Fulton County Sportsmen Club Will Sponsor Jr. Conservation Group Here, Help Start Others

Organization Has Dinner Meeting At Cayce Church

118 MEMBERS NOW

The rapidly-growing Fulton County Sportsmen's Club last night voted to sponsor the Fulton high school Junior Conservation Club and to organize other clubs throughout the county, and heard short talks by guests, club officials and club members.

The sportsmen enjoyed a chicken dinner prepared and served by the Women's Missionary Society in the basement of the First Methodist church at Cayce. Tables were decorated with willows and decoys. About 45 members were present.

The first meeting of the club was held April 25 at the VFW home in Hickman. Officers were appointed and 52 members were enrolled.

Since then Hunter Whitesell has secured 56 members from Fulton, which gives this city the largest representation in the organization. Hickman is second in membership. The 10 men who joined the club last night increased the total to 118, representing all parts of the county.

The most recent additions to the club are Hurrell Stinnett and W. B. McClain, Fulton; Arlie Batke, new director, and Gerald Blinford, Crutcheville; Walter J. Mayes and the Rev. R. H. Clegg, Cayce; Judge E. J. Stahr, C. N. Holland, Joseph L. Hyde and E. E. Powers, Hickman.

President Ed Wiley presided at last night's meeting. Speakers included Judge Stahr, Mr. Clegg, Mr. Holland, Carl Puckett, John McClintock, Clinton, conservation officer; George Alley, Fulton, club director; Mr. Whitesell, Fulton, club vice-president; Paul Grey, assistant county agent; and Read Holland, Fulton, who recently won the First District Junior Conservation Club casting contest at Kentucky Lake.

As winner of the casting tournament, Read is entitled to participate in the state contest at the Kentucky State fair this fall. The Sportsmen's Club voted last night to sponsor his trip to Louisville, if the junior organization is unable to do so.

It was decided that the board of directors will meet July 11, together with all club officers and members who wish to attend, at the Cayce school. A committee will be chosen to help Mr. Wiley organize Junior Conservation Clubs in all schools of the county.

The sportsmen also agreed to support a bill now pending in the state legislature which would increase the cost of duck stamps from $1 to $2.

Mr. McClintock told the club that the rabbit, quail and raccoon population in Fulton county has been increasing. He asked for names of Fulton countians who want to stock farm ponds with fish. The fish will be distributed this fall, he said.

Ed Ray, district supervisor of conservation officers, was scheduled to be principal speaker last night. He was unable to attend because two Louisville newspaper reporters asked him to take them to Murphy's Pond, which the state is considering purchasing as part of a wild life reserve.

Membership in the club is open to anyone interested in outdoor life and the conservation of fish and game. Prospective new members may contact Mr. Whitesell, Mr. Wiley, or other officers.

Fulton men at last night's meeting, in addition to those previously mentioned, were J. C. Suggs, Noble Morse and Joe Fuller.

M'Dade & M'Dade Awarded Contract For S. F. Streets

McDade and McDade, Fulton contractors, were awarded the contract to build approximately five and one-half miles of new streets in South Fulton. Cost of the project has been set at $56,550. Work will begin within 10 to 15 days.

Three bids were submitted to the city of South Fulton. They were opened at the city hall Tuesday afternoon.

Fulton Rotary Club Elects

"Happy" Hogan Named President For Year

New officers of the Fulton Rotary Club were elected at the regular meeting Tuesday, July 1. They are J. R. "Happy" Hogan, president; Paul Hornbeak, vice-president; Leroy Cannon, secretary; and E. E. Williamson, treasurer.

Members of the board of directors are Joe Brown, Leon Browder, Joe Davis, Clyde Williams, Jr., Gus Bard, Fred Sawyer, and the president.

Clyde Williamson, Jr., Leslie Weeks and Joe Brown had perfect attendance records for the past year. Three Rotarians had missed only one meeting and three were absent only twice.

The club started the year with 26 on its roll. Two moved out of town; one, Mr. R. H. Wade, died; and one member dropped out during the year. The addition of seven new members brings the total number of Rotarians to 29.

Three Killed In Grayson Co.

War Veteran, His Wife And Father-In-Law Found Dead In Yard of Home

Leitchfield, Ky., July 3—(AP)—The triple shooting of a young war veteran, his wife and father-in-law at nearby Tousy has been declared by Grayson county authorities to be a double slaying and suicide.

This was the statement of Deputy Sheriff C. W. Givens and Coroner C. W. Watkins as funeral services were to be held this afternoon for Warie Patterson, 24, his wife, Mrs. Mildred Patterson, 19, and her father, Walter C. Young, 54.

Bodies of the three were found Tuesday in the Pattersons' front yard. Coroner Watkins returned a verdict calling Patterson's death a suicide but did not attempt to state who killed his wife and her father.

Givens said: "We don't know who fired the shots that killed them and there are no clues to say for sure."

The deputy, said, however, that a note found on the premises had been definitely established as being in Patterson's handwriting. He said the note read:

"I have killed my wife and her father because he made a pass at the rabbit, quail and raccoon population in Fulton county has been increasing. He asked for names of Fulton countians who want to stock farm ponds with fish. The fish will be distributed this fall, he said."

The note was unsigned and scattered with blood. Givens said, adding that there was blood inside the house and two empty .22 caliber cartridges were found inside the front screen door.

Wearry Men Press Battle To Save Crumbling Levees

Grand Tower, Ill., July 3—(AP)—The fight between man and river continued unabated south of St. Louis today in an effort to save remaining levees while Army engineers and soil conservators estimated flood damage along the raging Mississippi and its overflowing tributaries in Missouri, Iowa and Illinois to be at least $500,000,000.

R. H. Musser, regional conservator for the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, said at Milwaukee that a survey compiled from field office reports and aerial reconnaissance showed that enough soil had been washed downriver to cover 325,000 acres six inches deep.

Meanwhile, at St. Louis, the river fluctuated between the 103-year high of 40.3 and one tenth of a foot less. Harry F. Wahlgren, U. S. meteorologist, said a gradual decline was expected in the next 48 hours. High water from the Missouri and Illinois Rivers was keeping the Mississippi high, he added.

Madge Meredith (above), 26-year-old film actress, was sought by police in California for questioning in an alleged kidnapping case. She was later found in Iowa Falls, Iowa.

Too Much Rain Still Bothering State Farmers

Paris and Cairo Recorded Totals Of 2" Last Week

TEMPERATURE HITS 95

Seasonably cool weather prevailed throughout most of Kentucky during the first part of the week ending July 1, but during the latter part the weather was warm and humid. Too much and too frequent rain occurred in parts of the central and western counties, while in some southeastern counties locally heavy washing and flood rains occurred which resulted in considerable damage to lowland crops.

Total precipitation at the Paris, Tenn., weather bureau station for the week was 2.22 in., and at the Cairo, Ill., station 2.02 in. Average temperatures at Paris was 77, highest 85 and lowest 63. Average at Cairo was 78, highest 95 and average 66.

As a whole, farm work still is considerably behind the seasonal average, but in some Blue-grass counties conditions are now near normal. A week of dry, warm sunny weather is badly needed in many sections to enable farmers to catch up with their work and to stimulate growth of crops, especially corn. Gardens are mostly fair to occasionally good and improving, while potatoes are fairly good to occasionally excellent.

Small grains are generally fair to good, and harvesting is in full swing. In a few central Kentucky counties the harvesting of barley and rye is completed. In a few western counties, some fields of grain were damaged by heavy rains and much lodging is reported. Pastures, grasses, alfalfa, clover and lespedeza are generally good to excellent and considerable alfalfa, clover and some timothy and red top was made. Some hay was damaged by rain.

On the tobacco front, some southwestern state farmers are reporting wildfire in their crop. Plants vary in size from small to six to ten leaves.

Dr. G. B. Crafton To Report July 6 At Randolph Field

Dr. George Boyd Crafton, who completed his 13-month internship at St. Elizabeth Hospital in Covington, Ky., last Friday, is visiting his mother, Mrs. Mozelle Crafton, for a few days. On July 6 he will report at Randolph Field, Texas, where he will go on active duty as a doctor attached to the Army Air Corps, with the rank of first lieutenant.

S. Fulton Booster Club Meeting Is Postponed

Because of poor attendance, the South Fulton Booster Club did not conduct its scheduled meeting last night. The club will meet next Thursday night, July 9, at the South Fulton city hall.

Most Businesses Will Close, No Paper Planned On Fourth

Almost all businesses in Fulton county will be closed tomorrow on Independence Day, July 4.

Drug stores plan to observe their regular Sunday hours. The post office will be closed and there will be no rural mail deliveries. City, county and state offices will be closed all day.

There will be no edition of the Daily Leader published tomorrow while the staff takes what it considers a much-needed holiday.

For those who choose to fish, swim or visit Friday, the weatherman promises a hot, sunny Fourth with little likelihood of rain. It should be an ideal day for the Fulton-Mayfield baseball games at Mayfield tomorrow afternoon and night. Also, many Fulton countians are expected to attend a campaign address by Harry Lee Waterfield, Democratic candidate for governor, at Mayfield tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock. The candidate speaks at the McCracken county court house in Paducah at 8 o'clock tonight and at Metropolis Lake at 10:30 Friday morning.

He also has scheduled talks at Hopkinsville at 3:30 Friday afternoon, and at Bowling Green, Scottsville and Franklin Saturday, July 5.

State offices will be closed in Frankfort over the weekend, but Highway Patrol director Haywood Gilliam announced today that his force will do double duty in an attempt to keep down traffic accidents.

There will be no arrests unless necessary, he said, but every effort will be made to prohibit speeding and other violations of the law that might make the deaths and injuries totals soar.

Other state employees in Frankfort will get the usual Fourth of July holiday and also will be off duty Saturday, since the state has decided to operate its offices there on a five-day week during July and August.

Purchase Sets Pace

Twenty Fulton counties will vie with corn growers from all over Kentucky in the second annual state corn derby, a highly worthwhile project sponsored by the agronomy department of the University of Kentucky.

Farmers from other sections will be watching the yields on Purchase farms, because last year a Bardwell man captured first prize and the Fulton county winner, R. B. Watts, had the excellent average of 112.3 bushels per acre. The farmers in western Kentucky are setting the pace for the rest of the state.

The cash premiums offered winners are less important than the fact that all over Kentucky farmers are learning newer, better ways to raise corn and other crops. They are getting bigger yields of grain on small level fields while keeping their rolling land in cover crops to provide pastures and stop erosion. Friendly competition such as that in the Kentucky corn derby encourages all farmers to adopt more scientific methods and results in greatly accelerated progress in crop cultivation and soil conservation.

Matchmaking

Britain and France have been unable to persuade the Russians to join them in adopting Secretary of State Marshall's plan for the economic rehabilitation of Europe. Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov hedges and procrastinates and generally obstructs east-west cooperation. He represents the legendary immovable object.

In this country, the soft coal operators reportedly are ready to grant the United Mine Workers their full 35 cents an hour wage raise demands to avoid a nationwide strike next Tuesday. John L. Lewis has won again, it seems. He exemplifies the irresistible force.

We've often wondered what would happen if Mr. Lewis were appointed to the American United Nations delegation, and given the job of bargaining with Mr. Molotov. The man with the eyebrows hasn't lost a decision. Wonder if he could continue to bat 1,000 against the Soviets?

False Economy

A report from Washington this week said strong Republican opposition in Congress threatened the future of 12 flood control projects in southern states. This, of course, represented another portion of the GOP's much-publicized economy drive. The object of the game, it seems, is to trim President Truman's budget as much as possible, regardless of the results. There's a national election coming up next year and the Republicans want to base their campaign speeches on how much they've cut down federal expenditures since they gained control of Congress.

Saving money wisely is a wonderful thing, and everybody is anxious to see it done. But we can be penny wise and pound foolish. Flood control is an investment that always pays huge dividends. We don't think Republican boasts of how much money they have saved by paring flood control funds would be received well in the Mississippi valley, or the central plains states now while flood waters are ruining crops, destroying homes and businesses, and threatening the lives of low-land residents.

Slow Freight

Westville, N. J.—(AP)—A freight train blocked a crossing for 14 minutes and so a policeman wrote out a traffic ticket, giving it to D. R. Mead, conductor of the Pennsylvania-Reading Seashore line train. The charge: illegal parking.

MacKenzie Makes A Wish

By Dewitt MacKenzie, AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

If your columnist could be given two wishes in connection with the British-French-Russian conference in Paris regarding the Marshall economic program, with the assurance that one of them would come true, they would be these:

1. That the Soviet Union and the Western Allies might compose their grave differences and join hands not only in the Marshall plan but in rehabilitation of the whole war-plagued world.

2. That they quit shadow-boxing, agree to disagree and go their respective ways. This would mean consolidating the division of Europe into eastern and western blocs, but it would at least enable the Western Allies to get ahead with rehabilitation in as wide a sphere as they could reach, not excluding even the so-called Soviet sphere of influence.

Now of course he would be a super-optimist who expected wish No. 1 to be granted. Moscow already has turned thumbs down on the Marshall project, and charges America with having ulterior purposes in making the suggestion—an accusation which Marshall termed "fantastic" and "malicious".

However, that should clear the way for the granting of wish No. 2. Russia has given her answer—in effect that she doesn't want to participate in a unified effort. She has her own row of beans to hoe, which is to bring Europe under Moscow's domination.

The Western Allies long have feared this was the situation, but they had hesitated to force the issue with their World War ally. They hoped against hope that something would happen to make things come right.

Then out of the blue came General Marshall's proposal for European rehabilitation. It was a proposition which called for a direct response—cooperation or non-cooperation.

And the world's observers recognized that this answer would apply not only to European recovery but would reflect the Soviet policy for general cooperation with the Western Allies.

As was widely anticipated, Russia has come through with a blunt refusal to cooperate. Thus it only remains for the western democracies to act accordingly—to start energetically to take their own line in dealing with world affairs.

It is unfortunate that Europe should be divided into two blocs, but since this must be, it will be equally unfortunate if the western countries don't move quickly to consolidate as much of the continent as they can for purposes of rehabilitation and the defense of Democracy. Britain already has declared her intention of pursuing these lines but France, with her big Communist party, is moving cautiously. We shall see.

This brings us up against another and perhaps even more serious thought. Many of the delegations to the United Nations have been awaiting Russia's verdict on the Marshall proposal with great anxiety, figuring that this would give a gauge by which to measure Moscow's intentions regarding cooperation in the peace organization.

That is a momentous question. For two solid years the U. N. has struggled vainly to get ahead with its job, because the will of the majority on most of the vital questions has been nullified by the veto of the Soviet Union.

The affairs of the unhappy U. N. have reached a pass where members are wondering whether the organization can be made to function as it is constituted or whether it may have to be replaced with another League of Nations.

Dummit Warned Not To Be Party To Gaming Probe
Louisville, Ky., July 3—(AP)—Attorney General Eldon S. Dummit had been subjected to "pressure" to keep him from signing affidavits in the state's petition for injunctions against alleged gambling in seven Louisville cafes, Commonwealth's Attorney Frank Ropke said here.

Dummit Tuesday signed affidavits verifying allegations in petitions for the injunctions, despite many telephone calls urging him not to do so, Ropke said. The Jefferson county official said the attorney general was warned his action might prejudice his campaign for the Republican nomination for governor.
