Murray State Enrolls 305 During Two-Day Period

With 305 students enrolled on the first two days of registration for the fall quarter at Murray State College, President James H. Richmond said Wednesday night, "Under the circumstances this is a splendid enrollment." He predicted that from 350 to 375 will be registered by the time the books are closed for the fall session.

Approximately 250 are attending the Training School, making a total of approximately 600 on the campus.

"I shall be disappointed and surprised," Dr. Richmond declared,
"if this is not the most glorious year in the history of this institution."

Stating that the flag was being flown at half-mast Wednesday in respect to Lt. Ezell Harding, tenth Murray student to lose his life in the World War, Dr. Richmond said:
"We can be soldiers here in a quiet modest way as they were in a glorious way—on the battlefields of the world."

Murray students this fall will have greater opportunities than ever, the chief executive explained, because of the smaller classes which will permit the instructors to give more attention to the individual student.

"There will be no excuse for loafing," he added, expressing the hope that new records in scholarship would be achieved.

The Rev. Charles Thompson, pastor of the First Christian Church, conducted the devotional and invited the students to attend the services of all the churches in Murray. Dean Nash announced the annual student-faculty reception would be held Friday night, October 1, in Ordway Hall.

Class work began Wednesday morning, with Oct. 2 scheduled as the last day to register for full load.
The last day on which to register for credit is Monday, Oct. 4. The quarter ends December 18.

Meeting Held In Interest Of Local Refrigeration Unit

A meeting of interested citizens

sion engineer from the U. of Ky., and Harry Miller of Dyersburg, Tenn., were present to assist in the organization.

north of Long's Bakery.

These lockers rent for $15 and $12 in order to assure the success of the venture. At press time, approximately 175 lockers had been sub-

J. Lyter Donaldson To Be In Murray Wednesday, Oct. 6

Will Speak In The Court House at 8 O'Clock

J. Lyter Donaldson, Democratic nominee for Governor, will speak to Calloway county voters in the court house here Wednesday night, October 6, at 8 o'clock. Luther Robertson, county chairman, and Mrs. Joe Baker, chairman of women's organization, are making plans for the program that will be included with the speaking.

Mr. Donaldson opened his speaking campaign tour at Madisonville last Saturday where he was heard by a number of Calloway citizens who drove there for the event.
Radioes were tuned in here for the broadcast. Senator Alben W.
Barkley and Governor Ken Johnson spoke on the program.

In this address Senator Barkley stated, "In fields both foreign and domestic, local and international, state governments, county governments, city governments form a part of the national and cooperation without which no great national or international policy, either in war or peace can be consummated.
This fact lifts the contest in Kentucky this year out of the category of purely local concern."

Governor Johnson in urging the election of Donaldson and the Democratic ticket, listed the accomplishments of this administration and pointed out that the state debt was paid and sizeable surplus was in the treasury.

Donaldson pledged a non-partisan state post-war occupations committee for a survey of employment possibilities for returning Kentucky service men and to aid in making jobs available.

He included in his plans a state planning board for natural resources, an attempt to appropriate $13,000,000 annually for public education, the use of vocational training and the prevention of juvenile delinquency; to extend and improve the highway system and to extend this development to rural roads.

Many other things of vital importance to voters were discussed and will be included in this speech
Wednesday night.

Local Man Buys Registered Jersey

NEW YORK, N. Y. — A registered Jersey cow, has been purchased by Walter Jones, Jr., of Murray, from Charles Johnson. The name of the animal is, Design Champion Betty 1280171.

The whereabouts of all registered Jerseys is known, and carefully watched over by The American Jersey Cattle Club, with offices in New York City. This important job is made possible through registrations and transfers made by Jersey Breeders everywhere. Tattoo identification, somewhat similar to fingerprints, keeps individuals of this dairy breed always known.

Jerseys make up 42 percent of all dairy cows in the United States. Because they produce the world's richest milk, and because there are more Jerseys than any other breed in America, their role in National Defense is an important one. Increased production of Jersey milk guarantees the protective food needs of here and abroad.

JESUS AND THE TEN COMMANDMENTS

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 5:17-20, 18:15-22; John 5:39, 40.
GOLDEN TEXT—Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets; I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill.—Matthew 5:17.

With this lesson we begin a series of studies which should be of unusual value, a consideration of the Ten Commandments in the light of the teachings of Jesus, and other related New Testament passages.

It is appropriate to point out that, far from being outmoded, the Ten Commandments are really the basis of all moral law. They need a diligent study and re-emphasis in our day of disregard of moral standards.

As interpreted by the Lord Jesus and applied to our daily living, the commandments should be brought home to every boy and girl, man and woman in our Bible schools.

We learn here that our Lord did not come to set aside or destroy the law, but to fulfill it in the most complete way. But the gospel takes us a step beyond the law, and it is a great step, for we follow the One who is greater than the law.

I. Built on the Law (Matt. 5:17-20).

The law of God is eternal, never to be abrogated, never set aside. Christ Himself, though we might properly say that He was in reality the Lawgiver and thus had power and authority over the law, indicated His purpose in coming to be that of giving the law its full meaning, not of destroying it. One could wish that those who profess to be His servants might have the same measure of regard for the law.

But, they obviously would not be so ready to ignore it, so quick to change it or explain it away, and far more ready to accept with their Master "the law and the prophets" than is even the minutest detail of His Word.

Recognizing Christ as the fulfillment of the law should prepare one to manifest obedience to every moral precept through His grace.

H. More Than the Law (Matt. 19:16-22).

Obedience to the commandments brings a man up to the very entrance upon life, but to enter in, he must have more than the "things" of the law; he must have the Person who is "the Door" to eternal life.

The young man who came to Christ was rich. His mind was obsessed with things. He had made it his business to observe the law, and had done well (v. 20), but his soul was not satisfied. He thought one more "thing" to do would accomplish his purpose.

The general attitude of the man was commendable. He chased his lack of the vital something which would remake his life. He came to the right one—the Lord Jesus—with a question.

His failure to go beyond the things of the law to a faith in Christ, however, showed that he loved his possessions more than he desired to follow the Lord.

Those in our day who are trying to please God and gain eternal blessing by works, by doing things and keeping commandments, need to recognize that in Christ Jesus we have the One who is more than the law. They need to look away from things to be done, to the great thing that is done once and for all on Calvary.

III. Greater Than the Law (John 5:39, 40).

The Scriptures are great because they witness to the Christ who can give life. But obviously the One to whom they bear witness is greater than they are.

Paul speaks of the law as a "schoolmaster to bring us to Christ" (Gal. 3:24). The picture is literally of a servant charged with bringing the child to school where he may learn the truth. So the law convicts man of sin, makes him conscious of his own utter inability to meet God's requirements, and makes him ready to turn to Christ in faith and repentance (Rom. 3:20).

These men of our Lord's time were very religious. They spent much of their time searching the Scriptures that they might find eternal life. But most of them failed to understand that the life they sought was in the One who stood before them—Jesus of Nazareth—and not in the letter of the law.

This has a vital bearing on the proper study of the lesson of this quarter. "The time has passed when men might seek life in the Scriptures apart from Jesus. Now that Jesus has come, life can be found only in the Scriptures lead one to Jesus."

"If our study of the Scriptures does not bring us to Christ, then it is vain indeed. For that reason we cannot study the Ten Commandments without turning constantly to Jesus as the One greater than the law" (Lesson Commentary).

Whether you are drying food for the first time or are an old hand at it, you can't expect a good dried product unless you start out with a fresh, tender vegetable or fruit.

Vegetables should be prepared for drying by blanching in steam. This sets the color, removes objectionable flavors, hastens drying, checks ripening, prevents undesirable changes in flavor after drying, and partially cooks the products so that after drying they refresh in water rapidly and cook quickly. The easiest way to blanch is to put the vegetables in a wire basket, colander or tie up in cheesecloth on a rack over boiling water. Cover tightly and allow to steam until the vegetable is thoroughly heated.

String Beans

1.—Select string beans mature but not husky.
2.—Wash and break or cut into short lengths.
3.—Blanch in steam 15 to 30 minutes, depending upon tenderness of beans and quantity being blanched.
4.—Spread on trays and dry until brittle.

Corn

1.—Use only tender fresh corn.
2.—Blanch ears in steam or boiling water to set milk.
3.—Drain, cool and cut from cob.
4.—Spread on trays 1-2 to 3-4 inch thick under the fruit in a closed container such as a box of barrel; using 1 teaspoon sulphur per pound of food. Dry fruit until leathery but not hard.

Fruits

Fruits should be sulfured before drying to help preserve their color, texture, flavor and food value. Burn sulfur under the fruit in a closed container such as a box of barrel; using 1 teaspoon sulphur per pound of food. Dry fruit until leathery but not hard.

How about salting or brining some vegetables for next winter?

It's easy to do and requires little equipment—a bag of salt, a 5 or 10 gallon crock and the vegetables.

To preserve by brine, put the prepared vegetables in a clean crock or wooden tub and cover them with a brine made of a half pound of pure granulated salt and a cup of vinegar in a gallon of water. To preserve by salting, sprinkle dry salt between layers of vegetables, using one-fourth pound of salt for each 10 pounds of vegetables.

Cover the vegetables with several layers of cheesecloth, tacked down under the crock, then with a plate that just fits inside the crock, and weigh the plate down with a stone. The brine should come up over the plate. Remove the white scum as it forms on the surface of the brine by lifting off the plate and cloth, washing thoroughly and replacing.

Fermenting takes about two weeks. When the brine stops bubbling, fermenting is finished and the vegetables ready to pack in jars and process in a water bath. Process pint jars 25 minutes and quart jars 30 minutes.

Vegetables suitable for brining are snap beans, green tomatoes, carrots, cauliflower and greens like kale, mustard and turnips. Cabbage, turnips and head lettuce may be shredded and preserved by salting.

Snap beans should be prepared for brining by boiling in water 5 minutes to soften them and help hold their color. Other vegetables need only to be washed and cut into suitable size.

These vegetables are ready to eat when removed from jars, rinsed and boiled at least 10 minutes.

Corn, peas, lima beans, green peppers and onions may also be preserved by this method, but they need more salt or a strong brine. After fermenting they may be put in glass jars for convenience but do not need processing. Before using they require soaking over-night in water.

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

While making his way back to the hospital—he was a walking hospital case—Master Gunner Sergeant James G. Blacklock spotted a group of Japs in the underbrush. Drawing his pistol, he entered the thicket and came out with nine Jap prisoners.

Marine Sergeant Blacklock now wears the Silver Star, awarded him for conspicuous gallantry in that Solomon Islands action. He can be proud of such a record. Can you be equally proud of your Bond buying record during the Third War Loan?

HAPPY MAKES THEM HAPPY

Mrs. Louis Thurman of the county came in to say that she had received a letter from Senator Chandler, stating that he had seen and talked to her son whom she had not heard from in several months, that he was well but in a position that prevented him from writing because of the secrecy of the position of his company. She has 3 sons in service. It was easy to see how proud she was that Happy had communicated with her so promptly, and many mothers in Kentucky will feel the same way. Some newspapers charge him with playing politics, however, some would accuse him of being on a political mission while he was searching for the lost and communicating with the Heavenly Father.

The residents of Calloway County are asked by OPA to enlist in the war against inflation by refusing to pay more than the ceiling prices for commodities covered by government price control.

Like any war it will take individual effort to make it succeed and the fruits of victory will be a sound economy which will be a great aid in overcoming the effects of the most destructive war in history.

Also like every other war victory it will be possible only to the extent of our understanding of the cause for which we are fighting. Therefore, won't you please study OPA ceiling prices so you will know what you are doing as one of the soldiers in this war?

Are we fighting on the home front?

● MURRAY WOMAN'S CLUB

The announcement which appears in another column that the new Murray Woman's Club building was paid this week and burned in a ceremony held Monday night and attended by civic and club leaders of Murray and neighboring communities will be of interest to all our readers, whether they live in Murray or not.

It will be of interest because the Murray Woman's Club building is a community asset. It is used for many purposes aside from a meeting place for clubs affiliated with the Murray Woman's Club and it fills a definite need in the city and county.

During the three years since the building has been occupied it has been used by most of the organizations of the city and county and it is now serving as a very desirable meeting place for the Navy cadets at Murray State College.

The Woman's Club undertook what appeared to be a mighty big responsibility three years ago when it enlisted the aid of the NYA in putting up the club house because it had to go in debt some $4,500.00 for materials and labor that could not be furnished by NYA.

The co-operation and devoted service necessary to retire this $4,500.00 debt in three years is an achievement every member of the club has a right to be proud of. The Ledger and Times, on behalf of its readers, congratulates those who had a part in providing this fine building for the community.

Space would not permit a report on the achievements of the Murray Woman's Club since it was organized here in 1900 but we believe it deserves the respect of all the people of the county for its successful building project.

Send The Whole Child To School

TEACH YOUR CHILD THE HABIT OF GOOD VISION

By Dr. Orvis C. Wells, O. D.

This is "back to school month" and in spite of war and world havoc American youth once again returns to classrooms throughout the nation. Once again there is the excitement of "enrollment" of meeting new friends and old of organizing class and activity schedules.

Parents are equipping their children with the essential requirements, books and materials, suitable clothing, they naturally want to provide the best for each beloved son and daughter, yet how tragically many are forgetting the most essential factor involved—efficient vision. They are forgetting that the best of everything must come through the eyes. The highest ratings, the most coveted positions on the various school teams, and in the various other activities will depend largely on efficient vision.

The first days of a school year are often very uncomfortable, unhappy days, especially so for the youngster making his first start. Teachers with no knowledge of the pupils' limitations, seat them without regard to comfortable vision. Tommy on the front row might be far sighted, and uncomfortable at using such near vision, while Johnny who is seated on the back row might be nearsighted, and therefore practically blind as far as the blackboard is concerned.

A child has no measure of comparison in vision and cannot help by stating his trouble. The eyes at six years, which is the average when children enter school, are no more "completely" developed than the rest of the body. The brain and eye put upon this immature and undeveloped organ of a child, especially if slightly abnormal conditions exist in the visual apparatus, is far greater than evolutionary development has provided for. In such cases the trouble will sooner or later be manifested in headaches, languor, or superior stupidity, since such a child will not be able to absorb or comprehend what he sees. Naturally, such a child is at a distinct disadvantage. By pluck and a great desire he may be able to keep up with his classmates, may even lead, but then he will feel aside from the physical suffering, the keen sense of failure.

If he fails to keep up he will feel aside from the physical suffering, the keen sense of failure.

and the stigma of being more stupid than his classmates. You may say, "But schools have eye-tests now-a-days." I am sorry to say that they do, and thereby their sentence many boys and girls to years of study under wrong conditions.

The usual eye test given in schools today is conducted in this manner: someone with no special knowledge of eyes, nor even a smattering of understanding regarding truly efficient visual functioning, places a chart with graduated lettering upon it on a wall or stand. Twenty feet removed from it they seat a child and ask him to read the letters, while they occlude each eye alternately with a card. If the child can accomplish the reading of the last line of letters, they declare the eyes normal and so report to teachers and parents. What a sad excuse for analysis of the child's visual capacities! They have found out nothing of the visual symptoms, the lack of coordination, the hundreds of things which can keep the eye from presenting true pictures to the brain. They have declared normal and ready for intensive work eyes tested at infinity or a distance of twenty feet. Yet a few minutes later those eyes are working at sustained application at a distance of sixteen to eighteen inches.

Neglect of eyes during infancy and the early stages of school life is largely responsible for the many cases of nearsightedness, cross-eyes, and other visual handicaps. Children who are always having accidents, who stumble often, who tip things over frequently and are always getting hurt, are showing symptoms that should tell their parents there is a need for eye care. Judgment of distance, position, depth, speed and proportion is dependent upon the use of two eyes perfectly coordinated. The fact that a child sees clearly from a distance does not indicate that his eyes are visually efficient. Often eyes have serious problems and yet have excellent acuity or clearness of vision. Nor does the absence of aches and pains prove that the eyes are giving their maximum service.

Psychologists tell us that eighty per cent of all education is acquired through the eyes. That being true, it is hardly possible to over-estimate the importance of being assured that a child's eyes are working at their best. Why such an important part of the body has been neglected is difficult to understand, but that neglect has prompted Optometry's preventive campaign known as "Send the Whole Child to School."

Unless you know about the eyes of your child, you cannot direct his life intelligently. Parents without realizing drag farsighted children down near the screen at moving picture shows and they unwittingly suffer and expand nervous energy to accommodate their parents' lack of visual acuity. Likewise, nearsighted children of farsighted parents may often be forced to sit through the unrolling of a film so dim to them that they hardly know what is going on. A thorough routine visual analysis will settle all questions. Your son and daughter will realize that you have shown them a precious heritage in good vision and the habit of good seeing will be so well established that they will never neglect it.

Send the whole child to school.

Some Early History

John Wright Holsapple, Temple, Texas

The writer was associated with J. M. Hutchens in 1876 in publishing the Murray Gazette. Two copies of the paper are on my desk now. From these I copy the following personal items:

"The next annual meeting of the Kentucky State Editorial Association will be held in Danville, June 7, 1876. The address will be delivered by E. F. Johnson, of the St. Louis Times."

"An Abbotsville, S. C., paper says there is a small community in Anderson County composed of a mixture of negroes and whites. The negro men have white wives and the white men have negro wives. They have a superstitious religion, and in politics they are neither Republican nor Democrats but Coalitionists."

"Last night Capt. Jim Melton found Blind Riley drunk and locked him up in jail. Riley's dog followed him and was licked up with him. This morning Riley was uncomfortable sober and his dog was uncomfortably dead. Jim Geary held an inquest over the remains, and the verdict was that the dog of foul air inhaled at the above mentioned institution."

"The Grand Division of Sons of Temperance of Kentucky assembled in annual session in the Odd Fellows Hall in this city on the fourth inst., with S. M. Martin presiding. The list of officers was given as follows: J. M. Hutchens, G. W. J. K. Wells, G. W. A. G. N. Cutchen, P. W. T. W. Hutchens, G. T. Rev. J. A. Spencer, G. Chaplain, J. W. Holsapple, G. C. M. M. Padgett, Sentinel, Rev. J. A. Spencer was appointed deputy, while C. H. Stewart was appointed as deputy for the State."

"It is said that there were 250,000 persons in attendance at the opening of the Centennial Exposition on Wednesday last."

"The U. S. Court at Memphis last Thursday issued an order for the sale of Paducah and Memphis Railroad, last Wednesday."

"A train was blown from the track and several persons injured in Illinois."

"Two prisoners escaped from the Mayfield jail last week."

"A hoghead of tobacco was sold in Paducah for $75.00 per hundred pounds. It was raised by John Ware of Ballard county."

"A storm that did considerable damage passed through Hinkleville, Ballard county."

"Dr. R. L. Grogan, five miles east of Murray, was seriously ill."

"W. F. Peterson, a prominent young lawyer, had just returned from a visit."

"Murray was boasting of a new barber shop."

"A revival meeting closed at the Christian church. The converts were baptized in Clark's River."

"Ed Duguid went to Paducah on business for the firm of Hamlin & Nanny." Realizing the importance of the use of the Tennessee and Cumberland rivers in holding and defending the South, the Confederates early erected Forts Henry and Donelson, both of which forts were attacked and captured by Grant in February, 1862. Fort Henry guarded the Tennessee and Fort Donelson the Cumberland, a short distance overland from each other. The capture of the first proved easy. "Fort Henry is ours; I shall take and destroy Fort Donelson on the 8th," was Grant's dispatch. The fort was not taken until the 16th. The commanding was heard at our home several miles west of the Tennessee River, four miles east of Murray. The Ohio River was now virtually the dividing line between the North and the South. Kentucky was on the dividing and fighting line. So we were "between the devil and the deep blue sea." Calloway furnished decidedly more Confederate than Federal soldiers, however. Two colonels under Forrest were Bert Thompson, who fell in the Confederate attack on Paducah, and G. A. C. Holt, who fought through the entire war. After the war, Holt was elected to the State Senate and was made its presiding officer. After the close of the war the body of Col. Thompson was removed from the Paducah grave in which it was first placed to the Bowman cemetery just north of Murray, where it rests beneath a small monument entirely too insignificant for such a distinguished citizen of the county.

DAD FLANARY AND HIS 634 BOYS KNOW THE MEANING OF

The American Way

To the Army they're troops. To the enemy they're tough, two-fisted fighting men. But to Dad Flanary, N. C. & St. L. engineer, they're his boys, every one of them.

You see, Dad has a son of his own over there. That's why every lad who rides the rails to Victory behind him is out of his boys. So Dad Flanary keeps steady hand on the throttle, working at home for the same freedoms these boys are fighting for abroad.

What a mockery it would be if those who risk their lives for freedom, who fight for our American form of Government, should return and find to find that way of life at home... if freedom had gone from the land of the free.

Such thoughts race through Dad Flanary's mind as he speeds his boys on their way. He knows that American soldiers are fighting to return to a land of free enterprise where industries, stimulated by the hope of fair profit, are free to create jobs, pay high wages, produce goods that cost less, and serve the public better. He knows they dare to risk their lives to be free to engage in the business of their choice... that they will fight for the right to run their lives or their businesses as they see fit, subject only to reasonable laws which they help to make.

This is the American Way for which Dad Flanary and his 634 boys are fighting. It is the way that must prevail if we are to remain free—the way for which those at home must work as those abroad must fight.

THIS IS What We Are Fighting For!

1—FREEDOM OF INDIVIDUALS to be masters of their own lives... to worship as they please... to vote as free men... to choose their jobs... to progress and prosper according to their abilities and willingness to work.

2—FREEDOM OF BUSINESS to plan and achieve, subject only to appropriate governmental regulations... to risk investment of money... to expand and profit if they prove worthy through honorable service to the nation and its citizens.

Any way of life which does not offer these freedoms is un-American. Some would have you believe there is another way. There is. But the other way is slavery.

THE NASHVILLE, CHATTANOOGA AND ST. LOUIS RAILWAY

Like Dad's home, The American Way was built on a solid foundation... a foundation composed of Capital and Labor and Law. For example, Dad as a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers represents Labor as the owner of this home, boasts with his savings, he represents Capital. As a citizen he wants, and proposes to have, fair laws which play to favorites—laws he helped to make... that's the American Way!

Dad's son will come marching home to his beloved South. Not just a few 2500 men, but a steadily growing South whose industrial development is steadily progressing... a South which, through the cooperation of Industry, Labor and Agriculture — working together under America's system of Free Enterprise — will be America's number one economic opportunity... in the coming years of peace.

Kidneys Must Work Well

For You To Feel Well

24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging back-aches, headaches, dizziness, cramps, etc., getting up at night, swelling.

Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended by the country over. Doan's stimulates the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.
