Banana Festival Guests To Entertain Governors

Approximately 55 talented students from Central and South America will come to Kentucky September 16, to appear before the Southern Governors' conference at Kentucky Dam Village on September 17.

The students are being selected under the supervision of Mrs. Florence Ballesteros of Quito, Ecuador and they will reside in private homes in the Fulton area until after the Banana Festival scheduled for September 28 through October 1.

The group is made up of highly trained and talented vocalists, artists and instrumentalists who have received a special invitation from Governor Edward T. Breathitt who is hosting the Governors' conference. The Latin-American group will also be an outstanding feature of the Fourth International Banana Festival.

Other entertainment planned for the Governors' conference includes the Stephen Foster Group, the Owensboro PU Band, a fashion show and a cruise on the Belle of Louisville through the canal and Lake Barkley.

A ladies luncheon on Tuesday, September 20, will feature the noted artist and naturalist Ray Harm. Mr. Harm will also display his work at the International Banana Festival.

Southern and border states will be represented at the conference by 17 governors and their first ladies. They will fly from Kentucky Dam to Lexington, Saturday afternoon September 17, for a reception and dinner to be held at Spindletop Hall hosted by Governor and Mrs. Edward T. Breathitt and Dr. and Mrs. John Oswald of the University of Kentucky.

Saturday evening they will attend the Kentucky-North Carolina football game at Stoll Field and will return to Kentucky Dam Village by (Continued on Page Eight)

Brenda McBride To Visit With Governor Romney

Brenda McBride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. McBride, of 100 Eddings St. Fulton and a Fulton High School student, is going to visit a nationally-known political figure, Governor George Romney of Michigan.

The trip is an award for an "editorial" written in support of the proposed constitution to be on the November ballot in a project sponsored by Kentucky Youth for a Better Constitution. Governor Romney spearheaded Michigan's efforts to write a new constitution in 1963 and the young Kentuckians will confer with him on the benefits Michigan has gained since the new document was approved.

A total of 27 young Kentuckians will be in the group. They are to meet at the office of Governor Breathitt in Frankfort on Tuesday, August 23. The group will return to Frankfort late the next afternoon.

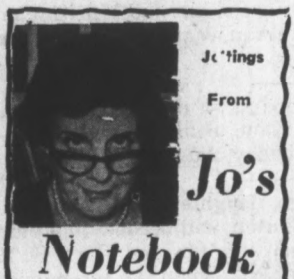

Veep Humphrey, Other VIP's Dedicate Dam

The dedication committee and the Corps of Engineers expect some 25,000 people to attend the ceremonies for the dedication of Barkley Dam to be held August 20.

Vice-President Hubert Humphrey will make the dedication address. The Vice-President will be officially greeted by bands from high schools in Lyon, Trigg and Livingston Counties.

The public is urged to attend these memorable ceremonies and be entertained by a list of stars including Roy Acuff, Tex Ritter, Hank Locklin, Marion Worth and the Jordanaires. Master of ceremonies will be Tom Butler, news director of WPSD-TV.

The program will begin at 10:30 a. m., central standard time.

I didn't deliberately omit the column this week. When we get crowded for space, the news about you and your friends is far more important for us to publish than my views and experiences about things here and there.

It's just as well. The column I had written was so explosive in its comment on that foul movie, "This Property Is Condemned," that perhaps it ought to cool awhile.

You probably will hear that I called every mother, of every child I knew who was in the show, and we got them to leave. . . much to the appreciation of the parents and the young people, they didn't want to be there anyway—but what else does our community offer?

There's going to be a time in the not too distant future when this apathy about our moral decline is going to explode right in our faces . . . and with proper justification. We're spinning our wheels with hypocrisy, as I can say. I'll tell you more next week.

You'd Better Believe It! Breathitt Is Working Man

Last week a group of Banana Festival officials journeyed to Kentucky Dam Village for a meeting with Governor Ned Breathitt. Looking for a meeting place in the crowded dining room, Governor Breathitt found one, arranged the tables, placed the chairs and then seated the group . . . all of whom were so startled at the high level service they couldn't even offer help.

But the Festival president goes one better this week.

Calling the Governor's office for a staff assistant, a familiar voice answered the phone by just saying "hello."

Recognizing the voice the caller said: "Is that you Governor Breathitt?"

"Sure, it is," he said. "What's wrong with a governor answering his own phone?"

"Nothing," gulped the caller. She got a first hand answer to the matter she was calling about anyhow.

Registration Books To Close Sept. 10th

Registration to vote in the November 8, election will be closed September 10.

One must be 18 years old on or before election day and must have lived in Kentucky one year, his county six months and his precinct 60 days before he is eligible to register and vote.

RE-SCHEDULED!

The Dad and Lad Camporee originally scheduled for August 13 and 14, was rained out and rescheduled for August 27 and 28. Pack 40 cub scouts will convene with their dads on Saturday afternoon at the Kitty League park.

Hickman County Library Receives Operating Funds

The Hickman County School Board paid the necessary $600, under the 1965-66 contract, to the State Department of Libraries last week. This payment enabled the Hickman County Library to be re-instituted for state and federal assistance, director Margaret Willis announced this week.

Superintendent Dentis McDaniels stated that the board did not previously have the necessary funds to make the contract payment. (Editor's note: Since the second section goes to press earlier the story on page 5 does not reveal this information.)

Festival Handshake Can Replace Weapon Hand of Communism

The custom of shaking hands started long ago when men offered their right, or weapon hands, in greeting to show that they were not carrying arms.

When it is Fourth International Banana Festival time in the twin cities of Fulton, Kentucky and South Fulton, Tennessee, from September 28, through October 1, this year, this custom will be continued.

Fultonians will be joined by representatives from Washington D. C., by the finest artists, craftsmen and entertainers of this

Cayce Postoffice Closes . . . Pleasant Memories Thru Century Will Live On

IN MEMORY OF THE Cayce Post Office

Born: July 20, 1860

Died: July 31, 1966

Interment in the minds of Cayce visitors and residents past and present.

by JACKIE CARAWAY and Jo Westpheling

The passing of the Cayce Post Office on July 31, marked a tragedy in the lives of some 200 patrons and hit the town of Cayce with a severe blow to its community pride.

It has been 106 years since Hardy Cayce was appointed the first postmaster and Cayce's Station was established as the community beside the railroad tracks. It was from Hardy Cayce that the community received its name that was changed from Cayce's Station to Cayce Station in 1874. The name was officially changed to Cayce on December 13, 1880.

Like many another agricultural community in the halcyon days of yesteryear, Cayce was once a thriving community. Drummers, the sales people of another era, alighted from the passenger trains that once stopped at Cayce, and sold their wares to the village merchants.

Yet, with all the hustle and bustle in its hey-day, the post office stood as a sentinel of community solidarity, the place to meet and visit with neighbors, the place where good news and bad was received and shared, where business deals were transacted, where the good times of the day were pleasantly exchanged.

It is no wonder that a pall of gloom hangs over the hearts of Cayce's residents. They feel that they have lost their identity, not only as a community, but because the postmark of the home of the "live engineer," may some day also fade into oblivion.

The town of Cayce has served many years as the historical background for the brave engineer

Casey Jones who has been immortalized in many a song and poem.

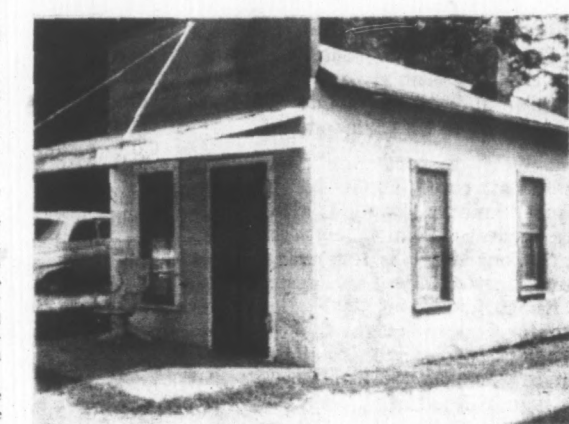

Casey Jones lived in Cayce as a boy and it was from the town that he received his name. His family home was just across the railroad track, a few yards away from the now deserted post office.

The man is immortalized but the town is not. It has had to fight, through its people, for every bit of recognition that it could gain. Its history still remains obscure to many a tourist, though any who have studied the life of Casey Jones have realized that he lived there, was loved there and received his long remembered name from the town.

Fighting to save the life of the post office, two hundred people signed a petition, to no avail. Letters and pleas to the post office department in Cincinnati and to the local representatives in the Commonwealth of Kentucky were like so many cancelled stamps.

Thinking in terms of saving the life of the post office, the focal point of any town, Mrs. Earl Tibbs, postmistress from July 30, 1962, resigned her position, believing that Mrs. Blanche Menees would make a lower and suitable offer for the post office contract which could have been renewed in July.

Learning that the post office

OLD-TIME SWIVEL CHAIR sits in majestic loneliness in front of Cayce's last post office building, now converted to a dwelling.

would be closed upon her resignation, Mrs. Tibbs wrote her representative saying that she did not intend for her resignation to terminate the post office and that she would not have tendered her resignation if she had known it would lead to such a catastrophe.

(Although her contract was up for renewal, postoffice officials revealed that it was customary to continue the contract with the contemporary holder, providing the terms were being performed to the satisfaction of the department.)

Her letters, the petition, the proposal of Mrs. Menees, all were ignored and the tiny post office was forced to close its doors by an official edict from the post office department in Cincinnati, she said.

The post office became "ill" and began to lose ground about 1960 when it was reduced from a 4th class post office to a sub-station of the Fulton Post Office, but through the efforts of Mrs. Tibbs the patronage increased to such a point that in 1964, Mrs. Tibbs submitted a resume requesting that the Cayce post office regain its fourth class status, but her summary was evidently not considered substantial enough to warrant the status.

A local businessman even offered to erect a building to meet the specifications of a fourth class post office.

Under the contract that Mrs. Tibbs held operating the post office as a Fulton sub-station, Mrs. Tibbs secured the boxes which were in turn rented by the patrons. The rent in its entirety was turned in to the government as post office revenue, as was required. No remuneration is given the postmaster for the purchase of the box itself. Until July 31, there were 68 boxes in use at Cayce with three to four families to a box. There were 7 general delivery boxes.

"Not only is it necessary for the postmaster to purchase the boxes but he must also pay for the heat, utilities and whatever labor is necessary," Mrs. Tibbs said.

See You In 1970 Is Farewell Greeting For 1927-'28 Class

A class reunion for 1970 has already been voted upon by the happy "youngsters" attending the reunion of the South Fulton High School classes of 1927 and 1928, held Saturday, August 6.

In retrospect those merry years seemed even merrier for as youngsters they were somewhat oblivious to the depression years ahead of them.

Ethel Mae Matthews Bright, William Smith, Katherine Gibbs Palmer, Frank Gibbs, Mary Lou Pickle Gibbs and Lorene Wright Reeks all of Fulton thought of the fringed skirts that have now regained their popularity and the bulky fur coats that every boy longed to wear.

Out of town members of the 1927 class attending were Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Byrd of Memphis; Mr. and Mrs. John Flake of Jackson, Tennessee; Mr. and Mrs. John A. Peterson of Urbana, Illinois; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wood of Festus, Missouri and Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Latta of Nashville.

The Charleston was happily recalled by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Bohin of Clinton, Mrs. Osler Morris of Paducah, Mr. and Mrs. John Powell Emerson of Pilot Oak and Mrs. Carl Rhodes of Cuba, Ky.

The classes paid silent tribute to their deceased members Delma Jonakin, Bill Houston, Jonelle Rogers, Charlene Willis, Mozelle Oliver Sams and Martha Whitlatch Kennedy.

Haws Memorial Joins Others In Medicare Suit

Haws Memorial Nursing Home of Fulton has joined eight other nursing homes in Kentucky and filed suit in Franklin Circuit Court, Frankfort, attacking new regulations covering their homes.

Defendants in the action were the state Health Department, the state Department of Economic Security and the Louisville-Jefferson County Board of Health.

The suit charges that if regulations recently adopted by the state Board of Health are carried out, they could force the closing or remodeling of the nursing homes.

Particular reference was made in the suit to a regulation requiring (Continued on Page Eight)

Immunization Records Being Made Available

On Thursday and Friday, August 25 and 26, during the hours of 8 to 11 a. m. and 1 to 3 p. m., any Fulton school child needing immunization certificate may obtain same if he or she has a current immunization record.

If the immunization was received from a private physician, the certificate will be furnished by him. If received at the Health Center, it may be obtained there.

Oops, We Erred!

Terry Norman and Carr schools will have registration and book day for grades 1 through 6 on August 25. Registration and book day for grades 7 through 12 will be held at the high school August 26, instead of August 29, as incorrectly stated in the News last week.

Troopers File Murder Charges In Death Of Youth Killed In Accident

Second degree murder charges have been filed by state troopers against Howard E. Jones, 18 year old Negro in connection with the death of Richard Dalton Lawrence, 18, of Route 3, Hickman.

Jones a resident of the State Line Road between Union City and Hickman was ordered held to the Hickman County grand jury under a $5000 bond.

Jimmy Lee Jones, Dwight D. Brown, Raymond C. Jones, David Flanigan and Shannon Crumble passengers in the Jones automobile were charged with being accessories and each of them were placed under a $1000 bond.

State trooper Tom Kilpatrick said the sextet is charged in connection with the death of Lawrence who was killed Monday afternoon when his car left the Union City Hickman Highway and slammed a tree broadside. Injured in the accident was a companion of the Lawrence youth, Charles Dwight Brown, 18, also of Hickman. Brown suffered minor injuries and was released from the hospital Tuesday afternoon.

Trooper Kilpatrick said Jones is charged with deliberately running the Lawrence car off the highway after first being passed by the Lawrence car. Jones has denied the charges.

Funeral services for Lawrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lawrence of Hickman were held Wednesday afternoon at the Barrett Funeral Home of Hickman. Rev. Vester Moreland, pastor of the (Continued on Page Eight)

Miss Bizwell To Compete In State Pageant

Miss Annette Bizwell, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Bizwell of Route 4, Fulton will compete with twenty other contestants from throughout the state August 23-24, in Louisville for the title of Miss Kentucky Rural Electric Cooperative Corporation. The winner will also have the honor of representing Kentucky in the National Contest in San Francisco, California to be held in February of 1967.

Miss Rural Cordiality will also be selected after the first appearance of the contestants before the public. The winner of the Miss Cordiality title is selected by the contestants themselves, however, she will not be announced until the final night of the contest, and will receive an engraved silver tray.

The first place winner will receive the trip to San Francisco, a silver tea service, a miniature crown, a portable television set and a portable stereo.

First runner-up will receive a second place sash, a diamond wrist watch and serve as an alternate in the National Finals.

The contestants earned the right to participate in the state pageant by winning local contests held during the rural electric cooperatives' annual membership meetings during July.

cared for while in transit. When they reach their destination they have fulfilled their purpose. They have done as their parent farmer so desired and the Fultonian is as proud as the grower is of his handiwork.

It is only fitting then that once a year through this common interest we should see what other values we share, for where there is one common interest, there must be many more. Therefore, join with us this year to make the fourth the finest banana festival.

It will take only your time and you will be entertained and inspired as you show by your presence that you are a fine God fearing American. Come prepared to extend your personal hand of friendship to any of the some three hundred South Americans who will be here, show by the smile on your face the love in your heart for your fellowman.

As you extend your right hand in greeting it will be a knife in the body of communism.

If a man take no thought about what is distant, he will find sorrow near at hand." . . . Confucius.

Senator Cooper's Support Of Legislation To Allow Prayer In Schools Is Encouraging News

John Sherman Cooper, the distinguished senator from Kentucky, is one of the most highly respected members of the United States Congress. The esteem in which he is held among both political parties in the United States is clearly evident by the high level and sensitive assignments he has been given by President Johnson and the late and beloved President John F. Kennedy.

Such respect and eminence does not come about by happenstance. Senator Cooper is also one of the hardest-working members of the U. S. Congress. It is reassuring, even refreshing to know that regardless of a Kentuckian's political allegiance, Senator Cooper is right there, his office doors wide open, to help with whatever matter is at hand, no matter how difficult.

Bearing this in mind, those of us who have been appalled at the ban on prayer in schools, can feel a measure of hope that Senator Cooper is giving his support and influence to an amendment that would allow prayers to be recited in public schools.

The following is a message sent to the News by Senator Cooper this week. We hope that you will write to him to let him know how deeply you appreciate his interest in this vitally important legislation.

Here is the message:
"I am a co-sponsor with Senator Dirksen of the amendment and I am asking the committee to report it to the Senate favorably," Senator Cooper said.

"I cannot see what harm might come from children saying a prayer of their own in school," Senator Cooper said. "I agree that the state authorities or the school authorities should not write a prayer for the children to say, for that could be governmental interference with religion, and I do not think the authorities would want to do that."

"But I believe that any child who wants to should be allowed to say a prayer he has learned at home or at his own church," Senator Cooper said.

"No one is being forced to pray that way — it is entirely voluntary, and I believe the founding fathers did not intend that such prayers should be forbidden when the constitutional provision on church-state separation was written," Senator Cooper said.

"The amendment would allow a voluntary expression of faith in God, and I cannot see any valid objection to that," Senator Cooper said. "I think it is right."

Famed Editor Concludes Speech With Challenge To Editors And Readers To Do Something Now!

Concluding Article

(This is the concluding article in a series we have published quoting a speech made by famed Tulsa editor and columnist, Jenkin Lloyd Jones. Last week Mr. Jones was commenting on the low calibre of modern literature. He continues this comment, with a challenge to editors and readers of this newspaper to do something about it.)

About Our National Morals by Jenkin Lloyd Jones

We have our latter-day historical novels in which the romance of man's upward movement from savagery is lost in a confused welter of bundlings and tumbings. The foreign reader of one of these epics on the development of the American West must marvel that our forefathers found time to quell the Comanches, plow up Kansas and build the trans-continental railroad while spending practically all their time in the hay.

Don Maxwell of the Chicago Tribune has recently asked his book department to quit advertising scatological literature by including it in the list of best sellers. The critics and the book publishers have denounced him for tampering with the facts. I would like to raise a somewhat larger question: Who is tampering with the soul of America?

FOR NATIONS do have souls. They have collective personalities. People who think well of themselves collectively exhibit elan and enthusiasm and morale. When nations cease believing in themselves, when they regard their institutions with cynicism and their traditions with flippancy they will not long remain great nations.

'Let's Get It Fixed'

It is time we hit the sawdust trail. It is time we revived the idea that there is such a thing as sin—just plain old willful sin. It is time we brought self-discipline back into style. And who has a greater responsibility at this hour than we, the gentlemen of the press?

So I suggest:
— Let's look to our educational institutions at the local level, and if Johnny can't read by the time he's ready to get married let's find out why.

— Let's look at the distribution of public largesse and if, far from alleviating human misery, it is producing the sloth and irresponsibility that intensifies it, let's get it fixed.

— Let's quit being bulldozed and bedazzled by self-appointed long hairs. Let's have the guts to say that a book is dirt if that's what we think of it, or that a painting may well be a daub if you can't figure out which way to hang it. And if some beatnik welds together a collection of rusty cogwheels and old corset stays and claims it's a greater sculpture than Michelangelo's "David" let's have the courage to say that it looks like junk and probably is.

— Let's blow the whistle on plays that would bring blushes to an American Legion stag party. Let's not be awed by movie characters with barnyard morals even if some of them have been photographed climbing aboard the Presidential yacht. Let us pay more attention in our news columns to the decent people everywhere who are trying to do something for the good of others.

In short, gentlemen, let's cover up the cess-pool and start planting some flowers.

Well, that's the jeremiad. I never thought I'd deliver one of these. I never dreamed I'd go around sounding like an advance man for the Watch-and-Ward Society. I used to consider myself quite a liberal young man. I still think that on some people bikinis look fine.

'Fed Up To Here'

But I am fed up to here with the educationists and pseudo-social scientists who have under-rated our potential as a people. I am fed up to here with the medicine men who try to pass off pretense for art and prudence for literature. I am tired of seeing America debased and low-rated in

POETRY CORNER

MESSAGES

There's a poetry of silence in a wood.
If you stand in mystic wonder you will hear.
There's a rhythm that will match your every mood
And a cadence that will comfort every fear.

There's a symphony of rapture in the hills.
One small bird can lift the melody along.
And the thunder of its euphemism fills
All the vacant air with chorus of its song.

There's a philosophic wisdom at the shore,
Where persistent waves come clamorously in.
There's a mystery of ages in their roar,
And one feels himself to all of time akin.

Whether wood or hill or shore, the word is clear.
It is here that men are lifted from the sod.
"Whosoever hath an ear, then let him hear,"
Foe these are but the messages from God.

— Kelly O'Neill

From The Christian

the eyes of foreigners. And I am genuinely disturbed that to idealistic youth in many countries the fraud of communism appears synonymous with morality, while we, the chief repository of real freedom, are regarded as being in the last stages of decay.

WE CAN LEARN a lesson from history. Twice before our British cousins appeared heading into a collapse of principle, and twice they drew themselves back. The British court reached an advanced stage of corruption under the Stuarts. But the people rebelled. And in the wild days of George IV and William IV it looked as though Britain were rotting out again. But the people banded through the reform laws, and under Victoria went on to the peak of their power.

In this hour of fear, confusion and self-doubt let this be the story of America. Unless I misread the signs a great number of our people are ready. Let there be a fresh breeze, a breeze of new honesty, new idealism, new integrity.

And there, gentlemen, is where you come in. You have typewriters, presses and a huge audience.

TOO SLOW

Americans as a rule frown on foreigners who do not take up U. S. citizenship promptly. But the shoe is on the other foot in Australia, where Immigration Minister Leslie Bury says that American migrants to that country are slow to become citizens.

LEND A HAND!

Police and firemen on Nantucket Island, Mass., searched for two missing boys, finally discovered them in the evening near a pond. Robert McGrath and James Briard, both 10, were tired when found, asked the officers to please carry the polywogs they had caught.

FULTON'S

Library Corner

By Brenda Rowlett

Most people nowadays seem to think that newness is the spice of life. Some may think that this is not true, but the library staff firmly believes this to be true. We now have a shipment of new books so why not add some spice to your life and read a few of the following:

"Kentucky's state parks have the finest overnight lodgings of any public areas in the country," so says VACATIONS, U. S. A. This new book, which advises the vacationer on "getting the most for your travel dollar," mentions Kentucky frequently. The Commonwealth is highly recommended for fall vacations. Morehead University, Berea, (The fountainhead of Southern Appalachia crafts), the Kentucky Derby Festival, Mammoth Cave National Park, and Audubon State Park are all given an enthusiastic plug and high recommendation. The section specifically devoted to state park facilities says of Kentucky, "This state has more than a dozen resort parks," all of which have "a modern lodge designed with plenty of glass, native stone and wood, and motel-like rooms; a cluster of furnished housekeeping cottages; a lake for boating and fishing and a dining room serving southern cuisine." Kentucky is further credited as having "five excellent float fishing streams."

UNSAFE AT ANY SPEED by Ralph Nader. This is perhaps the most controversial book we have received lately. The cover flap states: "You have been told many times that thousands of people are killed each year by automobiles and millions more injured by them. But when you read this book you will know for the first time that the main causes of these deaths and injuries are automobiles that are unnecessarily dangerous. UNSAFE AT ANY SPEED is the full story of how and why cars kill, and why the automobile manufacturers have failed to make cars safe, even though the knowledge and technical skill to do so have been in their hands for years. The documented history of the industry's intransigence is here, along with the detailed background of the campaign

VIETNAM: BETWEEN TWO TRUCES by Jean Lacouture. Jean

Years ago the phone hung from its wooden perch in the hall. To get the operator you would use the small crank on the side, a pleasant bell would tinkle and one of "the girls" would answer. There were more girls in the larger towns but the small towns usually had two or three. You would say, "Alice give me the grocery store," as if Alice had a whole bunch of them beside her.

Alice would take hold of a little tube and poke it into a certain hole and a little light would go on and a bell would ring in the grocery store. This of course was the marvelous switch board.

The switch board was marvelous, so were the telephones. They were so unusual and such a step into the future at the time that some older people refused to use the "contraptions" and if they did use them they would yell as if they were calling hogs.

Admittedly it was sometimes necessary to yell to make the party hear you. You had to yell extra loud if everyone was listening on the party line too. That was a favorite pastime, listening in on the party line.

Everyone knew "the girls" in those days and enjoyed remembering them with gifts at Christmas or singing "Happy Birthday" to them over the telephone. It was very comforting to "ring up" one of "the girls" and find out the most recent death or the name of the man who let his mules get away. (This was really a live wire.)

There was never a thought at that time of saying anything rude, crude or blasphemous to any of the "girls" or anyone on the line. True, some people showed their tempers over the telephone when they didn't get all their groceries delivered or the general store didn't cut the right length of cloth, but realizing that most anyone could hear their conversation this held their tongues.

Times have changed. With the to convince us all that only a changed driver can prevent the ravages of the traffic toll. It is the thesis of this book that it is easier to redesign automobiles to make them safe than to revise the nature of the people who drive them. In proof of this point, Ralph Nader has done the first thoroughgoing study not only of the major producers of automobiles, but also of the men and women who make up the safety propaganda establishment, the staffs of the peculiarly constituted standards groups (and the inadequate standards they set), and the scientists who know what the automotive engineers and stylists could do if their full capabilities were used." Read this book and decide whether you think this theory is right or not.

KEATON by Rudi Blesh. This is the story of Joseph Frank "Buster" Keaton, a sad-faced little man who is universally acknowledged as one of the prime masters of silent-film comedy and one of the great creative artists of our time. Based on personal interviews with Keaton himself; his mother, the late Myra Keaton; his brother and sister; his wife, Eleanor; and hundreds of other people—personal friends and business associates—the book is inevitably much more than a "life story."

PRACTICAL JOKER

A practical joker started a petition in the Punjab State Legislature, India, to oust his friend Chief Minister Ram Kishan. The petition got away from him and before he retrieved it two-thirds of Mr. Kishan's supporters had signed their names without bothering to read it.

The Month Of Augustus

by Jackie Caraway

The brilliant poppy flaunts her head
Amidst the ripening grain,
And adds her voice to swell the song
That August's here again. — Winslow

August is a month of particular distinction to those interested in the craft of writing for much of literature has been written by and about people born in the month named after Augustus Caesar.

Julius Caesar rechristened the month of July for himself. His successor, Augustus, desiring a like honor chose the month he considered to be his luckiest, to name after himself. It was the month he had been elected consul; the month he had three times celebrated a triumph and the month he had completed the conquest of Egypt. A difficulty came to light when Augustus realized his month had but 30 days and the month Julius had chosen had 31, so Augustus, not to be outdone, took a day from February (which was already a short month), and gave it to his own month of August.

Our neighboring state, Missouri was admitted to the Union on August 10, 1821 as was Colorado on August 1, 1876.

Noted people born under the sign of Leo the lion or Virgo, the virgin are Tennyson, Isaac Walton, Francis Scott Key, Sir Walter Scott, David Crockett, Benjamin Harrison, Bret Harte, John Locke Oliver Wendell Holmes, and President Johnson.

Columbus first landed on the American continent August 1, 1502. Those who recall the first world war may remember that war was declared on Austria, August 12, 1914, and the veterans and their families of the second world war are sure to remember the celebration of August 14, 1945 when Japan unofficially surrendered. The formal papers of surrender were signed aboard the U. S. S. Missouri September 2, 1945.

Much can be said of August and the notable happenings in Augusts of the past, but more can be said of this August and those yet to come if we think in terms of Napoleon, born in August 1769, who said: "The only useful conquests, the only conquests that leave no sort of regret behind are the conquests one makes over ignorance".

Rev. Bill Smith of the Columbus Baptist Church will conduct the singing services.

THE CANDLE ---

loss of "the girls" there is a coldness to the telephone. It seems far more inanimate. It is a temptation for degenerate individuals to use the instrument as a vicious weapon.

The family waiting in anticipation for supper, moves about in a state of happy confusion. They lay aside their various tasks and begin to take their places at the table.

The phone rings.

There is a respectful silence and father answering the phone with a cheerful "hello" pales as he listens.

He places the receiver solidly back on the hook without uttering another word.

His family, shocked by the look upon his face, question:

"Who was it?"

"What did they want?"

"Is it bad news?"

He cannot tell them.

He cannot repeat the vile, filthy cursing words he has just heard. Not in the habit of using such language himself, he is only glad that he was the one to answer and not his wife or his children.

He wonders, "who could hate me so much... surely it was a wrong number," but the phone rings again.

He steps toward it, takes up the receiver and braces himself for the detestable language to follow.

This is no wrong number, just one in a list of many used as a target for a misled, unknown individual, to verbally terrorize self-respecting God fearing people.

Such unnatural perverted behavior upon the part of a few individuals has made it necessary for the Kentucky Legislature to pass laws making the use of the telephone for obscene calls, a crime punishable with either one year in jail or a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $1000, or both upon conviction.

What would you do upon receiving a call such as this?

Do as this father did. Hang up. Anyone who stoops to this method of communication is desperate for an audience. Don't give him one.

We cannot call upon "the girls" to help us now but we can call the telephone business office, for the modern equipment now available to the Southern Bell Telephone Company makes it possible to quickly trace and identify anonymous callers.

Calls threatening your life or property should be reported to your local police department.

The time has come to join forces with modern technology and rid ourselves of this evil by-product of our times.

SCATTERED PATTEN

About People and Things

Mayfield, Murray, Paris and Fulton lady golfers made the Country Club a busy place on Ladies Day last week. The ladies who broke 50 on the tough Fulton course were Betty Vowell, Sara Bushart, Totie Winter, Sara Campbell, Virginia Rogers, Nell Newton, Cindy Hale and Martha Hale of Fulton and Jane Ann Nall and Virginia Harp of Mayfield. Betty Lowry of Murray also broke 50.

Betty Vowell, 1966 cmo champion was medalist of the day with a 41 which included five pars, one birdie, a bogey, a double bogey and a triple bogey.

Mrs. Lillie M. Pruett of 702 Edgings may not be able to wield a golf club but she can certainly get along well with her cane. Mrs. Pruett is not able to get out very much and so she has moved closer to town. She came by the office to check on her subscription and to say how much she enjoyed the paper. She likes to have a mail box full of mail, too, so why not put her on your shut-in list.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Holland are here to stay until after the Banana Festival and then they plan to go to Brownsville, Texas for the winter. They have been visiting in the cool states of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

B & P W members are pleased that Mary Browder has returned from her vacation through Ohio, Delaware, Pennsylvania and Virginia in time to help them with their work in the Banana Festival.

Sherell Onve was doubly busy last week rushing back and fourth across the street helping his mother at the Chamber of Commerce office and loading his car with pretty packages.

He is resting up this week though and enjoying the companionship of his bride Donna, the very lovely daughter of R. W. "Tip" and Lucille Johnson of Clinton. Of course the parents have been mighty busy too and some second honeymoons for them might be in order.

Sometimes it takes a long time for friends to get together once they are separated by distance. It took 39 years and a South Fulton class reunion to bring Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wood of Festus, Missouri back to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Smith. They hadn't seen each other since 1927.

Mrs. Minnie Thompson feels that she is a long way from her friends too and she would like so much to have a note or a card while she is staying at the Starks Nursing Home 1700 Kentucky Avenue, in Paducah, Kentucky.

While looking up source material for a column on games elsewhere in this issue we came upon the words "Dixit Dominus Domino Meo." These words "recited by the winner of a game played with flat stones and originated by French monks. The words actually come from the vespers services, but the game as we know it today is dominoes.

Patty cake, patty cake baker's man, might be a favorite game in the Max McDade home. They are the parents of a 7 pound 12 ounce boy, born August 6. Master Benjamin Scott will soon be playing with his sister Cindy, 3, and his brother Max, 5, but for awhile they will have to stick to lullabys.

The Percussion Band has a new vocalist who might like to play patty cake too. Timothy Lee, who cries out in a very modern fashion is the 9 pound son of drummer Joe Stout and his wife Maggie, organist and vocalist. Wonder who will get top billing.

The government representative searching through a raft of papers asked the lady, "Where is your pink slip?"

Upset, she replied, "I didn't know it would make any difference and so I wore the white one today".

A barbecue pork and mutton supper was served at the Fulton Lodge 1142 BPO Elks on Monday night, August 15. The meal was free and what could be better than good fellowship and a fine meal.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Bolin of Clinton returned from a New York trip a few days early so that they might attend the reunion of the 1927 and 1928 classes of South Fulton High School. Mrs. Bolin is the former Rudelle Mansfield. It was a good thing they made it for another reunion is not scheduled until 1970.

A good barbecue dinner might come in handy for Charles M. Allen, of Route 4, Fulton. Charles is working as a ranger at Philmont Scout Ranch and Explorer Base in the Sangre de Cristo range of the Rocky Mountains.

Allen is one of 104 rangers trained to instruct in the skills of ax-throwing, firebuilding, cooking, back-packing, footcare, burrow packing and compass orientation. Sounds like he could really work up an appetite!

Miss Molly Alexander was honored by the South Fulton Baptists at Sunday evening services. Miss Alexander after presenting a concert of sacred songs on the organ, received a charm bracelet and a love offering from the church in appreciation for her services as an organist for the past five years. Miss Alexander will enter the University of Tennessee Martin Branch in September.

Dr. Archie Dykes delivered the keynote address for the South Fulton Teachers who joined with other Tennessee counties for in-service training in Martin this week. Dr. Dykes of Memphis State University will become the new chancellor at UTMB upon the retirement of Dr. Paul Meek.

The Fulton-South Fulton Civitan club was represented at the First District Council meeting by Van Latta and Floyd Martin. The meeting was held Saturday afternoon at the Mammoth Cave National Park.

Explorettes entertained with a "turn-about" party Friday night at City Park. The girls invited boys to be their guests at a picnic supper and provided their transportation. Mrs. Morgan Omar and Mrs. Billy Johnson explorette advisors also attended the party.

LEGION TO PICNIC

The Marshall Alexander Post No. 72, American Legion and Auxiliary, will hold its annual family picnic in the City park next Monday, August 22, at 6:30 p. m. Barbecue and drinks will be furnished by the Legion and members of the Auxiliary are requested to bring other dishes.

Miss Logan, Mr. Arrington Pledge Vows In Lovely Church Ceremony

The sanctuary of the Second Baptist Church, Edwards Street in Union City, presented the setting for the wedding of Miss Marjorie Ruthene Logan and Carl Edward Arrington, which was solemnized at ten o'clock in the morning on Saturday, August 6, 1966.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. Lon Logan and the late Mrs. Logan, of Union City. The groom is the son of Mrs. C. M. Arrington and the late Mr. Arrington, of Fulton.

The Rev. George Horton officiated at the double ring ceremony.

For the wedding occasion altar vases held bouquets of white shasta daisies, gladioli and greenery. Tall candelabras of lighted tapers flanked a center arrangement of white and green and a prayer de rail, where the bride and groom knelt. White satin, greenery and lighted tapers marked the family pews.

Mrs. L. C. Logan, organist, Miss Wanda James and Miss Linda Pitts, vocalists, presented the nuptial music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white peau de soie. Hand-clipped appliques of Alencon lace outlined the Sadrina neckline, the long tapered sleeves and the lower edge of the bell-shaped skirt. A detachable chapel length train, appliqued with Alencon lace, fell from the waist. A crown of seed pearls held the bride's shoulder length tiered silk illusion veil. The bridal bouquet was of a cascade design and featured a yellow throated white orchid surrounded by feathered carnations, illusion and white satin.

Mrs. Joe Logan, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor; Miss Phyllis Logan, niece of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Miss Deborah Logan, niece of the bride was junior bridesmaid. They all wore street-length designs of yellow embossed peau de soie, fashioned with Sabrina necklines, short sleeves and bell skirts. Their circular veils of illusion were held in place by Dior bows and they carried French nosegays of white shasta daisies tied with yellow satin.

R. B. Arrington, uncle of the groom, was best man, James W. Shuck served as groomsman, and Wendell McClellan, cousin of the groom, was junior groomsman. Mrs. Thelbert Smith, sister of the bride, chose for the wedding a sheath dress of yellow and white lace. Her accessories were white and her corsage was of white carnations.

Mrs. Arrington, mother of the groom, selected a two-piece model of turquoise silk, with accessories in shades of turquoise. At her shoulder was pinned a corsage of white carnations.

Following the wedding, members of the wedding party formed a receiving line in the foyer of the sanctuary, after which the bride and groom left for a week in Louisville, Ky. For traveling the bride wore a sheath dress of white silk, with a sleeveless cotton lace coat and white accessories. Pinned at her shoulder was the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will make their home on South Sixth Street in Union City.

I offer my sincere thanks to the men and Women of Weakley, Lake, Obion, Carroll and Henry counties who supported my candidacy for the democratic nomination as state senator from the 24th District.

DON'T PUT IT OFF TOO LONG

It is time for us to begin thinking about a pasture program for fall, provided of course you are a livestock raiser and most farmers have some at least. A pasture is like many other things today—much time is involved in planning and getting ready for the actual operation. You cannot wait until the day to sow a pasture and then proceed with the operations.

A good pasture program is very expensive today and there should not be a single slip in getting everything ready. After the field has been selected, be sure to have the soil tested by some good soils laboratory and ask for a complete analysis of needs for the kind of pasture you plan to sow, you should then follow these recommendations and not look anything that is recommended. Be sure that agricultural limestone is added far enough in advance in order that it will become available by the time it will be needed by the small plants that will be there to use it.

Proper seed variety and selections are important plus correct amount to sow per acre. All these things count a lot today—and more so than ever before due to increased costs.

It has always been my experience that the very best soil bed preparation is the safest and surest. Some feel that can be overdone but that is very doubtful.

Of course moisture and rainfall are vital for a successful pasture program. We are not always sure in the fall if we will have moisture when we need it and due to that fact we must prepare ourselves for even the worst. With proper seed bed preparation and with the idea in mind of preserving all moisture possible that is present, an almost sure job can be accomplished.

Then following germination of all small grass and legume seed sown it becomes necessary to protect them from all insects that attack small, immature plants. This can be done with proper use of insecticides and herbicides on the market.

DID YOU KNOW?

The rate at which agriculture has progressed in the United States is one of the most significant developments of modern times. Per-acre yield of eighteen leading field crops, for example, is up seventy-one per cent from twenty years ago. It rose almost forty per cent between 1944 and 1954. During this same period, corn yields rose from thirty-two point eight bushels to fifty-one point five bushels per acre. ... and wheat, from seventeen point seven to twenty-one point three bushels. Cotton yields jumped from three hundred pounds per acre to four hundred and sixty-five pounds. ... peanuts, from six and seventy-eight to almost eleven hundred pounds and rice, from twenty-one hundred to more than thirty hundred pounds per acre. This efficiency makes possible an abundance of food and fiber ... contributing tremendously to our high standard of living.

CONTROL CATTLE GRUBS

Between now and October is the proper time to use systemic insecticides in controlling cattle grubs. According to Claude Logan, Jr., cattle buyer for Reelfoot Packing Company, cattle in the spring that are free of grubs will bring at least 50c more per hundred - on a 1,000 lb. steer that amounts to more than five dollars.

Cost for treating an animal at this time of the year runs from 20 to 40 cents a head.

To control materials are in common use. One material is called Co-Ral, the other Ruelene. These materials can be applied as water sprays. Ruelene can be applied by the pour-on mix method. Mix according to package directions. Another material, Ronnel, is mixed with feed and fed a certain number of days according to directions.

Don't treat dairy animals with Co-Ral within 14 days of freshening. The waiting period for Ruelene is 28 days for dairy and beef animals. Do not use any of the materials on lactating dairy animals. Don't treat sick animals or animals under stress.

IT BEGAN "LIFE" WITH A $25 loan for a charter. Now it has assets of $8.4 million and about 100 employees. It's something to celebrate, so Gibson County Electric Membership Corporation which sends TVA power out to 23,000 customers in West Tennessee, will observe its 30th birthday August 18. The co-op serves Gibson, Lake, Crockett and Obion counties and portions of Dyer, Madison and Haywood counties.

When we think about the Electric co-op being 30 years old, we should remember that it was just a few years ago that most of us in this area had to depend on coal-oil lamps and very few of the modern conveniences that we all have today. I cannot feature anyone wanting to go back to the so called "Good Ol' Days".

Directors of the Gibson County Electric Co-op from Obion County are Mr. Arch Cultra, Mr. W. G. Dement, Mr. J. M. Fisher, Mr. A. T. Cloar, and Mr. Earnest Maloney.

Plan To Amend Federal Milk Order Is Ended

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has terminated proceedings on a proposal to amend the Paducah Federal milk marketing order, considered at a public hearing in Paducah, Ky., Nov. 17-18, 1965. The Paducah order sets minimum prices to dairy farmers serving parts of Kentucky and Missouri, but does not regulate prices consumers pay.

Consumer and Marketing Service officials said this decision relates to proposed plus-location adjustments to be paid by handlers whose plants are located in southwestern Kentucky.

USDA recommended on July 18 that fluid milk prices not be higher at plants in that part of the marketing area relative to other plants operating under the order. Other actions since November have increased the price level throughout the market.

Rain Outside Fails To Stop Get-Together

Monday, August 15, was the date of a gala occasion in the lovely country home of Mrs. Cecil Binford, when old friends and students of Beeler High School met and spent the day. Outside the rain fell and thunder rumbled, but no one inside noticed this. All were too busy re-living their sunny yesterday together.

A bountiful meal was served at noon.

Those present were: Mrs. Grace Brown Raymer of Columbus, Mrs. Maude Cook Pharis, Mrs. Judy Robey Brady, Miss Boone Walker, Miss Polly Thompson, Miss Mary Swan Bushart, the hostess, Mrs. Mildred Hicks Binford, and a very special guest who was able to be with the group for the first time, Mrs. Ita Richmond Edwards from Hazel Park, Mich.

CAYCE POST OFFICE

less than a living wage for the postmaster. Even so, to keep the Cayce Post Office alive, both Mrs. Tibbs and Mrs. Menees were willing to operate it on this small a stipend, they told a News reporter.

Many a devoted historian has stopped to visit the Cayce Post Office and many more have requested the post marks on remails. This portion of history is now a memory.

Having reached a point in the Commonwealth of Kentucky where much accent is placed upon its history and its tourist attractions, this post office has been closed.

At a time when Western Kentucky is fighting to save itself from economic detriment and attempting to attract industries in various ways, the Cayce Post Office is closed.

(Many Cayce residents feel that because of the tourist interest in the Casey Jones monument, Kentucky State officials might have intervened in Washington to continue the postoffice.)

The Cayce Post Office is not dead for want of a postmaster. The Cayce Post Office is not dead for want of local interest.

The Cayce Post Office is not dead for want of a building. The Cayce Post Office is not dead for want of historical value.

Why is the Cayce Post Office dead?

The question is answered with the cold, hard facts of life and financial statistics advanced by postal authorities in the Cincinnati district. Yearly receipts from the sub-station were less than the annual sum paid out for its operation. Mrs. Tibbs' bid to operate the sub-station was a little over $1600 per year.

(Ed's Note: Why pick on Cayce? The postoffice department has been operating billions of dollars in the red for periods longer than the memory of this publisher, and those much older.)

Mrs. Ada Maye Hampton Wall, postmistress from July 7, 1942 until July 31, 1957 expressed her regret upon the passing of the Cayce Post Office. "So many have worked so many years to keep it going," she said. "The mail is delivered now, of course, but it doesn't get here 'til ten or eleven and the men sure miss going down to get it early in the morning," Mrs. Wall continued.

"I had a lot of mail for the Cayce School," Mrs. Tibbs remarked sadly. "I guess they'll get it all from Fulton now."

John B. Gadberry, postmaster from 1957 until 1962 and Miss Clarice Bondurant, postmistress from September of 1941 until July 1942, and Mayme Asbell Searce postmistress from June 1921 until August 1923, the only postmasters surviving the Cayce Post Office, mourn its loss, but they join with all the good residents of Cayce in remembering the wonderful days when the Cayce Post Office was the center of attention and the place to start the day.

The Cayce Post Office is not dead as long as it lives in the memory of its friends.

NOTICE TO FULTON BUSINESS FIRMS:

Beginning with the next utility billing the City of Fulton will institute a revised Garbage Collection Fee for the commercial establishments within the City of Fulton.

The reason for this change is to provide a more equitable rate based on the number of pick-ups required per establishment and the volume of garbage. This schedule can also be readily adapted for each business's particular requirements. In other words, if a business has one day of the week that is unusually heavy in garbage disposal then this garbage can be picked up on that day, and if there are days in which the volume is not such that would require a pick-up then these days can be eliminated. The rate charged will be based upon the number of pick-ups and the volume of garbage.

The problem that the City is encountering is the rising cost of collection of garbage and yet trying to maintain an equitable fee for the customer. This change is an attempt to reduce the number of trips and the number of stops and yet provide a satisfactory service which in turn will reduce the cost and prevent the need for having to add additional equipment and personnel.

THE RATE SCHEDULE IS AS FOLLOWS:

NUMBER OF 20 GALLON CANS RATE PER MONTH BASED ON PICK-UPS PER WEEK

	1	2	3	4	5	6
1-4	2.00	2.50	3.00	4.00	4.50	5.00

Time To Work... Time To Play

by Jackie Caraway

When everything seems just the same
You'll find it's time to play a game.

Games are a necessary part of the recreation period of organizations whether they be civic or religious. Even families need games for the bad weather days.

It is a good idea to review the various games and think of them in terms of the groups to participate and the many ways they can be innovated to suit the modern era. New games, as a rule, are simply a variation of old standards.

Most of the ideas mentioned here are suitable for adult organizations and combined with your ingenuity they may be made appropriate for any group.

A quiet game that encourages everyone to talk was used recently for a senior citizens group in Clinton. Everybody likes to give advice and to express themselves on various subjects and this affords them the opportunity.

Questions are prepared such as: What is your favorite work of art, music, book, flower, person, Bible scripture, television program, etc.? What do you think of teen-age marriages, Viet Nam war, ways to enjoy retirement, hobbies etc.?

The questions are written or typed inside a folded sheet of paper which may be decorated with an appropriate picture. The papers are placed on a tray to be drawn and opinions are limited to a required length of time. The questions may be collected to be used at some subsequent meeting so that other members may air their opinions of the various subjects. The questions may be geared to any age group.

There was a game on television at one time where the contestants were required to bid on certain items and if they went over the cost of the item they lost.

With this theory pictures of furniture, refrigerators, trailers, and such can be cut out and pasted on individual sheets of paper. The description and price can be pasted to the back of the paper or on a separate sheet. The pictures are then held for all to see while the recreation chairman reads the description of the merchandise. Players guess the retail price of the merchandise and the player with the most correct answers wins the prize.

For real fun wrap an odd object in a large box or unusual container put it in an obvious place and ask everyone to be thinking what is in it. Let them pick it up, feel of it, or shake it. You may have to give some hints, such as it could be found in the kitchen, or you use it every day. The winner might get the object for a prize.

Good pencil and paper games may always be devised by using the name of the honoree, the purpose of the meeting, or even the month of the year, and asking the players to make as many words as possible from the letters.

If the meeting is in your home, hide various objects in unusual places. Put a pencil in a flower pot, a bar of soap on the window sill, a dish cloth pinned to the draperies, a shoe for a book end on a shelf, a glass in the chandelier or a handkerchief. When the time comes, let the guests wander about the room and see how many objects they find out of place.

Observation games are always interesting, no matter how many times they are used. A basket full of items viewed for a few seconds by each player is listed from memory. A number of objects in a drawer is a little different. Let each guest peep in the drawer for a few seconds, close the drawer and then make a list. It is often surprising how many things are listed that weren't even in the drawer or basket. That proves how we imagine things sometimes.

For roll call suggestions if you wish to push a project. Pass out a paragraph or two of facts at a prior meeting. As an example, members could be given a list of the counties in Kentucky, then at the next meeting they would have to answer the roll call with the name of a county. Be sure to call the roll at the other end of the alphabet sometimes so that the "A's" will have to think hard for a different answer once in a while instead of the "X, Y and Z's".

A recreation chairman has a problem for prizes sometimes and guests will say they don't expect anything, but a little prize is always desirable even if it is some home made cookies, or a plant cutting.

Prizes are no problem for "Mummies" after a hearty game of scrabble, monopoly or old maid. Nothing is nicer than an extra piece of cake or two cookies instead of one.

Letters are nice to receive and we have very few to use in our Shopper column. Why not sit down and write a post card size note if you haven't time for a letter and we promise to use it right here.

Says Nomination Of Ellington Good For Party

MEMPHIS — The outgoing chief of the Shelby County Democratic party said Sunday the Democratic party in Tennessee will find "new strength" because of the nomination of former Gov. Buford Ellington in the primary last Thursday.

"The party will take on new strength with his leadership," said James Irwin, who turned the county Democratic reins over to Lewis Talleferro. "He has the political experience and has been a leader of the party before."

Breathitt Aide Takes Leave To Help With Campaign

FRANKFORT — For taine Banks Jr. will start a leave of absence Aug. 1 as administrative assistant to Gov. Edward T. Breathitt to become state campaign coordinator for the Democratic ticket in November. He will return to his regular job after the election.

Democratic State Campaign Chairman Lawrence Weatherby said Thursday Banks will operate at state Democratic headquarters at Frankfort.

Richmond Paper Denied Access To Records

RICHMOND, Ky. — Editor Randall Fields of the Richmond Register says he will take legal action immediately to gain access to City Police files. Register personnel were barred from police files this week by Chief Harry Sebastian who was angered by publication of a story Tuesday.

The story concerned a break-in at a nurses' residence behind a hospital.

A newspaper spokesman said Thursday the story was given to the Register by Sebastian with the understanding that the hospital administrator must clear it before it could be run. The newspaper says it attempted to call the administrator but could not reach him, and that attempts to call Sebastian and tell him this failed.

Sebastian said the files will be closed to the Register "as long as I am chief," and he said of Register executives "done me dirty."

Sebastian has not barred the local radio station nor a correspondent for a Lexington newspaper.

NIGHT BLINDERS

The person with 20/40 day-time vision may have only 20/100 vision at night, according to authorities. Driving at night, guided only by car headlights, such a person suffers much the same effect as if wearing dark glasses and blinders—a lethal combination.

Ability to see straight ahead is limited to range of the headlights, about 350 feet maximum. Since headlights shine only to the front, lateral vision is virtually zero. The driver is in a "tunnel of vision," seeing only the road immediately ahead.

With the nighttime traffic death rate two and a half times the daytime rate, the Street and Highway Safety Lighting

United Fund Drive Is Set

To Collect Funds For 7 Agencies In October

A goal of $30,000 has been announced for Obion County's first United Fund Drive which will be conducted in October. With this announcement came notice that the drive will represent all but one of the charitable groups which formerly conducted drives in the county.

The Cancer Fund is the latest charitable agency to join United Fund, swelling the number represented by United Fund to seven. Other members are Red Cross, Mental Health, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, March of Dimes and Cerebral Palsy.

This leaves only the Heart Fund outside of the United Fund. Johnny Fowler, publicity chairman for United Fund, said this morning that state and national policies make it impossible for the Heart drive to join United Fund.

Mr. Fowler said that the United Fund will also lend support to the Area Council on alcoholism, which is setting up a local office.

Under the United Fund program, all businesses and persons who have been contributing to each of the seven agencies represented, will now need only make one contribution each year. It is hoped that contributions will equal what formerly was given to all seven.

The campaign committee will meet soon with representatives of various industries in order to explain United Fund. Another portion of the plan will be to set up some type of payroll deduction plan with employees of industry in order that they, too, may contribute to the seven charities represented.

In other cities with similar programs, employees usually agree to donate one hour's wages per month to United Fund. If this is done here is believed the drive will reach its goal of $30,000.

Directors of the United Fund have voted to join the National organization and to order the necessary materials for the

Funds To Hickman Library May Be Stopped By State

CLINTON, Ky. —The Hickman County Library is faced with the probability of having all state and federal aid cut off due to a reduction in local income.

Miss Margaret Willis of the Department of Libraries in Frankfort has informed Mrs. Erl Sensing, chairman of the county library board, that should this come about the Department of Libraries will stop sending books, records and magazines local drive. The local drive will also benefit from advertising done by the national organization during the month of October.

Winds of Change in Autumn Beauty

Sweeping in with the brilliant Autumn breeze, a new look in young sophistication. Summer's lazy laissez-faire gives way to Autumn's heightened vitality. Alice-in-Wonderland manes take on a grown-up air with the addition of an Infanta switch. Fashions defy cold weather with hot autumn-leaf shades of red, orange, yellow and plum, and complexions must hold their own against onslaughts of color with the addition of blushing cheek tints. Lips echo the gold of harvest time and huge October moons. Coty's new golden Cremesticks add elegance to innocence with "Spanish Gold," a warm, glowing rose; "Fool's Gold," tawny, luscious caramel; and "Gone Gold," pure precious gold to be worn alone, over or under other shades.
