Truman Urges Hemispheric Military Pool

Present Crisis Makes Americas Interdependent

NO CONFLICT WITH UN

Washington, May 26—(AP)—President Truman asked Congress today to approve a broad program of military cooperation with all Western Hemisphere nations, including the arming, training, and organization of the armed forces of Latin America and Canada.

Declaring that world developments in the past year give "still greater importance" to close hemisphere collaboration than a year ago—when similar legislation was proposed—Mr. Truman asked prompt Congressional action.

A key segment of the program is the standardization of armaments throughout the hemisphere, and the transfer of U. S. military and naval equipment to the sister governments by "sale or other methods."

"This government will not, I am sure, in any way approve of, nor will it participate in, the indiscriminate or unrestricted distribution of armaments," Mr. Truman said.

The White House forwarded the message to Congress for Mr. Truman, who is in Missouri where his mother is ill.

The President assured the legislators:

"It is my intention that any operations under this bill, which the Congress may authorize, shall be in every way consistent with the wording and spirit of the United Nations charter."

Hopkins Political Leader Drops His Own Race to Aid Waterfield

F. O. Baker, Hopkins county representative in the state legislature, will not run for re-election in the Democratic primary Aug. 2, but will confine his political activities to work in behalf of the candidacy of Harry Lee Waterfield for Governor.

Rep. Baker made this statement in a letter to friends and received by many Hopkins county Democrats, according to a story in the Madisonville Messenger.

Asserting in his letter that nomination and election of a capable Democrat for Governor is of much greater importance to Kentucky and Hopkins county than his own race for re-election, Mr. Baker charged that "Earle Clements in his desire to be Governor has aligned himself with all the remnants of all the political factions in Kentucky. Democrats in the August primary will have the opportunity of clearing house—of finally throwing off the yoke of machine domination."

Meanwhile, Ballard countians are launching a drive to raise a county campaign fund for Mr. Waterfield in his race for Governor. An organization has been effected to take donations in the various communities. Carl M. Parsons, county chairman, announced.

James Ferguson, LaCenter, has been appointed treasurer for the county. Community collectors were named in Bandana, Barlow, Kevill, Lovelaceville, Blandville and Wickliffe.

The statement was made as he convened a hearing required by law before taking that step.

However those working in the laundry, dry cleaning and in the hotel, restaurant business have their own state rates. The commissioner has indicated he expects soon to take up revision of their pay.

New Kentucky Minimum Wage Order Coming

Willis Expected To Make Higher Rates Mandatory

Frankfort, Ky., May 26—(AP)—State Industrial Relations Commissioner L. C. Willis said today he expected to issue an order probably tomorrow making mandatory the new regulations increasing pay for women and minors.

The statement was made as he convened a hearing required by law before taking that step.

Negro Who Fled White Mob In North Carolina Surrenders

Raleigh, N. C., May 26—(AP)—A young negro, who outran almost certain death at the hands of a white lynch mob and then hid without food for 48 hours in the dense pine forests of north-eastern North Carolina, was in state prison today after giving himself up to the protective custody of the FBI.

In the pre-dawn hours of last Friday morning, an armed mob of about 20 white men seized a young negro, a Buddy Bush, 24, from the Northampton county jail in Jackson where he was being held on charges of attempting to rape a young married white woman.

They carried him to one of four white automobiles. Bush, a young negro, was seized by the mob and taken to a place in the dense pine forests of north-eastern North Carolina, where he hid without food for 48 hours.

A mob member fired one shot and missed.

Later yesterday after some 75 law enforcement officers had spent two days combing the woods for Bush and his body, he was found in a cave.

Bush was charged with attempting to rape Mrs. Margaret Allen Bryant, a young stenographer, last Thursday night in Rich Square, a small community in Northampton county.

Bush was arrested by Rich Square Police Chief Frank O'Neil and was identified by three high school boys who ran into the mob.

Republican Tax-Cutting Plan Merely Political Expediency, Is Not Sound, Barkley Charges

Washington, May 26—(AP)—Senator Barkley (D-Ky.), supporting a motion to defer action on tax cuts until June 10, declared today that "no tax reduction can be sound that is based upon political expediency."

With a close vote due at 4 p. m. on the postponement move by Senator George (D-Ga.), Democratic leader Barkley told his colleagues that no one believes Congress will cut President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget for 1948 by even the $4,500,000,000 pledged by the Senate, much less the $6,000,000,000 voted by the House.

"Certainly," Barkley asserted in a prepared address, "we do not now have anything approaching a clear indication of the total appropriations which will be enacted by this session of Congress and to that extent we will be talking up a blind alley."

Barkley said the Democrats do not seek postponement of the bill because of "sentimental objection to tax reduction."

"We recognize the necessity," he added, "of appropriate, well considered, tax reductions at an appropriate time. We emphatically assume the position that existing wartime taxes cannot be continued permanently, or for a very long period in the future. But we believe that no tax reduction can be sound that is based upon political expediency."

He said millions of holders of government bonds are entitled to feel a "supreme confidence" in the solvency of the government and if they ever lose faith there will be a "disastrous repercussion around the world."

That Pie Episode

A 30-year-old Jackson, Miss., waitress who smacked her boss in the face with a chocolate pie, in the best movie comedy tradition, has lost her job—but the boss decided not to press assault charges against her. The waitress attracted a great deal of attention, and the envy of lots of people who have always wanted to do the same thing. The boss in question would have become a national heel if he had put her in jail, regardless of whether the attack was justified.

Consider for a moment the course of public sentiment if the characters in this farce had been reversed. We have no doubt that aroused citizens would have flocked to the rescue of the poor, downtrodden working girl. Societies for the Prevention of Socking Waitresses With Pies would have sprung up over night. Contributions would have been solicited to aid the waitress in prosecuting the old meany to the full extent of the law.

Public sentiment, for the most part, still sides with the employee against the employer, other things being equal. It probably will remain thus unless a few of the high-handed leaders of organized employees continue to make themselves so obnoxious that they change the swing of the pendulum, to the ultimate downfall of themselves and the people for whose best interests they pretend to work.

Your Support Needed

The expense necessary to conduct a statewide campaign is no small item. The average voter and layman in a county the size of Ballard has not stopped to count the cost of such a campaign. Heretofore, the candidate and the money have been furnished by the upstate counties and Ballard County has furnished the voters. The First District now has its own candidate for Governor in Harry Lee Waterfield. "Special interests" groups are not backing his candidacy and it is going to be up to the average voter, the common people, to contribute toward the expense that will be incurred in his campaign.

It is high time that the people of Ballard County make an investment of this type. Heretofore we have never contributed anything and consequently we have received nothing in return. The citizens and voters of Ballard County now have an opportunity to help elect a deserving young man as Governor, and we should lend our financial assistance by making some contribution to his campaign fund. Let us all get behind the candidacy of Harry Lee Waterfield. Let us give him a little of our time and a little of our money and elect our own Governor.

The First Congressional District has never had a governor. It is the only district that has never had one. It has a real opportunity to have its first in Harry Lee Waterfield. A little of our money and time and our votes will produce the desired results. (Ballard Yeoman, Weekliffe).

Guarding The Strait

By Dewitt MacKenzie, AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Even as President Truman signed the historic Greco-Turkish aid bill into law, there arrived in Ankara a United States military mission to help the Turks rehabilitate their poorly equipped army for defense against any possible Communist aggression.

Thus without delay was begun the implementation of America's new foreign policy of helping weak countries which are threatened by the Red tide. Meantime the vanguard of another American military party was enroute across Europe to Athens, there to perform similar duties for the Greeks—but main interest centered in Turkey and the Dardanelles Strait which for 3,000 years has been one of the world's most important military positions.

The security of the Dardanelles is vital strategically to the success of the American policy. Greece is important also, but in the sense that it is a bastion which guards the flank of the strait. This narrow stretch of water between the Black Sea and the Aegean is the barrier on the turnpike between Europe and Asia. Times without number it has run crimson with the blood of armies battling for its control.

Thirty centuries ago the King of Troy used to exact heavy toll from merchant ships passing between the Black Sea and the Aegean which in turn gave access to the Mediterranean. There was the conquest of Troy by the Greeks who worked the wooden-horse trick. Many other attacks followed on the strait until finally came the disastrous Allied attempt at the beginning of World War One, when the Turks were fighting on the side of Germany. We don't need to go over that story again, but a glimpse of the main points shows the extreme importance of this position.

Because the Turks controlled the Dardanelles (as they do now) they held the gateway to Russia. Thus the western Allies were split. France and England couldn't get badly needed grain and similar supplies from the czar's domains, and the latter wasn't able to secure war supplies from Britain and France. The Allies recognized that if they could break this barrier they could change the tide of war and shorten it immeasurably.

There followed the protracted allied Naval attack on the defenses of the strait, and the bloody campaign waged by a British expeditionary force on Gallipoli. It was a terrific conflict, but the Turks held their ground and the Allies finally were compelled to abandon the effort in that theatre.

The lesson we get from this is that the Dardanelles strait is as nearly invulnerable when adequately defended as anything can be in this atomic age. Even during the last war when Hitler's war machine was smashing everything before it, the fuhrer didn't attempt to force the Dardanelles. That big ditch, with something like a million Turkish bayonets bristling behind it, was more than he cared to tackle until he had ironed out his difficulties with the Allies.

So with all these lessons to learn from, America is helping the Turks get on their feet militarily. They are among the world's best and toughest fighting men, but even the finest need training and equipment, and that's what America is assisting them to secure.

The purpose of the policy—to eliminate Turkish weakness and thereby remove an invitation to aggression.

Urge Radio Men

On All Airliners

To Avoid Crashes

Rio De Janeiro (AP)—Forty U. S. flight radio officers stationed here, motivated by recent air disasters, plan to ask Congress to require trained radio officers on all international flights of commercial airlines as a passenger safety precaution.

This group, headed by Fred Irons, of Decatur, Ga., claims that a trend to eliminate flight radio officers removes the main safety factor on international air routes, especially those over seas, mountains and foreign territory unequipped with safety measures equal to those within the United States.

MISS WEATHERSPOON

WEDS JAMES PACE

Miss Mary Norma Weatherspoon, of Fulton and Lexington, daughter of Mrs. Lera Weatherspoon, of Fulton, became the bride of James L. Pace, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Michael Pace of Lexington, Sunday, May 25. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert Covington, pastor of Liberty Baptist church, at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon at the First Baptist church, which was decorated with greenery and lighted white candles in branched candelabra.

John Austin, cousin of the bride, presented a program of organ music which included, "The Anniversary Song," "Star-dust," "The Touch of Your Hand," and "Clare de Lune." For the processional and recessional, he used the traditional wedding marches, and during the pledging of the vows, he softly played the theme from Tchaikowsky's "Patheticue."

Miss Bettye Jean Austin, soprano, also a cousin of the bride, sang "Here You Are."

She wore a pale blue dress and held a colonial bouquet of mixed flowers with flowers in her hair.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Glenn Weatherspoon, wore a pink flared street-length dress with flared peplum, scalloped collar and a double row of rhinestone buttons down the front of the jacket. Her white straw hat was trimmed with white roses and clusters of small white flowers and was draped with white veiling. She carried a bouquet of white camellias atop a white Bible which was carried by four of her friends in their weddings. Within the Bible was an heirloom rosepoint handkerchief belonging to Walter Voelpel. She wore white shoes.

Mrs. O. L. Williams, of Lexington, matron-of-honor, wore a two-piece powder blue dress trimmed with flared peplum, a navy blue straw hat trimmed with white roses, navy blue shoes and white gloves. She carried a colonial bouquet of mixed flowers.

Miss Jane Hawks, cousin of the bride, was the junior bridesmaid. She wore a pale yellow taffeta dress with a matching bonnet, matching socks and white slippers and gloves. She carried a colonial bouquet of mixed flowers.

Lyle Brandenburg, of Lexington, served his cousin as best man. Ushers were David Ward Phelps, Harry Reams, and Eugene Lynch, all of Fulton, and Billy Wade, of Union City, cousin of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a black dress, a matching picture hat, black shoes, white gloves, a shoulder bouquet of gardenias. The mother of the bridegroom wore a pale blue dress, a matching hat, black shoes, white gloves, and a shoulder bouquet of gardenias.

After the ceremony, the bride's mother entertained a small reception at her home. The table, draped with a lace cloth, was centered with a three tiered cake and held a crystal punch bowl and lighted tapers in silver candlesticks. The house was decorated with bouquets of spring flowers. Assisting with entertaining were Mrs. D. C. Thacker, Mrs. Allen Austin, Mrs. W. W. Wade, and Mrs. Walter Hawks, aunts of the bride, Mrs. H. C. Wilson and Mrs. Eugene Lynch, cousins of the bride; and Miss Anna Mary DeMyer and Miss Marilyn Shankle.

After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Pace left for a wedding trip south, after which they will be at home at 545 South Limestone street in Lexington, where Mr. Pace is a deputy county clerk and Mrs. Pace is a reporter for the Lexington Leader.

For traveling, the bride wore a black tulle suit with a white blouse, white hat, black shoes, white gloves and a shoulder bouquet of camellias.

Saturday night, the bride's mother and brother entertained members of the bridal party and a few friends with a rehearsal dinner at the Strata Club. The bride presented her attendants with hand-painted jewel boxes, and the bridegroom gave his attendants knit ties.

Those attending the dinner were the bride's mother and brother, the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Austin, Mrs. O. L. Williams, Lyle Brandenburg, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Lynch, Miss Anna Mary DeMyer, Mr. and Mrs. David Ward Phelps, Mary Reams, and Miss Bettye Jean Austin.

FULGHAM NEWS

Mrs. Walter (Ressie) Jackson, who has been in the general hospital at Los Angeles for more than a year, has been moved to the Elliott Rest home, Cabin 3, Duarte, California. No improvement in her condition.

Ressie formerly lived here in front of the school building and the children at the Bible vacation school, as one of their "good deeds" are remembering her with a "year's subscription to her home paper", thus paying her back for the many acts of service she rendered at the school and also in her home, such as doctoring stub-toes, wrapping up some fingers and if the child was too ill to go back to play, she put him to bed and administered a "dose of something." At Hurdley school, Aunt Kon Jackson (across the road) did the same acts. Of course, it was a bother to them but who takes the time to bother with us are the ones we remember and perhaps the "One Above" remember them too!

Sgt. M. V. Bugg, Jr., of Craig Field, Ala., arrived Wednesday for a ten-day visit with his parents.

Mrs. Jack Vaden had dinner in Clinton Thursday with Aunt Nannie Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen W. (Dub) Nicholas, of Detroit, are the house guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Euerhardt.

Wall Street Report

New York, May 26.—(AP)—Narrow price changes predominated in today's early stock market proceedings.

Ahead fractionally at a quiet opening were American Can, J. I. Case, Great Northern Railway, Radio Corp. and Standard Oil (N.J.). Small declines were recorded for International Paper, Loew's, Southern Pacific and Texas Co.

Comforting to holders of metal securities was the survey of the magazine "Steel" which said that prospects for continued peak peacetime output in this field bright as labor relations in the industry were better than at any time previously this year and chances of a long-term peace were favorable.

Veterans Corner

Q I am going to school under the G. I. Bill. My eyes didn't bother me while I was in Service, but they bother me when I try to do so much studying. Will the Veterans Administration pay for a reader to read some of my textbook assignments to me?

A No. Veterans with visual impairment are eligible for reader service only if they are enrolled under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act (Public Law 16).

Q Are payments to a beneficiary under G. I. Insurance subject to taxation?

A No. Payments made to a beneficiary after an insured veteran's death are tax exempt, except where investment is property.

Q I am an honorably discharged World War II Veteran and would like to know of what benefit is a guaranteed loan if I purchase a home under the G. I. Bill?

A The guaranty provides or increases the security you have to offer for a loan by the amount of the guaranty; it tends to induce the lender to lend more nearly the full purchase price of the property and to give a better rate of interest, and, finally, four per cent of the amount guaranteed is paid to the lender by the Veterans Administration and is an outright gift to you.

Q What is the difference between compensation and pension?

A Compensation is a term used to describe monetary benefits payable for service-connected death or disability under laws administered by the Veterans Administration. Pension refers to non-service-connected monetary benefits.

Q My husband is receiving disability compensation. He also is unemployed because of illness. Is he eligible to receive unemployment compensation, even though he is receiving compensation for disability?

A Your husband is not eligible for unemployment compensation. To be eligible a veteran must be able and willing to work and then unable to find work. Your husband's illness precludes his availability for work.

A Slight Delay On Election Day

Little York, Ill.—(AP)—The election judges and clerks arrived at the village hall at 6 a. m. They opened the door, posted instruction sheets, sharpened their pencils. Then they made a disconcerting discovery. There weren't any ballots. Nobody had arranged to have any printed. So, after a telephone conference with the county clerk, a supply was run off quickly on a duplicating machine.

Mr. W. D. Fishback, Woodford County farmer and stockman, demonstrates his automatic electric barley cooker for Farm Service Adviser, E. R. Murphy.

PUTTING weight on cattle is largely a matter of feeding them enough of what they want to eat. Getting them fat is one thing; getting them smooth, with the finish that puts blue ribbons on your stalls, and extra dollars in your pocket is something else again.

Barley has long been known as the stock feed that will "finish" prize winning cattle. Raw barley is hard, and difficult to digest. This automatically controlled, electric barley cooker prepares plenty of palatable food with little trouble. Insulated, it keeps the food warm and fragrant until used.

E. R. Murphy, Director of K. U.'s Farm Service Department, is continuously searching for information on new methods and new equipment to pass on to the thousands of farmers in K. U.'s operating territory—methods and equipment that will help Kentucky farmers increase production, improve produce, and reduce costs and labor.

Kentucky Utilities Company doesn't believe its job is done simply with the delivery of dependable, low cost electricity. Farm Service Advisers, Home Service Advisers, Industrial and Commercial Engineers are available at no cost to every K. U. customer, so that maximum benefit can be obtained from K. U. service.

Whatever your electric problem, a phone call or a post card to your nearest K. U. office will bring you experienced assistance. These men and women out service in electric service.
