DISTINGUISHED

Gathering Witnessed the Blanton-Rives Nuptials

AT LEBANON, TENN.

Correspondent of Nashville American Gives An Account of the Wedding.

The Lebanon correspondent of the Nashville American gives the following interesting description of the Rives-Blanton nuptials in that city:

"At noon to-day Miss Hanna V. Z. and Blanton of the Nashville American were married at the Methodist church in this city. It was one of the prettiest weddings ever witnessed here, and a distinguished company witnessed the ceremony. The church was elaborately and richly decorated in holy and mystic and magnum and potted plants. The pulpit and altar were completely hidden beneath green banks of decorations, with a profusion of pink candles set among them. The bride was attired in white satin de-luxe, entrain, elaborately trimmed with white lace and pearls. The veil was held in place by a circle of pearls surrounding a magnificent volume diamond. She carried a wreath of Blanton's roses. Miss Frances Rives, sister of the groom, maid of honor, was daintily gowned in pink silk with over dress trimmed with ribbons and pearls and carried La France roses. The bridesmaids were gowned alike in beautiful pink gowns over pink and carried pink roses.

"Following the ushers came the bridesmaids and groomsmen in couples, then Miss Rives and Ben T. Milton, then the bride and her maid of honor, Miss Ben T. Milton, and the groom and his best man, Rev. W. R. Pennington, then the altar and performed the marriage ceremony.

"The honorary ushers were Judge Nathan Green and Prof. W. B. McLaughlin, Ray, W. T. Haggard and R. M. McLean, Sam Galloway and Dr. R. G. Dillard, Prof. W. J. Grant and L. G. Sirtton. The groomsmen were Dr. G. G. Mead, J. Nease, A. P. Brockert, Harry Brown, Eph Sanders and Walter Terrill. The bridesmaids were Miss Harry Brown, Missa Frances Pakes, Valie Hosen, Mary McDonald, Martha Anderson and Antelle Hosen.

"On Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Blanton, parents of the bride, at their home, Bonae Meade, entertained their visiting friends and all the members of the bridal party.

"Mr. Rives is an able young lawyer of the Hopkinsville, Ky., bar, and for that city Mr. and Mrs. Rives left this afternoon.

PROF. J. C. METCALFE

The New Era is always rejoicing to learn of the success of Christian county boys wherever they may be, and whatever field their energies are directed. In every avenue of active life which he has experienced there has been advertised his rare ability and buoyant energy. As time keeps on at the railroad shops; as superintendent of a company, as bookkeeper in a mercantile business; each and all of these and many other positions of trust and activity he has filled. He is a devoted, efficient and successful man. He is a devoted, efficient and successful man. He is a devoted, efficient and successful man.

REVENUE

Rolling Of Much Local Interest.

DEEDS OF RELEASE

Do Not Require Stamps
--Other Matters Of Considerable Importance.

Collector Franks, of this district, has received the following treasury rulings on internal revenue matters which are of local interest:

Release of mortgages and deeds of trust operating as mortgages are not subject to taxation no matter in what form they are executed. The foregoing ruling of considerable interest because of the fact that it has been heretofore held that deeds of release were subject to stamp tax.

A person using no tickets in his business, but making a pretense of buying articles brought to him, which he took with a verbal agreement that the articles could be bought back by the person selling them, upon payment of a special flat bonus, is liable to special tax as a pawnbroker.

Legacy taxes accrue on an estate where a testator died on or after Jan. 1, 1898.

Legacies in the nature of a life beneficiary interest and remainder interest are both taxable.

Where property is held by trustees under a deed of trust executed prior to Jan. 1, 1898, by a person dying on or after that date, and by the terms of the trust the beneficiaries could not become entitled to the possession or enjoyment of their distributive shares until after the grantor's death, taxes are required to be paid upon these distributive shares.

Remedial interests held in trust are subject to tax, even though their taxable value can not be determined until a certain contingency arises, such as the termination of a life interest.

It is imperative that the return be made on the "whole amount" of personal property passing from a dying person on or after Jan. 1, 1898. The fact that the legacy left to the widow is exempt from tax does not relieve the administrator or executor from making such return.

JEFFERSON QUOTED

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—William Jennings Bryan, in a signed statement in the Journal, says, after quoting Jefferson in opposition to imperialism:

"If it is said that we have outgrown the ideas of the fathers, it may be objected that the doctrine laid down by Jefferson was reiterated only a few years ago by no less a Republican than James G. Blaine."

"All remember the enthusiasm with which he entered into the work of bringing the republics of North and South America into closer and cordial relations. Some, however, may have forgotten the resolutions induced by him at the conference held in 1890 and approved by the commission present. They are as follows:

"First—That the principle of conquest shall not during the continuance of the treaty of arbitration be recognized as admissible under American public law."

"Second—That all questions of territory made during the continuance of the treaty of arbitration shall be void if made under the threat of war or in the presence of an armed force."

"Third—Any nation from which such concessions shall be exacted may demand the validity of the concessions made shall be submitted to arbitration."

"Fourth—Any renunciation of the right to arbitration made under the conditions named in the second section shall be null and void."

Col. Bryan quotes President McKinley's message of 1897 in which he said:

"I speak not of forcing arbitration, for that can not be thought of. That, by our code of morality, would be criminal aggression." Col. Bryan continues:

"Surely we know not what a day may bring forth if in so short a time 'criminal aggression' can be transformed into philanthropy and five per cent. What beauty what richness, the tales of the Pacific must possess if they can tempt our people to abandon not only the traditions of a century, but our standard of morality. What visions of national greatness the Philippines must arouse if for the very sight of them we can lead our country to visit with the millions of the old world in the extension of sovereignty by force."

"Jefferson has been called an expansionist, but our expansion will search in vain for a single instance in which he advocated the acquisition of remote territory. On the contrary, he expressly disclaimed any desire for land outside of the North American continent."

Jefferson is quoted at length against expansion, and Col. Bryan resumes:

"The alien may possess greater intelligence and greater strength, but he lacks the sympathy for and the identification with our people. We have only to recall the grievances enumerated in the declaration of independence to see how as even may dilute justice and how the cry of the oppressed can be silenced by distance. And yet the inhabitants of the colonies were the descendants of Englishmen—blood of their blood and bone of their bone. And yet the inhabitants of to-day, introduced by a taste of blood, are rash enough to enter upon the government of the Philippines, confident of the nation's ability to compel obedience, even if it can not secure it by force or by effect of fiat."

Jefferson said that men entertained false sentiments concerning the ancient republics, and that their strength, admitted them for their wisdom, and loved them for their justice. What shall be the ambition of our nation? To be loved because it is just, or to be feared because it is strong?"

I shall presently stand on Mount Zion the new covenant, shall stand in one couplet to praise a course of sermons on triumphant Christian deathbeds, the new covenant, and the triumph of triumphant joyful deathbeds—that own making, and I shall be able to tell us of this. There never was one of the apostles who was not a man of the same time in which he was born there never would have been a true Christian deathbed if it were not for the wonderful story of Christ, now making
