Two New Tennis Courts Ready For Use At Country Club Now

Two new tennis courts are now open for play at Fulton's country club. They are located on the site of the former courts. The ground has been cleaned and new clay worked into the surface. New backstops have been erected also.

Paul Durbin, club president, in making the announcement of the opening, stated that special membership in the country club could be obtained for those who desire only to play tennis.

He further stated that this was only one of a number of improvements the club hopes to accomplish this summer. The club is now sponsoring a beginners' class for boys and girls of high school age who wish to learn to play golf. The lessons, taught by Dick Hughes, local Illinois Central railroad employee and former pro at Bunker Hill golf club, Chicago, are free to all who wish to participate.

Special priced memberships are available to those boys and girls who wish to continue playing golf after they have finished Mr. Hughes' classes.

U. K. President To Speak Here

Will Address Railroad Psychology Class Instead Of Alumni At Cincinnati

Paducah, Ky., June 11.—(AP)—President H. L. Donovan of the University of Kentucky will not be able to address the greater Cincinnati Alumni Association of the U. of K. tomorrow night, but it won't be because he is sick.

Dr. Donovan, here to speak at a university extension course in psychology for railroad men, cleared up a misunderstanding which arose when the Cincinnati group heard he was filling an engagement here. The Cincinnati alumni said they understood the university president was sick.

Donovan said he had another speaking date this afternoon before a railroad men's psychology class at Fulton and would be unable to make the long trip to Cincinnati.

Dr. Leo Chamberlain, vice president of the university, will speak at Cincinnati in Dr. Donovan's place, the president said.

Reds Ask U. N. To Control All Atomic Energy

Gromyko Wants World Sharing Of Information

WOULD OUTLAW BOMB

Lake Success, June 11.—(AP)—Russia today called on the United Nations to establish a world commission "for strict international control over all facilities engaged in mining, production of atomic raw materials and in production of atomic materials and atomic energy."

Speaking in English, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko told the 12-nation U. N. Atomic Energy Commission that such an international group, operating within the framework of the veto-conscious Security Council, would have access to "any facilities for mining, production and stockpiling of atomic materials."

Gromyko said that in fulfilling its tasks of control and inspection, the proposed commission would have the right of "requesting from the government of any nation and checking of various data and reports on the activities of atomic energy facilities."

Yesterday Gromyko had told the commission's working committee that for him it was a "full of compromises."

Declaring that the Atomic Energy Commission has not made due progress in its work even after the commission's majority endorsement of the American (Baruch) plan, Gromyko said "it is time to proceed to the solution of concrete tasks."

He added the Soviet Union would insist that the task of prohibiting atomic weapons be considered from the viewpoint of its "necessity."

He did not change his basic position for immediately outlawing the bomb and only then for a convention setting up atomic controls.

In a speech given wide advertisement through Gromyko's request for a meeting of the full commission—its first since March 18—Gromyko laid down these points:

1. The International Control Commission should be set up within the framework of the council—where the veto applies.
2. The commission shall have its own inspectorial apparatus.
3. Composition, rights and obligations of the commission, as well as provisions on basis of which it shall act, shall be determined by a special international convention signed by nations.
4. The commission shall be composed of nations on the Atomic Energy Commission, shall select its personnel on an international basis, and "periodically carry out inspection of facilities for mining and production of atomic materials."
5. The commission shall check existing stockpiles, investigate and verify the accounting and study production operations.
6. The commission shall "have access to any facilities for mining production and stockpiling of materials."
7. Signatory states to the convention prohibiting atomic weapons must have a right to carry on "unrestricted scientific research" directed toward discovery of methods for use of atomic energy for peaceful purposes.

Fulton Bank Adds Modern Machines To Cut Time, Work

Two new labor and time-saving devices have been added at the Fulton Bank—a Cummins 250 Endorsograph and a Downey-Johnson coin counter.

The endorsograph is electrically operated, and cancels, endorses or signs checks in one quick operation. It is the first machine of its kind ever used in Fulton, bank officials say.

The counter counts, rolls and packages coins (pennies through half-dollars) automatically, stopping when the desired number of coins has been reached. It also can count coins without packaging them.

The hand-operated machine is absolutely error-proof, it's reported, and will cut the time spent in counting and wrapping coins by an estimated nine-tenths.

U. S. State Department Sends Protest Against Hungary Coup

Washington, June 11.—(AP)—The United States today sent Russia a strong protest against the Soviet upset of Hungary's government.

The State Department note reportedly carried a threat to take the case before the United Nations if necessary.

The main proposal for action contained in the protest is understood to be a request for a joint American-British-Russian investigation of the situation in Hungary.

It was possible that some last-minute changes were made in the text of the note by Secretary of State Marshall, who went over it finally shortly before it was sent out.

State Department officials declined to detail the note's proposed immediately, but it was learned that the message on this country's views was sent to Soviet Lieut. Gen. V. P. Sviridov, chairman of the Allied Control Commission in Hungary, with copies to Moscow and to London.

As the document was originally prepared, it accused the Soviets of unjustified interference in the internal affairs of Hungary and of violating the Yalta agreement. It proposed the three-power investigation with the threat of taking the whole case to the United Nations unless satisfactory information can be turned up absolving Russia of the American accusations.

The late President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill of Britain and Generalissimo Stalin of Russia reached an agreement at a Yalta conference regarding policies to govern occupation of enemy nations.

Diplomatic officials indicated today that the term "United Nations" is not actually used in the text of the note as finally sent, but said there was no mistaking that an appeal to the United Nations is the ultimate move.

World Recovery Called Primary Goal of America

WELCOMED HEARTILY

Ottawa, June 11.—(AP)—President Truman told the Parliament of this northern "Good Neighbor" today that the United States intended to help those nations that want to live in peace, without coercion or intimidation.

Senators and members of the House of Commons stood and applauded as the President, attired in formal morning clothes, entered the House chamber.

"We intend to aid those who seek to live at peace with their neighbors, without coercion or being coerced, without intimidation or being intimidated," the President told the lawmakers.

He promised that American resources would be used to promote world recovery by aiding those who are willing to make "the maximum contribution to the same cause."

"We intend to cooperate actively and loyally with all who honestly seek, as we do, to build a better world in which mankind can live in peace and prosperity."

In what was interpreted by many as an indication that the $500,000,000 Greek-Turkish aid program and the $350,000,000 relief measure for other "assisted" countries may be followed later by support for other countries, Mr. Truman asserted:

"At this critical hour in history, we of the United States are deeply conscious of our responsibilities to the world. We know that in this trying period, between a war that is over and a peace that is not yet secure, the destitute and the oppressed of the earth look chiefly to us for sustenance and support until they can again face life with self-confidence and self-reliance."

The President spoke after Canadian Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King quoted him as having said previously that "the breaking of the peace anywhere is the concern of peace-loving nations everywhere," and declared "this statement of American policy might equally be a statement of Canadian policy."

Mackenzie King voiced admiration of the Canadian people for "the qualities of humor, sincerity and courage and the capacity for friendship," he said the President possessed and which "been particularly evident since the last Congressional elections."

The President, speaking after a round of receptions which followed his good will visit to Ottawa with Mrs. Truman and his daughter, Margaret, said he counted good neighbor Canada "in the forefront of those who share these objectives and ideals."

His own country, he said, is "keenly aware that much depends upon the internal strength, the economic stability and the moral stamina of the United States," and he added:

"We face this challenge with determination and confidence. 'Free men everywhere know that the purpose of the United States is to restore the world to health and to re-establish conditions in which the common people of the earth can work out their salvation by their own efforts.'"

"We intend to expend our energies and invest our substance in promoting world recovery by assisting those who are willing to make their maximum contribution to the same cause."

Without mentioning any other country by name the President said that with such friends as Canada "we face the future unafraid."

Every Dad Has His Day

Father has had his ups and downs through-out history.

The fellow whose "day" we observe Sunday, June 15, at one time in ancient Gaul was the supreme head of his house, and it was a disgrace for any son still in his teens to appear publicly in his father's presence. Dad was head man among the Athenians, too. When a son was old enough to marry, his father selected the wife for him—with no questions asked.

But in the Sudan, Africa, Dad came out second best. After bearing five children, a wife may return to her parents, leaving Papa to look after the kiddies. And in parts of India, a father's lot is even worse. If he gets into debt, his wife can sell him into slavery to pay off his bills.

The American male parent is immortalized in song, ranging from the mountain ditty "That Silver-Haired Daddy of Mine" to the Gay Nineties "Father, Dear Father, Come Home With Me Now."

He may not be the boss at his house—at least to the extent his grandfather was—but the 1947 Father's Day honoree represents a larger segment of our population than ever before in the 37-year history of the occasion. The nation's birth rate reached an all-time high in 1946, and it appears that this year's total will exceed last year's.

Father's Day, surprisingly enough, was originated by a mother. In 1909 Mrs. John Bruce Dodd, Spokane, Wash., thought of the idea as a tribute to her own father, William Smart, a Civil War veteran who reared his six children after their mother's death. The first official Father's Day in Spokane was in 1910. Come Sunday, Dad naturally will be pleased to receive any gifts his family may have selected—and we'll wager he'd also like to celebrate by sleeping late, skipping any household chores, napping after lunch, and having the car all to himself.

A Fresh Start

The dangerous stick of ex-manager Johnny Gill was missing from the Fulton Chicks batting order last night after the skipper had resigned for the year. As Johnny said yesterday, "It's just one of those things that happens in baseball."

The team had been in a slump, it's true, and it was only natural that the manager was given a large share of the responsibility in the eyes of the fans. While Gill was as anxious, or more so, to win as the most rabid fan, for some reason the team wasn't clicking, and he stepped down by mutual agreement with the baseball association.

The new manager is expected to strengthen the Chicks pitching staff, which has been rather weak on the whole this season. Perhaps he can help the Chicks get back on the winning side of the scoring columns. It's tough to fight your way up from the bottom of the heap, but it can be done.

Principle and Practice

Everybody seems to be in favor of government economy. But Congress hasn't yet proposed a budget cut that wasn't greeted with howls of protest from one quarter or another. However, this is not to be wondered at.

Everybody is dead set against toothaches. But the fact doesn't make most folks relish a trip to the dentist any more. (Park City News, Bowling Green).

Second Childhood

Kansas City.—(AP)—Adults have about as much fun as the kids riding a miniature train in Swope Park.

Indians Want Unity

By Charles A. Gramlich
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Indians attending United Nations sessions at Lake Success are hopeful that the partitioning of their home land will be only a trial separation and that a reconciliation of the Hindu and Moslem communities will be effected once they have said goodbye to the British.

These feelings seem more wishful than hopeful, however, at this early stage in settling the future of the sub-continent's four hundred millions.

They are expressed by members or sympathizers of the Hindu-dominated All-India Congress party, who have kept Indian representation in the U. N. all to themselves and away from the Moslem leaguers. The League Monday, at a session in New Delhi disturbed by a riot enacted by non-League Moslems, voted to set up the separate dominion of Pakistan, and the Congress party is expected to vote for establishment of its dominion of Hindustan on Saturday.

Thus, the principles for partitioning India will be settled. The details of livelihood on both sides of the lines are something else to be worked out.

Even with the split-up, Hindustan and Pakistan will rate among the most populous countries on earth and will be inter-dependent to a certain degree whether they like it or not.

Whether they will be so dependent upon each other for security and economic reasons that they must eventually reunite remains to be seen. The best the British could get out of the whole deal would be a choice by both dominions to remain in the British Commonwealth instead of proclaiming themselves independent, which either or both may do.

Indian politicians of all stripes appear to be working toward one common objective: to keep India, once free of the British "Raj," from finding itself again a prey to exploitation from the outside.

But the division of the sub-continent only multiplies this task and the rival leaders in the two major dominions may find it difficult to keep outsiders from playing one against the other.

The first major internal reform already undertaken by Indians in the interim government at New Delhi is a step toward abolition of untouchability in the Hindu caste system.

Many Hindu leaders, including Jawaharlal Nehru, who stands on the very top rung of the caste system as a Kashmiri Brahmin, refuse to recognize untouchability, and Mohandas K. Gandhi lives among the untouchables. There is a practical political angle to raising the lot of the so-called scheduled castes, however, and the leaders are doubtless mindful of the many easy conversions to Christianity from the lowest ranks who were outcast from the Hindu fold.

Such an anachronistic pattern would provide a ripe field for any intruding elements such as Communism with the promise of lifting the standard of living.

THERE IS NO MAGIC FORMULA

There is nothing mysterious about the treatment of disease. It is a sound practical procedure. The physician deliberates each individual case, prescribes the remedy indicated. Despite the wild propaganda of the patent medicine vendors, there is no magic formula. In many instances indiscriminate self-medication results in serious harm. Even a minor illness should not be neglected. When you feel "out of sorts," consult a competent physician. Receive the benefits of his years of study. Be sure that he is a licensed M.D. Then bring his prescriptions to us to be filled. If you are in an illness that yields to treatment, prompt recovery will be your reward.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

New York, June 11—(AP)—There'll be some top flight baseball on tap tomorrow when four southern college teams start their sectional elimination series for the national collegiate tournament, but it isn't likely that any team will match the 1918 Alabama outfit. That team included Joe and Luke Sewell, Riggs Stephenson, Len Stiles and Dan and Ike Boone, all of whom became major leaguers. Alabama is in the tourney with a Southeastern Conference champion team whose best prospects seem to be catcher D. J. Gambrell, who plans to turn pro this summer, and Joe Kirkland, freshman southpaw pitcher. Auburn's freshman flinger, Willard Nixon, has been tabbed as the best big league prospect in the S.E.C. since Spud Chandler was hurled for Georgia. Brooklyn scouts have been putting Clemson's pitching pair, Joe Landrum and Joe Hazle, all spring, and Virginia's second baseman, Chuck Noe, hit 382 in college games so he can't be too bad.

Quote, Unquote

Speaking of college baseball, Herschel Schooley recalls this line written by Ring Lardner back in 1915: "The Middle Western Conference is composed of the University of Illinois. The conference is sometimes called the big nine, possibly out of respect to the Illinois nine, which has been more consistently successful than the Illinois five or the Illinois eleven."

Sports Before Your Eyes

The Indians hope they have found another starting pitcher in Bryan Stephens, who has been longed to Cleveland since Judge Landis fired the Detroit farmhands in 1939 but never pitched a big league game until last mouth. Pete Cawthon, who started a scouting trip for the Detroit Lions and wound up in a Galveston hospital, is on his feet again and has tackled a job of cutting 500 logs for his Virginia camp. One of those "lucky" chain letters is circulating among the college basketball coaches, who don't want to risk breaking the chain and maybe losing out on a seven-foot freshman. Al Lolotai, the Los Angeles Rams' Samoan guard, is heavyweight wrestling champion of the Hawaiian Islands. If he does as well in football, Coach Dud De Groot will be asking: "Give me Samoa!"

Etiquette Lesson

Willie Turnesa tells this one about Smiley Quick's peevish act of smashing his putter after he was eliminated from the British amateur golf tourney. A British bigwig who saw it told Willie: "There's two ways to break a putter, one right, the other wrong. The right way is to do it in the clubhouse, out of sight; the wrong way is to break it out in plain sight."

Kid Stuff

Last Spring Ken Oliver, Fort Lee, N. J., high school pitcher, won 12 games without a loss. When he went on to Seton Hall college, Mike Colletti took over the job and racked up 14 straight victories this year. Mike allowed only 16 runs, some unearned, and fanned 156 in 101 innings and the only time he was taken out of a game was when he had a long lead and the coach wanted to look at another flinger.

Chicks Blast Oilers 6 To 3 Tuesday Night Six-Game Losing Streak Is Snapped

A rejuvenated Chicks team doubled the score, 6 to 3, against the Owensboro Oilers here last night to snap a six-game losing streak that began with their series at Owensboro last week and followed them to Madisonville.

It was the first game the Fulton nine had played without ex-manager Johnny Gill, who stepped down yesterday because he "couldn't produce a winning ball club." Dutch Gray, Chicks' second baseman, headed the team last night and will serve as manager again tonight.

Tomorrow night the new skipper, pitcher Freddy Biggs of the Memphis Chicks, will be in Fulton to take over the seventh-place team. Through a misunderstanding, it was stated in yesterday's Leader that Biggs would not be here until June 19.

The Chicks started their game last night like a house afire. Whitey Lynch fanned two Oiler batters and the third grounded out to the box. Then in Fulton's first turn at bat, Tommy Buck rapped out a double, Gray walked, and both romped home on Propst's double. Seawright, Rhodes and Peterson filed out in one-two-three order to end the inning.

The Oilers tied it up in the second when Brady, third sacker, poled a long homer with Manager Earle Browne on second.

The Chicks came back strong in their half of the second to score four more and sew up the game. Engel singled, Lynch walked, and Buck singled to load the bases. Dutch Gray slammed one against the right field fence so hard he stretched it into a home run to clear the sacks and put Fulton ahead 6-2. Buck's single in the second was the second of four hits in five trips to the plate.

The last Oiler tally came in the seventh, made by Brady, who was hit by a pitched ball and advanced on a single and an error.

Last night's loss was the first of the year for Medcalf, Owensboro hurler. The two teams play here again tonight and Thursday night, and the Chicks meet Madisonville three times in Fairfield park starting the night of June 13.

Two more new players will be added to the Chicks lineup, in addition to the new manager, Fulton Baseball Association President K. P. Dalton said today.

They are Raymond C. Pechous, outfielder, and J. B. Garland, right-handed pitcher.

Pechous came here on option from Gadsden, Ala., in the Class C Southeastern League. Garland has won six and lost two this year in the West Texas-Mexico league, a Class C circuit.

Here's why we can give it better service!

1. We have Ford-trained mechanics

2. Genuine Ford Parts

3. Factory-approved methods

4. Specialized Ford equipment

There's no doubt about it. We know your Ford better than anyone else possibly could. We have the training, experience and equipment behind us.
