"Draft Wallace For President" Boom Likely

Ex-Vice-President Asks For Meeting Of Truman, Stalin

8500 PAY TO HEAR HIM

Washington, June 17—(AP)—A "Draft Henry Wallace for President" movement began to take shape today as the former vice president awaited any official response to his call for a Truman-Stalin meeting in Berlin to settle Soviet-American differences.

Wallace, the most vocal critic of President Truman's foreign policy in this country, said he knew nothing of the "draft" move, which originated in California.

But in his address here last night before a cheering outdoor crowd estimated at from 8,000 to 10,500, the ousted cabinet officer said "there will be a new party" if the two major parties "insist on pursuing the present suicidal course toward war and depression."

He called on Mr. Truman to invite Premier Stalin to meet with him in Berlin to discuss economic and trade relations between the two countries as a "first step" to world peace.

Robert W. Kenny, former California attorney general, said in Los Angeles that the draft-Wallace campaign would get under way at a meeting in Fresno, Calif., July 19. Wallace will not appear, but may send a message to the gathering, Kenny said.

The primary purpose, he added, will be to select a committee to name a slate of 54 candidates for a pro-Wallace California delegation to the next Democratic national convention.

Kenny, Southern California chairman of the Progressive Citizens of America, which sponsored many of Wallace's recent speeches across the country, said:

"This may be the first in a series of grass-roots get-togethers throughout the country."

Wallace spoke last night at the Watergate, a government-owned amphitheater near the Lincoln Memorial. The audience occupied 8,500 reserved seats which sold for from 60 cents to $3.60 and spread out on nearby Memorial Bridge and a bordering roadway.

Officials of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, which sponsored the rally, said $8,000 was collected from the audience in donations ranging from $1 to $500.

The crowd applauded Wallace's call for the Berlin conference and cheered when he remarked that an election is coming up in 1948.

Asserting that the present Congress would never approve a large loan to the Soviet Union, Wallace added:

"We must overcome this Red-phobia which the reactionaries would carefully nurture in all of us."

Federal Judge James M. Proctor (above) refused a petition of the American Anti-Communist Association to bar Henry A. Wallace from speaking at the government-owned Watergate Amphitheater in Washington.

Shipowners, Unionists Confer On Ending 'Strike' Or 'Lockout'

New York, June 17—(AP)—Assistant Secretary of Labor John W. Gibson arranged a meeting today of shipowners and union officials to seek to end the strange shipping tieup which the owners call a strike and the unions call a "lockout."

Ordered upon the expiration of contracts Sunday midnight, the work stoppage prevented the sailing of some ships yesterday and could immobilize eventually all American shipping if it reached the picketing stage. So far, it has affected chiefly East and Gulf Coast ports.

The nation's largest passenger vessel, the United States liner America, which was scheduled to sail for Europe tomorrow, may be held at its New York pier by the stoppage.

The National Maritime Union, key union of the CIO organizers directly involved, announced 600 crew members were being called off the ship today.

Meanwhile, Paul Palazzo, New York port agent for the NMU, called a meeting of a 20-man "mobilization committee" which he said would ask all CIO unions in the city to help the maritime unions "to smash the lockout."

In last year's shipping tieup, American Federation of Labor unions and CIO unions mutually respected each other's picket lines.

So far, the only picketing reported in the current dispute was at Baltimore where the National Union of Marine Cooks and Stewards (NMC) picketed the freighter James A. Drain yesterday because, said Union Agent Irv Dvorin, ship officers were "ignoring our lockout" by preparing to sail. The picketing ended when the ship was moved to anchorage.

Gibson, immediately upon his arrival here late yesterday, conferred with officers of the NMU and with representatives of 39 East and Gulf Coast shipowners.

"After canvassing the positions of the several parties by means of separate discussions, it appears that there is sufficient basis for further meetings," the Labor Department official said later.

The building site is known as the Herman Easley property, one of the most beautiful building lots within the city. The dwelling, consisting of 10 rooms, will be utilized in the general building program. The lot, 100 x 200 feet, will give ample space for all church buildings now, and possibly will afford room for a manse at a later date.

The membership of the church is pleased with the transaction of the board, and is backing them with its interest, presence and finance.

Cubs To Meet Thursday Nite

Will Be Pack's Final Gathering Of Season

All Cub Scouts will convene at the First Methodist church at 7:45 Thursday night, June 19, for their last formal meeting of the season.

There will be a display of all bird houses made during the past month. Leroy Lafta, Pack Cubmaster, announces that first, second and third prizes will be awarded for the best bird houses.

Cub activities during the summer will include family picnics, a hay ride and other informal gatherings.

Mrs. Johnson Now Back At Home, But Confined To Bed

Mrs. Carroll Johnson received painful injuries last Tuesday afternoon when she fell in her back yard on her left leg, which had been crippled for the past four years. It was thought and reported at first that her leg was broken at the knee, but after she was rushed to the Fulton Hospital x-rays showed that no large bones were broken. However, all the ligaments were torn loose.

It is not yet certain whether an operation on her knee will be necessary, depending on whether it heals correctly.

Mrs. Johnson was improving steadily and was getting around fine with only a cane until this accident. She has returned from the hospital and is at her home on West street, but will be confined to her bed for some time.

Game Wardens Can Travel At Will

Frankfort, Ky., June 16—(AP)—Game wardens have the legal right to enter private property against the consent of the landowner, the attorney general said today.

The opinion also ruled that a landowner may kill squirrels at season on his property if they are damaging his crops, but he has no right to keep the animals. Keeping the squirrels subjects the landowner to a fine of $15 to $100.

The defense in the May-Garson bribery case called former Senator James M. Mead (D-NY) today to answer assertions that he "withheld evidence" obtained in a Senate investigation of the defendants.

Charles J. Margiotti, chief defense attorney, subpoenaed Mead as a witness on a contention that the former chairman of the Senate War Investigating Committee held back documents when he asked the Justice Department to obtain indictments.

Margiotti said he wants Mead to produce the documents for their use in defending Andrew J. May, wartime chairman of the House Military Committee, and munitions makers Henry and Murray Garson, at their trial.

Kentucky's First Test Tube Calves Attract Attention

Louisville, Ky., June 17—(AP)—Kentucky's first two "test tube" calves, conceived through artificial insemination, drew attention today.

The first, a Holstein calf, was born Sunday at C. B. Stone's Breedy Hill Farms, Route 1, Crestwood, near here. The second, a Holstein bull calf, was born yesterday at the farm of Mrs. Etta V. Swift, of Henry county.

The first calf was termed as normal as any naturally-bred calf.

This comment came from Dr. Fordyce Ely, head of the University of Kentucky dairy department, and Dr. Durward Olds, university veterinarian, after they inspected the calf.

May's Attorney Accuses Mead Of Withholding Probe Evidence

Washington, June 17—(AP)—The defense in the May-Garson bribery case called former Senator James M. Mead (D-NY) today to answer assertions that he "withheld evidence" obtained in a Senate investigation of the defendants.

Charles J. Margiotti, chief defense attorney, subpoenaed Mead as a witness on a contention that the former chairman of the Senate War Investigating Committee held back documents when he asked the Justice Department to obtain indictments.

Knuckles Says His Papers Were Right When First Filed

Paris, Ky., June 17—(AP)—Hearing on a suit by Denver, C. Knuckles to compel Secretary of State Charles E. O'Connell to order his name put on the Republican primary ballots in the 17th Senate District was set before Circuit Judge W. B. Ardrey today.

Knuckles seeks to contest with veteran Republican Sen. Ray B. Moss for the Republican nomination. His papers, as now on file in the secretary of state's office are incomplete, lacking his own declaration and signature.

Knuckles claimed: they were in proper shape when filed last Saturday and this was denied by O'Connell and H. T. Perdew, clerk in charge of filing would-be candidates' declarations.

State Treasurer Candidate Visits

Edward F. Seiler, 49, a candidate for state treasurer in the August primary, called at the Leader office Monday afternoon during his tour of several Western Kentucky cities. Like many other residents of central and eastern Kentucky, Mr. Seiler, of Louisville, said he was agreeably surprised to note the agricultural progress the Purchase section of the state has made in recent years.

Born on a farm near Mt. Sterling, the candidate served in both world wars, and saw action under General Patton as a lieutenant colonel during the Rhine River crossing and the campaign for central and southern Germany. He is a member of the Louisville and Kentucky Bar Association, and has been with the State Banking Department for three years.

Universal Military Training Necessary—Truman

Princeton, N. J., June 17—(AP)—President Truman said today that universal training is a "military necessity" now when weakness by the United States would raise fears among small nations that it is abandoning "world leadership."

Uncertainty as to the future course of America, the President said, might weaken the resistance of free and independent nations to "the encroachment of totalitarian pressures."

Tax Cut Bill, etc. Is Upheld By 2 Votes; Measure Dead

City Council Jobs Are Still Open

Who will serve as Fulton's city councilmen during the next two years?

This question was raised today after five of the six incumbent councilmen had declared that they did not wish to be candidates for re-election, and the sixth still was undecided about his candidacy.

Papers must be filed with County Court Clerk Clardie Holland at Hickman by midnight tomorrow, June 18th, 45 days before the August 2 primary election.

If nobody files for a position on the council, the present group will remain in office until their successors are elected, which would be at the next regular election two years hence.

The six men now serving on the council had no opposition at the end of their first two-year terms, and are rounding out their second terms.

Mayor T. T. Boaz and City Judge Lon Adams were elected two years ago for four-year terms of office.

State Republican Leaders Disagree On Tax Cut Veto

Washington, June 17—(AP)—President Truman's veto of the Republican-sponsored tax reduction bill caused a split between two Kentucky GOP leaders in their reaction today.

Senator Cooper prepared to vote to uphold the President's veto. The Somerset Republican voted against the bill when it got approval in the Senate. Developments since then, he told a reporter, "have upheld my position." The freshman Senator was one of two Senators of his party to oppose the bill.

Rep. Robison, a former Senator, on the other hand predicted the President's veto would "greatly lessen the Democrats' chances in the 1948 Presidential election year. He represents the Ninth Kentucky Congressional District, in which Cooper makes his home.

Sensor Barkley (D-Ky.), was not here for comment.

Meanwhile, Democratic Representatives Gregory, Spence and Bates of Kentucky told a reporter they will continue to vote against tax cuts now.

Oil For The Ages

No one knows precisely how great the United States' sources of gasoline underground may be. But it is known that they are sufficient to last thousands of years, now that scientific developments make possible the derivation of motor fuel from materials other than crude petroleum.

A recent issue of the Lamp, a publication of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, tells something of the story. Natural gas, tar sands, oil shales and coal can all be employed to produce gasoline. Some of these—such as coal—are practically limitless in extent. The cost of refining, under present conditions, is somewhat higher than for oil-derived gas, but the differential is not great, and is likely to be reduced as the technology advances.

Further, to look far in the future, the continental shelf, which is a sea floor surrounding the land masses of the earth, is now believed to hold vast quantities of oil. One authority believes this shelf may contain 1,000 billion barrels of oil—500 times the world's current annual consumption. Methods so far proposed to produce oil from the shelf are so costly that they could be employed only in time of great need. But the resource is there at hand, should circumstances ever make it imperative that we develop it regardless of the possible expense.

There is an old saying that more oil has been found in the laboratories than in the ground. That simply means science has made possible enormously increased utilization of all kinds of energy reserves. Thus oil for future centuries seems assured.

Where Are The Cars?

A group of Western Congressmen recently said that the railroad industry, through the Association of American Railroads which allocates cars to shippers, is discriminating against the West in the distribution of available freight cars.

This charge, said William T. Farley, president of the AAR, presents a "partial, one-sided and untrue picture of the situation."

Mr. Farley then supported his statement with some statistical facts. It is true, he said, that there are more box cars in the East than are owned by Eastern railroads. It is also true—and this is something the Congressmen did not mention—that there are more open top cars in the West than are owned by Western railroads. This is a normal condition, and shows neither discrimination or preference to any section of the country.

The charge, he continued, that the Eastern railroads have on their lines many more cars than they own, is not true. On the date referred to by the Congressmen, Eastern roads had on line 95.3 per cent of their ownership of all cars, while the Western roads had 98.6 per cent, he said.

It may be natural for shippers and their Congressional spokesmen to complain when they can't get freight cars exactly when wanted. But the freight car problem is national, and it must be dealt with on a national basis. The job of the AAR is to make every car perform maximum service, and to go promptly where it is most needed. That job is being done and the railroads are putting more cars on as fast as they can get them—and every section of the country and all classes and kinds of shippers receive equal consideration.

Good And Bad News

By Dewitt MacKenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The best news in world affairs during the fortnight's absence of your correspondent from this column was U. S. Secretary of State Marshall's announcement of a plan for the economic regeneration of Europe, "to permit the emergence of political and social conditions in which free institutions can exist."

The most disturbing development of that period was the consolidation of the Communist coup which destroyed the Democratic government chosen by the people of Hungary and substituted a Red regime. Moscow denies having had a hand in this—but what difference? The plot was carried out in the presence of a Russian army of occupation, and Hungary has become a part of the vast Soviet political empire.

There is a close relation between these two events, for while General Marshall's program may not be a direct corollary to the Hungarian upheaval, yet his aim is to build a dyke against the Red flood which has swallowed so much of Europe already. His plan of reconstruction calls for the cooperation of all European nations which are willing to participate, with America taking a large hand.

Last week in Ottawa President Truman pinned the American contribution down closely and significantly. He said "we intend to support those who are determined to govern themselves in their own way and who honor the right of others to do likewise." In short, the American policy of aiding nations against Communist aggression—announced during the height of the Greco-Turkish crisis—is being supplemented by the new economic proposal which is aimed at saving western Europe from being engulfed against its will.

A vastly important aspect of the economic program is that it calls for coordinated international effort. As General Marshall said, it "must not be on a piecemeal basis as various crises develop." America proposes to get at the seat of the malady rather than continue to smear save on isolated spots of Red rash which are merely indications of the nature of the disease.

The Sovietizing of Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria were spots of rash, each of which gave fair warning of the real disease. President Truman took note of this last week-end when he denounced the governments of these countries as oppressors of their people. This was in connection with his signing of the peace treaties with them, along with that for Italy while her people "are rebuilding with their own hands a new Democracy and restoring their lost freedoms."

So far as Hungary is concerned, barring a successful revolt by anti-Communists it would seem to be lost to western Democracy. Moreover, there is no doubt that only continued occupation of Austria and Germany by western troops will prevent Communization of those important countries.

However, Italy and western Europe remain to be saved. The two key countries of the area are, of course, France and Italy. The powerful Communist parties in both these countries are making a fierce onslaught on the governments in an effort to duplicate the Hungarian coup.

MARILYN JEAN HARPOLE WED TO GRAHAM P. WRIGHT

In a wedding ceremony, beautifully impressive in its simplicity, Miss Marilyn Jean Harpole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Miller Harpole, became the bride of Graham Patton Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Graham C. Wright, of Nashville, Tenn., on Sunday, June 15, at 4:30 p. m., at the First Methodist church.

The Rev. W. E. Mischke, pastor, officiated, using the double ring ceremony. A lovely setting was created by the use of large white floor baskets filled with masses of privet and myriads of white daisies among which were arranged tall floor candelabras holding glowing white tapers. Low bowls of daisies interspersed with sprays of greenery were placed at intervals along top of the choir rail and also across the front of the chancel.

Proceeding the ceremony, Mrs. C. L. Maddox, organist, presented the following program of nuptial music: chimes, hymn, "Softly Now the Light of Day," organ, "Nocturne," Chopin; voice, "All For You," Bertran Brown; organ, "Andantino," LeMore; voice, "Because," d. Harpole; voice, "I Love You," Bond; "To A Wild Rose," McDowell, was softly played during the pledging of the vows.

"The Bridal Chorus" (Lohengrin) Wagner, was played for the processional and the Mendelssohn Wedding March was used for the recessional.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was unusually lovely in a summer suit of pale cream colored gabardine, the coat of which was close fitting and featured a youthful flared peplum adorned the single gold button adorned the coat at the waist line and smaller ones trimmed the sleeves. She wore a small white half-hat with small bell shaped flowers across the back. She carried a small white Bible topped with a single white purple-streamers at the end of narrow white satin ribbon caught with tube roses. Within the Bible, she carried an heirloom handkerchief belonging to her maternal grandmother. Her other accessories were white gloves and white sandals.

Miss Mary Nell Winston was the bride's maid-of-honor and only attendant. She wore a suit of beach cloth in a delicate shade of dusty pink and a bonnet shaped hat of white eyelet lace with touches of dusty pink. She carried a colonial bag of pastel tinted netting and Easter reed daisies tied with orchid ribbon. Her other accessories were also in white.

Lieut. John Schoonell of Denver, Colo., brother-in-law of the bridegroom attended as best man. Charles Pique and Carl Puckett, Jr., served as ushers.

Mrs. Miller Harpole, the bride's mother, wore rose mesh with a small flower hat and wore a purple orchid on her shoulder. Mrs. G. C. Wright, mother of the bridegroom, wore dusty pink netting with brown accessories and wore a purple orchid shoulder corsage.

Mrs. J. N. McNelly, grandmother of the bride, wore black crepe with touches of white and lace, and white gardenias. A small reception was held following the wedding at the home of the bride's parents for members of the bridal party, immediate relatives and a few close friends.

The young couple left immediately after the reception by motor for a honeymoon trip to the Smoky mountains. They will make their home in Union City, Tenn., shortly after their return, where the bridegroom is employed as assistant county agent of Obion county.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

Portsmouth, Va., June 17—(A)—Favorite topic of conversation in this part of the country today is what happened to Sammy Sneed on the 72nd hole at St. Louis and is Sammy getting temperamental. . . . Lew Worsham is a Virginia boy, too, but the fact is recognized only casually since he has spent more time around Washington, D. C. . . .

A League Was Born

Smoke Screen Ernie (Duke) Landgraf, who has operated in almost every city in minor league baseball including a lot that aren't in any kind of baseball, now tells this yarn about the organization of the Federal League. . . . Landgraf, now president of the Class D North Atlantic loop, was one of the original organizers of the famous outlaw circuit. . . . The first meeting, he says, was attended only by three men but a dozen big time sportswriters were looking for the big story that had been promised. . . . When the reporters became impatient, Landgraf phoned the hotel desk to send up a few pitchers of beer, a lot of glasses and some cigars. . . . The glasses were filled and emptied and scattered around, the three organizers smoked furiously, and when the cokes finally were admitted he pointed to the evidence and explained: "We had a big meeting, lot of millionaires here, but they slipped out the back door. They didn't want to be identified." Later the wealthy men were enlisted and Ernie claims the league still would be operating if World War One hadn't intervened.

Sports Before Your Eyes

Although Ike Williams is recognized in most states as light-weight champion and Tippy Larkin is recognized in some as junior welter weight, they're fighting Friday in New York, where they'll be recognized by the color of their tights. . . . The fight that really is stirring interest among the pros this week is Willie Pep vs. Victor Flores tonight. Every manager who owns a featherweight will be on hand to see how the champion's injured leg stands up. . . .

"Wah Wah" Jones To Wed UK Miss

Middlesboro, Ky., June 17—(A)—Mr. and Mrs. Alva Ball have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Edna Floyd Ball, to Wallace (Wah Wah) Jones, University of Kentucky athlete. The date of the wedding has not been announced. . . . Jones, former star athlete at Harlan, Ky., high school, has starred in football, basketball and baseball at the University of Kentucky. The bride-to-be also is a student at the university.

In a recent survey in Washington state, 38 percent of the children questioned listed a swimming pool as first choice for community recreation.

Lew Worsham and Mrs. Worsham (left) are mighty proud people as they stand with the trophy at St. Louis Country Club after Lew won the U. S. Open Golf championship in an 18 hole playoff with Sammy Sneed, at right.

Chicks Take 13-0 Shutout At Clarksville

Johnny Gill Signs As Colts' Manager

Fulton's Chicks stayed on the victory road last night at Clarksville as they annexed a 13-0 win over the cellar-hugging Colts, who now have lost 32 while winning only 11.

Whitely Lynch allowed only six well-spaced hits in pitching the shutout decision. The Chicks backed him up with 17 hits off Napole. . . . Fulton started the scoring with a lone run in the first, made two more in the third, four in the fifth and eighth and two extras the last time at bat. The Chicks played errorless ball, while the Colts booted four chances.

The win was Fulton's 19th in 42 games. The Chicks are one and one-half games behind the sixth-place Union City Greyhounds, who lost to Hopkinsville 11-5 at Union City last night. They're nine games out of first place, which still is occupied by Owensboro's Oilers, who dropped two of three games at Fulton last week.

Johnny Gill, who bowed out last week as manager of the Chicks, has signed to manage the Clarksville Colts, succeeding Joe Santomaro, the Louisville Courier-Journal reported today. Gill played his first game with Clarksville against his ex-teams last night.

Santomaro, serving as both first baseman and pitcher in addition to being manager, had failed to find a winning combination at Clarksville, and during his stay there the Colts sank deep into eighth place in the Kitty.

The second-place Mayfield Clothiers blanked the Madisonville Miners 6-0 at Mayfield last night, and Cairo upset Owensboro 7-4 at Owensboro.

The score by innings Monday night at Clarksville:

Governor Prefers To Be Democratic

Annapolis, Md., (A)—Maryland Governor William Preston Lane, Jr., startled everyone at a recent hearing when he cut through sonorous etiquette—replete with "your excellency" this and "your excellency" that—to declare, "Every time I heard that title I'm going to prevent his becoming the Free State's cringingest governor, speakers then experimented with "your honor" and "Mister Governor," but nobody felt happy over this, either. Finally, his Excellency—Gov. Lane came up with the solution: "Just call me governor," he said. "They call me governor in the constitution, and if it's good enough for the constitution, it's good enough for me."

buy him a better start in life

Maybe a dime doesn't seem like much of a contribution to your youngster's future.

But stack it with millions of other dimes. Use them to buy books, build schools and pay teachers. Then watch the results at graduating exercises. You'll see Mid-America's boys and girls getting the world's best start in life.

Our dimes helped many of them through school. One dime (actually 10¢) from every dollar Illinois Central took in last year went to pay taxes—taxes for schools, taxes for roads, taxes for worker benefits, taxes for Uncle Sam.

The dimes Illinois Central paid out—partly to give youngsters a richer future—were three times as much as it had left over to invest in its own future. After payment of taxes and all expenses, only 3½¢ out of every dollar remained for Illinois Central owners. All of this, and more, was invested in new equipment and other things in order that this railroad may continue to earn your patronage and friendship.
