U.S. State Department Sends Protest Against Hungary Coup

U.S. State Department reported Wednesday that it had sent a protest to the Hungarian government over its recent coup. The protest was in response to the overthrow of the democratic government by pro-communist forces, which was carried out in Budapest on Sunday. The State Department said it was concerned about the implications of the coup for peace and stability in Europe and around the world. The protest noted that the United States had no formal relations with Hungary at the time of the coup but was prepared to discuss any developments with other governments. The Department added that it would continue to monitor the situation closely.
