Trailway Strike Is In Third Day

Alexandria, La., May 23—(AP)—A bus strike in nine Southern states went into its third day today without indication any settlement was near.

R. K. Jeffries, executive vice president of the Southern Trailways Bus Lines, said his company will not agree to arbitrate its differences with striking workers until a basis for agreement has been reached.

Otto Debate, president of the Amalgamated Association of Streetcar, Electric Railway and Motor Coach employees, Local 1127, had checked out of his Alexandria hotel and left no forwarding address.

Waterfield For Park Board

State Commission Called
Way To Improve Service
Of Kentucky State Parks

Paducah, Ky., May 23—(AP)—A proposal for the creation of a state commission to manage the Kentucky State Parks was endorsed by Harry Lee Waterfield, Democratic candidate for Governor, in a statement issued here today.

Organization of the parks under a commission to provide for continuity of a program for their development and their management by non-political, trained personnel is sponsored by the newly organized Kentucky State Parks Association, which was formed at a meeting of park boosters last Friday at Louisville.

This action was taken after the Kentucky Lake Association adopted a resolution proposing the commission plan and calling on the candidates for governor to express their views on it.

"I am in full accord with the objectives of the Kentucky State Parks Association and the other organizations which seek to place the operation of our state parks on an improved basis," Waterfield said.

Cities To Ask Aid From State

Municipal League Draws
Legislative Proposals For Consideration In 1948

Lexington, Ky., May 23—(AP)—The Kentucky Municipal League is going to ask the state to provide financial aid for cities.

This was decided by league directors at a meeting here yesterday on legislative proposals to be submitted by the organization to the 1948 General Assembly.

J. J. Moran, mayor of Hazard and League president, presided at the session on legislation.

Carl Wachs, league executive secretary, said the proposals approved by the directors constituted merely a "start" on the league's legislative program.

Other proposals will be incorporated in the program before the legislature meets next January, he added.

Among the proposals voted by the directors: make city tax districts "mandatory"; seek a uniform law on annexation; generalize statutes relating to powers of city councils of the second, third and fourth population classes by cutting the statutes from 25 sections to two sections; put public works and improvements, including street and sidewalk construction, on a more workable special assessment plan.

Wachs said the state will be asked to select the taxes from which the cities would receive returns, but the league will make proposals.

Telephones Police, Then Shoots Self For Wife's Murder

San Pedro, Calif., May 23—(AP)—Rollin A. Starkey, 39, a carpenter, meant exactly what he said when, Detective Capt. H. L. Evans said, he telephoned police:

"I'm going to kill myself because three days ago I killed my wife."

The desk sergeant heard a shot on the telephone. When police officers arrived at Starkey's home they found him, shot in the head. Before he died in a hospital he gave the police instructions about finding his wife.

Hours later, San Bernardino county officers found the body of blonde Betty Starkey, 30, in a cabin at Lake Arrowhead, a resort about 100 miles north.

Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff Harry R. Heap said a noose improvised from nylon stockings was found and that she apparently was strangled.

Music Pupils Give Program

Mrs. Steve Wiley Presents
Selections by Five Girls
At Lions Club's Meeting

Music pupils of Mrs. Steve Wiley presented a delightful program of vocal and instrumental music today at the regular Lions Club meeting.

The first two numbers were piano solos, the selections President Truman played at the Potsdam Conference. Emma Ruth Cavender played a theme and variation by Mozart and Ann Bowen chose Paderewski's "Minuet."

Miss Cavender then sang "Cribbribbin'" followed by a flute solo, "Gavotte" by Popp, played by Elizabeth Ann Roper.

The program was concluded with a piano duet, "Triumphal March" from the opera "Aida" by Verdi, played by Nancy Wilson and Belle Whitesell.

William McDade, a new Lion, was introduced by the club president, Paul Westpheling, new publisher of the weekly newspaper here, was a guest.

West Palm Beach, Fla., May 23—(AP)—The wreckage of a Flying Fortress missing on a flight from the Canal Zone to Kelly Field, Texas, has been found in Nicaragua, the Army announced today.

The plane with 15 persons aboard, was located as a vast search was in progress by the Army and Navy over Central America, the Gulf of Mexico and Caribbean Sea.

Morrison Field authorities said the notification that the wrecked craft had been found carried no other details.

Truman's Mother Is 'No Better'; President To Stay Indefinitely

Grandview, Mo., May 23—(AP)—President Truman's "very weak" mother showed no improvement today, raising the possibility he may remain here indefinitely unless there is a decided change for the better.

Mr. Truman told reporters at 8:30 a. m. that Mrs. Martha E. Truman's condition was "just about the same" this morning.

There has been no perceptible improvement in nearly two days. Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, Presidential physician, tersely informed newsmen last night that her condition was "unchanged." He had expressed hope Wednesday of gradual improvement.

The President, tense and emotional after a week made up of long hours of anxious vigil at her bedside, was torn between two roles.

He had important affairs awaiting him in Washington, yet he feared the effects of his departure on the tired heart of his mother.

His daily presence at her bedside since a dangerous relapse a week ago has been Graham's principal hope for a continuance of her will to live.

Without that will to live, Graham has acknowledged that there is little a physician can do. Meanwhile the "White House" was functioning at the elderly Mrs. Truman's home and from headquarters in the Hotel Muehlebach in nearby Kansas City.

In the hotel suite, an emergency switchboard functioned to keep the President in immediate communication with Washington as well as with any world capital.

The 24th commencement exercises of the college will be held May 26 at 8 p. m. in the auditorium, John Temple Graves II, versatile newspaper man and well-known lecturer from Birmingham, Ala., will speak.

Farm Deaths 18,500 In 1946

Accident Toll Compiled
By Nat'l Safety Group;
Motor Vehicle Deaths Up

Chicago, May 23—(AP)—The National Safety Council said today that 18,500 of the nation's farm residents were killed in all types of accidents in 1946 with 7,000 of the fatalities resulting from motor vehicle mishaps.

The 1946 total was nine percent more than the 1945 toll of 17,500 and the increase was due, the council said, to the rise in motor vehicle deaths from 5,500 in 1945 to 7,000 last year.

Accidents in farm homes caused 6,500 deaths, unchanged from 1945, and approximately one million persons were injured in farm home accidents.

Farm work fatalities from accidents totaled 4,500 about the same as in 1945, and amounted to 27 percent of the country's occupational death toll.

Fire destroyed farm property valued at $90,000,000, one-sixth of the national fire loss, the council said.

Annual Decoration Day will be observed next Sunday, May 25, at Mt. Moriah church, four miles east of Fulton.

House Committee Recommends 32 Pct. Ag Dept. Budget Cut; GOP Plans Further Reductions

Romney Gets 1 To 3 Years

Responsible for Shortage
In U. S. House Accounts;
Two Others Involved

Washington, May 23—(AP)—Kenneth Romney, former House sergeant-at-arms, was sentenced today to serve from one to three years in federal prison on a charge of concealing a $143,863 shortage in his office accounts.

The sentence was imposed in Federal District Court by Justice Alexander Holtzoff who said he was dealing leniently because the shortage occurred a great many years ago and two other people who apparently had some part in it are beyond the law.

Holtzoff referred to former Representative John H. Smithwick (D-Fla.) 72, who now resides in Georgia.

He said the evidence indicated some checks that Romney had cashed for Smithwick had never been paid and they apparently represented a good portion of the shortage. But Holtzoff said the statute of limitations prevents Smithwick from being accused.

Defense Attorney William H. Collins announced he will take the case to the United States Court of Appeals. Judge Holtzoff permitted Romney to remain free on $2,500 bond pending this appeal.

The committee's major cuts were directed at the Farmers' Home Administration—an offshoot of the old Farm Security Administration; the Soil Conservation Service; the crop insurance program and the school lunch program.

Republican plans to cut the President's 1948 budget by cancelling $1,000,000,000 of appropriations voted last year by the Democratic-controlled Congress were disclosed today by Senator Bridges (R-NH).

This billion dollar cutback, he said, will be needed to make the $4,500,000,000 savings the Senate has pledged.

Bridges did not specify which agencies will feel this economy blow. The funds, however, were among those voted by Congress last year for the fiscal year starting next July 1.

The cutback will be in addition to a $641,832,000 fund transfer the GOP put through Congress yesterday through an inconspicuous rider to an appropriation bill. The amendment directs the Treasury to pay off immediately $41,820,000 in Commodity Credit Corporation notes.

President Truman had proposed that the Treasury pay the notes in the fiscal year starting July 1.

The Senate, meanwhile, continued debate on the income tax reduction bill, with Republicans claiming the strength to block a Democratic proposal to delay action until June 1.

A vote on the proposal of Senate George (D-Ga.), has been set for 3 p. m. (CST) Monday. George contends, with almost solid Democratic support, that the Senate should wait until June 10, when it should know pretty well what the appropriations pattern will be for next year, before acting on the tax cut bill.

If the motion is defeated, the Senate then will act on various amendments to the bill, already passed by the House and slightly changed by the Senate Finance Committee.

Hit-Run Driver Before Grand Jury In Fayette County

Lexington, Ky., May 23—(AP)—William McKenzie, 26, awaited action of the Fayette county grand jury today on manslaughter charges filed against him in connection with the deaths of three men killed by a hit-and-run motorist.

McKenzie, a Bourbon county tenant farmer, was held for grand jury action under $35,000 bond after a hearing yesterday. McKenzie did not testify at the hearing before County Judge W. E. Nichols.

County Attorney Paul Mansfield questioned eight witnesses. Among them were construction workers employed at the road project on Paris Pike near here, where McKenzie is accused of having driven the car which struck four men, injuring three fatally, and of having left the scene.

Princeton Pledges $63,840 For New Memorial Hospital

Princeton, Ky., May 23—(AP)—A total of $63,840 has been pledged toward construction of a war memorial hospital for Caldwell county, incomplete returns from canvassers showed today.

Princeton declared a holiday yesterday so that business men and women could aid in the fund-raising drive. The day's quota had been set at $50,000.

A proposed $100,000 bond issue for the proposed hospital is to be voted upon next November. The public subscription will supplement that fund if the bond issue is approved.

State Needs Waterfield

A professional politician is one who, over a period of years, has made his living out of politics. That several such men are currently taking the lead in espousing the cause of Earle C. Clements for the Democratic nomination for Governor is not conducive to arousing the interest of many thousands of voters in Kentucky, needed for a victorious majority in November. The professionals think of political expediency first, last and all the time... whereas the citizens of Kentucky are entitled to a Governor who thinks first of the welfare of all the people of the Commonwealth. Such a man is Harry Lee Waterfield.

Waterfield, young, vigorous, fearless and fair, has earned the enmity of several Kentucky Democratic leaders because he fought for what he believed to be right, in the interests of the whole State, as a member of the Legislature. His long battle for the TVA as against the Kentucky Utilities Company's ripped bill, has aligned this powerful interest against him... but should put the people on his side.

It is the same in the case of the school folk, whose battles he has fought consistently and ardently. Had the State Senate, under dominance of Earle Clements, gone along with the appropriation bill as passed by the House, much of the present emergency in our schools would have been avoided.

Waterfield fought for and finally succeeded in having passed the law which permits farmers to buy gasoline for their motorized equipment without paying the State tax on such fuel. In this fight, he lost strong political friends, who now are opposing him. But he should have the farmers' support, for he was on their side.

Any examination of the public records of the two men who now seek the Democratic gubernatorial nomination should convince fair-minded individuals that Waterfield is the man Kentucky needs for Governor now. (Fulton Leader).

Honeysuckle Time

May we suggest as a sure cure for the blues a journey, preferably on foot, along almost any road leading out of Fulton?

It's honeysuckle time. The leisurely traveler can dismiss the cares and worries of office or home, as he lingers to look at the lovely white blossoms and inhales the delicious fragrance of the flowering vines.

Blackberry vines and other plants and shrubs are putting forth flowers, but right now it's the honeysuckle who is queen of them all.

The honeysuckle is especially luxurious and fragrant on the Dukedom road. The road is a bit rough, it is true, but the profusion of floral beauty there makes a trip along it well worth while.

It Isn't Customary

Kulm, N. D.—(P)—Dr. Frank P. Tolleen, back in the United States after living in Sweden for 20 years, has discontinued one age-old European custom.

Stopping at a hotel in a large American city on his way to his former home, Dr. Tolleen said he put his shoes outside his hotel room door before retiring—expecting to find them shined in the morning.

That, he said, is the custom in Europe—but not in America. His shoes were stolen.

Bevin Is Upset

By Dewitt MacKenzie,
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Britain's outspoken foreign secretary, Ernest Bevin, says one of the greatest handicaps in international negotiations (specifically the recent Big Four conference in Moscow) is that a chap can't even think out loud without his thoughts being "hurled into headlines in the press."

U. S. Secretary of State Marshall disagrees with this conclusion, and favors full news coverage. One suspects that Mr. Bevin really feels the same but has been irked for the moment by some unwelcome experience and has let the sun go down upon his wrath. Maybe, too, the fiery foreign secretary himself contributes a wee bit to his difficulties by thinking out loud so explosively. At times he launches his thunderbolts with Jovian abandon.

Anyway, one feels sure that Bevin wouldn't turn back the clock on a freedom of the press to which England has contributed so much during the past generation of progress. International conferences in Britain these days have the latch-string out for newspapermen. And so do government officials, as witness my last visit to London a year ago when all I had to do to secure a private conversation with Prime Minister Attlee was to signify that I desired it.

But it wasn't always thus in his Majesty's domains. When I went to London as a correspondent during the first World War, communication with a government office by telephone was almost unheard of. If you wanted an interview you wrote a note of request, and perhaps a week later you got an appointment. Then you presented yourself in morning coat and striped trousers, and of course that outfit called for the inevitable silk hat.

However, the first World War brought unprecedented pressure on government offices for news, especially from the president. Yankee reporters, and arrangements quickly were undertaken to meet this demand. Secretaries were assigned to deal with the press, and as the reporter got acquainted with his sources, news began to move more easily.

My first experience with getting a big story over the phone from a government office was a real thriller. There was a rumor in the financial district that the great Lord Kitchen, secretary of war, had been drowned in the sinking of the Hampshire while enroute to Russia. In the emergency I telephoned the press secretary at the Foreign Office, and was flabbergasted when he replied without hesitation: "I'm sorry to say that the report is true."

Before that war (and even after it) newspapermen were divided into two classes. There were an exclusive few at the top who were called journalists, and then there were the great rank and file who were just plain "pressmen," regarded as very low caste indeed. I recall that a Lord Mayor of Liverpool once remarked to an English newspaper friend of mine (since knighted for distinguished reporting): "I always treat pressmen as though they were gentlemen."

However, that view of the press has undergone a vast change. These days, England provides excellent facilities for newspaper folk to secure the news. Their war information establishment in London during the late upheaval was magnificent, and press arrangements which I contacted in the fighting zones were equally efficient.
