Operational Budget Approved By College Board of Regents

An operational budget of $2,700,000 for MSC has been approved by the college board of regents. A faculty salary schedule which ranges from $5,000 to $11,400 was also approved by the board. The new budget and salary schedule will become effective July 1.

The board also approved a semester fee increase of $10 for Kentucky students and an increase of $20 for out-of-state students. These increases were recommended by the Kentucky Council of Education and will be effective this fall.

Fees for bachelor degrees were raised from $5 to $7.50 and fees for master degrees were raised from $16 to $20.

The men's dormitory now under construction was named for the late Hollis C. Franklin, Marion banker and civic leader, Franklin was a member of the MSC board of regents.

New appointments to the faculty and staff approved by the board were:

Douglas Bolling, instructor of languages and literature; F. N. Boney, assistant professor of social sciences; Charles E. Cleaver, instructor of mathematics; Jerry S. Faughn, instructor of physics; Charles Holcomb, assistant professor of psychology; A. L. Hough, instructor of languages and literature.

Chad L. Stewart, associate professor of health; M. B. Wade, professor of social sciences; John C. Williams, assistant professor of biology; and Judy Whitmore, secretary.

Repertory Company To Give Fry Drama Friday at 7:30 p.m.

"The Boy With a Cart," a play by Christopher Fry, will be presented Friday night at 7:30 in the sanctuary of the First Christian Church by the Bishop's Company, American repertory players.

The play is the story of the building of a church. It tells how a young man troubles his aged mother across southern England in a cart he built. In character of the boy the audience sees the existence of divine direction. "The working together of man and God like root and sky—that is the real story."

This will be the only appearance of the Bishop's Company in western Kentucky this year. Units of the company played in over 2,000 cities in the United States in 1961.

These players strive to do more than merely entertain. They seek to "enlighten, open doors, to touch men's thinking," and to deal with the aspects of the modern world in relation to God.

Staff and faculty members granted leaves of absence were: Rex Alexander, physical education; Shirley Garland, dietitian; Ted M. George, physics; James S. Harris, language and literature; Ann Herron, assistant librarian; Alice Koencke, home economics; James Matthai, social sciences; Charles Obert, business; William B. Phillips, physics; Charles Reidlinger, biology; Carrie White, physical education; and Jack Wilson, mathematics.

Granted sabbatical leaves were: Dr. H. L. Oakley, industrial arts; Dr. William Read, physics; and Arlie Scott, agriculture.

President's May 8 Tea Will Honor Seniors

President and Mrs. Ralph H. Woods will give a tea for seniors and graduate students who will complete their work before Jan. 1, 1963, from 3 to 5 p. m. May 8.

The new Business-Education Building is expected to be ready for use during the summer seasons.

With its completion, 69,957 square feet of floor space (the largest building on campus) will be made available to students taking courses in business or education and psychology. The approximate cost will be $1,400,000 for construction, equipment, and furniture.

The new construction is actually two buildings connected by glassed-in walkways. The building is entirely fire-resistant and air-conditioned. Each floor has a suite of faculty offices with a reception room for each suite.

New Furniture

Faculty offices will have all new furniture—steel desks, filing cabinets, and book cases. Colors will be mist green and beige.

Most of the classroom furniture will be new. Modern chair-desks will be used rather than the old arm-chairs. The color scheme will be yellow-brown and coral-blue.

Each classroom will be equipped with blind-type screens for showing films. This will eliminate the need for a projection room. In many of the lecture rooms folding tables and chairs will be used.

All chalkboards are dark green. They are composition boards with metallic surfaces which have baked enamel applied.

Special Features

The landscaping will include the setting of shrubbery, flowers, and trees. New sidewalks and a parking lot will be constructed. A paved parking lot of North 16

Science Institute Accepts 62 Teachers For Summer Study

Sixty-two applicants from 20 states have been accepted to attend the summer institute for general science teachers of senior and junior high schools to be held here this summer.

The purpose of the program is to help high school teachers of science and mathematics improve their knowledge of their subjects and their teaching capabilities.

Courses in biology, chemistry, physics, and geology will be taught by a number of visiting scientists and members of the MSC science staff.

Fifty full stipends will be available to participants. They will range in value from $480 to $1,080. Selection of recipients will be made by a selection committee headed by Dr. W. E. Blackburn, chemistry department head, and Dr. A. M. Wolfson, biology department head.

The institute coincides with the regular summer session at MSC from June 18 to Aug. 10.

The institute is sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

Agriculture Field Day Honors Program For Future Farmers To Be Held Friday

The ninth annual field day for high school agriculture students will be conducted Friday by the MSC agriculture department at the college farm.

Approximately 600 Future Farmers of America members from 35 schools in western Kentucky will enter contests for livestock, seed identification and tagging, soil judging, and tractor driving.

All field activities will be carried out by agriculture students at Murray State, and judging will be done by specialists in that particular area of agriculture.

Trophies and plaques donated by agriculture organizations and Murray business firms will be given to winners in each group, for the boy having highest total points in livestock judging and to the school having highest total points.

President Ralph H. Woods will start the day's activities with a welcoming address at 9:45. Judging in all groups will begin after his address with winners to be announced at 1 p. m. A lunch will be served at the farm.

The program is sponsored each year by the Student Organization to recognize outstanding students in the various departments and organizations on campus.

Awards for the "Outstanding Senior Boy" and "Outstanding Senior Girl" will be made. Students in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities" will also be among those recognized.

Organizations having awards to present should send a list of them to the Student Organization in care of Donna Harper, Box 1094, College Station. The list must be postmarked before Tuesday.

Another Opinion On 'Drinking'

We were greatly interested in an editorial last week in the College News of Murray State College entitled: "Social Drinking Is No Problem."

We usually do not comment on editorials of other editors, but this one struck us as one that should be commented on, for it was on a subject that is of vital importance to all of us. This question of drinking—alcoholic of course—is one that not only affects the college students as this editorial is directed to and about, but it is of importance to all of our people both in and out of college.

We agree heartily with some of the conclusions that the writer states. For instance we quote:

"We will readily admit that drinking could be and may become a serious problem, but to prevent this from happening, the situation must be faced realistically and even factually."

We also quote this statement:

"College students are not prime contenders for Alcohol Anonymous," stated a national collegiate magazine.

To this statement we would declare: Perhaps the college students are not yet candidates for this famous organization of liquor addicts, but with drinking as is apparent and is admitted by the writer in this editorial, those drinking students may be and probably will in the future become such candidates.

We again quote from this college editorial:

"Again, we have the familiar situation of the whole being blamed for the actions of a few."

We grant that is true and we would commend the writer for the facts produced showing that only a small percentage of college students are drinkers, and that these few bring odium on the whole of the student body. We would commend that great great majority of college students who maintain a sober attitude, and it evolves on this majority to weed from its ranks those who bring shame and disgrace to their student body.

In another quote from this editorial we find: "The survey discovered that college students drink no more than do their non-college contemporaries."

Of course that is true but it carries a greater responsibility than seems to have been meant. College students are and should be of greater caliber of intelligence and should show even a lesser tendency to the degrading habit.

Again we quote:

"We believe that college students today are mature enough to accept responsibility and, therefore, are sensitive to such unfair criticism"

While we believe college students—or at least a majority of them—are mature enough to accept responsibility, but the question arises: are they willing to do so and condemn what is wrong and hurtful and accept even unfair criticism with a grain of understanding as mature individuals? Accepting criticism is always a difficult virtue and it is the one who can take it when it comes and profit by it that really shows maturity and poise.

We are perfectly willing to be classed a "hypocrite" if by decrying the fad of drinking by college students we can persuade the best students, and those who really have the interests of their class at heart, to be mature and accept their responsibility to educate or eliminate those who would befoul their nest.

As a last word in this epistle about the Murray State College News editorial, we would say that the title to the editorial in question is misleading: "SOCIAL DRINKING IS NO PROBLEM." The writer disregards his title by immediately going into the problem that he states does not exist. Of course social drinking is a problem and will always be, for from it in its most apparent innocence there is the seed of addiction and alcoholism that wrecks men's lives and makes beastiality prevail in men's souls that should not be.—Hancock Clarion

Derby Day Is This Saturday-- Anyone for a Street Fight!

Just in case you're unable to go home this weekend, or if you're one of those truly mature individuals who can actually bear to let a weekend go by without going home to daddy and mama, I direct your attention to a new, but decidedly amazing phenomena in collegiate entertainment. The name of this unusual event is "Derby Day" and, as viewed by one of last year's more aggressive participants, it is a kind of combination track meet and street fight with a lot of laughs thrown in.

Actually Derby Day isn't new at all. The event, sponsored by Sigma Chi fraternity, is held almost everywhere there is a chapter. But last year was the first of what promises to be an annual spring affair for MSC.

Basically the event is little more than a kind of skill contest for girls' teams, with points awarded to the winners of each event. Bonus points are awarded for the number of derbies each team can steal from fraternity members. The fun comes in the various participants' performances in such contests as pig chasing, tricycle riding, sack racing and, one closest to the heart of Campus Seen, pie eating. All in all it's really quite an affair.—J. England

Peggy La Fever Selected 'Notable'

PEGGY LA FEVER

Due to her diminutive size, you may have to take a second look even to see this month's "Campus Notable," Peggy La Fever. But even though "Little Peg" is well under five feet and weighs less than ninety pounds, she's truly worthy of note.

A senior from Clovis, N. M., Peggy is an honor student on an Air Force scholarship. This year is her second to be listed in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

Peggy is a social science major and serves as a secretary in that department. She is president of the International Relations Club and has been recommended by the social science department for a graduate fellowship at Southern Illinois University. Full of energy, Peggy's the type who makes her tiny self known whether in the classroom or in the Hut. As a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority, a twice-elected cheerleader, and secretary of the Senior Class, she serves MSC in many ways.

Peggy is essentially a serious-minded young lady with an eye on the future. Yet she manages to have a good time at almost anything she undertakes. A "Campus Favorite" for two years, Peggy seems to enjoy life to the fullest, and she has really made the most of her college career.

Honor student, hard worker, popular young lady, the College News salutes Peggy La Fever, an all around coed at MSC.

ON OTHER CAMPUSES:

Police Capture 'Tarzan' at Washington State

They say that spring brings out the beast in every man. At Washington State University a "Tarzan," dressed in a fur skin, carrying a club, roamed around the campus alarming coeds. He was made a guest of the city police station.

At Peabody College in Nashville the cafeteria honors students from other countries with special

AH SPRING! . . . Apparently the outside of the Library is much more appealing than the inside now that the sunny season has hit MSC. The photographer caught these casually dressed students taking advantage of the warm spring weather to just enjoy life and forget books for a while.

Sunburn, Term Papers Mark Spring at MSC

Spring has come to the MSC campus. You can tell because the unbearable mud has turned into unbearable dust. But there are other signs of spring also; the mass exodus to the lake, the sit-and-stare classes daily on the Auditorium steps, the art students laboring to make a tree look like something that there isn't a poem lovelier than.

This is the season of field trips by botany classes, and spring-type dances given by sororities and fraternities, of sunburned backs and peeling noses, and, of course, convertibles. It is also the season of hand-holding and of heavy traffic on the College Farm Road.

Spring at MSC is a time to rejoice in the beauty of nature; consider, for example, the lovely little flowers standing so bravely against the onrush of three thousand tennis-shod flower-haters intent upon their destruction. And then of course, there's still one more form of destruction . . . ooops! I mean progress . . . to think about. For, as spring really gets going we see more and more bulldozers, more and more construction workers, and more and more holes to make MSC a little shaky in its title "The South's Most Beautiful Campus."

Oh yes, and if there were ever a time to cut class, the sunny season is truly the golden opportunity. Of course, one may have to cut class just to keep up his work, for this is also happy term-paper time. Nothing like a warm spring breeze floating softly through the library window to make you sorry you didn't get your contribution to literature done during the monsoon season.

Ah, spring has indeed arrived on the MSC campus and it's so wonderful one begins to think that maybe there's something to this college bit after all.

File Thirteen . . .

Hate to destroy any illusions, but word has reached us that Sky King is not really a religious being.

Are those gargoyles on Wilson Hall or just long forgotten members of the Language and Literature Department who like to hang around the old place?

Is it true that Murray State was once a much larger college but that several buildings have sunk?

After a painting class in the "great outdoors" on one of the so frequent windy days, a student returned with one of the most authentic landscape paintings ever produced—real leaves, real grass, and real dirt covered the canvas.

Remark overheard in the Thoroughbred Room when high-school students were seen carrying signs on senior day: "Looks like they're picketing Murray State."

Is it true that there are really trolls under the construction bridges in front of the Library?

For those of you who appreciate the finer things in life, the 1962 edition of "The Fuzer" will soon be out. Who says MSC lacks culture? Nothing like the Art Train, Jackie Wilson, and Murray State's answer to the Harvard Lampoon all in the same semester.

CRAM COURSE No. 3: ENGLISH POETRY

Final exams will soon be upon us. This is no time for fun and games. Let us instead study hard, cram fiercely, prepare assiduously.

In this column today let us make a quick survey of English poetry. When we speak of English poetry, we are, of course, speaking of Byron, Shelley, and Keats. Some say that of the three, Keats was the most talented. It is true that he displayed his gifts earlier than the others. While still a schoolboy at St. Swinith's he wrote his epic lines:

*If I am good, I get an apple,
So I don't whistle in the chapel.*

From this distinguished beginning, he went on to write another 40,000 poems in his lifetime—which is all the more remarkable when you consider that he was only five feet tall! I mention this fact only to show that physical problems never keep the true artist from creating. Byron, for example, was lame. Shelley had an ingrown hair. Nonetheless, these three titans of literature turned out a veritable torrent of romantic poetry.

Nor did they neglect their personal lives. Byron, a devil with the ladies, was expelled from Oxford for dipping Elizabeth Barrett's pigtails in an inkwell. He thereupon left England to fight in the Greek war of independence. He fought bravely and well, but women were never far from his mind, as evidenced by this immortal poem:

*How splendid it is to fight for the Greek,
But I don't enjoy it half as much as dancing cheek to cheek.
While Byron fought in Greece, Shelley remained in England, where he became court poet to the Duke of Marlborough. (It is interesting to note in passing that Marlborough was the original spelling of Marlboro Cigarettes, but the makers were unable to get the entire word on the package. With characteristic ingenuity they cleverly lopped off the final "gh". This, of course, left them with a "g" lying around the factory. They looked for some place to put it and finally decided to give it to the Director of Sales, Mr. Vincent Van Go. This had a rather curious result. As plain Van Go, he had been a crackerjack director of sales, but once he became Van Gogh, he felt a mysterious, irresistible urge to paint. He resigned from the Company and became an artist. It did not work out too well. When Van Gogh learned what a great success Marlboro Cigarettes quickly became—as, of course, they had to with such a flavorful flavor, such a filterful filter, such a flip-top box, such a soft pack—he was so upset about leaving the firm that he cut off his ear in a fit of chagrin.)*

But I digress. Byron, I say, was in Italy and Shelley in

He resigned from the Company and became an artist

England. Meanwhile Keats went to Rome to try to grow. Who does not remember his wistful lyric:

*Although I am only five feet high,
Some day I will look in an elephant's eye.*

But Keats did not grow. His friends, Shelley and Byron, touched to the heart, rushed to Rome to stretch him. This too failed. Then Byron, ever the ladies' man, took up with Lucrezia Borgia, Catherine of Aragon, and Annie Oakley. Shelley, a more domestic type, stayed home with his wife Mary, and wrote his famous poem:

*I love to stay home with the missus and write,
And hug her and kiss her and give her a bite.*

Mary Shelley finally got so tired of being bitten that she went into another room and wrote Frankenstein. Upon reading the manuscript, Shelley and Byron got so scared they immediately booked passage home to England. Keats tried to go too, but he was so small that the clerk at the steamship office couldn't see him over the top of the counter. So Keats remained in Rome and died of a broken heart.

Byron and Shelley cried a lot and then together composed this immortal epitaph:

*Good old Keats, he might have been short,
But he was a great American and a heck of a good sport.*

Truth, not poetry, is the business of the Marlboro makers, and we tell you truly that you can't find a better tasting, better smoking cigarette than today's Marlboro.

Sports Log Light In Upcoming Week

The upcoming sports week shows a fairly light schedule of events.

The unbeaten tracksters will meet the Golden Eagles of Tennessee Tech here Friday and then take to the road to invade Southeast Missouri on Monday.

Last season the Techmen gave the Racers their closest dual meet, holding them to a 10-point win.

Coach Jim Harris' netmen, who have bowed but once in 10 times out, will take on Southwestern at Memphis on Tuesday. The two squads have not met so far.

The baseball Racers begin a five-game homestand with a doubleheader against the Western Hilltoppers tomorrow. Saturday the Arkansas State Indians will test the Racers, and Middle Tennessee closes out the home games with a doubleheader set for Monday.

The Western and Middle Tennessee games are vital conference affairs.

Southeast Missouri will visit the golfers of Coach "Buddy" Hewitt Friday. The linksmen have smothered the Cape team once this year.

Cincinnati Takes Racers by 5-3

Murray State's baseball team lost to the Bearcats from the University of Cincinnati here Saturday, 5-3. It was the eight loss of the season for the Racers, who have won four.

The Racers scored three times in the first inning against the defending Missouri Valley champions. Base hits by P. K. Kershner, Pat Boyer, and Russ Whittington, a walk to Tom Story, and a throwing error enabled the Racers to take an early lead.

A walk, a triple and an error allowed the Bearcats to score twice in the second inning. Cincinnati tied the score in the third inning on two throwing errors charged to the Racers.

The visitors scored the winning runs in the top of the sixth. Dan Pugh, who went eight innings for the Racers, was the losing pitcher. He was relieved in the ninth by Charlie Wade. Kershner led the Murray offense with a double and two singles.

Softball to Open In Intramurals

Intramural softball is scheduled to open this week, according to Student Director Lynn Fly.

Three leagues of six teams each and one league of five teams have been set up. Play will be held at the City Park and at the practice football field.

A post-season tournament will be held to determine the overall champion of intramural softball.

Athletes' Feats

By Paul Miller

The football Racers have scheduled only one new team for their 1962 slate of games. The Murrayans will meet Western Illinois of Macomb in the second contest of the year. The game will be played at Macomb.

The season opens with traditional foe East Tennessee at Cutchin Stadium for a 7:30 game.

The remainder of the schedule is: Sept. 29, Eastern, away; Oct. 6, Morehead, home; 7:30; Oct. 13, U.T.M.B., away; Oct. 20, Tennessee Tech, home; 7:30; Oct. 27, Arkansas State, home, 1:30 p. m. Nov. 3, Middle Tennessee, away; Nov. 10, Western, home, 1:30 p. m.; and Nov. 17, Southeast Missouri, away.

TECH GETS TALLER

The Tennessee Tech Golden Eagles, who didn't exactly suffer from a lack of height last year, have signed up two "big" ones for their freshman basketball team.

Tech Coach John Oldham signed Landon Hale and John Maxwell. Hale stands 6-8 and Maxwell is 6-5.

Murray's height problem may become acute next year unless the Racers can pull in some tall boys in the meantime.

MURRAY BEAT 'EM

The Austin Peay Volunteers, who were only recently admitted into membership of the OVC, had a pretty fair freshman basketball team. The baby vols compiled a sterling 19-5 record. Incidentally, two of the vol losses were to the Murray freshmen.

DUGAN DONE IT

The Murray pitching staff, which has for the most part been plagued with more runs than a coed's nylon, finally got a good job from one of its members.

George Dugan struck out 19 opposing batters in his 2-bit victory over the Sioux from North Dakota U. He became one of the few hurlers to go the route and he did it in fine style.

Despite the performance of Dugan the baseballers have been losing at an alarming pace. The batting potential is there. The pitching potential is there. The question arises then, what's wrong? Beats the tar out of me and I imagine Coach John Reagan as well.

The Racers split their conference opener against the Tennessee Tech Golden Eagles. That's not much of a way to start a title defense.

DOTY IS DANDY
Bob Doty, who had the unenviable job of filling the speeding shoes of Ray Wilson, has done a very creditable bit of running. The speedster anchors the 440-yard relay team and picks up points in the 100-yard dash too. He is another of the talented freshmen tolling for Coach Bill Furgerson.

Speaking of "fill-ins," how about the way the Bolling brothers have taken up the slack left in the shot put and discus events. "Butch" Hamilton, a virtual winner in the events last year, left school. To compound Ferg's worries Mike

Murray Baseballers Split Double Header With St. Louis Bills

The Murray State baseball team split a doubleheader with the Bilikins of St. Louis University here Thursday. The Racers won the second game, 14-0, after losing the first, 6-1. The Racers have now won five games while losing seven.

In the first game the Bilikins scored four times in the first inning. A walk, two errors, and three singles highlighted the big inning.

Murray scored its run in the third inning after one man was out. Jerry Anderson reached first on an error, went to third on a double by Jimmy Orr, and scored on a sacrifice fly by P. K. Kershner.

Anderson, who went five innings for Murray, was the losing pitcher.

Jim Jacobs shut the Bilikins out on just three hits to lead the Racers to victory in the second game. Murray's offensive attack came to life as the Racers scored 14 times.

Murray scored four times in the first inning on six walks and two errors charged to the Bilikins. In the third, Murray came back with another big inning and scored nine times. Tom Story reached first on an error to start the inning. Russ Whittington walked, and Bob Hines singled to left to score Story. Before the Racers could be retired, Jacobs, Rick Grant, and Gordon Fritz had walked, Kershner and Sonny Ward had reached base on errors, and Pat Boyer and Whittington, up for his second time in the inning, had delivered base hits.

The Racers scored again in the fifth inning. Ward walked, went to second on a wild pitch, went to third on a passed ball, and scored on a sacrifice fly by Story.

The local chapter meets each Wednesday at 6 p. m. in the Baptist Student Center.

The Circle K Club is not a social fraternity; it is a service organization for college men and is similar to Kiwanis and other service clubs. It is a leadership and character-building group which serves the campus and the community.

To be eligible for membership a student must meet the minimum scholastic and attendance standards of the college which he is attending. He must also attend at least 60 per cent of the scheduled meetings of the club.

Students may ask to join Circle K, or they may be asked by other Circle K members to become affiliated.

The Circle K clubs sponsor many worthwhile campus and community activities. Some of these include campus beautification programs, safety programs, charity drives, and many others.

Woodbridge Speaks To UK Library Class

Dr. Hensley C. Woodbridge, librarian, spoke to a library science class at the University of Kentucky earlier this month. He discussed Jesse Stuart, the Stuart bibliography and Murray State College's Jesse Stuart collection.

While on the University of Kentucky campus he examined the progress being made on the $1,000,000 addition to the University of Kentucky Library.

Dr. Woodbridge was told of a plan to go into effect in the next year or two that would establish a state-wide telephone system; uniting all agencies of the state government.

Job Representatives To Hold Interviews At MSC Next Week

Interviews will be conducted through the placement office next week by representatives from the Kresge Company, Memphis, and the St. Louis City Schools.

Representatives from the Kresge Company will be on campus next Thursday to interview students for training.

On May 3 representatives from St. Louis City Schools will be here to interview students interested in the following fields: elementary, math, science, social sciences, English, languages, business education, and physical education for women.

Students must arrange interviews through the placement office, stated Mr. M. O. Wreather, director of placement. Their credentials must be on file in the office.

Tomorrow representatives from the office of superintendent of schools, Pekin, Ill., will be here to interview qualified students for positions in English, foreign language, mathematics, and physical science.

MSC Shares Honors For Folklore Article

The January-March 1962 issue of the "Kentucky Folklore Record" contains "Bibliography of Kentucky Folklore for 1961" by Dr. Hensley C. Woodbridge, Murray, and D. K. Wilgus, Western, librarians.

This is the only annual state folklore bibliography to be published in the country.

The purpose of this bibliography is to list all books, articles, book reviews, radio, television programs, and comic strips dealing with Kentucky folklore that appeared in 1961.

In the same issue Dr. Woodbridge reviews Munn's "The Southern Appalachians" and Brundage's "A Dictionary of Proverbs and Proverbial Phrases." In the March issue of the "American Book Collector" Dr. Woodbridge reviews John David Marshall's "American Library History Reader."

Murray has a winner.

The ROTC rifle team closed an excellent season with a victory over Arkansas State in the final match of the year.

The win over State capped a nearly perfect season. The season saw the Murray riflemen win 11 out of 12 dual matches and finishing second in the National Rifle Association sectional matches at Nashville.

In addition to the second-place finish in the NRA matches, Murray State placed fifth in the 15-team Walsh Invitational matches at Xavier, Ohio.

The season's record was the best ever posted by a Murray ROTC rifle team.

An awards-presentation banquet will be held May 4 in the Student Union Building. Dr. Donald B. Hunter, registrar, will be the featured speaker.

The one loss was to Florence State, and that by only 8 points: Murray 1,317; Florence State 1,378.

Team members are: Joe W. Randolph, senior, Nortonville; David Rowland, junior, Mayfield; Kenneth Heath, sophomore, Mayfield; Jimmy Williams, freshman, Fulton.

Reception on Sunday To Honor Walmsley

The staff of the art division will hold a reception 3:5 p. m. Sunday in the Mary Ed McDev Hall Gallery, honoring Prof. William Walmsley.

Prof. Walmsley's one-man show has been one of the featured events of the Contemporary Arts Festival. The reception will officially close the festival.

All friends and patrons of Prof. Walmsley are invited to attend the reception. Remodeling work in the Fine Arts Building prevented an official reception being held when the exhibit opened April 9.
