Pretty Fashions Good Medicine

That's probably what the Auxiliary to the Fulton County Medical Society proposes as good therapy for the holiday rush... that and scholarships for deserving students too! Anyhow you can judge for yourself the success of the annual fashion show held by the organization at the Derby Restaurant on December 1.

For Small Fry party-goers Leigh Ann McAlister, Rick Cardwell and Michelle Homra model "just right" garments for the occasion.

Lovely to look at, Ronnie Bennett says as he glances at his modeling companions Mrs. Wilburn Allen and Debbie Homra.

In step with ultra-fashion are Sally Hall, Darlene Roberts and Mrs. Max McDade, all dressed and going somewhere too!

Some Of America's Most Influential Firms Offer Compliments To Twin Cities For Friendship Center

(An Editorial)

Last week, a high-ranking official of Spindletop Research Institute came to Fulton to discuss with members of the Fulton Civic Center Authority some pertinent facts concerning the establishment here of the proposed Latin-American Friendship Center.

It is well known to you now that the Economic Development Administration in Washington has allocated $17,500.00 to do a feasibility study on the proposed facility, which in itself is an indication of the esteem and admiration with which our Banana Festival and our community is held. It is gratifying to all of us, we are sure, to contemplate the accomplishments we have made in community development and in the field of people-to-people diplomacy with our Latin-American friends.

But more than that, as an officer of the Civic Center Authority, this writer is constantly amazed at the personal interest and enthusiasm that has been manifest by the gigantic firms that are seeking to do the feasibility study on the Friendship Center.

Last week, a representative of Ernst and Ernst, one of the largest firms in the world called to get certain information about our community (much of which he already knew since the firm represented Ferry-Morse in locating the seed firm here.)

While the representative admitted that his inquiry was for specific information, he likewise volunteered many complimentary statements about the strides that have been made to make the Festival a living, breathing diplomatic mission, with the resultant possibility of the Latin-American Friendship Center, which should make these twin cities the mecca for international gatherings in the years to come.

In addition to the Washington office of Ernst and Ernst, several other large consulting engineering firms have called this writer, expressing the same enthusiasm for the project. The program officer in the EDA office in Washington told us this week that five nationally-known firms had made special trips to Washington seeking the contract, not because of the monetary consideration (it is a tiny one by comparison to others) but because these firms want the prestige of working on such a unique, interesting and significant installation.

We think that a rather nice compliment for us to receive. We point this out to you so that you will have something to talk about when the Center is mentioned.

In this light we think that a recent article in the Courier-Journal, written by Joe Creason, will have a similar interest to you.

Here it is:

Notebook

You can so teach an old dog new tricks! The older dog, the easier to teach.

For all the years that I agonized through those times when the children had to bring candy, pies, cookies, to some kind of a party or another, I suffered over my inability to make a single dessert fitter to eat. I usually called upon friends to make such delicacies for me, or had other parents make them for me, in exchange for some other duty that was to be performed for the event in mention.

Now that both children are away in school, and periodically hint that they would like some "goodies" I have found myself without friend or source to do this chore for me, since it is a long-range program that will eventually exhaust the avenues of friendship, if it persists.

But alas, the old saying that a friend in need is a friend indeed, became more than an old cliché last week. While bemoaning the fact in the office that R. Paul was to have his exams this week and wanted some "goodies" to eat while he was keeping late hours in the "study department," I remarked that if it killed me I was going to make him some fudge.

To which Connie Pawlukiewicz replied: "That's no problem. I have a recipe for fudge that even you can make, that takes all of five minutes." Annabelle and I thought the gal had flipped until she gave us the recipe, we tried it and now we're living in a world of sweet fame.

Here's the recipe. It's fool proof. It's delicious! And simple? ... try it yourself.

Get a can of condensed milk, the kind you make ice box pies with.

Get a 49 cents package of chocolate chips.

Get a cup of nuts, more if you like.

Pour the condensed milk, with the chocolate chips, with the nuts, in a pan. ALL AT THE SAME TIME.

Heat the ingredients, stirring, until thick.

MUSICAL AFTERNOON

Following attendance at the Methodist Church last Sunday afternoon, December 11, to hear the Murray State choir Christmas concert, the Beethoven Club held its Christmas party at the Derby. Refreshments were served by the sponsors, Mrs. T. E. Wilson and Mrs. Tillman Adams, and members exchanged gifts.

TV PROGRAM!

Mrs. June W. Smith, associate professor of education at Murray State University, will be featured at 3:30 p. m. Saturday in a Christmas program to be telecast over WPSD-TV, Channel 6, Paducah.

Legion, Auxiliary Party Monday Nite

The Marshall Alexander Post No. 72 of the American Legion and Auxiliary will hold its Christmas meeting Monday night December 19, in the Legion home at 6:30.

Baked ham will be furnished by the Legion and ladies are requested to bring other foods.

An entertaining program has been arranged by Mrs. Phil Parker, chairman of the music committee. Members are requested to bring food for a needy family.

Shopping Better Than Photographer In Twin Cities

THE IDEA WAS GOOD, BUT THE PHOTOGRAPHER WASN'T as these random shots indicate the brisk shopping being done in the twin city area. Can't get the bi-focals and the lenses to synchronize, but at least you can see in the photo upper left that Ollie Bowen of Bardwell likes what he sees at Wade Furniture Company in Fulton as "Hammering Hank" Bethel (center) and Nathan Wade enjoy showing off their wares. In the photo at right, Mrs. Joe Denton (standing) of Bardwell takes a good look-see as Mrs. Ollie Denton tries out the comfort of a chair at Wade's on Lake Street.

Local Merchants Have Prepared For Your Every Gift-giving Need; Patronize Them

It is that time of year when we usually feel compelled to urge a "Buy At Home" program on Twin City shoppers and consumers. This is a good policy year-round, but the pre-Christmas shopping binge is the biggest economic "shot in the arm" that our area gets, and it seems particularly advisable to press the "Buy At Home" idea at this time.

Most of our city's merchants have been getting ready for Christmas for several months. Local stores are well stocked, and the merchandise is being beautifully displayed.

The stores also are trying to make shopping as convenient as possible for area residents, and for the most part parking and traffic problems should be reduced to a minimum. Early shoppers also should find the stores not too crowded and clerical assistance readily available.

In most cases, too, prices will compare favorably with those found in larger shopping centers and, at home, one doesn't have to fight the crowds generally associated with these larger retail marts.

The importance to our local economy cannot be emphasized too much. Every dollar that we can keep in the Twin Cities means special benefits for local business and for the local community.

We will admit that some unique items may not be available here and that purchasers may on occasion have to look afar for such purchases. But before you think of going out of town to do your shopping, at least give the Twin City merchants a chance.

Clothes Bank Helps People Help Themselves

In our service to persons in need there is a fine line between helpful assistance and the kind of giving which makes those persons completely dependent on our help. Causing a person to become dependent on our help robs him of the all-important feelings of self-sufficiency and self-respect and in the end renders him a disservice. Our greatest service is done in supplementing what the person is able to do for himself, all the while encouraging him to do more and more for himself.

Our Fulton-Obion Counties Clothes Bank has taken this principle into account in the formulation of its rules of operation. Persons who withdraw clothing from the Clothes Bank are limited in the amounts they may take and are limited to a total of three withdrawals per year. In this way the Clothes Bank is able to provide much-needed assistance to many families in the area without allowing anyone to get into the position of becoming dependent on the Clothes Bank for all his clothing. In order to receive clothing from the Clothes Bank a person must have an authorization slip signed by a school principal, a teacher, a health nurse, a welfare worker, a minister, or a County Health Center.

In order to provide this service the Clothes Bank depends on donations of serviceable used clothing from persons throughout the area. This is where you can help! Please do.

HARRISONBURG, VA., NEWS-RECORD: "Dr. John D. Dougherty of the Harvard School of Public Health is one of a growing number of scientists who are taking a look at noise in contemporary society and its effects, apparently, are considerable. . . . A researcher on hearing problems, Dr. Dougherty contends noise levels in many environments have reached the point they are causing serious hearing impairments. . . . As examples of how noisy everyday contrivances have become, the researcher notes industrial studies which have shown that continued exposure to a noise level of 80 decibels has resulted in loss of hearing. Yet, such ordinary appliances as food blenders are rated at 93 decibels, a loud lawn mower at 107 decibels and a subway train at 95."

Friendship Center

ONE OF THE MOST successful promotions to be inaugurated in these parts in many a moon is Fulton's International Banana Festival, which is held on a weekend in late September each year.

The growth in attendance and prestige of the festival, only four years old, is elaborate proof that, like the old saw contends, mighty oaks really do start as tiny acorns.

It started humbly as strictly a local gimmick to publicize the fact that almost every stalk of bananas headed for mid-America passes through Fulton, a rail junction point straddling the Kentucky-Tennessee line. Now the festival is truly international in scope, with some eight banana-growing nations participating.

Even the U. S. State Department is using the festival as a vehicle to promote good neighbor relations. And last month the Department of Commerce allocated $17,500.00 to develop in Fulton a year-around center for Latin American arts, crafts and culture.

Good taste, hard work and persistence perhaps explain why the festival has grown so rapidly. A previously unreported example of the persistence of the promoters — not to mention the high regard Washington holds for the festival — cropped up at this year's renewal.

A major event, scheduled for Sept. 30, was Governors' Day, at which Ned Breathitt and Frank Clement, governors of Kentucky and Tennessee, respectively, were to be honored guests. However, on the Wednesday before the day, both governors were among a group hastily summoned to the White House by President Johnson to discuss inflation.

That left the festival more or less holding the banana peeling since, after all, what's a Governors' Day without a governor or two?

One of the festival's prime movers, Mrs. Jo Westpheling, took the direct approach to settle the matter. She picked up the phone, called the office of presidential aide Bill Moyers and had a very frank conversation about the festival and what it was trying to do for Latin American relations.

The call got rapid results. Almost immediately Moyers' office contacted the two governors and told them the President would be glad to reschedule their meeting in order that they might appear at Fulton.

Which proves what Washington thinks about a festival which started as little more than a wouldn't-it-be-nice type of coffee-break conversational piece.

POET'S CORNER

KEEP ON THINKING

When a fellow stops his thinking
And deliberately starts sinking
In despondency, admitting that he's sick,
Giving up his mental go-go,
He's as dead as any dodo,
And you might as well go bury him right quick.

There's a philosophic unction,
That, so long as mind can function,
You had better go on living at your best.
There's a vital spark within you
That controls nerve and sinew.
It's the mind that puts the body to the test.

Some of mankind's best achievements
Have been built upon bereavements.
Mister Milton just kept on when he was blind.
So don't spent your strength in sighing;
Though it's rough, just keep on trying,
And don't let some little sickness kill your mind.

ALL WE NEED TO DO TO LOSE

Some years ago, General Carlos Romulo of the Philippines made this striking statement to the American people. He said, "All Americans need to do to lose is to keep on doing what they have been doing. All the Communists need to do to win is to keep on doing what they have done." In other words, the Communists do not need to change their strategy, but we Americans need to change ours.

It is very important that we remember the assessment which Cleon Skousen made of Communist progress in a seminar last summer when he said:

"The thing I want you to remember is that the Communists are jubilant; they just think they are making more progress in the United States than any other place in the world. . . . I have been to Europe just recently and Communists are being resisted almost everywhere but in the United States, and in the United States they have made more progress in the last eighteen months than they have at any time in the last twenty years."

I like days
with a snow-white collar, and nights when the moon
is a silver dollar, and hills are filled with eiderdown stuffing and your breath makes smoke like an engine puffing.
I like days
when feathers are snowing, and all the eaves
have petticoats showing,
and the air is cold,
and the wires are humming,
but you feel all warm . . .
with Christmas coming!

With Christmas fastly approaching, this week we shall examine some of the Christmas books that can be found at the library.

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO YOU compiled by Wilhelmina Harper. This popular and highly praised volume contains stories of the first Christmas in Bethlehem, of modern day Christmases in Australia and the United States, and legends and fairy tales all illuminating in their different ways the joy and wonder of this very special holiday season. For holiday story-telling hours, MERRY CHRISTMAS TO YOU is the perfect book for the family bookshelf, and its twenty-six carefully chosen selections make delightful reading at any time of year.

THE DAYS WE CELEBRATE edited by Robert Haven Schaffer. This book contains 7 plays and pageants, 48 poems, 12 essays, 5 stories, and 17 games and other activities to be used throughout the Christmas Holiday season. It is ideal for any group planning a play, or for anyone wanting to tell stories of the Christmas season.

CHRISTMAS WITH ED SULLIVAN. "As the years went by, I discovered Christmas is a day that must be shared with others. . . . It is Ed Sullivan speaking in the introduction to this heart-warming and wonderful book, sharing his own Christmas memories—those of dozens of his most celebrated friends—in a joyous and memorable feast of holiday legends, tales, and meditations. Host to 35,000,000 Americans every Sunday night, and a nationally syndicated columnist, Ed Sullivan opens the book with his own poignant and moving story, "A journey through many Christmases," which recounts, from his boyhood through his rise to fame, the holiday seasons he remembers all over the world—some of them deeply inspirational, others sparkling with joy and fun. They include the personal stories Ed Sullivan has related to his family and close friends at Christmastime, and had always wanted to write down and put together into a book someday. And here it is—as entertaining and unbounded as the Ed Sullivan Show itself.

CHRISTMAS AND ITS CUSTOMS by Christina Hole. This charming little book was written with reverence, affection, and delight by one of England's leading writers on folklore. It tells the whole fascinating story of Christmas the world over, from the beginning to the present. Aside from religious observances, we Americans take Santa Claus, presents, holly, trees, carol singing, and all the other pleasant Christmas customs very much for granted. How intriguing it is to follow Christina Hole as she traces them to their origins! Many of our cherished traditions are buried deep in the pagan past. In fact, when Christmas was first officially established, the date coincided with ancient celebrations of the sun's rebirth at the winter solstice. The Church saw no reason to destroy the old customs, and so they were adapted to fit our celebration of the birth of Christ. Each country added its own ancient lore to the melting pot of Christmas tradition, hence the variety and diversity that exist throughout the world.

SATURDAY THE RABBI WENT HUNGRY, by Harry Kemelman. This is even better than the prize-winning and best-selling Friday the Rabbi Slept Late. A joyous novel of people and their problems. Mr. Kemelman has endowed the book with so much skill and humor that it makes very pleasant reading.

THE WINGS OF MADNESS, by Judson Phillips. A Peter Styles Mystery Novel. They assassinated Sam Minafee in the shade of the ancient elms on the Village Green. He was making a speech against wars. The assassin, torn to pieces by the crowd, was a nothing, a zero, brought across the threshold of murder by fanatical underground conspiracy. Very exciting.

THE GENERAL'S WIFE, by Ishbel Ross. This is the first biography of a figure strangely neglected in our national annals. For Julia Dent Grant, wife of General Ulysses S. Grant, profoundly affected the course of American history. She played, in fact, a decisive part in the career of the great General, into whose heart and mind Miss Ross's book gives and unprecedented glimpse.

Surprising for a great north-south railroad? Not when you see Illinois Central's dispatch freights rolling along nearly 1,000 miles of east-west railroad. Fast trains pick up west coast perishables, forest products, paper, grain and canned goods at Omaha, rush them to Chicago on their way east. Other dispatch freights hurry east with fresh meats from Iowa's packing plants. Westbound, the trains carry the wares of auto makers and other manufacturers. Nobody beats our east-west schedules. But we're not satisfied. To better our service we are making substantial investments in track and traffic control. Get the facts. Ask any Illinois Central representative. MAIN LINE OF MID-AMERICA

The Season Of Giving

(From The FHS Kennel)

May the spirit of the Prince of Peace enter into the homes and hearts of all of us this season of sharing and increase our friendship, our understanding, and our consideration for others.

All of us inherit from the past. All we have come to us from someone, somehow. None of us is really self-made. It is hard to think of the hours and efforts of others that have gone into the making of each of us—the time of teachers who have taught us, the time of parents and others who have loved, nourished and reared us.

The moment we were born we inherited all the art, the literature, the monuments, the music, the beauty, the buildings that someone else built.

We benefit by the tools and techniques that others developed. We have learned by the trial and error of others. All that this generation has couldn't have been built in our time. All the truth we have wasn't discovered in our time.

All of us are deeply indebted to the past. And any man who says his life is his own is saying something that isn't so. All of us are the product of those who have gone before and of all that the Lord God has given. Each of us has an obligation to others.

"What do we live for," said George Eliot, "if it is not to make life less difficult for each other?" If we are sincere, we shall prove it with our sharing and with our service. Anything we keep selfishly to ourselves is not fully enjoyed. When we have received something good, we have an obligation to pass it on, one way or another.

In this season of giving, it is well that we all remember that we have received so much from the world and those about us.

Should Students Be Permitted To Attend Courses During Free Time

FHS students and faculty member taking part in this issue's forum are: Mrs. Johnson, Roma Foster, James McCarthy, and John Reed.

(From The FHS Kennel)

JAMES MCCARTHY—

There are many factors involved in the decision. I feel that a person should only be allowed to leave study hall and go to another class if he has already had the class that day. In this manner teachers would still be free on quizzes and review tests.

Another factor is crowded classrooms. There should be a limit on the number of observers allowed in a class. The teacher should decide at the end of a person's class whether they can come back for the next class.

I feel they should not participate, only review what they missed, also they should remain the entire period. Actually the teacher of the specific class should control whether students come or not.

ROMA FOSTER—

Yes, I think this system would help the students of F. H. S. a great deal. This would aid every student who is weak in a certain field and also help them get interested in new and different subjects.

This system would have to be carried out in such a way so that a student would have to work for this privilege instead of going to any class any time he wished to. If a student is capable of making his grades without using his study hall, he would benefit more by sitting in a class in which he is interested than sitting in study-hall doing nothing.

If this idea is not carried out properly by both teacher and student it could cause more damage to a class than good.

JOHN REED—

Yes, I do think that students should be allowed to take courses during their study hall for non-credit. This would provide a chance for the studious young person to observe classes which have sections that he would be interested in. Although one might not like the general course, he could sit in on lectures which he feels would help broaden his education. Also, the student who took the course earlier in his high school career could observe class to help refresh his memory, especially before taking college entrance examinations.

The classes which could be observed would need to be limited due to the subject matter and the size of the class. Small classes such as physics and speech would be the most ideal to observe. Classes with teachers who give interesting lectures would be among the best. The students who would observe would have to assume complete responsibility to cause no type of disturbance while in the class. The number of students would have to be limited so as to no interference.

The main purpose of such a program would be to provide a plan for the good student to gain useful information on a voluntary basis.

MRS. JOHNSON—

Students' taking non-credit work during study halls could be a profitable experience, but there are many problems to be considered. First, several classes are already crowded, and the teachers have enough to do to instruct the students who are presently enrolled. Second, the students taking these non-credit courses would need to be well screened. This process would cover such areas as grades, behavior, and reasons for auditing a particular subject. Finally there would need to be a prearranged procedure for either evaluating this special student or allowing him to evaluate himself as a means of determining his progress. Yet this program could be important to the serious student, permitting him to take courses that he could not otherwise schedule and alleviating him of the free time that he often finds on his hand in a study hall. If such a program is put into effect let us be serious about it and organize it so as to insure maximum benefit for the student and minimum burden for the teachers.

FHA Meets

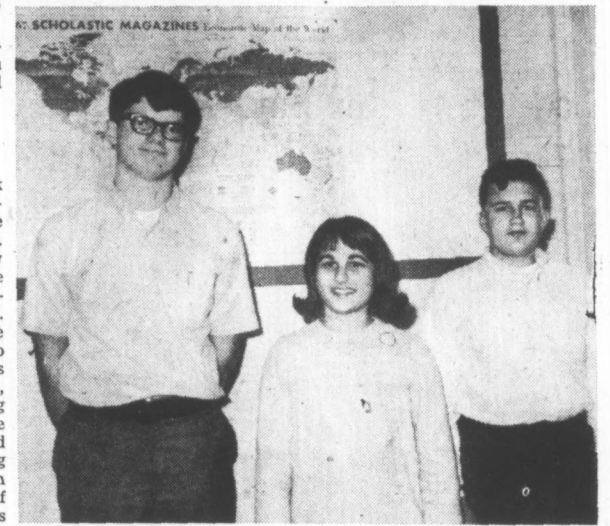

"Parent-Teen Relationships" was the program presented by Cindy Homra at the meeting of the Future Homemakers of America, Wednesday, October 16 in the farm room.

Brenda McBride, the club president, conducted the meeting. The chapter mothers present were Mrs. Fred Homra, Mrs. Guy Upton, Mrs. L. M. McBride and Mrs. Charles Fields. Dee Fields presented a devotional on friendship to go along with the program, which was presented with the help of several members of the club.

UK Graduates Look More To Kentucky

Migration of University of Kentucky graduates to other states is decreasing even though nationwide competition to hire them is growing every year. William A. Tolman, associate professor of business administration, says two factors account for the change: an increasing number of industries locating sizeable plants in Kentucky and making available more and better jobs, and a growing desire among UK seniors to find their futures within the Commonwealth.

"Bargains in Brains," a 50-page booklet containing the photo and biography of each College of Business and Economics senior who wants a job, is mailed each October to over 2000 employers. Tolman concludes that the booklet "is the finest aid any career-seeking senior can have."

HONORED BY JOURNAL

The fall issue of the "Kentucky Law Journal," published by the University of Kentucky College of Law, has been dedicated to Dr. Roy Moreland, professor emeritus of law. A native Kentuckian, his service to legal education in Kentucky spans two-thirds of the 58-year history of the law school.

At Weeks' Store, Miss Lorene Mayes, an "expert" with a lot of experience, shows a fellow sales lady Mary Browder Butler (center) how to put the finishing touches to a Christmas gift just purchased by Mrs. Emma Tarver of East Drive in Fulton. At right the glitter and sparkle of the lovely items in Billy and Ann's Flowerland got the lenses clouded (poor excuse for faltering photography) but Mrs. Fred Homra, Mrs. Charles Browder, Mrs. Billy Gore and Sally Chambers enjoy the array of colorful holiday gifts on display in the store.

Lexington Drivers Are On Television

A film depicting both good and bad driving habits—practices that can prevent or cause traffic accidents—soon will be showing up on Central Kentucky television screens. A University of Kentucky team has filmed drivers at selected Lexington intersections.

They are to be shown twice weekly on Lexington station WKYT-TV (Channel 27) for several weeks. At the end of the TV screenings, the researchers will record the incidence of traffic violations and accidents at the same intersections and compare these findings with similar data compiled prior to the telecasts.

HYBRID CHRISTMAS TREES SEEN FOR SOMETIME IN THE '70's

Christmas trees grown to order, with ornaments attached? A possibility sometimes in the 1970's. This is the report of the U. S. Forest Service in a recent issue of "Agricultural Research". The tree came almost as a bonus for a long program of hybridization at the Pacific Southwest Forest at Placerville, California.

It is a hybrid pine that is crossed between the Sierra Nevada Lodgepole Pine and the Shore Pine. It grows fast, about six feet in four or five years. It develops more than one whorl of branches each year to produce a full, many branched tree with a conical shape and straight trunk. It is a thick, dark green foliage and produces cones when it is five years old, the cones decorating the tree just as it reaches the right size for harvest. Some of these desirable characteristics for Christmas tree production combined in the hybrid are lacking in each of the parent varieties. Tree growers will receive some trees in 1967 for transplanting.

The hybrid tree can be produced in quantity, scientists say, because there are no major genetic barriers in crossing the Lodgepole Pine and the Shore Pine, because of the same species. There is difficulty in crossing pine of different species.

The project began in 1963. Several hundred conelets were developed this year and geneticists expect three thousand or more variable seed in 1965. This seed will be planted in 1966 and seedlings should be ready for transplanting. Experiments are being conducted to find where these trees will grow best.

Applications For All Grower Plans Being Accepted

Roy Bard, Chairman Fulton ASC County Committee, announced today that applications for all types of new grower allotments are now being accepted at the county office. To be eligible for a new grower allotment you must meet the following conditions: The farm must be operated by the owner; the owner must not have another farm with a like allotment and that farm cannot have an allotment for Burley, air cured or fire cured tobacco already established; the available land, type of soil and topography of land must be suitable for the production of tobacco and operator must have adequate equipment; and the operator must obtain at least 51 percent of his income from farming.

Farmers who can qualify, are asked to go to the county office before February 15, 1967, to file your application for a new grower allotment.

WEATHER SLOWS HARVESTING

The bad weather last week brought cotton picking and soybean combining to a halt. Just a few fair days would let most farmers clean up their fields. A few soybeans are in the fields, but not many. The soybean crop this year plus the good soybean prices has helped to pull a number of farmers over a rough year.

HELP YOURSELF

If you don't believe that lime will help your soybeans, just ask a few of your neighbors. We have observed many demonstrations in Obion County showing the real value of lime on soybean yields. It takes about six months for lime to change the PH of soil and become fully available to crops, so if you will have lime applied now it will be available next summer when your soybeans are growing and putting on pods. We recommend a soil test be made and recommendations followed.

Christian Heritage—

in the United States immediately is felt around the world. We believe therefore, that if there is to be a decisive spiritual change in the changing of world history, that change will come about in this our own country, and in our own government.

This is the element of great danger and at the same time the element of great opportunity for us all.

How Can A Decisive Change Come To Pass?

The recent events in our country indicate a deep ferment and restlessness on the part of the American people. This ferment and restlessness can be the forerunner of a great shift in America's future if it is directed by a powerful movement of the Spirit of God. In other words, an awakening to the Power and Greatness of Jesus Christ, either on the part of the individual or on the part of the public, will be a sign of hope.

The Reverend T. Robert Ingram, Rector of St. Thomas Episcopal Church in Houston, Texas has put it very powerfully in the following statement from one of his sermons:

"As a matter of fact, both records of the past and present experience would indicate that the FIRST SIGNS OF TRUE AWAKENING TO CHRIST ARE SIGNS OF PUBLIC CONCERN. A classic example is Christian in Pilgrim's Progress. Christian is first stirred up to do something about the salvation of his own soul when he becomes alarmed about the public disaster which he sees is going to fall on his own village—his own country—his own world. It is through trying to arouse others to do something to save their village that he is brought along the path where he may save his own soul. The Book of the Prophet Isaiah shows the same pattern.

It opens with Isaiah's alarm over public affairs—the people as a whole have fallen away and do not know their own God. It is not until the sixth chapter that Isaiah tells of his own personal and individual call from Christ in a vision. Likewise scores of men and women today become awakened, as we say, TO THE LOOMING PUBLIC CATASTROPHE OF OUR TIME. These people become politically minded — they join politically minded action groups — they, like Bunyan's Christian, battenhole their friends and neighbors and try to awaken them, only to be accused of being beside themselves and mentally deranged. THEN IT IS FROM THE RANK OF SUCH LIKE THAT COME THOSE WHO FOLLOW THE LIGHT, DIMLY AS IT MAY SHINE, THAT LEADS TO THE PATH OF THEIR OWN INDIVIDUAL PILGRIMAGE TO GOD."

Widows Advised Of New Benefits On Reaching 60

A number of widows in the Paducah area may still not have heard of a change in the social security law made last year which enables them to get monthly benefits as soon as they reach 60, Charles M. Whitaker, social security district manager, said today.

Until the change, Whitaker pointed out, benefits were not payable to a widow under age 62 unless she was left with young children to raise. The amount of the widow's payment is based upon what her husband would have received as a retirement benefit at age 65.

If she decides to wait until she is 62, her benefit will be 82.5 percent of what her husband would have received each month. If she decides to start her benefit at 61, she will receive about 77 percent of his benefit.

If she chooses to start getting her benefit as soon as she reaches 60, her payments will be 71.5 percent of her husband's monthly benefit.

For example, if the husband could have received a monthly benefit of $100 had he lived, the payment to his widow would be $82.50 at her 62nd birthday, $77 at her 61st birthday, or $71.50 if she is just 60 when her payments start.

On the average, women who choose to take their benefits early will collect about the same value in total benefits over the years, but in smaller payments to take account of the longer period during which they are paid.

Prior to the 1965 amendments, Whitaker noted, a widow who was receiving widow's benefits and remarried had her widow's benefit terminated. The new law, however, provides that if a widow past age 60 remarries, her benefits may continue at an adjusted rate.

Another change in the law allows a wife who is divorced at 60 or later, or a surviving divorced wife who is 60 or over, to qualify for monthly benefits if she was married to a worker for at least 20 consecutive years. Likewise, a surviving divorced wife, regardless of her age, can qualify for monthly benefits if at the time of the worker's death, she has in her care his child under 18 or disabled. The child is also entitled to monthly benefits.

These social security benefits are not payable to the divorced widow if she is now married.

Worship at the Church of your Choice

*I Need

Coleman Adv. Serv.

It is fun to get out and romp with our children, to share in their joy. Sometimes it is even work to pull them on a sled. Afterwards you may be tired and bones and muscles ache, but you think fondly of the laughter, and squeals of delight and the love that shines in a child's eyes. Then you think it's all worth the effort, for they won't be young forever, and someday you will only have memories.

They won't be young forever and now is the time that they need a pull in the direction toward God. Now is the time that you can lead and share in the joys of their worship. Take your children to Church this Sunday.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

 til the chocolate chips have melted and are well homogenized into the condensed milk.
 Pour the creamy, d-e-e-licious concoction into a well greased pan, and in no time at all you're ready to pack that box off to anywhere, or just eat it all yourself as I nearly did, being so proud of my GREAT ABILITY to be an honest-to-godness, fudge-making momma.

Annabelle made a batch for the refreshments table at Elizabeth Caldwell's on Sunday and she says she has so many requests for the recipe she can't handle them.
 See, I told you Connie was smart.

And one thing more. If anybody can tell the difference between the frozen cookie rolls you buy at the markets and the real, live, "start-from-scratch" kind, I'll eat my hat. (I hope you don't see me around these next few days looking like the kooks on that cigarette commercial.)

Publicity Hounds
 Sometimes I think that Fulton gets more nation-wide publicity accidentally, than most communities get on purpose. I suppose it's because we do more here. This week somebody handed us an article that appeared in the Akron (Ohio) Beacon Journal about our Operation Santa Claus program. Al Fitzpatrick, writing in the Beacon Journal commented on our unusual idea to send our boys in Vietnam a small piece of concrete from dear old Lake Street.

Holiday Caution!
 At this time of the year, when the spirit of Christmas-giving prevails, there are those who take advantage of peoples' generous attitudes.

A few weeks ago a gent, walking on crutches, was making the rounds of local business houses begging for money "so that he could go to Warm Springs, Ga. for an operation for crippling polio," with which he said he was afflicted. Well, he ran into the wrong guys. Dewey Johnson and Johnny Stayton, both of whom have contributed and worked tirelessly for the local polio chapter knew good and well how polio funds are administered, so they called me, as Fulton County Chapter chairman, to verify the man's story.

Of course, it was fabricated out of whole cloth. The man finally admitted at the police station, that he made his living begging, wasn't going to Warm Springs, and had been "touching" local folks for several years, including the two who finally caught on to his story.

There may be many bona fide beggars in distress at this time of year, but then there are many bona fide agencies to help them too! Just remember that.

Note To R. Paul
 Charles Austin arrived Thursday night from Fort Hood in Texas and is anxious to get with the old gang during the holidays. Charles says he's doing police guard at the camp and is enjoying Army life very much. He looks it, too!

New Standard Oil Station For Puckett's Planned

Work has begun this week on construction of a large, ultra-modern new Standard service station for Sonny Puckett, to be located at the corner of Fourth and Kentucky Avenues.

The downtown location, long occupied by Puckett's, will be completely razed. The News learned Wednesday.

The new station, expected to be completed in the late spring, will be moved back from the street some distance, on additional footage recently purchased from the Illinois Central railroad behind the present station. The new building will have three bays for indoor servicing, a covered area over the front, and six pumps replacing the present four.

Carl Puckett, Sr. told The News Wednesday that the station will continue to be open for business while new construction is going on.

A&P something for "Harry the Hacker"

Lots of us are known as, "Harry the Hacker," because of what we do to a Christmas Turkey.

The secret to classic carving is a very sharp, thin-bladed knife. Allow bird to sit in roasting pan 15 to 30 minutes. It will slice cleaner and the juices will be absorbed, too. Follow these simple directions:

1. Cut off leg by drawing knife deeply between leg and body through hip joint. Press leg away from body and remove.
2. Before slicing breast, make a deep horizontal cut to bone in breast, just above the wing.
3. Beginning about halfway up breast, slice downward with straight even strokes until slices fall free at cut.
4. Cut off wing through shoulder joint. Cut off wing tip. When one side is clean, turn platter and carve other side.

If your Harry's a Hacker, cut this out and put it in his Christmas Stocking. One final thing you can do for "Harry" ... buy your turkey at A&P.

Our Super-Right Turkeys are all Grade "A" birds. Harry will carve such beautiful slices you'll want to rechristen him, "Sam the Surgeon."

No Theft Occurred

At S. F. Station

The theft of a tire at South Fulton last week, which resulted in two boys and a girl being sent to correctional schools, did not occur at Puckett's Service Station, Sonny Puckett of South Fulton informed The Messenger Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Puckett said no such theft occurred at his place of business and that he had made no complaint. Sheriff Bob McCowan and Chief Deputy J. T. Wolverton said today they were not sure which service station was involved.

South Fulton Girls Fall But Boys Down Sharon

South Fulton's girls led all the way, except when it really counted, in Sharon Friday night and wound up falling 40-38.

The SF Devils, however, after a cold shooting performance in the first half, blew Sharon off the court in the second half to take a 57-45 victory.

Even though his girls fell, Coach Wyatt Cunningham had much praise for his SF team, saying it was their best performance of the season. "The girls have a lot of desire and they are trying every minute," he said.

Two of the SF forwards are sophomores and one is a freshman—in fact, there is only one senior (Nancy Jones) on the team.

After a 13-all first period South Fulton led 26-19 at the half and 34-29 at the end of the third frame. But they committed a few costly fouls in the fourth frame and scored only four points.

Sophomore Pat Hamilton was the leading SF scorer with 18, most of which she sank with quick jump shots after swinging down the right side of the court. Anne Liggett got 16 for the winners.

The South Fulton team was one big block of ice as it came onto the floor in the second game and, after the first half of play, trailed 21-18 after hitting only 21 percent of its shots.

Things must have happened in the dressing room at the half because South Fulton came back and blew Sharon away. In the third stanza they took a 37-35 lead, outscoring Sharon by seven, and went on to outscore their opponents by 10 in the final quarter.

Coach Cunningham said today his team has not yet reached its form. "The boys are still making a lot of mistakes and fighting with themselves on the backboard," the coach said. While his teammates were having their troubles Alan Ingram, who wound up with 26 points, sank 55 percent of his shots to lead his team to victory.

When You Play BINGO
HERE'S HOW TO PLAY...
 As an adult customer you are issued only one master "Lucky Bingo" card. When you have turned in a winning card, you will receive a "Lucky" ticket each time you visit our store. (No purchases are necessary.) On this ticket will be a mystery chip. The hidden side of the chip will reveal a number. When a number appears, simply insert the chip in the master "Lucky Bingo" card over the matching number. You then do this until you have a complete line—horizontal, vertical, diagonal. You then have a winning number and may return the card to our store for verification, and after signing a consent and receipt, you receive the award for the straight line of numbers you have formed. Save all duplicate and extra numbers you may have to start a new card. There is no limit to the number of times you can win. Each time you win, you will be given a new master "Lucky Bingo" card.

Girls Return from Trip to 4-H Congress in Chicago

Ellen Watson

Mary Caspar

Two girls who are handy with a needle have returned from their award trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

Mary Caspar, state dress revue winner, modeled her formal ensemble in the Grand Ballroom of the Conrad Hilton for the more than 2,000 persons attending the congress. Ellen Watson, state home improvement champion, was treated to a tour of the Merchandise Mart. Their sponsors were Simplicity Pattern Co. Inc. and The S&H Foundation, Inc., respectively.

Miss Caspar, 18, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. F. A. Caspar of Paducah. In her eight years of clothing projects she has made 134 garments, winning many purple and blue ribbons in McCracken County, district and state contests.

Her winning costume was made up of a floor-length silver and green satin brocade evening coat and an empire dress with a bodice matching the coat, a skirt of white crepe with a metallic thread, and green satin accents.

A freshman at Paducah Junior College, she is studying business and plans to continue with studies in home economics. She has been president of her 4-H Club four times.

Miss Watson, the 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Watson of Lynn Grove, has carried a home improvement project each of her five years in 4-H. She has re-done her brother's room, the kitchen, and her own room twice. The articles she has made or refinished have won 22 blue ribbons at county, district and state fairs.

Each girl has her mother for a 4-H leader and each has given junior leadership herself. They were selected for their honors by the Cooperative Extension Service, which directs 4-H work.
