Waterfield Campaign To Open Officially At Murray June 14; To Speak At County Courthouse

Campaign Heads, Party Members Invited To Attend
CRITICIZES CLEMENTS

Harry Lee Waterfield, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, has chosen Calloway county, the place of his birth, for the official opening of his campaign Saturday, June 14.

Scene of the opening will be the courthouse lawn at Murray, following a barbecue luncheon for everybody at the Murray City Park at noon. Lester Nanne, Calloway county court clerk, who is in charge of arrangements for the opening rally, has sent invitations to all Waterfield county chairmen, Democratic and district officials, Democratic members of the General Assembly and state Democratic leaders.

Accompanying Waterfield to Murray for the campaign opener will be Ben Kilgore, Franklin Waterfield state campaign manager; Adron Doran, Wingo; and John M. Hennessy, Louisville, assistant chairman.

Harry Lee Waterfield Saturday charged that the Kentucky Utilities Company had Cliff Claypool, "its paid and registered lobbyist," campaigning in the Eighth District last week for Representative Earle C. Clements, Waterfield's opponent for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

"Mr. Claypool has a perfect right to campaign for my opponent; I have no objection," Waterfield said.

"But, would the Kentucky Utilities Company have its paid lobbyist out campaigning for my opponent, who by direct statement would have the farmers believe he is for rural electrification?"

Questions K. U.'s Motive
"Would the Kentucky Utilities Company have its paid lobbyist out campaigning for my opponent, who by inference and implication, would have the people believe he is for T. V. A.?"

Waterfield said he had nothing against the Kentucky Utilities Company, that he wanted private power to operate.

He said that what he was trying to do was keep Kentucky Utilities "from doing something to the farmers and the people of Kentucky," and "from passing the Moss bill and denying our people the right to cheap electric rural power."

"The question is," he said, "are you for the people, or the power trust? I am for the people. I charge that my opponent is for the power trust."

Opposes Moss Bill
Waterfield said that, as a member and a speaker of the House at Frankfort, he always had been for rural electrification expansion and cheap T. V. A. power.

"If I am your governor, I will fight to defeat the next Moss Bill, and certainly there will be one because the Kentucky Utilities Company is active. Should the bill ever reach my desk, I will veto it."

Waterfield charged Clements with being a "me-too" candidate. "To part of this," he said, "my opponent says, 'me too.' In fact, he says 'met too' to most everything I have advocated. He has never mentioned T. V. A. the Moss Bill, or his record."

Democratic Victory Predicted
Declaring he believed that a primary of clear-cut issues will do much to bring a Democratic victory in November and "we must bring out the issues to defeat the Republicans," Waterfield said "a lack of interest in this campaign is the desire of many politicians and special interest groups."

Waterfield agreed the Democratic Party needs unity, harmony, and an era of good feeling, but he said, "We must seek this unity for all Democrats, not merely the professional 'labeled Democrats.'" He recalled that in the last 15 years "we have had 'Chandler Democrats,' 'Talbot Democrats,' 'Rhea Democrats,' and other labeled Democrats."

To Ask Indictment Of Three Soldiers In Death Of Hodge

Hazard, Ky., June 2.—(P)—Perry County Attorney Elbert Strong says he is ready to ask the grand jury convening June 9 to return indictments against three youthful Fort Knox, Ky., soldiers in connection with the death near here of Vernon Hodge, 26, of Louisville, last March 14.

The youths, Herbert Workman of Tulsa, W. Va., David McPeak of Dublin, Va., and Jasper Nease of McRoberts, Ky., are being held in Louisville. They waited examining trials here on charges of murder. They declined to make pleas in county court in answer to the charges and were held for action of the grand jury.

Supreme Court Refuses To Rule On Tunget Plea

Washington, June 2.—(P)—The Supreme Court today refused to rule on the validity of a Kentucky murder trial in which the accused man was kept in shackles while in the court room.

Earl Tunget, convicted of killing a prison guard at Eddyville and sentenced to death in the electric chair, asked the Supreme Court to rule that his constitutional rights were violated because the trial judge refused to order the shackles removed.

Storm-lashed Arkansas and Oklahoma counted at least 43 dead and hundreds injured today from tornadoes which swept through rural areas causing thousands of dollars of property damage.

Harmful hit was a heavily populated agricultural region near Pine Bluff in southeastern Arkansas. Thirty-seven bodies were reported recovered and about 15 persons were believed missing.

A large proportion of the dead were children.

Hundreds were injured as the twister leap-frogged across the rich Arkansas farming area yesterday, narrowly missing Pine Bluff, a city of 40,000.

Yesterday Was Wettest Sunday In June For Kentucky Since '72

Louisville and other sections of Kentucky were drenched today after a Sunday of abnormally heavy rainfall.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Louisville said the downpour was the heaviest 12-hour June rain since 1872, which equaled the all-time June record. A gusty windstorm accompanied the rain, which measured 3.2 inches between 7:10 o'clock last night and 8 a. m. today.

The wind averaged only 20 miles an hour, but heavy gusts felled trees and disrupted electric and telephone service.

Observers at Owensboro reported a near flash flood when 1.68 inches of rain fell within 20 minutes early last night. Streets were flooded throughout the city as the volume of water proved too much for the sewers.

Basements were flooded and gas company service men were sent to numerous Owensboro homes to extinguish pilot lights in furnaces.

As at Louisville high winds accompanied the rain. Trees were toppled and a landslide was reported west of Owensboro on Highway 60. The route was partly blocked. The rainfall totaled 3.6 between 3 p. m. Sunday and 6 a. m. today.

The rain washed out the 15th annual Kentucky high school tennis tournament at Bellevue, near Newport. Robert Klein, tournament manager, said if the rain stopped, the tournament would be transferred to Withrow high school's concrete courts in Cincinnati.

The rain still was falling at

Marshall Orders Credit To Hungary Be Canceled

Washington, June 2.—(P)—Secretary of State Marshall today ordered cancellation of an unused half of a $30,000,000 credit to Hungary, where a pro-Communist regime has just been set up with Russian support.

Marshall also said the United States "wishes every success" for the new non-Communist Italian regime formed by Prime Minister Alcide de Gasperi.

had ever stood were the foundations."

Other large buildings in Pine Bluff were opened to those with minor injuries and the homeless.

The alertness of Jack Sapp, a telephone worker, was credited with holding down the death toll in the Leedey, Okla., storm. He saw the twister approach and turned on the town's fire siren and shouted warnings over a loudspeaker system.

Rescue parties worked through the night with the aid of lanterns and flashlights since the town's power system was knocked out.

Leedey is south of Woodward, Okla., where 102 were killed April 9 by a tornado. Saturday's twister entered northwestern Oklahoma from Texas and passed near Gage and Arnett, Okla., before striking Leedey.

Church Urged To Be A David

Newly-Elected President Of Christian Scientists Asks Righteous Crusade

Boston, Mass., June 2.—Affirming that God rules the affairs of man, the Christian Science Board of Directors told the annual meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, that neither fear nor animality can give evil power to boast itself over good.

Supporting this challenge, Mrs. Helen Chaffee Elwell, newly elected president of The Mother Church, urged both pulpit and press to unite in a crusade of righteousness. The hour has struck, she indicated, "for the Church to dare to be a David."

To "the harassed employer and the dissatisfied worker" and to nations generally, the directors and the president of the Church held out the hope of harmony, not as a miracle, but rather as a simple witnessing to the fact that amity springs naturally from the application of spiritual power.

Not only improved industrial relations and better government, but also the health of the individual can be attained through spiritual understanding, the directors contended.

The Airlines' Duty

Last week was a tragic period in the history of commercial aviation. All the dead in the nation's worst transport plane accident had not been identified before another, more tragic, toll had been taken in another airline smashup.

The aviation industry is still more or less an infant in the transportation field. The habitual air traveler represents only a very small segment of the traveling public.

For that reason, an airplane crash fatal to a score or more receives nationwide publicity—proportionately more than would be given a similarly tragic train wreck or ship disaster. The millions of accident-free airline miles flown are forgotten as the newspaper reader shudders over the gory story of the plane that caught fire and exploded, or failed to gain altitude and buried itself nose-first in the ground.

If commercial aviation is to grow and prosper, it must convince the public that it is doing all in its power to avoid crashes such as those which occurred last week. It has a moral obligation to spare no effort in seeking to make its men and machines safer and more efficient. Few are willing to risk life and limb solely for the extra speed offered by an airplane.

Fashion Note

English men are following their American cousins in choosing gaudy raiment that rivals midday's wardrobe, thus moving a step nearer the pattern followed by most other forms of animal life. In the case of practically all animals except homo sapiens, it is the male who struts his stuff in the brightest colors or the most attractive spots and stripes, while the female is comparatively drab and inconspicuous.

It sometimes is explained that the ladies got the jump on the men in the field of fashions, and since have been reluctant to yield the palm in color and attractiveness of clothing while participating in the age-old chase in which the male pursues the female until she catches him.

Once caught, the luckless male must persevere keep his mate clothed in the height of style insofar as he is financially able. Dame Fashion decrees that ladies' styles change with disconcerting frequency. Hence, the husband and father usually has been obliged to wear full, drab, conservative suits and hats that will not be outdated a year after purchase, and to spend whatever the family budget can allow on his wife and daughters' clothes. Perhaps the worm is turning.

She's An Exception

Critics of the one-room school were joined last week when Marie Lou Pollard, 14-year-old student in such a school in Thomaston, Ga., captured first place in the 20th annual National Spelling Bee at Washington, D. C.

The young lady's case, of course, is the exception that proves the rule. Consolidation of small, poorly equipped schools has in most instances resulted in greater opportunity for each student at less total expense to the taxpayer. The advantages of consolidation have been demonstrated to all except a few whose intense local pride has blinded them to the fact that their children cannot learn as quickly, or as well, under one teacher in one room.

That Miss Pollard is exceptionally well versed in spelling is evidence of her personal aptitude, no doubt inspired by an especially capable rural school teacher.

The Truth Hurts

Philadelphia, (AP)—Jack Coombs, voice teacher, told a husky male singing hopeful under an audition that he would be only wasting his time.

The six-foot applicant landed a haymaker, Coombs said, that knocked him back into a chair.

Hungary In Tight Spot

By Dewitt MacKenzie,
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Barring an unforeseen eleventh hour reprieve, Hungary shortly will have joined the list of sovietized countries behind the "iron curtain" as the result of what non-Communist circles in Budapest describe as a red coup d'etat that has substituted Communist rule for what was trying to be a Democracy. Thus, with a brief intermission, the land of the Magyars bids fair to pass under totalitarian rule again, for it was only with the close of the war that Hungary escaped the clutches of Hitler's totalitarian Nazi regime. By the time of the Munich conference in 1938 the German Fuehrer had established a first grip on Hungary, as I found during a European tour just after that, and he hung on until his own Citadel was tottering under the allied onslaught.

So the Hungarians got rid of Hitler, but those who were opposed to Communism felt that they had jumped from the frying pan into the fire, for it was the Russians who occupied the country. This wasn't Hungary's first close contact with Communism, for back in 1919 it had experienced the terrors of the Bolshevik revolution under leadership of the notorious Bela Kun when there were wholesale executions before the Reds finally were downed.

Right from the start of the occupation after the late war the Communists naturally understood to secure the establishment of a Soviet regime. However, in a general election the Democratic smallholders, (that is, landholders) party won by a handsome majority, and a coalition government was established. Ferenc Nagy, leader of the party became premier and during 17 months of office (which brings us up to the present) fought for moderate conservatism. In this he was met with heavy opposition by the Communist minority.

Now comes the climax. Premier Nagy recently went to Switzerland "on vacation." Friday the Budapest government announced that he had resigned in Switzerland, and a high Hungarian informant said he had been "pushed from office" in a Communist coup. Actually Nagy apparently had resigned the day before, but the news had been withheld in Budapest.

Nagy, according to a non-Communist source in the Hungarian capital, had been accused by the Russians with being mixed up in a plot to upset "Hungarian Democracy." This accusation is said to have been based on a deposition by Bela Kovacs, former secretary general of Nagy's party, who had been arrested by the Russians February 26. Kovacs' arrest led Washington to send a note to the Soviet military authorities in Hungary, declaring that the Communists were trying to seize power.

In Washington, Russia's reported charges of plotting against Nagy were viewed as part of a Soviet attempt to clinch Communist control of Hungary before the Red troops withdraw.

Hungary's bitter political odyssey since the war is similar to that of other countries which have been occupied by Soviet troops. Hungary, being strategically located astride the Danube at the gateway between Central Europe and the Balkans, is of course one of the states which Russia is most anxious to have within the Soviet zone of domination. Possession being nine points of the law, Hungary's chances of escape don't look too good right now.

Ernie Pyle's "Best" Book Is Published

By Hal Boyle

Kansas City, Mo., (AP)—The man who has written some of the best books of our time never deliberately wrote a book in his life.

And he proved something—that a man doesn't have to haul off in an ivory tower to create literature. He can do it under the day to day stress of turning out a daily piece for the newspapers, newspapers which tomorrow a housewife may use to line a pantry shelf.

I mean Ernie Pyle. As his fame as war reporter rose in the early days of the African war, Ernie was subjected to many profitable offers from publishers who wanted him to write a book. His answer was always the same: "It takes everything I've got to go on doing what I am doing."

What he was doing was simply writing the greatest study of soldier life in war time in history. Eventually this became apparent, and this daily material was gathered into a series of books that will stand as the classic eye witness account of the second world war.

These books made the little man with the half-pint body and the giant heart a national hero, because he somehow symbolized the American fear and hatred of war and yet also the American character to go on and finish the task. The books also made him famous, embarrased, and rich—wealth he never cared for nor lived to spend.

But before Ernie became the spokesman of the American soldier at war he was the chronicler of America at peace. For five years before the war he traveled about the states, writing about the oddities and virtues of the country and people he loved, building an ever widening loyal audience.

This material has been collected into a new book—"Home Country"—and it holds the heart of the real Ernie Pyle, a happy traveler looking forward each morning to a new adventure. It is Ernie before war and personal sorrow had taken the zest from him.

"I hope some day you people will publish a book of mine that I like best myself," he once told a publishing firm. "That's the book with all the stuff I wrote before the war, the book about my own country, about home."

It is his best writing—or as good as anything he ever did later. It is writing with the homely strength that endures. Writing in the simple, artless vernacular of the common man is the hardest of literary arts. It is much more difficult than turning a chromium phrase or the toy gymnastic involved in coining a radio wisecrack.

Rise Lardner could capture the feel and flavor of American talk, but he bent it sometimes into satire. Ernie has the same gift without bitterness. He worked hard. There was much labor behind each of his seemingly effortless columns. I watched him many times rewrite them twice over, weeding out the blank-sounding words, putting in the words that were the echoes of his own heart.

One sample of his gift of simple imagery: writing of his mother's deep interest in her old country and the welfare of old neighbors, he said: "I believe Hitler and Japan meant no more to her than the noise of a passing truck."

Publication of "Home Country" makes permanently available now the choicest writing of his pre-war years. It is in itself a kind of autobiography, but there still remains to be written the real life history of Ernie, his inner troubles and his outer victories.

That will close the story on this pill-swallowing little man beloved of many, who was himself greatness in capsule.

FINDS COVER CROPS HIGHLY PRODUCTIVE

Arch Leger of Meadow Creek in White, county says cover crops give him so much winter grazing that he cannot afford not to grow them. Two years ago, he sowed a 10-acre field to tall oats grass, which Farm Agent J. W. Kidwell says is a treat to look at this year. During the fall and early winter, Leger pastured nine head of cattle and two mules in the field, again turning in the stock during a part of April. This summer he will thresh from 7-12 to 10 bushels of seed per acre from it, if his plans develop.

Robbers Take $4,500, Escape

Henderson Night Club Victimized Saturday; State Police On Trail

Henderson, Ky., June 2.—(AP)—Police caught three men today who reportedly fled in a stolen automobile after a night club co-owner said they took $4,500 in an armed robbery near here early yesterday.

A police alarm went out in Kentucky and Indiana for the trio.

The $4,500 robbery was reported by Hoffman Kasey, co-owner of the Kasey Klub on Highway 41 three miles south of here. Miss Ella Swope, his secretary, said the men fled in her 1935 model coupe.

Nightwatchman Willie Oglesby was grabbed outside the club by the three men, armed with pistols. After binding his hands, they forced him into the club office.

The Solomon Islands were so named because their discoverer, Mendana, created the legend that they had yielded the gold for King Solomon's Temple.

Chicks Drop To Fourth Spot In Batting, Last In Fielding

Fulton has dropped to fourth place in club batting in the Kitty League, according to statistics compiled on games played through May 27. The Chicks had been at bat 713 times, scored 142 runs, and hit 798 safeties for a percentage of .278. Their hits included 30 doubles, nine triples, 10 home runs. Fulton players stole 27 bases, drew 90 walks, batted in 117 runs and struck out 80 times up to May 27.

The Owensboro Oilers are batting .300 to lead the league, followed by Clarksville .286, Madisonville .283, Fulton, Union City .271, Hopkinsville .268, Mayfield .256 and Cairo .251. The Chicks remain at the bottom of the heap, however, in club fielding with a .490 average. They were charged with 83 errors, and lead Clarksville, their closest rival for this dubious distinction, by 13. Mayfield's league-leading Clotheys fielded .942. The rest of the Kitty Clubs follow in this order: Owensboro, Cairo, Madisonville, Hopkinsville, Clarksville, Union City.

Fulton's Johnny Gill stayed near the top in individual batting with a .380 average. His 26 hits included six home runs, and he had batted in 23 teammates.

Earle Brown, Owensboro skipper, was leading the league's sluggers with a .491 average. Other Fulton players who were hitting 200 or better: Peterson .310, Propst .301, Rhodes .293, Seawright .278, Lis .273, Gray .265, Buck .257.

Ed Engel, Fulton; Brill and Bordt, Mayfield, were the class of the Kitty in the pitching department through the week ending May 27. Brill had won six and lost none while Bordt and Engel each were credited with five victories and no defeats. Engel had pitched 36 2-3 innings, gave up 36 hits and six walks, and fanned 20 men.

Whitley Lynch at that time had won two and lost three, and Eldridge had won one and lost two.

Pete Williams, Owensboro, and Palmer, Mayfield, became the first players of the year to win two games in a single game. Oddly, these feats were accomplished on the same day, May 26, and in the first games of double headers. Frank Scaldi, Hoptown manager, jammed out two triples against Fulton May 21 to become a "first" in that department.

Perfect hitters included Majerick, Union City, vs. Clarksville May 23, and John Kall, Hopkinsville, vs. Union City May 26, three for three; Earle Brown, Owensboro, vs. Mayfield, May 22 and Arant, Mayfield, vs. Owensboro, May 22, four for four.

In the fielding oddity department, Johnny Verneagallo, new Cairo shortstop, was not credited with a fielding chance in a double header at Owensboro May 26.

Only 18 players have gotten four hits in one game this year. Two of them are Fulton's Tommy Buck and Dutch Gray.

ON KENTUCKY FARMS
At least 50 farmers in Knox county will be growing alfalfa this year.

The Mason County Farm Bureau has raised a medical scholarship of $2,000.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
New York June 2—(AP)—You were trying to get a bit ahead with your work so as to enjoy a long holiday week-end and somebody suggested that a historical piece would fill the bill. It sounded like a good idea and you began looking over the day-by-day record books that had been kept in the office for nearly 20 years to learn what happened over Memorial Day and in early June. That always is a period of strenuous sports activity.

Starting Point
Going back to 1930, you found that Billy Arnold won the Indianapolis speedway race at 100,448 miles an hour and Earl Sande booted home Pete Wrack in the suburban handicap on Memorial Day. Then Bobby Jones took the British amateur golf title for the first time at St. Andrews with a 7 and 6 victory over Roger Wethered. Rogers Hornsby received the National League's most valuable player award for the previous season. A $1,000 check—And Helen Wills Moody best Helen Jacobs in the French hardcourt tennis tournament final. That must have marked the end of an era because five years later at the same time new names were cropping up, names that still are in the headlines, names like Hank Greenberg, Bobo Newsom, Johnny Gilbert and Babe Didrikson. Babe Ruth was quitting the Boston Braves then after a row with owner Emil Fuchs; Fred Perry won the French tennis and Bill Tilden an American pro event. Yale's Keith Brown set a world pole vault record of 14 feet 5 1-8 inches and Kelly Pettito took the auto race.

Modern Times
Ten years ago, in 1937, Don Budge and Gene Mako led the United States to a Davis cup victory over Australia. Carl Hubbell's pitching streak of 34 straight victories was broken. Britain's T. O. M. Sopwith was having difficulty tuning up endeavor 11 for the America's cup races. Dizzy Dean was suspended after a furious blast at National League president Ford Frick and Jimmy Braddock was suspended for refusing to defend his heavyweight title against Max Schmeling. Sammy Shead and Dutch Harrison tied for the qualifying medal in the U. S. open golf championship. It still seems like history when you read that in 1940 a crowd of 41,859 bet $1,426,729 to set attendance and mutual handle records as Eight Thirty handle records as eight thirty won the Suburban at Belmont. Carl Hubbell pitched a one-hitter for the Glens over the Dodgers and the Cubs released Dizzy Dean to Tulsa.

At this time in 1945 sports activity was just picking up after V-E Day and the results were unfamiliar. Hoop, Jr., and Jeep split the Wood Memorial race honors; the Tigs mapped an eight-game Yankee winning streak before 70,906 and welterweight champ Red Cochrane returned to the ring after three years in the navy. It was a good idea, chum. Wonder how long it'll be before we sigh over the good old days of this past week-end?

Chicks Beat Cairo 10 To 9, Lose To Hounds Play Union City Team Here Tonight

The Chicks closed their series with the Cairo Egyptians at Cairo Saturday night with a 10-9 win, the result of a three-run ninth inning, but lost to Union City here Sunday 11-6. The Cairo club jumped into a 3-1 lead in the first inning and by the end of the fourth frame had increased its advantage to 8-2. The Chicks got another in the fifth, four in the sixth, and the clinching markers in the last time at bat.

Fulton played errorless ball while the Egyptians booted two chances. The losers outbatted the Chicks 14-7, however, Narleski, Morara and Lynch worked on the hill for Fulton. Liming was the losing pitcher.

Two home runs from the bat of Pete Burnette, Greyhound first baseman, accounted for seven big runs and helped the Union Cityans take the Fulton Chicks 11-6 at Fairfield Park Sunday. Two men were on base when Burnette hit his first circuit blow in the fourth, and the sacks were loaded in the ninth when he repeated.

The Greyhounds collected 11 safe hits off two Fulton chunkers, Shubliom and Williams. Williams took over in the seventh inning with two out, and was nicked for four of the base knocks. The Greyhounds also replaced their starting hurler, Lange, in the seventh with Dutch Neuman, who held the Chicks to one hit and no scores for the remainder of the game.

Fulton's first runs Sunday came in the first frame, provided by Matas, who walked, and Gray, who singled. The Hounds made one in the second and pulled ahead 4-2 in the fourth. Buck's double for Fulton in the fourth scored Pete Peterson, who reached first on a walk. Peterson singled in the fifth to bring Hal Seawright home after the latter drove out a long triple. In the sixth inning, Matas walked, Gray doubled, and both talked on Propst's bingle, ending the scoring for Fulton.

Pete Gray, who had two for five, led the Chicks at the plate. Pete Burnette's five hits in six tries paced the visitors.

The Chicks take on the Hounds again tonight and tomorrow night in Fairfield Park, then open a three-game engagement at Owensboro Wednesday night.

Card of Thanks

Thanks to all our friends for the nice cards, letters and flowers sent while we were patients at Haws Memorial. Thanks to Dr. and Mrs. Trince, Dr. Dyer and the nurses for their attention and services. —Lois Moon Howard —Gilbert Moon

To all who were so helpful in the sickness and death of our mother; to Brother Houser; the singers; all who sent flowers and messages of consolation—it helped to lighten our burden. May God bless you.—The Passmore Family.

Wall Street Report

New York, June 2—(AP)—Light selling of airline stocks, following the week-end disasters, helped depress most leaders in today's market.

On the offside most of the time were United Air Lines, Eastern Air Lines, American Airlines, Douglas Aircraft, Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodrich, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern, Chesapeake, and Ohio, General Electric, Westinghouse, North American and Consolidated Edison. Resistant were Down Chemical, Phillips Dodge and Woolworth.

Bonds were narrow and cotton futures easy. Share analysts studied the commerce department summary which disclosed that the dollar value of manufacturers' inventories rose about $450,000,000 in April bringing the overall aggregate to slightly more than $22,000,000,000. April shipments were placed at about $20,000,000 under those of March. Higher prices, it was explained, accounted for most of the expansion in dollar values.
