Third Party Hopeless

By J. B. v. V. W.

This idea was broached to Mr. Wallace when he was about to make his run for the presidency, but the latter replied that he would not endorse any candidate except himself. He said that if he were nominated, he would accept the nomination and run for the office. He added that he was willing to make any sacrifice for the advancement of the cause of free speech.

The history of third-party movements in this country is one of bitter conflict and hard struggle. The very purpose that sets the party apart is that the two great parties have the best organizations in the land, and that no third party can be successful as long as they remain in control. The National Democratic Party is controlled by the National Republican Party, and the two parties are controlled by the three main parties, the Democratic, Republican, and Conservative.
