer citizens joined to combat the fire that burned over 150 acres or more before it was brought under control. Origin of the fire is unknown to your correspondent at this time.

Dewey Grissom is making rapid strides toward recovery and hopes to get home from the hospital soon. All friends hope his convalescent days will be speeded up and that he gains his former health.

Bro. Charles Wall filled his appointment at Knob Creek Church of Christ the past Sunday at 11 a. m. Bible service is held at 10 a. m. Many attended.

a delegate to the National Convention. R. Paul was at Boy Scout Camp in Colorado Springs and Paul was at Reserve Officers' Camp at Fort Meade, Maryland.

Paul and I have decided that we're not going to worry about the paper at all next week, although I am going to try to file a story from Quito just as soon as I arrive, for publication in next week's issue. The shop, bless them, have been superb in their insistence that we go, so I know that your weekly visit from us will be in good hands.

There's only one sad note connected with the entire venture—and that is that R. Paul cannot take time out from his college duties to go along with us to complete the family entourage. He has been his usual wonderful self in being happy that we are having such a good opportunity to get away together, even though he is not able to be along.

I may as well tell you that it is a rather awesome thought to wonder what would happen to him if anything happened to us. This is also the first time that Paul and I have flown together, on the same plane, although we have taken countless trips by auto together, and perhaps given little thought to the fact that something could happen to us together.

It's only when we think about a flying trip that we think in gruesome channels. Anyway we've talked it over with him and he understands. I think without a doubt he is the very nicest 18-year old boy I ever knew... as if I'm not prejudiced.

Old Faithful, Forgetful!

Mildred Freeman, a faithful and dedicated Illinois Central employee left Sunday on that system for the trip to Miami. She was so excited about going, while trying to be helpful to all the other travellers urging them to take care of all their belongings, etc., that she went right off and forgot her own hat and coat. We will deliver them to her in Miami.

Mildred has also been such a wonderful help in organizing the many details connected with the trip... actually we don't see how we could have gotten along without her during all these frenzied days of preparation.

Flowers For Living!

While tossing out bouquets to the helpers and such I cannot leave these shores without making public mention of the fact that if it were not for Connie Pawlukiewicz and Annabelle Edwards I doubt if we could have a Banana Festival at all. There's not enough paper in this world, nor ink, nor type to commend these two wonderful people for the great help they have been to me personally, and to the Festival.

You can't find people any more who will work with a person who walks into an office of a morning and says... "I'm not in a very good mood today, so beware."

They beware... they'll usually be where they're needed for every detail for which they are needed. Glory be for them!

Famed Festival

One more item about the Banana Festival. People from far and near never cease to be amazed at the magnitude of our venture. Bob McKnight called me Monday to tell me that his sister-in-law, Mrs. Charles McKnight of Stockton, California visited here recently to take part in a family reunion of all the kith and kin that was held in Chattanooga. Mrs. McKnight is a newspaper columnist and editor of the Stockton, (Calif.) Record, owned by former Senator William Knowland of California.

Mrs. McKnight went back home and wrote in her column that she could hardly believe her eyes when she saw the road signs designating our city as the "Banana Cross-roads of America." She wrote at length about the Festival and urged her readers to come here for this year's event if it was at all possible.

She is just one of many knowledgeable people who marvel at what our twin cities can do. So again we say... we've made a reputation for ourselves that needs the help of everybody around here to maintain, with work and ideas.

"Must List!"

As expected I was too snowed under last Thursday to see the sneak preview of "The Restless Ones," held at the Fulton Theatre. Everybody who saw it gave it rave notices. I certainly plan to see it when it returns for a regular run.

DUKEDOM RT. 2 Mrs. O. F. Taylor

We had an Easter service at Bethlehem Church Sunday at 9 a. m. Our pastor, Bro. N. L. Crittenden, brought the message. Several visitors attended, who are always welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Givens were Saturday night guests of her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Rowland of near Pilot Oak.

Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Taylor visited their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Scott and girls, of Lone Oak, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. McGuire and Mrs. Laura Matthews and sister of Dukedom, called on Bro. and Mrs. T. Y. Smithmier, of near Benton, Sunday afternoon. Bro. Smithmier came home from a Memphis Hospital recently.

Mrs. Ira Raines, of Pilot Oak, was the week end guest of her sister, Mrs. Dal Gilliam, and Mr. Gilliam of Dukedom.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rowland and Daryl, of Michigan, are visiting relatives here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Givens of Water Valley, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Puckett of Lone Oak, and Mrs. Hattie Puckett of Pilot Oak attended singing at Oakton Sunday afternoon.

Our sympathy goes out to the family of Mrs. George Owens, who passed away Friday night at her home east of Water Valley. Her funeral was held at Bayou de Chein Sunday afternoon, with burial in Camp Beauregard Cemetery.

Miss Lila Mae Casey, of Murray, visited Mr. and Mrs. Richard Alexander Sunday and attended preaching at the Pilot Oak Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Tremon Rickman attended the funeral and burial of Mrs. George Owens Sunday afternoon.

In addition to those going by train to Miami, enroute to Ecuador, Enoch Campbell and his brother-in-law, G. B. Henson from Wingo, drove down; Mrs. Norris Dame went by automobile with L. M. McCuan and his daughter from Dyersburg. Mr. McCuan is with the Health Department of the State of Tennessee.

NEWS FROM TRAVELERS

In a telephone call to her daughter, Mrs. William Earl Long, Tuesday night, Mrs. Mildred Freeman stated that Paul, Jo and Mary Jo Westpheling, also Mrs. Sara Kirkland of Union City, had arrived in Miami and all were at the airport, ready to take off for Ecuador. Mildred said that much excitement prevails as they are being given the "royal treatment" in Miami.

What Quality Beef Does A&P Sell?

That's a fair question. But not an easy one to answer because we have our own quality standards, different from any other meat merchant.

These standards don't fit exactly the familiar terms you know for grades of meat. As an example, did you know that some beef, graded U.S. Choice, just doesn't meet our "Super-Right" specifications? It's true! You see... we don't buy by grade. We use our own high standards to bring you the best values.

That doesn't mean we don't approve of such grading—not at all. It just means we're very fussy about the beef we label "Super-Right." It stands to reason we have to be or A&P wouldn't be America's number one meat merchant.

Are "Super-Right" Meats a good reason for shopping A&P?

Little Railroad Gave Riders 'Extra Service'

EDITOR'S NOTE — This delightful story about a little railroad line which once operated between Dyersburg and Tiptonville and called itself the Dyersburg & Northern Railroad, appeared recently in The Louisville Courier-Journal. The article should be of interest locally.

AH, ME! Tie your hats on, friends, as we join R.F. Anderson, Louisville, in a train excursion through the bottom lands of West Tennessee. "The Dyersburg (Tenn.) & Northern R.R. was incorporated in 1904," he begins. "It ran north from Dyersburg to Tiptonville, Tenn., about 28 miles. In 1913 the Illinois Central took it over, extended the line to Hickman, Ky., and still uses it.

"Estil Frank was working on an Arkansas farm about 1907. He decided to visit some folks in Tipton, Tenn., not far from Tiptonville. The Cotton Belt Railroad told him he could get a train at Dyersburg to that area. He crossed the Mississippi to Dyersburg on the Cotton Belt for 2 cents a mile.

"Finding his way to the D & N depot, he inquired of the porter as to when the up train would leave. 'Boss,' said that worthy, 'it won't go till it gets here.' Furthermore, Mr. Frank was advised: (A) there was only one train; (B) it turned around at each end of the line; (C) only God knew when it would arrive at either end and, (D) if it was dark when it got there it would stay there all night.

"Armed with these facts and buoyed up with hope a nickel's worth of cheese and crackers, about 1 p.m. he heard a train whistle. The porter sat up. 'Boss,' he said, 'that was the engine man. He's telling his wife he will make one more trip and be home for supper.' The train, consisting of a box car, a grimy passenger car, and a little locomotive, made the U-turn and stopped at the depot. "Yes, sir," said the conductor, "I will sell you a ticket to Horn Ridge, and you can make it over to Tipton, about four miles. That will be 60 cents." The train pulled out and rattled along, stopping here and there where a yak-trail came down to the trackside, putting off cedar churns, kegs of horse shoes, buggy whips, etc., and taking on chickens in crates, eggs in boxes, hogs with feet tied, and pigged potatoes in sacks.

"At Horn Ridge the traveler detrained and noted the town consisted of a house, a church, and a cemetery. He hooped it over to Tipton. Pockets stuffed with ham sandwiches, he returned a few days later and caught the down train. Halfway to Dyersburg it stopped and the crew left it. The men returned in about an hour, stating they had run their traps, reset the snares, and bought some eggs at 10 cents a dozen.

"The conductor came through for tickets, whereupon Mr. Frank asked him why travel on the little line cost 3 cents a mile. 'Sir,' said that official, 'all trains carry you forward for 2 cents a mile. For the other cent, sir, we rock you from side to side!'"

Politicians Act Like Candidates

By SY RAMSEY
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT (AP)—Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield was host to nearly 60 people Tuesday for 4½ hours of socializing and politics.

The affair at the lieutenant governor's mansion was described by Waterfield as a "sort of symposium."

"It was just a social meeting," he said, "but after awhile we got to talking politics. You know how it is."

Waterfield said he planned similar gatherings again, but has set no dates.

"People are just interested," he said. "They came here from Mill's Point (on the Mississippi River) to the Big Sandy."

Waterfield declined comment for governor in 1967.

"There was concern with the future of the political situation in Kentucky," he said, "but we didn't deal in personalities." Meantime, two other potential candidates took actions Tuesday to indicate they would like to seek the governorship.

Ward Asks Meeting

Highway Commissioner Henry Ward sent invitations to the appointed members of the governor's cabinet asking them to a meeting at 2 p.m. Thursday to discuss "a subject of importance... that needs your personal attention."

Senate Majority Leader J. D. Buckman called a news conference for 3 p.m. Thursday. The topic was not announced but Buckman was expected to announce his candidacy.

Ward's invitation on Highway Department stationery was hand-carried to the appointed officials.

Waterfield is a Democratic factional foe of Gov. Edward T. Breathitt, now vacationing near the Bahamas, and of former Gov. Bert Combs, who has not announced whether he intends to run again.

Waterfield said nearly a month ago "a number of people" have talked to him about the governorship candidacy.

Tuesday he said, "I found that everybody's ear is to the ground — not only mine."

Meantime the guessing about Combs' intentions continued without word from him. He has been in the Northeast on business trips the past week.

SOUTH FULTON, Tenn., —Miss Linda Nanney, 18, a cheerleader at South Fulton High School, was named South Fulton Booster Princess for 1966 Friday night.

Miss Nanney, a senior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nanney of the Chesnut Glade community.

Miss Andrea Melton, last year's princess and now a freshman at Murray State College, crowned the new princess.

Miss Nanney won out over 36 entries in the fifth annual beauty pageant event.

She will represent South Fulton at the Humboldt Strawberry Festival and in the Paris Fish Fry.

The princess' first maid is Dee Barnard, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Barnard of South Fulton. Second maid is Miss Joanna Woodruff, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C.

Woodruff, also of South Fulton. Miss Cheryl Underwood, 18, a Fulton High School senior, is third maid. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Underwood of Fulton.

GRILL OF MY DREAMS

Planning a cook-out? The mouth watering prospect of sizzling brown meat grilling slowly over an open fire can lure anyone into becoming an outdoor chef - as well as an outdoor eater. Beware of the pitfalls, however, that lie on the road to perfect barbecues. Here are some ways you can avoid the most common barbecue beefs.

1. Generally, smoke won't get in your eyes if you know what you're doing. If the barbecue equipment is movable, orient it so that smoke will blow away from both chef and guests. If it isn't movable, arrange tables, chairs and cooking paraphernalia on the windward side of the fire - and hope for a cooperative, one-way wind.

Start the fire an hour before you're ready to cook. It takes that long to lay a glowing bed of coals and eliminate much of the smoke.

2. It's no raw deal. Meat that's underdone, overdone or both can put a damper on your cookout. Be sure to make allowances for high humidity and cool air - both slow cooking. You can tell what kind of temperature you're dealing with by this rule of thumb:

Hold your hand at cooking level and briskly count - "One-thousand, two-thousand, etc." If you get up to "five-thousand" before the heat forces your hand away, the fire's not ready.

3. "Smart" grills make the biggest hit. If several seasons of wear and tear show on your grill, don't fret; all may not be lost. A special new spray paint made by Plasti-Kote, Inc., withstands temperatures of more than 1,200 degrees Fahrenheit and can "smarten" up a tired grill again. Made with Allied Chemical's Genetron propellants, the unusual spray paint is used for coating boilers, manifolds, hot-rod engines and other things that operate at high temperatures.

Now is Good Time to Clean Social Hall of Your Church

Is the social hall of your church in need of a clean-up job?

Spring Clean-Up Week is the ideal time to spruce up the hall, says the American Insurance Association.

The winter months are usually the busiest ones in the hall, and wear and tear on equipment is usually in evidence.

A clean-up team of members should be selected. If the job is well organized, it can be done quickly, allowing time for the enjoyment of a buffet lunch. If the job is done in the afternoon, a dinner may be planned for those participating in the work.

Here is an outline of what the clean-up team may do:

1. The kitchen range should be thoroughly scoured, making sure that all grease is removed from ovens, broilers and stove top.

2. The floor should be scrubbed with a detergent and rewaxed.

3. Dishes, pots and pans should be checked and those in need of it should be washed.

4. Refrigerators, fans, air conditioning equipment, electrical appliances, television and radio sets should be checked. If any of these are in need of repair, they should be serviced by a qualified electrician.

5. If dish towels, scrub brushes, and similar kitchen items are badly worn, they should be thrown away and new ones purchased.

The clean-up job should include a check of heating equipment, both in the church hall and in the church itself.

The custodian should be instructed to obtain the services of a qualified heating equipment man and have the heating ducts and flues inspected to be sure they are functioning properly.

The furnace room frequently becomes a catch-all for old church service programs and used primary education literature. This room should be inspected and all unneeded papers should be thrown out.

Waste paper is a combustible upon which fires feed.

When the clean-up job is completed it is a good plan to appoint a housekeeping committee to see to it that the spic-and-span condition is maintained. Once the hall has been given a thorough cleaning, it takes only a little effort to keep it that way, particularly if the committee maintains surveillance over the kitchen range, broiler, hood and ventilation ducts to be sure grease is not accumulating in them.

Woman Shot Accidentally In Graves

MAYFIELD, Ky., Ruth Wilkins of Graves County was shot in the cheek Thursday afternoon, the sheriff's office here reported.

Henry H. Pope of Martin, Tenn., told officers he shot Mrs. Wilkins accidentally with a .22 caliber pistol.

Pope said he was trying to get the pistol out of a holster to shoot a snake when it accidentally discharged. Mrs. Wilkins was taken to a Fulton hospital and transferred later to a Memphis hospital. Her condition was described as fair.

Lynn Bencini, 62, Columbus, Dies

COLUMBUS, Ky., Lynn Bencini, 62, of Columbus died Friday morning of a heart attack suffered in Paducah.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Willie Belle Bencini; one daughter, Mrs. James Henderson Jr. of Franklin, Ind.; two sons, Lynn Bencini Jr. of Columbus and James William Bencini of Evansville, Ind.; one brother, Lonnie Bencini of Chicago, and three sisters, Mrs. Harold Simon and Mrs. Cyril Creech, both of Helena, Ark. and Mrs. Alice Turri of New York City.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at the Hopkins and Brown Funeral Chapel. Burial will be in the Columbus Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 3 p.m. Saturday.

Woodall Warns Of 'Subtle' Insurance Solicitations

FRANKFORT — The state Insurance Department has warned veterans and the parents of servicemen to be on their guard against subtle solicitations by mail from life insurance companies not licensed to do business in Kentucky.

Insurance Commissioner Roy Woodall said Thursday that several out-of-state companies are mailing letters worded in such a way as to make it appear servicemen have actually ordered policies and want the premiums to be paid by their families. Another firm has been offering veterans insurance in a way to make it appear as if it is endorsed by the Veterans Administration, Woodall said.

HOW TO FOIL DRUDGERY FOR MEN

Men, do you realize how many ways you can use aluminum foil in your work around the house, in the yard, and even in your favorite hobbies? Women discovered how handy it is years ago.

Some ideas for using the versatile foil wrap are passed on for men by Anaconda Aluminum Company, a producer of foil wrap and aluminum foil products.

Household painters are fast becoming aware of its use as a liner for roller trays, thus avoiding messy cleanup. They also wrap their brushes in foil to keep them pliant during interruptions on the job. And they're great for wrapping and storing clean brushes.

The paint can itself also will pose a problem, but if a third of the rim is fitted with a small piece of foil, slopping into the can rim is eliminated. Dispose of the foil when resealing and the paint-free rim allows for easy reopening.

When mending broken dishes or toys, wrap them tightly in foil after gluing to hold firmly until the glue dries; the foil won't stick to the glue.

Rust on garden and workshop tools is cut down when they are wrapped in aluminum foil. Light tarnish on chrome is quickly removed by rubbing with a piece of foil. And outdoor grills lined with foil will reflect the heat, protect the bowl from burning out and make disposal of ashes a simple chore.

Fishermen find that the glitter of foil on the lure attracts more fish and their catches stay fresher wrapped in aluminum foil.

Small boat owners should carry foil as a safety precaution. If lost on the water, the boat then spreads the foil on the deck, making it easier and faster for Coast Guard pick up on radar, hastening rescue operations.

And, finally, the golfer will find a wadded aluminum foil ball ideal for practice putting, even in the confines of the home!

Clerical Duties Numerous

LONDON—England and Wales employ about 2,750,000 people as clerical workers—about one seventh of all the jobs in the country. An estimated 2 million are sales workers.

Water Show to Feature 'Broadway' April 21-23

Twenty-one lovely girls dancing and swimming to songs from hit Broadway musicals.

That's what you'll see at the annual Water Carnival, produced by the Sea Mists, a synchronized swim club, April 21-23.

The show will be based on Broadway plays and will include 12 numbers from such hits as "West Side Story," "Oklahoma," "Hello, Dolly," and "The Sound of Music."

Other girls included in the show are:

Splash-off is at 8 p.m. each night in the Carr Health Building. Admission is 75 cents.

Two Injured In Wreck At Fulton

FULTON, Ky., April 9—Two men received minor injuries in a car-truck collision here.

Earl Bard, former Postmaster at Water Valley, was admitted to Hillview Hospital with a slight chest injury. Bard was the driver of the car and was traveling alone.

Terry Wayne Morrow, 17, Fulton Rt. 4, a passenger in the truck, was treated and released from the hospital.

Leroy Wilbourn, 21, driver of the truck, was not injured. Wilbourn said he was traveling south of the Highway 51 bypass and the car driven by Bard failed to stop for a stop sign at the intersection at west state line.

Both vehicles were extensively damaged, it was reported. City police who investigated the accident could not be reached for comment.

Doctor in the Kitchen

DON'T TRY TO BE A MEDICINE MAN

People occasionally ask me if they should alter their diets for fear of cholesterol.

I take it they are being influenced by publicity they've seen that suggests fats in the diet, particularly those containing cholesterol, may be a cause of heart disease.

Well, they may be one cause of some heart disease. There's a good deal of evidence that suggests this. But the evidence is far from conclusive. There are other factors, too, that are implicated in heart diseases. There is no reason to panic and we need some fats in our diet.

Cholesterol and Blood
The whole scientific controversy swirling around cholesterol concerns whether too much of it in your blood can in fact cause a heart attack, or set up conditions that in turn make a heart attack more likely. While a lot of evidence points that way, the fact remains there are people with high blood cholesterol levels who never have a heart attack. And there are people with low blood cholesterol levels who do. The body makes its own cholesterol. A proper level of cholesterol in the blood is normal.

The medical profession is not in full agreement about cholesterol. Meantime, we do know there are very good reasons for not tampering needlessly with the basic American diet that has rendered so many health benefits to our population. Also, we know heart disease probably has multiple causes. It is generally agreed that lack of exercise, heredity, smoking, obesity and high blood pressure are involved as much or more than diet. So are dietary factors other than fats, including starches and sugars.

You can't do much about heredity since it isn't given to us to choose our parents. But if there's a history of heart disease in your family, you should take this into consideration. You can follow medical advice about how to live.

What to Do
You can do something about exercise. So can you, if you have enough will power, do something about smoking. High blood pressure and obesity? You should see your doctor about these, unless your overweight is not that serious. One can lose some excess weight by simply eating less of everything.

But don't tamper with your diet in terms of trying to affect delicate changes in the amounts and kinds of fats you eat. You've heard of animal fats and vegetable fats—also polyunsaturated, monounsaturated, and saturated fatty acids? See your doctor about these. If he thinks your risk of a heart attack is such that your diet should be modified, he'll say so. And he will know how to do it, taking into account all sorts of other things he knows about your general health or special problems you may have.

Guidance Is Important
Besides, without guidance you would probably fail to affect any significant change in your blood cholesterol level. This is the opinion of authorities who are experienced in such things. And also remember, as we said earlier, no one really knows the exact role of cholesterol in your blood in relation to your heart. Your doctor is the man to see about these things. Don't attempt to be your own medical man, or your neighbor's.

Cruse Assumes Church Post

FULTON, Ky., April 9—South Fulton Baptist Church has hired Ron Cruse, Martin, Tenn., as a minister of music. Cruse is a native of Oklahoma, and graduated from Oklahoma Baptist University.

He studied religious education at Southwestern Baptist Seminary in Fort Worth and then completed his graduate work at Texas Christian University.

Cruse, 28, psychology instructor at the University of Tennessee, Martin Branch, will direct the adult choir and supervise the graded choir program of the church. He is married and has three children.

He has served churches in Texas and Oklahoma. He will assume his duties with the church April 10.

Mail Call Brightens Servicemen's Lives

Mail from home is the major morale builder for servicemen, military spokesmen agree.

And along with the packages and letters, families now are sending increasing numbers of pocket-sized notebooks overseas. Servicemen find them particularly useful for notes taken during military training lectures, for jotting down items to be remembered when writing home, for recording exposure and other data if the serviceman is a camera fan, and for keeping various personal reminders and records.

At home, tablets have become increasingly useful to families with loved ones in the Armed Forces. In them are noted reminders of those daily interesting happenings they can write about in their letters. These notes are then used as outlines for informative, cheerful letters that help to keep spirits from drooping.

The tablets are also useful for keeping lists of items to be sent from home, records of gifts mailed, military postal addresses and other important data.

4 Graves Principals Shifted

MAYFIELD, Ky. — James B. Deweese, Graves County school superintendent, today announced appointments of six high school principals, including some transfers and the consolidation of Hardeman School students into two other schools.

Deweese would not comment on the shuffling of four principals among schools in the county except to say the Graves County board of education took the action at his request.

He said closing of the eight-grade Hardeman School was done at the request of the Kentucky board of education. Students from the school will attend classes next year at Symsonia and Farmington High Schools.

Appointments of high school principals for next year:

James Pickard will remain at Sedalia, Cecil Reed will remain at Symsonia, Howard Reed will move from Wingo to Lowes, W. W. Chumler will move from Lowes to Cuba, Joe McPherson will shift from Cuba to Farmington and C. W. Jones will go to Wingo from Farmington.

A well-informed source in Graves County told the Sun-Democrat the school system shakeup apparently is not based on any major controversy over the conduct of school business. Related To Politics?

The source pointed out that Deweese is regarded as a political organizer in the county and claimed the shifts were more related to county politics than to the school system.

One of the principals being transferred, Howard Reed of Wingo, was defeated by Rep. Lloyd Clapp in a race for the state legislature.

Another of the switched principals, McPherson, is said to have a political following of his own in Cuba and sometimes acts independently of the Deweese organization, the source reported.

McPherson is being switched to Farmington, said to be the smallest school in the system and "the most likely to be abandoned" if further school consolidation occurs, the source said.

"There has been no unusual internal struggle or public controversy made public which would have been significant enough to warrant so many changes," the source said.

For that reason, the actions are considered "political" by many, he added.

Pay Raises Approved By State

FRANKFORT — More than 2,500 state employees would receive raises under a pay proposal approved by the state Personnel Board.

The plan calls for the state's minimum salary to be boosted from $180 to $219 a month.

The board also approved Friday increases in pay for the state's top jobs, which means a hike from $17,500 to $22,584 a year for some of the state's professional workers.

The pay increases would go into effect July 1 under the plan, which goes to Gov. Edward T. Breathitt after approval by the Finance Department.

Finance Commissioner Felix Joyner has indicated that at least two points in the plan must await a cost estimate before going to the governor.

One would consolidate the present 48 pay grades into 23, and the other would allow an eighth pay raise within a job classification as opposed to the present seven.

Tour Planned At Park Near Cape Girardeau

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. — Sunday, April 17, has been selected by Cape Girardeau florists as the Sunday when area dogwood will be at its best for viewing.

The Trail of Tears State Park has attracted over 1,000 carloads of nature lovers during each of the four years the tour has been held. The profuse bloom is rated by many as the heaviest concentration of native dogwood in the Midwest. The Trail of Tears State Park is eight miles north of Cape Girardeau.

Drive maps and copies of the "Legend of the Dogwood" will be given motorists by Jaycees at an information station set up on Cape Rock Drive near Wimpsey's at the intersection of U.S. Highway 61 and Cape Rock Drive. The tour will be plainly marked with orange arrows.

The Chamber of Commerce joins the Jaycees in their invitation to area motorists to make the tour.

There are no fees or other charges.

Heat 'N Serve Dish For Baby Feeding

Even though every week is baby week, a national celebration in May reports on all the good things available for baby. Keeping baby happy calls for generous portions of love, gentle care, sound sleep and, of course, good food.

Mother has the responsibility of selecting and serving food in the most appetizing and sanitary way. Books have been written on baby feeding methods, but the "do's" and "don'ts" should be flexible. Each baby has individual requirements, so the best advice on diet should come from a doctor.

A wide variety of ready-to-serve baby foods makes it easy to plan a well-balanced diet. Most foods must be warmed because baby is sensitive to foods at right temperatures. When studies were made in the test kitchens of General Electric Housewares, a Heat 'N Serve Baby Dish was devised to keep foods warm automatically for about 30 minutes. The slowest eater can enjoy food all through the feeding. Each of the three food compartments holds up to a full jar of baby food (4% oz.). After the food is heated, the cord may be detached.

Dad will appreciate the baby dish when he's in charge. Cereal and milk can be mixed right in the dish to eliminate extra pans. A large suction cup on the bottom of the dish holds it securely so that baby cannot move it. Colorful animal figures on the bottom of the food sections help Dad to keep baby entertained.

Here's a baby food tip: after opening baby food jars and removing the amount to be fed, jars with remaining food should be recovered and refrigerated. After feeding, the G-E baby dish can be washed in warm water with a mild soap or detergent.

NOTICE

The public generally is advised that Hornbeak Funeral Home, Fulton, Kentucky, acting as contractual agent for the Department of Highways of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, will proceed with the removal and relocation of Linder or Davis Cemetery, which is located in Fulton County on Highway 307 on the Bob Davis farm.

Please be advised that anyone having relatives buried in this cemetery notify Hornbeak Funeral Home, phone 472-1412, and identify your relative's grave.

The removal of said cemetery is necessary in order to clear the right-of-way for the construction of the Purchase Parkway.

CROPS PROFIT NOTEBOOK

BOOST LIVESTOCK PROFITS WITH FERTILIZER

by T. R. Cox, Chief Agronomist, Cyanamid Agricultural Research Center

Beef and dairy farmers are discovering that pastures and forage crops can be their best paying crops. This comes as a surprise to many—because in the past these crops simply have not received the fertilizer and management required to make them pay. Row crops got the priority—pasture crops were taken for granted.

Right now—and over the next few weeks before spring growth starts—is the time to topdress pastures and hay crops. A dollar spent on fertilizer will return two to three dollars or more in increased meat and milk. Pastures top-dressed with urea or other nitrogen fertilizer will produce two weeks earlier grazing—easing the load on grain or stored forage. Repeat application in May or June will extend grazing well into summer, when supplemental crops like sudan grass may help carry the herd. Adequate nitrogen on improved grass can make one acre do the job of two.

To get this boost in carrying capacity of your pastures, adequate lime, phosphate, and potash must be used. Soil tests should be used as a guide to building up and maintaining a good level of fertility. Early fall is a preferred time for putting on lime, phosphate and potash. Do it now if you did not get the job done last fall.

Alfalfa and other legume pasture and hay fields should also receive phosphate and potash in early spring if an adequate treatment was not made last fall or late summer. Research by American Cyanamid Company—research by colleges and universities—and farm experience in every area
