U. S. Engineers Will Not Aid In Creek Work Call Proposed Flood Control Plans Adequate

WERE HERE IN APRIL

The Memphis District, Army Corps of Engineers, announced today that it is without authority to undertake cleaning out Harris Fork Creek below the Kentucky-Tennessee state line south of South Fulton.

A letter from Col. E. P. Lock, Jr., of the Memphis Engineers' office, to Maxwell McDade, chairman of Fulton's flood control committee, said the Army officials felt that the proposed flood control project in Fulton and South Fulton would be adequate to stop the periodic overflow of Harris Fork Creek within the two cities.

"The existing laws under which stream clearance is undertaken provides for channel clearing, snagging and cleanout of existing ditches but does not provide for channel enlargement of the extent that would be required in this instance," Col. Locke wrote.

The letter added that backwaters of the North Fork of the Obion River, near the mouth of Harris Fork Creek "do not have any adverse effect on the flood situation with respect to the towns in question."

The Engineers had told Fulton and South Fulton citizens earlier this year that any flood control work they might do would be on the lower reaches of Harris Fork Creek in Obion county, Tenn. Representatives of the Memphis district office were in Fulton and South Fulton April 23 to conduct a survey of the creek basin.

Here are other excerpts from the letter Mr. McDade received: "A study of the plan of improvement prepared by Mr. Oscar Bennett, consulting engineer, and an investigation of the channel conditions in Harris Fork Creek below the limits of your proposed project has been made by this office. It appears that your improvement for the protection of Fulton, Ky., and South Fulton, Tenn., consisting of the construction of a floodway channel through the town and extending 3,200 feet below the Kentucky-Tennessee state line, is of adequate capacity to prevent overflows from Harris Fork Creek. An investigation of the channel downstream from that proposed by you shows that the existing ditch has its greatest capacity in its upper reaches and that its capacity gradually decreases downstream.

"It was found that the bottom of the ditch at the end of your proposed work is approximately 37 feet above the maximum experienced high water in the North Fork of the Obion River near the mouth of Harris Fork Creek. The distance from the end of your project to the mouth of Harris Fork Creek is approximately 10 miles.

"The fall in the first four or five miles below your proposed

Labor Bill, If Vetoed, Likely To Pass House, Hit Senate Snag

Washington, June 18—(AP)—House passage of the labor bill over a Presidential veto was conceded today by both Democratic and Republican leaders but the outcome in the Senate is less certain.

House leaders definitely expect a veto, making labor union control the next big issue between the White House and Congress.

If Mr. Truman does veto the labor bill, he must rely on the Senate to back him up. As for the House, Republican Leader Haleck said "there is no doubt whatever that we can override a veto. That's in the bag."

And Democratic Leader Rayburn, Tex., said he figures the House will vote at least three to one to override.

The Senate passed the bill 54 to 17—better than a three-to-one vote. It takes a two-to-one margin to pass a bill over a veto.

Senator Hatch (D-NM), a close friend of the President, predicts a veto will be overridden. And many other Senators of both parties share that view.

However, Senator Ives (R-NY), said: "I don't see how it's at all certain we could override, especially after what happened in the House on the tax bill."

Regardless of the outcome, the "cooperation" about which Mr. Truman and Congressional Republicans talked when the session began apparently has just about exploded.

Say Drive Fizzled
Democrats and Republicans are "cooperating" over how much the Republicans have whittled down President Truman's budget. Democrats released figures today in support of their claim that the G. O. P. economy drive has "fizzled and hopelessly bogged down."

Rep. Gore (D-Tenn.), who is keeping track of Republican cuts for the Democrats, contended that "purely phony budget

Will Build Lake Highway

Before Construction
Starts On Ky. Dam Road

Washington, June 18—(AP)—A preliminary agreement for construction of a highway on the new Kentucky Lake dam near Paducah, Ky., was reported by the Federal Public Administration yesterday.

The road administration announced that only a few, minor details remain to be settled on the highway on the Tennessee River dam and that Kentucky is already building an approach road.

Plans for the construction were discussed by Roads Commissioner Thomas H. MacDonald, J. Stephen Watkins, Kentucky Highway Commissioner, and representatives of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

According to the law, highways using dams constructed by a federal agency such as TVA must be approved by the agency, the State Highway Department, concerned and the public roads administration.

cut claims" have reached a total of $2,699,150,000. He claimed "bona fide" reductions to date total only $1,875,716,750.

Meanwhile, Republican leaders renewed their efforts to reach a Senate-House agreement on just how much to try to cut Mr. Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The Senate votes shortly after 4 p. m. on the revised Bon-winkle railroad rate bill. Opponents concede that it will pass, but they announced they are counting on a Presidential veto to keep the measure from becoming law. It would exempt railroads and other common carriers from prosecution under the anti-trust laws when they enter into agreements on rates and other matters with approval of the interstate commerce commission.

A senate-approved probe of postmaster appointments probably will start soon. Chairman Langer (R-ID) called a special meeting of a Senate Civil Service subcommittee to chart plans for the investigation. The purpose of the inquiry is to find out to what extent, if any, political considerations enter into the selection of postmaster nominees under the Civil Service system.

Taylor Can't Be Assistant Manager Of Fair—Dummit

Frankfort, Ky., June 18—(AP)—C. W. Taylor, Lewisport, declared ineligible recently to be state fair manager, cannot be named assistant manager for the 1947 fair, according to Attorney General Eldon S. Dummit.

J. O. Matlock, Middletown, last week elected manager of the fair, asked Dummit if Taylor could be appointed assistant manager. The attorney general said neither the state constitution nor state statutes provide for an assistant manager for the fair.

Disabled Veterans Urged To Report On Time For Exam

Kentucky veterans who receive disability compensation and fail to report promptly for physical examinations when notified by the Veterans Administration, face the loss of such payments under new procedures, it was announced today by the VA's Regional Chief Medical Officer, Dr. O. P. Miller. Veterans who have filed new applications for disability compensation will be definitely delayed all action on their claims when they fail to keep examination appointments.

During the past two months, approximately 20 per cent of all veterans scheduled for physical examinations failed to report. Dr. Miller said records of delinquent veterans will be endorsed "Failure to Cooperate" and all payments or further action will be subject to immediate discontinuance. Payments will not be restored unless an examination by VA indicates such payments are justified.

Sobbing Father Admits Beating His Two Children To Death

Miami, Fla., June 18—(AP)—A sobbing 59-year-old father told Detective Sergeant John L. Deas today that he had beaten his two children to death and then shot two of his next-door neighbors because he didn't want to see the children "placed in a home."

The father, Chris Russell, operator of a cafe, attempted to take his own life as detectives rushed into his restaurant, Deas said.

The blood-stained and battered bodies of Peggy Russell, 11, and John Russell, 6, were found in a bedroom of their little home in the northwest section.

Next door, Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Wolfe were found on the floor of their real estate office, both suffering from bullet wounds.

Another business neighbor of Russell's, Mrs. B. Poppelauer, told detectives Russell had rushed into her store and fired his gun at her "point blank" but missed.

Detectives took a revolver from Russell who pointed the gun at himself and snapped the trigger on an empty shell as they went into his cafe, Deas said.

Between sobs, Deas said, Russell admitted at police headquarters that he had killed his two children for fear they would be taken from him and put in a home.

The detective sergeant said Russell blamed the Wolfes for his troubles.

Spence told a reporter this was his interpretation of the House's approval of the House-Senate compromise to extend rent control through Feb. 29 next year.

Forward-Looking Program

This editorial is not a declaration of support, real or implied, of the candidacy of Harry Lee Waterfield for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. The Messenger and Inquirer thus far have committed themselves to neither Mr. Waterfield nor his opponent, Second District Congressman Earle C. Clements, and we have no intention of abandoning neutrality in the immediate future, although we reserve our democratic prerogative of supporting either if we feel so impelled.

Nevertheless, we are in accord with measures Mr. Waterfield proposed in his opening address at Murray Saturday. His is a forward-looking program, one to which everyone who has the interest of Kentucky at heart can wholly subscribe.

We are glad that Mr. Waterfield appreciates the fact that the state must participate along with local communities and the federal government in airport construction. Without participation on the part of the commonwealth, few localities will be able to avail themselves of U. S. aid under the seven year airport-development program which calls for expenditure of $6,000,000 in Kentucky.

We were favorably impressed with his proposal for a substantial increase in the common-school fund which should go a long way toward lifting Kentucky's lagging educational standards. And we are heartily in accord with his plan to greatly augment the rural road fund. Moreover, although Mr. Waterfield's official record has been one of consistent friendship for T. V. A. and the R. E. A., we welcomed his pledge to further the expansion of these programs and his solemn promise that, if elected, he will prevent the passage of "the Moss bill in 1948."

We also find ourselves in accord with his views on public health; the liberalization of benefits under the Workmen's Compensation act; the needed improvement in safety laws to reduce occupational hazards; conservation; alcohol control; taxation; and veterans affairs. We are interested too in his plan for restoration of "an equitable portion of revenue contributed by cities 'to the state treasury'."

These newspapers have advocated many of the measures proposed by Mr. Waterfield. We have appealed for better safety laws, particularly in the coal mining industry; increased state school funds; state participation in the CAA airport program and more state funds for rural roads. Moreover, when the Moss bill was proposed at the 1946 session of the Kentucky legislature we studied it carefully and concluded that it would impede TVA and REA and discourage municipal ownership of electric light plants and distribution systems. And nothing has happened since to cause us to abandon that conclusion.

In our opinion, Mr. Waterfield's platform, in toto, is an excellent blueprint for state progress. We shall await with interest Mr. Clements' program which will be disclosed at his formal opening at Glasgow on Saturday, June 28. (Owensboro Messenger).

Who'll Be Next?

News that the present Fulton city council is not interested in re-election is no surprise to anyone who has attended recent sessions of the governing body. Most of the councilmen have said or intimated at one time or another that they've "had enough."

It was unusual, however, that no other candidates had filed for the positions yesterday afternoon, a scant 24 hours before the deadline. As this is being written, there still are no candidates in the field. Perhaps a last-minute slate will be entered before midnight.

It's understandable that after four years on the city council a man would be ready to let someone else take over in his place. Councilmen in Fulton and most other small cities receive only token salaries in return for long hours of work and worry. The councilman knows when he takes office that he cannot please everyone—that he probably will make several enemies whatever course he pursues. He expects to lose quite a bit of sleep in pondering problems that face every small city with a small budget and big responsibilities.

It's a job for a capable, public-spirited man who is willing to contribute freely of his time and efforts for the good of his community. As such, it affords one of the best opportunities for public service—and one of the most difficult to perform creditably.

Unlucky Winner

He won a prize—two tickets to a midnight movie.

A movement to draft Henry Wallace for president in 1948 is shaping up which brings to mind one time we wouldn't object to having a draft dodger in our midst.

Pravda Perturbed

By Dewitt MacKenzie,
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Moscow newspaper Pravda, official organ of the Communist party, comments disparagingly on Secretary of State Marshall's plan for economic rehabilitation of Europe, and remarks that it merely extends the Truman doctrine.

The Truman "Doctrine" of course is designed to help needy countries defend themselves against Communist aggression—Greece and Turkey, for example. On that basis there can be no quarrel with Pravda's appraisal. It's true that the United States aims at halting the expansion of Communism by such strong-arm methods as those employed in the recent communication of the Hungarian government.

This being so, there would seem to be no profit in hiding our light under a bushel. We are out to organize defense against aggressive Communism, both at home and abroad. And it strikes me that the more bluntly this fact is stated, the better for all concerned.

However, this is a defensive move. The United States isn't bent on an attempt to "exert political pressure with the aid of dollars," as Pravda alleges. General Marshall's program for the economic rehabilitation of Europe encompasses all nations which are willing to play the game. There is no design to create a western bloc to oppose Russia's eastern bloc.

There is nothing which would please Washington, London, Paris and the other capitals of democracy more than to see Moscow signify its willingness to join in this altruistic plan of economic cooperation. Indeed both Britain and France already are seeking Russia's views on the Marshall proposal.

At this writing there is no expectation among diplomats in the western capitals that Russia will join in the project. If she couldn't see her way to join Britain and America in the economic rehabilitation of Germany, why look for collaboration in the rest of Europe? As a matter of fact one can't escape the thought that if Moscow did decide to participate, we might get a repetition of just such obstructive tactics as have hamstrung progress in the Security Council of the United Nations and in the efforts to frame a German peace treaty.

If Russia and her satellites in Eastern Europe don't join in the Marshall program, it is quite possible that the western nations of Europe will form themselves into a bloc, thereby further splitting up an already harassed and unhappy continent. The London Daily Telegraph (Conservative) is concerned about Russia's attitude and says that if Moscow doesn't cooperate, either the division of Europe will be further hardened or no agreement can be forthcoming.

In any event, Russia must now show her hand. Her action will either tend to confirm or refute the charge laid at her door at the week-end by Under Secretary Dean Acheson in an address at Wesleyan University. Acheson blamed the Soviet Union for the failures thus far of postwar recovery and peace-making plans.

Fire Prevention

American communities must bear much of the blame for our soaring toll of deaths and property destruction by fire.

According to A. Bruce Bielaski, executive director of the President's Conference on Fire Prevention, less than 2,000 of the more than 16,000 municipalities in the United States have building codes. Most of the existing laws are more than 15 years old. On top of that a great many fire departments are badly equipped and undermanned, and are not organized to give firemen adequate training.

Here are some of the reasons why the toll of fire has reached record proportions, and is still increasing. Last March, for example, losses reached a new monthly high of almost $72,500,000—36 per cent above the same month in 1946. And fire's death toll is running in excess of 10,000 lives annually.

During the war, much substandard construction was necessary, and fire fighting equipment was extremely scarce and often completely unobtainable. That alibi is no longer valid. Communities can and must adopt building codes which will assure maximum protection against fire—even as they can and must modernize their fire departments and train members properly. The fact that the majority of our municipalities have no building codes at all is disgraceful and inexcusable.

We can reduce fire losses by at least 75 per cent—if we have the will to do it.

FEARS AND SUPERSTITIONS

● Ferocious in his paint, feathers, and horns, weird in his ceremonial dance, the medicine man once played on the superstitions and fears of his victims to sell his snake oil, resurrection brew, and all-healing ointment. He more often killed than cured. Such pagan quackery has yielded to science. Research has come to the aid of medical practice and today diagnosis and treatment of disease are on a sound scientific basis. Sports Roundup

By Hush Fullerton, Jr.
 Detroit, June 18.—(AP)—Lew Workman and the other pro golfers who did well in the open last week, will be up against another kind of test today in the National P.G.A. tournament. Not only is it a match play affair, something that a lot of pros dislike, but the Plum Hollow course is long and open, giving the sluggers a chance to shine, in contrast to the short, narrow St. Louis Country Club course.

No Excuses
 Branch Rickey, Jr., tells this one on himself about the signing of Tom Brown, the strong armed youngster who figures prominently in Dodger future plans. Brown was only 15 years old when he appeared at a Dodger tryout camp and was sent away with a kind word because he was too young and too small. The next year he returned again and made such an impression that he was signed to a minor league contract. While getting his name on the paper, Branch Jr., complimented Tom warmly on his throwing. Brown replied: "You know I was here last year and was told I didn't have a good enough arm."

One Minute Sports Page
 Baseball Commissioner Happy Chandler says the organized ball-high school agreement is working out very well, but some of the others are beginning to wonder. They point out that a lot of clubs would have liked to sign Curt Simmons, the Pennsylvania school-boy pitching phenom, but they were all sure the Phillies had the inside track. Bobby Locke, who is getting rather homesick for South Africa, passed up the British Open to have a shot at George Myr's big wad of cash in the All-American tournament in Chicago. But he won't play in the Victory Open the week before.

Dot's All, Brothers
 Virginia's George McLean, owner of two world champion harness horses, is both peeved and perturbed over the future of the horse show business because his entries have been refused at Memphis, Tenn., and he believes they will be at Lexington, Ky. "Why," he says, "it's just like refusing Joe Louis a chance to defend his title."

 Today a year ago—Robert Murphy, labor relations director of the American Baseball Guild, asked the Pennsylvania state labor relations board for terms on which to submit a petition for a collective organizing election among Pittsburgh Pirates players.

 Five years ago—Army ordered heavyweight champion Joe Louis to Fort Riley, Kans., to complete basic training, eliminating possibility of summer bout.
 Ten years ago—Carl Hubbell was driven from the box sixth time in a row, losing fourth straight, as Cincinnati Reds beat New York Giants 5-3.

Charlie Barrett, No. 1 "Comeback," Excels In Control

Charlie Barrett, who is being hailed as the number one "comeback" of 1947, today owes his success to his remarkable control pitching.
 The rambunctious redhead, whose decline from a 23-game winner in 1943 to a three-time loser last season caused his banishment from the world champion St. Louis Cardinals to the Boston Braves last winter, currently is the hottest hurler in the majors, including yesterday's 11-1 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds. Barrett has won five straight to bring his season record to six wins and three defeats.
 The amazing part of his mound work is that in his last 43 innings, Barrett has issued only two bases on balls.

'Browne Night' At Owensboro

Oiler Skipper Given Silver Bat, New Auto
 Owensboro, Ky., June 18.—(AP)—Earl Browne night was observed here last night at the Owensboro-Cairo Kitty Baseball League game honoring the Owensboro manager-first baseman for being the top batsman of organized baseball's 53 minor leagues last season.
 Browne was presented a sterling silver regulation size bat by Hillerich & Bradsby Company of his hometown, Louisville.

Chicks Repeat At Clarksville With 9-7 Win

Fulton Crowding On Hounds' Heels

The Fulton Chicks maintained a one-run or more lead all the way at Clarksville last night as they handed the Colts their second consecutive loss by a 9-7 count.
 The Chicks still are in seventh place, hard on the heels of Union City despite the Greyhounds' 15-10 win over Hopkinsville at Union City last night. The Fulton club is nine games away from first place in the Kitty, but only half a game behind Union City.
 The hapless Colts, now managed by Johnny Gill, Fulton's ex-skipper, look to be in the cellar for a long time with their 250 stinking in 44 games this season.

Elbridge and Shublon worked on the hill for Fulton last night and gave up 13 hits between them, three more than Chicks sluggers got off Harris and Barrett.

Fulton started off the scoring with one each in the first and second and moved into a 5-0 lead in the fourth. The Colts' first run came home in the fourth. Fulton made it 6-1 in the top of the fifth, and the Colts came back in the fifth with three more. The winners added a pair in the sixth and one in the eighth, and Clarksville got one in the seventh and two in the eighth.

Junior Amateur Golf Tournament Match Play Opens

Paducah, Ky., June 18.—(AP)—Match play started in the Kentucky Junior Amateur golf championships here today.
 Two players tied for medalist honors with 72. They were John Andrews, Nashville, Tennessee prep school champ for two years, and Bob Keller, Cairo, Ill., a University of Miami, Fla. varsity golf team member.
 Ches McCall, Louisville, the defending champion, had a two-under-par 34 on the front nine but carded a 39 on the second nine for a 73.
 Only two girls entered that division. They were Nancy Shelbourne and Ruth Sights, both of Paducah. They play an 18-hole match this afternoon and the finals on Thursday.

Eleven players in the boys' field will qualify for the National Junior tournament at Peoria, Ill., on July 29-Aug. 2. The top four will receive all-expense-paid trips.

Harvard And Yale Crews Will Race Up Thames River Tonight

New London, Conn., June 18.—(AP)—Harvard and Yale meet at 7 p. m. tonight in a crew race up the Thames River for the 82nd time since 1852, but the diamond glitter of prewar years is missing.

There were fewer and smaller yachts and fewer spectators as the famous four-mile race, oldest competition of its kind in America, was renewed after a six-year lapse, with Harvard favored to carry on its winning streak under favorable weather conditions.

That winning streak embraces eight straight varsity victories, and goes back to 1936, but includes two shortened wartime regattas at Derby and Boston.

There are about 45,000 miles of pipe line in U. S. oil fields to gather the oil and about 70,000 miles of "main trunk" pipelines to transport it.

Wall Street Report

New York, June 18—(AP)—The stock market settled into another uneven pattern today. Dealings proceeded at a slow pace after a quiet opening. Although a few industrial leaders registered improvement, many held at previous levels or sagged. Price changes were well mixed near midday.

Commission houses said irregularity was to be anticipated pending presidential action on the labor bill.

In lower ground were American Telephone (at a new 1947 low), Great Northern preferred, Northern Pacific, Kennecott, Air Reduction, General Electric (ex-dividend), Johns-Manville, and Glenn Martin. Ahead at times were Goodyear, Union Carbide, International Harvester, Public Service of N. J., General Motors and International Nickel.

Bonds were narrow and cotton improved.

$20,457,092.61 IN TAXES

FEDERAL TAXES: $11,412,090.85—CITY-COUNTY-SCHOOLS: $6,607,143.87—STATE: $2,437,857.89

BUT THAT'S NOT ALL.... DURING THE SAME PERIOD—

1 We have paid $25,294,322 in salaries and wages to our employees. Most of this they spent locally.

2 We have purchased 2,979,320 tons of Kentucky coal. These 59,587 carloads of coal insured a year's work for 2,383 miners, and thousands of man-days of employment for railroad workers.

3 We have spent $15,986,095 for new construction in Kentucky, not including the payroll.

4 We have paid $14,216,021 to our stockholders. Of this, $11,253,882 was paid to our preferred stockholders, 5,731 of whom live in Kentucky.

5 We have paid $1,341,720 in employee retirement funds and insurance. These are voluntary contributions to employee welfare.

These figures show the value of a single industry—one of Kentucky's largest—to our Commonwealth. They add further proof that our public officials should protect and encourage the growth of tax-paying, job-providing, business-managed industries, because such industries spell prosperity for Kentucky.
