Work Will Commence on the Interurban Railway.

President Rhodes Gives Public Encouraging Report of Progress.

That active construction work on the Paducah-Mayfield-Murray division of the Interurban will start soon is indicated by an interview below with Colonel Rhodes, president of the company:

The construction of the Kentucky Southwestern Electric Railway Paducah-Mayfield-Murray branch is forecasted in an interview given the Paducah Sun of recent date by President H. C. Rhodes. Hundreds of people in Calloway are looking forward to the construction of this enterprise and will read what Mr. Rhodes says with a great deal of satisfaction. In part his interview is as follows:

"We have at the close of 1912 completed our physical work necessary to arranging for financial interests to take company bonds on the first division, with the other divisions in excellent condition to follow up the construction of the first, viz: From Paducah via Mayfield to Murray. The spirit of 'Pull Together' that possesses the minds of our 1,100 stockholders is a power and will become more so as time moves on; few people having given any thought to what is possible through this medium in the development of Southwest Kentucky.

"We have about 1,500 property owners, over whose land our line will run, who have willingly and enthusiastically granted right-of-ways to the company. Our franchise is being arranged under very favorable conditions, every assurance being given that the company will be exempt from taxation for a period of five years at least. We have something over $100,000.00 of stock already subscribed by the people and from every indication this amount will be doubled during the month of January, 1913. Many things have tended to hold back the earlier completion of our work, viz:

"First, The necessary engineering work to determine just what we have, its best routing (from the standpoint of economy of construction and maximum of revenue); the construction cost in every detail; the commercial report (covering all physical conditions, natural resources, etc., in counties adjacent to line); and the analysis of the dependable revenue from different sources (not estimated from any future possibilities and growth, but actually existing at present.)

"Second, The newness of an interurban proposition to our people and the necessary proof that had to be obtained by expenditure of time and money to satisfy their doubts before they would become interested. But we desire to express our gratitude right here, for when we had gone to all this work to obtain the facts, and had them verified by outside experts, and compared with other profitable operating interurbans elsewhere, these same people have been showing their loyalty to the development of their communities, as well as a desire to obtain a high grade investment under the most favorable conditions by readily subscribing for stock.

"We intend commencing construction work with a vigor in the early spring and push everything to an early commencement of operations. It is our intention to advance the price of the stock either during construction work or as soon as cars are running even on part of line, as our accumulating tangible assets, and moreover, the earning power of the railway, will create a demand for the stock which will necessitate this being done."

What Makes a Woman?

One hundred and twenty pounds, more or less, of bone and muscle don't make a woman. Its a good foundation. Put into it health and strength and she may rule a kingdom. But that's just what Electric Bitters give her. Thousands bless them for overcoming fainting and dizzy spells and for dispelling weakness, nervousness, backache and tired, listless, worn-out feeling. "Electric Bitters have done me a world of good," writes Eliza Pool, Depew, Okla., "and I thank you, with all my heart, for making such a good medicine." Only 5c. Guaranteed by Dale & Stubblefield.

Gone to Rest.

Cecil Fred McClure, the little son of G. W. and Emma McClure, was born Oct. 5, 1909, departed this life Dec. 23, 1912, aged 3 years, 2 months and 18 days. He was such a bright energetic little boy. Grieve not dear father and mother as if you had no hope, for our loss is his eternal gain. We can not call little Fred back to us but we can live in this world so as to meet little Fred at the Pearly Gates where he will be waiting and welcome us there.

One who loved him.

Mail Carriers Will Fly.

This is an age of great discoveries. Progress rides on the air. Soon we may see Uncle Sam's mail carriers flying in all directions, transporting mail. People take a wonderful interest in a discovery that benefits them. That's why Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs, Colds and other throat and lung diseases is the most popular medicine in America. "It cured me of a dreadful cough," writes Mrs. J. F. Davis, Stickney Corner, Mo., "after doctor's treatment and all other remedies had failed. For coughs, colds, or any bronchial affection it is unequalled. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at Dale & Stubblefield's.

Turn in Your Pledges.

The tobacco association books closed for the 1912 crop on Dec. 24th, and there yet remains quite a large number of pledges in the hands of friends of the organization. The county secretary is requested by the general secretary to have these pledges returned at the very earliest date possible, and we are again requesting all persons who have a pledge to forward same to G. J. Jennings, county secretary, at once. Do not neglect this matter or delay it but send today.

Pleurisy pains are locate! Just below the short ribs. Lumbago affects the same region but toward the back. BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT is the remedy in either case. PROMINENT MAN

Carey Thornton Passes Away After Lingered Illness of Several Weeks of Bright's Disease

Carey L. Thornton, a son of Green Thornton, and one of the splendid young men of the city of Murray, died at his home in this city last Friday night after a long illness of Bright's disease. He had been a resident of this place for many years and during the time had been manager of the local office of the Cumberland Telephone Co., and also the Murray Telephone Co. He was held in high esteem by the people and had many friends who were saddened by his early death. The burial took place Sunday afternoon in the Martin's Chapel cemetery and the services were conducted under the auspices of the Masonic fraternity. As evidence of the esteem in which he was held we publish following the resolutions adopted by the local lodge of F. & A. M.:

Murray Lodge No. 105, F. & A. M., Murray, Ky.

"In the midst of life we are in death."

The supreme architect of the universe, in His infinite wisdom has sent the Death Angel into our midst, another of our beloved brethren has taken his "chamber in the silent halls of death". Brother C. L. Thornton was born on May 7th, 1877, and died January 4th, 1913, after a lingering illness of several weeks, during which time he endured his sufferings with a degree of fortitude rarely seen in man.

He was kind and uncomplaining and "sustained and smoothed by an unflinching trust", he met the quivering shaft of death as "one rapt the drapery of his couch about him and lies down to pleasant dreams". He was a faithful member of the M. E. Church.

He lived so as to fulfill the measure of approval, holding his citizenship as a precious birthright, and his exercise of it beyond price.

In his death the town and country has lost an honorable citizen whose gentle manly traits are worthy of emulation.

He is dead but his memory lives with his brethren, and his works are ineffably wrought on their minds.

The working tools have fallen from his nervous grasp he is gone but

"O, the souls of those that die Are not so banished higher."

He measured his life by the plumb line of rectitude, square his actions by the square of virtue.

Think not, dear brother, the good, the gentle deeds of man's hand are done.

Shall we forgotten all the poor, the prisoner, the fatherless, the friendless, and the widow?

Who daily owned the bounty of the land, shall cry to heaven and put down a blessing on thee."

Be it resolved: That in the death of Brother Thornton, that this lodge has lost an exemplary mason, his father and mother a devoted son, his sisters a kind and loving brother, the community an honored citizen, and the church a devoted member. That we tender our sympathies to the bereaved family, asking them to look to Him that death all things well.

That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased, a copy to each of the county papers for publication and a copy placed upon the minute book of our lodge.

FEELING THE "CALL"

McCreary Says Friends Have Imparted Him to Run for Senate.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 31.—"You may say that I am seriously considering numerous requests from all parts of the State that I announce myself as a candidate for United States Senator," said Gov. McCreary Monday, the first expression he has made on the subject.

That he will announce his candidacy in a short time is the general opinion at the Capitol. For the last week his callers have included one or more persons whose mission it was to urge him to become a candidate for the Senate, and he acknowledged that these visitors and the letters he has been receiving have induced him to give thought to the subject.

When asked for a definite statement as to the probability of calling a special session of the General Assembly, he said: "That is something I can't afford to talk about. My friends have been talking, discussing the expense of such a session and the possible good it can accomplish. All I can say is that when I think the conditions demand it I will not hesitate to exercise the authority of my office to convene the legislature, but at present I am not giving it any consideration."

Opinion is divided as to whether the possibility of an extra session is in any way linked with the possible candidacy of the Governor. He says the two have no relation, and his candidacy will have no effect on his determination with regard to convening the General Assembly.

Lame back may come from over-work, cold settled in the muscles of the back, or from disease. In the two former cases the right remedy is BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT. It should be rubbed in thoroughly over the affected part, the relief will be prompt and satisfactory. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Dale & Stubblefield.

The Little Things That Count.

In the January Woman's Home Companion Grace Margaret Gould, fashion editor of that periodical, writing an article entitled "The Smart Note in Men's Fashions," as shown in some of the new accessories, says:

"Society has no use for the freak in dress—there is a very visible question-mark that goes before him."

"Quality and cut first, constant care afterward, and a sharp eye to the correct accessories, and invariably you have the well-dressed man."

"It is astonishing to see how much the smart note in men's dress is due to the little things—the correct and becoming collar, the new and not the antiquated tie, the fashionable waistcoat, the one which is appropriate to the suit. They all count for much."

While it is not known just what the cause of his death was it is generally accepted that it was heart trouble. Mr. Harding is survived by a sister, Mrs. Nancy Graves, of Murray, and three brothers, H. W. Harding, of near Martin, Tenn.; and John and Noah Harding, of Ft. Worth. Mr. Harding was one of the best men ever reared in this county and was a member of the Baptist church. He served as a Confederate soldier in Co. H, Third Ky. Regiment, Col. TO EXTEND

Parcels Post by Establishment of Fast Freight.

Service to Include All Characters of Express Business.

Washington, Dec. 31.—Far-reaching plans for the Federal Government to extend its parcels post system, a limited service of which was inaugurated Wednesday, have been mapped by Representative David J. Lewis, of Maryland, the House "father" of the present parcels post legislation, and will be pressed by him during the Wilson administration. These plans involve the establishment of a secondary or fast freight, parcels post, with the weight limit raised to 100 pounds; an enlargement of the classification so as to include everything shipped by express; a working scheme for "collect-on-delivery," a door-to-door collection and delivery, and a graduating of the rates down to the actual cost of conducting the business. Mr. Lewis also believes the parcel post rates effective January 1, excepting the initial charge of 5 cents for the first pound, can be cut in half for distances up to six hundred miles.

To establish the fast freight or secondary parcel post Mr. Lewis would have the Government to lease cars or space in cars on fast freight trains maintained by railroads, between large cities. Packages for this service would be assembled at large shipping points, as Louisville, for instance, from parts of Kentucky, loaded in these cars attached to fast freights and sent to their destinations at New York, Atlanta and Chicago and San Francisco.

Cheap Transportation.

The purpose of this fast freight parcel post is to provide cheap transportation between short distant points. The long distant parcel post rates are higher than the express rates.

Mr. Lewis is delighted with the announcement by Postmaster General Hitchcock that he believes the parcel post system, properly worked out, will absorb the private express business. In regard to the statement that the government to be fair should take over the express equipment, so as to protect a number of small stockholders, Mr. Lewis says that this would only require an expenditure of about $10,000,000, which represent the value of railway and motor and wagon delivery equipment of the private companies.

MILITIA BEST IN HISTORY

GEN. MILLS REPORTS IMPROVED ORGANIZATION.

Points to Need of Field Artillery as Difficult to Form Hastily in Time of War.

Washington, D. C.—The strength of the organized militia of the United States at the time of the last annual inspection was 9,142 officers and 112,710 enlisted men, an increase of 2,391, says Brigadier-General A. L. Mills, chief of the division of militia affairs, in his annual report.

He finds existing organizations better armed, uniformed and equipped, better instructed and better officered than ever before.

The infantry of the organized militia consists of 6,216 officers and 91,227 enlisted men, organized into 139 regiments, eight separate battalions and 14 separate companies. This shows an increase of 2,312 enlisted men and a reduction of 175 commissioned officers over 1911. The number of regiments was reduced by two, and three additional separate battalions and five separate companies added.

The problem of obtaining an efficient field artillery continues to offer the most difficulty, Gen. Mills observes, and the deficiency in this arm can not be made good by hastily created volunteers after the outbreak of war.

"A realization of the time necessary to secure efficiency in this arm with its present gun, coupled with the growing importance of the arm," he adds, "is probably the factor that has retarded its progress. Accepting the United States to overwhelmingly increase their field artillery relative to the other arm."

SENATOR DAVIS IS DEAD

APPOXY FATAL TO SOLO OF ARKANSAS.

News Shocks Capital, Where He Had Left Dec. 13 to Pass Holidays at Home.

Little Rock, Ark.—United States Senator Jeff Davis died at his home in Little Rock at 7:20 o'clock this morning of apoplexy. His death was unexpected, despite the fact that he complained yesterday of feeling slightly indisposed.

Senator Davis, who had been a member of the senate since 1907, previously served three terms as governor of Arkansas. In the Democratic primaries last September he was opposed for nomination by former Congressman Stephen Brundidge. He was nominated, however, after the closest race in the history of his career.

His death came as a distinct shock to his friends in the capital this morning. The senator left Washington December 13 to spend the Christmas holidays at his home and in that time was in the best of spirits.

He had not been in good health for some time, although his condition did not occasion his friends much alarm. On one or two occasions, his friends say, he had suffered from attacks of dizziness, but he invariably made light of them.

TALKING "MOVIES"

SHOWN BY EDISON

"KINETOPHONE" REPRODUCES WORDS AND ALL SOUNDS AS PICTURES ARE SEEN.

TO BE "CANNED DRAMA" NOW

Invention Will Be Put on Exhibition in Theaters Within Thirty Days

—Wizard Objects to Complimentary Remarks.

New York.—Thomas A. Edison, officially pronounced the final test of his marvelous "kinetophone" a success.

In other words, the talking moving pictures upon which the wizard of Orange has been working for so many years are now a reality, and within thirty days will be shown in seven theaters in Manhattan and three in Brooklyn.

"In the next year or two," said Mr. Edison, after the completion of the tests of his new contrivance, which seems to have solved the problem of synchronizing the motion picture and phonograph, "it will be no unusual thing to present an entire play or opera, as we now are able to produce a playlet or scene from the big plays."

All Sounds Heard.

The test took place in the little laboratory in the Edison laboratory, at Orange, N. J., where all the film pictures of every description are thrown upon screens and passed upon by Mr. Edison or his representatives.

In the first picture shown, a lecturer walked upon the stage and after bowing to the audience, proceeded to describe the "kinetophone" in the voice of a champion orator.

"We will now show you what sounds we can reproduce," said the phantom lecturer as he walked to a table. "I will break this plate."

The figure dashed the plate to the floor, shattering it, the sound of the falling fragments being plainly audible. A man entered the picture and began playing the piano, the notes floating softly through the theater. A young woman violinist appeared and played "Home, Sweet Home," with excellent effect, the pianist accompanying her. Then entered a woman who sang the old melody, accompanied by a violin and piano.

Orders Praise Cut Out.

Next a huzzar appeared and sounded his bugle call. Then two colliers entered the scene, barking furiously, and the picture was ended by the lecturer, who began to throw out his quotes at Mr. Edison.

NO LONGER SELECTS THE HAT

Hubby's First and Last Experience at a Millinery Store, Was Altogether Too Costly.

Congressman Ralph W. Moss of Indiana did not care much for his wife's wardrobe. He finally spoke about it. Mrs. Moss admitted that it was plain, and, instead of taking exceptions to her husband's remark, invited him to accompany her the next time she bought a hat.

"I can certainly pick out a better one than that," said Mr. Moss.

So they went to the store together. Mrs. Moss said not a word as the comely milliner displayed one beautiful bonnet after another. It was the first time Mr. Moss had ever been in a millinery store, but he appeared to be at ease, and finally selected one of the most joyful creations in the entire stock. Mrs. Moss looked well in it. She was pleased.

"I'll take that," said the milliner, and she handed the bonnet to her husband. "How much is it?"

"Forty dollars," said the pretty girl without even a blink.

Mr. Moss saw blue stars, but luckily had just come from the bank and was able to produce that much in cash. Now he lets Mrs. Moss buy her own hats and he does not complain about their being plain. Judge.

Her Ship Came In.

The mother, a widow with six children, had more energy than money. Little Dot asked frequently for things which her mother could not give.

"Just wait till my ship comes in," she would say assuredly.

One day the mother gave Dot a nickel. It was an unheard of happening.

"Has your ship come in?" the little girl asked eagerly.

Pictorial Review for January 1913.

PICTORIAL REVIEW for January is as usual, a monthly magazine devoted to all subjects that are essentially of interest to women, both of a practical and entertaining nature. The cover design is drawn by Harrison Fisher. The frontispiece is a reproduction of the famous painting, "Der Heilige Abend," (The Holy Night). "The Love Letters of a Confederate General," "The Gettysburg Campaign." These letters are a revelation giving the little known inside history of the Civil War, with a personal note that no mere history text-book could emulate. They are written by one whose reputation as a general and a gallant soldier was second to none. The critics hail these letters as human documents, combining authentic history and exquisite romance after a fashion never accomplished before by any series of the sort.

A MESSAGE

To Feeble Old People.

As one grows old the waste of the system becomes more rapid than repair. The tissues are worn slowly and less effectively than they are replaced. It is also the fact that the circulation is slower, the blood thin and the heart weaker.

When you take a bottle of Vinol and follow the directions for its use, you will find that it is a most effective and strengthening tonic. It is the only tonic that will build up the system and give you the strength and vitality that you need.

If Vinol fails to build up the feeble old people, and create strength, we will return your money. DALE & STURGEFIELD, Druggists, Murray, Kentucky.

AN ORDINANCE

FIRST. Said railroad shall be so constructed and operated, as far as practicable, approximately through the center of said streets and so constructed and operated as not to interfere unnecessarily with the public use of said streets or other travel or traffic and may be operated by electricity, compressed air or other motive power.

SECOND. The said grantees shall thereafter keep and maintain in good condition and repair such portions of said streets, and of the street crossings as they actually use and occupy with track, by crossing the same, or otherwise, and said track shall be so located as to conform to the established grade of the streets and the spikes, ties, and other material used in the construction of the track, shall be of such kind and of such quality as to be in conformity with the standards of the railroad commission of the state of Kentucky.

THIRD. Cross ties shall be so imbedded beneath the surface of the streets as to bring the top rail down to the level of the surface of the roadway, and said grantees shall keep and maintain the space between the rails, and for two (2) feet on each side thereof, substantially at said level.

FOURTH. No change of the line or grade of any street upon which said grantees construct a road shall at any time be made without the consent of the general council, or its authorized agent.

SEVENTH. Said grantees shall have the right to move back to their proper original position any fences or other obstruction that for any cause have been allowed to encroach upon or narrow the highway; also the right to move back to or against the sidewalks or fences any telegraph or telephone poles that are so located as to obstruct or interfere with the construction or safe operation of the proposed railroad.

EIGHTH. The grantees are required before the beginning of any of the work of constructing the road within the city, to execute to the city of Murray, Kentucky, a bond with approved surety, that said grantees will perform all of said work undertaken in manner as required by terms of this grant.

NINTH. This right of way, franchise, etc., shall be null and void, unless accepted in writing by said grantees or their authorized representative within thirty days from and after the passage and approval thereof.

TENTH. It is further ordained by the city council of the city of Murray, Kentucky, that in consideration of the fulfillment of the foregoing by said grantees, that they and their successors or assigns are hereby made exempt from any and all taxation subject to levy by the city of Murray, Kentucky, for a period of five years next subsequent to the issuance of this franchise.

Carload of Registered Stock.

L. Y. Woodruff, who is fast gaining the reputation of being Callaway's most progressive farmer, last week received a carload of fine registered Hereford stock, including eleven calves and heifers and one fine bull. Mr. Woodruff only purchased the very finest, and in fact, the male he purchased has the distinction of being a blue ribbon winner at twenty-nine state and county fairs. Mr. Woodruff says he has not only sold all his common cattle but has disposed of his common stock of hogs and in the future expects to breed and raise only that character of stock that there is a demand for, appreciating the fact that the market price for the better breeds of all character of stock is several cents on the pound, better than the inferior grades. Mr. Woodruff has not purchased this stock for sale or service but for the improvement of the stock that he raises on his farm. The Leader is of the opinion that every stock raiser in the county would do well to follow the example set out in this character of move made by Mr. Woodruff.

Will Not Make Public.

That officers of the Planters' Protective Association will not make public the number of pledges and the amount of 1912 tobacco which the association will handle, is the substance of a statement made Monday by a Mayfield man who is interested in the organization. Reasons for keeping this records from the public were not given, though this is generally believed to have resulted from the near failure of the association last summer.

While the officials will not make a report just now of the volume of business farmers have entrusted to their care this year it is known that it shows a substantial increase over the volume of 1911.

The Planters' Protective Association books were closed Christmas Eve, Mayfield Messenger.
