Truman Urges Hemispheric Military Pool
Present Crisis Makes Americas Interdependent

NO CONFLICT WITH UN
Washington, May 26.—President Truman asked Congress today to approve a bill providing for an emergency loan of $100,000,000 to the United Nations, to be used in any of the programs of the United Nations.

In his message, the President assured the United States Senate and House of Representatives that his program for the defense of the Western Hemisphere is not a conflict with the United Nations, but a necessary part of the United States defense measures.

Truman said that the U.S. had been accused of "wanton aggression" by a number of nations, but that the United States was doing nothing to cause war. He noted that the United States had no intention of aggression, but that it was necessary to take strong measures to ensure the defense of the Western Hemisphere.

The President said that the United States would continue to strengthen its defenses in the Western Hemisphere, and that it was necessary to do so in order to protect the interests of the United States.

That Pie Episode
A 10-year-old Jackson, Miss., schoolgirl who recently discovered a pie in a peanut jar which had been saved by her mother for 10 years, offered the pie to the school as a sample of the usual material served to the pupils. However, the school authorities were not impressed by the schoolgirl's intentions.

Even as President Truman signs the historical Green-Taxan bill into law Lime visitors might wonder: How safe is the United States now that she has made her poorly armed ally for its defense against any possible Communist attack.

Thus without delay began the important work of America's new foreign policy of containment of communism. This work was accompanied by a special meeting of the security cabinet of the nations, to discuss the situation in the Pacific.

The security of the Dardanelles is vital.
The island of Ceylon is important, too, but the security of the Dardanelles is the security of the world. The narrow stretch of water between the Black Sea and the Dardanelles is the gateway to the Mediterranean which in turn gave access to the Mediter-nian for the Greeks—but mainly in strategically to the success of the American effort in that theatre.

There followed the protracted allied Naval campaign, a series of attacks and counter-attacks.

Because the Turks controlled the Dardanelles and the latter wasn't able to secure poorly equipped army for defense against any future invasion.

Allies recognized that if they could break this bloody campaign waged by a British expeditionary force, the road would be open to the enemy.

So with all these lessons to learn from,

Sports Roundup

By Joe Reichler

In an effort to touch on all the current baseball news, this column will now feature a "Sports Roundup" each week. This week's roundup includes:

- The American League champions, the New York Yankees, set a new record for attendance at their stadium.
- The St. Louis Cardinals have signed a new pitcher, who is expected to lead the team to victory in the upcoming season.
- The Boston Red Sox have traded several of their key players, leading to speculation about their future success.
- The Montreal Expos have announced their new stadium, which is scheduled to open next season.
- The Chicago Cubs have hired a new manager, who is expected to bring new energy to the team.
- The Los Angeles Dodgers have signed a new outfielder, who is expected to improve the team's hitting performance.

Monday Night

Other than the usual news, we have a feature article on the history of baseball in America, which explores the sport's roots and evolution over time. It's a must-read for anyone interested in the sport's history.

Veterans Corner

Q. I am an Army veteran and I am interested in getting into the dairy business. I am looking for information on how to start a dairy farm.

A. It is generally considered a wise investment to become involved in the dairy business. Several factors should be considered when starting a dairy farm:

1. Location: The location of the farm should be near a market with a high demand for dairy products.
2. Dairy品头: Selecting an appropriate dairy breed is crucial. Different breeds may have different milk production rates and nutritional needs.
3. Equipment: Adequate equipment is necessary to maintain a successful dairy business.
4. Markets: Understanding the local market and demand for dairy products is essential.

By following these guidelines, you can maximize the potential of your dairy farm.

PUTTING weight on cattle is largely a matter of feeding them enough of what they want to eat. Getting them fat is one thing; getting them smooth, with the finish that puts blue ribbons on their stalls, and extra dollars in your pocket is something else again.

Barley has long been known as the stock feed that will "finish" prize-winning cattle. Raw barley is hard, and difficult to digest. This automatically controlled, electric barley cooker prepares plenty of palatable food with little trouble. Insulated, it keeps the food warm and fragrant until used.

E. R. Murphy, Director of K.U.'s Farm Service Department, has revealed that Kentucky Utilities Company doesn't believe its job is done simply with the delivery of dependable, low cost electricity. Farm Service Advisers, Home Service Advisers, Industrial and Commercial Engineers are available at no cost to every K.U. customer, so that maximum benefit can be obtained from K.U. service.

Whatever your electric problem, a phone call or a post card to your nearest K.U. office will bring you experienced assistance. These men and women out service in electric service.
